LOST TRAPPER AND HUNTER WENT INSANE

Vancouver, Sept. 8.—James Proctor, temporarily insane was brought down from Whitehorse this morning on the Princess Beatrice, in charge of two Mounted Police officers, and was taken over to New Westminster Insane Asylum.

Proctor is well known all over the northern countries as a trapper, hunter and explorer. During one of his trips in the wilds of Pelly mountains he stayed away a little longer than usual, and his friends, growing anxious about his absence, reported him missing to the Mounted Police. He was discovered about twelve miles from Conrad city. He had had nothing to eat for nine days and was so exhausted that he could not move. He was frightfully haggard and said that he had lost his way. During the cold, wet nights he had slept in the open, with nothing over him save his wearing apparel. At one of the hotels he was given something to eat and a tint of natural color began to flush his cheeks. Escaping his friends, he went to another place for a meal and gored himself. He suffered much from the effects of over eating and lost his reason. His condition was reported to the resident doctor, who ordered him to be taken to the insans asylum for treatment.

LADY SYBIL GREY AN EXPERT ANGLER

Says the Nelson News: Lady Sybil Grey, eldest daughter of Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, is no mean angler, as she clearly demonstrated yesterday to a party of local and visiting enthusiasts. Lord Howick, Lady Sybil, Capt. Trotter, accompanied by Rev. E. H. Graham, Judge Forin and Mr. Robinson, spent the day at Slocan Junction fishing. The visitors had splendid luck, landing over twenty rainbow trout. Lady Sybil Grey carried off the blue ribbon by capturing one two pound trout, and one over two pounds. The superintendent's car was placed at the disposal of the party, and all concerned, thoroughly enjoyed the day's outing and sport.

FIND NEW FOSSILS IN YUKON VALLEY

Additional evidence to support the theory that the continent of America was once joined to Europe at Siberia is furnished by the discoveries of E. M. Kindle and J. H. Barnett, who comprised a United States geological survey party to visit the Yukon valley and adjacent territory during the summer. Messrs Kindle and Barnett arrived in Seattle Friday night and left for Washington, D.C., to make their report to the government.

"Our discovery in Alaska of several species of fossil invertebrates which do not exist in any other part of the continent of America, but which do exist in Siberia, leads to the belief that the two continents were once joined," said Mr. Barnett. "I am not at liberty to announce just what animal fossils we discovered, but the find is an interesting one, as it was not known before that these forms existed at all on the American continent.

"We started for Alaska on June 6, of this year. Our trip was for the purpose of obtaining data on the formation of the country, and this was accomplished by the means of collecting fossils from the river bank. We went 208 miles up the Porcupine River from Fort Yukon to the boundary, from the boundary above Eagle to Circle City, and from Rampart to Tanana.

"On our trip we found fossilized oysters and clams, which closely resemble the present-day fresh-water mussels and other like forms of the invertebrates. We gathered the fossils from the bedrock along the river banks."

SAME OLD BRYAN SAYS NEW YORKERS

New York, Sept. 8.—"The same old Bryan!" This expression has passed hundreds if not thousands of times from Democrat to Democrat in New York since Bryan's Madison Square address. "Conservative" Democracy which in the last few months has been acclaiming the leadership in 1908 of the man it would not follow in 1896 or 1900, is considering the advisibility of taking back its indorsement. Harmony has received an awful jolt, and the prospect of the old fight between radicals and non-radicals for control of the next Democratic national convention looms high above the horizon.

With the huzzas of the homecoming welcome still ringing in his ears, Mr. Bryan has left New York, not yet by any means the complete conquerer of "the enemy's country." His Madison Square Garden speech has transformed the whole political atmosphere, and, while the Hearst element is wildly elated over his new platform, the Nebraskan's "sane and conservative" followers are in the dump.

National and state ownership and operation of railroads—that's too drastic a dose for the staid old timers.

"Bryan Blundered," is the headline that was used by one of the independent Democratic newspapers of highest standing in Greater New York. Every Democratic and Independent paper has taken a rap at the peerless leader, with the exception of the Hearst papers. They as yet have said nothing. The Times reads Bryan out of the party. The World, naturally Democratic in tone, agrees with Mr. Bryan in everything he says up to government ownership but declares that the proclamation on that issue undoes all the rest. The Brooklyn Eagle (Independent-Democratic), reiterating its previous declaration that only two men can defeat Mr. Bryan in 1908—Roosevelt and Bryan himself—says that "Bryan has performed the job that his defeat is accomplished in advance of his nomination"

"Government management— never! says the Herald.

