MEETING OF THE CITY COUNCIL

Dr. C. M. Kingston, Health Officer, Makes An Encouraging Report

Mayor Acres and all the aldermen were present at the regular meeting of the city council on Monday evening.

A long communication was read from C. H. Dunbar, Kamloops, district land registrar, quoting prices for furnishing municipalities with names of registered land owners in cities and other information regarding assessment rolls. Action on the matter was deferred.

A communication was read from the Union of Canadian Municipalities urging city councils to promote the consumption of fish in order to save beef and bacon for the troops at the front, and suggesting that a standing committee be appointed to take charge of this propaganda. The council appointed Ald. Webster and Harkness as a committee to supervise this department.

The chairman of the finance committee reported that $30,000 of the sinking fund had been invested in two year Canadian war bonds, and that a safety deposit box had been rented in the Bank of Commerce to keep them in. The report was adopted, and the city treasurer was designated as the only person who should have access to the box.

The chairman of the finance committee at so reported that the Grand Forks Transfer company had agreed to remove the coal which had proven unsatisfactory to the council.

The clerk was instructed to write the Grand Forks Transfer company and request them to paint their coal shed near the Kettle Valley depot, as per agreement when permission was given them to erect it.

The chairman of the board of works recommended that certain old sidewalks at the head of Wianipeg avenue in Columbia be removed. Referred to the chairman of the board of works.

Health Officer Kingston reported that this was the third week of the epidemic of the contagious disease now prevalent in our city. There had been 33 cases up to the present time; 8 patients had been discharged as cured, and there were now 16 cases in the isolation hospital. In instances where all the members of a family had caught the disease, they had been quarantined at their homes. All the cases were of a very mild character, and the disease was now fully under control. He felt confident that all the cases would be out of the hospital before Christmas. All the public buildings had been fumigated, and all mail is also being fumigated before it is sent out. The report was accepted.

The chairman of the water and light committee reported that a new floor had been put in in the fire hall; that the committee had been unable to interview the C.P.R. officials regarding the installation of a switch for their company's power line, and that the hydrants and fire alarm boxes had been tested. Six of the ten boxes had been found to be in good condition. The defective ones had been repaired. Carl Wolfram, of the Grand Forks brewery, had applied for a reduction in his water rate after the first of December, as after that date the government would not allow him to brew any more 2 per cent beer. The council reduced Mr. Wolfram's water rate to $5 for December.

On motion of Ald. Harkness and Webster, the chief of police was instructed to test the fire alarm boxes every thirty days, and the hydrants semi-annually, and if any of the former were found to be defective, to get the city electrician to repair them.

The council appointed two aldermen, who will sit, with the mayor, in the city hall on December 10, at 1 p.m., as a court of revision to revise the municipal voters' list.

BOYS AT FRONT NEED GLOVES, NOT SOCKS

Pte. Murray Janes has written the following letter from somewhere in France to his friend, Harry Binion, in this city:

"Your welcome letter came two days ago. Was glad to hear from you. . . I had the surprise of my life a day or two ago. I was doing sentry duty on an aeroplane of ours—one that had to come down on account of engine trouble. I was one of a party of four to guard the machine. There was quite a crowd of rubber necks around, and among the bunch I saw the Terrible Swede of the Traunweiser ranch, Mr. Larson, the boob that fell heir to Al's old auto. I says to him, 'How in h— did you get over here?' 'Oh, I just come over,' says he, as soberly as a Grand Forks police magistrate. The sight of Laason in khaki almost gave me a shell shock. This world is not so large, after all. 'So poor old S— is out of a job. Well, tell him to join the artillery. It is a very quiet unit to be in, and he would make an Al ramrod; or we could use him in the infantry as a pull-through.

"This is the worst part of the world I have yet been in. The mud is something awful. But the little old war goes on just the same. Night and day the big guns never stop. I do not see how the Hun stands the terrible artillery fire that we hand him constantly.

