Burns' Anniversary was celebrated in the Cumberland Hall on Monday night by a number of our local Scotchmen and admirers of Scotia's greatest poet. Mr. John Thomson, one of our prominent Irishmen (?) was called to the chair, and made an excellent chairman. The program consisted of songs, recitations and short addresses. The liquid part of the program was not overlooked, as we noticed two heavy Pilsener howitzers mounted on the platform and trained on the attacking party, which were served by Gunner DeCour, who, by a well directed fire, poured their contents into the assailants. We did not notice any fatalities when we beat a retreat, but it looked as if many of the shots had taken effect; and the ammunition had not run out.

Correspondence

Editor Cumberland News

Dear Sir:—In looking over your last issue I noticed a letter signed by J. Shaw, in which he claims the Conservative Association engineered the recent election. As President of that Association I wish to contradict Mr Shaw and inform him, that at no time did the Conservative Association have anything whatever to do with the election, and I fail to see where Mr. Manson, our present representative, has cause to lose any sleep through the prophecies of Mr Shaw.

The Conservative Party in this district is in good shape and will be able to give a good account of itself when the time comes. "Coming events always cast shadows." Probably Mr Shaw has been noticing this; he also makes another rediculous statement, that with one or two exceptions the church has always been against any movement that had a tendency to improve the condition of the working class. Has Mr. Shaw ever done anything along these lines in the form of example to the churches of Cumberland? I don't think so. Any working man will benefit more by going to church and listening to what is said there, than paying any attention to the gaseous outbursts of Mr. Shaw, who has never been connected with any public movement of any kind, to my knowledge, that had the workingman's interest at heart, with the exception of that Big Oil Gusher that hasn't gushed yet.

If Mr. Shaw can demonstrate to us something better in the form of religion—something that will provide for all our needs, moral and material, and do away with the various weaknesses of man [the ladies are OK MrShaw says]—let him commence his crusade without delay I'll guarantee the success of the movement. He will be able to build a huge Tabernacle over Jerusalum way and command a life job as chief lecturer.

LETTER EXTRACTS FROM SALISBURY PLAINS

West Down, South, Nov. 24

Dear Ones:—A couple of weeks ago L. and I were at Salisbury again, and certainly enjoyed it. It was Sunday, and we went to the afternoon service at the historic cathedral. We fell into conversation with a middle aged gentleman, who after awhile asked if we knew a couple of soldiers who would like a hot bath. We immediately thought of a couple of soldiers answering requirements. We were taken to his home, given our baths, and entertained with music by two of his boys; and then he would have it that we stay for tea—so we stayed. We enjoyed especially this touch of home again, the loss of such influences being what I miss more than anything else in this camp of armed men.

I was on guard duty last Saturday at a reservoir near here, and it was about the most trying duty I have put in yet. It was very cold and windy, and while on our two-hour guards, on top of the reservoir, we invited the full blast of the wind. The four hours off which follows, the guard has to be put in near or in the guard tent, and there also it was cold and drafty, and sleeping was almost impossible on a rubber sheet, with one blanket over me, my clothes all on including shoes and side-arms. While on my slow passing night guards I recited to myself, at least three times, each bit of poetry I knew, and my mind had much time for meandering, while I watched the Dipper gradually make it's nightly half-circle around the North Star.

Talk about baths! When I came off the twenty four hour duty there were twenty-four hours of respite. It was a bitterly cold day, but I felt very dirty and grubby, and I took a little tub down to an old shower-bath enclosure, where the showers are not working, and gave myself a hand bath, while the wind whistled by me—for the enclosure is uncovered—and the water I splashed out froze shortly in patches on the cement floor. I have had cold baths before, since coming here, but verily this was the coldest. Our facilities here are not as good as they were at Val Cartier, and there doesn't seem to be much incentive toward cleanliness.

I hope to send you some snaps of this real camp life, if we ever line up the negatives which are astray.

This letter has been interrupted many times in its writing, while I have been wellnigh forced to join the melodies which float around our tent. I sit on top of my pile of blankets, in front of a couple of candles, which are placed on the box in which we keep our "boughten" grub.

