DOUKHOBORS ARE SENT TO JAIL

Sixteen, 1 Month for Not Registering; Nine, Six Months for Theft

A contingent of Doukhobors from the North Fork district furnished our citizens with plenty of diversion from the ordinary everyday humdrum life this week, and for the first time since the conflict in Europe started the war news had a local competitor.

Early in the week Provincial Constable Stansfield brought down a drove of Douks and lodged them in jail. The next day he came down with an auto overloaded with them. This made sixteen, and they were all confined in the same jail. All were charged with having failed to register in the federal man-power census, and, besides, some of them were also charged with having stolen and destroyed a neighbor's harness.

This particular sect of Doukhobors does not believe in working animals, and by destroying the harness they evidently imagined that they had started an effective propaganda to liberate them.

At the trial before Magistrate Cochrane on Wednesday the sixteen were sentenced to thirty days in the Nelson jail at hard labor. Nine of these were committed for trial before Judge Brown in the county court on a charge of theft.

At a speedy trial before Judge Brown yesterday, the nine offenders charged with theft were found guilty and sentenced to six months in the Nelson jail at hard labor.

The prisoners were taken to Nelson last night by the police authorities. Before entraining they engaged in singing of hymns in a foreign language, and in this they were joined by the visiting Doukhobors.

THE FOURTH YEAR OF THE GREAT WAR

Four years ago today the German kaiser, by declaring war on Russia, kindled a flame that has swept round and round the world, and that, still raging unquenched, threatens not only to consume more lives and more wealth than any previous war, but even to wreck civilization itself, says the Youth's Companion. Scarcely a human being anywhere on the earth can be said to be unaffected by the struggle; four-fifths of the population of the world are citizens or subjects of the nations that are actually belligerent.

In looking back over those four years we find that certain events stand out in each year as landmarks in the progress of the war. The Marne, Ypres, Tannenberg, the Donajec, call to our minds the mighty strokes with which during the first year Germany tried to beat down France and Russia; terrible blows that forced its enemies to give ground, but that failed of complete success. Gallipoli, Verdun and Serbia are the names that suggest the striking events of the second year—the inability of either side to force home a decisive attack upon the the other, the tragical failure of the entente policy in the near east and the consequent destruction of little Russia.

The battle of the Somme, Bagdad, the submarine campaign, the Russian revolution and the entrance of America into the war are the significant incident of the third year, in which Germany, forewarned of the Russian collapse, dared in its faithlessness and its cruelty to challenge not Europe only but the whole world to battle, and in which Britain regained in Mesopotamia the prestige it lost in the Dardanelles.

The fourth year is memorable for the events of which Brest Litovsk is the symbol, for the Italian reverse at Caporetto, for the capture of Jerusalem, for the great battles in Picardy, Flanders and Champagne, and for the appearance on the battlefields of a great American army. We have seen the Russian nation, the Slav peoples—nay, even democracy and humanity itself—betrayed by the narrow-minded and tyrannical Bolsheviki; we have seen German ambition for empire in the east satisfied, for the moment at least, beyond the fondest dreams of four years ago. We have seen Germany make a mighty attempt to win by arms in the west what the folly of its enemy surrendered in the east, and we have seen that attempt foiled—partly, we are proud to say, by the bayonets of our own brave soldiers. We have seen a million American troops with all their supplies transported across three thousand miles of sea and landed safe in France, an exploit that our enemies believed impossible and our friends doubtful.

There must be a fifth year of the great war, perhaps a sixth or even a seventh. The world has not yet paid in blood the full price of its deliverance from the domination of the sword. The swaggerers of Berlin think that they have won in the east and believe that they are at least invincible in the west. They tell their people that the victory is won, that it only remains for the allies to admit their defeat. But on the threshold of the fifth year we see signs that cheer us. We do not believe that the war is finally won even in the east. We do not believe that Russia will forever be untrue to the cause of humanity or that she will submit forever to the tyranny of the German. We do not believe that the kaiser's army is invincible in the west. When there is an army of two million Americans on the fighting line shoulder to shoulder with the French and the British soldiers, we hope to see it demonstrated that Might which has the Right behind it can accomplish what Might alone has found impossible.

