ENDERBY AND DISTRICT NEWS

"And the same to you—many, many of them!"

Miss Phyllis Faulkner is spending the holidays with her parents.

Christmas services in St. Andrews Church Sunday next. Special music.

Mr. H. F. Flewelling returned Monday from a business trip to Alberta.

Mrs. E. Sewell arrived Monday from Vernon to spend Xmas with her daughters.

Mr. Geo. D. Calder came up from Vernon Tuesday, going on to the coast on Wednesday.

Born—At the Cottage Hospital, Enderby, Dec. 20th, to Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Hyham, a daughter.

Born—At their home in Mara, December 17th, to Mr. and Mrs. Matt Cadden, a daughter.

Born—At their home, Enderby, December 9th, to Mr. and Mrs. C. Oppertshauer, a daughter.

Mrs. Geo. Robinson and child left Monday for Molson to join Mr. Robinson who left several weeks ago.

Mrs. Wm. Love arrived Saturday from Keremeos to spend Xmas with her sisters, Mrs. McLeod and Mrs. Clarke.

Miss H. Alice Bligh, for the past term teacher of the Enderby high school, left for her home in Nova Scotia on Saturday.

Miss Beattie, Miss Rae and Miss Dick left on Friday to spend Xmas at their homes in Kamloops, Vancouver and Nanaimo respectively.

Teams were put back on the road the past week to assist the traction engine in the work of laying gravel on the Enderby-Salmon Arm road.

Mrs. W. J. Lemke and son returned from Seattle last Thursday, where they have been for the past half year having the boy's eyes treated by specialists.

Mr. E. C. Wheeler returned last week from the Northwest. He reports a very mild winter, even in Manitoba, with very little snow at any point on the Prairie.

Married—At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Folkard, Grindrod, Dec. 20th, Miss Clara M. Bailey to Mr. Lewis L. Clark, both of Okanagan Centre; Rev. Mr. Dow officiating.

Mr. H. Tomkinson, Grindrod grocer, has inaugurated a unique way of giving Christmas remembrances to his patrons, by offering them a 10 per cent reduction on all cash purchases during Christmas week.

A public meeting is called for this (Thursday) evening, at the City Hall, by the Canadian Patriotic Fund officers, for the purpose of receiving the annual report of the Executive Committee and reorganizing for the coming year.

The Enderby Music Store has been the centre of attraction the past week or two, and, if one may judge from the inroads made on the stock of Christmas toys, etc., this store has been the supply centre of the district for Santa Claus.

The City voters' list as revised by the Court of Revision appears in this issue of the Press. If any name has been improperly omitted therefrom it can still be added, provided application is made to the police magistrate not later than Dec. 31st.

Parish of Enderby: Christmas Day: Holy Communion (choral) 8 a. m.; Mattins (choral), Holy Communion (plain) 11 a. m. Sunday after Christmas Day: Mattins and Holy Communion, Mara, 11 a. m.; Evensong, Grindrod, 3 p. m.; Evensong and Carol service, Enderby, 7.30 p. m.

One of the most enjoyable evenings ever spent in the Grindrod school house was the school children's Christmas tree entertainment held Tuesday evening. Following the children's recitations and choruses, refreshments were served, and after this the dancing, which lasted till the morning hours.

Ganong chocolates, in fancy Xmas boxes or in bulk, the choicest chocolates made, at Joe's. Also a very fine, fresh stock of mixed candies, nuts, raisins, Jap oranges, etc.

In our report of the council proceedings in last week's issue of the Press the statement was inadvertently made that Mr. Johnstone and Mr. Grant were among those who had not paid the trade license for 1915. This was an error. These gentlemen, with Mr. Bobb, are relieved from the payment of the license for 1916, not 1915, which they paid.

Mr. S. F. Hartry has received word from Mr. Chas. Bovett, stating that Mrs. Bovett stood the trip to California well, and that she is now being treated at the sanatorium where Mr. Bovett is employed. In the letter the heartfelt thanks of Mr. and Mrs. Bovett is expressed to the Enderby friends for the assistance given them which enabled them to accomplish this desired end.

