SITUATION IN THE COAL FIELDS

Men Return to Work Pending Conference With Minister of Labor

The coal miners at Fernie, Michel, Coleman and Carbondale returned to work Saturday pending a settlement of the war bonus dispute by the Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor.

A joint conference between the miners' officials, the operators and the minister was slated to begin yesterday at Calgary, and it was announced that the miners' representatives had definitely promised to attend.

Saturday, Sunday and Monday special meetings were held with the district officers in attendance, and these resulted in the resumption of work. This decision was reached by secret ballot being taken at the four camps, Fernie voting over three to one in favor; Michel, Colman and Carbondale also were decisive.

The report reached Fernie that Lethbridge, Taber, Coalhurst and Bellevue unions held an independent conference Saturday, and that representatives of these locals decided to remain on strike pending adjustment. The situation therefore, as a whole, did not appear to be void of complications, but the action taken at the Fernie end of the pass by resuming work was considered decidedly a movement in the right direction, and unless the contemplated renewed negotiations became lethargic, temporary settlement of the labor unrest in the coal mining industry appeared probable.

Work at Bellevue, Hillcrest and Frank was resumed on Tuesday, this action being decided on at mass meetings held Monday night.

A slight variation was made in the method of conducting the vote Sunday, which was taken by secret ballot, supervised by the local union representatives, and although convincingly decisive when it became evident that the majority were greatly in favor of resuming at Fernie, some agitation was commenced to hold a special meeting on Monday to consider the matter. This request was based upon some information having been received relative to the decision taken at Lethbridge, which was reported to have been opposed to resumption. Later it was resolved to abide by the results of the ballot, and, despite the disagreeable nature of the weather at Fernie on Monday, nearly 60 per cent of the working forces responded.

At Michel and the other two camps activities were reported quite satisfactory, although in no case did all hands report for duty, principally on account of severe climatic conditions, it is claimed. Taber on Monday night refused to vote on the question until the prospective conference with the minister of labor was concluded. A consultation, however, with representatives from Lethbridge, Coalhurst, Chinook and Taber was arranged for Tuesday, with a view of those camps calling off the sectional strike.

Phoenix Honors Bobbie Burns

The anniversary of Bobbie Burns was fittingly celebrated in Phoenix on Thursday evening of last week, when about seventy of the Scottish residents and friends of that town met in the Knights of Pythias hall. The hall was beautifully decorated with bunting representing the allied nations at war. Chairman Thomas Brown at 8:30 started the ball rolling by making a short and appropriate address. This was the fourth year in succession they had met in Phoenix for that purpose. In the last two years practically all the old faces had disappeared, many of whom had paid the supreme sacrifice on the battlefields of France in the interests of the motherland; but they were proud to have two returned soldiers with them that night, namely, James Porter and Dan Paterson, who had given a good account of themselves on the firing line. He hoped all present would enjoy themselves and make the event one long to be remembered. The first item on the program was a bagpipe selection by William Smith, after which Scottish dances, interspersed with songs recitations, violin and piano selections, continued till midnight, when all sat down to an excellent supper. After supper dancing was again resumed and continued until 3 o'clock.

GERMANY AND U. S. MAY CLASH

Diplomatic Relations Between Two Countries Now at Breaking Point

The diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany are decidedly strained today. Yesterday Berlin, through a note delivered by Ambassador von Bernstorff, notified the Washington government that the central powers would return unrestricted submarine warfare on the merchant marine of the entente nations as well as on the shipping of neutral countries. It is difficult to see how President Wilson can extricate himself from the position he has taken on this question and avoid a break with Germany.

Today the eyes of Great Britain and all Europe are focussed on Washington, but whatever course of action President Wilson has chosen to meet Germany's declaration of unrestricted submarine warfare is known only to three or four of his official family. Neither the cabinet as a whole nor the foreign affairs committee has been taken into his confidence. A day or two should bring the crisis to a head.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1917

The Sun is glad to note that a large percentage of the men who enlisted in this city as privates have earned promotions on the field of battle at the front. The citizens of Grand Forks feel proud of these brave and gallant soldiers, and hold them in as great esteem and admiration as they have contempt for the men who strutted around the city as officers and then developed "cold feet" when the time for departure for the front arrived.

The entry of the United States into the world war now appears to be inevitable. What effect a rupture of diplomatic relations between America and Germany will have on struggle is as yet problematical. But even if the United States government is not prepared to take an active part in the fighting with the entente nations, her influence with the neutral countries, and her resources and wealth, which would be at the disposal of the allies, should be potent factors in shortening the conflict.

OBSERVATIONS

A few of the interior weeklies have installed most of them on the installment plan—linotype machines, and a lot of rot is being written about that mechanical wonder. They usually date the linotype "epoch" from the arrival of their own machines. As a matter of fact, the linotype came into general use in all the city offices on this continent about twenty-five years ago. At the present time the Lanston monotype is crowding the linotype for first place as a type composing machine. In a great number of instances during the past few years the latter machine has been displaced by the former.

