A LECTURE OF GREAT INTEREST

Evangelist Wood Spoke on Judgment to Precede Advent of Christ

That the day appointed by God in which he will judge the world will precede the coming of Christ, was the statement of Evangelist Wood in his sermon at the Empress theatre Sunday night. Continuing, he said:

"The words, 'behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me' (Rev. 22:12), clearly indicate that it must be determined who are worthy to receive the reward before it can be bestowed. 'God hath appointed a day, in which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead.' (Acts 17:31.) This is a definite period, so definite that its commencement is marked by the termination of that great prophetic period, 'Unto 2300 days, then shall the sanctuary be cleansed.' (Dan. 8:14) The angel Gabriel expressly told Daniel the prophet that this period was to begin 'from the going forth of the commandment to restore, and to build Jerusalem,' (Dan. 9:25) which took place 'in the seventh year of Artaxerxes the king.' (Ezra. 8:7.) Artaxerxes began to reign B. C. 464 (Prideau's Connection, vol 1, page 222). The seventh year would therefore be 457 B. C. Twenty three hundred days (2300 years prophetic time) would extend to A. D. 1844.

"The Jews turn their ears away from this wonderful prophecy, because it locates right to the year the time of the Messiah's baptism, and also his crucifixion, and those who cling to their preconceived idea of a judgment after Christ's coming, are perplexed because they dare not pull up the stake that marks the commencement of this wonderful prophecy, as that would disarrange the intermediate points in the prophecy: the baptism of Christ in A. D. 27, and his crucifixion in A. D. 31; which all religious teachers admit.

"While those ministers of the leading evangelical churches claimed upon the basis of this prophecy, that Christ would come to this earth in 1844, they made no mistake in the date of the ending of this period; but in the event that would take place. 'The angel Gabriel did not say 'then shall Christ come to this earth,' but 'then shall the sanctuary be cleansed.' It marked the time when the judgment would sit in the heavenly sanctuary, and the books of record be examined. (Dan. 7:9-12) The heavenly tribunal has been in session since that time; and God in his wisdom has revealed something regarding its termination. 'He shall plant the tabernacles of his palace between the seas in the glorious holy mountain; yet he shall come to his end, and none shall help him. And at that time shall Michael stand up.' (Dan. 11:45)

12:1.) In other words, when the Turkish power moves his seat of government to Jerusalem, then Christ, our High Priest, finishes his work in the heavenly sanctuary; the judgment work is completed, and the time of trouble spoken of is due in this world.

"If Felix trembled when Paul reasoned of the judgment to come, should not men, with sins unconfessed, tremble today as they listen to the message which can truthfully be sounded to the world. The hour of his judgment is come, indeed is almost finished. This message is part of the everlasting gospel (Rev. 14:6, 7), and God's messengers today, who are not proclaiming it, are leaving out a most important part of the gospel story."

A BONANZA IN ORIENT DISTRICT

The property of the F. H. & C. Gold Mining company near Rockcut, in the Orient district, is developing into a wonderfully rich mine, according to J. J. Hennessy, the manager.

"A crosscut at a depth of 30 feet revealed a body 18 feet wide, containing $25 to $35 to the ton in 42 inches of ore lying against the footwall and $150 to the ton in 18 inches on the hanging wall side," reports Mr. Hennessy. The values are about equally divided between gold and silver.

"At the 55 foot depth the value of the ore on the footwall is $62 to the ton, and at the present depth of 65 feet two feet on the footwall varies in value from $200 to $600, while ore lying next to the high grade section has a value of $10 to $100 to the ton. A crosscut is proceeding toward the hanging wall at the 65 foot depth."

NEWS OF THE CITY

W. T. Cook on Tuesday last received a telegram from the military authorities stating that his son, William Tasker Cook, formerly teller in the Bank of Commerce in this city, had been wounded on April 14 by a gunshot in his arm, and that he had been taken to the hospital at Walasey.

Peck McSwayne, of Republic, is in Grand Forks. He says that he intends to return to Republic, and that he does not wish it interred that he is running away from selective conscription.

The Ledge says that the fish in Boundary creek are coming into Greenwood in strings. In Grand Forks the fish have enough sense to stay in the river.

