AN ALTERNATIVE WATER SCHEME

Valley Need Not Be Dry
If the Project Now Being Considered Should Eail

There are some features connected with the scheme to install a gravity irrigation system by bringing the water across the international boundary line that might render the project impractical at the last moment. For instance, the international negotiations may prove insurmountable, or the Great Northern Railway company may refuse to give a right of way for the ditch on its right of way, or the cost of the system may be prohibitive. Any single one of these possibilities would cause a complete breakdown of the scheme, and leave the farmers groping in darkness. To guard against such eventualities, it has been suggested that the people of the valley put their eggs in two baskets.

A number of people have drawn the editor's attention to an alternative scheme. (These people may become offended by our persistence in calling it an alternative scheme. They maintain that it is the scheme; and they may be right at that. But at present we do not think it would be wise to put a stumbling block in the way of the original scheme.)

The advocates of the latest project propose to take the water from the North Fork; to use the smelter lake, and convert Ward's lake into a huge reservoir. Mrs. Perkins, who owns this lake, is willing to donate it for the cause of irrigation, and as much land as may be required for enlarging it.

The originators of this system claim that there is enough water in the North Fork to irrigate every acre of land in the valley, besides supplying the city with water by a gravity system; that the water can be raised to a higher level than by a ditch from Curlew; that international complications will be avoided, and that the system can be installed at a much lower cost than could be done if the water were diverted from the main river at Curlew.

The opponents of this scheme put forth the objection that the Granby company owns all the water in the North Fork. We have been assured by legal authority that the Granby's right to any water in that stream is problematical, and that any title the company may claim to it would not hold good if it did not make some practical use of the water when it might be required for agriculture. As we understand this question, water rights have been abolished and water users obtain their supply by special licenses, and the requirements of agriculture take precedence over all other industries.

Better Grades Wanted

Some orchardists write the market commissioner complaining of the high price of labor and suggesting that a lower class pack be permitted. The commissioner totally disagrees in this, and recommends tightening up instead.

This year our packing houses have raised their standard very materially and the orchardist must follow suit or take No. 2 prices. The commissioner is informed that some growers are crating their apples orchard run and marking them No. 2. This is contrary to the law and they will be prosecuted if discovered. Orchard run should never be allowed as a commercial pack unless the percentage of No. 1, 2 and 3 is specified.

Cox Orange Pippin with cracks at ends are not No. 1. These marks are characteristic of the variety and they are perfectly good only the flaws prevent them entering class No. 1.

THE BOSS WHO WASN'T A BOSS

Once upon a time, runs a modern fable, a youth about to embark on the sea of matrimony went to his father and said:

"Father, who should be boss, I or my wife?"

The old man smiled and said:

"Here are one hundred hens and a team of horses. Hitch up the horses, put the hens into the wagon, and wherever you find a man and his wife dwelling stop and make enquiries as to who is boss.

"Wherever you find a woman running things leave a hen. If you come to a place where a man is in control give him one of the horses."

After ninety-nine hens had been disposed of he came to a house and made the usual inquiry.

"I'm boss of this farm," said the man.

So the wife was called, and she affirmed her husband's assertion.

"Take which ever horse you want," was the boy's reply.

So the husband replied, "I'll take the bay."

But the wife did not like the bay horse and called her husband aside and talked to him. He returned and said:

"I believe I'll take the grey horse."

"Not much," said the young man. "You get a hen."

SHIPS FOUR CARS OF FLUORSPAR

Rock Candy Concentrator Makes the Biggest Shipment Since it Started Operations

The Kettle Valley train on Wednesday brought down four cars of fluorspar concentrates from the Consolidated company's mill at Lynch Creek. This is the largest shipment that has yet been made from the Rock Candy property, and they will undoubtedly be still further augmented in the future.

Bennie E. Fox on Tuesday sold his property in the Ruckle addition, consisting of two lots, a house and furniture, to H. W. McLennan, formerly of Phoenix and later of Vancouver. The deal, which was a cash transaction, was negotiated by Robert Campbell.

Stanford Davis, of Vancouver, a cousin of Jeff Davis, was in the city on Monday. He is superintendent of Monarch Life Insurance company, and while here he appointed Robert Campbell local agent of the company.

H. F. Weber, of the Singer-Music store, has purchased the house on Third street formerly owned by F. E. Lathe. The sale was made by S. T. Hull.

