The snows of the past few weeks have made things most satisfactory in the lumber camps, and reports coming in from all of them state that the timber is being handled in fine shape. Official Scaler Dougall says conditions are most satisfactory for the timber men.

At a meeting of the women of St. Matthew's Church, Mara, held at Mrs. Massey's house, a branch of the Woman's Auxiliary was formed, Mrs. Reed, president of the Enderby branch, in the chair. The many friends of Mr. Davies in this district will be pleased to learn of his admission to the bar in B. C. He has had long experience in the English courts, but only recently concluded to seek admission here and resume practice. Mr. Davies has been preparing law offices in the Bell block, those formerly occupied by Surveyor Williams, and will now be in position to handle any legal business coming before him.

Mr. A. C. Skaling, B. A., a young barrister and solicitor of Vancouver, arrived in Enderby this week and at once proceeded to open a law office here. He has taken the offices in the Bell block formerly occupied by Mr. W. E. Banton. Mr. Skaling is a McGill graduate, and has studied under Mr. S. S. Taylor, and later with the firm of Deacon, Deacon & Wilson, Vancouver.

Mr. Dixon received word this week from the coast to the effect that Mr. Jack Morton is showing wonderful recuperative powers, and every hope is given by the attending physicians for his rapid recovery from the effects of the injury sustained by him in his recent coasting accident. Dr. Mackechnie operated on him shortly after his arrival in Vancouver last Tuesday, taking three or four pieces of splintered bone from his back, and in three days he had shown improvement that would have been satisfactory ten days after the operation.

There will be the biggest crowd of dancers, and no doubt the best costumed crowd, in the Enderby Opera House to-morrow night that ever has been seen in this section, to enjoy the Hoo-doo dance. It will be difficult to get tickets at the door, and the committe on arrangements asks us to urge all intending to be there to purchase their tickets on the streets of the Scout boys before the date of the dance. The tickets have been perforated so as to make it easy to give the wife or sweetheart half so she may not be detected in your company, and may not be recognized—even by yourself. Have your tickets before-hand and there will be no possibility of your being recognized at the door.

Enderbyites who took part in the Mara masquerade ball last Friday evening are most enthusiastic in their praise of the hospitality and good cheer of the Mara people, and particularly the management of the affair. There were in the neighborhood of 150 people on the floor, and the costuming, music and floor all the best and the supper a deal better than the best. It was served by the ladies of Mara, and everything came hot from the ample kitchen recently added to the hall.

Supt. McKay, of the local branch of the C. P. R., and Mr. Trautmen, representing the Vice-President's office, spent a few hours in Enderby last Thursday afternoon, and took advantage of the opportunity to meet the business men and other citizens who could be gathered together, and explain to them the object of the company in taking off the Sunday train. Owing to the great falling off of traffic, both passenger and freight, they found it necessary to reduce operating expenses. The assurance was given that the Sunday service would be resumed just as soon as it became necessary to take care of the business, and they hoped that would be early in the summer.

Two rinks of curlers went to Armstrong last Thursday to take part in the bonspiel. Two rinks were expected from Vernon as well, but did not materialize. The Enderby teams were skipped by E. J. Mack and A. E. Taylor. Mack's rink came home with the handsome O'Brien cup, and the Taylor rink with very appropriate individual prizes, for second place. The winning rink was composed of Mack, skip; Rev. Mr. Dow, 3rd; J. Warwick, 2nd; F. B. Dill lead; and the other rink, A. E. Taylor, skip; Dr. Keith, 3rd; A. Reeves, 2nd; and W. R. Barrows lead. The winning rink took 4 out of 5 games.

