The Cry Was "New York."

A number of Cumberland hunters had a most thrilling adventure on their annual trip to Texada Island on the renowned launch "Taliassa," the property of Smith, Grimes & Co., shipping agents, Trent River wharf. There was a big commotion in town on their departure. The schedule time for the launch to leave was 9 30 sharp; everyone was on board and all seemed calm and bright, the sea air had a wonderful effect on their appetites, as everyone was seen eating a can of pork and beans as they sailed away, but sorry to say, that after passing the north of Denman Island the water became choppy, and where a little while before all was laugh and song, silence began to reign supreme. After a few more miles had been traversed, two men of moving picture fame, began to show signs of distress, declaring that every bean they had eaten felt like a football rolling around in their stomachs; the case of the chief engineer, J. Minnie, was far worse, he being laid on his back, declaring that he would give a month's pay to any one who would hold his head. After five hours of the worst weather ever experienced, the boat arrived at Gillis Bay, and a more sorrowful bunch of hunters would be hard to find. Here, the managing director, Smith, demonstrated his abilities as a physician. After supplying hot black coffee with a "stick" in it, they began to resemble their former selves. The following day proved a fine one for the hunt, no less than fifteen fine deer falling to their guns; but now they remembered that they had to return and some fine suggestions were made, Messrs Russell and Webster were for walking to Van Anda, nine miles through the bush just to show their comrades that they were game to come back by way of Vancouver, and on the large steamer Cowichan, but to their dismay they just missed it and had to travel by the same means home, and after borrowing a bible from a rancher, which every one was anxious to read they arrived back safe, declaring that they never had a better time. For further particulars as to sailings and fare apply to the Royal International Fish Market, Cumberland, B. C., D. C., B. N. A.

The meeting of the Colliery Company top hands held in the K. of P. Hall on Saturday afternoon to consider the question of returning to work, ended as usual with those meetings, nothing decided. Some of the engineers it is reported have returned to work and others are thinking seriously of the matter. There appears to be a feeling of dissatisfaction among some of the miners, owing to lack of financial support. It is claimed by the executive of the U, M. W. of A., that ample support will shortly be forthcoming; this however remains to be seen.

Mr. W. Siddall, tailor, and family have left Cumberland for Nanaimo, where Mr. Siddall will engage in business. We are sorry to lose Mr Siddall, as he has taken a lively interest in the civic and political affairs of this city and district. But men must follow where business calls, as none of us can live on air alone. When times are more settled we hope to see him return.

It would not be surprising if the coming month should bring some startling developments in the mining situation. It is rumoured that there are some surprises in store.

"Sandy" Walker left for Nanaimo by Sunday's boat to attend the funeral of the late Samuel C. Davis, which took place on Monday.

Parker Williams, M. P. P. is in town.

Henry Stemkamp who was injured at the Fraser logging camp on the 19th inst, and who had to have his leg amputated below the knee, is doing as well as can be expected.

The outgoing train on Sunday was well filled with passengers.

Messrs Quinn and Port, of Nanaimo, have commenced improvements to the Grand hotel, which when completed will see the erection of a three storey brick structure containing forty rooms, one of the finest hotels in the city. The extension will cost $35,000.

Thanksgiving Day was quietly observed here.—No turkeys.

"Parm" Pettipiece, editor of the Federationist, has been appointed by the Ottawa government as its local correspondent for the Labor Gazette. The late correspondent held the position for twelve years.

Good pictures, a good program and a most enjoyable dance was given by the U. M. W of A. in Cumberland Hall on Tuesday night. The usual big crowd was there.

Mr. S. McL. Smith, provincial assessor was in town this week.

The prospects of a busy Christmas are not bright, whatever the New Year may bring.

Get your name on the voters list, as it looks as if there will be "something doing" at the next civic election.

Superintendent Beasley, of the E. & N. Railway, has stated that with the letting of the contract to Moore & Pethick for about 20 miles of line on the Comox extension, the whole line to Courtenay would be under contract, and it was expected to open it next July. About 20 miles are already graded of the 45 miles from McBride Junction. Several steel bridges would be required, for which contracts would be let in due course.

The deputation mentioned in last weeks issue, as being appointed to interview Premier McBride in the matter of railway extension to Cumberland, left by auto on Wednesday afternoon for Victoria.

Victoria, Oct. 25.—The Official Gazette this week announces that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor has been pleased to accept the resignation of Thomas Leith, inspector of schools of the city of Vancouver, and of Victor B. Harrison, police magistrate of Ladysmith.

Robert Grant and Samuel Shore arrived here last week by auto from Victoria. Mr. Shore is looking O. K.

Dr. Kerr has so far recovered from rheumatism that he was able to return last week to his home in Victoria.

Nanaimo, Oct. 27.—A cadet corps, one hundred strong, was instituted in Nanaimo last night at a meeting held in the council chambers, which during the evening was addressed by Major Snow, Mr. Healey, Mr. F. H. Shepherd, M. P., Mr. Cunningham, Mr. Nelgan, Mr. Pettigrew and others, the last named speaker being heard in opposition to the movement.

We move in a mischievous circle; war breeds war, strikes and lock outs breed enmity and poverty; poverty and enmity breed strikes and lock-outs again. Is this vicious see-saw never to cease? In theory we all condemn it; no sane thinker defends it. Industrial war, like international war, settles no question of right and wrong. It only proves which side for the time being is financially the stronger. —Ex.

Hon. James McDonald ex-chief justice of Nova Scotia, and a minister of justice in the Sir John A. McDonald administration, died at Halifax, N. S., early this month, aged 84 years. He was father-in-law of Sir Chas H. Tupper, of Vancouver.

The Socialists are going to take an active part in our next civic elections, and will use every effort to elect their men.

It looks as if conditions will soon be normal in Cumberland.

Good Quality in Clothing

as well as in everything else, is never cheap. A dollar saved below a reasonable price, is more than likely, poor economy in the long run.

CHAPTER XXI

A Woman's Honor

On the morning after the adjourned inquest, hospital duties had brought Clare back to London, and as she walked across the courtyard from the matron's office to her ward, her thoughts were very full of Dorothy, and of all that had lately taken place at Mansmere. She had puzzled very much over her friend's strange words about her husband and Oliver Dynecourt, and for the first time since the Hernesley marriage, Clare wondered if her own judgment had been unduly harsh, whether, perhaps, Dorothy's conduct was influenced by some deeper motive than appeared on the surface. Although even to her own heart she could hardly bear to put the question, yet the question was there.

Had Dynecourt proved unworthy of Dorothy's love? Was he worthy of —hers?

Worthy or unworthy, the answer thrilled back along her pulses, worthy or unworthy, it is for him I care; worthy or unworthy, he is all the world to me. The very thought brought a flush to her face, and as though in response to the thought the subject of it at that moment issued from a building to the right, and came quickly towards her. The sight of his face sent a throb of pain through Clare's heart. He looked as if he had been awake all night, his eyes were heavy, and their expression strained and weary, deep shadows lay below them; and he had the worn, lined appearance of a man who has just risen from a long illness. The ghost of a smile flickered over his lips when he saw Clare, and she fancied a certain relief flashed into his eyes. Indeed, her quiet face and steadfast glance had a soothing effect upon him, after the complex emotions of the night, and he said eagerly—

I am so glad to see you, Sister. Demonstrating anatomy this morning has been the last straw.