Mr. W. J. Woods, Enderby's hustling young businessman, has established a branch of his general mercantile business at Redlaw, Alberta, to which point he went a month ago, taking with him a carload of Enderby apples and produce. Near Redlaw, Mr. Woods and brother are operating a large tract of wheat land where they turn wheat that does not go to the elevators into hogs and hogs into bank rolls.

The Red Cross entertainment committee are organizing with the aid of friends some entertainments to be held during the New Year. The first of these is to be a children's party in the Parish Hall, on Saturday, Jan. 15th, from 3 to 6 p. m.; entrance 10c; tea, games and prizes. A variety entertainment will be given towards the end of January, and a leap-year dance will be arranged for Feb. 14th (Valentine's Day). Further particulars later.

A number of the parents of the school children attended the closing exercises last Friday morning, and warmly commended the proficient manner in which the school children were handled by the various teachers. Miss Bligh resigned as teacher of the high school at the end of the summer term. We are informed that a number of applications have been received by the school board and a new teacher will be in charge at the opening of the school after the Christmas holidays.

Mr. R. Wilson and daughter, of Moosejaw, were visiting Mrs. Thos. Brash and daughter the past week, going thence to Westbank. They will return to Enderby this week and will be accompanied to the coast by Mrs. and Miss Brash, where the Christmas holidays will be enjoyed. Mr. Wilson is one of the well-to-do grain growers of Saskatchewan, his harvest, of wheat alone, this year netting him 14,000 bushels.

The Red Cross market stall last Saturday afternoon netted the fund $18, and the tobacco tea $7. The following contributed: To the stall: Mrs. Dougal, Mrs. Mann, Mrs. Winter, Miss Gibbs, Mrs. Proctor, Mrs. Forster, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Crane, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Lawes, Mrs. Henniker, Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Bigge, Miss Forster. To the tobacco tea: Mrs. Tomkins, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Bigge, Miss Gibbs, Mrs. R.T. Turner, Mrs. Forster, Mrs. Lawes, Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Henniker, Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Gaylord, Miss Forster, Miss Rosoman, Mrs. Mowat, Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Butchart, Mrs. Harvey, Mr. Hadow, Mr. Cowan.

Mr. Mann has succeeded in getting the ice into shape for the opening of the skating rink, in spite of the soft weather of the past week. He also has whipped the remnants of the city band into shape, and will have the band present on the opening night, and on special occasions. He has made the admission fee 10c for children and 15c for adults, for the afternoons, and 15c for children and 25c for adults in the evening. Season tickets, Ladies, $3; gentlemen, $4; children under 16, $2.50. It is possible the rink will be opened to-night; it all depends on the weather man, the other Mann having done his part like a prince.

We have a good assortment of vegetables for table use, at low prices. Teece & Son.

NEW PREMIER FOR B. C.

A political surprise was sprung on the Province the past week when it was announced that Sir Richard McBride had tendered his resignation as Premier, which was accepted by the Lieutenant-Governor, and that the Hon. W. J. Bowser had been appointed premier. With the departure of Sir Richard McBride from the head of the Government, the resignation of Hon. Dr. Young as Provincial secretary was also announced, and the new cabinet appointed by the new Premier consists of the following gentlemen:

Minister of Finance and Agriculture, A. C. Flumerfelt; Minister of Public Works, Charles E. Tisdall; Minister of Lands, W. R. Ross; Minister of Mines, Lorne A. Campbell; Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, Thomas Taylor; President of the Council, William Manson.

Sir Richard McBride has been appointed agent-general for British Columbia in London, and he will leave for London shortly after the New Year.

In his statement to the electorate of the Province, the new Premier states that "British Columbia needs a period for readjustment, free from any venturesome or experimental legislation, in which to recuperate from an era of speculative expansion, which was not peculiar to us but common to the whole West."

With this as a basis, Mr. Bowser states his plans, which are practical and alluring. Briefly these plans deal with those business activities of the Province which are our greatest asset. In his statement he shows how complete is his grasp of the situation, and every paragraph rings with determination to encourage production. His first and great object will be to stimulate production, to re-vitalize the lumber, mining and agricultural industries, not by borrowing large sums to give them the appearance of prosperity, but by digging down to the roots and fertilizing them with new enterprise. The era of speculation is over, now, under the leadership of Mr. Bowser, comes the era of sound development on strictly business lines.