The Enderby packing school closed its four-days' work last Saturday evening, and proved to be one of the best that Packer Castner has handled—in fact there could be few better, according to Mr. Castner. He was surprised and pleased in the splendid showing made in the four days of actual work. Following is the standing made by the pupils: Miss Rosoman, 98 points; K. Glen, 97½ points; W. Anderson, 97½; J. M. Moore, 97½; P. W. Chapman, 98; Miss Robson, 96; Mrs. Robson, 98½; W. Gosnell, 98; T. McKay, 94½; H. C. Harris, 97½; L. Proctor, 98½; A. M. Baird, 98½; and H. Cowan, 48½. The last three named were the winners of the cash prizes put up by the Department. A. M. Baird winning $5; L. Proctor, $3; and H. Cowan $2.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gaylord returned from the East on Wednesday, where they spent the past three or four months. They were present at the bedside of their mother, in Deseronto, when death came, on Jan. 20. Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord also spent a month or more in New York City, where they enjoyed seeing the sights of Gotham. They visited other large cisies and manufacturing centres as well as agricultural districts, and Mr. Gaylord says he found evidences of the severest depression in every city and community that had not agriculture at its back. In the agricultural districts he was told that they had experienced none of the stringency noticeable in the manufacturing centres, and the farmers of the East were never in better circumstances. They found a ready market for everything they could produce and at good prices.

Comment and Protest on Local Events

The letter written by Mr. A. Fulton and read before the City Council last Monday evening, revives interest in an issue that has been allowed to sleep for one full year. Perhaps here and there will be found an individual who would prefer to see the issue not revived, but we cannot believe many would be found to share in such a desire. The issue revived is: Are the people of Enderby going to repudiate regularly incurred debts or are they going to pay them? It is not necessary to go into the matter of what was accomplished by the Board of Trade in bringing out or going into the schemes that cost the money we are now asked to pay. The Board of Trade as a body authorized the ventures or the indebtedness was incurred by the board of management working under authority from the Board. The board of management consisted of Messrs. Polson, Taylor, Moffet, Crossman and Packham. These gentlemen, and the members of the Board, acted in good faith, and with the assurance of 90 per cent of the property holders that the money would be raised. For the past year Board of Trade matters have been dead. But the liabilities have not decreased. They have not been cleaned up and will not be cleaned up until the business men and ratepayers get together and clean them up. They cannot be sluffed off upon the shoulders of someone else. There is no someone else. The business is ours—your's and mine.

Some will say, "That is Board of Trade business; let the Board of Trade foot the bills." But who is the Board of Trade? It is every businessman and ratepayer of Enderby. The organization is only a medium through which work is done for the benefit of the town and district. Members are selected as officers, who give their time and best judgement gratuitously in aid of what they believe to be of benefit to the community. As individuals they get nothing out of it but a lot of hard work and the kicks and scoffs of the less progressive, in whose interest they are working as well as their own.

Mr. Fulton's letter is straightforward and to the point. He does not quibble, but puts before us facts that we cannot escape from or dodge and we must meet them.

What the outgoing council should or should not have done with the money appropriated to meet these accounts has no bearing on the present case. Anyone familiar with the expenditures of the past year knows how difficult it was for the old council to finance the city's business in 1913. The stringency greatly reduced the revenue received by the City, and made it necessary to cut down, and in some instances obliterate altogether, appropriations made at the commencement of the season's work. The new council has yet to make the tax levy for 1914, and it is up to it to make provision, even if by increasing the levy a mill or two to meet the exigencies of the case.

Enderby is, after all, very fortunate in coming out of the year 1913 as free from debt as it is. Vernon, our big sister town down the valley, found itself up against a deficit of $41,000, for which it had no assets, and the most drastic measures have been taken there to pull the corporation out of the dilemma. We should have no fear far Enderby and district in 1914. We have lost little or nothing in the financial whirlwind that has swept Canada. We are, in fact, better off than ever before, for the people generally, while losing nothing in the depression, have been pushed back to a saner, more substantial condition of life. They are realizing now better than ever before that real success and permanent prosperity are only possible where each individual becomes a producer of something worth while.