There is a difference of opinion on a certain subject by people in this valley. Some say that a frost on grapes before they are ripe ruins the crop, while others aver that a few good freezes only improves their flavor.

Mrs. Peter Hansen was operated on for appendicitis in the Grand Forks hospital on Wednesday. She was quite low after the operation, but she is now reported to be improving.

Al. Traunweiser, of the Yale, left last night for Calgary, where he will spend his vacation hunting prairie chickens.

Mrs. C. A. S. Atwood, Mrs. Jeff Davis, Clinton Atwood, J. B. McDonald, John McKie, Douglas Carter, Mr. McKay of Cascade, and Mr. McGinnis of Phoenix are attending the Conservation convention in Vancouver this week as delegates from the local association.

The Prince of Wales' special train, consisting of ten steel coaches, passed through the city at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning without stopping. Conductor Mesker piloted the train through this district.

It is expected that the special train carrying the governor general and party will reach Grand Forks about Saturday, October 11.

Mr. Porter, customs collector at Myncester, was in the city yesterday.

The sale of war savings and thrift stamps at the local postoffice for September was as follows: War savings 33, $132; thrift 112, $28; total, $160.

The customs outpost at Phoenix has been closed, and Mr. Delahay, who has been collector at that point, will move to Nanaimo.

Hon. J. D. MacLean, policy to settle the Doukhobor question is entirely in line with the plan advocated by The Sun for years, and we have therefore been saved the humiliating necessity of turning a complete somersault to approve it, as one or two persons did at the public meeting last Friday evening.

Bert Bailey is shipping ore from the Yankee Girl on Hardy mountain.

The West Kootenay Power & Light company will build a high power line from Bonnington to Kimberley, a distance of 100 miles.

HON. W. J. BOWSER CHOSEN LEADER

Hon. W. J. Bowser, former premier of British Columbia and leader of the opposition during the present regime, was re-elected leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia at the provincial Conservation in Vancouver on Tuesday. The only other name put in nomination was that of Lorne Campbell, who declined to stand for election.

In the afternoon Mr. Bowser delivered an address outlining his suggestions for the policy of the party.

Moses and Advertising

The Bible is the greatest encyclopedia of human nature in the world. Any man who wants to know how a crowd will act can learn all about it by studying the gang that Moses led around in the wilderness. Tremendously grateful to him for getting them out of slavery—grateful, yes, for about five minutes. No sooner were their feet a little wet in the wilderness, and their backs bitten a little by mosquitos, than they began to criticize Moses and wish they hadn't come. People haven't changed one single bit since those days. Moses found he couldn't keep them sold for twenty-four hours at a time; all the sales work had to be done over and over again, constantly. We've discovered the same thing; that's why our advertising runs all the year round, in season and out.

TO PREVENT UNEMPLOYMENT

Portion of Victory Loan Used to Avoid Industrial and Agricultural Depression

Next year will be well advanced before Canada's main expenditures for war can be completed. Every dollar that can be raised for the Victory loan 1919 will be required. Although hostilities ceased in 1918, the war expenses went on.

This is just as much a war year as last year was, as far as the money is concerned. Pressing liabilities incurred by the war and involving vast sums of money have to be cared for. The simplest and most profitable manner in which this can be done is for the people to provide the money themselves.

The Victory loan 1919 is entitled to just as much consideration as was given to its predecessors. It is up to every loyal Canadian to do his utmost to make the new loan an overwhelming success. The continuance of the prosperity of the nation is dependent upon it.

It was naturally to be expected that trade depression in the Dominion would have followed the armistice, but this was averted by the application of a large proportion of the last Victory loan as credits to Great Britain and our allies for grain, dairy produce, fish, lumber and ships. These credits were absolutely necessary, and strictly good business. They must be continued. They are national re-investments. The debts will be paid eventually and in the meantime industrial and agricultural workers will be kept in busy and lucrative employment.

Our Royal Visitor

The Prince of Wales has captured the hearts of all Canada. Rich and poor, old and young, are enraptured with his easy manner and happy expression. He is so different to what many expected.

