DECIDE TO ERECT MEMORIAL

Public Meeting Favored Drinking Fountain to Perpetuate Memory of Veterans

A representative and fairly well attended public meeting was held in the Empress theater on Tuesday evening for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the citizens on the proposal to erect a suitable memorial to perpetuate the memory of those who fell on the field of honor in the Great War, as well as to those who served overseas and were fortunate enough to return.

Acting Mayor Miller called the meeting to order, and Mr. Smythe was voted to the chair. A resolution that a memorial be erected was unanimously adopted.

A resolution was offered that the memorial be in the form of a drinking fountain at the Bridge street entrance of the post office. This proposal was approved after it had been thoroughly discussed. Other forms of memorials were also proposed, but they did not seem to meet with much favor.

It appeared to be the sentiment of the meeting that the $400 that now remains in the machine gun fund should be diverted towards defraying a portion of the cost of the memorial.

Death of Mrs. E. Vant

Mrs. Eva Irene Vant, wife of Ernest Vant, died at the Grand Forks hospital at noon yesterday of typhoid fever, after a short illness. She recovered a short time ago from influenza, which had weakened her constitution to such an extent that she was unable to combat the last malady. She was thirty-nine years, five months and eight days old, and was raised in Nelson. She is survived by her husband and a seven-year old son. The family moved to Grand Forks from Nelson about three years ago, and during their residence here the deceased has been highly esteemed by a large circle of friends for her many admirable womanly qualities. The bereaved family is tendered the profound sympathy of the people of the community.

Mr. Walton, father of the deceased, arrived in the city last night from Nelson. The remains of the late Mrs. Vant will be shipped to Nelson next Monday for burial.

Experiences of a Soldier

Pte. Fred Daly, of Phoenix, who enlisted in this city, returned from overseas on Saturday. Mr. Daly went through some of the hardest fought battles on the western front without receiving even a scratch from the Hun shells. He exhibited a photo of himself just as he was coming out of a trench. He did not look as neat and clean as he usually does on dress parade. This, he said, was the only picture taken near a trench during the war, and the man who took it was given an imprisonment sentence until the end of the war for doing so. In England there was considerable suffering on account of food shortage, but in France supplies of all kinds were plentiful, and neither the soldiers nor the civilian population suffered any hardships for lack of food. This was accounted for from the vast stores of supplies shipped into the country. The French people, he said, did not seem to mind the shell fire of the contending armies, and they carried on business as usual almost on firing line. Nearly all of those who did business near the front had become immensely wealthy, as the soldiers were free spenders and paid any price asked for goods. They made it a rule never to go into the trenches with any money on them.

DEVELOPMENT DURING 1918

Resident Engineer Free-land's Report on Mining Progress in This District During Past Year

In Bulletin No. 1, 1919, being a preliminary review and estimate of the mineral production in British Columbia during 1918, which has just been issued by the department of mines at Victoria, Philip B. Free-land, resident engineer, with headquarters in this city, makes the following report of the progress made in Grand Forks mining division during 1918:

Union Mine.—One hundred and fifty-three tons of gold ore was shipped to the Granby smelter at Grand Forks. The bonding of this property was considered by eastern American capital, and also by a local mining engineer representing American capital. Neither of these organizations was able to satisfy the demands of all the owners of the mine.

Maple Leaf.—The lower tunnel was driven about sixty feet and some copper sulphides have been encountered, disseminated through the rock. A good deal of interest was centered in this property early in the summer owing to the fact that the presence of platinum was detected in the old upper workings. The imperial munitions board, of Ottawa, sent a representative into this locality during the summer. The results of this investigation are not forthcoming at the present time, but will no doubt appear in reports made by the munitions board at a later date.

Rock Candy Group.—This claim, situated on Kennedy creek, a tributary to Granby river (North Fork of Kettle), has been bonded by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company of Trail. Considerable development work has been done by this company by diamond drilling and tunnelling to prove the extent of the deposit of fluorite. A road has been built into the property and the construction of an aerial tram is under way. The high price of fluorite (fluorspar) has made the exploitation of this deposit possible. The company has shipped 100 tons.