The Bank of Commerce has issued a new fifty-dollar bill to commemorate its fiftieth anniversary. We could give a very enthusiastic description of the bill if the bank would send a sample to our office.

The commemoration of the fourth anniversary of the commencement of the Great War will be observed in this city on Sunday, August 4, by a public joint remembrance service on the court house lawn at 11 o'clock in the morning. Rev. Gordon Tanner of the Methodist church and Rev. P. C. Hayman of the Anglican church will conduct the service.

SHIP CHROME FROM CASCADE

Stewart-Calvert Company Said to Have Shipped 150 Tons

A report from Cascade says that the Stewart-Calvert company has already made two shipments from its chrome property. One of these shipments was to Pittsburg and the other to Niagara, Ont. The total number of tons shipped was 150, and another of 100 tons is waiting to be moved.

The same company is said to have closed negotiations with W. S. Phillips for a bond on similar property adjoining the one now being worked by them.

Operations thought to be on the Wolverton, adjoining the claims being mined by the Stewart-Calvert company, were discovered to be taking place near the line of the latter property. Engineers who were surveying the Stewart Calvert claims made the discovery, and it is said that the company claims about fifty tons of the ore.

Making Forests Fireproof

People are becoming aware of the tremendous loss to Canada through forest fires. Fires is not the necessary accompaniment of settlement and can be stopped. The cost of equipment and patrol necessary to stop fires amounts to only a small fire insurance premium on the value of the forest. How fires are caused, the influence of the weather, and what amount of damage they do are told in Bulletin 64, "Forest Fires in Canada, 1914-16," just issued by the Director of Forestry. This is the first attempt on systematic lines to give the statistics of fires for the whole of Canada and to classify their causes. By this means the most prolific sources of fires are shown so that means may be applied for their prevention. Those interested in this subject will receive a copy of this bulletin free upon application to the Director of Forestry, Ottawa.

The New Trench Helmet

American shock-absorbing helmets are now being worn by Uncle Sam's soldiers in France, and although they were but recently perfected, the armies of the allies have already adopted them. They are a great improvement over the inverted "washbasin" originally brought into use by the Prussians, and adopted by all combatants during the first year of the war. The description of them would lead the reader to imagine the familiar football headpiece may have given the inventor his first idea.

According to a writer in the Illustrated World, the innovations consist of rubber cushion shock-absorbers, an inner helmet to which the metal covering is affixed and a protection for the eyes and nose. When putting on this headpiece, the soldier first dons a skullcap of soft felt, covered with smooth oilcloth on the outside. The cap snaps by a hook-and-eye arrangement to the visor of the metal helmet itself. That is the only attachment, so that when a headpiece is struck by a bit of shrapnel or other missile it can give way glancingly to the blow. Anything except a smashing, direct hit is completely deflected.

The soft skullcap lessens the shock and to give added protection soft rubber pads are inserted beneath the metal to keep the heavy jar from causing concussion of the brain. A wide, sloping brim protects the neck, and a metal nose guard protects the eyes, nose and temples.

Private Correspondence to Enemy Territory

Private correspondence for destination in territory occupied by the enemy—excepting enemy occupied Belgium and the enemy occupied parts of France—may now be addressed direct in the ordinary way instead of being forwarded through an authorized intermediary. Such correspondence, however, must only deal with private news, and will be subject to censorship. Items which contain any information whatever in regard to military, economic or political conditions obtaining in Canada or in any allied countries, or which contain undesirable information of any kind, will be detained.

Business communications from Canada to destinations in territory which has been certified enemy territory under the Trading with the Enemy Proclamation require a license from the secretary of state for Canada.

