Enderby News in Brief

Good morning! How'd you like to be the policeman?

Mrs. Ed. Mack was called to her Toronto home last week by the illness of her sister.

Mrs. J. E. Doerflinger and child visited their mother, Mrs. Thos. Gray, Mara, this week.

The masquerade ball given at Mara Hall last Wednesday evening proved a great success.

A grand concert in aid of the Red Cross Fund will be held at Grindrod school Friday evening, Feb. 25th.

Nurse Davies, of the Cottage Hospital is enjoying a well-earned rest of a week or so at the coast cities.

A severe storm swept the coast of England the past week, causing damage estimated well up in the millions.

Mrs. J. H. Woods arrived from Seattle last Friday to spend some time with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Woods.

The Red Cross market stall will be held on Saturday, March 4th. All contributions should be left at the Red Cross Room on March 3rd or 4th.

Mr. F. D. Abbott was in town from Mabel Lake this week. He looks for a large number of campers next season to enjoy the pleasures of Leighton Beach.

Mr. W. J. Collin, ledgerkeeper at the Union Bank, Enderby, left on Monday for Shaunavon Sask. to which point he was transferred on the closing of the branch here.

Mr. P. S. Ahier and family, of Mara, are leaving this week for England. Mr. Ahier has been offered a position as mining engineer on one of the islands of Greece, in the Mediterranean.

Tom Woods returned from the coast a few days ago. He is on his way back to his Alberta wheat orchard, and will spend a week or two at Enderby before entering on the season's work.

While New York and other eastern states have been shivering in zero weather the past few days, we of the Okanagan have basked in the sunshine and joyfully watched the snow children puddle in the mud.

The Press is asked to extend to the ladies who so generously contributed to the supper on the occasion of the Red Cross masquerade ball, the warm thanks of the ladies of the society who had the affair in hand.

It was with genuine regret that their many Enderby friends bid good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gillman on their departure for Eyebrow, Sask., last Saturday, where Mr. Gillman has the management of the branch of the Union Bank at that point.

Members of the local lodge, K. of P., attended divine services in a body last Sunday evening, and listened to a very instructive and sympathetic discourse on the merits of fraternal orders in general as viewed by Rev. Mr. Beatty, of the Methodist Church.

A very satisfactory attendance characterized the stock judging demonstration and buttermaking lecture held at the Hezelmere Ranch, Grindrod, Tuesday afternoon. T. A. F. Wiancko spoke on dairying and buttermaking, and S. H. Hopkins handled the livestock judging.

The following are the new officers recently installed in Enderby Lodge No. 35, K. of P.: C. C., R. E. Harkins; V.C., W. G. Pell; Prel., Jas. Martin; M. of E., J. Burnham; M. of F., R. J. Coltart; M. of W., Wm. Anderson; K. R. S., G. W. Hughes; M. A., Jno. Folkard; I. G. F. Fravel; O. G., J. N. Grant.

Mr. J. H. Mohr, who has been confined to his bed for the past month, continues to linger in a serious condition. Miss Mohr, of the Vernon Hospital staff, is nursing her father. His many old-time friends will be glad to welcome him on his appearance on the street again with the budding of the spring daisies.

After several years' residence in Enderby, during which time he identified himself with all progressive movements looking to the fuller development of the town and district, Mr. R. C. Attenborough left for Moosejaw, Sask., on Monday, being transferred from the Enderby branch to the Moosejaw branch of the Union Bank of Canada.

The Press has been receiving a number of communications recently, not for publication but to show the good intentions of the senders, similar to the following: "My subscription account may be a little lop-sided. Prop it up with the enclosed $2." It is surprising what a lot of "proping" we can do on two bucks. Try us.

Jack Breedon writes from the front that he is one of a draft to be sent from Bramshott to the trenches in Flanders. He also tells of the death of his father at Brantford, a few weeks ago. Mr. Breedon will be remembered by all who had the pleasure of meeting him on his visit in Enderby some three years ago.

The body of the late Mr. Wm. Moore was brought to Enderby on Monday, from Morse, Sask., where Mr. Moore had recently been on a visit to the home of one of his children, and died on February 15th. Deceased was 72 years of age. Funeral services were held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. C. Grieve, Enderby-Mara road.