NEW MUNICIPAL ACT

The Municipal Act, based upon the findings of the Royal Commission on Municipal Government which made its report to the last session of the legislature, was introduced the past week in the legislature by Attorney-General Bowser. The Act inaugurates a new departure in municipal procedure in British Columbia, and, while its provisions are by no means as stringent as those of the Local Government Board of Great Britain, which exercises the strictest control over all municipal bodies, yet it proposes supervision of all municipal matters by an inspector appointed by a municipal department of the Government. This inspector of municipalities, whose office shall be attached to the Attorney-General's department, shall have power to hold public inquiry into any of the business of a municipality, and his findings, upon the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, shall be binding upon the officials of such municipalities.

The main provisions of the new Act are: For the establishment of the municipal department; supervision of issue of civic debentures; appointment of inspector of municipalities; police and license commissioners in municipal districts appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council; compulsory audit of municipal finances; Municipal affairs to be managed by board of control at option of electors; restriction of referendum power; tax sales cannot be canceled after one year; municipalities may only enter into public utility field by permission of Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council; local improvements eliminated from Municipal Act; increased powers granted municipalities; proposed by-laws to be posted to all voters; annual financial statement must be published; three-fourths of property owners can initiate town-planning scheme.

EXTEND FRANCHISE TO WOMEN

An Act to amend the Provincial Elections Act in accordance with the expressed determination of the Conservative party at the recent convention held in Victoria, has been introduced in the Provincial Legislature.

The amending clause grants to women the right to vote at Provincial elections, and reads:

"The right to vote at elections of members of the legislative assembly is hereby conferred upon women, and for that purpose the expression or word 'male' in the Provincial Elections Act shall be read 'male or female'; and the words 'he' and 'she,' as applied to persons entitled to vote, shall read 'he' or 'she' and 'his' or 'her'; and all alterations necessary to carry out the provisions of this section shall be made in the form of any document as prescribed in that Act."

Where a female elector's name is changed in consequence of marriage after enrollment on any list of voters it is provided in the amendment that the registrar of voters may amend such list, or cause it to be amended accordingly. The Act shall come into force on the first day of May, this year.

DIGNIFIED DEMOCRACY

Without intending any reflection upon the diplomacy and general spirit of the men who have occupied the high office of President of the United States in the past decade, one who is a student of men and things cannot help contrasting the present regime with that of other occupants of the White House in recent history.

President Roosevelt had his good qualities, but he also possessed qualities that were not so commendable, and made him somewhat of a despot in the chief executive chair of the nation. The big club was more than a joke. President Taft, while a man of sterling qualities and brilliant suavity, if we may use the expression, proved a misfit as head of the nation. The regime of both these men was controlled largely by the power of might and finance. The days of the speed limit had begun, and they were made what they were by force of circumstances.

In President Wilson, we see a distinctly different type of man. While he has the strength of a Roosevelt and the suavity of a Taft, he has dared go beyond either of his predecessors, and has taken into the White House a dignified democracy that is refreshing to witness. And he declares straight from the shoulder that right is might, and he will have nothing to do with the commonly accepted opportunism of the present day. In his dealings with Mexico in the present conflict he has forced the other world powers to recognize the justice of the position he has taken. More recently he has taken a position on the question of Panama canal tolls that is certain to win admirers the world over. And it is the simple position of right, assumed with the dignity of might. In a recently published letter President Wilson says: "With regard to the question of canal tolls, my opinion is very clear. The exemption constitutes a very mistaken policy from every point of view. It is economically unjust; as a matter of fact, it benefits, for the present at any rate, only a monopoly, and it seems to me in clear violation of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefoot Treaty. There is of course, much honest difference of opinion as to the last point, as there is, no doubt, as to the others, but it is at least debatable, and if the promises we make in such matters are debatable, I for one do not care to debate them. I think the country would prefer to let no question arise as to its whole-hearted purpose to redeem its promises in the light of any reasonable construction of them rather than debate a point of honor."