Lieut. Donald McQuarrie, who has been invalided home, returned to Nelson on Saturday last. On October 13 last he received a sniper's bullet that tore away a portion of his left jaw and put him out of action.

The Sun staff has been planting a series of gardens during the past week. We are now prepared to our readers expert advice on this subject.

Malcom Morrison left this week for Midway, where he intends to live in future.

DANVILLE STRIKE IMPRESSES STUTZ

"There is much promise in the mineral opened by John Falconer on the Logsdon ranch, said J. C. Stutz, of Danville, who is well known as a conservative mining man assayer, in an interview at Spokane the other day. "I made no tests of the rich samples, but believe they contain much more than $100,000 to the ton. They came from a quartz streak ten inches wide that has been stripped 100 feet at the surface.

"I am more impressed by the possibilities in the main body, apparently 10 to 25 feet wide, and those in another large body lying parallel and 400 feet west. I obtained low values in copper from decomposed matter in these bodies. As the rock is a porphyry its grade is not against it."

GIVES HIS LIFE TO THE EMPIRE

Popular Grand Forks Young Killed in Action at the Front

Bereavement fell heavily on Mr. and Mrs. F. R. S. Barlee on Saturday last, when a telegram stating that their son, Herbert Dalling Barlee, had been killed in action on April 12. The news of his death also came as a great shock to our citizens, and caused feelings of profound regret throughout the entire community, for Mr. Barlee was a young man of sterling merit. He was but nineteen years of age at his last birthday, and the future held much in promise for him had he been spared, as he was naturally bright and possessed considerable educational attainments. He was practically raised and educated in this city, coming here with his parents when he was but six years of age, and his many former associates here extend to the sorrowing family their heartfelt sympathies. The passing of a young person in the prime of health, while the shadow of life is falling toward the west, is at all times a pathetic event; but in this case the sting of the calamity is somewhat softened by the knowledge that the young man gave his life for a glorious cause—to save the empire and to perpetuate for his fellow men the liberties to which they have become accustomed.

In company with a number of other young men of this city, Mr. Barlee went to Camp Hughes last July and enlisted. In November the battalion to which he was attached sailed overseas, and about the middle of February he left England for the trenches in France. Before enlisting, Mr. Barlee was employed in the Royal bank in this city. The day before he was killed, a cousin of his, Rollin Barlee, of Kelowna, also made the supreme sacrifice.

Almost any kind of a rumor can be obtained from Victoria nowadays. But in the meantime the government, like a certain automobile, runs right along. And for the present it is wise to hold your judgment in abeyance. It will be time enough to commend or criticize it after certain investigations have been concluded.

The editorial columns in this week's issue of the Greenwood Ledge appear to indicate that Col. Lowery has returned from his vacation in California. We wish he had brought back with him a couple of sacks of southern sunshine, as we could use it now to good advantage in our production and patriotism department.

Emanuel Swedenborg, the founder of a religion, is recorded in history as a man who had a series of curious dreams. He was not, however, the only founder of a religion who has had strange dreams. Therefore the prudent person, unless he is well armed, will avoid religious controversies as he would a German submarine.

The indications are that fairs and celebrations will not be in flower in British Columbia during the coming summer, as the dates for these events are being cancelled in various parts of the province. This is as it should be. The present is not a proper time for rejoicing and festivities. All the energies of the people, in every walk of life, are required to bring the Great war to a successful termination. After that task has been accomplished we will have many victories to celebrate; and we will celebrate them on a huge scale. Just now hard work is most in line with the proper fitness of things.

Too many people in this country appear to be under the impression that they are doing their share in the production and patriotism movement by raising prices instead of growing foodstuffs. Before this war ends a great many sham patriots will be relegated to the scrap pile and the true patriots will appear on the surface.

Tomorrow the miners in the Crow's Nest vote on the adoption of the agreement arrived at by the mine owners and the representatives of the miners. If the agreement is rejected, there appears to be but one way out of the dilemma, and that is for the government to take over the coal mines and work them. Great industrial plants, whose products are needed for the successful prosecution of the war, should not be allowed to stand idle while the empire is in peril. If stringent measures are required to again start the wheels of industry, they should be taken without hesitancy.