Correspondence intended for destinations in enemy countries (as distinct from enemy occupied territory), or to those destinations in enemy occupied Belgium and enemy occupied France to which correspondence may be forwarded, may still be sent through the medium of Thos. Cook & Son, 530 St. Catherine St., West, Montreal. Application should be made to Thos. Cook & Son, Montreal, for information in this connection.

In the Hands of the Enemy

There was a man in Bozeman, Montana, who will probably go through life bemoaning the injustice of the draft board that certified him for service in spite of the fact that he presented a letter written by his wife to prove that he had a dependent family. Here is the letter:

Dear United States Army. My husband ask me write to a reekomend that he supports a family. He can not read so don't tell him. Jus take him. He ain't no good to me. He ain't done nothing but play the fiddle and drink lemmen essence since I married him, eight years ago, and I got to feed seven kids of his. Maybe you can get him to carry a gun. He is good on squirrels and eatin'. Take him and welcum I need the grub and his bed for the kids. Don't tell him this, but take him.

Sergt. Percy Taylor, who is at present in England recovering from wounds, is expected to leave for home soon.

ALLIES ARE STILL GAINING GROUND

A Day of Calm Is Followed by Another Mighty Blow

After a short period of relative calm on the Soissons-Reims salient, the central and western sections of the battle front again have been the scenes of mighty struggles.

On both sides the allied forces have achieved notable gains of ground, which, observed on the war maps, seemingly place the German armies on the front of them in a precarious position.

In battles extending from the region immediately south of Soissons to the northwest at Fere-en-Tardenois and southwest to the last named town over the upper portion of the left branch of the "V" salient running ten miles eastward from Nesles to Ville-en-Tardenois and with St. Gemme as its southern base, French, British and American troops have pushed back the armies of the German crown prince.

Northwest of Fere the entire elbow of the line where it turned eastward along the northern bank of the Ourcq has been blotted out, making the line a straight one from Fere to Hartennes and giving the allies much better ground over which to work in further outflanking Soissons on the southeast and for pressing on toward Fismes in conjunction with the troops, particularly the Americans, now holding strategic points north and northeast of Fere.

Since the battle of the Marne began, July 15, the allies have taken more than 34,000 German prisoners.

Entrance Examinations

The results of the high school entrance examinations held in June last were announced from Victoria last week. The Grand Forks public school had an unprecedentedly good record. Twenty-five candidates were passed without examination on the recommendation of Principal Glaspell, while two wrote and passed the examinations, thus making a 100 per cent pass list. The twenty seven pupils qualifying for entrance to the high school were:

Donald Laws, Noble Padgett, Jennie Millar, Cecelia Lyden, Corena Harkness, Helen Massie, Isabel Bowen, Isabel Glaspell, Brenda Humphreys, Teddy Cooper, Hope Benson, Vernon Siddall, Howard DeCew, Aleeta Nichols, Kenneth McArdle, George Hodgson, Gladys Byenton, Vera Donaldson, Margaret Michener, Muriel Spraggett, Winnie Smyth, Margaret Fowler, Julia Downey, Ethel Wright, Maie Sroyth, Willie Sharp, Ray Forrester.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 2, 1918

It is rather early in the season to commence to discuss city politics. Some people, however, have to talk for about six months before they say anything. This may be sufficient cause for our contemporary bringing up the subject last week.