Concluding an editorial on the excellent promise for the future, the Vancouver Province says: "The people desire to see business men administering the business of government. As we have said, the past is past, and Mr. Bowser holds out most excellent hopes for the future. He can and there is little doubt that he will, set all Canada an example of how to run a business government successfully and prove that the new day has really dawned, when men will recognize that the business of government is the honorable service of the people."

In Sir Richard McBride the Province of British Columbia has had a leader of remarkable vision, and one who never failed to bring forward the best that was in the people with whom he had to deal. He has served the Province well, and in accepting the agent-generalship he steps into another field in which his talents will have new scope to deal with the problems that are up for solution. He will be a power for good for the Province in London, and should bring to the office to which he has been appointed new life and greater usefulness.

CAREFUL, CAUTIOUS, CANNY

Perhaps it was all right for the merchants of Enderby to pause and consider when the tumult and confusion of war shook the ground beneath their feet and unsteady things generally. But the time for back-stepping is passed, and it is not all right for them now to go into temporary or permanent hiding, at this time of national necessity and opportunity. In times such as these, each community must seek to hold up its end—to hold its centre—to attract business. And it rests with the businessmen of each community to take the lead in such matters in order to create and give strength to the confidence all are justified in feeling. When they fail to do this, how can they expect the man not in business and dependent upon his daily wage to retain this confidence?

The man who shrinks from battle even though the forces opposed may appear overwhelming, takes away from the strength of his comrades. Winning or losing, battle-time calls for men who will fight until overthrown or slain. The careful, cautious, and canny man—the man who crawls into a hole and sits pat in time of uncertainty—can never rise to be a successful merchant.

When war is over, the honored and rewarded men among soldiers and merchants will be those who never faltered, who kept their face to the foe by keeping the home town alive and the columns of the local paper filled with ads, thus holding the interest of the surrounding district centred upon the home town and upholding the courage of the people looking this way for signs of confidence and a willingness to lend assistance.

The valiant-hearted businessmen of Canada—retailers, wholesalers, and manufacturers—are advertising now—have never ceased advertising—and in this way have upheld the confidence of the Dominion and the communities in which they find themselves. Only the shirker slinks away and hides.

Let the New Year see a change on the face of things in Enderby. If it be but an ad occupying only a single inch space at the cost of $1 a month, how much better it would look for the community, and how much it would mean to the district if every man doing in business in Enderby carried an ad in the local paper. Think it over.

North Enderby School Xmas Tree

The Xmas tree exercises in connection with the North Enderby school was held last Thursday evening. The schoolroom was very prettily decorated, and the exercises proved a great success, there being over 100 people present. The first part of the program consisted of the entertainment given by the children, and was most creditable not only to the children but also to the teacher. This was followed by the serving of refreshments by the ladies of the district, and they are to be congratulated on the excellence of their part of the evening's enjoyment, as it left nothing to be desired. The last item was the distribution of the presents on the tree by Santa Claus. The tree was well loaded with presents of all kinds and there was no child in the district that did not get a gift of some kind. The exercises closed with dancing.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN

Government reports indicate that the 1915 harvest of United States crops will break all previous records. The total value of the year's field harvest is placed at five billion dollars. The yield is given as follows: Corn, 3,054,535,000 bushels; wheat, 1,011,505,000 bushels; oats, 1,540,362,000 bushels; barley, 237,000,000 bushels; rye, 49,190,000 bushels; buckwheat, 15,760,000 bushels; potatoes, 350,103,000 bushels; hay, 85,225,000 tons; cotton, 11,161,000 bales.

When considering a Christmas gift, think of the amount of pleasure a season ticket at the Enderby Skating Rink would give. Nothing else you could give would contribute so much pleasure for so little cost.

A grand concert is to be given in aid of the local church fund, in the Grindrod school house next Wednesday evening, Dec. 29th. After the concert, refreshments will be served, and an informal dance complete the evening's enjoyment.

