SECOND STREET

Death Reaps Another.

It is with deep regret that we chronicle the death of another one of our most esteemed and respected citizens in the person of Mrs. Jane Williamson, wife of Mr. James Williamson, of this city. The deceased lady had been enjoying good health up to a short time before her death. She succumbed to her illness at the Union & Comox Hospital on Friday last, June 23rd. The funeral took place from the family residence on Sunday, at 3 p. m., to Cumberland cemetery and was largely attended. The Rev D. McGillivray performed the funeral obsequies both at the house and at the grave.

The pallbearers were, William Hutton, John Ramsay, William Keenan, Dan Stewart, J. Wilson, W. Beveridge.

The following is the list of floral tributes:—St. George's Presbyterian Ladies' Aid, cross; Mrs. J. Robertson, bouquet; Mr. and Mrs. Beveridge, bouquet, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Stewart, cross; Mrs Delaney, bouquet; Mr. and Mrs. H. Creech, pillow; Mr. and Mrs James Brown, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McLellan, bouquet; Mr. and Mrs. [illegible], cross; Mr. and Mrs. J. Gillespie, wreath; Misses Annie and Maggie Hayman, bouquet; Miss Janet Hayman, boquet; Miss Martha Hunden, bouquet; Mr. and Mrs. D. Mitchell, wreath.

CARD OF THANKS

I desire to take this opportunity of thanking all the kind friends who rendered assistance and sympathy in my sad loss, and also for the many beautiful floral tributes.

JAMES WILLIAMSON

Health Report

of the City of Cumberland for the half year ending June 30th 1909.

To the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Cumberland.

Dear Sirs:—

Notwithstanding unfavorable conditions, the public health for past half year has been good.

Contageous diseases reported:—
Erysipelas.....2
Tuberculosis.....1
Chicken Pox, few sparodic cases.

The two chief dairies, supplying milk to the city, are being inspected monthly and are gradually raising the standard of cleanliness. A recommendation, as to safeguarding the public against disease transmitted from diseased cows, was embodied in my recent dairy report.

The Isolation Hospital though little used of late, demands consideration. The only room habitable in winter, is draughty and its walls lined with paper tacked on in small sections, thus making thorough fumigation of the room impossible. Were the walls sheathed with seasoned lumber and painted; both the above defects would be remedied and the objections, regarding accomodation, made by those about to be removed to the Isolation Hospital would no longer be valid.

The water supply pipe to the hospital lies on top of the ground for a considerable distance, thus practically depriving the building of water in frosty weather, as is doubtless well known to you. The city sewers, for the most part, are in a lamentable condition; the present system of wooden box sewers, from a sanitary standpoint, stands condemned, and it is hoped the Council will endeavor to speedily complete the system of tile drains already begun.

The city was recently honored by a visit from Dr. Fagan, Secretary Provincial Board of Health, who made a thorough inspection of the sanitary conditions of the city and adjoining district. While here he succeeded in arousing considerable interest in matters relating to the public health, more especially regarding the precautions to be taken for prevention of tuberculosis and the splendid work being done at the Tranquille Sanitarium for cure of the same.

Respectfully submitted.
GEO. K. MACNAUGHTON, M.D.

Miss Freeman arrived by Tuesday's boat.

LOCALS

The Misses Jessie and Hazel Frame who wrote at the McGill University entrance exam at Nanaimo, received word that they had passed exceedingly well in every subject chemistry, and only failing by a few points in that.

The Misses Frame deserve great credit, as through some misunderstanding they having to write on eleven subjects, whereas the other matriculation pupils only wrote on six. They will have a chance to write on that again at any subsequent exam.

Postmaster Nunns is installed in the new post office, and when the furnishings are in, will be very handsome and commodious quarters.

Kerton Brothers have been awarded the contract for the Church of England parsonage.

Miss Brown, at present nurse in the C. & U. Hospital, was appointed matron at Monday nights meeting of the hospital board.

Mrs. Hunter, of Ladysmith, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Liddle, returned for home by Wednesday's boat.

GOT HIM CHEAP.

The Way a Famous Surgeon Was Once Cleverly Tricked.

Sir Morel Mackenzie once received a wire from Antwerp asking him his charges for a certain operation. He replied £500 and was told to come at once. When he stepped upon the dock he was met by three men in mourning, who informed him sadly that he had come too late, the patient had died

"But," said the spokesman of the party, "we shall pay you your full fee." And they did. "And now," said the man, "since you are here, what do you say to visiting the city hospital and giving a clinic for the benefit of our local surgeons? It is not often they have an opportunity of benefiting by such science as yours."