You look as if you couldn't bear any more strains, she said brightly, with that friendly glance into his tired face which he had learnt to know and value. I only came back an hour ago from Mansmere—

Mansmere? I see the inquest was adjourned again. Why?

A fresh clue was discovered. The police want time to act upon it. My brother and Miss Dyson were mainly instrumental in finding it, and—

What was it? Do you know? His almost painful eagerness, the look of strain that came again into his eyes brought back to her in a flood all those terrors and suspicions which for days had haunted her. Her voice shook as she answered—

I believe they found some memorandum in Mr. Tritton's rooms, something that involved another person in his affairs. I don't know any details. My brother did not think it right to tell me more than that. But I believe he had great hopes that it might set everything right.

Can one ever set everything right? Dynecourt said under his breath, or does one get deeper into the mire the further one goes.

Must one go into the mire at all? Clare's clear eyes looked straight into his.

Supposing a man has stumbled in, either—deliberately or unawares?

Then he must pick his way out again as well as he can, she said, her voice sounding cheery and strong in the ears of the man beside her.

You would always be on the side of the people who pick their way out of the mire? he said, a ring of wistfulness in his voice.

I should always like to help them out, she answered.

I want to tell you about a case, and ask your advice, came the abrupt reponse. I have bewildered my own brain with sophistries, till I can't see clearly what I ought to do. You will go straight to the mark. His praise sounded sweet in her ears, and even although she was well aware that he came to her merely as a friend, it was joy to her to feel that her friendship at least was precious to him.

I will do my best, she answered, but if your brain can't see clearly what to do, it is not likely that mine will help you to clearness.

I have to come up to the ward to see a man Drummond has asked me to have a look at. May I come into your sitting-room for five minutes afterwards?

Is it something pressing?

I've got to make up my mind at once what I ought to do. All night I've been having an appalling time with a man who, to all intents and purposes went mad under my eyes. And now—I feel half mad myself, trying to disentangle right from wrong.

I think there can only be one right Clare answered gently as they reached the door of the ward, and for a few minutes talked of nothing but the man Mr. Drummond, one of the surgeons, had asked Dynecourt to see. When the examination of the patient was over, Oliver turned a curiously absorbed face to the Sister, who, as in duty bound, stood behind him.

This is a profoundly interesting case he said in a low voice, it bears an odd family resemblance to another I saw a few months ago, only—this one has some symptoms which may throw light on the other, which—may—

He did not finish his sentence, but the absorption on his face deepened, and his mind seemed to come from a long way off when she said—

If you want to speak to me, I am free now for a few minutes.

To speak to you? he looked at her vaguely, as if he did not see her; then a realisation returned to him of her presence, and of all he had just been saying to her, and he said quickly—

That poor fellow there put every other idea out of my head. His case woke up such a train of thoughts. But they won't help me to solve my other puzzle, he added with a sigh, following Clare into her sitting-room, and sinking into the same chair in which he had sat when he came here after Dorothy's wedding. As on that day, his eyes wandered round the small room, noting the restfulness of Clare's pictures, feeling, without definitely realising why he felt it, a sense of comfort and soothing in all her surroundings. Clare was not the least restful part of those surroundings. Her dark blue gown became her, her white apron and the cap that rested on her dark hair suited the soft coloring of her face, but it was her quiet restfulness, rather than any good looks she possessed that appealed to Dynecourt just now.

I am a weak fool to burden you with my difficulties, he said with a short laugh; I don't know how I do, excepting that you are one of the helpers of this world.

At his words Clare's heart leapt again, but she did not answer, and he went on slowly.

And—I suppose I am a bit off my balance this morning. I want someone to show me the way out of a tangle.

Tell me about it, Clare put in gently, sometimes another person sees the way out that one cannot find one's self.

It is my professional honor on the one hand, the setting free of an innocent man on the other.

You mean—

I mean that the guilty man has confessed his crime to me, after making me promise secrecy. And—an innocent man is accused of the crime.

And you could save him by speaking.

I could save him by speaking. But my professional honor binds me to be silent.

I don't call that real honor, Clare said abruptly, when you promised secrecy, you thought the man was going to tell you some professional thing, something about himself and his health. You did not guess he was going to confess a crime.

Most assuredly I did not.

And an innocent man may suffer punishment?

Dynecourt nodded.

I only see one right, Clare said decidedly, it may be a woman's point of view, but you must save an innocent man from suffering wrongfully. Why, to hide the truth would be like sharing in the crime.

She spoke vehemently, and with her words there poured into her mind all the fears and suspicions that had haunted her for so many days. But she fought against them fiercely.

Why do I suspect him? the thought tossed to and fro in her brain, whilst aloud she said—

I have been with Dorothy during the last few days. It makes one realise all the misery a false accusation can bring. If your speaking can put an end to the same kind of misery and suspense that she has been enduring, I should say to you, speak and let professional etiquette and honor, or whatever you call it go.

Offered His Bid

A Yorkshireman recently entered an auction mart. Looking around and catching the auctioneer's eye during a lull in the bidding, he shouted loudly enough to be heard by all:

May I bid?

Certainly, said the man of the hammer, thinking he a customer.

All eyes being turned on the customer, he, making for the door, said:

Well, I bid you good-night, then.

The laughter which followed stopped business for some time.

Beautify Farm Homes

With the settlement on the land of an increasing number of emigrants each year, the beautifying of the farm homes claims some attention. To many the subject may be of little interest, the cultivation of produce being their primary object. This is only natural and as may be expected. In cases, however, where the farmers have made good this question should receive their very careful consideration. The appearance of most Canadian farms is not at all prepossessing, the lack of trees or shrubbery giving one the impression of barrenness. This could be so easily altered by planting a few trees or shrubbery which would not only make the farm homes beauty spots but would considerably enhance the value of the farms themselves. This fact is, unfortunately, too often lost sight of by the farmers when the question of beautifying the farm homes is put up to them. They look at it from the domestic standpoint only and do not realize that commercially it is of even greater value.

The uses which trees would serve can only be realized by practical experiments. As a shelter from wind storms both to stock and crop they are very valuable. Of even greater importance, while it is not a practical use, is the effect they would produce on the landscape. The scene which today can only be described as uninteresting would become pleasing to the eye. The miles of rolling prairie without a single tree to break the vista becomes monotonous in their sameness and the advent of trees and shrubbery as home beautifiers would be a happy relief.

The expense need not be large and when the farmers realize the advantages which the planting of a few trees would bring, there is little doubt but the practice of improving the outlook of the farm homes will be so universally adopted that a few years from now will see few Canadian farms which have not each their quota of trees and shrubbery.

Used according to directions, Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial will afford relief in the most acute form of summer complaint. Whenever the attack manifests itself no time should be lost in seeking the aid of the Cordial. It will act immediately on the stomach and intestines and allay the irritation and pain. A trial of it will convince anyone of these assertions.

MANY DEER IN HIGHLANDS

Outlook for Coming Stalking Season Better Than Usual

The Scottish deer stalking prospects for the coming summer are good.