Messrs. Joe St. George, Chas. Wallin, P. Gossen, F. Hawes, H. Torrent and Axel Nordlow, all of Mabel Lake Valley, were in town Friday last. All report extensive clearing operations going on in that favored locality this winter. Mr. Hawes was hauling lumber to finish the new home he has erected on the site of that burned down last fall.

Constable Robert Bailey is chief of staff of the water pipe thawing gang. No body knows better than he the history and lineage of every water pipe laid in Enderby, and he can tell to a dot where the freeze-up is to be found. The past week he has pretty well cleaned up the ice pack in the Regent street main. One bursted length had to be replaced in the work thus far finished.

Bread low? See Joe.

The body of the late George E. Campbell was brought to his home in Armstrong last Saturday for burial. Deceased was a bright young man of sterling qualities. He left Armstrong a short time ago to join a battalion forming at Victoria. He failed to pass the medical requirements and at the time of his death was on a visit to Seattle. While on a motor ride with a friend the car was struck by a train and both Campbell and the driver of the car were killed. He was a grandson of Mrs. F. Hassard, and was most popular in the Armstrong community.

Enderby Organizes Branch

At a meeting of a few of the businessmen last Friday evening it was decided to organize a branch of the Returned Soldiers' Aid Commission, to act in conjunction with the Dominion organization caring for soldiers returning from the front, with a view to assisting such men to reinstate themselves in civil life.

It was decided that the mayor of the town should be president of the Enderby branch, and the following officers were elected: Vice-president, Mr. F. S. Stevens; secretary-treasurer, Mr. C. P. Ryan; working committee, to co-operate with the officers, Mr. Winter, Mr. Fulton, Mr. Murphy. Local representatives of the organization, to cover their respective localities, were named as follows: Mr. T. Skyrme, Grindrod; Mr. C. W. Little, Mara; Mr. H. Torrent, Hupel; Mr. F. Hassard, South Enderby; Mr. T. R. Skelton, Hulcar; Mr. Jamieson, Deep Creek; Mr. L. J. Proctor, Northwest Enderby.

For the Patriotic Fund

The dancing class inaugurated early in the winter by Messrs. Harkins & Dugall will close the season with a free dance to be given in K. of P. Hall on the evening of March 2nd. The members of the class are bearing all the expense of the affair, hall, orchestra, etc. During the evening an opportunity will be given to all attending to contribute any amount they may feel disposed, the whole amount of such contributions to be turned over to the Canadian Patriotic Fund. Ladies attending are requested to bring refreshments.

Do Away with Patronage

Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce, and one of the strongest old-line Conservatives in the Ottawa cabinet, last week in the House of Commons made an eloquent appeal to both Liberals and Conservatives to combine and do away with party

---

Teece & Son moved into the Union Bank corner this week and are prepared to serve patrons in their new quarters.

Rev. C. O. Main, Armstrong, will occupy the pulpit in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. R. R. Gibbs left on a business trip to Revelstoke on Wednesday.

Don't fail to see the concluding episode of The Master Key, Friday and Saturday, at the Opera House.

A Patriotic Dance is to be given by the ladies of Mara Feb. 29th, for Red Cross work.

Celestial Apple Cider

Tuesday night City Constable Bailey and Provincial Constable Patton, arrested Wing Chung and Sam Kee for selling liquor known as apple cider to Indians. For some months past this apple cider business has been booming and some time ago an Indian was arrested and fined for being drunk, though he had been imbibing in nothing stronger than hard apple cider. There was reason to believe that the cider was being "doctored," and so the authorities began to take notice. The other day Wing added eight kegs of cider to his stock, and the Indians began to gather around as flies hug a molasses barrel. They took it by the glass, by the bottle and by the little brown jug or any other color. Wing and Sam had to put up $100 bail to await an analysis of samples of the cider found on the Indians as they were coming out of the door of Wing's and Sam's places of business.

Rowdyism Not Bravery

Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia, a few days ago, presumably as the outcome of the riots at Calgary and at Berlin the past week or two, addressed these words to recruits now in training in Canada: "Neither rowdyism nor ruffianly misconduct are discipline. Nor do either become a soldier. Such action may find no place in the Canadian service. The donning of a uniform does not exempt any from their bounden duties and responsibilities as respectable citizens. On the contrary, being in uniform should be, and, in a properly controlled corps, is, guarantee of manly behavior. History proves that the ruffian rarely proves himself the bravest in the presence of the enemy. It is the self-controlled man who proves himself a true soldier, and there must be no yielding to frenzy. . . . This war requires cool heads, firm minds and controlled action, backed up with the best armament."