Under favorable conditions a reduction of the aldermanic representation in the city government might be desirable, and if all men were angels the experiment might even result in a substantial saving to the ratepayers. But the proposed plan of reducing the representation to two members is also fraught with some dangers. In the past we have known a council that required four of its members to watch two of their fellow-aldermen. A council composed of only two members might be elected in the future of the latter class of men. Then the city would have to pay dearly for its experiment. There is only the danger that a two-man council would become more or less of a family affair. It certainly could be brought more easily under the influence of the beneficiaries of the city, whose only interest in the city is to get all they can out of the city treasury. This possibility should be guarded against when a change is contemplated. An honest desire to reduce the administrative cost of the civic government is praiseworthy, but it should not be done at the expense of efficiency, or in such a manner that it would tempt our officials to practice graft. If the ratepayers want the administrative expenses reduced, and wish the members of the council to serve free, they should secure a pledge to this effect from the candidates at election time, and then make them live up to that pledge. In the meantime we shall look with suspicion on any reform movement fostered by a beneficiary of the city, as we believe it is only an attempt to get the patronage of the city more firmly under his control.

The Sun has now survived four years of the great war without resorting to price-raising and profiteering. The task of keeping alive has been accomplished without the aid of lottery fakes to secure subscriptions. Neither have we been compelled to advertise the paper as the official organ of any city or corporation in order to secure foreign advertising. The paper has kept alive in spite of the fact that this city, like all other towns, contains its quota of people who have no other means of judging the merits a newspaper than by the number of inches its pages measure. The Sun will be here to celebrate the allied victory, even if the war lasts four years more.

Some men have so much respect for the truth that they always keep at a distance from it.

Many men living in towns today have spent most of their busy lives on the farms. They have earned their retirement. But the need for saving the 1918 crop is very great. Retired farmers have a splendid opportunity to help out in the present crisis, and many have volunteered to work on neighboring farms for the rush period. Every one that can do so is needed, for experienced men are at a premium. Their knowledge of how to do things would help make inexperienced men and boys efficient.

Allied Europe depends on America for 50 per cent. of its food supply. After the war a large proportion of this demand will continue. The whole world is short of foodstuffs. The livestock population has been decreased. Russia has been socially disorganized and is not producing enough to feed herself. Farmers of Canada will have an export market for years, such as for which they have never dreamed.

Six billion dollars, the amount of the next American Liberty loan, is a lot of money, but how much few people can realize. This sum, converted to one-dollar bills and laid end to end would make a strip of greenbacks 699,000 miles long, or enough to belt the earth at the equator just twenty-eight times.

Berlin is, of course, the objective of every Canadian soldier now in France. They should not forget, however, that there are other interesting places in Hunland. Potsdam, for instance, is only sixteen miles from Berlin, and their mission will not be complete unless they also visit that place and all the other dam towns in Germany.

Of 215 points represented by the Canadian Northern railway from the three prairie provinces, 121 show that crop conditions are favorable and 28 unfavorable, while 13 indicate a need of rain. Forty-four mentioned frost and five announce slight damage from hail.

The war, like most tragedies, has its humorous episodes. One of them was the German bombardment of an American pie-and-doughnut truck that broke down on the way to the front. The accident occurred in plain sight of the enemy, whose shells immediately began to fall around the truck. The driver and his helper fled, but the bombardment continued for half an hour. That night a rescue party went out to try to save the truck, but the Germans discovered them and shelled the place for seven hours more. Then a motor-cycle man brought word that, although the ground was cut up all round the seven thousand doughnuts and one thousand apple pies were still safe. Thereupon a hundred men volunteered to go after the pastry that night, and got it. Shoot a Yankee soldier or gas him or blow him up and you merely vex him, but try to take away his doughnuts or his pie and you make him viciously peevish.—Youth's Companion.

Let Us All Strike

The American and Canadian private soldiers are the plutocratic soldiers of the world today, getting $1.10 at a minimum, to the few cents per day that the French, English and the Italian soldier gets.

It is rather interesting to contemplate what would happen if these soldiers of France, England, Italy, Canada and the United States suddenly decided to go on strike and demand a big increase in pay.

If they all quit work together and laid down their arms, the result would be a world dominated by the Hun.

We would, as we slaved under Hun rule, be exceedingly likely to accuse those boys of boys of being yellow, would we not?