In all districts without exception the red deer are more numerous than their average numbers during the past three years. For one thing there have been fewer deaths this year than for some years back. The past winter and spring have been all too mild to please the older race of keepers, who are never satisfied unless the deer have to pass through a winter of prolonged hardships—weeks of hard snow-covered hillsides.

Such conditions, they hold, thin out all the weaklings in the herds, leaving only the vigorous stags and hinds to carry on the best traditions of the Highland forests. As a result of the milder conditions of the past winter and spring all sorts and conditions of both stags and hinds are now to be seen in the corries, which today carry—it is generally allowed—more red deer than ever before. In the circumstances there is scarcely a forest in the three northmost counties which would not be vastly bettered by quite a wholesale removal of heads and haunches during the coming autumn.

In all the Balmoral corries the red deer are in excellent condition and the best of sport is promised for the coming season, during which the King is to have a full round of sport in the Aberdeenshire corries. The Prince of Wales is to join his father on this occasion and arrangements are being made for a series of extensive deer drives and stalks in which a number of distinguished guests are to take part.

Balmoeaan, leased for so long now by Bradley Martin, and Glenquoich, so long also in the hands of the late Lord Burton, who did so much to improve the herds of red deer, are both of them showing well at the present date.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER DURING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, dysentry, cholera infantum and stomach disorders come without warning and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets should always be kept in the home where there are young children. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will cure the baby. Mrs. Adeloro Ouillette, St. Bruno, Que., writes: 'My baby was troubled with his bowels, but Baby's Own Tablets soon set him right again." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dramatic Snap

A number of players and playwrights at the Lambs' Club were discussing the question of what constitutes the snap so persistently demanded of the dramatist by the manager of today.

I have talked to so many managers on this subject, said one writer, but none has been able to give me any very definite notion as to just what snap is.

I can help you out, said Eugene Walter. I have an idea for a one-act play that justs bursts with snap. I'll give it to you. Here it is:

Play opens with man and woman in drawing room, seated side by side on a sofa and embracing each other passionately.

Enter to them a man with a suitcase and an umbrella. He is of course to all intents, husband unexpectedly returned.

Husband no sooner takes in the situation than he yanks out a revolver and shoots both man and woman.

Then he takes out his glasses, puts them on, looks about him, and suddenly gives a start.

Merciful heavens! he exclaimed. I'm on the wrong floor.—Lippincott's.

Appreciates Walt Mason

A Free Press reader in far-off Belfast sends this appreciation of Walt Mason's philosophy.

You have a chum upon yoour staff
Who gives us many a merry laugh,
You'll bear with me on his behalf,
A little while.

Walt's racy style and winsome way,
His fling at crank, and croak and jay,
The sound advice and skilful play,
The hours beguile.

I see he doesn't care two sticks
For the wild war of politics,
Not blarneyed by the party tricks,
Of grassy guys.

Now could your bard ideas spin
To show a way out of the din,
Show saner methods, that we win
A chance to rise.

I do not flatter when I say
Walt's full serio-comic lay,
Is but the common spate of play,
He turns new soil.
That being so, could he suggest
A way into some haven blest
From out the present mad unrest
And storm—some oil.

To calm a nation's mad display
When time ticks off election day,
To saner wisdom show the way,
Net wisdom's sum.

Conquers Asthma. To be relieved from the terrible suffocating due to asthma is a great thing, but to be safe-guarded for the future is even greater. Not only does Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy bring prompt relief, but it introduces a new era of life for the afflicted. Systematic inhaling of smoke or fumes from the remedy prevents re-attacks and often effects a permanent cure.

FOR THE ANGLERS

Queer Materials Used in Making Artificial Flies

The makers of flies for fishermen are constantly devising new and ingenious forms. All manner of queer material enter into the manufacture of these flies such as bears eye-brows and mouse whiskers.

The business done in mouse whiskers is very considerable, for these are an important factor in the making of a fly, known as the grey gnat. Trout rise very much better, it is claimed, at whisker flies than at the same gnat dressed in jungle cock-hackles, although they look very much alike.

Bears' eyebrows, for the reason that they are stiff and have exactly the right line, are employed in the making of a fly that is extensively used in salmon fishing. These eyebrows are taken from the Himalayan brown bear and are expensive.

Fly makers employ agents all over the world to look for birds that will supply material for the best fly hackles. One of the most sought after skins is that of the rare screamer, an African bird about the size of a hen, that shows a tiny bunch of feathers on each shoulder, worth about $15 a bunch to the fly maker. One of these birds will, it is estimated, supply feathers in sufficient quantity to make only half a dozen flies.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. ### Tomtit a Lamplighter

For several weeks past one of the public street lamps at Green ford, near Ealing, has been found alight nearly every day, although the lamplighter extinguished the light each morning.

Suspecting that some youthful imp with mischievious propensities was at work, the lamplighter set himself to capture the culprit who was giving him so much trouble. While waiting in hiding to pounce upon the offenders he was amazed to see the lamp apparently light itself.

Investigation revealed the fact that a tomtit had built a snug nest in a corner of the lamp and was in the habit of hopping on to the ring attached to the chain of the incandescent by-pass, thus turning on the light.

MONEY TO LOAN ON FARM PROPERTY AT CURRENT RATES OF INTEREST

More About The Loading Platform

The present generation of Western farmers will never know the difficulties and vexations experienced by their predecessors in the earlier years when no one could get a carload of grain shipped in bulk except by loading it through an elevator. The system forced the majority of farmers to sell their grain to the elevator owners at arbitrary prices, and oft times to submit to heavy dockage and other annoyances, causing continual dissatisfaction. Now however the distribution of cars as fixed by the Grain Act, and the use of the loading platform, provide facilities which enable the farmer to secure satisfactory treatment in the disposal of his grain, and the highest market prices at time of sale. Every farmer therefore, should more and more endeavor to use the loading platform in shipping his grain to the terminal elevators. It is the safeguard of the farmers' freedom in disposing of his grain to the best advantage for himself. If farmers refrain from using the loading platform freely, it might result in its being done away with, because railway companies and elevator owners are strongly opposed to it. It is easy to understand why elevator people desire the loading platform abolished. The railway people on their part say it delays the loading of cars and helps to cause car shortage. This we know to be nonsense, because frequently after cars are loaded whether with grain, coal lumber or other merchandise, they are sidetracked for days and even weeks instead of being promptly moved forward to destination. It is engine shortage and shortage of competent train men that mostly causes grain blockades on railways and not lack of cars. Let every farmer therefore, do all he can to use the loading platform and become an independent shipper. In subsequent advertisements we will state in detail the savings and other advantages of direct loading into cars compared with loading through elevators.

We handle the farmers grain strictly on commission, make liberal advances on car bills of lading, supervise the grading at time cars are inspected, secure the highest prices at time of sale and make prompt returns when sold. Write us for shipping instructions and market information.

Most Excellent Reason

It was a gala occasion at the school, and the young lady principal was very anxious that her pupils should show off to the best advantage before the many ladies present.

So to the first scholar she said:

Now, Grace, where was Mary, Queen of Scots, born?

At Linlithgow, answered the pupil.

And why was Mary born there? asked the teacher.