For your Christmas tree supplies you will find at Joe's a very complete line of Christmas crackers, candles, tinsel, etc., at prices compatible with conditions.

Leave your orders at Joe's for the Christmas cake.

WITHDRAWAL ACCOMPLISHED

London, Dec. 20.—The withdrawal of the British troops from Suvla Bay and Anzac zone, on the Gallipoli peninsula, ends more successfully than most military men believed possible, the most unfavorable chapter for the British arms in this war. Thousands of lives were sacrificed in gaining these positions and other thousands in holding them. Further details of the evacuation of the Anzac and Suvla zones have been received, the official statement says. "Without the Turks being aware of the movement the army has been withdrawn from one of the areas occupied by the Allies, although in the closest contact with the enemy. By this contraction of the front the operations at other points of the line will be more effectively carried out." The Dardanelles campaign is characterized in London as the most costly, the most disastrous and the most heroic endeavor ever associated with British arms.

IN VICINITY OF SALONICA

Sofia, Dec. 20.—The Echo de Bulgarie announced today that the Bulgarian troops have been halted on the Greek frontier for the present in order to avoid embarrassing the Greek Government, while the Allied troops are gradually massing at Salonica. It declares, however, that it may become necessary for the German and Bulgarian armies to invade Greece in pursuit. The paper says that King Constantine recognizes that the Central Powers may be forced by military expediency to attempt to expel the Allies, and has cautioned the Allies that they cannot expect that Bulgaria's respect for Greek neutrality will last forever.

THE NEXT MOVE?

London, Dec. 20.—A dispatch to The Exchange Telegraph Company from Amsterdam says: "It is reported that Field Marshal von der Goltz, commander-in-chief of the first Turkish army, is establishing his headquarters at Aleppo, Syria, where the Turkish and German troops under his command are being equipped for an invasion of Egypt. Field Marshal von der Goltz's force consists partially of the Constantinople army corps, which is under German officers. Several large corps of German professors are going to Turkey, under a three-year contract, to teach the German language."

"TOO LATE"

London, Dec. 21.—No more moving peroration has been heard for many a long year in the House of Commons than the speech of Mr. Lloyd George in Parliament yesterday. In the passage to which the startled and silent House listened with painful intension, Mr. Lloyd George rang the changes on these direful words, "Too late!" We have been too late in this, too late in that, too late in arriving at decisions, too late in starting this enterprise or that adventure. The footsteps of the Allies have been dogged by the mocking spectre of "too late!" Let not "Too late!" be inscribed on the portals of our workshops.

Said Same Thing of Serbia

London, Dec. 21.—Britishers generally regard Germany's Egyptian campaign as doomed to failure. Officials, interviewed, said they believed a more formidable army would be required for a successful invasion via the Suez Canal than Germany and Turkey can possibly muster and equip, in view of conditions on the other fronts.

Another strong series of reels will be shown at the Opera House next Friday and Saturday evenings, including the fifth episode of the great drama "The Master Key," and other picture plays of comedy and drama. The animated weekly of world events is alone worth the price of admission.

IMPORTANT CHANGE IN MUNICIPAL LAW SUGGESTED

If the ordinary business of incorporated companies was conducted under similar restrictions as are imposed under municipal statute upon the business of municipal corporations; it is safe to say that there would be more failures than successes. In incorporated companies the policy of the management—general policy—is usually permanent. At least, it is not subject to change annually. The board of directors and general manager are not subject to change every twelve months; and if a change in managers is made, the general policy of the company is continued, and work already planned is carried to completion.

In municipal corporations this cannot be, for under the present Municipal Act, there is no such thing recognized as a permanent municipal body. Each municipal council is a thing apart and alone from any previous council or any council to follow: that is, one municipal council has no authority to inaugurate any work that cannot be finished in the year of its municipal existence, and the subsequent council has no authority to continue the unfinished business of its predecessor.