The Government has now outfitted us very fully, though somewhat tardily. We have five blankets, and recently received our second issue of shoes, our third of socks, and also khaki coat sweaters and Balaklava hats. Some home made knitted goods have recently come to hand too, and quite a number of the boys are supried with such socks, gloves, caps, etc.

We received authority today to be called the "First British Columbia Regiment."

"I desire to extend hearty New Year's Greetings from the Canadian General of the Boy Scouts Association to the officers and members of the Provincial Council of British Columbia and to all others in British Columbia who are giving time, money and attention to this splendid work. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR'S CHALLENGE SHIELD

This Challenge Shield, which was held during 1914 by the Fairview Troop, Vancouver, has been won by the Victoria III, who will hold it during the year 1915. The order of merit, with the points gained of the 21 leading troops is appended. The maximum of points possible was 60; closely followed by Port Hammond with 36; closely followed by Chesterfield (North Vancouver) with 34.

The majority of the totals are far too low; the maximum is within the reach of every troop. It is impossible for us to go into details here, but we will gladly, on request, point out to individual troops the reasons why they failed to gain more points, in the hope that they will gain higher positions another year.

Very apt was a description of the wilds of Mayo given by an Irish jarvey. He had two passengers with him, one of whom lived in a very rich grazing district. He was astonished at the bleak, miserable aspect of the country they were passing through, and so began questioning the driver as to its quality, powers of production and what it would feed to the acre.

"Well, sir," replied the driver, "it might feed a hare to the acre in summer, but in the winter she would have to run for her life."

Piqua, Ohio.—"I would be very ungrateful if I failed to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I hear a woman complain I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked with a severe case of organic weakness. I had backache, pains in my hips and over my kidneys, headache, dizziness, lassitude, had no energy, limbs ached and I was always tired. I was hardly able to do my housework. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on one other occasion, and it had helped me so I took it again and it has built me up, until now I feel like a new woman. You have my hearty consent to use my name and testimonial in any way and I hope it will benefit suffering women."—Mrs. ORPHA TURNER, 431 S. Wayne St., Piqua, Ohio.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

And poor Jones found himself alone with the man in the compartment of a railway train which ran without a stop from Crewe to London.

Having asked countless questions concerning his fellow-traveller's business and the object of his journey, the stranger began to make inquiry about his family.

"Well, if you really want to know," said the exasperated Jones, "I'll tell you. I have a wife and five children but I've never seen one of them."

"Never seen one of them?" began the stranger. "But—but—"

"I tell you I've never seen one of them," repeated Jones. "I've been away from home for a week, and my youngest kiddie was born yesterday."

A school teacher complained to the principal the other day that one of the big boys was flirting outrageously with the music teacher, who came in once a day. The principal spoke severely to the class and ended by saying that out of consideration for the feelings of the culprit he would not name him in public. At the close of the session, however, he was to come to the principal's office for an interview.

Yes, you guessed it. All the boys in the class showed up.

Sunrise in Africa

At the recent dinner of the Canadian club, Rev. Dr. W. S. Rainsford, once the rector of St. George's, described an African sunrise, as he noted it, in the "blue-black African night back of Mount Kilimangaro." He explained how the first blood red shaft of day-night shot over the peak and stained the clouds back of the mountain.

"Impossible as it may seem," he said, "that red stain dripped down and not up and spread toward the horizon. It spread right and left until the mountain stood out in a dreadful silhoutte. Then came the steaming mists of the morning, and at first red and then pink and then silvery and then sullen they covered the mountain after the dawn and it was though it had never been. NEW STRENGTH IN THE SPRING

