LIBERAL POLICY AS TO LABOR

Some of Hon. Mackenzie King's Principles on Government of Industry Adopted by National Convention

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—The platform of the Liberal party in regard to labor was approved by the convention in a resolution moved by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, seconded by Mr. Roebuck. After declaring that the committee recommends that the National Liberal convention accept in entirety as a part of the Liberal platform in the spirit in which they have been framed and in so far as the special circumstances of the country will permit, the terms of the labor convention general principles asserted with the league of nations and incorporated in the conditions of peace, the resolution proceeds:

"That the introduction into the government of industry and principles of representation whereby labor and the community, as well as capital may be represented in industrial control, and their interests safeguarded and promoted in the shaping of industrial policies.

"That in so far as may be practicable, having regard for Canada's financial position, an adequate system of insurance against unemployment, sickness, dependence in old age and other disability, which would include old age pensions, widows' pensions and maternity benefits, should be instituted by the federal government in conjunction with the governments of the several provinces, and that, on matters pertaining to social and industrial legislation, an effort should be made to overcome any question of jurisdiction between the Dominion and the provinces by effective cooperation between the several governments.

"The representation of labor on federal commissions pertaining to labor matters.

"Effective legislation for conservation of human life and health.

"The representation of labor on the board of directors of the Canadian National railways.

"That the system of retraining soldiers unfitted for their past work because of physical injuries, be extended to disabled workers in industry.

"More effective restriction of Chinese immigration.

"The federal incorporation of cooperative associations.

"The acceptance of the principle of proportional representation.

"Immediate and drastic action by the government with respect to the high cost of living and profiteering.

"Restoration of the control of the executive of parliament and of parliament by the people through a disavowance of government by orders in council and a just franchise and its exercise under free conditions."

Death of Burke Jewell

Burke Jewell, one of the prominent fruit growers of the valley, died at the Grand Forks hospital yesterday afternoon of creeping paralysis after a lingering illness. Deceased was about 68 years of age, and had been a resident of the district for fourteen or fifteen years, coming here from Manitoba in the early years of the new century and buying an orchard tract on the Covert estate. He is survived by his wife, one son and eight daughters—Thomas Jewell, of Princeton; Mrs. Henderson, of Trail; Mrs. Brewer, of Vancouver; Mrs. McCormick, of Northport; Mrs. Cagnon and Mrs. Bosworth, of this city, and Misses Jennie, Mabel and a younger daughter, who live at the family home west of the city. The late Mr. Jewell was a man of sterling integrity, and his enterprising desire to advance everything appertaining to the fruit growing industry won for him a host of friends. The family has the sympathy of the people of the community in their bereavement.

The funeral will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from Miller & Gardner's undertaking parlors.

KING IS NEW LIBERAL LEADER

Former Minister of Labor Elected by a Small Majority Over Hon. W. S. Fielding

OTTAWA, Aug. 8.—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, minister of labor in the Laurier administration, is the new leader of the Liberal party. He was so acclaimed at the close of the national convention last night, when his most formidable opponent, Hon. W. S. Fielding, moved that his election be made unanimous. Mr. King, who subsequently spoke, was given an ovation, as was also Mr. Fielding when he congratulated his opponent on his victory.

With the contestants reduced to two in number, the interest in the final voting was intense. The vote as announced by Hon. George H. Murphy, chairman of the convention, was 476 for Mr. King and 437 for Mr. Fielding, a majority for the former of 38.

DOUBLE DROWNING FATALITY

Young Returned Soldier Loses His Life in Attempting to Save a Young Girl Bather

A very lamentable drowning tragedy, in which a young soldier who had seen four years' service in France and a young girl lost their lives, occurred about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Kettle river on the side opposite to the city park.

Dorothy Hunter, aged 13 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, was taking a swim in the river near A. F. Michener's home, when suddenly something must have happened to her, as she called loudly for help. Charles Michener, who returned from overseas a couple of weeks ago, heard the cries for help, and without removing his boots or any of his clothing he swam across the river and made an attempt to save drowning girl. In his endeavor to rescue her, it is supposed that the girl got ahold of him in some manner so as to render him incapable of keeping afloat, because some small boys—the only witnesses of the tragedy—on the bank close by, were horrified to see the two sink to the bottom of the river, not to rise alive again.