Molly Gibson.—This mine has been worked by the Molly Gibson Mining company, of Roseland, for some months. A tunnel was driven approximately 200 feet, with the intention of tapping an ore shoot evident in a shaft above.

Berlin.—This mine, situated at Paulson, was operated for a greater part of the year by the Inland Mining company, of Walla Walla, Wash. A shaft was sunk 100 feet and a prospect tunnel driven on the lead about 200 feet. One hundred tons of gold and silver ore was shipped. In October the property was leased to the Griswold-Billingsley company, contractors. Two carloads have been shipped to the Trail smelter by the lessees.

Waterloo Claim.—Situated on Lightning Peak. Considerable work was done upon a sledge road up to this property during the summer; 9381 pounds of high grade silver ore was transported by pack horses to the end of the wagon road, and from thence by wagon and railway to Trail smelter. Development is continuing this winter.

B. C.—This property was leased to J. St. Claire, of Eholt, and about 2250 tons of copper ore has been shipped.

Mastodon Group, Cascade.—This group produced approximately 800 tons of chromite ore, carrying from 30 to 45 per cent chromide oxide. The ore bodies lying in small lenses made development work difficult and expensive.

Emma Mine.—Approximately 20,000 tons of low grade copper ore has been shipped from this mine during the past year. Development work consisted of 171 feet of shaft sinking, 50 feet of pockets and stations, 1220 feet of drifting and crosscutting, and 363 feet of raising. This property is owned by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting company, Trail.

Greenwood Mining Division

Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Company, Phoenix.—About 444,500 tons of copper ore was shipped from these mines to the Grand Forks smelter during the year. This tonnage is below that of 1917, chiefly owing to smaller ore bodies and their increasing distance from the center of operations. Sickness caused by Spanish influenza created a shortness of labor and a reduction in tonnage.

Canada Copper Corporation.—The Mother Lode mine operated steadily until about the end of November, when the Canada Copper Corporation ceased operations at their smelter at Greenwood. About 163,332 tons of ore was shipped during this period. The Sunset mine has also closed. About 2797 tons of ore was shipped.

Cariboo Mine, Camp McKinney.—A. Savage and Leo Mader, of Grand Forks, obtained a sublease on the tailings from the old mill. Under great difficulties they erected two concentrators below the dump, also a small Pelton wheel. The early drought so diminished the supply of water that they were obliged to install a gasoline engine to run the concentrators in place of the Pelton wheel. Notwithstanding these difficulties, about 9 tons of concentrates was shipped to the Grand Forks smelter.

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada did a considerable amount of work upon its holdings in Camp McKinney during the summer. A continuance of some of the quartz leads were uncovered, showing a fair amount of mineralization.

In the fall the West Kootenay Power company established two camps near the old Cariboo mine and commenced cutting a right of way for the high power electric line, which, it is understood, will pass through the McKinney camp on its way from Greenwood to Copper mountain.

Big Copper.—This mine, under lease to J. Poggi, shipped 330 tons of copper ore to the Grand Forks smelter.

Surprise No. 3, Skylark camp, is under lease and bond to J. E. Thompson et al., of Phoenix. Intermittent development work has been carried

WORK MAY START ON IRRIGATION

Farmers' Institute Committee Hopeful That This Spring Will See Work Under Way

A particularly well attended meeting of the Farmers' Institute was held in the farmers' room in the court house last Saturday afternoon. A number of reports, all very interesting, were presented.

H. W. Collins gave his postponed annual address, which was quite lengthy, being full of suggestions for the bringing together the ranchers of the valley and learning more from one another. He also brought up the matter of a suitable memorial to all our boys who went overseas at the call of duty, including those who made the supreme sacrifice, those who were wounded, and those who were fortunate enough to escape scathless.

J. T. Lawrence gave a most encouraging report on the prospects of work being started on the irrigation project this spring. He had been appointed a committee of one to interview J. E. Thompson, M.P., and he had had a conference with that gentleman on the subject. He had also had an interview with Mr. Biker, the government engineer who has the matter in hand.

Mr. Collins, as director, and Mr. Lawrence as delegate of the Grand Forks Fruit Growers' association, gave full reports of the convention of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' association, held last month at Penticton.

