Women's Institute Meeting

The June meeting of the Creston and District Women's Institute on Friday afternoon attracted quite a large attendance, who were much impressed with the address by Capt. Manning, public school inspector, who spoke on the fourth triennial National Educational Conference, held in Vancouver early in May.

Mrs. R. Stevens, president, occupied the chair, and the fore part of the session was occupied with business matters. $20 was voted to help with the prize list of the 1929 fall fair. A committee of Mrs. M. Young, Mrs. Edmondson and Mrs. Craig was named to choose a date for the flower show, and to take charge of the arrangements.

Inspector Manning pointed out that the conference costs $60,000 a year, and is financed by thirty public spirited Canadians. The whole purpose of the 1929 conference was an attempt to solve the problem of how best to spend our leisure. The text of the Indian mystic and philosopher, Sir Rabindranath Tagore, the outstanding figure of the conference, was while time is money leisure is wealth, and was applied to the discussion of drama and literature; the radio, and moving pictures, physical education and health; hobbies.

At the close of the address tea was served by Mrs. Cherrington, Mrs. Lovestrum, Mrs. Craig, Mrs. C. Murrell and Miss Joan Kemp. $3.20 was the freewill tea offering for the Crippled Children's Fund.

Wednesday, June 26th, at Nelson, is the date set for the hearing of objections to the application of West Kootenay Power and Light Company to erect a storage dam for power purposes below Nelson. The erection of this dam will raise the low water level of Kootenay Lake about six feet and in some quarters it is figured that such a raise will seriously interfere with hay cutting on the flats at Creston.

Automobile Accidents

The summer months of July and August undoubtedly witness the heaviest automobile traffic throughout Western Canada. It is during this period that tourist traffic is greatest with "foreign" cars in large numbers from other Provinces and the United States crossing and re-crossing these prairies. They come from Provinces and States where traffic regulations frequently are different from those in force in these Western Provinces. During this mid-summer period, too, what we may term "domestic" traffic is at its peak. Roads are at their best, and following the closing of the schools many of our people tour "en family," while week-end journeyings to summer resorts are much in vogue.

While care in driving is at all times necessary, and with the steady increase in the number of cars in use is becoming a more and more vital matter, it is nevertheless the case that during these summer months extra care should be taken.

There are certain factors to which special attention should be paid, and the importance of which are reinforced as a result of careful investigations into the cause of auto accidents carried out during a period of years. For example, one would naturally suppose that the majority of such accidents occur on bad roads, at intersections, curves, etc., but statistics prove that the majority of accidents occur on the so-called "safe" parts of the highways. Apparently drivers are careful on curves and badly surfaced roads, and let themselves go on straight, smooth stretches.

Statistics compiled in the State of Iowa in regard to accidents are certainly illuminating:

10,666 accidents occurred on straight-away stretches where the drivers of the colliding cars had a clear view of the objects with which they were colliding.

7,395 occurred at intersecting roads, most of which were due to the fact that one or both vehicles approached the intersections at speeds too great to be checked upon perceiving the approach of the second car.

3,566 were caused by failure to grant the right-of-way at street crossings.

940 occurred on curves, caused by the drivers of the two vehicles going in opposite directions "hugging" the "inside" of the bend in the road to help them maintain high speed.

1,169 resulted from driving on the wrong side of the road.

117 were caused by cutting corners.

1,788 were caused while ascending and descending hills.

The roads were in the following conditions:

15,000 roads were good; 593 were rough; 3,196 were wet; 483 were covered with snow; 1,018 were icy; 186 were sandy; 51 were muddy.

These figures seem to fairly establish the fact that the better the roads, the greater the number of accidents. In other words, where roads are not good, drivers are forced to exercise care, and because care is exercised accidents are reduced to a minimum notwithstanding that conditions existing would naturally predispose accidents, but where roads are good, drivers become careless, even reckless, and, sooner or later, the inevitable result is an accident.

With the present insistent demand everywhere for more good roads, and a still higher standard of good roads, coupled with the increasing power of cars and their enormous increase in number, the accident toll on highways is mounting higher and higher. The cause is the very reverse of what might have been expected. It is not defects in car manufacture, because cars themselves are stronger than ever before. It is not road conditions which presumably might ditch a car, overturn or damage it.

No, it is the human element that is responsible for the mounting toll of accidents. Instead of reaping the benefit of the vast improvements being made, drivers are becoming more and more careless, taking ever greater chances, becoming less considerate of the other fellow's rights, determined to secure "speed" at all hazards.

Think it over the next time you are tempted to "step on the gas for the sole purpose of seeing and boasting of what your car can do. It may do something you least desire and will forever regret.

Busy At Eighty-Two

At the death of 82, of Mrs. Flora Annie Steel, the great novelist of India, at Springfield, England, recently, she had just finished her autobiography, had half finished a novel, and had just published another, "The Curse Of Eve," which gave her views on social problems.

Bicycles More Popular

Production of bicycles in Canada reached a new high level in 1928 at $2,213,493. This was 52 per cent. above the previous record, that of 1926, of $1,453,658, and 85 per cent. better than the $1,194,471 reported for 1927. Three firms, all in Ontario, furnished the entire output.

When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Work On Branch Line To Mine

Commence Laying Steel On Line To Sherritt-Gordon Property

Commencement has been made on the laying of steel on the branch from Cranberry Portage to Sherritt-Gordon.

According to information, a very large gang under Peter MacKenzie, started laying the rails on the 55½ mile stretch. Work will be rushed on the steel laying and it is anticipated that trains will be running into Cold Lake by September 1st.

The opening up of the Cold Lake branch will see active development on many mining properties lying between Cranberry and Cold Lake.