Yet this habit of striking that is so prevalent on the part of the civil population, in the face of war conditions, is exactly the same thing.

While men in various parts of Canada and the States are getting four, five and six dollars per day, they are, many of them, striking for more. Of course there has been a raise in the cost of living, while there are various interests that are working graft or profiteering of one sort or another.

But let the profiteers profiteer. At the end of the war the common plugs will simply take all the profits and use 'em for paying war debts—Kaslo Kootenaiian.

SINGER TALKS

What Perfect Adjustment Means

¶ If you've ever had the misfortune to own a cheaply constructed sewing machine, you'll know what it means to have parts constantly breaking, or the machine refuse to run for some seemingly unaccountable reason.

¶ Singer quality and the perfect adjustment of every Singer machine save you such discouraging experiences. Every Singer runs so light and easy as to require practically no effort on your part to do the heaviest sewing.

¶ Many women use a Singer who haven't strength enough to operate ordinary machines. The Singer does all the work, runs noiselessly and does not easily get out of order.

¶ Should repairs or new parts, needles, etc., ever be needed there's always a Singer store nearby to save you annoying delays.

Prevention of Fires

The provincial government has inaugurated a movement, the aim of which is to reduce the enormous waste due to preventable fires. The proposal is to establish a provincial bureau of fire prevention, which will operate through local bureaus, the membership to be composed of persons representative of the government, the municipalities, the fire department, the insurance companies, and all bodies or interests able and willing to render aid in this connection. The bureau will prepare propaganda, furnish information, and plan a campaign to diminish the loss by fire.

There is a tremendous field for an organization of this character. In Canada the annual value of property destroyed by fire approaches the sum of $3 for every man, woman and child, and surpasses even the figures for the United States, where a campaign is being vigorously waged over the length and breadth of the land. In Europe the average loss per capita is well under 50 per cent, proving that conditions in America call for a cure. This yearly waste of our resources is not inevitable, for countless statistics demonstrate that about 60 per cent of the fires which occur could be prevented by the exercise of more care.

The commission of conservation sitting at Ottawa has thoroughly investigated the whole subject throughout the Dominion, and it has published a book, emphasizing the need of action.

It is perhaps needless to point out that, engaged as we are in a war, when industries, plant, food, and materials of all kinds are of vital importance, there is an additional reason for taking all possible steps to preserve property. It is not enough to increase production unless at the same time what exists is safeguarded. Every fire destroys food or material, which though compensated by insurance money, diminishes the available supply and requires labor to replace.

It is earnestly desired to enlist in this movement every agency which can render service. A general conference of the parties interested will be held as soon as possible to formulate plans for prompt action.

A Powerful Prescription

In his interesting volume, A Soldier's Memories in Peace and War, Maj. Gen. Sir George Younghusband tells of his varied experiences on a trip through the Salween Shan states during the Burman war. Every white man, he says, and especially an Englishman, is ipso facto a skilled medical practitioner wherever in the byways he wanders. On the present occasion only some quinine, a few pills, a bottle of chlorodyne and a pot of vaseline composed our medical outfit; and so we could not spare much for stray patients. This little medical store was, however, saved in a curious and effective manner.

At one village there was an old woman sick with fever who asked to see the white wise man. We explained that there were no medicines to spare. But one of the natives said that did not matter. He had himself been ill at Moulmein and went to an English doctor, and the English doctor wrote some charms on a piece of paper and that made him quite well. In proof whereof he produced a prescription written by the English doctor, which he had put in a little bag and worn ever since round his neck.

At his earnest solicitation, we wrote a charm for the old lady. It read, however, "May God make you well soon," instead of Ac. Ros. iii. T., Cal. praep. gr. xxx., and the like. To the great surprise of the amateur doctor, but apparently to the surprise of no one else, the old lady "turned up" the next morning before the caravan started and said that she felt quite well.