This is the legal advice given by the law firm of Billings & Cochrane to the Enderby City Council in the matter of the proposed quarterly tax collections which the present council hoped to put into force next year. We believe the question involves a very important point, and if the matter is taken up by the press of the Province and the Municipal Union there is no doubt that a similar amendment may be passed as was passed by the Ontario legislature and outlined in the report of the council proceeding in last week's issue of The Press, providing that

"The Municipal Council shall be deemed and considered as always continuing and existing, notwithstanding any annual or other election of the members composing the same, and, after any such election and the organizing of the Council for the current year, may take up and carry on to completion all proceedings commenced and not completed prior thereto"

Owing to the length of time consumed in the procedure which each annual municipal council of this province is obliged to take in connection with the levying of taxes, it has always been comparatively late in the year before the taxes, which form the major part of the municipal revenue, could be collected. It has been the custom, therefore, for municipalities to finance current requirements for debenture interest, school and general maintenance by means of loans from the banks, said loans being secured by hypothecation of taxes, and repaid out of same when collected.

As long as this means of financing was available, and the municipalities were thereby enabled to meet their obligations as they became due and thus maintain their credit, it was accepted as a fairly satisfactory arrangement, though not an ideal method of financing. At the beginning of the present year, the banks suddenly shut down on the municipalities, refusing the financial support hitherto regarded by municipal bodies as a part of the established order of things. This unexpected change naturally plunged the municipalities into difficulty of the most serious kind.

The city of Enderby was practically bankrupt for the first half of the year. Interest coupons had to be returned unpaid; debenture holders became threatening; school teachers, of whom Enderby has an excellent staff, had to go without their salaries, and the question of closing the schools was officially discussed; many persons having money due them from the city had to wait, willy nilly, no matter at what inconvenience to themselves and to those to whom they, in turn, were indebted.

In these circumstances City Clerk Rosoman hit upon the idea of having the taxes paid quarterly instead of yearly. Chairman Dill of the finance committee at once saw the wisdom of the proposal and recommended the idea to the council. The proposal was adopted. It had many advantages, in that it would be easier for the ratepayers to pay say $5 four times a year than $20 once a year; it would also give the city the use of the money early in the year, which, it was calculated would meet general requirements and avoid the necessity of borrowing from the bank. Also such an arrangement would avoid the risk of being again thrown down by the bank, with all its resultant damage to public credit and confidence. And it would mean a saving on interest account fully equal to one mill on the dollar, which sum might just as well remain in the pockets of the taxpayers as be extracted therefrom in order to be paid over to the bank.

To make such a system of tax collection possible, however, it was seen that the preliminary work connected with the levy would have to be done in the year previous to the actual making of the levy. Unless the assessment roll were prepared, court of revision held, and appeals from same heard and determined previous to the 1st of January, the rest of the work could not be done in time to have the first instalment payable as early as March 1st, the date set. It therefore became a question whether this work could legally be carried out previous to the 1st of January. On examining the Municipal Act, the finance committee found that while this method had evidently not been thought of by the framers of the Act, yet it could be put into force without seriously straining the letter of the law. The Corporation, which is the property owners in their collective capacity, is a continuously-existing body; the council merely its legislative and executive representatives. They stand in the same relation to the general body of property owners as the directors of a company do to the general body of its shareholders. As the Corporation was a continuous body, it did not appear unreasonable to infer that its business could be carried on continuously, without regard to the annual election, which might or might not change the Corporation's representatives, but could have no effect on the Corporation itself. The plan, which appeared so feasible, and promised such benefit to the taxpayers, both individually and in their corporate capacity, was laid before the city's legal advisers, Messrs. Billings & Cochrane, and, as before stated, these gentlemen advised that it was not practicable. A municipal council, they stated, was similar to a parliament, and could not take up and finish any business left over by its predecessors.

Thus it is impossible to put the plan into execution, and this for no reason good in itself, but on account of a mere legal technicality. Municipal bodies throughout the Province should unite to secure the passage by the Provincial legislature similar legislation as was passed by the Ontario legislature when its municipalities met with obstacles similar to those here referred to. Many changes have been made during the last few years in the Municipal Act, and much effort has been put forth both by the municipalities and the government to improve it, and to facilitate municipal government to the utmost. But here is a provision the importance of which appears to have been overlooked.

Billy Sunday says the devil has left Toronto and gone back to hell. So has Billy Sunday.