NERVE TORTURES

A Condition From Which Both Men and Women Suffer

Hardly any condition of ill health causes more real suffering than a shattered nervous system. And often, unfortunately, but little sympathy is shown for the sufferer, from the mistaken notion that the nerves can be controlled. Men and women with nerves out of gear often become irritable and are blamed for ill temper, when it is not their fault. Their poor health is the cause. The tired, over-busy wife and mother, whose household cares have worn her thin; the breadwinner whose anxieties have worried him until he is really ill, are among the nerve sufferers who become run-down. Their nerves, like all bodily organs, need rich, red blood. In all such cases the best and simplest treatment is a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system and brings good health and cheerfulness. Mrs. M. Cross, Richmond, Que., tells how this medicine ended her nervous troubles. She says: "I have suffered from nervousness and dizzy spells, and the hundred and one things which in such a condition make life a misery. The first thing I found to help me was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Under the use of this medicine I found my nerves grew steadier, the dizzy spells grew less frequent, and I became brighter and more cheerful. I took the pills for some time and found that they enrich the blood, build up the nerves and are a fine medicine for both old and young."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cars For Bolsheviks

Stated That Henry Ford Will Produce 900,000 Autos For Soviets

Henry Ford is to produce 100,000 cars a year for Soviet Russia under terms of a contract signed recently and made public in New York.

The contract will run for nine years and the factory will be established in Russia. Only the Ford passenger model "A" and the Ford truck model "AA" will be manufactured. More trucks than passenger cars will be produced.

The factory is to be located at Nizhni Novgorod, on the Volga river, and will be completed within four years.

After 10 Years Of Asthma Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy proved the only relief for one grateful user, and this is but one case among many. Little wonder that it has now become the one recognized remedy on the market. It has earned its fame by its never failing effectiveness. It is earning it today, as it has done for years. It is the greatest asthma specific within the reach of suffering humanity.

Better Study Geography

The Saskatoon Star-Phoenix received a letter from the assistant editor of the National Geographic Magazine, Washington, D.C., in which reference was made throughout to "Saskatoon, British Columbia." If all the other information published in National Geographic is equally as accurate as the above, it is no cause for wonder that the Americans picture Canada only as a land of igloos and England as a country of beer mugs and plus-fours.

One of the commonest complaints of infants is worms, and the most effective application for them is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator.

It is complained that many business men write illegibly. A really busy man, of course, has not time to be constantly consulting a dictionary.

New Picture Film Invented

Can Be Made Of Cloth and Is Washable

The housewife of the near future may say to her servant:

"Bridget, put those photos of father in the wash and hang them on the line to dry. Be sure to iron them tomorrow, for he is coming on a visit and I want them to look nice and fresh."

Exactly that can be done with a new kind of picture film invented by Dr. R. W. Hochstetter, head of the Hochstetter laboratories.

He is not using the invention for household purposes, but instead is applying it to produce new types of sound picture films, and radio transmission of sound, photos and motion pictures. Several new processes are involved.

The first is making photographic film out of cloth, so that it is washable, ironable and non-inflammable. He says that cotton, silk, linen or even paper can be used.

Along with the new film Dr. Hochstetter announces invention of a process for reflecting sound and pictures from the face of the films, instead of transmitting light through film. He also has a different method of amplification of sound, to get further away from distortion.

Machinery For Shearing

Hand Clippers Used In Australia Only On Pedigree Sheep

Australia's wool clip this season is estimated at about 900,000,000 lbs. from about 100,000,000 sheep. The great bulk of the shearing is done by machinery, although, in the case of pedigree sheep, hand-clippers are generally used to ensure a cleaner and more even cut. Wolseley, who invented the shearing machine, went to Australia from England in the middle of last century. He took up sheep farming soon after his arrival, and brought his first patent in 1874. With the machine shears now in use, an average worker can cut 100 fleeces per day, and totals up to 200 are fairly common.

Five Points For Britain

Has Designed, Equipped and Operated Fastest Modes Of Travel

It is certainly a most remarkable fact that at this moment the fastest aircraft in the world (the seaplane which won the Schneider Cup), the fastest craft on water (Miss England), the fastest motor car (the Golden Arrow), the fastest passenger liner (the Mauretania), and the fastest locomotive (a G. W. R. Express), are British all five—British designed, equipped, and operated. We are glad that the British government's exhibit at the Toronto National Exhibition this year will show five models to remind the world of it.

In the treatment of either an excellent preparation is Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, as it counteracts the inflammation and relieves the pain. The action of the oil is prompt and its application is extremely simple.

6 Suggestions

Make Your Farm More Comfortable, More Livable and More Profitable with These Simple Spare-time Improvements

If you have any time on your hands here are six suggestions which will make an amazing difference in the attractiveness and efficiency of your farm.

First—Buy a supply of Gyproc Fireproof Wallboard. Then erect Gyproc partitions in your attic, changing the waste space into an additional room or two. Imagine how much more comfortable the family will be with the attic converted into a clean, inviting third story.

Second—Renovate the lower rooms by nailing Gyproc right over cracked and faded walls. You can decorate the flat, smooth Gyproc surfaces with Alabastine, paint or any other finish. And what a difference it will make to your home.

Fourth—Gyproc your poultry house. Your flock will have better health, and year-long protection from fire, cold, heat and vermin.

Fifth—Line your grain-bins, barns, stables and other buildings with Gyproc. By doing so you will make them more valuable, fire-safe, cold resistant and 50 per cent. more healthful for your stock to live in.

Sixth—Look about for cracked, warped or rotted walls, partitions and ceilings and repair with Gyproc. Such repairs are quick and inexpensive to make because Gyproc saws, nails and cuts so easily—saving time and labor.

MANITOBA MAY ACCEPT TERMS ON RESOURCES

Ottawa.—Terminating a political issue which has disturbed both provincial and federal politics for more than 40 years, the report of the Manitoba natural resources commission was tabled in parliament recently.