And then Mr. Wilson paid this striking tribute to Mr. Bryan, Secretary of State—a tribute that will be at once endorsed by all men who have watched from an unbiased viewpoint the policy of Mr. Bryan, not only as Secretary of State, but as monitor of the people's democracy in the United States for the past fifteen years:

"Your reference to the Secretary of State shows how comprehensively you have looked on during the last few months. Not only has Mr. Bryan's character, his justice, his sincerity, his transparent integrity, and his Christian principle made a deep impression upon all with whom he has dealt, but his tact in dealing with men of many sorts, his capacity for business, his mastery of the principles of each matter he has been called upon to deal with, have cleared away many a difficulty and have given to the policy of the State Department a definiteness and dignity that are very admirable. I need not say what pleasure and profit I myself have taken from close association with Mr. Bryan, or how thoroughly he has seemed to all of us who are associated with him here to deserve, not only our confidence, but our affectionate admiration."

Good Fellowship

By Wilbur D. Nesbitt

Ho, brother, it's the handclasp and the good word and the smile
That does the most and helps the most to make the world worth while!
It's all of us together, or it's only you or I—
A ringing song of friendship, and heart beats high;
A ringing song of friendship, and a word or two of cheer,
Then all the world is gladder and the bending sky is clear!
It's you and I together---and we're brothers one and all
Whenever through good fellowship we hear the subtle call,
Whenever in the ruck of things we feel the helping hand
Or see the deeper glow that none but we may understand---
Then all the world is good to us and all is worth the while;
Ho, brother, it's the handclasp and the good word and the smile!

PARCELS POST RATES

Articles of mail matter acceptable at parcel post rates include farm and factory products, merchandise of all descriptions such as dry goods, groceries, hardware, confectionery, stationery, seeds, cuttings, bulbs, roots, bedding plants, scions or grafts, and all other matter not included in the first claas, and not excluded from the mails by the general prohibitory regulations with respect to objectionable matter.

The rates of postage shall be:

(a) Five cents for the first pound and 1 cent for each additional pound or fraction thereof, up to four pounds, and 2 cents for each subsequent pound up to eleven pounds within a radius of twenty miles from the place of mailing, irrespective of provincial boundaries.

(b) Ten cents for the first pound and 4 cents for each subsequent pound or fraction thereof, for all points in the Province in which a parcel is posted, outside of the twenty-mile radius.

(c) Ten cents for the first pound and 6 cents for each additional pound or fraction thereof, for all points outside the Province in which a parcel is posted, and beyond the twenty-mile radius, with an additional charge of 2 cents a pound for each Province that has to be crossed to the destination of the parcel, not including the Province in which it is to be delivered up to a maximum of 12 cents a pound.

An additional charge to meet the extra cost of transportation will be made on parcels addressed to or posted at offices in certain outlying districts when such parcels have to be conveyed more than 100 miles by a continuous stage service.

The charge on any parcel shall not be greater than 1 cent an ounce.

The method of finding the rate on any parcel under the new parcels post system will be extremely simple. Rate cards will be furnished to all postmasters and for distribution to the public, there being a separate card for each province. On this card is given the amount of the postage chargeable on any parcel up to a weight of eleven pounds within the province in which a parcel is posted, and to all the other provinces of the Dominion.

When a parcel is mailed, the postmaster sees from the address the province to which it has to be carried, and a glance at his card shows him, without making any calculations, what the postage will be. It is not necessary that he should know the geographical position within the 20-mile radius, as all the information he requires is on the card.

Arrangements are being made to put the new parcels post system into operation on February 10th. Parcels containing intoxicating liquors or explosives are expressly prohibited. Franking of parcels post packets is not allowed. Parcels containing eggs, fish, meat and other perishable goods or fragile articles, cannot be insured. All parcels must be prepared for mailing in such manner that the contents can be easily examined.