"I have not got your parcel yet, but it will come all o.k. I have not lost one yet. If a parcel is lost it is the fault of the sender. I have got my mail handed me when I was in the front line under heavy shell fire. If a parcel is addressed right and sewed up good it will come through. I want you to send me a pair of gloves—something not fancy but warm, for the winter. If you know of any one sending parcels, tell them the boys want gloves, not socks. And don't send Bull Durham—you can't keep it dry; so it is money wasted.

"I am enclosing a little shoulder strap cut from a Hun overcoat. The Hunny was a good one—he was dead. You can wear it for a watch fob. I will send Ester something if I ever get to a town where you can buy anything. Belgium is all towns, but they are all level. The Hun made a good job of Belgium, but he is now paying the price with interest. Harry, this is all the paper I have got, and none to be had till I get out again, so I will close with best regards to all."

EXEMPTION COURT ADJOURNS

Forty Exemptions on Account of Medical Category

The local exemption tribunal finished its work for the present on Wednesday last. During the time the tribunal was in session, forty applicants were exempted on account of medical category; thirteen were granted temporary exemptions; three were exempted from combatant service; thirteen Americans, Doukhobors and Italians were exempted, and thirteen applications for exemption were disallowed. Seventeen men in Grand Forks reported for service.

DID NOT FIND MOSES; BULLRUSHES GONE

Hubert F. Broad, who went overseas with one of the first contingents from Grand Forks, has written the following interesting letter to J. H. Ryley in this city:

"I am now with the Egyptian expeditionary force, having come over here for the winter offensive, and I am on my way up to the line, having been stuck in the hospital for some weeks with malaria. I can't say that I am very sorry to leave Salonika; but, really, it's far more unpleasant over here—am not struck on sandy deserts, anyway. I am writing this on the desert in Arabia, not far from the canal. We saw a good deal of the delta coming up in the train, and the vegetation under irrigation was marvellous. They were growing nearly all corn and cotton, and just harvesting the latter, taking it away on either very small donkeys or on tall, skinny camels. The only trees that we saw were some date palms, which just now have from 20 to 100 pounds of fruit on and look quite nice, as the fruit is either deep red or golden yellow, and a few small bananas growing in the lowlands. The natives looked very clean, and are hard workers. We passed over the Nile, but Moses was evidently not found there, as there were no bullrushes. The country here is all flat sand, with a lot of salt lakes, and lies below the level of the canal. The transports look rather weird at night steaming this way, from the desert. I was in the hospital at Alexandria—a very quaint old city, with quite a lot to see, but a very expensive place to have to live in. I was also at Port Said for a day. The place is not very exciting—full of Australian troops. The weather just now is fine—not too hot, and quite cold nights. We expect rain at the end of this month, which is what we have been waiting for, so we shall be busy from now on. All our transport is done by camels—a big crowd of them is just passing. They generally send them up in open railway trucks, and they look weird, with their long necks twisting in all directions. I think we shall have a good show here when we do start. When I got stuck in the hospital Art Mann was in Salonika. Just before leaving I tried to find him, but unfortunately he had just left. All the Canadians have left there now. Well, I'm afraid there is not much news to tell you, but I like to keep in touch with Grand Forks. I suppose there really is a chance of the war being over inside another year; but then the biggest thing they will have to face will be the demobilization of the troops. I'm afraid things will be pretty flat in England after the war. . . I hope you are all pulling along in Grand Forks, and that we shall all be back there soon."

DEMOCRACY IN WAR AND PEACE

People who complain because of the curtailment of personal liberties during war times will no doubt be able to extract some consolation from the following four-minute speech, delivered by the editor of the San Poil Eagle at Keller, Wash., last week:

"Ladies and Gentlemen: "I assume the liberty of expressing a thought not circumscribed by specific instructions.

"Complaint is made that America, while ostensibly fighting for democracy abroad, is not practicing democracy at home.

"It is asserted that since we declared war against Germany nearly all the important acts of our government, from the conscription of men and the commandeering of food supplies to the restriction of free press and free speech, have been derogatory of democratic principles.