And sweet little Grace promptly answered:

Because, ma'am, her mother was staying there.

How did She Know?

Johnnie—Mammie, our governess can see in the dark.

Mamma—How do you know that?

Johnnie—Last night out in the hall I heard her tell Uncle Jack that he hadn't shaved.

Hercules had been driven in a taxicab to the Augean stables and told to get busy.

What's the use, he bitterly muttered. Just as soon as I get 'em cleaned up, they'll be turned into a garage.

Nevertheless he fell to work.

There's a fool-proof aeroplane on the market.

Good. What's its main characteristic?

It won't fly.

Is he absolutely honest?

Yes, indeed. He wouldn't even steal lumber from the new house that is being built next door to his.

She Knew the System

Into the Giganticum Emporium department store, about 8.30 a.m., walked a small, square-jawed woman. At 4.30 p.m., aided by maps, diagrams and a compass, she reached the spot where, the day before, the fancy goods counter had stood. Of course by that time it had been moved to some other floor, but as she had abnormal Sherlockan instincts, and good luck, she discovered the new location shortly before six o'clock.

Hoisting herself upon the counter she crossed her tired feet and addressed the salesgirl.

Now, she sighed, sound the general alarm, summon all the employees, from cash girls, and window washers, up to the general manager and president.

Um—er—er, gurgled the salesgirl, looking furtively about for one of the house detectives.

It is quite necessary, insisted the little woman kindly, but firmly. The last time I was here on a similar errand I had to interview them all. It will save me days of walking and talking to get them together and let them hear my story at once.

What do you wish? the girl managed to ask.

To return a spool of thread and get my money back, replied the shopper, wearily.

Moral Suasion

I don't want oatmeal, screamed the kid.

You must have oatmeal, said his father.

Never force anything on a child like that, interposed uncle, who has theories. Always give the child a choice.

All right, said the father. Now, kid, you can have oatmeal or you can have a clip on the jaw. Which is it?

The child took the oatmeal.

Sir William Allan covered a large canvas with a picture of the battle of Waterloo, which the Duke of Wellington bought. His grace asked the painter to call at the Horse Guards on a certain day to receive payment. Punctually Sir William came, and the duke began to count out notes for the sum agreed upon. Knowing how valuable his time was, Allan said that he would be quite content to take the duke's check.

His grace went on counting, and the artist, thinking he had not been heard, remarked:

It would save your grace time and trouble if you would give me a check on your bankers.

Either angry at being interrupted in his counting or else jocularly, with a touch of the truth that is sometimes spoken in jest, the duke answered:

Do you think I would allow Coutts (his banker) to know what a fool I have been?

Gentlemen,—I have frequently used MINARD'S LINIMENT and also prescribe it for my patients always with the most gratifying results, and I consider it the best all-round Liniment extant.

Yours truly,

Thinking it Over

Ma caught pa kissing the hired girl.

What's she going to do about it?

That's the trouble. She doesn't know. She can't make up her mind whether to get rid of pa or the hired girl. Sometimes she says she thinks she can get a new husband easier than she can get a new servant.

Good News

There is one thing that I have kept from you.

Tell me the worst.

I failed to get a diploma at the cooking school.

Come to my arms, dear one; I love you more than ever.

Why is it that a good-looking widow always seems to have a better chance than a pretty girl has to catch a husband?

I think one reason is that a widow doesn't waste her time where the catching is no good.

Remarkable Luck

From Chicago, isn't she?

Yes. A very unusual woman. She has such remarkable luck in keeping her help.

How's that?

Why she told me she had had four husbands and only one cook.

Warts will render the prettiest hands unsightly. Clear the excrescences away by using Holloway's Corn Cure, which acts thoroughly and painlessly.

Wise Man

Mrs. Excite—Oh, doctor, husband is in an awful way. Just as he goes to sign my checks he faints away.

Doctor—What am I to do.

Mrs. Excite—Get him so that he won't faint till after he signs them.

Suspicious

John, do you love me?

Yes

Will you always love me?

Yes—look here, dear, what have you been and gone and ordered sent home now?

May I ask, inquired the interviewer why you paint nothing but nudes?

Certainly, replied the painter, the styles change so rapidly in clothing that a picture would be out of date almost before the paint is dry.

A troupe of barnstormers were playing to a small business in an Iowa town. Just before the curtain went up the low comedian glanced through the peephole at the almost empty house.

How many people are there out in front? inquired the heavy.

Well, said the comedian, we are still in the majority.

WHEN SHE ATTEMPTED TO WORK, SO EXHAUSTED WAS THE NERVOUS SYSTEM

The Feeble, Wasted Nerves Were Restored and Revitalized by

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Nervous prostration is a terrible disease to all who understand its symptoms. At times the sufferer feels comparatively well, but with slight exertion the dreadful helplessness returns and all strength seems to leave the system.

This letter from Mrs. Martin very well describes the terrible condition in which many a sufferer finds herself. She also tells how she regained health and strength by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food after all other treatments had failed.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cliff, Que., writes:—"Before I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition from nervous exhaustion and prostration. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor. The weakness was so great that I could not so much as sweep the floor without fainting, but the nerve food helped me after the doctors failed. It has done wonders in building up my nervous system. I can do my own housework now and washing, and feel that this great medicine has been a God-send to me. I think it is thes best of medicines.

How to Take a Sun Bath

The sun bath is rapidly gaining popularity. It was not unknown to the Romans, who indulged in sun-baths to cure gout and rheumatism. The buildings they erected in their villas for the sunray treatment were styled solariums.

All that is needed is the sun; but it should not be allowed to beat down upon the head, which should be covered. The prospective sun-bather should get into an ordinary bathing-costume, and lie down in a convenient spot on a rug. Care should be taken to secure a position well out of the wind, and of course, the body must be moved about every ten minutes to avoid undue burning of any specific part of the anatomy. Also a bath should never by any chance last longer than an hour. Dizziness, extreme excitement, even faintness will be the inevitable result, should this warning be disregarded.

The sun bath is said to be an almost infallible cure for certain skin diseases, for undue corpulence, and run-down nerves.

Perhaps the cult of the sun-bath is most popular at a small place near Berlin, where the adherents of the new and simple cure have formed themselves into an association.

Also Ran

Very nervous and very shy was the strange young man who had drifted on to the cricket field. There were nine wickets down, and Mr. Simple was invited to go in, so that he might act as a substitute.

It was the very first time he had batted, but the bowler had neither mercy nor feelings, and sent down a real fast ball.

Simple closed his eyes, and by some extraordinary good fortune the ball struck the edge of the bat and glanced off towards the boundary. The batsman was dazed, and didn't know what to do.

Run, you silly beggar—run! yelled the crowd.

A look of terror overspread Simple's face. If he had been caught committing a terrible crime he could not have been more alarmed.

Dropping the bat, he bolted for his life, scaled the palings, and was seen no more.

Dysentery corrodes the intestines and speedily eats away the lining, bringing about dangerous conditions that may cause death. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial clears the intestinal canals of the germs that cause the inflammation, and by protecting the lining from further ravages restores them to healthy condition. Those subject to dysentery should not be without this simple yet powerful remedy.