During the organization period, including February, March and April, an additional fee of five cents prepaid in postage stamps will be charged for each parcel mailed for local delivery in places where the letter-carrier system is in operation, while during that time no parcel weighing more than six pounds will be accepted.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and a portion of the province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or sub-Agent of the district in which rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee for $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

"Breeding for Sex" Has Developed Beyond Experimental Stage

One of the most valuable contributions to poultry literature on the breeding for sex question appears in the official organ of the British Intensive Poultry League, "Eggs," of Aug. 13th, from the pen of Mr. Oscar Smart, Sunbury-on-Thames, who in "Science Jottings" gives very important details of experimental tests conducted during the past five years. These are entitled to careful consideration, and will be welcomed by poultry breeders.

It is explained that the reason why one egg produces a male and another a female is really due to the ova of the hen being of two kinds, one containing a male determinant and this factor being absent from the other. From breeding tests carefully conducted on scientific lines it has been found that of chickens bred from a dozen hens the proportion of the sexes in the case of each individual hen differs from the others, and this difference remains unchanged, however the hens may be mated. This proves not only that sex is inherited from the female, but that there is great variation between different hens in the transmission of sex.

Mr. Smart instances one Buff Orpington hen that never bred a male bird, while a number of other hens always bred cockerels. A consideration of these facts, it is urged, plainly shows that it will be comparatively easy to produce more pullets than cockerels if a proper course of selection is resorted to. The practice of ringing their chickens with numbered rings and of trap nesting adopted by many of our poultrymen, will make it easy to assert positively the hen from which each was bred, and breeders should be in the fortunate position of being able to "breed for sex" in a manner probably never before attempted. If one or more hens are found producing a high percentage of females the pullets should be selected from those hens showing the highest percentages, and these alone used as a foundation for new stock. The fact is wisely emphasized that the "deciding sex factor" rests alone with the female, and the male need not be considered in respect to pullet breeding.

Each year the course of selection must be followed most rigidly, with the fixed determination to breed only from the best for the purpose, not overlooking the laying propensities of each particular hen, and thus improving the egg production generally of the flock kept.

Generally speaking, the English poultrymen are agreed that colony houses are by far the most profitable method of providing shelter for the flocks. The allowing of flocks of fowl to congregate around the house-doors year after year, and to occupy any old outbuilding, chickens being hatched from immature stock at all seasons of the year, is mainly responsible for most of the failures reported, and the poor grade of eggs and fowl sent to market. Since he has adopted the colony house system, and spread his flocks of fowl about his farm (away from the house and farm buildings) one Dorset farmer says his stock has wonderfully improved in vigor and egg production, whilst the chickens raised from these hens and moved from month to month to fresh pastures have made splendid growth and given no trouble While other farmers have complained of shortness of eggs, this farmer's supply was well maintained. It is unwise, however, to let more than 40 fowls to the acre on grass, and if colony houses to hold about 40 are wisely used, no loss of pasture will be felt, and immunity from disease will be conspicuous if the house is regularly cleaned out. The house used, 8ft by 12ft and 6ft high, will be the average size for flocks of this number, and should allow about two square feet of floor space.

STRINGENCY LOOSENING UP

While there is every reason to believe that the financial stringency is liable to be felt more or less acutely for some months yet, there are indications that the worst of it is over and that from now on we shall see a gradual return to normal financial and commercial conditions. "There is no denying that there has been a financial stringency, and that money is still comparatively tight,' said a financial man recently from the East, "but I think and find that most people think with me, that nineteen-fourteen will be the biggest year in the history of Canada. Although the country has passed through a period of stress, every sign points to an easing of the situation. The banks are beginning to loosen up and I am certain that legitimate business will not be impeded in any way. The branch banks are getting word from head office that they may proceed cautiously toward financing legitimate propositions, and I think that you in British Columbia will soon notice the difference. Personally, I believe that the stringency was one of the best things that could have happened, although it caused considerable temporary embarrassment. It has driven out the wild-catter, and this alone will do the country enormous good."