In brief, the report which consists of 46 printed pages, recommends:

(1)—The payment in cash by the Dominion to Manitoba of $4,584,212.49, as the balance due for past arrears.

(2)—The payment to Manitoba of $562,500 annually, from now on, until the population of the province reaches 800,000.

(3)—Increase in this annual payment of $750,000 when the population of Manitoba reaches 800,000.

(4)—Finally, when the population attains the figure of 1,200,000 an increase in the amount payable annually to Manitoba to $1,125,000. This amount is to remain unchanged thereafter.

(5)—The wiping out hereafter of an amount of $153,492.82 which has been deducted annually from the subsidy, being the interest on the monies received by the province from the sale of swamp lands, when these lands were under provincial control, and the capital sum set as the value of the 150,000 acres of land granted as an endowment to the University of Manitoba. Hereafter, this sum will not be deducted from the subsidy.

It is understood here that both the province and the Dominion have agreed to accept the recommendations of the commission, and that legislation implementing these recommendations will be introduced in parliament early in the season of 1930.

The probable effect of the report on the natural resources question as it affects Saskatchewan and Alberta was being canvassed here by the members of parliament. In regard to the payment of the subsidies with statutory increases in perpetuity, it was considered that the report would greatly assist the other two provinces to obtain such a settlement.

May Visit U.S. In July

Premier Ramsay MacDonald To Make Goodwill Visit This Summer

London, Eng.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald will pay his contemplated visit to the United States as soon as parliament has risen at the end of July, unless an adverse reason should suddenly intervene, it was generally held in authoritative quarters here. Departure at this time would leave the premier free for his projected visit in September to the League of Nations assembly meeting at Geneva. The understanding is Premier Mackenzie King would represent Canada if such an Anglo-American conference is held at Washington.

"I cannot make a statement of any kind tonight," Mr. MacDonald declared as he was leaving London with his daughter, Isobel, for his home in Loozemouth.

The premier explained he was going to Loozemouth in search of rest and he expected to return again before the opening of parliament, on June 25.

Famous Wheat Men Ill

Winnipeg.—Two internationally famous wheat breeders are ill in Winnipeg while attending the Canadian Seed Convention here. They are Herman Trelle, Peace River, Alta., producer of prize winning exhibits, both in Canada and United States, and S. Larcombe, of Birtle, Man., also a successful grain exhibitor. A nervous breakdown was given as the cause of Mr. Trelle's illness. He is in the hospital.

Urges Muskrat Furling

Ottawa.—Steps for the development of the muskrat industry were advocated in the House of Commons by M. N. Campbell (Prog. MacKenzie). Muskrats could be raised very easily in the west on damp pieces of farm land, and government assistance by way of technical advice might be very valuable.

Arrange Direct Express Service From Europe

New Agreement Will Ensure Quick Despatch Of Parcels

Montreal, Que.—Arrangements have been completed between the "Compagnie Internationale Des Wagons-Lits et des Grands Express Européens" and the Canadian Pacific Express Company for a direct express service from all European countries to Canada according to information received at Canadian Pacific express offices.

Parcels handed in at any of the offices of the Compagnie Internationale throughout Europe will be forwarded direct by the famous crack trains of that company to points where the Canadian Pacific Express maintain receiving offices, whence they will come to this country on Canadian Pacific steamers.

Sending parcels to Canada has always been a somewhat hazardous business, at any rate from remote points in Europe where no adequate local express service is in operation. By virtue of the new agreement entered into by the two companies it will now be as safe and quick as sending a parcel from one's Canadian city to another.

Will Collect Oil Royalties

Government Will Put Regulation Into Effect Next January

Ottawa.—The regulation enabling the government to collect royalties on oil produced on Dominion Crown lands leased to private companies will be put into effect on January 1, Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, told the House in committee. The regulation which was passed some years ago, but has never been put into effect, provides that after a company has been producing oil for five years, a royalty not less than 2½ per cent. and not exceeding five per cent. of the output, or five per cent. of the sales of the product of the locality at the discretion of the minister shall be collected.

New Grain Board

A Board Composed Of Younger Men To Be Appointed Soon

Ottawa.—The cabinet is now considering the appointment of a new board of grain commissioners. The members of the old board, it is understood, are to be retired, and a board composed of younger men is to take their places.

The only appointment seriously considered so far is that of a successor to Leslie Boyd, the chairman of the board, and, undoubtedly, this position will be offered to Mr. Justice Turgeon, of Saskatchewan. It is thought here, however, that he will decline to accept. In this event, it is not improbable that the post will be offered to Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior.

Suggests Earlier Sessions

Ottawa.—A suggestion that in future parliamentary sessions should open in November and conclude on or about the first day of May, was made in the House of Commons by William Irvine, U.F.A., Wetaskiwin. Mr. Irvine expressed the opinion that the present practice of meeting parliament in February and continuing the session until well on in the summer months was an injustice to the western members and to those from the maritime provinces.

Dirigible Goes On Strike

London, Eng.—Completion of the new British dirigible R-100 on schedule appeared impossible because of the failure to settle a strike of about 30 workmen. Officials at the Howden Airship Works said the strikers insisted that the dispute be settled through direct negotiations with the Union. The R-100 will be one of the largest airships in the world. It was to undergo tests next month.

Newspaper Man Promoted

Calgary, Alta.—W. J. Watson, who has been secretary-treasurer and also a director of the Calgary Herald since it passed into the present ownership in 1909, is leaving Calgary at the end of the month to take the position of assistant to the president of the Southern Publishing Company at the head office in Montreal.

IN BRACKEN CABINET

Hon. W. R. Clubb, who resigned from Bracken cabinet, Manitoba, during Seven Sisters probe, has been reappointed minister of public works.