Sir Morel said he would gladly comply. He went to the hospital and performed many operations, among which were two of a similar nature to that for which he had been called for. When he had finished all thanked him profusely. On the steamer going home he met a friend, who had a business house in Antwerp.

"Pretty scurvy trick they played on you, Sir Morel."

"What do you mean?" asked the surgeon.

"Told you the patient died before you arrived, didn't they?"

"Yes."

"Lies. You operated on him and a friend with the same trouble at the clinic. Got two operations for one price."

HE WAS EXCITED.

And Yet He Was Making Only a Very Reasonable Request.

It was a dramatic scene, pregnant with the most tragic possibilities. Thus thought a witness to the meeting of three Italians near the big express depot at Fifteenth and Market streets. A man and woman who were delivering a trunk into the hands of a clerk were suddenly confronted by another man, who was highly excited. He approached the woman. In voluble Italian he raved and swore and pleaded, while she shrilled equally excited answers. The other man stood back against the wall, his arms folded defiantly, his head sunk on his chest. It certainly looked as if daggers were to be drawn. The interested bystander asked of some listeners who understood the rapidly spluttered dialect what the trouble was all about.

"Why," was the volunteered translation, "this woman has run away from her husband with this man," pointing to the sulky individual.

"Oh, and he is begging her to return?" was the next query.

"Not on your life," was the expressive reply. "She has packed up all her husband's clothes in her trunk, as well as her own, and he is begging her to give back at least his Sunday suit."

Baked Men.

Workers in porcelain factories are literally baked, but by some miracle of use and wont they remain sufficiently underdone to live. At least if they are not quite baked they endure a stronger heat than that which browns the Sunday sirloin. The furnaces wherein porcelain is finished are kept at the fiercest heat used in any industry. A chain of workmen, their heads and bodies swathed in fireproof garments, take the finished pieces from the fire one at a time and pass them to the cooling room. The man at the head of this chain—he who stands nearest the furnace—can work in only five minute shifts. In his interims of rest he lies on a mattress drinking glass after glass of ice water from the hands of a small boy. At lunchtime all about the chain of men steaks grill.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Just Tolerable.

Concerning a certain time serving Washington clergyman of whom a visitor was one day expressing a harsh estimate President Lincoln said:

I think you are rather hard on Mr. —. He reminds me of a man in Illinois who was arrested for passing a counterfeit bill. He admitted that he had taken it to a bank cashier to know if it was a good bill. "Well, what was the reply of the cashier?" asked his lawyer. "Why," evasively answered the prisoner, "he said it was a pretty tolerable, respectable sort of a bill."

Mr. Lincoln thought the clergyman "a pretty tolerable, respectable sort of a clergyman."

At Close Range.

"Who is that neglected looking little boy with dirt over his face?"

"He is the child of the noted astronomer who lives over the way."

"Oh, is he? Come here, sonny. Run home and tell your father he doesn't need his telescope if he wants to see spots on the sun."

His Trouble.

Friend—Don't worry because your sweetheart has turned you down since you lost your money. There are as good fish in the sea as ever were caught. Jilted One—Yes, but I've lost my bait.

Ripe Old Age.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what is a ripe old age? Pa—It's the age, my son, at which a man is willing to admit that he's not the only dried apple in the pantry.

The Doctor's Orders.

Mrs. O'Harrigan—Phey have ye stock this empty flask under th' baby? Mrs. Carey—Th' doctor's ordthers. He told me Oi'd have to keep th' baby on a bottle!

Not to outshine, but to shine upon, his neighbors is the successful man's mission.—Towne.

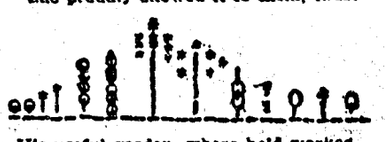
TWO GARDENS.

TWO people would a garden make,
And one was She, and one was He.
Her plans were made for beauty's sake;
His plot a useful one would be.
They bought the seeds and broke the ground,
And then they waited, hoped and feared.
He of his crops would oft expound.
Then those two gardens thus appeared:

The sun came out and warmed the earth,
And, nourished by the gentle rains,
Her bed of pansies sprang to birth.
The other things made rapid gains.
The weeks went by; her garden grew,
Well paying all her toil and fuss.
Until, when friends would come to view,
She proudly showed it to them, thus:



His useful garden, where he'd worked
And fretted all the springtime through,
Was backward; then it flatly shirked,
As many well planned gardens do.
And when the neighbors came to see
They were not taken out and shown
The climbing bean, the fat green pea,
For this is how his plants had grown:

—Charles R. Barnes in Puck.