Taxed Without Cause

Artemus Brown was the latest recruit on the great journal, and before he had been on the staff many days he was up on the carpet before the mighty editor.

Young man, grumbled the mighty editor severely, we don't mind a few exaggerations, but you have been going it a bit too strong.

Pa-but in what way, sir, asked the pained and surprised pen-pusher, standing in fear and trembling before the great man's roll-top desk.

Why, continued the editor, in your article on Captain Flitto in the jungle, you state that immediately after dispatching the ferocious lion he called for a bottle of stout and a taxi. Now any beginner, any greenhorn, any literary cub would know that there are no taxicabs in Africa.

B-b-but, exclaimed Artemus, I wasn't alluding to a taxicab, sir—honestly I wasn't. You're under a misapprehension, sir.

In what way? growled the editor rising in his wrath and knocking out his pipe on the leg of the chair with a loud tattoo. In what way, pray?

I meant a taxidermist, sir. Captain Flitto wanted to have the King of the forest stuffed, to take home to his missis.

Then the clock ticked again.

I asked the young woman in front of me to remove her big hat, so that I could see the pictures.

Did she do it?

No, she said if she held her hat in her lap she couldn't see the pictures herself

Infantile Information

Casually, by chance, unsought, they met in the railway-carriage. He was a young man, beardless; his companion a hoary oldster.

So you are a teacher? remarked the talkative veteran. I'll wager you had to pass a pretty stiff exam.

Yes, indeed, replied the instructor of the young.

And what were the subjects? inquired Nosey Parker?

Well, we were examined in psychology, integral calculus, mathematical astronomy, polemic divinity, metaphysical analysis and Greek, Latin, French and German versification.

Indeed. And for what position were you striving?

Teacher of the infants, sir.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

After the tennis match, the ladies' team returned in triumph in a char-a-banc.

Perhaps it was their shrill delight at their success that frightened the horse, but anyway, he bolted.

After a thrilling few minutes the vehicle dashed into the bank at the roadside, and sent all its occupants in a heap.

What a scene it was! No one was hurt, but there was a perfect sea of waving arms, feet and heads. And out of the very midst came a squeal.

Help, oh, help! Save me somebody. Mine are the green shoes and stockings.

Eager to Help

He—My dear Miss Gladys, I have been converted, but I find there are some things I must do. The minister has told me, for instance, that where I have done wrong, I must make restitution.

She (sympathizingly) —Sometimes that cannot always be done, for ministers ask hard things.

He (doubtfully)—Now, Miss Gladys, the other day I stole a kiss from you, and, according to the minister I must give it back.

She (promptly)—Well, I suppose you ought to do what the minister tells you.

Complete in itself, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator does not require the assistance of any other medicine to make it effective. It does not fail to do its work.

The One Question

Father was on the war-path, and when at last he came across Willie in an odd corner of the garden the engagement commenced.

Willie, demanded Mr. Smith, have you eaten any of those large desert pears I left in the cupboard?

Pa, replied the young hopeful, I cannot tell a lie. I have not touched one.

William senior eyed William junior wrathfully.

Then how is it, asked the parent that I found these three pear cores in your bed-room, and there is only one pear in the cupboad?

Father, said Willie, with an eye on the garden gate—father, that's the one I didn't touch.

I always use WINDSOR Table Salt.

Improvement

A young Brooklyn woman, who has the honor of being the strongest girl at her college said the other day of an affected type of culture:

Such culture is superficial. It reminds me of Cornelius Husk.

Corn Husk, after his son's graduation from Harvard, gave the lad a trip to Europe. Afterwards a friend asked the old man:

Well, did the tour improve young Corney?

It certainly did, was the reply. He says I fancy, for I guess, now, and blouse for shirtwaist; boots for shoes, nut for judo, bowler for derby and I say, for boy.

Just in Self Defence

Bass fishing was out of season, and the game warden who happened to find a small boy holding a rod and line, took the precaution to satisfy himself that the string on the sand held only catfish, perch and suckers. But a few feet farther along he found a large black bass wriggling and weighted down with a stone. The boy's conscious look proclaimed him the guilty person.

What are you doing with this fish? asked the warden in terrifying tones.

Well, you see, returned the boy, blushing, but untroubled, he's been taking my bait all morning, so I just tied him up until I get through fishing.

With the Ebb Tide

They who are young have all the hope and cheer,
Because their course is with the flowing tide;
But those who sight the end of their career—
Ah, who can tell what hopes in them have died?
How Time has wrecked their castles in the air,
They, and they only, to the utmost know
Whose prospects once were very, very fair,
Because, indeed, ambition made them so.
From out out lives they slowly slip away,
Hardly observed, in silence, one by one;
Even as slowly, at the close of day,
Behind the hills drops down the golden sun.
They drift from native shores as in a dream,
Their thoughts and faith upon the other side,
And yet, how brave the dear oll veterans seem,
Whose fateful course is with the ebbing tide.

WINCHESTER GUNS AND AMMUNITION

The First Choice of Experienced Hunters

Name over the prominent hunters and explorers and inquire what guns and ammunition they use, and you will find that most of them use the famous Winchester guns and ammunition. Why is this? Are such experienced men actuated by sentiment in buying their shooting equipment? No! they want guns and ammunition that they know can be depended upon, and in making such a choice lies the reason for much of their success. They select Winchester guns and ammunition because they know they are absolutely reliable. Then, too, Winchester guns and ammunition are made in calibers and sizes for all kinds of shooting, which gives a full range of selection. Another point about Winchester guns and ammunition is they are moderate in price, although unsurpassed in material, workmanship and finish. The oft used expression "Shoots like a Winchester" indicates the general opinion held of Winchester firearms. It should be a guiding stone in selecting an equipment for fall hunting.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Usually Due to Overwork and Worry---A Tonic is Needed

Overwork and worry give rise to nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches, lack of ambition and lack of interest in your work, weak back, indigestion and sometimes a complete breakdown of the nervous system. On every hand you find victims of this kind and often they do not know what to do for themselves. If these are your symptoms you need a tonic, and the only way to tone up the nerves is through the blood, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a direct nerve tonic because they enrich and build up the blood, and it is through the blood that the nerves are fed. Under their tonic influence nervousness, with all its attendant evils, disappear, and the worried sufferer again enjoys health and strength. Proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in nervous troubles is given by Mrs. Lara Scheving, Lundar, Man., who says:—"I was attacked with nervous trouble which almost drove me to distraction. It would be almost impossible for words to describe my condition. The least thing would startle me and leave me trembling for an hour. I had nervous headaches, and slept very badly at nights, some nights not at all. My appetite grew poor, and I was really a physical wreck. I had been to several doctors and had taken many different medicines, but without any benefit. Then I read of a case similar cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I sent for a dozen boxes fully believing it would take at least that many to cure me. You can judge of my gratitude, however, when I found that after using only half a dozen boxes I was again enjoying the best of health, and have since remained well and strong. I used the remainder of the pills among my children when they seemed out of sorts, and have found them at all times to be the very best of family medicines."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Puzzle; Find the Dog

Solemnly the clock struck eight, Mr. Smith jumped up from his chair. Mrs. Smith had been expected at six p.m., but had not returned. Feeling nervous, her husband rushed to the telephone and called up the police.