Sends Farewell Message

Stanley Baldwin and Premier King Exchange Greetings

Ottawa.—A farewell message which former Premier Stanley Baldwin sent to Premier Mackenzie King, on the day of Mr. Baldwin's resignation, and Mr. King's reply, were made public here. It was explained that publication of the telegrams was delayed until the prime minister's office here ascertained definitely that Mr. Baldwin's message was not intended as a purely personal communication.

Mr. Baldwin, under date of June 4th, cabled:

"I have today tendered my resignation to the King. On leaving office I should like to send you a message of farewell and sincere good wishes. It has been a great privilege to work in collaboration with you, and I wish to express my warmest thanks for your helpful co-operation during the last four and a half years, in all matters of common concern."

Mr. King replied:

"Your telegram, June 4th, May I express my deep appreciation of your message of farewell and good wishes. Throughout your tenure of office the most cordial relations have been maintained between His Majesty's governments in the United Kingdom and in Canada. It will always remain a source of deep gratification that I have been privileged to be associated with you in the many important matters of common interest that have marked these years."

King Resumes Few Duties

Is Now Able To Look After Part Of Work

London, Eng.—King George is now sufficiently well to resume many of the functions delegated by him to a council of state, but will not yet assume his full duties.

Among the duties which His Majesty will now transact will be all business connected with dominion affairs. But it was presented to His Majesty, that, for the better preservation of his health, he should not for the time being resume all functions he had delegated.

Attacks Lloyd George

Former Chief Whip Of Liberal Party Criticizes Methods Of Leader

London, Eng.—A lively attack on Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, is made in a letter to The Times by Vivian Phillips, former chief whip of the Liberal party. He says many Liberal candidates with whom he has talked since the election are of the opinion that Mr. Lloyd George is not an asset but a positive liability to the Liberal party.

"Only courage will save the party now," he writes. "Courage to turn back on the shams and pretences of the past two years and make a new beginning under new leadership which will inspire public confidence and trust."

"If it will break loose from the degrading bondage of the party funds, if it will follow character rather than cleverness, if it will set honor and principle once again in the place which they have held in the days of its former greatness, it may yet be preserved to wield its old moral authority in the state and be an instrument of beneficent service to this nation and the world."

Sapiro To Visit West

Will Conduct Speaking Tour In Saskatchewan This Month

Saskatoon, Sask.—In the interests of the Wheat Pool and under the auspices of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, Aaron Sapiro will conduct a speaking tour of Saskatchewan during the latter part of June.

Mr. Sapiro will reach here on June 26 from the east and speak here that evening. June 27 he will speak at Weyburn. The date for his visit to Moose Jaw is not definitely set yet, but will be either June 28 or July 2. If he does not speak in Moose Jaw on June 28, he will probably visit Regina on that day. On June 29 he will be at Swift Current, and July 1 at Kerrobert.

Bisley Team Sails

Members From Canada Have Left For Southampton

Montreal.—Canada's 1929 Bisley team was given an enthusiastic send-off on board the Canadian Pacific liner "Montrose" on which the team has commenced its voyage to Southampton.

Members of the team include Captain W. C. Colquhoun, Esquimalt, B.C.; Sgt. J. H. Regan, Victoria; Lieut. D. Fyvie, Canadian Scottish, Victoria; Lieut.-Col. R. M. Blair, Vancouver; Master Gunner S. Collins, Esquimalt.

Lieut. Desmond Burke, Ottawa, a former winner of the King's Prize, will join the team in England.

No Increase For Judges

Ottawa.—Having learned that parliament would not support an increase in judges' salaries, he did not think it desirable to attempt to force such a measure through, declared Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, in the House of Commons. When the time came, and parliament was in a mood to endorse such an increase, he would make no delay, the minister said.

ROYAL GRAIN COMMISSION TO CARRY ON WORK

Lethbridge.—The immediate program of the Saskatchewan Royal Grain Commission will not be affected in any way by the political crisis in Saskatchewan, and even should the government of Premier James G. Gardiner, which appointed the commissioners, resign within the next week or two, no anticipation of curtailment of the inquiry is feared.

This was the belief made known by Chief Justice Brown, commission chairman, while the body held sessions in Lethbridge.

The inquiry in Alberta will be concluded with a session at Medicine Hat. The commissioners then expect to enjoy a week's vacation before visiting four or five rural points in Manitoba, holding a brief session in Winnipeg and a two-weeks' probe at Port Arthur and Fort William. If any changes in this program are made they will be announced by whatever government is in power in Saskatchewan, Chief Justice Brown stated.

Complaints of car distribution, shortage of cars during the rush season, and leakages, were lodged before the commission. John Maynard, superintendent of the Ellison Milling Company here, recommended placing an inspector at each railway division point to check car leakages.

Found Guilty Of Murder

Woman and Male Accomplice In Quebec Sentenced To Be Hanged

Hull, Que.—Philbert Lefebvre, and Mrs. Mary Viau Montpelier, Que., were found guilty at the Hull assizes of the murder of the woman's husband, Zephyr Viau, by poisoning, and were sentenced by Mr. Justice L. J. Loranger, to be hanged on Friday, August 23, at the Hull jail. The jury was out only 25 minutes.

In his charge, which lasted over an hour, Judge Loranger described the poisoning as one of the most despicable of crimes. There was no doubt, he said, that the murder had been planned for months.

The confessions of the accused showed that Lefebvre had provided Mrs. Viau with strychnine knowing for what purpose she would use it. Zephyr Viau had been very poor and every winter went away to work in a shanty. During his absence Lefebvre had visited the shack.

When asked if they had anything to say why the sentence of death should not be passed upon them, both prisoners muttered, "I am innocent and I ask for clemency."