The boys immediately gave raised an alarm, and a crowd, including Dr. Kingston, soon collected at the scene of the fatality. It was some time, however, before a person expert enough to dive for the bodies could be found, as the channel is very deep where the accident occurred. Finally Mr. Gerald, of Spokane, who is visiting with his family home of his wife's mother, Mrs. Harty, made a successful dive and brought the two victims of the accident to the surface and to land. But the bodies had been at the bottom of the river for fully thirty minutes, and an attempt at resuscitation was useless.

Both the victims of the accident were expert swimmers, and it is supposed that at least the girl was attacked by cramps, and that the young man who made such a heroic endeavor to save her was either overtaken by the same malady or was pulled under by the drowning girl.

The double fatality has naturally saddened the people of the community, as well as cast two families into deep mourning. The late Pte. Michener was a bright and industrious young man, who served his country honorably in the late struggle, and his untimely and tragic death is a severe blow to his grief-stricken parents. Mrs. Michener was in Paulson when the accident happened, but she has since returned to the city. The funeral, which will be held from Miller & Gardner's undertaking parlors, has been postponed to Sunday afternoon in order to allow of a brother, Richard, of the deceased to reach the city from Vancouver.

The funeral of the late Miss Hunter will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from Cooper's undertaking parlors. The untimely death of this young lady is a severe blow to her parents, and much sympathy is expressed for them. The family had a hard fight with influenza last winter, when they lost a child from that malady.

SECOND EDITION WRIGLEY'S B.C. DIRECTORY ISSUED

The 1919 edition of Wrigley's British Columbia Directory is just off the press.

The past year has seen an increase of 32 places in the province that last year were not on the map. In all, 2042 cities, towns and settlements are described, giving geographical location, local resources, population, etc., followed by a list of business firms, residents and farmers.

Roy F. Wrigley, editor, states that the increase in number of pages from 960 to 1400 in this year's edition is made up mainly in new names and occupations of returned citizens who were last year on active service.

The Directory is an index of the whole province, and in addition to the description of 2042 places, contains a classified business directory under 446 headings, a trade name and brand section, and also gives a 100 page year book containing not only a list of all provincial government ministers and departmental officials but a synopsis of the jurisdiction of each department, of the functions of nearly every important official, and a summary of important legislation. There is also a concise history of the province, illustrated.

The price of the Directory is $10, and is published by Wrigley Directories, Ltd., Metropolitan Building, Vancouver.

What Tillage Will Do For an Orchard

The success of an orchard project in British Columbia demands that thorough tillage be practised until such time as the trees are well established. Surface tillage conserves the moisture of the winter and spring months for the use of trees during the period of growth and seasonal fruit development. Tillage aerates the soil, aiding chemical and bacterial action in plant food production. The tillage operations aid in the disintegration of the soil particles that carry the food elements. Tillage destroys many insects and pests and fungus spores, thereby reducing greatly the insect and fungus injury.

In the arid sections, tillage destroys the soil fibre and reduces the vegetable matter or humus making agent. With the fibre or vegetable matter gone, the soil becomes more difficult to till and poorer in nitrogen.

Tillage practice has a big balance in its favor, and is the practice of the most successful orchardist.

SALARY BYLAW WAS ADOPTED

Mayor Is Given $300 and the Aldermen Vote Themselves $175 Each. War Trophies

Practically the only business of any importance transacted at the meeting of the city council on Monday night was the passage of the salary bylaw, which provides for a salary $300 to the mayor and $175 to each of the aldermen, with a deduction of $7 for each non-attendance after an absence from two meetings in the case of aldermen. The mayor is deducted $12 for each non-attendance after a like absence.

The mayor and Ald. Hull and Miller were present at the meeting. The mayor was appointed chairman pro tem of the board of works.

The past month's accounts were ordered to be paid.

Sergt.-Maj Holbrook was present, and brought up the matter of the council endeavoring to secure some war trophies for the city. During the early stages of the war he had captured a gun from the Germans, and when he came away from England he had seen it among the other trophies of the Canadian forces. By making an effort, this trophy might be secured for the city. The council decided to do what it could in the matter.

What Mulching Will Do for an Orchard

The mulch system or application of bulky vegetable material in orchard practice has in some districts a number of important advantages over tillage. In districts where the rainfall is largely confined to the winter and spring period, mulching may be the best practice. The mulch system reduces labor in orchard operations, a very important factor now that labor costs are very high. The mulch conserves the soil fertility as well as the soil moisture. The mulch system favors early ripening of the wood in the autumn and does not encourage excess of wood production. It favors the accumulation of vegetable matter in the surface layer of the soil. The turf created prevents soil washing during the spring and winter period. The mulch favors vermin, insect and fungus troubles; these are disadvantages that detract considerably from the gain in labor and soil saving.

