UNITED FARMERS

Officers Elected for 1921 and Delegates Appointed to District Meeting.

At the meeting of the United Farmers of Enderby Local last Thursday evening, the election of officers and appointment of delegates to the district convention to be held at Enderby on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 13th, were the principle matters of business coming up. There was a fair attendance, and much interest was shown in the general discussion indulged in on such questions as the result of the recent elections in this riding, and the general good of the farming community.

President Coltart, in his remarks on the outlook for the organization, as a political factor and as an organization looking to the good of the community as a whole, said that while he felt somewhat dissatisfied with the outcome of the recent elections, he did not feel discouraged. He believed there was a demand for the farmer to become a political factor in the public life of the Dominion, and that, as a body, the farmers must get together and stand together so as to make sure of having enough representatives of agriculture in Congress to watch and work in the interest of that portion of the Dominion's citizenship. He felt that there were reasons for the defeat of the Farmer candidate and the Soldier candidate which did not appear on the surface, but which were well understood by anyone conversant with the political moves in the recent campaigns. It would not improve matters to discuss them, but he thought there was much of profit that might be derived from the recent campaign if the farmers would face the facts squarely and seek to profit thereby.

A greater disappointment to him than the defeat of the farmer candidate was the poor financial support which members of the organization gave to their candidate. If the total amount subscribed to the campaign fund in the Provincial election by the farmers of the district were assessed to the entire membership of the various locals of the North Okanagan, he said, it would mean about 2 cents per member. He did not think it was praiseworthy either to the farmers or the returned men's organization, for the candidates to have to be out of pocket, one to the amount of $600 and the other $250 for the legitimate expenses of their campaigns.

Farmers, he said, cannot look to achieve a great deal either in a political way or in the way of marketing their crops, if they expect to play fast and loose with one another or decline to put up the legitimate costs that must be incurred to get anywhere.

In the election of officers the following were chosen: R. J. Coltart, president; Richard Blackburn, vice-president. Directors: R. E. T. Forster, A. L. Glen, J. H. Morris, Chas. Garden, Chas. Parkinson. Auditor, A. E. Robertson.

It was decided that some remuneration should be paid the secretary. This was left in the hands of the directors, whose duty it is to appoint a secretary and fix the amount of remuneration.

In accepting the office of president a second term, Mr. Coltart stated that it was the duty of the membership to give to the executive of their organization their undivided support. It should be the aim, and was the duty of the members to attend the meetings of their Local at least once a month, for the exchange of ideas and in order to keep in touch with the work of the organization. Membership fees should be paid promptly, and it should be the pride of every member to see that his Local is in a financially sound condition so as to enable it to accomplish its objects in the interest of the agricultural industry in its relation to the general welfare of the community.

Mr. Blackburn, as vice-president elect, pledged his undivided support to President Coltart, as did also the newly-elected directors.

The following were named as delegates to the District Convention to be held in Enderby next Thursday afternoon: A. D. Glen, J. H. Morris, Jas. Logan, Robt. Garden, Mrs. Geo. Andrews, Wm. Anderson, R. E. T. Forster, R. Blackburn, M. Dresching, R. J. Coltart, J. E. Gilders, Geo. H. Smedley, Wm. J. Woods, A. L. Glen, Mrs. D. Jones.

It was decided to bring on the next public entertainment by Enderby Local on the night of the 13th, in the form of a basket social, to be followed by a dance.

MARA ITEMS

A very enjoyable dance was given on New Year's eve, and was enjoyed by quite a number of local residents.

MacPherson-Fountain Marriage.

Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. MacPherson, a quiet wedding was solemnized by the Rev. John W. Stott, by which Miss Luella Fountain, late of Boston, Mass., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Fountain, became the bride of our enterprising young townsman, Mr. John MacPherson. The wedding was a very quiet affair, Miss Fountain arriving from the east only a day or two before. The bride was beautifully dressed in an appropriate queen of satin gown with bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

Black-Leatherdale Nuptials.