Nature Needs Aid in Making New Health Giving Blood

In the spring the system needs a tonic. To be healthy you must have new blood just as the trees must have new sap to renew their vitality. Nature demands it, and without this new blood you will feel weak and languid. You may have twinges of rheumatism or the sharp, stabbing pains of neuralgia. Often there are disfiguring pimples or eruptions on the skin. In other case there is merely a feeling of tiredness and a variable appetite. Any of these are signs that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has lessened your vitality. What you need in spring is a tonic medicine to put you right, and in all the world of medicine there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills actually make new, rich, red blood—your greatest need in spring. This new blood drives out the seeds of disease and makes easily tired men, women and children bright, active and strong. Mrs. Geo. Burns, Albany, P.E.I., writes: "I was terribly run down and so weak that I could hardly drag myself around. I was so nervous that I was afraid to walk across the floor for fear I would fall. Our family doctor treated me but without success and finally I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Gradually they brought me back to good health and now I am as well as ever I was and have every confidence in recommending these Pills to other sufferers."

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or can be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LONDON'S HUGE TRAFFIC

Electric Railways Company Carried 1,100,000,000 Passengers in Year

Astonishing figures in regard to London's traffic were given by Sir Edgar Speyer at the annual meeting of the Underground Electric Railways Company.

During last year the companies controlled by the Under ground Electric earned $31,932,500, and carried a total of 1,100,000,000 passengers at an average of 2.8 cents a passenger. Their payroll amounted to over $11,750,000 and they spent more than $7,815,000 on improvements. They employed 27,000 men.

Out of the total of passengers the London General Omnibus Company carried 580,000,000, and its gross passenger earnings were $16,000,000.

During the meeting regrets were expressed for the absence of Albert H. Stanley, the managing director, through illness. Sir Robert Perks said that as far as the question of an American manager was concerned, if the Great Eastern Railway were to be as successful with Henry William Thornton as the Underground had been with Stanley, the former would have nothing to regret. Sir Edgar Speyer thereupon pointed out that Stanley was an Englishman, born in Derby, and added: "It is true that he spent a great deal of his life in America, but, unlike Mr. Thornton, he is not a true-bred American."

Rather Nasty

"Today makes twenty-five years since you and I have worked together, Tims," said Old Niggard, the manufacturer. "And I have done well—very well."

"Yes, boss," answered Tims, thinking of his miserable thirty bob a week.

"Now, here is a little present that will please the wife and kiddies," said O.N., pressing a large blue envelope on his old workman.

"I'm sure, boss, it's very good—"

"Tut-tut! Don't mention it! Just cut along home, and not another word!"

With visions of banknotes, crisp and crackly, Tims raced home with the gift, and, amidst great excitement, opened it in the presence of his numerous family. To his amazement, out fell a portrait of his old guv'nor.

"Well, Tms," said O.N. genially, next morning, "how did you like my little gift?"

"Oh," said Tims laconically, "it's just like yer!"

A teacher trying to impress on her children the rightness of kindness toward all animals, took them for a walk to bring the lesson home to them.

Hearing a scream from little Johnny, she added: "What's the matter, Johnny?"

"I've been stung by a hornet," was the tearful response, "and I'm afraid I've hurt the poor thing."

When a mother detects from the writhings and fretting of a child that worms are troubling it, she can procure no better remedy than Miller's Worm Powders, which are guaranteed to totally expel worms from the system. They may cause vomiting, but this need cause no anxiety, because it is but a manifestation of their thorough work. No worms can long exist where these Powders are used.

Tom's Favorite Diet

Dear old Uncle Podger was standing his nephew, Tom, a dinner and a seat at the pantomime to celebrate the last night of the young hopeful's holidays.

Tom had made the most of his opportunities, had struggled through the dinner to the bitter end and had arrived at a state in which the only thing left him was to envy the camel with his double outfit of storage room.

The waiter brought the bill, which his uncle paid with a ten-pound note. Tom missed this part of the performance, and only woke up as the waiter returned with a plateful of sovereigns and half-crowns.

Tom was galvanized into life;

"Uncle," he gasped, "I should like a plate of that as well!"

Canadian Bank Earnings

It is estimated that in 1913 Canadian banks earned only 3.37 per cent. of the capital invested. This is a smaller margin of profit than shown by National banks in the United Sates. Out of net profits Canadian banks distributed only 64 per cent. in dividends, as compared with 74 per cent. distributed to shareholders by American institutions. The comparison is all in favor of Canadian banks.