Darkey's Answer to Prayer

The following proves to be a remarkable answer to prayer. An old darkey, who saw a rather impoverished Thanksgiving Day drawing near, prayed fervently that some kind friend should send him a turkey. He prayed often and long, in fact, he prayed "without ceasing." But the turkey did not materialize and the day was drawing uncomfortably near. The good old colored man at last became convinced that there must be something wrong with the manner of his petition, but his faith never wavered. At last a bright thought occurred to him. He altered the conditions of the prayer and asked that he be sent to get a turkey. This proved more satisfactory. He soon came in with three turkeys.

Double bill of films at the Opera House Friday and Saturday. Two regular shows for the price of one.

Mrs. Barnes, of Merritt, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Logan.

Prices Soaring

Bradstreet's says the cost of living has advanced 45 per cent. in Canada since the war started. We are sure of it. When the war broke out The Press paid 7c a pound for linotype metal. Today it costs 13 1-2 cents, and it can be had only at the pleasure and convenience of the metal people. Similar increases have been made in the cost of all printing papers. "Printer and Publisher" says:

"Paper prices are going up; printing ink prices are up; and prices will go higher. Ink buyers and paper buyers are urged to stock up. Investments now will yield big profits later on."

This advice, if good for the printer, is good for the business man using printed matter. A word to the wise will do.

Mistake Acknowledged

"With regard to Zeppelins," said Mr. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, in the House of Commons a few days ago, "looking back on events, I am sorry that we did not develop that type of vessel, not so much for aggression and defence as for maritime and other scouting. Such airships might have played for us an important part. Certainly, Germany has had an advantage in possessing them. We are doing what we can to remedy this state of things, but I do not pretend that, when we began the race ten years behind the enemy, there is any reasonable probability of catching up. However, something must be done, and what can be done is being done."

Latest War Summary

Petrograd reports an important Russian gain in Mesopotamia, in the capture of the strategic base Erzerum. The garrison troops escaped, but it is reported that 1000 guns were taken.

In Flanders the British lost some 600 yards of first-line positions to the Germans, while in the Argonnes, it is reported that the French have lost some ground to the enemy.

On the other fronts nothing of importance has been reported, either by the Entente Allies or the Teutonic allies.

Can Loan Money on Live Stock

An important financial measure passed its second reading in the Dominion House this week. It is the bill to extend the powers of the banks in making loans to farmers. The bill, in addition to making permanent the legislation of last year in regard to loans on seed grain, provides that loans may be accepted on the security of livestock.

The Enderby Tobacco Fund will give a whist drive tonight (Thursday), Feb. 24th, to enable the committee to send parcels of tobacco and comforts to our local soldiers at the front. Four prizes, good supper and dancing; 35c.

B. C. potatoes are now $40 a ton at Alberta points. Few are available. Evaporator plants have cleaned up the surplus supply.

MOVEMENT FOR GOOD ROADS

Eight years ago somebody came to the office of The Press and complained about bad roads. At that time we said: "The unusual part of this complaint is that the person complaining suggests a remedy. In making his complaint he asked why we did not have a good roads society here as they have in the East. And we had to answer "why!" We presume it is because the men who use the roads never have wanted it bad enough. We can have anything in this world if we want it bad enough. When the men who use the bad roads want good roads they will organize a good roads society and get good roads, just as they have done in the East and everywhere else where they have good roads. It's up to the men who use and are content with bad roads. The expenditure of small sums of mony each year in patching up bad roads keeps them bad roads. The only way to make a good road is by starting right—with a good road. Good road societies teach their members and the community that in order to have good roads they must pay for them. And when people are ready to pay for things, in labor and taxes, the rest is easy."

What we said eight years ago we believed. But we have learned since that we gave expression to only half a truth. Since that time the Provincial Government has appropriated something like $40,000 to the Spallumcheen municipality to be spent on the trunk road running through the municipality. The money has been spent. But the trunk road upon which it was spent is less a good road now than it was eight years ago. The money was not thrown away it simply disappeared. What amount has been spent on the trunk road through Enderby-Mara district we are not in a position to say. But whatever it has been, results have not been much better.