The prohibition question in British Columbia is altogether too tantalizing. One day the "drys" are on top; the next day the "wets" bob up serenely. This alternating current of public opinion has been the daily routine for many months past. In the name of common sense, and a decent respect for the people's intelligence, give us whisky or give us water. We can be happy with either. But this perpetual juggling with the question puts a man in as great a misery as an old toper is in during the fall and spring seasons, when it is a little too cold for beer and a little too hot for Scotch. Under present conditions a man doesn't know what camp to train for. It should not be very difficult to decide the question. If the soldiers' vote was honestly taken, and they decided in favor of whisky, then we should have sufficient respect for their wishes to stand by their decision; if the vote was fairly taken, and we do not intend to abide by their verdict, then we made donkeys of ourselves when we gave them the franchise. On the other hand, if fraud can be shown in taking the poll, you can pass us a glass of water with a drop of Alberta Scotch on the side. We hope the side that was defeated will be manly enough to admit the defeat.

When recruiting for the home guards the gentlemen who turned to a yellowish color when there was a prospect of their having to go overseas, should not be encouraged to join. There are certain emoluments in connection with a home guardsman which appear tempting to them; but if trouble should arise on this side of the Atlantic, it might be difficult to get them to the front.

There are not very many political rumors from Ottawa. Local politicians, however, appear to be certain that we are to have a general federal election before next fall.

There is a great deal of truth in the following paragraph from the Republic Journal: "When the civil war closed the energy that had awakened under the stress of necessity could not be stopped immediately. The most remarkable development of the country was taken up before the ardor kindled by unusual exertions had died out. War is hell, but it is a great renovator. It stirs up the sluggish blood and brings men with eagerness to a point of action. The fever is being kindled in the present war. When this war is ended, whether it be of a brief or a long duration, a new enthusiasm will be characteristic of the national spirit, and a new era of great things naturally follow."

The Coming of The Lord

By MRS. ANNIE PELL

SINCE I wrote about the Final Judgment in the Gazette I have felt dissatisfied. In the first place, I felt deeply hurt to see what I considered a small Germany taking root at home while our boys are fighting a big Germany in the trenches. I asked God many times what He wanted me to do about it. I dreamed that the word of God lay open, and a finger was pointing along the lines. I understand this to mean, Explain the truth.

First, then, we will go back perhaps one hundred and sixty years or more, which takes us back some little time before the Final Judgment, which took place in the year 1757; for before that time the angels were in despair over our condition. They will soon come to us to give us good thoughts about God, only to find our minds almost a blank. We were so taken up with the things of the world that there was nothing in our minds for their minds to assimilate with; nothing that they could take hold of and lay a foundation for the building up of divine intelligences, and even the men of the church knew scarcely anything of the hereafter; for though it is in God's word, we did not understand it. Thus the angels lamented before God of the hopeless condition of our minds. And God made known to them that the word was written with a natural sense, or sense of the letter, with a spiritual sense and with a celestial sense; for the word is written wholly by correspondences, to the end that in every particular there may be an inner sense; that the word was divine by virtue of its spiritual and inner sense, and that He was about to declare these things, and that He would lift the veil between us and the world of spirits, so that we could know the result of our lives here in the world to come. And the angels rejoiced that we were to be enlightened. It was also made known to them that the internal meaning of the word should be exploited, that this was what was meant by the coming of the Lord. In the beginning was the word, and the word was with God and the word was God. But that, as the Lord could not appear again in person, it was necessary to find a mind capable of learning spiritual knowledges and reducing them down to natural ideas suited to our minds; that Emanuel Swedenborg was chosen by God for this office; that he was born in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1688, and died in 1772; that he wrote in Latin; that his language was so fine that words could scarcely be found in our English language to express his ideas—and no wonder, since he was giving the intelligences of angels. For beautiful truths about his life, consult the book on the life and mission of Emanuel Swedenborg.