YOUNG SLOANE WILL RECEIVE $5 OF FATHER'S ESTATE

Spokane, Sept. 10.—Five paltry silver dollars are due Sydney Sloane, the boy murderer, as the result of his father's death. It was said at the time of the terrible deed that one of the motives of the crime was the hope of securing a large amount of money from his father. In this, the murderer was not successful.

Now comes the filing of James F. Sloane's will in the superior court. To Sydney is bequeathed five dollars The murdered man, when he signed his will, could certainly not have expected such a state of affairs to happen as has shocked the entire community as the Sloane murder did.

"First, I desire that my executrix herein named shall pay all legitimate, lawful expenses of my last sickness, and all my lawful debts and obligations which are not barred by any statute of limitation and all proper expenses of my funeral, according to the condition of my estate," states the will.

"Second: I give and bequeath to my son Sidney Hull Sloane, aged 13 years" (the will was made out in May, 1902) "the sum of five dollars and to my son Lloyd Alexander Sloane, aged 10 years, the sum of five dollars, they being my only children, and I having full faith and confidence that my executrix hereinafter named will properly care for said children out of my estate."

He then bequeathed the rest of his estate to his wife and appointed her executrix.

Judge Kennan this morning appointed Tuesday, September 18, as the day set for the hearing of the petition of the executrix and for taking testimony touching the will.

GRAY GHOSTS OF THE PAST.

Spokane, Sept. 10.—The defence of Sydney Sloane is to be left entirely in the hands of Attorney F. C. Robertson. There are no associates, and it is not expected there will be. It is thought by the friends of the boy that Mr. Robertson will be able to handle the case alone.

When seen today by a reporter, Mr. Robertson stated that he was the counsel for the defence, but refused to discuss the case.

"To a certain extent the fate of the boy may be determined by my actions and I cannot talk," he stated. "However thoroughly I may know the points, something I would say might be misconstrued, and I don't want that to happed."

While Sloane's counsel will not talk about the case, the friends of the boy are working hard in behalf of Sydney Sloane. There is no longer any doubt but that the defense outlined the day after the body of J. F. Sloane was picked up by the police, that of mental irresponsibility, will be followed to the end.

Sydney Sloane may be proved the Ibsen's ghost in the Sloane household. The old story of the sins of the father being visited upon the son will be told by the jury. A tendency in the mind of the boy which made him too weak to resist the impulse to slay his father, after being angered in a quarrel, and the hereditary tendencies that made the boy what he was will be graphically pictured.

"It was not for money that Sydney Sloane killed his father," stated a friend of his family's today. That will be one of the plates in the armor to defend the boy. It was not money. There was no reason a sane boy or man could have, it is argued. It must have been, therefore, a weakened mind, an irresponsible mentality that prompted the deed.

This is the line along which the friends of the boy are working. They are gathering up the threads of evidence to support this theory. There may be nothing left undone to prove the boy to have been irresponsible. Upon that the defense will base its case, and fight for the life of the boy.

It is argued that the previous confessions of the boy as to the cause of the murder, will have no effect. In the first place he made two or three contradictory statements and it will be hard to prove anything by them.

CLOSES DEAL FOR COKING COAL LAND

Seattle, Sept. 10.—James A Moore yesterday closed a deal with John Bagley, of Tacoma, representing the Tacoma and Eastern Railroad Company, for a ninety-nine year lease of two sections of coking coal land in Pierce county. The land is situated directly on the line of the Tacoma & Eastern. Mr. Moore declined to give the consideration involved.

"This land," said Mr. Moore, "is estimated by Expert P. C. Corey of Seattle, to contain more than 50,000,000 tons of the finest coking coal. It is to be used in our Kirkland plant, as the Irondale smelter will employ the charcoal process and use slab wood from the mills of the Sound.

"This deal is rather important, in view of the fact that some people have contended that there was no good coking coal on the Northwest coast. The lease is for ninety-nine years, which practically amounts to a purchase of the coal.

"The Kirkland steel plant is to turn out at the start 300 tons of pig iron per day, which will require 1,000 tons of fuel. Later the capacity will be doubled. You can easily figure that the coal we have secured will be sufficient to last the plant not less than 100 years."