Minorities Trust Canada

Dominion Will Reap Harvest Of Goodwill Says Hon. Philippe Roy

Victoria.—"Those masses of population are already looking to Canada as a strong advocate and a stout protector of their interests," Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian minister to France, said in an interview here regarding the minority populations of Europe whose problems are now being considered by a special committee of the League of Nations.

"It must not be forgotten by Canadians," Mr. Roy said, "that there are 40,000,000 souls living in those European minorities. It is going to be a wonderful thing in a few years when Canada reaps the harvest of goodwill which has been sown by the announcement of Premier Mackenzie King, aligning Canada in support of the interests of the minority peoples."

Turning to reparations, Mr. Roy said the recent settlement of the war indemnities in Europe was the greatest forward step achieved by the nations since the armistice.

B.C. Mineralogist Dead

Victoria.—William Fleet Robertson, for twenty-three years provincial mineralogist, died recently at Everett, Wash., where he was taken ill while enroute to England via the Panama Canal route from Victoria. Mr. Robertson was born in Montreal, 1850, and was widely known in the western American mining world. He retired in 1920.

Eighteen "Count 'em", in One Family

The Clan MacLead arrived in Canada recently by the Canadian Pacific liner "Metagama"—at least if it wasn't the whole clan, it seemed like a large proportion. Donald, his brother Kenneth, and his son Allan were leaders of the family groups under Donald's command. Including grandchildren the party, which is bound en bloc for Centerville, Ont., numbered twenty-four ranging in age from forty-five years to six months. They had twenty-one pieces of baggage weighing 3,000 pounds.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, JUNE 21

Deserve the Raise

While salvation is not exactly free in the British Columbia interior, discussions reported at the Anglican synod last week at Grand Forks would indicate that in centres such as Creston, Kimberley, Grand Forks, etc., members and adherents of the Church of England are getting their religion at pretty close to cost.

Amongst the resolutions adopted at this gathering of clergy and laymen was one calling for the raising of the salary of missionaries on fields such as those mentioned from $1200 to $1500 per annum.

When it is remembered that in parishes such as these at least 40 per cent. of the munificent stipend above set forth is paid out of the central mission funds, certainly those whose duty it is to lead the way to life eternal cannot be successfully accused of having contributed overmuch to the prevailing high cost of living.

While the present does not appear to be a particularly happy time to insist that the laborer is worthy of his hire, it is to be hoped the new scale of remuneration will be rigidly enforced.

People have the happy knack of appreciating services rendered just in proportion to the price charged, and the sooner those who carry on the work of Christ church militant here on earth appreciate this fact, and govern themselves accordingly, so much the better both for the clergy and all others directly or indirectly concerned. What is worth having should be worth paying for.

Make a Big Day of It

Last week's announcement via the Nelson Daily News that it has been arranged that Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Dominion Conservative party, will speak at an afternoon meeting here on Monday, August 26th, will be welcome news to all citizens regardless of political affiliations, and the hope is everywhere expressed that President Mallandaine and the executive of the local Conservative association will see to it that the promise is fulfilled.

Rarely, if ever, in western Canada, are residents in small communities such as Creston, afforded an opportunity to so handily hear men of the calibre of the federal opposition leader, and when such a chance presents itself citizens should be broad enough to turn out and make the occasion historic.

The Review believes the Conservatives will be well advised in staging an oldtime political picnic on that date. As the speaker must, of necessity, make his appearance in the afternoon, a line of outdoor attractions, before and after Mr. Bennett's address, should assure a banner attendance and lend encouragement to the younger generation to turn out and hear one who aspires to some day play a prominent part in shaping the destiny of Canada. To show the goodwill of Creston on such an occasion the village council might well declare August 26th a civic half holiday.

With every appearance of a federal election in 1936, a western tour by Premier Mackenzie King next year looms as a possibility, and no doubt on the occasion of his trip it will be possible to have him also make an afternoon stop at Creston, when the Conservatives will have opportunity to return the compliment the Review feels sure the Liberals will accord Mr. Bennett by turning out en masse on August 26th.

Let's Have the Ambulance

Mr. Blair's letter of last week pointing out that the time is opportune for providing an ambulance to assure the maximum of comfort, as well as instant service in taking local patients to Cranbrook hospital, is both timely and good.

In addition to giving aid to cases that cannot possibly wait for trains, it will also be found very welcome by others who may be compelled by circumstances to make the best of train transportation who would also be the better for ambulance removal.

While Mr. Blair appears a bit timid at suggesting ways and means of providing the ambulance the Review hopes, now that he has introduced the subject, that he will follow up the matter to the extent of ascertaining just what a suitable ambulance might cost.

With Women's Institutes, a W.C.T.U., L.O.B.A., board of trade, K.K., Go-Getter, C.G.I.T. and Rod and Gun Clubs, fraternal societies, ladies' aids, auxiliaries and guilds, missionary societies, and mission bands in goodly number, surely funds for a work of mercy of this sort ought not to be impossible of assembling.

Or, failing an ambulance such as Mr. Blair has in mind, possibly revenue enough might be gathered to comfortably fit up a car that could be run over the C.P.R. rails — with before-starting knowledge as to what trains are to be passed and the precise siding at which to make the pass.

With very much uncertainty as to either of these plans being evolved the next best move would be to make a vigorous demand for enough of the $9,000,000 loan being made available forthwith to put the highway to Cranbrook in the best possible shape to assure the maximum of comfort for those unfortunate enough to have to resort to motor travel to obtain hospital accommodation.

Berry Growers Troubles

Troubles never come single — for the strawberry grower at any rate. This season, along with none too favorable weather conditions, comes word that the federal authorities have decided that the 1929 crop shall be graded for domestic purposes, canning, and jam making.

At the present time the shipper is required to face the top of the hallock with berries that for color and size accurately reflect the size and color of the balance of the berries in the container, which looks like sufficient protection for the buying public.