WILL STOP CIGARETTE SALES

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—Andrew Broder of Dundas, believes that cigarette smoking is a pernicious habit and one which should be eradicated from the life of the Canadian youth. It is, therefore, his intention at an early date to move for legislation which will prevent the manufacture, importation or sale of that form of smoking. Mr. Broder believes in striking at the root of an evil, and he is aware that no legislation will stop the use of cigarettes if permission is not refused to manufacture and import. Richard Blain of Peel, a few years ago moved for similar legislation but his intentions did not crystalize into law. Mr. Broder believes that legislation along the lines proposed is not only desirable but feasible.

An amendment to the Milk Act is now before the Provincial legislature to authorize every municipality to enact by-laws fixing the standard for butter-fat and total solids of milk sold in such municipality, but setting as the minimum for milk sold for human consumption three and one-quarter per cent of milk-fat, and eight and one-half per cent of milk solids other than fat.

MAY IRWIN
Canada's Favorite Comedienne.

One of the leading comediennes of the American stage to-day, is May Irwin, a daughter of Canada. In these days of Ibsen plays with their dull dreary pessimism; of problem plays portraying the morbid pathology of the emotions; of society plays with their whipped cream of forced epigram on the pulpy base of a thin plot; and of melodrama that puts a dime novel into the dress-suit of respectability, it is a relief to turn to something that gives us a hearty wholesome laugh and leaves no bad flavor in the mouth, no later regret. Laughter is one of the safety valves of civilization, it is a needed vent in an age of strenuous living; and a genuine apostle of laughter is May Irwin.

Her power is her personality, her naturalness, her spontaneity; her bubbling contagious good spirits establishing a telepathic sympathy with her audience which creates a continuous ripple of fun and laughter that defies analysis.

The daughter of Robert E. Campbell, Miss Irwin acknowledges that she was born in 1862—"tho' she doesn't look it" of course—in Whitby, Ont., where she spent her early girlhood. At the age of eight she was a soprano in the church choir of her native village and sang at every opportunity and with the slightest provocation, as naturally as a bird sings,—without a Marchesi training. At thirteen the death of her father threw upon her and her sister Flora the duty of money-making, and they made their debut as singers in Buffalo, N.Y. They were billed as the "Irwin Sisters," unknown to them, and accepted the name. They sang "Sweet Genevieve" for their first song; Flora fainted after it was over but May valiently faced the audience for an encore with the coolness of a veteran.

Engagements in other cities followed quickly on the western circuit, and their third season found them at Tony Pastor's in New York at eighty dollars a week. Seven years of this engagement where improvising was often necessary and the roles ranged from a babe in arms to a grandmother, gave Miss Irwin a confidence that has never forsaken her, despite her statement that she cannot take her initial cue at any performance without a little qualm of uncertainty and fear of the audience. Augustin Daly who had a keen eye for new talent, gave her an excellent post-graduate course of four years in his theatre, which was a splendid training school, and prepared her for her later successes. At the age of sixteen she married Frederick W. Keller who died eight years later leaving her with two sons—her loving comrades and the pride of her life.

City Council Decides to Replace Naughty Guy Pole at City's Expense

The regular meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening, the Mayor and all members present.

The question of paramount interest which was to be decided was that of replacing the guy-pole removed from the Salmon Arm road by the old council, and as to whether the new council would stand firm for the enforcement of the City's rights, or give way before the veiled bluff of Manager Dobie and put the City to the expense of replacing the pole.