The reason why the Lord will not appear again in person is given in the true Christian religion. He says: "The reason why the Lord will not appear again in person is because since His ascension into heaven He is in His glorified humanity, and in that humanity He can not appear to any man unless the eyes of his spirit be first opened and this opening can not be effected in any that are evil. Therefore when He showed Himself to His disciples He first opened their eyes, for it is written: 'And their eyes were opened, and they knew Him, and He vanished out of their sight' (Luke xxiv : 31). The case was the same with the women who visited the sepulchre after his resurrection; hence at the same time they also saw angels sitting in the sepulchre, whom yet it is impossible for anyone to see with the material eye. It is plain from his transfiguration before Peter, James and John, that the apostles before the Lord's resurrection did not see Him in His glorified humanity with their bodily eyes, but in the spirit. None save his disciples either saw, or could see, the Lord after His resurrection. It is in vain, then, to imagine that the Lord will appear in the literal clouds of heaven in person. The truth is, that He will appear in the word, which is from Him, and which is thus himself. Since the Lord can not manifest himself to the world in person, and yet he had foretold that He would come and establish a New Church, which is the New Jerusalem, it follows that he will effect this by the instrumentality of a man who is able not only to receive the doctrines of that church in his understanding, but also to make them known by the press. That the Lord manifested Himself before me His servant, Emanuel Swedenborg, and sent me on this office and afterwards opened the eyes of my spirit and so let me into the spiritual world, permitting me to see the heavens and the hells, and also to converse with angels and spirits, and this continually for years." Swedenborg says in many places that he never received anything relating to the doctrine of that church from any angel, but from the Lord alone, when he was reading the word; so that the Lord was constantly present with him to reveal to him the spiritual sense of His word. It should be known that man as to his interiors is a spirit, and that a spiritual body forms over our spirit, but beneath our natural body; that it forms for heaven or hell according to the life that is lived; that our spirit becomes the image of the mind; that at death, or what we call death, the Lord comes and withdraws the spirit, together with the spiritual body from the material body; that the material body is left to decay, never to be used again; that the Lord removes the spirit to the spiritual kingdom, where it is revived by celestial angels; that this is commonly called resurrection.

The next question to consider is, why the Lord did not come before the final judgment instead of after. Because divine truths must pass through the spiritual kingdom, which is midway between heaven and hell; that those who were to be judged were in the spiritual kingdom, and would intercept messages and falsify them on the way through; that before a new church could be established it was necessary to form a new Christian heaven, to be in conjunction with that church; that the New Jerusalem heaven was formed out of those Christians who were judged and whose names were found in the Lamb's book of life; that the dimensions for that heaven were the dimensions given in the xxi chap. Revelation. There had been two final judgments before at the termination of ancient churches; but that from this time forward men are to be judged at death. We are now entering the fourth and last phase of the church on earth.

Now, then, just a few things should be said about the judgment. Those who wish to know more will find it fully explained in the vi volume of the Apocalypse and in the work on the final judgment. First—The last judgment was effected in the world of spirits in the early part of the year 1757. Before the judgment took place the Lord was seen in a bright cloud with angels, and a sound of trumpets was heard from it, which was a sign representative of the protection of the angels of heaven by the Lord and of the gathering of the good from every quarter, for the Lord does not bring destruction upon any, but only protects His own. Then those who were about to perish or cast themselves into hell were seen together in the likeness of a great dragon. The judgment was passed not upon the very wicked, as they were in hell, nor upon the real good, as they were in heaven, but upon the lukewarm who had collected since Christ was on earth and who had been tolerated in the spiritual kingdom until that time.

All the people who ever lived on earth and departed are either in heaven, in hell or in the spiritual kingdom. When they are in their final abode they are there to eternity. Every one after death is in the delight of their own love. Souls in hell are in the delight of their own love of evil. They suffer and they labour for food; but souls in hell never cease to be a care and anxiety to God and the angels. The earth or land which passed was an earth or land in the world of spirits. This visible earth will not pass away. The heaven which passed away was a fictitious heaven, not built by the Lord, but by those who came out of Christendom into the spiritual world, all of whom were dispersed at the day of the last judgment. Now, then, it should be understood that true saving faith, which is a faith in one God, united with good works, is acknowledged and received. The faith of the New Jerusalem is as follows: First, that there is one God in whom is a divine trinity, and that he is the Lord Jesus Christ. Second, that saving faith is to believe in Him. Third, that evils ought to be shunned, because they are of the devil and from the devil. Fourth, that good works ought to be done, because they are of God and from God. Fifth, and that they ought to be done by man as of himself, but with a belief that they are from the Lord, operating in him and by him. The Lord promises to be with the people of the New Church as He has never been before. He says, they shall be my people and I will be their God.