What's her description? asked the constable.

Er—or, stammered Mr. Smith, about the average.

What was she wearing? came the query.

Er—I think a coat and skirt, but don't know the color. She had a dog with her.

What kind of a dog? asked the officer.

Back came the answer, pert and pat:

Brindle bull-terrier, four dark patches on body, shading from grey to white, round, blackish spot over left eye, white snub of a tail, three white legs, the white front one nicely brindled, small nick on his left ear—

That'll do, gasped the policeman. We'll look for the dog.

But just then both Mrs. Smith and the dog turned up.

All Night with Asthma. Everyone knows how attacks of asthma often keep their victim awake the whole night long. Morning finds him wholly unfitted for a day of business, and yet, business must still be carried through. All this night suffering and lack of rest can be avoided by the prompt use of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, which positively does drive away the attacks.

Use for Chinese Temples

In Canton and Honan there are a large number of temples to the memory of numerous deities about whom nothing or very little is known, and the only thing one ever hears of them is once a year, when the priests are celebrating the birthday of the god or other festival. The new government is of the opinion that, without alienating public opinion or causing ill feeling, many of these temples could be put to a much more useful purpose by being given into the hands of the educational commissioner to turn into schools. The matter is receiving attention and the funds hitherto paid to a number of lazy priests and caretakers is to be devoted to education. Also the many celebrations held on the birthdays of the various gods are to be cancelled and the only festivals of this kind to be held are the Confucian celebrations.

Gray—Yes, sir; it is precious hard to collect money just now, I know it.

Bray—Have you tried and failed?

Gray—Oh, no.

Bray—How do you know then, that money is hard to collect?

Gray—Because several people have tried to collect off me.

Buffalo Furs

Out in Western Kansas one still frequently sees an old plainsman drive into town covered with a buffalo overcoat or a buffalo laprobe in the winter time. However, buffalo robes are becoming very scarce and in a few years they will entirely disappear.

There was a time when Kansas furnished buffalo robes for the world. No well regulated family on an Eastern farm was without one. They were not only very warm but reasonable in price.

It was the Kaw Indians who first marketed buffalo robes. Later manufacturers, seeing the vast profit in them, made them by the thousands and supplied the world. But the manufactured or patent tanned robes didn't last as long as the robes tanned by the Indians. In fact, it is said that the robes now in service were those tanned by these Indians many years before the white men began to tan them.

The Indian women did the tanning. They fastened the green hides to a set of frames just like grandmother used to fasten her quilts to, when she made them. The squaws would then take a blunt instrument, resembling a hoe, and work off all the flesh and membrane from the hide.

They called it fleshing. Then they would rub the skin for several days with a heavy, smooth surfaced club until all the grease had been driven out of the hide. They used no chemicals at all in tanning. Only hides from buffaloes killed late in the winter were used in making robes, as the fur was then heaviest.

Before the Kaws threw the robes on the market they used them in making moccasins and winter clothing, also for covering their tepees. But when a market was established for them and the Indians could get real money, or real food or real whisky for them, buffalo tepees soon disappeared from the reservation.

Useful in Camp.—Explorers, surveyors, prospectors and hunters will find Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil very useful in camp. When the feet and legs are wet and cold it is well to rub them freely with the oil and the result will be the prevention of pains in the muscles and should a cut, or contusion, or sprain be sustained, nothing could be better as a dressing or lotion.

Keeping His Word

She—My husband promised me that I should never hear a harsh word from him in all our married life, and I never have.

He—H'm long have you been married?

She—Let me see. Just two days and four hours.

For Services Rendered

Proud and pompous, the doctor was strolling down the street, when he was accosted by a poor woman.

Good-morning, sir, remarked the latter.

Good morning, madam, replied the medico.

I expect you're making a good thing out of attending to that rich Smith boy? suggested the lady.

Oh, yes, a fairly good fee, replied the doctor, somewhat angrily.

Well, whispered the lady, I hope you won't forget that it was my Willie who threw the brick that hit him.

Apropos of the numerous accidents that befall foreign submarines, Lewis Nixon, the eminent shipbuilder, said at the Union club in New York:

Two French government officials were once discussing naval affairs.

To what account, said the first, had our new submarines, the X and XI boat be charged?

To the sinking fund, of course, was the reply.

Protecting His Stock

An Italian who kept a fruit stand was much annoyed by possible customers who made a practice of handling the fruit and pinching it, thereby leaving it softened and often spoiled. Exasperated beyond endurance, he finally put up a sign which read: If you must pincha da fruit—pincha da cocoanut.

Little Jack was struggling through his home lesson and there were many signs of woe and perplexity written on his impish young face.

Ma, he began, in rather a quavering voice, what does her-o-dity mean?

Mother wasn't quite sure herself, but was sufficiently artful not to say so.

Well, John, it's—or—it's something to do with what you get from your father or me.

Little Jack pondered deeply for a few minutes. Suddenly a look of knowledge—the outcome of past unhappy experiences—appeared on his countenance.

Then is whipping heredity, ma? he asked.

Mr. Askit—And how do you like keeping a diary?

Backache Means Your Kidneys Want Help!

The kidneys are among the most important organs. They are most subject to periods of depression, imperfect action and lowered vitality. Invariably, they give warning, in the form of backache, headache, pains in the joints, etc. Wise people, careful of their health, act quickly when any of these symptoms appear. Careless or easy-going persons often permit a slight affection of the kidneys to grow into acute or chronic kidney trouble, ignoring the plainly-given warning of unhealthy kidneys.

Prompt help is given inactive kidneys by DR. CLARK'S SWEET NITRE PILLS. They cleanse, tone, stimulate and restore the kidneys to normal vigor in quick time. Sold everywhere at fifty cents a box or mailed direct by 44

DIRECTOIRE TYPES PROMISED FOR THE FALL

TRAVELING SUIT FOR THE SEPTEMBER BRIDE.

THERE are two styles predicted for fall, a revival of the directoire types and the pannier modes — not, however, the pannier of olden times, but the new pannier of 1912, which is a strange rendering of the original idea. In many instances it looks only like an overskirt that is turned over and fastened down around the hem—an inverted bag, as it has been called.

Women have been so devoted to the long, slim line that, as a rule, they do not welcome with any degree of enthusiasm the idea of being made to look like bolsters with strings around the middle, which undoubtedly is the silhouette presented by the ultra pannier skirt of today.

"Give us long, straight lines for our tailor mades and we'll submit to drapery and hip effects for our less formal costumes," said a woman recently when interviewing her dressmaker about the ordering of "a few fall frocks."

This opinion will be echoed by the majority of women, who look best and are most at ease when gowned in moderately clinging skirts. But in connection with skirts the latest sensational model in tailor mades is the "jupe pantalon," or pantaloon skirt. This recent Parisian caprice has little in common with the erstwhile harem skirt of fame except that the harem had the bottom of the skirt, while the "jupe pantalon" gives us the top of the same garment. This latest development is a skirt with a series of little close gatherings at the waist line, confined by small buckles similar to those used on a man's trousers. At each side of the skirt is a pocket, and to complete the resemblance to masculine attire braces fastened by buttons back and front hold up the skirt.