The election by the national convention of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King as leader of the Liberal party will meet with general approbation from the rank and file of the party. While no one has any desire to minimize one iota the claims of Hon. W. S. Fielding, his chief opponent, for the position, it must be admitted that Mr. King represents the younger and more progressive element of the party, and that his policies of government are more in consonance with the present-day conceptions of civilization and with the altered industrial conditions bequeathed us by the world war. Mr. King has had considerable experience as a parliamentarian, and he is said to be acceptable to Quebec. Under his progressive leadership, we expect to see the various elements solidified and the party present a solid front at the next federal election.

The platform adopted by the national convention of the Liberal party in regard to labor contains many policies which have not yet been tried in this country. The system of insurance against unemployment, sickness, dependence in old age and other disability, including old-age pensions and widows' pensions, is an advanced theory for Canada, but in England it has now been in practical operation for several years, and from all accounts the law is giving perfect satisfaction to a majority of the people of the motherland. Having been tested in that country, the Liberals of the Dominion can not be accused of entertaining ultra-socialistic theories by endorsing it. It is a policy, in our opinion, which the governments of the entire world will be compelled to adopt in the near future, and the Liberal party of Canada, being one of the first political organizations to advocate it, evinces a laudable desire to keep in the vanguard of changing public opinion in the direction of a more humane civilization.

The only criticism that we feel inclined to offer against the plank endorsed by the convention is, that it does go far enough. All branches of insurance—fire, life and accident—should be operated by the government. If this policy were adopted, and insurance in these branches were made compulsory, it would do much to do away with pauperism from our present-day civilization, if it would not eliminate that curse altogether. The cost of such insurance under government control should be nominal, and the annual fees could be collected in the form of a tax.

There is another planklet in the labor resolution of the platform that should not be passed over unnoticed. This is the section referring to the retraining of workmen who have been maimed in industrial pursuits, by reason of which they have become unfitted to resume their former occupations. The brutal and inhuman practice in the past of turning these cripples adrift on a cold and heartless world should find no place in the new civilization to which we aspire. Some reforms may be classed as visionary and impracticable; but to carry out the idea embodied in this section would be a mere act of justice. Under the proposed plan many disabled workmen who are now forced eke out a miserable existence by soliciting charity, could be trained to some trade for which they are specially adapted, and afterwards be able to make a comfortable livelihood.

Crusades have been started at Ottawa, in London and at Washington against the high cost of living, and dire threats are daily being made of the awful doom that awaits the profiteers. What the public would like to see is, less threats, fewer dispatches about what is intended to be done, and some real action taken against the profiteers. Off with their heads!

In his reluctance to accept the Hungarian kingship, Archduke Joseph exhibits very good judgment. As head ornaments crowns have gone out of style in Europe.

In a speech at Cape Town, Lieut. General the Rt. Hon. Jan Christian Smuts, British member of the league of nations commission, said the three greatest impressions he had gained during the peace conference were, first, the immense preponderance of the British empire in the world; second, the rising power of the United States, which was the only great power to emerge from the war unscathed and even with resources vastly increased; and third, the decline of Europe, not only relatively but intrinsically owing to war exhaustion.

The order making it compulsory to submit to Ottawa for its approval all addresses to be presented to the Prince of Wales in this country, does not appear to belong to that brand of democracy for which our soldiers fought in France.

The new leader of the Liberal party, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, is an eloquent phrase maker. His book on Industry and Humanity concludes with these words: "Is it too much to believe that, having witnessed humanity pass through its Gethsemane, having seen its agony in its Garden of Fears, having beheld its crucifixion upon the cross of Militarism, Labor and Capital will yet bring to a disconsolate and broken-hearted world the one hope it is theirs alone to bring; and that, in the acceptance of principles which hold deliverance from the scourges that beset mankind, they will roll back the stone from the door of the world's sepulchre today, and give Humanity its promise of its resurrection to a more abundant life."

Spuds will be Potatoes in this valley this fall. From present indications it looks as if the farmers might be put to the expense of buying safes to keep them in.