There are two ways of looking at a proposition of an industrial enterprise increasing its facilities. If a drayman has only sufficient business to keep a handsled busy, it would obviously be foolish for him to keep a four horse team employed on the job. On the other hand, if he has enough work for a four horse team, he is equally foolish if he attempts to do it with a handsled. To which class do the newspapers that have recently installed linotypes belong?

The Greenwood Ledge did not arrive in this city until Saturday night last week. The Sun was at first apprehensive that the Ledge had installed a linotype; but late accounts of the delay appear to indicate that it was of no more serious a nature than is sometimes created by an unusual rush of job work.

The Republic Journal is as severe as it is laconic in its criticism of other papers. After citing the fact that a British Columbia weekly has installed a linotype, it adds: "All the paper needs now to make it a real newspaper is to install an editor."

Trying to do business without advertising is like winking at a pretty girl through a pair of green goggles. You know what you are doing but nobody else does.

A late report from Anyox says that the Granby smelter is only running two of its four furnaces at that place.

The year 1916 stands out in relief as marking the greatest annual period of progress since the infancy of the mineral industry of British Columbia. While it will be some weeks before the returns from the various operators are available so that the exact production may be known, a conservative estimate places the production of the past year at about $45,000,000. This is an increase of about 50 per cent over the mineral production of the previous year, and 40 per cent increase over 1912, hitherto the record year in the mineral production.

A man will bark and growl all day and get mad when his dog tries it at night.

Sir Samuel Evans and Sir Edward Carson

Sir Sam Evans has many good stories of his profession, but few are better than this of the man who stole a pair of trousers.

This man received a favorable verdict, but when the case was over he showed no signs of leaving the court. At last his lawyer asked him why he didn't go. The innocent (?) man whispered in reply: "The fact is, sir, I did not like to move till the witnesses had left the court. You see I've got on the trousers what I stole."

Sir Edward Carson is caustic. His wit is more like a blow with a cavalry sword than a rapier thrust.

One of the best examples is afforded by one of his early cases, in which he was opposed by an elderly, prosy, long-winded lawyer in an assault case.

The elderly lawyer, in his concluding address, spoke for six hours—an interminable, foggy, stupid, speech. Then his opponent rose. He smiled slightly, looked at the judge and jury, and said:

"Your honor, I will follow the example of my learned friend who has just concluded, and submit the case without argument!"

Even more cutting was his rejoinder to a witness he was once cross examining, with an obviously red nose. "You drink, my man," was the counsel's blunt remark. Witness: "That's my business." Sir Edward (blandly): "Any other business?"

Dear Little Soul

At breakfast one morning Daddy was telling his little girl, aged seven, how a dear, kind stork had brought her a dear little baby brother in the night, "and," said he, "I want you to write and tell brother Willie at college all about it."

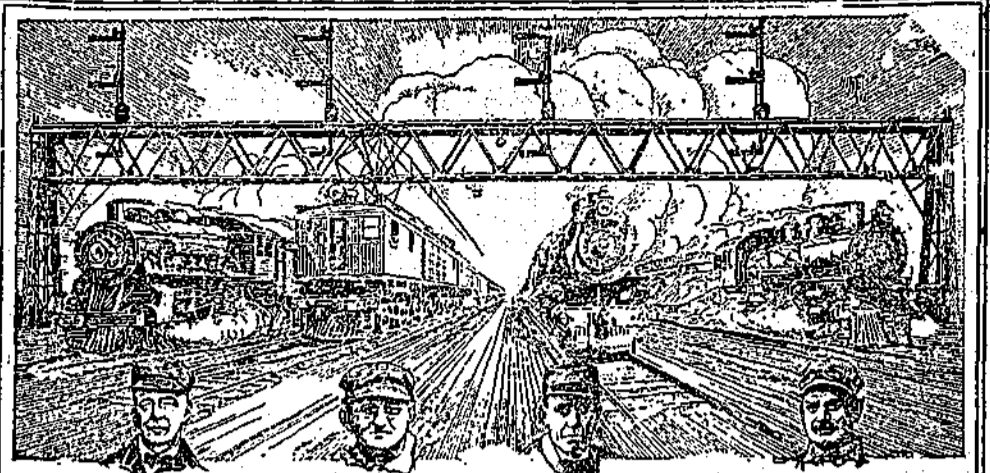

In the evening the little girl asked Daddy for a stamp to post the letter.

"Give it to me and I will post it," said Daddy.

"Dear little soul!" he thought, "I must read her account of the 'kind stork story' to her brother."

On opening it, this what he read:

"Dear Willie, the 50 cents is mine! It's a boy!"