He's Enjoying His Wife's Visit

A Wichita attorney is very fond of a certain kind of cake his wife is expert at making. Recently she left for a visit with her parents and before going, baked a large cake. Each day she writes her husband, and in the letter she tells him where he can find a piece of the cake.—Kansas City Star.

At the series of meetings recently held throughout Saskatchewan on the special train run by the dairy branch of the department of agriculture, the total attendance was 6,525. The total exceeded the highest expectations of the officials of the department. In no previous year has interest in course of instruction provided by the officials of the department been so intense or so widespread. The itinerary extended slightly over a month, and during that time 72 points on the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Pacific railways were visited. At each of these localities one or more meetings were held.

The bad boy wrote on the blackboard: "Our teacher is a donkey." The other boys anticipated ructions when the schoolmaster arrived; but there were none. He merely wrote the word "driver" after "donkey," and school opened as usual.

An old man who looked like a foreigner was walking along a London street playing a concertina that had seen better days. Noticing a brass plate with the words, "Doctor of Music," written under the name on it, he went up to the house and rang the bell. The door was answered by a servant, who asked his business.

"Please," he said, "is the doctor o' music in?"

"Yes; what is it you want?" the servant asked.

"Why, just pop in an' ax him how much he'll charge to mend my concertina," was the reply.

Magic in a Baton

How Wagner astonished an audience in Berlin is related by Otto Lessman in a German magazine. It was in 1871. He had lectured at the Royal Academy on the opera, and in his honor the Verein der Berliner Musiker arranged a performance of his "Faust Overture," under the direction of Professor Julius Sturm.

When it was over Wagner seemed to hesitate for a moment as to what he should do. Then he got up, thanked the musicians and remarked that he had not been connected with an orchestra for twenty years he felt impelled to further show his gratitude by an artistic deed. "You will understand my request," he added, "that you repeat 'Faust Overture' under my personal direction."

What then happened made an indelible impression on all who were so fortunate as to be present. The spiritual revelation he made of the various moods of that poem stirred the hearers as they had never before been stirred. The difference between a genius and a mere professional conductor was made manifest. The musicians themselves were stunned by what they had done. "We looked at him, and we knew and did what he wanted," they remarked.

A Pill That Lightens Life.—To the man who is a victim of indigestion the transaction of business becomes an added misery. He cannot concentrate his mind upon his tasks, and loss and vexation attend him. To such a man Parmelee's Vegetable Pills offer relief. A course of treatment, according to directions, will convince him of their great excellence. They are confidently recommended because they will do all that is claimed for them.

A Curious Disease

The Jamaican negroes have many odd and interesting forms of speech, which are often due to a misunderstanding of the English words. That was the case in a story that Winnifred James tells in "The Mulberry Tree." A woman took her baby to a doctor, and the physician asked her what ailed the little sufferer.

"Him ill, sah," she explained, in her soft, musical voice. "Him ill, sah, from blowing bones."

Inquiry brought only repetitional "Him ill, sah, him blowing bones."

For several moments the puzzled doctor contemplated the diminutive black creature and its strange disease; then the solution flashed upon him. Blowing sounds not unlike growing. What bones could a child of two be growing? He was cutting his teeth.

Talk While the Talking is Good!

"Let us talk a lot now, before the nomination," says Job Hedges. "It does more good than afterward."

Afterwards, as another Job observed: Though I speak, my grief is not assuaged, and though I forbear, what am I eased?"

The proprietor of the leading drug store in a small Kentucky town was coming out of the front door of his place not long ago, when a small boy came tearing round the corner at top gait with his head down and butted squarely into him.

"Hey, kid," demanded the druggist, 'what's the matter?"

"I am trying to keep two boys from getting into a fight," panted the youngster.

"Who are the boys," asked the druggist.

"I'm one of 'em," was the reply.

When Jasper got back to his office his boss said

"Look here, does it take you a half hour to go down to the corner and do an errand for me?"