Prior to the reading of the minutes Dr. Keith was called to give the council some information with reference to Miss Carlson's condition. He explained that he had been instructed by the former council to make some arrangements for her care with Mrs. Johnson, with whom she came to Enderby from the Northwest. The rate was to be $30 per month. He had received letters from the Tranquille Sanitarium management which showed clearly that they did not want to take her in there, and there seemed to be little probability of the City being shortly relieved of the financial burden.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. The opening of tenders for furnishing the City Hall with 20 cords of 4-foot wood was the first business arising out of the minutes. The tender of A. V. Evans at $3.50 per cord was first opened; F. C. Dunwoodie, at $3.00, Percy Rosoman. $3.00; and Thos. Wilkinson, at $3.50 for green, and $4 for dry.

It was moved by Ald. Grant, seconded by Ald. Dill that the tender of Mr. Dunwoodie be accepted. Carried.

The committee appointed to report on the matter of guy-pole removal on Salmon Arm road, at the last meeting, did so verbally. They had not been able to find the stump of the pole left in the ground, nor any evidence that there had ever been "dead-man" buried to support the pole. The Constable was called on and he stated that the guy-wire was not attached to any "dead-man" but ran from the top of the guy-pole to the trunk-line pole.

After a long discussion, in which the fear of legal complicatioas appeared uppermost in the minds of all the members, it was moved by Aldermen Murphy and Grant that the Clerk be instructed to notify the telephone company that the City would bear the cost of replacing a guy-pole as the former pole was placed unattached to any "dead-man." Carried.

The following letter was read from Mr. A. Fulton.

Enderby, B. C., Feb. 9, 1914

Enderby City Council; re. defunct Enderby Board, of Trade:

Gentlemen: I wish to bring to your attention the fact that I hold a receipt for $190, which the above organization still owes to me; this being a balance of a $300 loan which was received from me in 1912.

I also want to place before you the circumstances under which this loan was made: In October, 1912, a petition was signed by the ratepayers representing about 90 per cent of the taxable property in the city asking the council to place a special tax on them to raise the sum of $3,000, to be spent by the Board of Trade in conjunction with the City Council for publicity purposes. The Board of Trade at that time had been reorganized and was a live institution with about 130 members. In view of the money being forthcoming, it was felt that the opportunity of being represented at the Valley Apple Show being held at Vernon should not be neglected, but owing to not having the funds on hand at that time it was impossible to do so unless the money could be borrowed.

A very representative meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the City Hall and it was decided to accept the offer which I had made to lend the Board $300, on the following conditions: Mr. Packham was to handle the show, giving his time gratis, which he did to the satisfaction of all concerned. The money which was received by him from the sale of the apples was refunded to me by Mr. Packham, being $110. The balance it was agreed at the meeting above referred to, was to be secured to me by a note for three or four months at 8 per cent. This note was never given, and I am unaware of a meeting of the Board of Trade having been called or held since that date.

I know that the City Council is not responsible for this debt, but it does seem to me that if ratepayers representing about 90 per cent of the taxable property were willing to spend $3000 on advertising, they certainly do not want one member of the community to be "stung" for $200 in order to carry out their wishes.

Under these circumstances, I think the City Council is justified in paying this bill.

Awaiting your reply, I remain,

Yours sincerely,

A. FULTON.

The facts related in this letter were unfamiliar to some of the Aldermen. After some discussion, Ald. Murphy asked Mr. Walker, a member of the Board at the time, if he could give the Council any light on the subject.

Mr. Walker stated that he was as familiar with the facts as others present. Mr. Fulton had stated all there was to be known in connection with the loan spoken of. There was, however, some facts in relation to the matter which had not been put before the council. Last year, when the 1913 council made its appropriations for the year, the sum of $800 was set aside for publicity purposes. When this appropriation was made it was made for the express purpose of cleaning up the indebtedness incurred by the Board, and this balance due Mr. Fulton was taken into account when the $800 appropriation was made. This was not the only account that the council would have to deal with; there was an amount of $250 or so due the Vernon News, and another of $185 due the publishers of Heaton's Annual, besides smaller amounts, all of which were covered by last year's appropriatioa. No doubt, if the Clerk were asked he could produce the minutes of the council showing the appropriation.