No wonder a great demand has been created for a real life-like portrait of our popular future king. Photographers and artists have failed to secure a satisfactory snapshot of the royal visitor. He was not here to pose for them. It remained for The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal to secure a portrait that would be satisfactory, and they have succeeded. Just before leaving for Canada the prince gave a special sitting to the celebrated London, England, photographer, VanDyke. The agents of The Family Herald were instructed to secure the right to reproduce it in Canada, and that great weekly is now offering it to its readers.

The Sun has succeeded in making an arrangement with The Family Herald and Weekly Star by which our readers may have The Sun, The Family Herald and Weekly Star for one year and a copy of the picture for $2.00. The demand for this picture in Canada will be enormous, and we advise our readers to take advantage of this opportunity without delay.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1919

A great many of our ranchers are greatly disappointed over the actual or prospective results from the visit of the minister of lands to Grand Forks. They take a pessimistic view, and say that he came here to make a political speech instead of telling the citizens what the government is prepared to do bring water on the land in this valley. It is true that the first part of Mr. Pattullo's speech bore a great resemblance to a campaign oration. But he was virtually forced to adopt this method. A number of the farmers who preceded him on the platform, in presenting their case to the government, made the assertion, truthfully enough, that the government had doubled their taxes without giving them anything in return for their money. Mr. Pattullo had to explain why the taxes had been raised, and this explanation naturally took the form of a political talk. It could hardly have been made in any other way.

Mr. Pattullo's statement was emphatic that if the land would stand the cost of the proposed system, it was the duty of the government to assist the farmers to install it, and that the government would carry the matter to a conclusion. It is to be regretted, however, that not even a hypothetical date was set as to when that conclusion might be expected. Personally we have never lost faith in ultimately obtaining a modern irrigation system for the valley, even if the present government were openly hostile to it. Since the government has promised assistance, our faith has been strengthened. That is the view the ranchers of the valley should take of the question. We may have to wait longer than we had anticipated for a realization of the scheme, but ultimately it will be solved satisfactorily.

The minister of lands offered a practical suggestion by which matters might be expedited in the present undertaking. That was the formation of a water municipality. When we stop to think over this suggestion for a moment, such an organization appears so be absolutely essential before any real progress can be made in our negotiations with the government. The government can not deal with each farmer separately. That would be in the nature of holders of city bonds attempting to deal with individual ratepayers of the city. A request on the government coming from the duly accredited officers of a water municipality would naturally carry more weight than if it came from a committee of citizens, or even from a delegation sent to Victoria. Such an organization would also be useful in ascertaining what the farmers really want, and to extend they are willing to obligate their property in order to obtain the system they are asking for. The Sun's advice is, take immediate steps to form the water municipality. We have been indulging in idle talk long enough. It is now time to take a step that will lead to real progress in this important undertaking.

We are inclined to believe that some of the ranchers lay too much stress on the minister's statement that the bonds for the system would be a first mortgage on their property. The remark was made near the close of his speech, and evidently he did not have time to qualify or explain it. In one sense the bonds are a first mortgage, because they take precedence over all other indebtedness against property, even over a first mortgage; but in no wise do they prevent the owner of a mortgaged property from assuming this obligation, nor can they prevent a person who has subscribed to this lien on his land from mortgaging his property. The water bonds take exactly the same standing as the debentures of an incorporated city do. They leave the owner free to do what he pleases with his property.

Local Conservatives feel greatly incensed over the snobbish manner in which Grand Forks was treated by those who had in charge the arranging of the itinerary of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. For this they blame our member in the federal parliament. They rightfully say that as their representative at Ottawa he should have been more solicitous of the wishes of his constituents, and that as secretary of state he undoubtedly had some influence with the committee who mapped out the tour. Mr. Burrell was a member of the royal party, and it would have been a very gracious act on his part if he had made an endeavor to get the train to stop long enough at this point for the school children to get a view of the prince.

THE PART OF PRODUCTION

The origin of the propaganda for shorter and less exacting hours for work lies in the remote past, says the Philadelphia North American. The advocates of democracy foresaw clearly that unless a majority of a nation could be emancipated from body-breaking and mind-wrecking toil, that nation would never be capable of self-government.

Organized labor was quick to appropriate this idea, and has used it with telling effect in its effort to shorten the hours of labor, for the avowed purpose of increasing at the same time the number of jobs.

During the long period when there was a world surplus of goods and a world surplus of labor this policy was not unjustifiable. But clearly what might have been justified under such conditions is indefensible under the existing ones.