The effort this season to unduly restrict the shipment of berries for domestic purposes is unfortunate in view of the fact that the factories are still well supplied with the 1928 make of jam, and are not at all keen to buy 1929 fruit.

Along with this, the coast berry growers have secured government assistance to afford the mainland growers unusual opportunity to process this year's crop, still further enabling the jam plants to defer buying, knowing that the stocks of processed berries will be available as and when wanted throughout the year.

And, as a sort of last straw, the provincial government has withdrawn the berry board of direction that functioned in 1928 and had some good effect in maintaining prices throughout the season. Just how the grower will fare without the services of this body is, of course, not yet apparent, but information reaching the Review this week indicates that some uncertainty already prevails as to 1929 strawberries fetching as high a price as 1928.

New Yorks Are Common

Americans may believe there is only one New York, but England has three and Scotland one. England recently claimed a New York in Kent, Lincolnshire and Northumberland counties and immediately all good Scotchmen pointed to their New York on the western shores of Loch Awe.

Channel Tunnel Plan Favored

Would Help To Solve Unemployment Problem In Britain

Construction of a tunnel under the English Channel to connect England and France by rail is one of the schemes which Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas has his eye on in connection with his plans to solve the British unemployment problem. Mr. Thomas has been delegated by the new premier, Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, to direct the new Labor government's work in dealing with the unemployment situation.

He is organizing a new government department of employment and is obtaining reports on a number of projects which might supply work for some of the men now unemployed as a preliminary to calling in experts from all the government departments.

With the aid of the experts he hopes to frame definite plans for road-building, housing development and railway reconstruction. At the same time he is not to forget emigration and the development of the Empire and the part they may be made to play in reducing the army of unemployed.

A Famous Field-Marshal

Viscount Allenby Has Had Distinguished Career As Soldier and Statesman

Field-Marshal Viscount Allenby celebrated his 68th birthday recently. He has displayed marked and outstanding ability in two fields—soldiering and statesmanship. At the outbreak of the Great War he assumed command of the Cavalry Division with the Expeditionary Force, and afterwards won undying fame as the conqueror of Jerusalem. Then as High Commissioner of Egypt in 1924 his firm attitude after the assassination of the Sirdar undoubtedly prevented a very ugly situation developing into positive disaster. His is a temperament which the Orient understood and appreciated. On the Western Front he was known as "The Bull."

Phosphates For Fertilizers

Manufacture Of Fertilizers On a Large Scale To Be Carried On In B.C.

The vast deposits of phosphates in British Columbia, to be converted into fertilizer by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, will save the "wheat sick" parts of the grain belt in Western Canada, said C. C. Castle, of Victoria, formerly member of the Canadian Grain Commission, the other day. "The ally," he said, "The manufacture of fertilizer on a large scale will be the greatest salvation the western provinces have ever known. It will cause an increased yield; an earlier harvest, closer settlement and bring a reduction of taxation."

For Burns and Scalds.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil will take the fire out of a burn or scald. It should be at hand in every kitchen so that it may be available at any time. There is no preparation required. Just apply the oil to the burn or scald and the pain will abate and in a short time cease altogether.

Products Of Canada's Farms

The four leading items in the total agricultural production of Canada in 1928, valued in all at $1,730,304,000 are: Field crops, $1,099,781,000; dairy products, $250,000,000; farm animals, $197,880,000, and poultry and eggs, $106,654,000. Last year was the first year for poultry and eggs to exceed $100,000,000 in value. Since 1923 these have increased in value from $62,000,000. Value of farm animals in five years has advanced $72,000,000.

WHEN BABY IS WELL MOTHER IS HAPPY

The happy mother is the one whose baby is well—it is the laughing gurgling baby who always brings joy to the home. When baby is ill everyone in the home suffers—not only through worry over the little one but through loss of sleep—no one can find rest with a sick baby in the home. Thousands of mothers are happy mothers because they have found the way to keep their little ones well—or if sickness does come on suddenly, as it usually does with little ones, they have found the way to speedily bring the baby back to health again. Mrs. George Kech, Lindberg, Alta., is one of these mothers, and she writes as follows: "I am the happy mother of a seventeen-month-old baby girl. Baby is healthy and strong and sleeps well at night. I give her no other medicine but Baby's Own Tablets, and she just loves them. I am never without the Tablets in the house."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels; sweeten the stomach; and thus drive out constipation and indigestion and make the cutting of teeth easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JUNE 23

PSALM OF PRAISE

Golden Text: "Bless Jehovah, O my soul."—Psalm 103.1.

Lesson: Psalm 103.1-22.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 107. 23-31.

Explanations and Comments

Gratitude and Praise For God's Mercies, verses 1-5.—"Bless Jehovah, O my soul"; thus the Psalmist addresses himself. "The Semitic languages have no word for 'self.' If the Syriac has to render 'a kingdom divided against itself,' it says 'a kingdom divided against its soul.' If it has to render 'yourself,' it must needs say 'your souls.' And all that is within me—my whole self, my whole being, all my faculties and powers—bless His holy name. As we have often noted, 'name' stands for person; bless Him who is holy.

"It takes all there is of a man to praise and worship God adequately. Half-hearted praise is quite as much out of place as half-hearted devotion to one's family or country."

Bless Jehovah, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits. Forget none of them: take none of them for granted. How often is forgetfulness the cause of ingratitude!

"I believe thanksgiving to be a greater mark of holiness than any other part of worship."—McLeod.

In the two clauses of verse 3 and the first clause of verse 4, Professor Drummond notes in the last part of each, three facts of similarity—the guilt of sin, the stain of sin, and the power of sin; and in the first part of each, three facts of salvation—forgiveness, healing, and redemption. Who forgetteth all thine iniquities, thy crookedness, thy sin! Who healeth all thy diseases.