WHEN DEWEY WAS AT MANILA

The death of the hero of Manila bay, in his day, less than twenty years ago, the idol of the American people, recalls incidents which have significance in international affairs today, says the Toronto Globe.

That the American fleet, ordered from Hongkong, under Dewey's command, when the Spanish war broke out, should put the Spanish squadron out of business in Manila bay, on that morning in May, 1898, was no surprise to naval authorities then. No one is at all surprised now. The thing was inevitable. The defences of Manila were trifling, and the Spanish squadron but so many tubs against the naval guns of the United States. Dewey himself, true sailor that he was, disliked the excessive demonstrations which welcomed him on his return to New York and Washington.

But if you wished to touch the real man, and to kindle the feelings that were deeper than the froth and foam of street-crowd jubiliations, you started him on the account of his own part in the program of that war. If there were no doubtful strangers in the company, and no reporters eager for a "scoop," you might get a story, not only of the navy of the United States, but also of the navy of Britain and the navy of Germany, that would utterly dislocate the whole of President Wilson's theory of neutrality.

There was not one neutral blood-beat in Admiral Dewey's heart. The world-purposes of Britain he took for granted; the honor of a British officer he would not question; the fact that Britain was mistress of the seas was to him, as an American, a comfort, not a fear. But in Germany and in Germany's purposes in the Pacific he had no faith whatsoever. He may have seen some letters, touching that subject, which passed between McKinley and Salisbury. He certainly put quick and certain construction on the discourteous conduct towards him and his country manifested by Prince Henry of Prussia on board the German flagship at Hongkong; and ten years after the incident at Manila bay he made no bones about the sinister meaning of Vice Admiral von Diederichs' truly Prussian sneer: "I am here by order of the kaiser, sir!" and when the occasion was proper neither Dewey nor any of his officers made any concealment of what, in their judgment, might have happened that day had not Chichester's signal come back from the British flagship to one of von Diederichs' questioning signals: "I'll clear my decks for action."

Writing of the incident at Manila bay, Admiral Dewey, in his Autobiography, published in 1913, says: "At 5:43 I saw the Spanish flag come down and then our own float in its place. The next morning the foreign men-of-war were officially notified that the city had been occupied and the port was open. Of all the foreign commanders, only Captain Chichester acknowledged the notification by firing the national salute of twenty-one guns, with the American ensign at the main."

In the confusions of a world war the deepest and surest things may sometimes be confounded. And when party politics in the United States or in Canada misplaces the international viewpoints or squints the vision, the politicians and the press in both countries, even though they agree on fundamentals, may not see eye to eye. But the people of the English-speaking world, if they are given a chance, will see straight and will ring true. Dewey at Manila bay was brother, not to Chichester alone, but to every British naval officer on all the Seven Seas.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Cure Sick Headache, Constipation, Bilioussness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath—Candy Cathartic.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable you are from constipation, indigestion, bilioussness and sluggish bowels—you always get relief with Cascarets. They immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet and head clear for months. They work while you sleep.

In the current issue of the Canada Gazette appears the appointment of Major William Wasborouge Foster, Mounted Rifles, as Companion of the Most Distinguished Order, for conspicuous gallantry in action. He detailed two patrols and himself led a third under heavy fire, and obtained most valuable information. Later he carried out a successful attack, and captured his objective. He displayed the greatest courage and initiative throughout.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Because Adler-ika empties BOTH large and small intestine it relieves ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold. ## Take a Personal Interest in Every Telephone Call

The present widespread interest in telephone courtesy as a good-will builder has led to many excellent suggestions from subscribers for the improvement of telephone habits.

One of the most important rules that have been developed and adopted by a number of large business houses is: "Take a personal interest in every telephone call you handle."

To please a customer over the telephone is a very different matter from pleasing him over the counter. But it is not a more difficult matter.

Employees who are encouraged to try to "see" their telephone customers; who are taught to give every call courteous attention; and who are urged to avoid the abrupt, brusque or perfunctory attitude that is so harmful to good-will, soon become skilled in handling telephone calls quickly and courteously.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Ice should be cheap in Grand Forks next summer. This prospect will, as a natural sequence, undoubtedly have a tendency to bring in train a reduction in the prices of ice cream and iced soft drinks.

Hockey fans in this city were treated to two fast games at the local rink last Friday night. The Grand Forks ladies' seven defeated the Greenwood girls by a score of 4 to 1, and the Greenwood intermediates won a victory over the Grand Forks boys' team by 3 to 0. The Greenwood sevens and their adherents travelled by special train, which returned to Greenwood at midnight.

Last week the Nelson employees of the British Columbia Telephone company gave a "house warming" to their friends and district members in the building on Stanley street, Nelson. The gathering took the form of a dance and supper. About seventy five guests were present, and they put in an enjoyable evening. Those who attended from the Boundary were Manager Gibson and Mrs. Gibson, of this city, and Miss M. Anderson, chief operator at Greenwood.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.