Politics and good roads do not go together. It is costing us too much money for what we get in return. And the only way to take the raods out of politics is by organizing good roads societies throughout the Province. This district has long felt the need of such an organization. And the need has ripened into a desire on the part of a number of citizens of Enderby and vicinity. These citizens have been talking it over, and they feel that the only way to place the proposition fairly before the people is by calling a public meeting, to be held in the City Hall, Saturday afternoon, March 4th, at 2.30 p.m., and The Press has been asked to publish the fact. As we understand it, people interested in the good roads movement are urged to leave their politics at home and come prepared to give all the information possible on the good roads movement, with the object of organizing the district with the one object of GOOD ROADS.

How about that good old-fashioned celebration which is due to be held at Enderby May 24th, this year?

Perhaps by the time this cruel war is at an end the world will be ready to demand a religion that will unite men, not divide them.

SPRING-TIME PUSH

In another month the pussy-willows and butter cups and spring daisies will have come, bringing their gladsome message of Spring, and heralding the advent of another season of activity and effort. There is no time quite so good as the present—none so filled with possibilities for the businessman, the mechanic, the farmer or the common laborer. But there are problems all must meet—difficulties all must overcome. To sit down with folded hands and bemoan conditions means ruination. The harder conditions, the more determined must be the effort to win. There can be no failure if the right effort is made. But let it be remembered just at this time that "the line between failure and success is so fine that we scarcely know when we pass it, so fine that we are often on the line and do not know it. How many a man has thrown up his hands at a time when a little more effort, a little more patience, would have achieved success! As the tide goes clear out, so it comes clear in. In business, sometimes prospects may seem darkest when really they are on the turn. A little more persistence, a little more effort, and what seemed hopeless failure may turn to glorious success. There is no failure except in no longer trying. There is no defeat except from within, no really insurmountable barrier save our own inherent weakness of purpose."

The enemy will never hoist the white flag for you—you must do that yourself.

Help yourself. When you do everybody will be ready to help you.

MORE DEFINITE AGRICULTURAL POLICY

There can be no doubt that the general opinion, in agricultural sections at least, is in favor of the policy which Premier Bowser has declared in favor of—that of establishing a separate Department of Agriculture. This step, the Victoria Colonist declares, constitutes a part, and a very important part, in Mr. Bowser's administration. With a separate Department of Agriculture, and a minister at its head whose duty it shall be to devise lines of useful activity, there would then be some chance of inaugurating a broader, more definite, policy than has yet been followed in this direction. The Colonist, we think, puts it about right when it says: "In some respects agriculture in British Columbia is decidly an infant industry. Except in certain localities it has been in the nature of an incidental occupation rather than a business, and this is true of a great number of people who have no other means of livelihood than their own labor. We have a very efficient permanent staff in the Department as now constituted. We do not think its efficiency is at all fully appreciated by the public. But the experience of all the provinces has been that a minister, who is directly responsible to the representatives of the people and through them to the people, is absolutely necessary if agriculture is to be promoted as it ought to be."

COURAGE REQUIRED

It is a mistake to accept as a fact the theory that dull times are necessarily a characteristic of war conditions. Nor is it reasonable to declare that war does not bring in its train serious depression. The thing we are getting at is this: In times of depression, business in any community becomes just what the businessmen of the community conclude to make it. Successfully meeting accepted periods of depression requires courage. This courage, however, is what every business man needs—without it one might as well quit. To sit down with folded hands and declare that because of war conditions it is useless to attempt to get more business than is forced to come to one's door, is bad policy. One must have courage to believe in a bigger and better season of activity than we ever had. The businessman who has the courage to so believe—and goes after it—soon will have many followers. Courage to go after it—courage to stay with it—courage to get it.

OVER TWO BILLION POUNDS STERLING

A London dispatch says financial circles are keenly interested in Premier Asquith's coming demand for a new appropriation of four hundred and twenty million pounds sterling for war purposes, bringing the total British war expenditure up to two billion eighty-two million pounds. It is generally thought that the rumored addition of six hundred million pounds to the national debt will not cause much disturbance of the money market, although financiers and statesmen recognize that the payment of interest, now amounting to approximately one hundred and fifty million pounds sterling annually, will involve a great strain on the national resources for the next thirty years, even if nothing is later added to the burden. The general view prevails, however, that the nation will unite in making a success of the Government's efforts to pay its way, and this feeling is strengthened by the apparent national prosperity disclosed by the estimated national revenue returns, which amount for the year to about three hundred and forty million pounds.