The minutes were produced, and by way of explanation Clerk Rosoman said that out of this amount of $800 $230 had been used to publish one issue of the Board of Trade Journal. Other expenditures for other purposes had absorbed the balance of the appropriation.

In view of these facts Mr. Fulton's letter was laid over until the other accounts mentioned had come forward.

Mr. A. Paul appeared before the council to bring up again the matter of Presbyterian water rate, and requested a further cut in the bill disposed of at the last meeting. The amount of the account in the first place was $19.90, in full for the past year together with the regulation arrearage charge. At the last meeting the council considered they were not justified in giving any reduction on the regular monthly charge of $1.50 and reduced the bill to $18, by allowing the arrearage charges to be deducted. It was brought out in the discussion following Mr. Paul's request, that this is the first water rate the Presbyterian church has been asked to pay since the church was erected. Up to two years ago, the churches paid no water rate. Then with the advent of church ,awn and flower garden, the rate was fixed the same as a private dwelling. In the matter of the Presbyterian church rate, Rev. Mr. Campbell paid it out of his own pocket up to the time of his resignation a year ago. The rate for the past year has been charged to the church board. The request was for a reduction, without naming any amount. It was moved by any amount. At the last meeting of the council the bill was disposed of by Aldermen Grant and Dill moving a reduction to the actual charge per month. It was moved by Aldermen Dill and Robinson that the bill for $18 be cut in half. Carried.

The water rate to the public school was fixed at $6 per month by the council.

The clerk was instructed to pay the electric light bills and the telephone rate before the 15th of the month.

JOHN OLIVER HOBBES

The Literary Life of Mrs. Craigie.

The brightest, wittiest and keenest of contemporary writers is Mrs. Craigie, better known to the world of letters as John Oliver Hobbes. Her specialty is human nature; she delights to vivisect humanity as a whole, to put some poor struggling emotion under the microscope of her investigation and study it as Binet would a bacterium. The results of her findings are delivered in epigrams, clear, crisp, cynical at times, but always clever. She stimulates thought in her readers; she irritates at times, arouses antagonism, challenges opposition, but she forces attention. The threads of her destiny unite her to the United States by birth and ancestry, to England by adoption and education, and to Canada by marriage, being the daughter-in-law of Ernest Craigie of Montreal. Born in Boston in 1867, daughter of John Morgan Richards, now one of the wealthiest druggists in London, she came from an ancestry of four Puritan divines on one side and a line of Tory politicians on the other, her great grandfather being a member of the Halifax Parliament long before the Declaration of Independence.

When a child of three she was taken on the usual tour through Europe, the beginning of her many travelling experiences. At a very early age she showed preliminary symptoms of her appetite for literature in her unsatiable reading of the books of others, and in attempting to add her few drops to the ocean of literature. At nine she received a prize for a story "Lost, a Dog," contributed to Dr. Joseph Parker's paper "The Fountain," but did no serious literary work until after her marriage. She was educated at University College, London, and took later courses in Rome and Paris, receiving much of her training at the Royal Academy of Music.

When only nineteen she was married to Reginald Walpole Craigie of the Bank of England, and her brief and unhappy matrimonial experience was terminated in 1895 by a divorce in which her young son was given into her custody. With him she went to the beautiful home of her parents, a delightful, solid, old-fashioned mansion at Lancaster Gate, one of the fine residential sections of London. No house in the English metropolis gathers within its hospitable walls a greater number of famous people, the dinner-parties often consisting of forty or fifty guests and running the spectrum of attainment in all phases. In this congenial and inspiring atmosphere Mrs. Craigie has blossomed into fuller power.

Her literary output, though in a dozen or more books is slight after all in volume, but in individuality, intrinsic value, piquancy and force, have given their author world fame. Mrs. Craigie is slight, of a girlish figure and a face eloquent with an inner brightness and intensity, a complexion singularly fair, beautiful dark hair and large black eyes.