"It is charged that we have even invaded the palladium of Christian youth and persuaded the Young Men's Christian association to lend its comforting influences to this bloody strife.

"All this may be true. But, my friends, a democratic government in peace can not be a democratic government in war.

"Democracy is government by the consent of the governed. War is government by force at the command of the governors. War is arbitrary power; democracy is paternal peace.

"They are positive and negative elements of motion in the mentality of mankind and gladiators in the arena of physical authority.

"Moreover, if we should apply the benevolent rules of democracy as a resisting force against the marshaled hordes of German plutocracy, we would lose this war, and with it the citadel of democracy for all time to come.

"In war our government must govern by command. It must seize our sons for fighters and our cereals to feed them, and commandeer all the requisites of successful warfare, otherwise we obscure the last star in the canopy of liberty and must yield in humble submission to the haughty dominations of imperial authority for ourselves and for the generations to come.

"We forego many of the liberties of democracy while this war is raging, and do it gladly in the confident assurance that after the war is over we and our posterity will joy in the blessings of enduring peace, and to the glory of God and the happiness of mankind we shall bask in the sunshine of a broader and more extended democracy than ever before awakened the spirit of liberty among the nations of the world."

CHASE AFTER A GERMAN SPY

Captured in Ferry County by Two Secret Service Men

According to the following exciting chase, copied from the Keller Eagle, German spies are hiding pretty close to home:

The first real gunfire of the war on this reservation occurred a few days ago at Twin Lakes, northeast of Keller, where two secret service men from the east arrested a German bomb thrower after he had fired fourteen shots from automatic guns.

The prisoner was taken to Myers Falls, and from there by train to the scenes of his pro-German operations in New York. The Statesman Index, of Colville, gives a detailed account of the long chase of the secret service men for this German spy and dynamite plotter.

The secret service men came to Colville and hired an auto and driver and went to Myers Falls. From there they entered the reservation at Inchlun, and drove to Twin Lakes, where at a certain point they ordered the car stopped; got out and handed the driver a gun, telling they were after a man and if he attempted to pass the car to shoot him.

The officers were armed with carbines and automatics when they left the car. After a considerable search the firing began and the German bomb man surrendered after firing fourteen shots without effect.

"You might be able to pull off that kind of rough stuff over in Armenia, but you can't raise hell over here in the United States," said one of the secret service men, and that was about all that was said, according to Clyde Cammerer, the driver of the car. Mr. Cammerer signed a government voucher and received $27.50 for auto service, and the men departed with the prisoner.

According to the Statesman Index, the Spokane secret service office knew nothing of the affair. But that might be expected. The men who made the arrest were from the east; had been chasing the German dynamiter for weeks; had learned of his whereabouts and came and took him.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1917.

If the Union government is defeated on December 17, a great deal of the blame for the defeat will have to be shifted to the shoulders of members of the government. The people are being exhorted, daily and weekly through the press, to exercise the severest thrift in the conservation of food and money, in order that the soldiers at the front may be fed and the government supplied with funds with which to carry on the war. This is good advice, and Canadians everywhere are stoically but cheerfully complying with it. They are willing to make any sacrifice to assure ultimate victory to British arms. But they expect that those in power should also forego some of their luxuries. When they see ministers of the government, out on electioneering tours, traveling in private trains, with retinues of private secretaries, stenographers, porters, cooks and other servants, they naturally begin to wonder why they should make all the sacrifices, while the men whom they have engaged to transact their business are living lavishly on everything that money can buy. There is room for economy in governmental circles. Some of the ministers now out campaigning, by their luxurious manner of traveling and living, are making more votes for the opposition candidates than for the government, and if Sir Robert is desirous of retaining power he should induce them to return to Ottawa. The Sun offers this advice because it believes that, at the present critical stage of the war, the return of the Union government would best serve the empire.