"It did this time, sir," answered Jasper. "A man dropped a quarter down a hole in the sidewalk."

"And it took you all this time to get it out?"

"Yes, sir, you see, I had to wait till the man went away."

Ready for the Voyage

"Are there enough lifeboats for all the passengers?"

"No."

"Are there life preservers for everybody?"

"Well, the band has learned to play 'Nearer, My God to Thee' in the dark."

To instil into the mind of his son sound wisdom and business precepts was Cohen senior's earnest endeavor. He taught his offspring much, including the advantages of bankruptcy, failures and fires.

"Two banruptcies equal one failure, two failures equal one fire," etc.

Then Cohen junior looked up brightly.

"Vell, my boy," was the parent's reply, "if you marry a really wealthy woman, marriage is almost as good as a failure."

Painful Swelling Reduced Muscular Strains Ended

Such Troubles Now Quickly Rubbed Away by Powerful Remedy

If you have any muscles that are strained and weak, that are frequently subject to rheumatic pains; if you have any painful swellings that refuse to go away—get busy with Nerviline. This is the very sort of trouble that Nerviline is noted for curing quickly. "I have proved Nerviline simply a wonder in reducing a hard, painful swelling. It followed an injury I received in my left leg and caused me great pain and discomfort. The muscles were strained and sore, and no other remedy gave the ease and comfort I got from rubbing on Nerviline. There is a soothing, pain-relieving power about Nerviline that touched the root of my trouble. Nerviline reduced the swelling, it destroyed the pain, it brought my limb back to perfect condition." The experience of Mr. Bowen, whose home is in Middlesex, is not unusual. Thousands are proving every day that muscular pains of every kind, chronic rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia and sciatica will yield to Nerviline when nothing else can possibly cure. Nerviline is an old time family pain remedy, used nearly forty years with great success. The large family size bottle costs 50c., trial size 25c. at all dealers.

A certain dramatist who was much annoyed at an adverse notice the critic of a daily paper gave to his latest play—which, by the way, afterwards turned out a gruesome failure, happening to meet the critic in the Strand, remarked, irritably, that, although the said critic was an adept in picking faults in other people's plays, yet he was quite incapable of writing a play himself.

"You're quite right, I am," the critic replied; "neither can I manufacture mutton, and yet I am a better judge of mutton than any sheep in the world."

The Origin of a Fad

Marcella, who had been gazing out of the window, suddenly began to laugh hysterically.

"What in the world is the matter, child?" asked her mother.

"When I finished my carpet rug," Marcella explained, "I folded it across my lap and carried it that way down the street to show it to Rosemary."

"Well, what of it?"

"That was only three days ago," gasped Marcella, with a renewed outburst of merriment, "and now nearly every girl in the block is wearing a carpet-rag muff."

Only Just Beginning

Vice-President Bury of the Canadian Pacific, says that from harvest to the close of navigation last season the C.P.R. carried more grain than any other railway in any other part of the world has ever carried in the time, and that, although last season the Canadian West produced 510,000,000 bushels of all kinds, the land has "hardly been scratched." These are the kind of things people are apt to forget when they imagine that there can be any lengthy depression in Canada. Neither our land nor our resources are worn out. We are only just beginning to tap them.—Montreal Herald and Telegraph.

The superintendent of a Sunday school was illustrating for the children the text, "Arise and take the young child and his mother, and flee into Egypt." Showing them a large picture, she asked:

"Now, isn't that splendid? Here is the mother. Here is the young child. There's Egypt in the distance."

The children, however, looked disappointed, and finally a little boy piped out:

"Teacher, where's the flea?"

Uncle Jim Sugarfoot killed a fine rabbit for the entertainment of Parson Heavegrace, who was expected to dinner, but as rabbits were out of season he thought to avoid what might prove an embarrassing situation by making the parson think it was chicken he was eating.

"Brother Heavegrace," said Uncle Jim, when it came time for a second helping, "what part of de bird would you like now?"