Precocious Knowledge.

The millionaire's ten-year-old son pranced eagerly toward his father.

"Father," he began, his face fairly beaming with an enthusiastic desire, "won't you buy me an auto?"

"What do you want with an auto?" inquired the millionaire.

"I want to take my girls out riding."

"I didn't know you had any girls."

"I haven't now. But if I owned an auto I'd soon have some." — Lippincott's Magazine.

Enlightened.

"You rejected Tom, you say?"

"Yes, poor fellow! He was dreadfully overcome. He stood right by the door while he proposed, and as soon as I said 'No' he staggered away."

"He must have been greatly relieved. It was all a bet, you know. Jim Sherwood bet Tom a basket of wine that he wouldn't dare propose to you. And they're going to drink it tonight."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Giving Advice.

Cocoanut—My, isn't it wretchedly stuffy here? I'm all in a commotion.

Pineapple—Calm yourself. If you persist in splashing your milk you'll become seasick.

A Concession.

"Your wife insists that women are always superior to men?"

"No," answered Mr. Meekton. "The other day Henrietta was real affable and patient toward a man on the street car, who stood up and took it for granted that she wasn't as well able to hang on to a strap as he was."—Washington Star.

The Drone.

"Gracious, Lucinda," exclaimed the housewife in surprise, "you say that your husband hasn't worked in five years and doesn't even look for work! Why, he's a curiosity."

"Yes, ma'am," sighed Lucinda as she bent over the tub. "'Tis a case of what dey call 'idle curiosity.'"—Minneapolis Journal.

Physical Impossibility.

Maud—Do tell me, Alice! Did Charley go down on his knees to you when he proposed?

Alice—Nonsense! Why, how could he have gone down on his knees to me? Why, I—well, where do you suppose I was anyway?—New York Herald.

The Term For It.

"My weight," said Huskie, "is exactly 250 pounds."

"You mean with all your heavy clothes on?" queried Ascum.

"No, sir; that's my net weight."

"Net? Most folks would call that gross."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Exquisite.

He (looking through his glass)—There's a glorious glacier which we shall soon reach.

She Oh, won't it make a lovely background to my blue frock!—Meggendorfer Blatter.

Probably.

"Men are really superior creatures."

"Superior to what?"

"Superior to other men."

A Lover's Complaint.

My sweetheart's shining golden locks
I used to much admire
When sitting side by side with her
Before a blazing fire.
I loved to smooth with gentle hand
Those burnished braids and press
My lips upon each silken curl
And waving yellow tress.

But now since fashion has decreed
Each lady fair must pile
Her head with purchased puffs and curls
And coils to be in style
To drop a kiss upon her head,
Alas, I do not dare.
For I may be caressing them
Another woman's hair!

The Scientific American has the following to say regarding the new White Star liner Olympic, now being built at Belfast, by Harland & Wolff:—"The 'Olympic' which is now under construction will probably not be in service for two or three years. This truly enormous vessel will be 899 feet in length, 92 feet in beam, and 64 feet in molded depth. The extreme height of the ship from keel to roof of pilot house will be 105 feet In general appearance the 'Olympic' will not be unlike the 'Mauretania.' She will have four elliptical funnels, each 28 feet in diameter. Her free board will be somewhat greater, being about 52 feet at the bow, 45 feet to the level of the main deck, 62 feet to the boat deck amidships, and 42 feet at the stern. A striking novelty will be the provision of a single pole mast forward of the bridge. At 35 feet draft the roof of the pilot house will be 70 feet above the water."

MARSH WON BIG RACE FROM ROWAN

John D. Marsh, of Winnipeg, winner of many middle and long distance running events, and holder of the world's record for the full Marathon distance, won his 12 mile match race with Alex Rowan, the local runner on the Cricket Grounds last night by 80 yards, finishing the long grind with a burst of speed that surprised the spectators who numbered some 300. The track was 396 yards in circumference and was lapped by the runners 72 times making the distance travelled by them close on to 12 miles, and as the track was heavy, the time 1 hr. 12 min, and 39 sec., is exceptionally good.