A quiet home wedding was performed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Pell, Vernon, on New Year's Day, the Rev. J. Lennox Fraser officiating, when their daughter Miss Imogene Stuart Leatherdale became the wife of Mr. George Elmer Black. Both the bride and groom are well known in Enderby where Mr. Black has resided a number of years, and Mrs. Black was a resident before going to Vernon a few years ago. We are happy to say that Mr. and Mrs. Black are now residents of Enderby and will continue to be, Mr. Black being employed by E. B. Dill.

A Bed for Wornouts to Lie In

Ottawa, Dec. 30.—There are eight vacancies in the senate, and it is understood that about half of these will be filled before the opening of the coming session of parliament, the balance being reserved for members of the House who desire to retire.

Of the vacancies to be filled now there will probably be one appointment in Nova Scotia, one or two in British Columbia and one in Saskatchewan.

WARM WAVE COMING.

Foster's forecast is that during the first part of the week centering on January 12 a great warm wave coming from that cold northern country of Alaska, will cover all the northern Rockies. Within two days it will cover all the Rockies to the Mexican line, and all the lowlands east of Meridian 90 and the Mississippi River and south to the Gulf of Mexico. It will move southeastward covering the Great Lakes and south to Cuba by January 14, and then northeastward. Following a day or two behind this great warm wave will come a moderate storm wave, and behind that a moderate cool wave. This disturbance will have great energies, which will be expended in causing warm weather, and the heat will hold the moisture, so that a moderate amount of precipitation only may be expected with but little snow even in northern sections.

The other night, about 11:30, a tourist in a flivver, with curtains drawn, came east on Maple Street through town, says the Columbus Advocate. He only had one lamp burning, on the right side. As he approached the Brooks Hotel corner, the driver did not notice the stone marker, and he slammed squarely against it, pushing the marker about twelve feet. The shock put out the other light on the car, and the driver got out to see what he had hit. He examined the obstruction, and exclaimed to his companion: "My Gawd, Bill! We're in a graveyard. We've just hit a tombstone!"

Not by the Senses

An American with gushing enthusiasm was describing his new car to an English visitor. "It runs so smoothly," he said, "you can't feel it. Not a bit of noise, you can't hear it. Perfect ignition, you can't smell it. And speed, why it simply whizzes, you can't see it."

"My word," exclaimed the awed Britisher. "How do you know the bally thing is there?"

Getting Away from Old Phrases

Getting the right word in the right place often makes wit, while getting the right word in the wrong place becomes humorous. A young preacher having charge of his first funeral knew that it was customary to announce after the service that those who wished might step up to view the remains; but he thought this was a hackneyed phrase, and instead he said: "The congregation will now pass round the bier."

Difficult Walking

"Help! Help!" cried an Italian laborer near the mudflats of the river. "What's the matter there?" came a voice from the construction shanty. "Queek! Bringa da shov! Bringa da peek! Giovanna stuck in da mud." "How far in?" "Up to his knees." "Oh, let him walk out." "No, no. He no canna walk! He wronga end up."

Penticton Hospital is in bad financial shape, owing a sum of between $4,000 and $5,000, to offset which bills due by patients total only $3,000. There is a steady loss on maintenance and the rates may be raised next year.

A sounding by Perry five miles from the North Pole failed to reach bottom after the lead had been let down 9,000.

The first cargo of German paper suits and overcoats has arrived in Chicago from Hamburg, and will be retailed at $2.50 per garment.

Civic Elections

Once more the citizens of Enderby are called upon to select persons to represent them as Mayor and Aldermen and members of the School Board and a Police Commissioner. Time was when candidates for these offices were numerous, and the local contests were occasionally warm if not bitter. How conditions have changed. Today aspirants for municipal honors are few. It has become more a question of the office seeking the man than one of the man seeking the office. This may be a good omen. It may not. In the case of Enderby, so long as we can continue to get the services of such men as have served in past years it is a good thing. All municipalities may not be so favored.

The general indifference in municipal affairs of the average ratepayer may be deplored, but it cannot be explained, nor can it be remedied while the main object of all government—municipal, provincial and Dominion—is and must be for a number of years, the increasing and collecting of taxes in order to meet the conditions and the liabilities already incurred. There can be little if any new work undertaken, and few men have the patience to simply mark time while paying off the debts already contracted.