Mr. Moore recently closed a deal for 200,000 tons of pig iron near Arlington, besides which he has deposits in view of the Cascades. "There is plenty of pig iron and plenty of fuel available," said Mr. Moore.

He also states that the Irondale plant is to be fitted with a retort for the distilling of by-products of wood, which will tend to cut down the enormous cost of the fuel necessary in the refinement of iron by the charcoal process.

MOTHER OF CHESTER THOMPSON SINKING

Seattle, Sept. 10.— It is probable that Mrs. Will H. Thompson, mother of the boy now held in the county jail on a charge of murder, will never know the story of the trouble in which her son has placed himself but will pass away with the idea that he is now in some distant land. Information reached the office of Prosecuting Attorney Mackintosh to the effect that Mrs. Thompson is sinking, and on this account the trial of Chester, which was set for hearing Sept. 17, will be postponed indefinitely if the motion to be made to the court today is granted. Mr. Mackintosh stated yesterday that he will ask this today and it is expected that it will be granted.

For years Mrs. Thompson has been an invalid and at the time the boy shot and killed Judge G. Meade Emory at his home in this city, she was in a precarious condition. Since then her condition has been such that it was not considered safe to tell her of the terrible event, and she is still in ignorance of it. Affidavits will be presented to the court today in support of the motion that the attending physician has declared that the woman cannot live more than a couple of days and asking that for this reason the trial of the son be stricken from the calender and continued indefinitely.

As an evidence of how hard the friends of the family are working to keep anything manifestly unfair and prejudical from getting out, Clarence Darrow has come out with the statement that he did not accuse or state in his speech that Sydney Sloane was a murderer. He states that he said: "A preacher has accused the mayor of being responsible for the act of an insane boy who killed his father." He claims that in a report of his talk, the word "insane" was left out, which made him accuse the boy of being a murderer.

Things of that nature are being watched. The friends of the Sloane family claim they do not want to influence public opinion in favor of the boy, but it is no more than fair that the public mind shall not be influenced against him. They ask that the public shall remain in a receptive mood till the facts of the case are brought out in court.

WILL COMPLETE SPORTS GROUNDS

At a public meeting held yesterday called for the purpose of discussing ways and means for the continuance of the work on the new sports grounds, Mr. W. A. Cornwall occupied the chair. A statement of past expenditures, was read by Mr. H. Thornley, a copy of which appears below.

It was pointed out that about five days' work remained to be done on the grounds before they are ready for seeding. The seed has arrived, and is now at the local station. A letter was read from Mr. D. R. Kerr, Victoria, from whom the seed was purchased, in which that gentleman stated that it would be advisable to have the seed in the ground not later than Sept. 15th, in which case the ground would be ready for use by next May. In the meantime it would be necessary to put water on the grounds, and keep them thoroughly moistened throughout the winter.

After much discussion on the raising of money, it was decided that a committee consisting of Messrs. Cornwall, W. E. Morrisog, Michie, and H. Thornley be appointed to canvas the town for subscribers to the list which appears in another column. Each signature on this list represents the sum of three dollars, payable at the rate of one dollar per month. It was thought in this manner, in conjunction with other sums which the committee have in view, sufficient money can be raised to complete the work. In the meantime, Messrs. J. Deeming and W. Sanderson, will lay the water pipe from the main to the ground, and Mr. Hazel will again resume work with a gang of men.

The statement read by Mr. Thornley yesterday, is as follows:

GOLD IN THE PEACE RIVER COUNTRY

A despatch from Edmonton, Alta., says: The Macdonnell Dominion government survey party, which arrived in the city today, brings a story of gold discovered in the Peace River country which, if they answer to the surface indications, will put the Rand to shame and make the celebrated Homestead or Treadwell look like the proverbial thirty pieces of silver.

The Peace River discoveries promise to furnish untold millions for peoples yet unborn, to establish a gold mining industry on the prairie side of the mountains employing thousands of men, and furnishing an immense market for Alberta produce right at the doors of the farmers, who will make their homes in the Peace district.

Samples of the rock brought down by the party are of a peculiar nature. They are a slate shale which by its appearance is evidently the solidified product of millions of years of deposits of mud in the river bed brought down probably from the mountains ages and ages ago, before primitive man had made his appearance on this sphere. Scattered all through this rock are minute specks of gold. The crudest kind of assay made with a mortar and mercury gave values of $7 to $32 to the ton but these tests are certainly unreliable and no mining man familiar with gold values would accept them as indicating anything like the real value of the rock.

