New Indestructable Record, For Phonographs and Graphophones.

AT LAST a cylinder record which will play from four to five minutes, and which is at the same time, PRACTICABLE and UNBREAKABLE is an accomplished fact.

The one supreme obstacle in the way of producing a cylinder record of two hundred threads to the inch, instead of one hundred—the equipment of the ordinary two-minute record—and producing at the same time a record which would be commercially practicable and stand the test of wear; has so far lain in the extreme delicacy of the wax-like material ordinarily used, and the apparent impossibility of recording this astonishing number of threads without breaking down the walls, of almost inconceivable fineness which separate the tone furrows from each other. This difficulty has been, solved for all time by the productions of the Columbia Indestructable 4-Minute Record.

What this means to cylinder record users is almost impossible to appreciate at a casual glance. The two-minute Columbia Indescribable Record at 45 cents with its matchless tonal qualities and unbreakable texture, was universally conceded to be the greatest boon to cylinder record users ever introduced in this country. But the 4-Minute Indestructable Record at 65 cents will, it is safe to say, more than double the entertainment, economy and profit of the two-minute record. The thinning of the tone walls, far from impairing the record in any manner whatsoever, has actually resulted in a finer, purer, clearer and more thoroughly musical tone—all this in addition to the principal gain, namely, the double length of the performance. Every selection on the 4-Minute Columbia Indestructable Record is given entire—from four to five minutes of solin entertainment. These advantages, combined with that other superiority of Columbia Indestructable Records their absolute indestructibility, being taken into consideration, we may safely assert with regard to the new 4-Minute Columbia Indestructible Record that "it is the only four minute record that is right."

Christmas Rod and Gun.

In wealth of matter and variety of subject, everyone interesting to sportsmen, the Christmas (December) number of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, Ont., is notable. An appropriate Christmas tinge is given to the first two stories and adds something to the interest both will evoke. Hunting, fishing and exploring papers, widely different in character and displaying in a remarkable way the wonderful resources of the Dominion in these several respects, fill a number no sportsmen can afford to miss. The study of the wild water fowl of the Pacific Coast by Bonnycastle Dale will appeal to all lovers of bird life while the stories of days with the deer, mountain sheep, bear, wolves and a fox will recall many pleasant experience. Bird shooters will revel in the papers dealing with duck and woodcock, while one on Grouse Shooting in the Mother is included by reason of its exceptionally strong descriptive force, giving Canadian sportsmen a pleasant change and enabling them to enjoy a different view point to that generally taken by them. Mountain climbing in East and West, a mysterious Indian story, fishing, from tuna and salmon to trouts and many other items fill a number which should be included by all interested in the great outdoors, in their Christmas reading. They cannot fail to find interest and pleasure in its perusal.

Whereas in provincial factories are liberally baited, but by some miracle of sun and wind they remain sufficiently nourishing to live. At least if they are not quite baked they endure a stronger heat than that which browns the Sunday chicken. The European minnow presently to be found are kept at the factories best used in any industry. A chain of workmen, their hands and bodies clothed in fireproof garments, take the baked pieces from the fire one at a time and pass them to the cooling room. The men on the head of the chain—to the outside people the dangerous—can work in only five minute shifts. In the interval of rest he has on a generous breathing glass filled with water from the bubble of the mine bay. At numerous all about the chain of men smoke grill—Chemist and Engineer.