GREAT WAR FOR A RAILWAY

Winter seems to have brought a stalemate on all the battle fronts. It does not seem probable that much will be doing at any point until the spring campaigns open. In the Balkans, however, tremendous preparations are in progress. It is apparent that Britain and her allies have determined to hold Salonica at all costs. These troops have retreated to the sea port, and are now erecting fortifications to enable them to withstand any offensive the Central Powers may make. From this base the Allies will launch their spring offensive. The great effort here will be to wrest from the Teutonic forces the Oriental railway which they now hold and which gives Germany direct rail connection with Constantinople, with all that this means. This will be one of the most, if not the most, important offensive of the great war. If the Allies succeed, the Teutons will be driven out of Serbia, and will lose their hold upon Constantinople. If they lose, Constantinople will be lost to the Allies and the Balkan campaign a failure. And it has been said by all great military men of the world, that the power that holds Constantinople holds the key to the world. The importance of the Balkan campaign cannot be magnified—it is beyond magnifying.

Butter Wrapper Parchment

The Dominion law against the selling of butter without the words "Dairy Butter" or "Creamery Butter"—as the case may be—printed on the butter wrap, is a blessing in disguise to the average farmer. In the first place, if his butter wrappers are neatly printed with his name and the brand of the butter on the label, the storekeepers can readily sell the butter at 5c a pound more than he can get for butter wrapped in paper that is not printed, and the butter-maker gets the advantage in 5c a pound more for his butter from the merchant.

It is the duty of every butter maker to comply with the law in this matter. Some butter makers have only a cow or two, and make so little butter that it does not appear to them that they can afford to have their butter wraps printed. They do not like the idea of having 500 or 1000 butter wraps on hand. To accommodate this class of butter makers, The Press has printed up a quantity of "Custom" Butter Wraps. They are printed with the words "Fresh Dairy Butter" but do not bear the name of the maker. However, these wrappers fill the requirements of the law governing this point, and can be bought in small quantities at the rate of 50c a hundred in 100 or 50 lots. If you do not require butter wraps in larger lots, take these wraps in lesser quantities.

What Lack of Co-operation Between Farmer and Merchant is Doing

It is customary in all rural newspapers, the week before Christmas, for the editor to give a brief resume of what the local merchants have accomplished in the year about to end, and to say nice things about what the local merchants have to sell to Santa Claus. The Press has held to this policy in past years, but this year we are going to change the order somewhat. There are various reasons for this. We have something to say which we sincerely believe is of greater importance. If what we say hurts a little, we are sorry, but if it brings Enderby businessmen face to face with facts that must be met, it will have accomplished something worth while.

Twelve years ago this spring the writer started the first newspaper in Enderby. It was named "The Edenograph." In explaining the name of the newspaper at that time we said:

When we put together the name of this paper it was to fit the policy of the paper and not to tickle our friends, though, of course, we like to please everybody if they want to be pleased. Until the paper's policy is fully comprehended, its name will hardly be appreciated. The name is pronounced, Eden-o-graph. It means, written from Eden, or to write from Eden, or news from Eden. We might have called it the Farmers' Friend, the Enderby Milk Pail or the Okanagan-Pumpkin, or some such name of pastoral significance. But we didn't.

We want to make the Edenograph mean something to Enderby. We want to make it true to its name. Wherever it goes we want it to be read—not crumpled up and put into the fire. We want to make it worth $2 of any man's money. There are many ways in which this can be done, but each way must start from the hearts of the people—its readers. Give to a newspaper the solid support of a community and that community will be honored by the paper wherever it goes.

Speaking of Enderby as it appeared at that time, it was said:

As a place of residence, Enderby offers every inducement. Its climatic conditions are excellent, its location superb, its business accommodations good, its public school advantages the best, and its church and social life just what the individuals make it.

Looking down upon Enderby from the hill to the west, with its tastefully painted homes and modern business blocks, its fruit and flower gardens, its well-kept streets and the slowly flowing Spallumcheen, gliding lazily through the thickly wooded bottom lands, and skirting the green meadows to the south and to the north, it possesses a scenic beauty unsurpassed. Seldom have we seen Nature bring the real so near the ideal.