The Institute secretary was instructed to make a list of those having good seed of any kind for sale, and send lists to all the institutes in the district. If those having seed for sale will write or phone the secretary the variety, the quantity and the price at once, it will probably be to the benefit of buyers and sellers.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS

R. R. Gilpin, customs officer at this port, makes the following detailed report of the customs receipts at the head office in this city and at the various sub-customs offices, for the month of January, 1919:

Grand Forks.....	$1,831.39
Phoenix.....	1,232.43
Cascade.....	144.53
Carson.....	24.05
Total.....	$3,232.70

Sale of War Stamps

During January the sale of War Savings Stamps at the Grand Forks post office was as follows:

	No.	Am't.
War Stamps.....	51	$204.00
Thrift Stamps.....	126	31.50
Totals.....	177	$235.50

on during the year, with the result that the shaft has been sunk 25 feet farther and tunnel driven 30 feet on the lead to the east. About 90 tons of ore carrying copper and silver has been shipped to the Grand Forks smelter. This is a good prospect.

EYES FRONT ALWAYS

WHAT do you think of your job? Isn't it the best friend you have? Then why go back on it, when some one should make the suggestion that you are too good for your job? Has no one made that suggestion to you? Perhaps not personally and direct, but the chances are you have had it insinuated to you more than once on printed page or in speech. It is not probable that any man will come along and say you had better quit—you would doubtless laugh at him. Instead, the innuendo is insidious, until one day you realize you are dissatisfied, and you think it is yourself that is at fault. The trouble is on the outside. Think about what you hear, analyze what you read, do not allow anyone who has no personal concern about you to make suggestions to you one way or the other.

Perhaps your experience is like mine. When I was merging from a boy to a youth my father thought it about time I was getting into a job. I was perfectly willing, for ready money always looks good to a boy. I knew I could get a job right away, but he said no, I must learn a trade.

"The job you have your eye on," he said, "pays good wages now, but they never get better, and you never learn anything that will be capital to you in later years. Do not think so much of the present, look ahead. When you are learning a trade, you may not make so much money as at a transient job, but twenty years from now you will have your experience and your ability as capital, which will bring you good returns."

He was right. Your father was right. How did you learn your trade? By sticking to it for three, five or seven years, not by going from one town to another, or quitting one boss and starting with some one else. It never entered your head in those days to give up what you had, and although conditions may not have been absolutely to your order, still they were not so bad.

If your job was worth sticking to for years so that you could learn it, is it not worth sticking to now, since you have expended so many years in bettering yourself? Keep in mind the same idea you had when you started to learn your trade—look ahead. It is just as important now as then to keep your eye on the future, and if you maintain a steady front, are faithful in the performance of your duties, the time arrives when you can capitalize your faithfulness, your continued industry and your integrity. In the old days you learned the mechanical part of your trade, since then you have been developing its greater possibilities.

Agitators know how to bide their time in seeking to dislodge you. You are the man they want, the man who is known to be reliable, for they are able to use you as an example when getting at others. They do not come at you with a threat, but rather with a smile. They get to know you, they get into your union, on your committees, and gradually you begin to realize that a new thought has come into your life. You wonder if you have been a bonehead all your life that you have been working the way you have. True, you have got ahead, you have saved money, you have a happy home and family, but never did you realize that something was wrong. Nothing is wrong. The world is all right, but watch out for the stranger who would associate with you. Watch out for the pernicious sentiment that radicals would disseminate. Your daily outlook—and your daily output, too—depends on your condition. If you feel well, everything looks fine. Study those with whom you mingle. Sort out your reading matter. Feel well.

Look ahead to the time when your acquired knowledge will be of greater value to you than ever—stand by your job and keep on learning.

NEW GUINEA

New Guinea, or Papua, is an island of Australasia, the largest in the world except the Australian continent, from which it is separated by the shallow island-studded Torres strait, 80 to 90 miles wide at its narrowest part, about the meridian of the York peninsula. It is divided politically between Germany, Great Britain and the Netherlands. Dutch New Guinea consists 152,000 square miles, with a population of 200,000; British New Guinea, 90,000 square miles, population 350,000; German New Guinea, 100,000 square miles, population 356,000. In the late war Australia conquered German New Guinea, which was officially known as Kaiser Wilhelm's Land, and the Australian delegation to the peace conference made a strong claim for annexation of the territory to Australia, but the claim has thus far been ignored in favor of the internationalization of all the conquered colonial possessions of German.