This costume, needless to say, will be adopted only by girls who go in for extremes in dress. And the wearer of the "jupe pantalon," when sitting around at her club, smoking cigarettes, will look at first sight like a man in shirt sleeves.

DIRECTOIRE MODEL IN WHITE CLOTH.

With this garment is worn a shirt of white percale, perfectly flat and plain, with long sleeves, wristlets and a high, stiff collar—in fact, a man's shirt in all its unadorned severity.

There is, however, a mannish shirt that is going to figure this fall conspicuously in the wardrobe of every well dressed woman. This shirt is mostly made of white satin and, as I said, is extremely mannish in cut, after the masculine directoire standard. It shows the long shoulder line, long sleeves and a deeply opening Robespierre collar finished with plaited frills. In many cases quantities of buttons are used to outline trimming edges on this new model.

A delightful shirt of this character is built of pale gray satin with scarlet pipings around the cuffs, down the front and about the slanting armhole. Tiny scarlet satin buttons set close together follow the line of pipings. White satin shirts have small crystal buttons, and a fascinating trick played by this new shirt is the opening for three or four buttons below the Robespierre collar, a shirred tucker of flesh colored chiffon being worn in the opening. This gives the waist an unusual appearance until one discovers that the effect is "faked."

To come back to skirts once more, there is every reason to believe that plaits will be introduced in the straight, narrow tailor made models. Some of the plaits appear in a panel arrangement at the side and others as a back finish, but in every instance they are pressed or stitched very flat, and the skirt does not measure more than two and a half yards about the bottom. For dressier costumes the accordion plaited jupe is seen even now on imported frocks and in its new guise is scant and clinging. Then there is the plaited underskirt, almost a ruffle effect at the bottom of a skirt, say about two feet deep, with a pannier or tunic drapery at the top, that is a very favorite style just now and is a particularly good model for silk and thin materials.

One of the newest fashions for late summer and early fall combines three or more materials in a gown and always two or more colors. The lingerie frock seen in the illustration, with its dark taffeta coat, is an example of contrasts in fabrics, while the blue serge illustrated is a study in color effects.

Very simple in line is this coat of green and gold taffeta worn above a frock of cream net. The coat is almost a straight tunic, with Magyar sleeves cut in one with the garment, but the exaggerated collar and cuffs in rich cluny lace lend it much distinction. Rows of tiny green glass buttons are set on the lace as an extra trimming touch. This is a French creation and accompanies a lovely lingerie frock of net and lace. The skirt only appears in the cut.

The colonial colors, navy blue and buff, are represented in the dainty little autumn traveling suit of navy blue serge designed for a September bride. The coat is gracefully cut, and the walking skirt is short enough to reveal buttoned boots of dull calf.

Among the illustrations is to be found a type of the directoire costumes that are promised for fall. As you see, it is the masculine rather than the feminine dress of the directoire period that has inspired autumn fashions. This suit is of white broadcloth, and the directoire coat is worn with a belt of empire green leather. Embroidered white silk gloves meet the slashed sleeves. CATHERINE TALBOT.

Butterfly Effects

THERE is at present a craze for butterfly effects. The design flutters on parasol tops, on smart veilings and is worked in wonderful iridescent effects on the new trimmings.

The winged favorite is used also as shoe buckles, brooches, coiffure ornaments, and beautiful designs are seen in enamels and small diamonds. Black satin and velvet butterfly bows edged with brilliants or colored stones are lovely. The material is slipped into a frame, and thus any color can be added to the diamond's rimmed bow.

SOME "DON'TS WHEN VISITING

THERE are girls who always appear to get more invitations than they can accept and who are asked to the same houses over and over again, while other fair ones, just as charming and delightful to all outward view, never by any chance receive second invitations.

The popular visitor is a tactful individual who has the knack of so merging her individuality in that of the family of which she is a temporary member that she scarcely seems a visitor, yet she never makes the terrible mistake of usurping family privileges.

She is not late for breakfast or any other meal. She does not give orders to servants or in any way attempt to change the household routine.

When she is asked where she would like to go or what she would like to do she answers frankly. There is nothing more irritating than the "Oh, I don't care in the least!" or "Whatever you like" reply. The desirable visitor exercises her tact, however, in this as in all other things and takes care not to suggest fatiguing excursions to a hostess less youthfully active than herself or force a host perhaps not too well dowered with this world's goods into needless expense. If you desire to be a pleasing visitor don't be too energetically bent on "helping." If you keep your eyes open it will soon become evident if there are small services you can render any member of the household. But the girl who insists on cooking some particular dish or "doing the flowers"—in both cases requiring half an hour's attendance getting her properties together—is an unmitigated nuisance.

Don't monopolize your host's special chair or use his writing table without his direct suggestion. Don't litter the living rooms with your possessions or leave your own room untidy. Don't, just because you are visiting, sit down and expect to be entertained all day long. Arrange to go walking or "write letters" in your bedroom for an hour or two a day.

Remembering these things, you also will be of the visitors whose visits, unlike those of angels, are not few and far between.

Worth Remembering

TO cultivate laughter. A good laugh is better than medicine, as a rule.

To always keep your troubles to yourself. Most people are too busy to be bothered with or interested in your sorrows.

If possible, to learn how to tell a good story and in this way amuse and entertain others.

To always try to look on the bright side of life. See the good in people and things and overlook the bad. We can always find something that is good, even if at first everything seems utterly bad.

If you are suffering, do try to hide your aches and pains under a bright and cheerful countenance, and, if possible, a sunny smile and a hearty laugh. It will help you as much as those around you.

That a good humored man or woman is always welcome, but a doleful one is never wanted.

GRACEFUL EFFECT

THE new scarf arrangements are really so elaborate that they become part of the bodice trimming. This idea is carried out on the gown seen in the illustration. The long drapery of black silk netting is studded with gold beads, and the length of tissue is wrapped first about the bodice in zouave fashion and then brought from the back and twisted over the arms, where the long ends hang gracefully. Such a scarf is adapted to a great many different treatments, all as effective as the one pictured.

New Christening Gift

GIFTS for babies are so often silver cups and silver rattles that a nice gift, and at the same time a useful one, is a relief to find. However, it really is to be had in a box which holds six little pairs of baby shoes and two little pairs of silk socks, with one pair of knitted bootees. These are arranged in a box which opens with a drawer. The little shoes are pink, blue and white, and two pairs are shoes, two pairs are soft kid moccasins and two pairs are little slippers, so that the baby is provided for literally at "every step of the way." Three little satin sachets are also in the box, and the entire set may be had for $12.

BE CAREFUL IN PREPARING VEGETABLES

IF vegetables not quite fresh are brought into the kitchen there is no hope of ever restoring them to first class condition. Even good vegetables will not be at their very best if not properly cared for after they have been received.

Most housewives think that washing vegetables with water is the last word in carefulness. So it is if the water is above suspicion, but when water is not considered safe for drinking it should be boiled as well for washing vegetables as it should be for family consumption.

As to the best way of washing vegetables, a few cautions will not come amiss. Some people never eat asparagus at table unless it has been prepared by some one who is careful, as they do not enjoy biting on sand. The cleaning of this vegetable requires conscience as well as time.