After running The Edenograph one year and a few months, the newspaper plant was sold to the Fraser Brothers, who continued it for some time. Finally, owing to lack of support on the part of the businessmen and better inducements offering, it was moved to Salmon Arm where it has since been continued.

After an absence of two years, we returned to Enderby and established The Press, as a starter to larger things. We are now closing the eighth volume. In these years we have at all times held the vision first gained of Enderby fresh in mind. What we wrote of Enderby and its possibilities twelve years ago we feel as intently today. We see no natural reason to alter the impression then gained.

But unnatural conditions are being forced upon the community which have altered the general aspect considerably, and must, if persisted in, eventually bring disaster to many. In speaking plainly of these conditions we do so to bring about a clearer vision between the business people of Enderby and the farmers of the tributary district.

Twelve years ago, with only two general stores and a butchershop Enderby was drawing business from Deep Creek, Hulcar, Lansdowne and all the district to the north of Enderby to and beyond Mara. Mr. H. W. Harvey, than whom Enderby never had a better businessman or a truer friend; the Enderby Trading Company and Mr. Geo. R. Sharpe catered to the business offering in every direction. In those days the businessmen of Enderby did not have laws passed forbidding patrons of the district doing business here on any day in the week, or ask for any other freak legislation. If they wanted to go fishing they went fishing, but they did not restrict the trade of the community while they enjoyed the afternoon. Any time a farmer drove to Enderby he found a warm welcome awaiting him. And there was not a rancher within a radius of ten miles that did not come to Enderby to trade. They came here because the businessmen entered hand-in-hand with them in any effort that meant the bringing about of better conditions and better trade facilities and closer prices for the farmer. At the same time, they assisted the farmer in disposing of his produce at a better price.

Contrast the conditions of today with those of ten or twelve years ago. What do we see? Would the total business done by all the local stores today equal one-half that of the two general stores and butchershop of twelve years ago? Not by a good deal. Ask Bob Peel and Billy Woods—the only men left of the old-day general merchants. How much of the Deep Creek business are our merchants of today getting? How much of the business of Hulcar, of Lansdowne, or the district to the north? These districts have probably doubled in population in the past decade. Where is this business going? Enquire of the merchants of Armstrong and Salmon Arm, and look in the advertising columns of the local newspapers of these towns, if you would find out. Then watch the express office and the post office for the mail order packages.

Various reasons are given by Enderby businessmen for business tributary to Enderby drifting away from them and into other channels. But these reasons are not the reasons given by the farmers themselves and if you would know the real reasons you must take the word of the farmers.

It needs no argument to prove the efficacy of printer's ink effectively made use of in the advertising columns of the local papers. The ostrich may close his eyes and poke his head in the sand and declare he is all right, but the businessman cannot. Then, too, there is the matter of prices. Today, when a dollar must be made to go as far as possible, a ten per cent reduction in general prices gets the business. In the local newspaper of one of the towns now taking a big share of Enderby business we note these prices of staple articles:

20-lb sack granulated sugar	$.160
Jap oranges, per box	.60
20-lb pail Burnes lard	3.40
10-lb "	1.75
12 pkgs Corn Flakes	1.00
3-lbs Braid's Ideal tea	1.00
98-lb sack flour	2.95
Picnic hams, per pound	.20

These are a few articles selected from a long list. It is unnecessary to give Enderby prices by way of comparison.

Local businessmen tell us, and, perhaps, Believe, that the farmers trade is lost to Enderby because we have no creamery located here. But this reason is not wholly sound, though, perhaps, partly so. It is well to remember, however, in this connection that it was the businessmen of the neighboring towns who took the initiative in establishing creameries there. And if Enderby is to again interest the farmers of the district and get back the business now going from them, they, too, like the businessmen of old, and as those of neighboring towns now, must lend support to those matters which are of need to the farmers.

We have before us the shipments from Enderby for the year 1903. At that time there was no farmers' exchange at Enderby, and all carload shipments of farm produce were made through either the late Mr. Harvey or the Enderby Trading Co. Both of these concerns then handled the selling end of the produce for the farmers. In that year Enderby shipped 222 tons of apples, 137 tons grain, 364 tons hay, 163 tons roots, 34 tons cattle, 10 tons sheep, 4,784 tons flour and millstuffs.