Butter Wrapper Parchment

The Dominion law against the selling of butter without the words "Dairy Butter" or "Creamery Butter"—as the case may be—printed on the butter wrap, is a blessing in disguise to the average farmer. In the first place, if his Butter wrappers are neatly printed with his name and the brand of the butter on the label, the storekeepers can readily sell the butter at 5c a pound more than he can get for butter wrapped in paper that is not printed, and the butter-maker gets the advantage in 5c a pound more for his butter from the merchant.

It is the duty of every butter maker to comply with the law in this matter. Some butter makers have only a cow or two, and make so little butter that it does not appear to them that they can afford to have their butter wraps printed. They do not like the idea of having 500 or 1000 butter wraps on hand. To accommodate this class of butter makers, The Press has printed up a quantity of "Custom" Butter Wraps. They are printed with the words "Fresh Dairy Butter" but do not bear the name of the maker. However, these wrappers fill the requirements of the law governing this point, and can be bought in small quantities at the rate of 50c a hundred in 100 or 50 lots. If you do not repuire butter wraps in larger lots, take these wraps in lesser quantities.

List of Bulletins Issued by Department of Agriculture

The publicity end of the Department of Agriculture, Victoria, says:

There are hundreds interested in agriculture in this district, many of whom have given much study and thought to the work, and again there are some who have not had the opportunity of studying the land problems as perhaps they desired. Much has been written on agricultural subjects, and the numerous books, bulletins and circulars which are in circulation have all filled a want, which has been appreciated beyond measure by the farmers of the country. And perhaps there is no more popular series of agricultural bulletins and circulars available than that issued by the Department of Agriculture at Victoria by the officials of the department.

A list of the publications of the department is given below, and any of these will be sent free by writing to the Department of Agriculture and stating what bulletins and circulars are desired. Any of the bulletins are well worth the expense of a postage stamp. This list is complete to date. Check off the bulletins and circulars you want and mail your request. No charge whatsoever is made for the publications. After checking the list, do not destroy it. Cut it out and reserve it for future reference:

Complaints have been heard that, since the Department of Agriculture discontinued its policy of sending its literature direct to the members of the Farmers' Institutes, but sends it for distribution to the several secretaries of the local branches, of the Institute, very few of the members ever receive the documents when issued.

A MAN

This article—A Man—so nearly meets the ideal that we wish to pass it on for the good it may do:

A man keeps himself clean and neat out of regard for others, but on occasions is ready to get as dirty as work or play may require.

He eats heartily, but only such and so much food as will keep him in most effective working and playing condition.

He foregoes liquor and tobacco whenever they would mean either deterioration for himself or destruction of those weaker than he.

He takes all the amusement and fun he can get without annoyance or degradation of others or enervation of himself.

He spends freely for what he enjoys, and saves for a rainy day; yet holds all his spending and saving subject to the claim of persons and causes more needy or worthy than he.

He stoutly and bravely defends with all there is in him whatever he stands for; yet would rather be called a coward than do a foolish or foolhardy thing to avoid it.

He looks out shrewdly for his customer, creditor, employer or employees.

He tells the truth in kindness to all who have a right to hear it.

He makes the future as real as the present, and treats present and future, both for self and for others, as one.

He is orderly for the most part, and disorderly on special occasions, as the pleasure and convenience of all concerned may require.

He talks frankly about unpleasant facts when necessary, but keeps silent about them when talk would serve no good social purpose.

He is polite with an inner politeness born of a desire to give pleasure rather than pain.

He has at heart the welfare of all with whom he associates, living at peace with them so far as he can, and fighting fairly when peace cannot be honorably maintained.

He is loyal to his group and his friends when he can be loyal to them without being false to himself.

He thinks little of his attainments, but much of his aims, deriving humility from the former and self-respect from the latter.

He treats in though, word, and deed all women and girls as he would wish others to treat his own mother or sister.

He is as kind and helpful to those who wrong him as he can be without being misunderstood, and ready to forgive them the instant they repent.

He devotes himself to his friends and companions as so many extensions of himself, and takes as much delight in their happiness and success as in his own.

He regards himself as a member and servant of the one social whole, and holds the social claim above individual inclination whenever the two conflict.