The Canadian Pacific railway is getting its due amount of advertising out of Mr. Shaughnessy's bluff that, if certain conditions eventuate, the company will invest ten million dollars in Victory bonds. There is nothing out of the ordinary in this proposition. Had Mr. Shaughnessy worked all his life as a section hand at two dollars per day, and then offered to invest ten millions in Victory bonds, we should have considered the act a miracle of thrift; but considering the manner in which the Canadian Pacific railway has amassed its colossal fortune, it would not be a very magnanimous transaction even if the company should loan the government ten million dollars without interest.

For months 84 Dutch merchant ships lay idle at American Atlantic ports—not because the United States government was detaining the ships themselves, but because it denied export licenses to cargoes, which it had reason to believe were intended for Germany. The government of Holland has at last seen the point, and has turned over the vessels to the American government for use in the coastwise and South American trade.

It very often happens that the person who practices injustice against others, raises the loudest howl of protest when an act of injustice is committed against himself.

A decade ago the president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, E. P. Ripley, said: "I am thoroughly convinced that I shall live to see railroads of the country in the control of the government." He was then sixty-two. "The signs may not be plain to you, but they are to me." This remark was made to "Boersianer," who, in his article on the subject of the future of the railroads, which appears in Heart's Magazine for December, draws significant conclusions based on a searching analysis of the whole range of events, affecting the financial status of the railroads of the United States since the beginning of the war in Europe.

Mr. Trotsky's denunciation of the United States demands one of the dog who bit the hand that fed him.

The food controller is well aware that in many homes of the Dominion very considerable economies in food have been effected voluntarily since the war began. In thousands of other homes high prices of food have compelled the utmost economy in selection and in apportionment to the various members of the family. The food controller aims that, as far as possible, there should be sufficient and suitable food for the people of Canada at prices which are no higher than are absolutely necessary under present conditions of supply and cost of production. Seventy per cent of the people of Canada are as thrifty and careful as any in the world. They consume but little or no more than is necessary to maintain their physical strength. The food controller does not ask these people to reduce their consumption, being the amount necessary to maintain their efficiency, but he does ask them to substitute other foods as far as possible for wheat, beef and bacon, which are needed by the soldiers overseas. There is still a considerable minority of the people of Canada who can and should reduce their consumption of food by similar living. Substitution may involve some sacrifice, but surely the men at the front are deserving that such sacrifice should be made. Elimination of waste is a patriotic service in which the most humble and the most prosperous can contribute. It is no exaggeration to say that every ounce of waste is a contribution toward starvation.

The following story, sent out from London, is an old friend in a new uniform: A Sammy wandered away from one of the training camps "somewhere in England" and stumbled into a nearby British camp, after dusk.

"Halt! Who goes there?" challenged the Tommy.

"Who t' hell wants to know?" the wanderer countered.

"Pass, American," said the sentry.

HUSSEY HAS YET HOPES OF RUSSIA

afraid, before we get back to Canada I fully I have hopes of Russia yet. I again, but I can stand it with the do not think she will try to throw rest for endurance. It is trying to away her freedom, which she has the patience of our allies, this long been trying so long to get, for the dreadful and tedious war. Of course sake of a hasty peace under the Russia has upset all calculations as finger and thumb of that damned to the conclusion of the war on account of the revolution, but it was rascal, the German emperor. . . . necessary to carry out the object for which we are fighting. ## The Telephone and The High Cost of Living

Materials used daily in the telephone business have increased in price between August 1st, 1914, and September 14, 1917, as follows:

Glass insulators, 51%; galvanized ground rods, 76%; lead-covered cable, 94%; rubber-covered telephone wire, 41%; dry batteries, 76 p.c.; telephone instruments, pole line hardware, 123 p.c., tools, 55 p.c.

These are merely a few items selected from a list of more than 600 articles of material used in the telephone business. Nowhere on the entire list of materials used by the telephone company is there an article that has not increased in price since the war began. Some material can not be obtained at present at any price. While all other materials and commodities you use were going skyward on account of the war,

Telephone rates still remain the same!