I would like to say something of God's love for His own. I wish I could tell what it is to grow warm with God; I wish everyone could know what it is to stand in the genial warmth of our spring sunshine and in thought look beyond to that other sun where God dwells and feel the influx of true affection which comes from Him to His own; but here words fail—there is no language to express it.

Now, then, a few things should be said about the kingdom of heaven. It has mountains, and the celestial angels dwell there. It has fields, trees, lakes, rivers, cities, streets with dwellings. Swedenborg says: "I have seen palaces of heaven of such magnificence as can not be described. They shone above as of pure gold, and below as of precious stones, some more splendid than others. Within the apartments were adorned with such decorations as there are neither words nor knowledge to describe. On the side looking to the south were pleasure grounds, where everything shone, in some places the leaves as of silver, and the fruit as of gold, and the flowers in their beds formed rainbows with their colors, and beyond were other palaces. Such is the architecture of heaven that you would say the art is there in its art; and no wonder, because that art is itself in heaven. The angels said such things and innumerable others, which are still more perfect, are presented by the Lord before their eyes. In heaven raiment is provided by the Lord according to their state. Food is not prepared, but daily given."

Persons who wish to know more about these things should consult the work on "Heaven and Hell."

The ministers of the gospel are at a loss to know why the pews are empty. The reason is simple. The church is at an end; faith and charity are no longer there, and the Lord has gone out of it. Now, let the ministers cast off the old creeds and doctrines as they would a worn-out garment. Let the business proposition church pass away, and take up the new; let them take up a religion that lifts the veil between us and the spirit world, so that people may know the reason why—and then watch the empty pews fill up; watch the people come who have been hungering for a satisfying religion and could not find it; watch them come to hear the news from home, that has come fresh from the mind of God our Father. Let the people learn that to live and act in a manner that will meet with God's approval is to elevate the mind into the light of heaven, so that when God says, "Do this for me," they know that they are being spoken to and it is for them to act; and the people who learn this will hardly return to the old life of get-the-dollars and appear important. Oh! that I could put power into my pen. How gladly I would use it in asking all the world to accept the Lord in his second coming on His own terms, and trust Him. For only in this way can we hope to see the dawn of peace.

SAYS FOOD SHORTAGE PROSPECTS ALARMING

Prof. W. J. Black, Dominion agricultural commissioner, says the seriousness of the food situation in Canada this year can not be exaggerated. It may be more than alarming before winter.

Prof. Black is now in Victoria on a transcontinental survey. He is conferring with agricultural officials in every province. He says the season in Saskatchewan is almost a month late. Added to this is the labor shortage, which is resulting in a decrease in the acreage. Ontario and the eastern provinces especially are suffering from labor shortage. Even the record prices for wheat are not attracting sufficient labor to increase production.

The commissioner declares that the one field of patriotic endeavor that should attract city dwellers is cultivation of the land in every part of the country. Because of the high prices work of this kind will probably prove the most remunerative for the next couple of years.

"The situation is just this," Prof. Black went on: "Unless Canadians go right out into the fields this year and help the farmer with his crop, Canada's greatest opportunity to feed her own people and provide a surplus for the allies will be lost."

He says that unless the prospects improve at once the situation here will be alarming next winter.

Laugh When People Step On Your Feet

Try this yourself then pass it along to others. It works!

Ouch ! ? ! ? ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once, and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain.

He says freezone is an ether compound which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin. A quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels.

Your Telephone Is of Greater Value Every Day

The more telephones there are, the more value your telephone is. If you could reach everyone by telephone your telephone would be at its maximum value. This, however, is not probable. The number of telephone users is increasing every day. It means that in British Columbia the telephone subscriber is able to reach 300 more subscribers each month. No other commodity gives such good value as your telephone service.