It is to be hoped that Mayor Barnes and the members of the 1920 council will consent to act for another term. The business of the town is safe in their hands, and they can be trusted to go the limit to make further public improvements if they can be made without adding to the taxation while conditions remain unsettled. In the past term they inaugurated the permanent gravel sidewalk policy. This no doubt may be continued in 1921 to the limit of the town's income for that purpose. They deserve praise for the excellent public service of the past year and should feel that that service has been appreciated by the people of Enderby though public expression of that appreciation may have been lacking.

Enderby Hospital Board

Invitations were issued this week by the Hospital Board to all who contributed to the Hospital Building Fund and the public in general, asking all to attend the formal opening of the new wards just finished, the building of which was undertaken the early part of the year, and to raise the funds for which a hospital drive was put on May 15th to 24th, the total amount subscribed being in the neighborhood of $2,100. The purpose of the Board in extending the invitations, which, we understand, have been issued to every subscriber, is best told in the circular invitation itself:

"Through the generosity of yourself and others, and your kindly co-operation, we have been enabled to complete the erection of the additional wards which were so much needed in order to accommodate those requiring hospital care and treatment, and, at the close of our term of office on the Hospital Board, we desire to let you see the manner in which the money placed at our disposal has been expended.

"In conjunction with the ladies of the Hospital Auxiliary and the Matron, we take this means of extending to you an invitation to the formal opening of the new wards, on Thursday afternoon and evening, January 6th, 1921, beginning at 2 o'clock.

"Refreshments will be served, and you will be given an opportunity to look over the building, and to see for yourself how well we have met your wishes in the matter of addition."

Without the aid and co-operation of the public we are all aware that it would have been impossible for the Hospital Board to have accomplished the splendid improvement recently made; this the members of the Board realize fully. But let us not overlook the fact that to the Board, the Matron and the Hospital Auxiliary there is also due the sincerest words of appreciation from the public. Each has filled a very important function and, through the hearty co-operation of all, Enderby has a hospital that is a credit to the community. It will be up to the public to show that the work of the Board and co-workers is appreciated, and the best way to show that appreciation, it seems to us, is to put in an appearance at the formal opening and give credit where it is due—and when.

Let No Leader Deceive Himself

Men who pretend to be leaders are not justified in taking the position that all talk and all argument against the existing order of things is to be branded "Bolshevism." They would so brand every argument not in line with the class system of the past and present age, and, with this branding, they believe they can silence the cry of the masses and put on the screws to keep them in silence. How they do deceive themselves! But they deceive nobody else.

We have no fear from Bolshevism in Canada. We have nothing to fear from the rule of the people in Canada or any place else. The fear so frequently expressed does not come from the people—here nor anywhere. It comes from the persons and institutions which have been enjoying special privileges and waxing fat; and the fear is not so much for the state as for themselves. Commenting on this phase of the unrest problem, the London Times is quoted as saying:

"There is a vital difference between the attitude of the public now and its pre-war attitude towards unemployment. Before the war unemployment and starvation mitigated by charity, were acceptable. During the war there was work for all, and the women and children of the poorest classes were better fed and better clothed and shod than ever before in the history of the country. Agitators are already asking crudely if the capitalistic system will provide for the proletariat only when the system is fighting for its own existence."

Let it be conceded at once that we have no room for Bolshevism in Canada, if by that term we mean lawbreaking or contempt of law. But if by Bolshevism we mean a condition of mind not in harmony with what we have seen going on in high places, then would it not be better to demand that we shall not have in Canada the conditions that breed contempt of law and law breaking? Before any country can have Bolshevism it must have the conditions that make good citizens contemptuous of law, and the thing to do is not to beery the evil but outroot the thing that causes the evil.

Class Rights vs. Individual Merit

Men everywhere will agree with Premier Meighen when he said in a speech before the Law Society of Manitoba the other day that "the period we are passing through now is something of an enigma, but this can be said of it, that there is a greater tendency to class consciousness, to a belief in class interest and to a reliance on class organization than in any previous age. I say this without special reference to farmers. The tendency is general. Indeed, we are becoming organized and inter-organized until such a thing as individuality is well-nigh forgotten, and the air is thick with assertions of class rights. I wish we had today more plain Canadians, men and women who depend for success on themselves, on the excellence of their own work, on individual courage and enterprise and thoroughness, and who reason out their convictions on public questions in the good old way as citizens of Canada and not as members of any class or group."