With a merry twinkle in his half closed eyes Parson Heavegrace replied:

"If you all don' mind Ah think Ah'll take de gizzard."

Extravagant Times

Laurence M. Symmes, writing in Investment, points out some of the extravagances that have led to recent business depression, and suggests remedies for some of them. No one is economically useful, he contends, unless he saves a portion of his income for the benefit of industry." While the motor-car in its proper use has been "a tremendous conservator of human energy," in its abuse it has been "a world-wide extravagance." Some forms of waste in the motor-car have already been checked. For example, the fashion of annually discarding one car and purchasing a new one is "on the wane," and the heavy car is "passing into disuse," lighter ones taking their places.

But in our total of extravagance the motor car has been only one of the many offenders. To the high-priced theatre, the cafe, and amusements of all kinds, in country and city alike, much blame belongs. Extravagance has, in fact, been world-wide, and it lies back of all local causes of depression, back of wars and great calamities. Except for world-wide personal extravagances capital would have well stood the strain of all the other causes of depression.

Mr. Symmes questions whether prosperity can return in full measure until the damage done by extravagance has been repaired. It is possible for everyone to do something to help the cure of our ills. Each, for example, can save a fair portion of his earnings and "place the same at the disposal of legitimate enterprises, either directly purchasing bonds and stocks, or indirectly by depositing them at banks." Each can eliminate a portion of his personal extravagances, even to the extent of "ignoring the hat-boy at the cafe." If all would ignore that unnecessary person, the boy "might take up farming." So with those who purchase motor cars: if they would cease to buy $6,000 limousines and be satisfied with a perfectly serviceable car costing only $2,000, the remaining $4,000 would be left for some legitimate industry and the maker of big cars, by selling a large number, might begin once more to prosper.

Mr. Symmes notes that the manager of a large cafe in New York estimated that on last New Year's Eve the sum of $2,500,000 was spent in that city alone, on suppers, theatre tickets, cabs, saloons, tips to waiters, etc. Spent legitimately that sum would have built up many an industry. If we could suppose that 200,000 persons in large cities who spend $500 annually in tips, cabs, ticket commissions, etc., would now proceed to withhold that sum for legitimate industry, the country would have as an aid to prosperity $100,000,000 more than it has now.

THEN MISS J. M. GODIN USED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

And Her Kidney Disease and Female Weakness Disappeared—She is Now a Strong, Healthy Woman.

Mizonette, Gloucester Co., N.B.—(Special)—"I have been suffering from the Kidneys ever since I was a child," says Miss J. M. Godin of this place. "When I grew to womanhood I was told I was suffering from female weakness, so I tried several kinds of medicine, spending a good many dollars for nothing.

"Last winter I became so weak I was on the point of giving up my work. I could not sleep at night and could hardly get up the stairs without having palpitation of the heart and feeling quite exhausted.

"Reading of symptoms of Kidney Disease in Dodd's Almanac, I soon found out my case was similar, so I sent at once for four boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I began to feel a change at the very beginning, for I slept well the very first night. These four boxes did me more good than all the medicine I had taken before, and I have remained strong ever since. I am now as well as can be."

All women who suffer should look to the Kidneys. They are the mainspring of health. Keep the Kidneys strong by using Dodd's Kidney Pills and they will take care of the rest of the body.

Deepening Suez Canal

Improvements now progressing on the Suez canal, for which the company has power to raise $30,000,000 through bonds, are expected to be completed in 1918-19. The latest scheme makes provision for a depth of forty feet throughout, and for widening up to 196 feet 8 inches in the south section and cutting an appropriate number of sidings in the north and central sections.

Two boys who managed to be rather unruly in school so exasperated their teacher that she requested them to remain after hours and write their names 1,000 times. They plunged into the task. Some fifteen minutes later one of them grew uneasy and began watching his companion in disgrace. Suddenly the first one burst out with despair between his sobs and said to the teacher:

"Tain't fair, mum! His name's Bush and mine's Schluttermeyer."

"Aunt Clara," said four-year-old Flossie, "I want to ask a favor of you."