"Is not the recuperative power of nature God's own healing touch? Had He not endowed our bodies with that which restores them from accident and sickness, no bone would ever set, no wound ever close, no patient ever recover. And so it is with the deeper maladies of the soul."—W. L. Watkinson.

Who redeemeth thy life (thyself), from destruction. Destruction, or the pit, Revised Version. "It stands for Sheol, which is here pictured as claiming the Psalmist when on the point of dying; but Jehovah paid, as it were, the ransom and so brought him back to health and life. 'Redeem' or 'ransom,' is here used figuratively."—T. W. Davies. Who crowneth thee with lovingkindness and tender mercies.

"God's goodness is not like the barometer—sometimes high, sometimes low, sometimes doubtful. It is the constant quality on which we can ever rely."

Sambo: "What an dis yeah millenium that Oh don' heah folks talkin' about?"

Rastus: "Yoh sho is ignorant, boy, yoh sho is. Why, a millenium am just de same ez a centennial, only it don hab mo' laigs."

"Talkie" Novels Now

People Can Enjoy Book Without Trouble Of Reading It

Talkie novels have come as the natural sequence to talkie movies.

The first talkie novel is a story "Artaban," by Andre Cayatte, and has been put up in a series of phonograph records, each record containing a chapter. The story is related by the author.

Several others are in preparation, but the plan has been changed by using men and women to recite the lines of the characters of the novel, to do away with "says she" and "says he."

Editors of the talkie novels predict a great future, principally because it will now be possible to enjoy a book without even the effort of turning every page.

"Nurse," said an amorous patient, "I'm in love with you. I don't want to get well."

"Cheer up, you won't," she assured him. "The doctor's in love with me, too, and he saw you kiss me this morning."

The Desert Song

—BY—
VIRGINIA MORRIS
Copyright 1929 Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"The Desert Song" is a Warner Bros. picture adaptation of this novel. It is based upon the story by Otto Harbach, Laurence Schwab, Oscar Hammerstein, 2nd, and Frank Mandel.

An hour later the Red Shadow received from his host the advice that the French girl was alone in the upper chamber. He found this room to be a gorgeous apartment lighted by great oriental lamps that burned live coals and suffused a weird effect. Margot was sitting on a low silk couch. Her dusty riding habit had been exchanged for a flimsy chiffon skirt that revealed every line of her alluring body. A narrow pearl bodice took the place of a waist and her bare arms were braced with broad bands of precious stones. She was far more beautiful in eastern garb than the Red Shadow had ever seen her before.

"Why did you bring me here?" was Margot's first question when the Red Shadow entered. She arose from the couch and stood in a defiant attitude.

"Why?" he replied. "To teach you to love me—so fiercely that you could give up home and friends. Call it a mad dream, but mad as it is I'm willing to risk my whole future to make it come true!"

"Leave love out of it," she answered. "I hate you! I love Paul!"

But the Red Shadow knew better. With a final positiveness, he told her, "You do not love him! Come to me!"

His persuasiveness had not won her, for she shrank from him. "Tell me one good reason why you will not," he insisted.

"Why there . . . there are many!"

"Give me one!"
"Why I love . . . I love Pierre Birabeau. I know that I do. Once I dreamed of romance and adventure, but I've had enough of it. I want the quiet life that Pierre planned for me!"

The Red Shadow made an impulsive attempt to take her in his arms, but before he could do so the door burst open and Ali Ben Ali entered—followed by—General Birabeau!

The Sheik motioned to them, "Believe me, I wish to prove myself a friend of the French. You see my people are innocent. He stole her . . . I know nothing!"

The Riffs along with Ali Ben Ali's men, now crowded into the room. General Birabeau turned to the owner of the desert palace. "Sir, Azuri guided me here," he explained. "I've come alone—and I want to take this girl back with me!"

Birabeau walked directly to the masked leader of the Riffs.

"Azuri tells me that you've boasted that no man can beat you in single combat. Well, I am going to kill you or you will have to kill me!"

For the first time the Riffs saw the Red Shadow turn pale and shrink back from a challenge. Without explanation he ignored the insult of the Frenchman. Even Birabeau was aghast with astonishment.

Ali Ben Ali, who knew the ruthless code of the desert, warned the masked man: "What has come over you, friend? Your own followers will send you out in the wilderness to die if you do not fight!"

Still the Red Shadow made no attempt to defend his honor. General Birabeau, nevertheless, would not let the outlaw evade him.

"So this is the famous Red Shadow?" he sneered. "The myth that has frightened all Morocco! I think you're a coward!"

Margot ran between the two men. "Please don't, General!" she begged.

But the commandant pushed her aside roughly. Then reaching in his belt, he drew out his glove and struck the Red Shadow in the face!

CHAPTER VI.

A dreary day passed for Margot. She was back at the garrison in Fez but she knew that the total happiness of life had been left back there in Ali Ben Ali's palace. Her dream of romance was all but fulfilled and yet she herself had been the one to reject it. Her desert love had told her what no other man had ever said—that he was willing to risk his whole future to have her as his own. The contempt with which she had treated him now made her heart ache.

Although Ali Ben Ali had granted General Birabeau, Bennie, Susan and herself safe conduct back to Fez, she had heard the dreadful fate that the Riffs had meted out to the Red Shadow. The law of their tribe had left them no choice. Their leader had allowed an enemy to dishonor him and there was the inevitable punishment that Allah had ordained. The disgraced one was sent out into the desert alone, without food, without water, with no weapon of defence but his broken sword. And those men who had been his loyal soldiers, those men who had loved him as a blood brother, stood watching silently until he had disappeared over the crest of the farthest hill. Later they would choose a new leader but now they turned their faces toward Mecca and prayed.