This is all very true. But did it never occur to men of Premier Meighen's type that the spirit of class organization is only bringing home and into civil life the spirit that dominated the world on the battlefield for the past half decade? That spirit was drilled into the men in the field, at the bench, behind the counter, in the counting house—everywhere. And does anyone believe that that spirit of class organization can be eliminated with the changing of the clothes? Or conditions? Class organization is here to stay. This must be recognized and reckoned with.

The War to End War

Yes, everybody knows that the Great War was fought to end war. Politicians, preachers and statesmen told us so. It was to be the last war. As soon as Germany was beaten then peace would come upon a new world and everything would be lovely. The military spirit would be killed off; armaments would cease; naval construction and coast fighting machines would be a thing of the past. Sweet Democracy—pure and undefiled—would be supreme, in a world made safe for it. As for the men who did the fighting in the Great War, all had their fill of it and were prepared to accept the word of the diplomats and leaders who told them so. But what have we seen in Europe since peace was declared? Wars to make war; diplomacy, deep and dark, engaged in intrigues that can have but one ending—more war. Increased navy building; greater development in the art to make war, and enlarged facilities for the manufacture of poison gas—now adopted by all nations as the legitimate thing in warfare. In England this industry is flourishing; in France the same and in America, we are told in a press dispatch that "a poison gas so deadly and powerful that a single charge of it from a bomb thrown from an airplane over a city like New York would in ten minutes exterminate the entire population of five million human beings—such a gas, it is claimed, has been discovered by the experts who have been devoting themselves to this specialty. Its formula, so important in its frightfulness, is known to only two men, both living and working in Washington."

With the Prince on Two Tours

WHY I PREFERRED THE CANADIAN TOUR.

(By Ernest Brooks, the King's Photographer).

"Which of the two tours accomplished by the Prince of Wales was the best from your point of view?" On many occasions since my return to England, this question has been asked me, and always in reply I have said, "My point of view is that of a Press Photographer, and speaking as such I have no hesitation in saying that the three months tour in Canada was decidedly the best."

My answer has evoked no small amount of surprise, and has invariably resulted in another query being put—"Why?"

To that query I have replied, "Because in Canada I had excellent facilities for doing the work I went to accomplish. Thanks to those facilities I obtained far better pictures than I was able to obtain on the last tour with the Prince of Wales."

Comparisons are, I know odious, and if in the following brief statement of facts I draw comparisons between events which happened in Canada on the last tour, I trust that my friends who so nobly assisted me in Australia and New Zealand will not take offence. Facilities to things. Rob the camera man of the facilities for taking his picture, of the facilities for developing his negatives, of printing from his developed plates, and of dispatching immediately his finished prints to the hundreds of newspapers and magazines who are clamouring to reproduce the pictures, and you have robbed him of his all. Give him facilities for taking the pictures, and leave it at that, you have crippled him, and handicapped him terribly. So, I am afraid I was handicapped in Australia and other parts of the Empire which I visited on the last Royal Tour. I do not say that I was intentionally handicapped. Far from it. I believe that those responsible for the arrangements in Australia and New Zealand were as anxious to help in the work of obtaining permanent records in picture form of the incidents of the tour as were those whom I met in Canada. What I say is that largely owing to lack of experience, many details which by the "outsider" were regarded as purely minor details were overlooked, and owing to a variety of circumstances, I found myself working under very considerable handicap. As a Press Photographer it is my aim to produce the best possible results, to give to the public and to hand down to future generations "speaking" picture records of the incidents of the historic world tours of "Our Young Man." With the picture results of the Canadian tour, thanks to the splendid

"hold up" developing them until the weather became cooler. During the voyage I dreamed fond dreams of happier times in Australia, and anticipated the good time I would have working in a well-equipped dark room on board the Royal Train. But alas! my dreams were rudely shattered, for on the Royal Special there was no provision for a Press Photographer, nor was it possible to "rig up" a dark room, since the journey through Australia was accomplished by trains over varying railway gauges. Each State in the Commonwealth appeared to me to have adopted a different gauge so that the rolling stock of one system was useless over another system's track. I quickly gave up all hope of being able to develop and print my own negatives during the journey and entrusted the work to others when I could find people who were ready to undertake the task.