How Two Temperamentals Quarrel

The famous Russian novelists, Tolstoy and Turgenev, were contemporaries and friends, but on one occasion they had a serious falling out. This is the story of their quarrel, as told in a recent biography:

They had met at a friend's house. Turgenev spoke enthusiastically of his daughter's English governess, and said that she required the child to mend old, ragged clothes to give to the poor.

"Do you think that a good thing to do?" demanded Tolstoy.

"I certainly do," replied Turgenev. "It makes charity workers recognize everyday needs."

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENT

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only. Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land. Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims. Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant. Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 5 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained on these claims in less than 5 years, with improvements of $10 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years. Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesteads; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions. For grazing and industrial purposes, areas exceeding 610 acres may be leased by one person or company.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT. The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

TOWNSHIP PROPERTY ALLOTMENT ACT.

Provision is made for the grant to persons holding uncompleted Agreements to Purchase from the Crown of such proportion of the land, if divisible, as the payments already made will cover in proportion to the sale price of the whole parcel. Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons on the purchase from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjustment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to townships and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

For information apply to any Provincial Government Agent or to G. R. NADEN, Deputy Minister of Lands, Victoria, B. C.

"And I think that a well-dressed girl, with filthy, malodorous rags in her hands, is acting an insincere farce," commented Tolstoy.

"I ask you not to say that," exclaimed Turgenev, hotly.

"Why should I not say what I am convinced is true?" retorted Tolstoy.

"If you say that again, I'll box your ears!" Turgenev cried, white with rage, and rushed from the room. A duel was narrowly averted.

Afterwards, these famous men became reconciled, and on his deathbed Turgenev wrote an affecting note to Tolstoy, addressing him as "the greatest writer of our Russian land."

A Considerable Amount

A certain little village in the West stands some distance from the nearest good supply of pure water, and Patrick is the man who transports barrels of drinking water to the homes of the village.

One day, as Patrick halted at the top of the river bank, a man famous for his inquisitive mind stopped and asked:

"How long have you hauled water for the village, my good man?"

"Tin years, sor."

"Ah, how many loads do you take in a day?"

"From tin to fifteen, sor."

"Ah, yes! Now I have a problem for you. How much water at this rate have you hauled in all?"

The driver of the water cart jerked his thumb backward toward the river and replied:

"All the water yez don't see there now, sor."

Dunlop Means "Original"

When you hear a bicycle owner say his tires are the original, not the imitation, he means that all other wired-on bicycle tires took Dunlop Tires for their model, because Dunlop was first in the field.

The Pneumatic Tire Industry rests on the name "Dunlop."

And next in importance to your realizing that fact is the necessity for realizing this one: Dunlop Tires from the first—1894—were made by a patented process.

We found the way to make them right—a way that would impart to them such road mastery, such superiority of toughness and resiliency that they would sell eight times faster than any other make of bicycle tires. Eighty per cent. of all bicycle tires sold in Canada are Dunlop.

News of the City

Foreman John McLarin has a crew of seven or eight men building a new road from the Humming Bird bridge to Lynch creek on the west side of the North Fork. About four miles have been built, and two or three miles more will complete the road to Lynch creek. The grade and curvature of the new road is said to be a great improvement over that on the old road on the east side of the river, and when a bridge is put in at Lynch creek, it will likely become the main highway from this city to that point.

J. L. Meikle, of the Consolidated company's works at Trail, and his daughter Mildred arrived in this city on Monday. Mr. Meikle will spend a two weeks' vacation at McFarlane's cabin up the North Fork fishing and living the simple life. The Meikle family were residents of Grand Forks up to two years ago.

C. M. Tobassen came down from Lynch Creek on Wednesday. He stated that the clearing of the right of way of the wagon road to the Rock Candy group has now been completed.

Ouch ! ! ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once, and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain. He says freezone is an ether compound which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin. A quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make this beauty lotion cheaply for your face, neck, arms and hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Wise wives won't waste.