For labor to use its strengthened position to force work hours below the point of health requirements is merely to promote vicious idleness, and to promote such idleness at this time, when civilization needs more of the products of industry than ever before, is to commit a moral crime against civilization and to invite economic disaster.

In their campaign for shorter working hours labor unions in the past have had the support of medical science and the aid of all right-thinking men and women. The reduction of hours to a just standard has been of immeasurable advantage to all organized society.

But in their effort at this time to reduce the working day beyond the health limit fixed by experience and medical science they are arraying labor as a class against all other elements of the body politic.

No one who is looking for the remedy for the high cost of living can escape the conclusion that many factors enter into the problem. But no less can he escape the obvious fact that the one fundamental, permanent factor in any effective remedy is that of greatly increased production.

Decreasing production is one of the chief causes that give to a logal dollar on a 50-cent purchasing power. Scarcity of goods makes profiteers of manufacturers, middlemen and retailers almost against their will.

Even President Wilson, whose policy of unpreparedness and whose ill-considered dealings with organized labor created the vicious cycle of constantly ascending high prices, has now come to the conclusion that the only permanent solution of the high cost of living lies in increased production.

Prices will never come down as long as extravagant buyers keep them up.

When children do much telephoning, it would be well to instruct them to telephone properly.

Sallie's Advantage

A mother, indignant to find her little daughter low in her class at school, exclaimed wrathfully:

"I'm out of all patience with you, Mollie. I should just like to know why Sallie Jones is always at the head of her class and you are always at the foot."

Mollie hesitated for a moment and then, looking her mother squarely in the face, said demurely:

"You seem to forget, mother, that Sallie Jones has very clever parents."

The Intelligent Turk

George Cohen says: "The Turk has well been called unspeakable. I met one once in Pera. 'I have seven wives,' he told me, calmly, blowing perfumed clouds from his hooka.

"'Merciful powers,' I exclaimed, 'how do you manage to pay their dressmakers' bills?'

"The unspeakable Turk waved his hand:

"'I married dressmakers, son of an infidel,' he said."

Easy to Find

The teacher was very earnest—far more so than his pupils—and the subject he chose was about the terrible outcome of laziness and idleness.

With due solemnity, as befitted the occasion, he drew a terrible picture of the habitual loafer, the man who dislikes work, and who cadges for all he gets.

"Now, Charlie," said the teacher to a little boy who had been looking out of the window instead of attending closely to the lesson.

Charles was instantly on the alert. "Tell me," continued the master, "who is the miserable individual who gets clothes, food, and lodging, and yet does nothing in return?"

Charlie's face brightened. "Please, sir," said he, "the baby."

His Appreciation

The boy stood on the bridge, slapping his hands vigorously. Beyond the brow of the hill a dull-red glow suffused the sky.

"Ah, little boy," remarked the stranger, who was rather near-sighted, "it does my heart good to see you appreciate yon beautiful cloud effect!"

"Yes, sir," replied the lad; "I've been watching it for ten minutes."

Upon the boy's face there appeared a smile of radiant bliss.

"A real poet, without a doubt. And do you watch sunsets often, little boy?"

"Sunset? Why, that ain't a sun set, guv'nor! That's the village school burning down."

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

The Why? of Another Victory Loan

WHEN, on the morning of November 11th, 1918, the guns were hushed and glad tidings flashed across the world, there followed with the Nation's Prayer of Thanksgiving, one yearning query, which found echo in the faster beating hearts of wives, mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts. That query was, "How soon will our boy be home?" And, from France and Flanders, from Italy and Egypt, from Palestine and from far-off Siberia, there came an answering echo, "How soon, how soon, may we go home?"

CANADA caught the spirit of these longings, and at once resolved to satisfy them. It was an appalling task. Shipping was tragically scarce. The composition of the Army of Occupation had not then been settled. And other parts of the Empire as well as Canada were looking for the speedy return of their men.

THE problem was this. The half-million men that Canada had overseas had taken more than four years to transport to the field of battle. To bring them home in a few months was a gigantic undertaking—one to tax all Canada's ingenuity and resources. Canada solved the problem, but it meant crowding into a few short months, an expense for demobilization which it was impossible to foresee.