It is a fairly easy matter to find dark rooms and operators in the large cities and towns like Melbourne and Sydney, but it was by no means a small undertaking when we got "into the wilds."

During the tour we seldom remained more than a couple of days in or near the smaller towns, and very naturally during our stay all business was suspended and every moment given up to a whole-hearted "joy-making." Since it was essential that I should ever have my camera ready it was obvious that I could not shut myself up in a dark room for hours, and since every other man was "joy-making," it was hardly to be conceived that the local photographer would readily forego his pleasures for the sake of developing my plates. So it came about there were endless delays in getting my pictures to the press. Often during the Australian tour I would work all day with the camera, and spend all the night shut up in the dark room of a local photographer, professional or amateur, doing my best to make up for lost time. I was very nearly caught "napping" at Bridgetown when we met with the accident. We had only just left the station, the train moving at not more than 10 miles an hour when the accident happened. Happily at Bridgetown I had not exposed all my plates, and I was sitting down resting before going to my sleeping compartment to change some plates when I heard a curious smashing, grinding noise. Then an attendant came running into the carriage shouting: "My God, the Prince's coach is overturned." I jumped up and to my horror saw that true enough the coach in which facilities I was afforded by the C. P. R., and all the Dominion officials, I am satisfied, and the public too, I believe, was satisfied. But with regard to the results achieved on the last Royal Tour I cannot speak with such confidence. Frankly I am disappointed, but I have this consolation, I know the pictures obtained were the best under the circumstances. During the three months tour with the Prince of Wales in Canada, I worked under positively ideal conditions. The C. P. R. Royal Train contained a splendidly equipped dark room, and everything was so appointed that at times one forgot one was on board a train, travelling in the far west. One imagined one was back in a well appointed London studio. Never once did I have to trouble myself regarding the dispatch of my prints. Once they were ready, willing hands attended to the duty of dispatch. So smoothly did the arrangements proceed that during the whole of the Canadian tour not a single day passed but I was able each night to place in the possession of the Royal Suite a complete set of the pictures which I had taken, and not once did I miss the mail with the pictures for which the Press of the World was clamouring. One anticipates certain difficulties when travelling thousands of miles, difficulties are part and parcel of the Press Photographer's life, and they have to be overcome. But one above all else which from my point of view made the Canadian tour so thoroughly successful and so thoroughly enjoyable was the conspicuous absence of the "difficulties to overcome."