Most of the interior of New Guinea is still a terra incognita. It is essentially a mountainous and even an alpine region, being traversed in its entire length by lofty ranges, by far the highest in the Oceanic world, and in some places rising 2000 or 3000 feet above the snow-line. The Arfak hills in the northwest peninsula, 10,000 feet high, are continued in the central region by the Charles-Louis range, which for nearly 300 miles appear to maintain an altitude of about 14,000 feet. The northern coast range, known as the Finisterre mountains, 11,500 feet, terminates eastwards in an imposing headland projecting in the direction of New Britain, and enclosing Huon gulf on the north side. Other ranges are the Gautier and Cyclops mountains, and the Snow mountains, with Mount Wilhelmina, 15,800 feet, in Dutch New Guinea.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENT

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is not timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions, with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained on these claims in less than 5 years, with improvements of $10 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years.

Where holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes, areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.
 The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from the year of the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

TOWNSITE PROPERTY ALLOTMENT ACT.
 Provision is made for the grant to persons holding uncompleted Agreements to Purchase from the Crown of such proportion of the land, if divisible, as the payments already made will cover in proportion to the sale price of the whole parcel. Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchaser from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjustment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

"You know," said the lady whose motor car had run down a man, "you

Corporal Bilkins had arrived in France after a few days in England.

A SOLDIER'S PRAYER

BY A RETURNED SOLDIER.

Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray the Lord my gun to keep;
Grant no other soldier take
Socks or shoes before I wake.

Lord, please grant with my slumbers
To keep my cot upon its lumbers;
May not peg or guy rope break
To drop this tent before I wake.

Keep me safely in thy sight,
Grant no fire drills in the night,
And in the morning let me wake
Breathing scents of sirloin steak.

Deliver me from all work and drills,
And when I'm sick don't feed me pills;

If I should hurt this head of mine,
Don't paint it with iodine.

In a snowy feather bed
Fondly I long to lay my head,
Far away from all camp scenes
And the smell of half-baked beans.

Take me back into the land
Where people walk without a band,
Where no thrilling bugle blows
To let you know "the sun has rose."

God, thou knowest all my woes,
Give me back my civilian clothes.
Take me, I'll promise then
Never to enlist again. Amen.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Urban Verbs

Dr. Samuel Schwab claims that the oldest good story is the one about the boy who left the farm and got a job in the city. He wrote a letter to his brother, who had elected to stick by the farm, telling of the joys of city life, in which he said: "Thursday we antoed out to the country club, where golfed until dark. Then we trolleyed back to town and danced until dawn. Then we motored to the beach and Fridayed there." The brother on the farm wrote back: "Yesterday we bagged to town and baseballled all afternoon. Then we went to Ned's aud poked till morning. Today we muled out to the cornfield and gee-hawed till sundown. Then we suppered and then we piped for a while. After that we staircased up to our room and bedsted until the clock fived."

Handing It Back

American tourists who are shaky as to their French have often been embarrassed by the voluble replies which their carefully studied phrases bring forth from French lips. Just now the tables are frequently turned, and the Frenchman or woman is puzzled by the fluent American vernacular. An example:

Yankee Trooper—Parly-voe English, Mademoiselle!

French Maid—Yes, a vari leotle.

Yankee Trooper—Good work! Say could you put me wise where I could line up against good eats in this burg!

"Dit you ever long for death?" he asked, in a low and moving tone. "Who?" inquired the charming but practical young person.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a small bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Re-Establishing An Interrupted Connection

A telephone "cut-off," as it is called, may be due to the temporary disarrangement of signal mechanism at the switchboard, or just a plain human mistake by an operator at "Central" or at a branch exchange board.

In either event, it is a source of no less regret to the operator than disturbance to the persons talking. And the connection may be re-established with maximum promptness if the person who was called will hang up the receiver, while the person who called works the receiver-hook slowly up and down, advising the operator what has occurred and considerably furnishing her with such information as she may require.