COMING CONVENTION OF FRUIT GROWERS

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the B. C. Fruit Growers' Association will be held in the Empress Hotel, Victoria, on March 6th and 7th, when many matters of vital importance to the industry will be discussed by the delegates from all the fruit growing sections of the Province. It is expected that this convention will eclipse any yet held by the fruit growers, because of the important work done by the executive in bettering transportation facilities, in securing an increased duty on apples, and in advertising the products of the Province to the consuming public on the prairies and at the coast. The membership of the association is at present the largest in its history, despite the fact that so many prowers have enlisted for Overseas service. The latest important legislation which the association has been instrumental in getting put through is that increasing the import duty on apples to 90 cents a barrel, or 30 cents per box.

MONEY VALUE OF AN EDUCATION

What is the money value of an education? The average reduced to individual cases would be something like this: Two boys, age 14, are both interested in mecahnics. One goes into the shops, the other into a technical school. The boy in the shops starts at $4 a week, and by the time he is 18 he is getting $7. At that age the other boy is leaving school and starting to work at $10 a week. At 20 the shop-trained young fellow is getting $9.50 and the technical graduate $15; at 22 the former's weekly wage is $11.50 and the latter's $20; and by the time they are both 25 the shopworker finds $12.75 in his pay envelope while the technical-trained man draws a salary of $31. These figures are based on a study by the Educational Bi-monthly of 2,000 actual workers.

DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS ENLIST

During the past fortnight four officials of the Department of Agriculture at Victoria have joined units preparatory to going Overseas. The call of duty was too loud to be prolonged, with the result that now the 5th Canadian Garrison Artillery is four men stronger, by the addition of Messrs. Henry Rive, Wm. Newton, G. L. Foulkes and W. H. Robertson, who have been connected with the department for some time. They are now training at Work Point Barracks, taking the course of instruction before leaving with a draft for duty in France.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent of sub-Agent of the district in which rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights as may be considered necessary for the working of the mine, at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

DECLINE SUBSTITUTES

Whale of a Wallop

A demure looking Salvation Army lassie, who was traveling in a railway train, was asked by a man sitting next her whether she belived every word in the Bible.

"Yes," she replied, "I do."

"Surely," exclaimed the man, "you don't believe that Jonah was swallowed by a whale?"

"I do," she answered, "and when I get to heaven I'll ask him about it."

"But suppose he's not in heaven?" inquired the stranger, with a sneer.

"Then you ask him!" was the Salvation Army girl's reply.

Efficient Work of Red Cross

The following extracts from a letter received by a Red Cross worker from her son will lighten the heart of many another Red Cross worker who, while never doubting the efficiency of the Red Cross ,cannot help wondering whether the work accomplished fulfils its destined end:

My dear Mother: Received a long and interesting letter from you yesterday. I was delighted to hear from you, and your description of Christmas, etc., was inclined to make me feel that I wished I was at home at that time. I am glad to know you are still so active in Red Cross work. I must tell you what little I know about the Red Cross work over here. No doubt you often wonder what becomes of all the things the various societies send over. I think the Red Cross method of distribution is the best of any of the various societies. Those little boxes and parcels of comforts which are sent to officers and N. C. O.'s and given out to a man at exactly the minute he wants it, do more good than anything else. The Sergt. Majors know just where to give a thing when it is most needed.

While we were at Otterpool Camp with the 22nd Battery we were continually wet, and the mud was far worse than on Salisbury Plains. There we were for nearly two months in the wettest and muddiest camp in England. We were in special need of things, as it rained five days out of seven, and we were in tents. One day a few of us senior non-coms. got a wagon and went over to Monk's Horton Convalescent Home. There the Capt. Quartermaster, who had some Red Cross comforts, gave us about everything we asked for. Speaking of convalescent homes, it is to the Red Cross societies that they have to look for support. There are over thirty Canadian homes in England, and, though the government is very generous indeed with food and medical supplies, it is the Red Cross that really puts the patients on easy street. I was at Bromley Home for a week. They had every possible comfort. There were 150 wounded soldiers then at the Home. The hospitals, you know, are so crowded that just as soon as a man is fit at all he is sent to a convalescent home. This department has really performed some wonderful work. The beds are all good spring beds, with proper mattresses, white sheets and pillow cases, nice wool blankets and warm quilts. Here a man arrives, completely worn out by his trying experiences in the field, and dreadfully weakened by his wounds and operation and the various changes of hospitals, travelling, etc. But once he reaches a convalescent home he is amid the most pleasant surroundings, well looked after by the C. A. M. C. doctors, and with ever possible comfort. Here he stays until he feels fit and willing to return to duty with a reserve unit at Shorncliffe, or return to Canada. Without these homes, backed up by the enormous Red Cross organization, Canada would be filled with cripples, men with stiff joints, rheumatism, perhaps with open wounds, for the next twenty years. As it is there will be plenty of them, but without the homes there would be thousands more. So you see the rewards, or rather results, of the great efforts put forth by the Canadian Red Cross societies, although not now apparent, will be felt right in Canada itself more than any other place. I am sure when the noble women who are working so hard in this noble cause fully realize these facts they will continue in their good work."