To deal with my difficulties on the last tour, I must commence with the wonder-warship H. M. S. "Reveron." When I got aboard her I discovered to my horror there was no dark room wherein I could work. Thanks to the generous assistance of the officers of the ship I succeeded in "rigging up" a dark room in a gun support. Heavens! what a dark room it was. Built of solid steel, exposed on the outside to the glare of the tropical sun, with no possible ventilation once the door was shut, it was worse than working by the side of a furnace. How many times I was forced when in the tropics to beat a hasty retreat from my dark room, gasping for breath. I would not dare to tell, nor would I dare to disclose the number of plates which suffered in consequence of my retreat. But an even worse difficulty presented itself than the furnace-like dark room. My chemicals got warmed up to such an extent that often I did not dare use them, and I could not get a bit of ice on board the ship to bring the temperature of the fluids down to anything approaching normal. So, rather than risk spoiling scores of valuable historic negatives, I was obliged to the Prince of Wales was riding was lying on its side. By this time the train had stopped and officials were rushing to the rear where the overturned coaches lay. To my intense joy, I heard the well known voice of Lord Louis Mountbatten, shouting "Where's Brooks? He must get a picture of this." I ran along with my camera and was in time to get a snap of His Lordship crawling through the window of one of the overturned coaches. In the excitement of the moment I did a most unheard of thing. I actually exposed one plate twice and did not discover my mistake for some time afterwards. In the accident, the Prince of Wales was the coolest of anyone. He remained until the last inside the overturned coach and when he crawled out he was hugging a thermos flask and gripping an old and favorite briar pipe. His first question was to know whether anyone had been hurt, and on being assured that none had even sustained a scratch he laughed and went back to the wrecked coach to sort out his belongings while I took "snaps" to my heart's content. There was one thing both in Australia and New Zealand about the tour which to me was most noticeable and that was the extraordinary "free and easy" manner of the people. They surged round the Prince and in many places literally mobbed him, so enthusiastic were they in their welcome. In New Zealand particularly I remember the Royal train was "inspected" time and time again. No permits to approach the train were necessary, nor were permits necessary to gain entrance to the railway stations as was the case in Canada. Some thirty or forty press photographers "commandeered" the Royal Special at Auckland and boarding the train travelled with us as far as Rotura where we were held up for the strike. At Rotura there was a little incident which I do not think has been reported. A big country fair was being held, and the Prince one evening entered into the "fun of the fair" riding on the roundabouts, shooting at bobbing eggs, and flinging balls at coconuts. Both at the shooting ranges and coconut shies, the Prince created something of a sensation. A splendid shot with the rifle, H.R.H. wrought havoc amongst the bobbing eggs and the "running door." At one of the coconut shies, after H.R.H. had floored three nuts with three balls and decided to try his luck again the proprietor of shies, not recognizing his Royal patron observed, "ere you, think you're lopping bombs at Jerry again. These are real honest coconuts, not square heads." That evening the Prince returned to the Royal train well laden with coconuts and tawdry charms and prizes from the various shooting ranges and side shows at the fair.

SELFISHNESS CONDEMNED

"Farmers' co-operative organizations have difficulties just as farmers' secret orders have had difficulties. The difficulty is not with the organization but with selfish, designing individuals, seeking and securing membership in the organization."

"The designing man outside of any organization is less dangerous to the organization than the selfish man in the organization. The immoral man in the church does the cause of religion more harm than the most corrupt man out of the church. The selfish leader who compromises for special favors to himself is the man most responsible for the failure of farmer organizations."

"The mistake has been that special interests, politicians and others unfaithful have been severely denounced when found among others, forgetting that these exist among farmers' organizations. Selfishness is to be condemned wherever found. Nothing will ruin an organization sooner than selfishness."

The safest plan in any organization is to cultivate brotherly kindness among the members and keep the selfish from becoming leaders. Members, not those on the outside, are the ones that must be reached in building up a social and business organization. The only safe way is to see that the leaders are honest, capable and in every way worthy of perfect confidence."

ELECTION RETURNS

There will doubtless be a feeling of disappointment among the officers and membership of the United Farmers at the showing made by their candidates in the recent provincial elections, but, considering everything, it is doubtful if even the most sanguine had any good reason to expect much better. The one possible exception was the North Okanagan. There it was felt that the farmer candidate had considerably better than even a chance of winning, and the membership of the district locals were generally confident Mr. Laidman would carry the constituency. A stronger candidate could not have been chosen, and as far as can be learned he put up a splendid fight and was strongly backed up by the organization everywhere. Unknown politically, Mr. Laidman was well known as a business man of the Okanagan, and developed splendid platform strength during the campaign. The Vernon vote was the deciding factor in the fight. It gave Dr. Mac Donald a majority of 435, two hundred more than the majority he was elected by. Such a majority for a Liberal candidate in that city is astonishing, to say the least, in view of the fact that a week before, Mr. Mac

Kelvie, a conservative, got a majority of 364 in the same town, a positive proof that the Vernon vote, at least, was, not a party one. The Okanagan Commoner holds that the vote in North Okanagan was one of the town against the country. We question this view. The Vernon vote rather seems to indicate that the people of that city are strong "home" partisans and voted, not for the government, but for the home man in both Federal and Provincial elections.—B. Increased Newspaper Costs

The Winnipeg Free Press states the position of the publishers of Canada when, telling of its own troubles, it says:

"Newsprint prices for the Winnipeg newspapers for the first six months of 1921 have been announced by the paper company which supplies this market.

The price quoted is 7 cents a pound, or $140 a ton.

"This is an increase of $40 per ton, or 40 per cent. over the price paid for newsprint during the last six months of 1920.