The bunch should be placed, heads down, in water for some hours and should be shaken back and forth to dislodge the particles of earth.

Spinach is another vegetable which requires the very best attention in the cleaning line to free it from grit. After the roots have been cut off it should be washed in a number of waters and lifted out of the pan each time in loose handfuls before the water has been drained off.

Celery and lettuce and other salad plants, eaten raw, must be washed with especial care. They should be searched with particular care, leaf by leaf, for insects, washed in several waters and then wiped dry with a clean cloth and put in a cold place to become crisp. Otherwise these vegetables are not worth eating.

Sure Cure For Dandruff

POUR over one heaping tablespoonful of sulphur one quart boiling water. Keep in an air tight vessel for twenty-four hours, then drain off the clear portion. Rub into the scalp every night until the dandruff disappears.

While treating the scalp for dandruff it is advisable that one be very careful about the shampoo. The following liquid is excellent for this purpose, leaving the scalp beautifully clean and the hair as fluffy as one could wish: Beat the yolk of one egg into one pint hot rainwater and add one ounce rosemary spirits. Beat the mixture well and use it warm, rubbing it well into the scalp and over the hair. Rinse in several waters and sit in the sun until the hair is dry.

A Dainty Collar

TO wear with colored linen dresses a sailor collar of sheerest mull is most effective.

It requires a half yard of material. After cutting the collar out finish the edge with an inch wide frill of finely plaited net.

Cuffs to match may be made with rounded or square corners and edged with plaited net.

If a touch of color is desired a row of featherstitching where the net is joined to the collar supplies it.

IN THE CULINARY WORLD

Grapefruit Cocktail.

CUT a chilled grapefruit in halves. With a sharp, thin knife remove the seeds and cut out each section of fruit. Serve the pulp with the juice in dainty glasses. Two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one tablespoonful of sherry may be added to each glass or either or both may be omitted. Another method is to take grapefruit juice or lemon and orange in equal proportions. It is then sweetened to taste, flavored with maraschino and diluted just before serving with charged water and put in tall glasses with some of the grapefruit pulp and a maraschino cherry.

Refreshing Beverages.

Any fresh fruit makes a delicious drink at this time of the year when the juice squeezed from it is strained, sweetened and filled with cold soda or aerated water. Or a sirup can be made to be kept on hand by boiling the juice with sugar. To make the drinks use a few spoonfuls of this sirup and fill the glass with water, plain or carbonated. The most delicious lemonade or limeade can be had at a moment's notice if the juice of the fruit be kept on hand and mixed with sugar to taste. It is simplicity itself to pour water over this, and the drink is ready.

Spiced Red Cabbage.

Shave a medium sized head of red cabbage and soak for half an hour in cold water, then drain as dry as possible. In a saucepan melt one heaping tablespoonful of butter and one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful of pepper, six whole cloves and one-half cupful of good vinegar. Add the drained cabbage, cover and cook slowly, then simmer gently for fully an hour and a half.

Light Corn Bread.

In the evening put in a mixing bowl one pint of fine cornmeal, a scant teaspoonful of salt, a tablespoonful of sugar and a large tablespoonful of shortening, either lard or lard and butter mixed. Pour over just enough boiling water from the kettle to moisten thoroughly and no more. Cover closely and leave for the night. Next morning add two or three well beaten eggs (according to the season), a half cupful of milk, one pint of sifted flour and as much more milk as is necessary to make a thin drop batter. Pour into a well greased shallow pan and bake twenty-five minutes in a hot oven.

Boston Baked Chicken.

A chicken is cut up as for fricassee, and to each pound of the meat allow two tablespoonfuls of flour, one scant half teaspoonful of salt and a dust of pepper. Mix thoroughly and roll each piece of the chicken in the mixture. Pack closely in a large bean pot and cover with boiling water. Bake for three hours and a half. Cover after ten or fifteen minutes, but not before it boils. Serve in the dish in which it is baked.

THE OCEAN TEA PARTY

MISS NICOLL AND HER FRIENDS DRINKING AFTERNOON TEA.

THE very latest at the seashore is the ocean tea party. The very original idea of entertaining friends in this unique fashion was conceived by Miss Charlotte Van Courtland Nicoll, a New York society girl, niece of De Lancey Nicoll, the famous lawyer.

Miss Nicoll, who is spending the summer at Long Beach, N. Y., is an accomplished swimmer. Finding that this fascinating sport increased her appetite to such an extent while in the water that she was obliged to satisfy the "inner woman" before returning to the hotel, the idea presented itself of having afternoon tea served in the ocean.

Miss Nicoll outlined her idea to the hotel carpenter, who built a seaworthy craft with a high poop deck to hold the teacups and commodious deck space forward and midships for plates of sandwiches and cakes.

Everything being shipshape, notes were sent to several of Miss Nicoll's friends inviting them to her first ocean tea party. After swimming about for half an hour Miss Nicoll and her friends joined a young matron who was pouring tea behind the ocean going tray.

This party proved such a success that the fair hostess issued invitations for an "ocean tea" every Friday during August at 4 p. m.

The making of such an ocean going craft is quite within the province of the amateur carpenter with a turn for nautical construction.

New Playhouse to be McBride Theatre

Directors Unanimously Declare on the Name—Bronze Bust of Mr. Simon Leiser to be placed in Foyer

In honor of the premier, Victoria's new playhouse which shortly will be under construction at Broughton and Blanchard streets, will be named the McBride theatre. That the splendid service of the premier to the province should be so recognized was determined yesterday afternoon by unanimous vote of the directors of the theatre company, the meeting being at the company's offices in the Pemberton block.

Honor was done another distinguished citizen of the province when, again by unanimous vote, it was ordered that a bust in bronze of Mr. Simon Leiser be placed at some point of vantage in the foyer of the theatre.

The meeting of the theatre directors was called for the purpose of discussing finally the plans for the playhouse prepared by the architects, Messrs Rochfort and Sankey, Mr. William Kingsley, associate architect, arrived in the afternoon, bringing with him such changes in the general plans as he had to suggest. Those were agreed to heartily by Messrs Rochfort and Sankey and a final draft of the plans was ordered. Construction will be begun as soon as this draft is completed and the necessary contracts made.

Mr. Simon Leiser, sitting as chairman, introduced Mr. Kingsley, who took occasion to highly compliment the Local architects upon their plans, and to say that when these should be carried out by the builders Victoria would have the finest and most modern "combination" theatre on the Pacific Coast, excepting none at all.

Discussion of the theatre led quite naturally to a name for it, and it was suggested that, as a fitting recognition of the great services of the premier, the new playhouse to be known from that moment forward as the McBride theatre. Everyone present hastened to second the motion and it was put to the minutes.

Mr. J. S. H. Matson spoke of the tireless energies and success in effort of Mr. Leiser had expended to give Victoria a theatre second to none finer than any in all the west. He was joined in his high tribute by the other directors present, and in the end it took much less than a minute to vote upon the bronze bust as a fitting token of the esteem of his fellows and recognition of the splendid quality of his citizenship.

Excavation for the new theatre will be under way at the present and contracts along all lines will be rushed from now on.—Colonist.

Several of the engineers have returned to work and have left town to seek employment elsewhere.