The discoveries were made 37 miles below fort St. John and 17 miles from the Alberta-British Columbia line. The gold-bearing rock where it was discovered is a bed of shale, 200 to 300 feet of rock projecting out of a bank and overhanging the river. Above it is a gravel bed, then 300 or 400 feet of rock and below it another gravel bed. The shale is an intermediate deposit. It is located in a big horseshoe bend in the hills forming an escarpment along the river which come round in a half circle almost a mile back from the stream as though the river at some time had swept right round the base of the hills and gradually worked to its present position, probably depositing the makings of the gold-bearing shale all the way across the flat, making a territory thousands of acres in extent.

The locators are at a loss to know how far the outcrop extends along the river, but they had no difficulty in finding room enough to locate 17 claims, one for every member of the party and one each for several mounted police who were in the neighborhood at the time the discoveries were made.

Mr. Macdonnell, chief of the survey party, secured a whole sack of samples which he brought out with him intending to get a thoroughly reliable test when he reaches Ottawa. The locators are not looking for any chance to sell their discoveries. If it comes up to the promise they do not have to worry much more about the financial question, as it is only a matter of grinding out gold.

COAL OPERATIONS IN THE NORTHWEST

Nicola, B. C., Sept. 10.— Drilling operations for coal, as our readers are aware, were carried on around Coutlee all the spring and summer of this year by a company in which eastern capital was mainly interested, and which was represented by E. A. Jukes, who superintended the drilling operations.

Some time ago Mr. Jukes went back east and was enabled while there to secure control of the various properties and to make arrangements for the carrying out of further extensive operations. Mr. Jukes returned to the valley last week with a view to getting drilling operations started up again. As a preliminary he has secured options for the valuable coal rights on most of the ranches around the works and will probably commence operations on one or other of these.

The results of the past year's work were entirely satisfactory and further enhances in Mr. Jukes' mind the confidence he has in the district as a coal producer. That he has this confidence is evident from the fact that he has returned to the district with a view to further operations on a large scale.

Mr. Jukes expressed himself as being well satisfied with the results of the operations already carried on and is most optimistic with regard to the future of the Nicola Valley.

A RECORD SPORTSMAN.

Rod and Gun and Motor Sports tells this story which easily takes the championship, in a combination of fish and game narrative. A man armed with a gun, but having only one bullet for the same, was out hunting and reached the edge of the lake where he encountered a bear and a moose. He was only disconcerted for a moment, and then with the quick tuition which comes from life in the backwoods he aimed at a sharp point of rock between the animals, split the bullet in two, killed the bear with, one hald and the moose with the other. The recoil of the gun knocked him into the lake but when he came to the surface he had a mink in one hand and a muskrat in the other, while his rubber boots were full of trout. It need only be added that the hero of the story is known to the narrator—at least he says so. It is well if a man must exaggerate that the exaggeration should be such that no possible mistake can be made, and that not even with the variest green horn can it pass muster as the semblance of truth.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—The court martial which tried Seenaide Knoplianikovo, the girl who assassinated Gen. Min, August 25th, at Peterhoff, today sentenced her to be hanged.

She maintained her composure and smiled on hearing the sentence, that is subject to the confirmation of Grand Duke Nicholatevitch, commander of the guards corps.

The Vancouver Province of Friday contains the following account of the Johnson-Murdock match which took place in Vancouver on Thursday night last:

"William C. Murdock, of Vancouver the middleweight championship wrestler of British Columbia, successfully defended his claim to the title in a stubbornly contested match with Ralph Johnson of Nanaimo, at the Vancouver Opera House last evening The local man won the first and third falls, in what was generally conceded to be one of the fastest and most spectacular matches seen in Vancouver since the memorable all-night contest between Davies and Berg a few years ago.

It was a contest of skill, science and strength against practically equal strength, speed and endurance. But the science was the deciding element, and as Murdock was the possessor of that necessary quality, he eventually won out. The first fall went to Murdock in ten minutes. The second was secured by Johnson with with a full nelson in twenty-nine minutes. The third and deciding fall was a long, gruelling contest, and was finally won by Murdock in a few seconds over an hour.