"It is an increase of 75 per cent. over the corresponding price for the first six months of 1920.

"The increase of $40 a ton now announced is alone greater than the total price paid by the Free Press for newsprint as recently as May, 1916.

"The price is f. o. b. the mill, and to it the freight rate must be added. The freight now paid by the Free Press from its source of supply is $19.50, as against $16 a ton paid four years ago. This will make a total cost laid down of $159.50, as against $46.40 in 1916, an increase of $113.10—or over 243 per cent."

Cut in Wages to Lumbermen

Wage cuts of from 15 to 25 per cent. in the lumber mills of the Northwest became effective January 1, in all mills under the Loyal Legion of Loggers and Lumbermen.

The wage reduction will effect 60,000 workmen. Under the new scale common labor will be reduced from $4.40 to $3.60 per day and skilled labor will receive a proportional cut.

The new scale, it is explained, was recently drawn up at a meeting of the trustees of the Four-L organization in Portland. Both employers and employees were represented on the board that made the cut.

Lumber prices are at the lowest level in several years, manufacturers declare.

A similar reduction has been made in wages in all B. C. mills and lumber camps.

WHAT THEY SAID.

Joseph and Isaac went to hear Billy Sunday preach, and after service, as they were going home Joseph said:

"Vell, Isaac, vat you think of him?"
"I didn't like him," said Isaac. "Too much hell. It was hell, hell, hell, all the time. And I don't believe there is any hell, Joseph."

"No hell?" asked Joseph, in amazement.

"No," answered his friend.

"Vell, then, Isaac," said Joseph, "if there is no hell, where is bizness gone?"

Canada's Unemployed

There is less unemployment in Canada today than there was in the year previous to the war, Senator G. D. Robertson, Canadian minister of labor, declared in an address delivered at the session of the fourteenth annual convention of the American Association for Labor Legislation held in New York last week.

Telling of the method by which special arrangements have been secured whereby a workman sent to employment over a hundred miles distant if recommended by a government employment bureau, travels at reduced rates on railways, he stated that more than 30,000 men have been placed in employment at distant points who could not have been provided with jobs within the territory served by the individual office. As a result of this policy, he proceeded, in only 770 cases was it necessary to go outside of Canada to fill employers' requirements despite the fact that applications had been received for permission to import 5000 skilled workers by employers who could not obtain such help locally.

The employment service also served its useful purpose during the winter of 1919-20, he declared, when the federal government rendered aid by way of cash gratuities to unemployed returned soldiers.

"It was estimated that $45,000,000 would be necessary to meet this situation," he said, "but largely owing to precautionary measures against abuse, the amount actually disbursed was less than $5,000,000."

Dealing with present conditions in Canada, Mr. Robertson said:

"During the summer of 1920 every man in Canada willing to work had employment. In October indications of serious contraction in business appeared; not until December, however, was there any substantial amount of unemployment in Canada.

There is sure to be a big demand for skilled and unskilled labor in the building trades this coming year if it is not strangled by further increases in wage demands. Building can not, however, go on extensively if construction costs are to be further increased. Much therefore depends upon the successful adjustment of wage rates for the new year."

When a man would "accept a position," that's a sign he's been to college. When he hunts for a job—that's a sign he's graduated.

Intellectual Courage

Intellectual courage enables one to stand by his opinions, and at the same time to respect the opinions of others.

We find in the printing world many opinions on many subjects. These opinions influence people either directly or by reaction. If a person is young, receptive and plastic, he adopts the opinions he hears for his own, be they right or wrong; but if he is self-assertive, defiant, he forms opposing opinions, and advocates these with great vigor, condemning meanwhile the opinions of others.

We all know the two kinds well. And as ordinarily seen, the fault that is at the foot of both is intellectual cowardice. One man clings servilely to the old ready-made opinions of the trade which he finds, because he is afraid of being called rash and radical; another rejects the traditions of the industry from fear of being thought fearful and timid and a slave. These become the progressives of the times.

Garfield held that if there is one thing upon this earth that mankind loves and admires better than another it is a brave man—it is a man who dares look the devil in the face and tell him he is a devil.