THEN, too, besides the sentimental aspect of the necessity for bringing the men home quickly the economic side could not be overlooked. That was, to transform efficiently and speedily the nation's army of fighters into a national army of workers.

Need Divides Itself in Two Parts

The answer to the question "Why does Canada need another Victory Loan?" divides itself into two parts. (a) To finish paying the expenses of demobilization, and the obligations we still owe to our soldiers.

Obligations to Soldiers

The obligations to soldiers include: That already incurred cost of bringing home troops from overseas. The payment of all soldiers still undemobilized. This includes more than 20,000 sick and wounded who are still in hospital, and who of course remain on the Army payroll till discharged. The upkeep of hospitals, and their medical and nursing staffs, until the need for them is ended. These three items alone will use up at least $200,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1919.

Gratuities

There is also the gratuity which has been authorized, and has been and is being paid to assist soldiers to tide over the period between discharge and their re-adjustment to civil life. For this purpose alone, $61,000,000 must be provided out of the Victory Loan 1919, in addition to the $59,000,000 already paid out of the proceeds of the Victory Loan 1918.

Land Settlement

Furthermore, soldiers who desire to become farmers may, under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, be loaned money by Canada with which to purchase land, stock and implements. The money so advanced will be paid back; meantime each loan is secured by a first mortgage. Up to August 15th, 29,495 soldiers had applied for land under the terms of this Act; and 22,281 applications had been investigated, and the qualifications of the applicant approved. For this purpose Canada this year requires $24,000,000.

Vocational Training

For this work which, with the Vocational Training and Soldiers' Service Departments, embraces the major activities of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, an appropriation of $57,000,000 is necessary.

These national expenditures are war expenses. They will be accepted readily by every citizen who gives thought to the task which Canada faced following the Armistice, and to the success with which she has met it.

National Working Capital

Canada needs national working capital, so that she may be able to sell on credit to Great Britain and our Allies the products of our farms, forests, fisheries, mines and factories.

You may ask "Why sell to them if they can't pay cash?" The answer is, "Their orders are absolutely essential to the continuance of our agricultural and industrial prosperity."

The magnitude of these orders and the amount of employment thus created, will depend upon the success of the Victory Loan 1919.

The "Why" of Credit Loans

Farmers and manufacturers (and that includes the workers on these orders) must be paid cash for their products. Therefore, Canada must borrow money from her citizens to give credit, temporarily, to Great Britain and our Allies. Actually, no money will pass out of Canada. If Canada does not give credit, other countries will; and they will get the trade, and have the employment that should be ours, to distribute amongst their workers. And remember, we absolutely need these orders to maintain employment. If we don't finance them business will feel the depression, employment will not be as plentiful, and conditions everywhere will be adversely affected.

For Transportation

Money must also be available to carry on the nation's shipbuilding programme, and other transportation development work. For loans to Provincial Housing Commissions who are building moderate priced houses.

These, then, are some of the things for which Canada needs national working capital. She is in the position of a great trading company, and her citizens who buy Victory Bonds are the shareholders.

Those who give thought to our outstanding obligations to soldiers, and to our need for national working capital, cannot fail to be impressed with the absolute necessity for the

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Frezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off. When Frezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer pre-emptions.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture and pre-emptor may apply for title in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesteads; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stamp duty.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

Provision relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 25, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes of soldiers' pre-emptions. Interest or agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on number of ranges, priority for establishment of stock owners may form Associations for range management. Peach-Pineapple Marmalade

The following recipe has been furnished The Sun by Mrs J. C. Taylor. It has been tested in our culinary department and found to produce a delicious article. Some of our readers may wish to try it:

Peach Pineapple Marmalade—6 lbs. of peaches, 1 can grated pineapple, 5 lbs. sugar.

Peel and stone peaches and chop small in pieces (or mash with potato masher); put in pineapple and sugar; cook one hour after it comes to a boil; watch carefully, as it sticks.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

OTHER TABLETS NOT ASPIRIN AT ALL

Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Genuine Aspirin

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, you are not getting Aspirin—only an acid imitation.

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are now made in Canada by a Canadian Company. No German interest whatever, all rights being purchased from the United States Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. The "Bayer Cross" is your only way of knowing that you are getting genuine Aspirin, proved safe by millions for Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger sized "Bayer" packages can be had at drug stores.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada), of the Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.