For hours Margot had stared into the hot sandy wastes. Not even Pierre was there to distract her with his chatter, for the night the Red Shadow had kidnapped her he had taken a boat for Tangiers. The thought of Pierre puzzled her. Although she felt herself madly infatuated with the outlaw, she believed that sincerity had prompted her to tell him she longed for the safety that life with Pierre would mean. Her heart was a maze of contradictions, but, after all, nothing could matter much now.

She did not hear Captain Paul Fontaine enter. He startled her when he sat on the arm of her chair and tried to take her hand.

"Please, don't, Paul," she protested wearily.

Fontaine's face flushed with jealousy. "I know why you're not happy. It's because the Red Shadow is in danger. You've fallen in love with him."

Margot turned her head and looked at him defiantly. "What if I have?"

Their quarrel was interrupted by the arrival of General Birabeau. "Paul, the command to take the Red Shadow a prisoner is changed. He is not to be brought in alive!"

Fontaine smiled but Margot jumped to her feet and exclaimed, "But the man you're after is alone and unarmed! You cannot be cowards enough to kill him!"

"Go, Paul, you have heard my orders!" insisted the General. But he was not devoid of sympathy for the girl, for as his subordinate left, he turned to her: "Margot, I advise you to give up this dream of romance. It has caused you enough heartache."

Thinking it was kinder to leave her alone, he disappeared silently to the garden. The girl resumed her vigil, scanning the desert spaces she knew not for what. Afternoon darkened to dusk and dusk darkened to evening. Then, out of the stillness, cries of the returning soldiers were heard. A moment later Captain Fontaine burst into the room and the instant that Margot saw his face she knew that his mission had been successful. He was followed by General Birabeau, who asked, "Tell me what happened?"

"We killed him!"

"Who? Which one of the soldiers?" the commandant enquired.

Paul Fontaine hesitated. "None of our soldiers. But the last man you would ever suspect."

The door opened and Pierre Birabeau stood before them. Over his arm was the cloak and the mask of the Red Shadow and his hand held the outlaw's broken sword. Gradually his father realized the daring of the son he had almost despised. It was he who had killed the dreaded enemy. In a rush of emotion he put his arms around the boy and held him close. Then another realization slowly possessed him, for he whispered so that only Pierre could hear, "You were bravest when you refused to fight!"

That evening Pierre Birabeau was the acknowledged hero of the post. Margot alone failed to congratulate him. The General, bursting with pride, at the bravery of his own boy, urged him to tell the girl the details of his amazing exploit. As he left the room he saw Pierre put his arm around Margot Bonvalet—and he had never dared that before!

"Margot—" Pierre began.

"Please, Pierre—don't tell me anything more. I—I want to be left alone."

"But answer just one question, Margot, and then I will go. Did you love this man very much?"

There were tears in the girl's eyes. "Yes, I loved him—as I never will love anyone else."

Pierre did as he had promised. He went quietly from the room. When she knew that she was alone Margot gave way to all the despair that had been stifling her since the night before, since she started back over the desert, leaving the Red Shadow to face the horrible punishment he could not escape. Her own sobs prevented her hearing the door through which Pierre went open again. She felt a hand on her shoulder. At first it seemed impossible—it was the distorted imagining of her broken heart. But when she felt his lips against hers she knew that it was true. The Red Shadow—her lover—was there, dressed in his scarlet burnoose, his face hidden by the mask he had always worn.

Then, after that long embrace, she lifted the mask. And she knew that the greatest romance of all was ahead—the tempestuous love of the Red Shadow and the protecting tenderness of Pierre.

Interesting Relics Found

Discovery Made At Old Settlement On Saskatchewan River

A discovery of great prehistoric interest has been made at Brosseau, an old settlement on the north bank of the Saskatchewan River, near Spedden, the discovery consisting of a large quantity of articles of warfare and household use.

A short time ago, as John Ames was plowing on his farm at Brosseau, the sound of steel against steel attracted his attention. On investigating he discovered a barrel shaped cavity filled with axes of many patterns, tomahawks, big hunting knives, table knives and forks, flints, arrowheads, locks, keys, etc.

The locks are of the type known as stock locks, and these and the keys are of enormous size compared with the modern kind. Many theories are afloat as to the reason for burying these articles in this remote place. Many years, perhaps generations, must have elapsed since this miscellaneous collection of articles were hidden away. That they were enclosed in a barrel is quite evident from the shape of the hole and from the fact that though the wooden staves have long since turned into dust, some of the iron hoops, rusted and worn, still remain. A few theories in connection with this remarkable find are: That the articles were being conveyed to a Hudson Bay post, when owing to some accident or disaster, the factor or men in charge of them had to cache them in this spot; or that they may have been taken from the post at Frog Lake, at the time of what is called the Massacre, by Indians, who fearing pursuit, buried them where they were found.

Mathematical Genius

Six Year Old Danish Boy Has Dumb-founded Scientists

Danish scientists have been dumb-founded by the mental antics of a six-year-old mathematical genius, Paul Larsen, whose father is a modest tailor in the village of Hvidovre. On a recent visit to Copenhagen the chubby little fellow multiplied figures with products as high as 10,000. Most of his answers were given in less than ten seconds, and if the calculations of his inquisitors may be relied upon, all of them were accurate. According to his proud father, Paul has displayed his ability at arithmetic since he passed his fourth birthday, and no one has ever taken particular pains to train his mind in that direction. When he is not performing for curious visitors, the child spends his time playing about the streets of his native village.

Little Helps For This Week

It is not, Lord, that I have fearful grown

To walk the way I must;

But oh! the path is steep that I must tread,

And often in the dust.

I fall, my feet are bleeding from the stones,

And all my tears are vain;

Forgive, I pray, dear Lord, and give me strength;

Thy strength to rise again.

Whether we stumble, or whether we fall, we must only think of rising again and going on in our course. God never makes us feel our weakness, but that we may be led to seek strength from Him.—Fenelon.