Have you ever considered the fact that, compared with the prices you are paying for everything else, Telephone service is comparatively cheaper today than anything else you use.

The Wheelbarrow Was Drunk

Everybody in Grand Forks knows Scotty.

Saturday last Scotty was pushing an old, heavily loaded wheelbarrow along Winnipeg avenue. The axle of the barrow was bent and twisted, and the load made the vehicle wobble like a drunken sailor. The weight of the load naturally had a tendency to induce Scotty to follow the gyrations of the wheelbarrow.

A minister of gospel, who had walked behind Scotty for half a block, raised a warning hand and sternly remarked, "Young man, you need prohibition."

"It's not me that needs prohibition," answered Scotty, "it's the w-w-wheelbarrow."

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

If Your Boy Goes to the Front

He has twenty-nine chances of coming home to one chance of being killed.

He has ninety-eight chances of recovering from a wound to two chances of dying.

He has only one chance in 500 of losing a limb.

He will live five years longer because of physical training.

He is freer from disease in the army than in civil life.

He has better medical care at the front than at home.

In other wars from ten to fifteen men died from disease to one from bullets.

In this war one man dies from disease to every ten from bullets.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a small bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

"The Canadians in France," A Great War Map

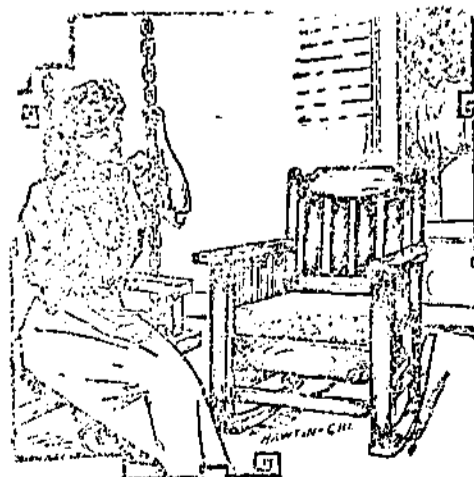

Canadian homes will no longer have difficulty in following the Canadian troops in France. There has just been issued a map of the European war area that clearly shows every point of interest that has been mentioned in dispatches since the Canadian forces first landed in France. It has been made especially for the great Canadian weekly, the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, and is a credit indeed to Canadian enterprise. It is a marvel of detail and yet not crowded. It is in four colors and about 2 1/2 x 3 1/2 feet and folded into a very neat cover, about 5 x 10 inches. The map is surrounded by a border of the regimental badges and coat of arms of nearly every battalion that left Canada, from Halifax to Vancouver. Every important point can be recognized at once. That portion of the map covering France is in a soft color with names of towns and battle-scenes in black, easily recognizable. The map is endorsed by returned military experts as most complete and accurate in detail. The map could not be produced, except in such large quantities as The Family Herald will use, at less than two dollars a copy, yet it can be had absolutely free with The Family Herald.

The publishers of The Family Herald and Weekly Star for several months back have been fighting hard against the necessity of increasing their subscription rates, but eventually had to come to it like most other papers. The increase, however, is a mere trifle—twenty five cents a year, making their new rate $1.25—and with the year's subscription they will include a copy of this great war map free of charge. This is certainly a generous offer, and one that Canadians will appreciate. Many expected a much larger increase in the subscription price of The Family Herald, and are surprised at the small extra amount charged.

The enormous circulation of The Family Herald and Weekly Star should be still greater when this offer becomes known.

SUFFERING CATS! GIVE THIS MAN THE GOLD MEDAL!

Let folks step on your feet hereafter: wear shoes a size smaller if you like for corns will never again send electric sparks of pain through you, according to this Cincinnati authority.

He says that a few drops of a drug called freezezone, applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out.

This drug is a sticky ether compound, but dries at once and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue.

It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezezone obtained at any drug store will cost very little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Cut this out, especially if you are a woman reader who wears high heels.