The shipments of farm produce from Enderby this year, 1915, will indicate the change which has taken place and prove the point we have endeavored to make. The shipments of hay have exceeded those of 1903 by 1200 tons, but outside of this single item, and the carload of apples, and produce taken to the Northwest by Mr. W. J. Woods himself, the Enderby shipments will not total 50 tons farm produce. Do not misunderstand this statement and draw the conclusion that the district is not producing as much as it produced twelve years ago. The same sections which contributed to the Enderby shipments in 1903 are today producing possibly ten times as much as they produced twelve years ago. But the produce is not being handled through Enderby. It is going through Armstrong or Salmon Arm. And, with the farmer, the point of shipment is the point of purchase.

These facts are laid before the local businessmen in the hope that they will bring about a truer vision of where this drifting, hole-in-the-wall policy is landing us. If these facts can be ignored, then it is hopeless to attempt by further argument to attempt to put the case more clearly.

THE GREATEST DOCTOR

An Englishman tells this story. He had occasion for a doctor while staying in Pekin.

"Sing Loo greatest doctor," advised his servant. "He save me life once."

"Really?" queried the Englishman.

"Yes, me tellible-awful," was the reply. "Me callee in another doctor. He give me medicine. Me velly, velly bad. Me callee in another doctor. He come and give me more medicine. Make me velly velly-badder. Me callee in Sing Loo. He no come. He save my life."

More than 100 carloads of Ashcroft potatoes were sold in Ontario last month. They were bought for $16.50 a ton in Ashcroft, and retailed in Toronto at the rate of $30 a ton.

This Book helped me improve my Farm.

It is the most valuable book I own and it cost me nothing.

It has saved me time, labor and money and I've got better looking, more durable and more serviceable buildings than I ever had before.

The first cost of concrete farm improvements is also the last cost. There's no after expense for paint or repairs—no danger from fire, rot or rust—no trouble of any kind. Besides they lower the insurance rate. If you haven't a copy of "What The Farmer can do with Concrete", send for one today. There's more than 150 pages of valuable building information, 52 practical plans, illustrated by diagrams and photographs, and dozens of other interesting farm facts.

A copy will be sent to you free of charge, immediately upon receipt of coupon below.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2560 acres will be leased to one applicant. Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent of sub-Agent of the district in which rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights as may be considered necessary for the working of the mine, at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

PRAIRIE VS. B. C. EGGS

Statements having been made that eggs produced in this Province—particularly on the coast—were inferior to Prairie eggs for cold storage purposes, Mr. J. R. Terry, secretary-treasurer of the B. C. Poultry Association, was authorized by the executive of that association to conduct experiments with both kinds of eggs this past season to test this. Eggs were secured from a government farm on the Prairies and also from the Cowichan district. Both lots were laid during the same period and all were infertile. After being placed in cold storage in Vancouver for a period of five months, they were taken out, carefully examined by means of candling, and some were given to various persons, who cooked and tasted both kinds. No information was given out as to where the eggs were produced. The consensus of opinion was unanimously in favor of the local eggs, as regards flavor, taste and "set-up." The Eastern eggs were much stronger in flavor and contained a larger proportion of watery contents when candled. Mr. Terry considers that there is no ground whatever for the assertion that B. C. eggs are inferior for cold storage purposes, and ventures to state that local infertile eggs produced in the spring can more than hold their own against the best produced outside the Province.

EGGS AT A PREMIUM

For the first time in a number of years eggs have taken a prominent place in Canada's export trade. This is largely due to the unprecedented demand for eggs on the part of the British market and the fact that British dealers are showing a marked preference for Canadian eggs over United States eggs and a willingness to pay a distinctly higher price for them. So great in fact has been the demand that Canadian dealers have shipped practically all of the available supply to the Old Country. As a result there is not in Canada at the present time sufficient eggs in storage to supply home consumption until fresh receipts in appreciable quantities begin to come in.