Dr. McCullough, dentist, will be in Enderby Feb. 22, 23, 24 and 25th, either in the parlors of the King Edward Hotel or at his former office, over the Northern Okanagan Land office.

One-Step Movement

A simple little one-step movement that won the solid silver Elsie de Wolfe cup, at the Strand Roof Garden, New York, on the night of the contest, described in "quick" phraseology: For the gentlemen: partner counter-part: Walk two steps forward, beginning with the left foot (count 1-2); step on the left foot diagonally forward, (3), close right foot to meet left, (4), step on the left forward, turn half to the left, (5), walk backward on the left, (7) walk backward on the right and complete turn to the left, (8) walk three steps forward, commencing with the left foot (count 1, 2, 3); step to the side on the right (4); close left to meet right (5); step to the side on the right foot (6); close left to meet right (7); pause a fraction of a second and drop over to the right foot (8). Repeat from beginning.

All a Matter of Evolution

Life is all a matter of evolution We grow from a lower form of animal into a higher form of animal, and from a lower thought into a higher. We must ever be willing to reach out after new things, new knowledge, new life, or we will go backward. We cannot stand still. If we will not grow then we cannot know. Nature is kind—extremely kind—but she is just—extremely just—also. She demands that we shall exert an effort to know; then she lets us grow into the knowledge in the most natural way possible—knowledge that was known from the beginning.

There isn't anything new under the sun. We like to think there is, especially when we have evolved an idea that to us looks new, but of a truth there is nothing new. Even in what we are pleased to term our "advanced age" we have not yet reached the stage where man knows himself. The man Jesus knew much more than we about man's weaknesses and his needs—and He lived nearly two thousand years ago.

"Oh, well," you say, "Jesus was divine, and we are only human." Let us not enter into any controversy about the divinity of Jesus, but let me tell you this, dear heart, until we have surmounted this great gulf that man has set up between himself and Jesus Christ man cannot reach the high place set before him by God. What we are so ready to call the divinity of Christ is simply the indwelling of the Great Spirit of Good—God if you will. And this divinity is as much your privilege and mine as it was His. Was Confucius divine, was Theophratus, was Paul, was Aristotle, was Pliny—was any of the hundreds of men who have given so much to the world of thought and truth?

All of these men—and Jesus too—taught the truth about man's physical advancement and coupled it with his spiritual upbuilding. "Know thyself," said Socrates, "Be thyself," said Plato. "Know the world of Nature, of which you are a part," said Aristotle, "and you will be yourself and know yourself without thought or effort. The things you see you are." And Pliny said, "We cannot injure God, but we can injure man. If we love God, the way to reveal that love is in our conduct toward our fellows."

GOD SAVE THE KING

What are you Kicking About

You Men who think you are underpaid?

Don't "cuss" your luck because your pay is small. Don't blame it on the boss. Don't think that the reason others get more pay is that they have more "pull," because IT ISN'T SO!

The men who get big pay are those who are TRAINED to do work that is worth it. You have no special training, and you have to do work any man with two hands can do; therefore your pay is small—and you, only, are to blame.

YOU can earn more—YOU can work with your head instead of your hands—YOU can give orders instead of taking them. No matter what you do, where you live, or how old you are, the International Correspondence Schools can come to you and train you for a better job.

The I. C. S. have many old students holding good jobs in the Okanagan who have made good through their course of home study.

Every year more than five housand persons take the trouble to write to the I.C.S. that their salaries have been increased through this training. These who report are but a handful—tens of thousands of others are benefitted.

For 24 years the I. C. S. have been training men having no education other than ability to read and write, no more time than the odds and ends so commonly wasted, and no more money than the little that could be saved out of small wages.

If you want to be a high-salaried man—to be somebody—PROVE your ambition—

MARK THE COUPON AND MAIL IT NOW!