In the story of Arthur Ritchings, a police constable of Cardiff, Wales, who enlisted in the British army in 1914, there is a fine picture of a modest and honorable gentleman. After serving for three years in the ranks, he was made second lieutenant, and then in rapid succession captain, major and lieutenant-colonel. He was wounded six times; was mentioned three times in dispatches; won the decoration of chevalier of the Legion of Honor, the croix de guerre with palms and the military cross. But when the war was over he returned to Cardiff and unassumingly took up again his duties as constable. Every honest constable, this gallant officer said, should realize that he is under moral obligation to return to the Cardiff police force because during his absence the taxpayers had contributed to the support of his dependents.

We had intended to talk on municipal affairs this week, but we have only space enough left to say that Grand Forks should go back to the six-aldermen system of government. In some future issue we will give our reasons.

BRITISH COLUMBIA TELEPHONE COMPANY, Ltd

Sells His Fruit Crop for $7000

J. A. Coleman has accepted an offer from the T. Eaton company of Winnipeg for his entire crop of apples, estimated at 4500 boxes.

This is the third year the T. Eaton company has purchased Mr. Coleman's apples, and it speaks well for quality of fruit shipped. Last year, owing to the frost, the Eaton company were unable to purchase their apples in this valley, and bought in Kelowna, but we are glad to see this firm come right back to Grand Forks and purchase its fruit, as Winnipeg is a good advertising center for our fruit, and considerable money has been sent away from this district to the T. Eaton company and it is gratifying to know that some of it will come back to the city each year.

Mr. Coleman states that he will pack and ship his own fruit this year, and he expects that his crop will amount to $70,000 gross.

MAXIMUM PRICES HAVE NOT BEEN SET

Under date of July 25 The Packer announces that the British food board has set the maximum prices for apples at $4 37½. This announcement is premature, as the maximum price has not been definitely set. It is the general opinion among dealers that the price will be set at that figure, but nothing official has been given out. The fruit branch at Ottawa on August 1 was in negotiation with the food board of Great Britain in an endeavor to have a more logical method of price fixing. If we do not succeed we predict that last year's experience will be repeated, and culls instead of apples exported.

If the price is fixed at one pound sterling, Britain will be deprived of a supply of box apples of quality which is contrary to the wish of the British consuming public.

We were assured when visiting the fruit dealers in Britain that the folly of price setting in 1918 would not happen again.—Fruit Markets Bulletin.

ALBERTA GRAIN CROP FORECAST

The southern part of the province is going to produce very little grain above requirements for seed, if it does this. In central Alberta the crop is going to be better than was expected some time ago. It was not so badly hurt by the continued dry weather that it can not come back, and it is now stretching pretty well. With the good tondition in the Peace river and the progress of the central Alberta crop it looks like at least a good half crop for the whole of the province.

Cull Apples

"Apples will be apples" this year and "Culls will be culls."

A box of cull apples will produce a gallon of cider.

A gallon of cider will sell for 50 cents and the pulp will be left for the pigs.

This is equal to 85 cents per box for culls when labor and box is included and no loss of reputation to risk.

Cider has the best kick of all legal drinks, and it will be in good demand.

Growers having culls please take notice.

Moses and Advertising

The Bible is the greatest encyclopedia of human nature in the world. Any man who wants to know how a crowd will act can learn all about it by studying the gang that Moses led around in the wilderness. Tremendously grateful to him for getting them out of slavery—grateful, yes, for about five minutes. No sooner were their feet a little wet in the wilderness, and their backs bitten a little by mosquitos, than they began to criticize Moses and wish they hadn't come. People haven't changed one single bit since those days. Moses found he couldn't keep them sold for twenty four hours at a time; all the sales work had to be done over and over again, constantly. We've discovered the same thing; that's why our advertising runs all the year round, in season and out.

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

From experiments carried on on an extensive scale this summer in the Sun orchard it has been demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt that first-class Flemish Beauty pears can be grown with less water than is required to grow a second quality apple.

A strike at a depth of 242 feet is reported from the Molly Gibson near Paulson.

A Willing Sacrifice

We have a neighbor whom we knew to be greatly devoted to her own family, but until we had our first thunderstorm in California, writes a friend, we did not know that she was entirely lacking in a proper sense of humor.

I heard her calling in the midst of the storm, and opened my window.

"Is Mr. Hunter at home?" she said excitedly. "I had a dreadful shock when I took down the telephone receiver, and I want him to come over and put it back on the hook."

"Isn't Mr. Roberts at home?" I suggested. "Oh, yes. He is in the garage with the boys, but you know I think it is very dangerous to handle the thing, so I don't want to call them."