There was practically no difference in the weight of the men when they went on the mat for the first fall. Murdock had trained down to 156½, while Johnson was at his usual weight of 155½, so that both men were well below the recognized lightweight limit. For the greater part of the ten minutes in the first fall, Murdock kept Johnson on the defensive, and finally got him with a half-nelson and far-arm holds, with which he slowly forced his shoulders over.

During the twenty-minute rest period immediately following the securing of the first fall by Murdock, Stan Keefer of Mount Pleasant and J. Bradbury of Nanaimo mixed on the mat and entertained the crowd while it was waiting for the return of the big men. These two youngsters put up a game match, and although neither of them secured a fall during the short time which they were on the mat, yet they showed themselves well acquainted with the tricks of wrestling. They were both decidedly aggressive from the start, and kept up a hot pace all the way through. When time was called honors were about even, and the audience gave them a good round of applause. The match between these two young men was arranged at the last moment, and as neither was in his best condition, a finished match could not be expected from them. Bradbury went on the mat at 117 pounds, while Keefer weighed 122. The wrestling weight of either is several pounds lighter, in fact Bradbury is at his best when trained down to 100 pounds. They gave an excellent exhibition, however, and pleased everybody.

Johnson was the aggressor 'when they took 'the mat for the second fall. Several times he had Murdock in what looked like dangerous positions, but the latter's superior strength enabled him to get clear, greatly to the delight of his many local supporters, Murdock occasionally varied the proceedings by standing Johnson on his head and spinning him around in an effort to get a decisive hold, but Johnson always managed to wriggle clear. Finally, in an unguarded moment Murdock allowed Johnson to get a half-nelson, which the latter converted into a full nelson and all but got his man's shoulders to the mat. Murdock broke clear, but in a few seconds later Johnson got exactly the same hold and this time Murdock went down. Time 29 min.

In the final fall each employed all the holds and locks they knew, and while the work was not as fast in the two previous falls, it was intensely interesting to a student of wrestling. Murdock evidently tried his man with a succession of hard holds he put on him. A half-nelson and a far-arm, which seemed to be Murdock's favorite hold, finally got Johnson in a bad position and he was forced to bridge. Murdock's overeagerness to get his shoulders down allowed Johnson a chance to twist clear when he was all but gone. This happened twice. But on the third time Murdock got him in exactly the same position again, and this time he let his weight tell and the Nanaimo man's bridge was slowly broken and his shoulders at last touched the mat.

Both were considerably used up in the match Johnson had one eye nearly closed by rubbing along the mat. Murdock's knees were badly skinned, while patches of cuticle were rubbed off their elbows and other portions of their anatomy in the severe struggle.

NAVAL POLICY ATTACK.

London, Sept. 8.— A fresh outcry from naval experts to the effect that Great Britain's supremacy on the water is threatened, has been raised in connection with the commissioning at Portsmouth of the Dreadnaught, the largest ship afloat.

The government's naval policy is bitterly attacked and severe criticism heaped upon the cabinet for the delay in laying down more warships of the Dreadnought class.

According to the present programme England will have six Dreadnoughts in hand in 1908. An organized campaign is being prepared to force Premier Campbell-Bannerman to agree to the programme of the agitatorsto build four Dreadnoughts to every two laid down by Germany. Much comment is aroused by an expression in the Express which said that while Bryan was in London he made a secret pact with the Premier by which they agreed to negotiate a perpetual peace treaty between the United States and Great Britain in the event of Bryan being elected President.

PAIN FROM A BURN PROMPTLY RELIEVED BY CHAMBERLAIN'S PAIN BALM.

A little child of Michael Strauss, of Vernon, Conn., was recently in great pain from a burn on the hand, and as cold applications only increased the inflammation, Mr. Straus came to Mr. James N. Nichols, a local merchant, for something to stop the pain. Mr. Nichols says: "I advised him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and the first application drew out the inflammation and gave immediate relief. I have used this liniment myself and recommend it very often for cuts, burns, strains, and lame back, and have never known it to disappoint." For sale by Ladysmith Pharmacy.

God Save the King

Interviewed yesterday regarding the question of bridging Seymour Narrows, Hon. William Templeman said: "Four months ago the minister of railways and canals authorized H. P. Bell, the engineer, well known to Victorians, to prepare a report and an estimate of cost on the construction of a railway bridge between the head of Bute Inlet on the mainland and Vancouver Island, crossing Seymour Narrows. Mr. Bell has been continuously engaged upon this task, and before I left Ottawa he informed me that the report would be ready for submission to the minister of railways and canals in a fortnight. He did not make a special survey for the purpose of the report, but from data in his possession and that of the department, he feels that he can make a satisfactory report. Necessarily the cost of such an undertaking would be large, seven or eight bridges being required at a high elevation for railway purposes. According to Mr. Bell's view the main bridge would have to be a suspension bridge. When the report is presented to the Minister of railways and canals a copy will be forwarded to the Victoria Board of trade at whose request it is being prepared."

BABINE KLOOTCHMAN GETS FRISKY

Mr. J. Tanner, who arrived by the Princess Beatrice this morning and is stopping at the Dominion, laughed heartily when he heard about the tales told down here about the riotous Babine Indians, says the Vancouver World.

He says that the male Indians are not half as riotous as a bunch of school boys at a school feast. The whole trouble arose out of the fact that two of the guardians interfered with some klootchmen who were fishing. The male Indians were not bothering about this matter at all. They are quite content to eat in the winter the fish that the women gather and cure in the fall.

The klootchmen objected to any interference with their laying in a supply of winter food, so they ducked one of the guardians in the river and tossed the other in a blanket That was the cause of all the wild outcry for militia and gatling guns and artillery and "sich."

The murder that occurred through a bad Indian getting too much fire water had nothing to do with the present case. In this fierce outbreak and defiance of authority no one was shot, except into the river, and no one was hurt except in regards his dignity.

IVANHOE WON THE RACE ACROSS GULF

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 8.— The across the Gulf race which took place today for the Commodore Cup was won after an interesting struggle by Mr. Godson's yacht, Ivanhoe.

The following were the entries for the race:

Minerva, Captain Phil Thompson; Gazeka, Vice Commodore Thynne, Chinook, Max McGowan; Hadee, W. A. Bauer; Four Winds, Thomas Horne Verona, C. O. Julian; Killarney, Commodore Alexander; Silver Spray W. B. Findley; Ivanhoe, Mr. Godson.

The yachts got away sharp at [illegible] o'clock and aided by a fair breeze at once struck out for the turning point near Entrance Light House, and returned tonight with the Ivanhoe in the lead, and winner of the race.

THE JUVENILE BOSTONIANS.

This company of talented little artists will visit our city on Wednesday evening, Sept. 12th. They have just returned from a most successful trip through Eastern Canada, where they received the most flattering press notices from all places where they appeared.

They will open their engagement with Alfred Cellier's beautiful opera "Dorothy," with which all music lovers are familiar, as the merry tinkling music lives in the listener's memory even after hearing it — and these little folks sing every number of the tuneful score with such precision and vim that one forgets they are listening to children.

"Babe" Mason, is the cunning little star of the Company and she certainly twinkles with original comitrays. Tiny Halyson Martin, the babe of the Company, and also called "The Child Nordica" receives equality in every character she personally as much attention.

The entire Company are capable in every sense of the word and must be heard to be appreciated. Let them meet with a bumper house.

Tickets on sale at Forcimmer's.

The Cowichan Leader, of Saturday says: Mr. Walter Jones, of Ladysmith, was in Duncan on Wednesday last, and in speaking to the Leader reporter, he said he had recently returned from a trip into the mountains to the north of Cowichan lake, where he had some time ago located some promising mineral claims. In some recent work on these claims some good showings were uncovered. Mr. Jones said that a party of prospectors from Victoria were also up there and were working on the same leads, the nature of the ore being copper, carrying small gold and silver values. Mr. Jones says he has no hesitation in saying, from present indications, there is a great future for mining in that part of Vancouver Island. This, together with the well known existing large bodies of copper ore on Robertson river and Sutton creek is very interesting to the people of Vancouver Island.

Mr. A. R. Sherk, who with two others interested have been up at the lake for the past two months, more than confirms Mr. Jones' statement. Mr. Sherk says:

"We are interested in the Blue Grouse, Empire, Cascade and Forest King mineral claims and have in our work on these properties uncovered large bodies of ore from which can be quarried carloads every day and with transportation facilities the two smelters of the island would have to work day and night to keep up with the output."

These reports coming from men who have been working hard for years, spending money, time and energy in prospecting, are the best possible reports the Island mineral resources could have. What has been accomplished in mining on Vancouver Island in the past ten years bids fair to be more than doubled in the very near future.
