CUT PRICES ON FOOD IN NEW YORK

Chain of Grocery Stores Follow Lead of Army in Selling Foodstuffs at Low Prices

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Sale of surplus army food in New York took on the aspects of a cut rate war today, when Market Commissioner Day in charge of sales, announced that prices of canned soups had been slashed to meet a cut in soup prices made by a chain of grocery stores following army food sales.

The army soup originally was sold at 9 and 10 cents a can, which was below the price chain stores were asking for similar products. Then chain stores cut their prices to three cans for 25 cents. Commissioner Day's new price for army soups is 7 cents a can.

Commissioner Day also announced a repulsion downward of the prices charged for army bacon, beans, corn, peas, condensed milk, corn syrup and canned tomatoes. All these staples now are being sold at prices considerably below those fixed by the fair price committee.

According to Commissioner Day, the army food sales have totalled more than $500,000 in eight days, and at the present rate the supply of army food will have been exhausted in two more weeks.

CALGARY FRUIT MARKET DURING THE PAST WEEK

This week has been one of contradictory rumors about sugar supply. Grocers have wisely restricted their customers to limited quantities. Mr. Wislow, who has been in Ottawa for two weeks, has managed to secure a generous share of what sugar was in sight. We have the following wire from him today:

"We secured shipment into prairies eight million pounds of sugar from east and Vancouver in nine days ending Friday. Current shipments will be light on account of shortage of raws. Have not given up efforts to secure export sugar at reasonable price, but this sugar could not reach prairie before September 10 at earliest."

This equals 266 cars. The Stampede has brought in crowds of visitors, and they have all but cleaned up the remaining supply of sugar on hand. Calgary managed to secure two carloads yesterday and one today of granulated sugar; four more should arrive before end of this week. Edmonton has got six cars in nine days, so the hand to mouth supply makes preserving sugar a grab proposition.

This market is receiving car lots of Crawford peaches from Washington, and the whole prairie market is in similar position. We have run an ad. in Calgary about preserving British Columbia crab apples and will follow it up with ads. in other prairie city dailies. Next week when British Columbia has this market more to herself we will point out how to preserve without sugar and show that sugar will be cheaper long before the unsugared preserves are needed for use.

When plums, prunes and peaches are over the prices of pears and apples will likely take a jump upwards.

Prices are being kept unsteady as the result of so many consignments. Car arrivals this week consisted of 10 cars mixed from British Columbia; 6 cars mixed from Washington; 3 cars vegetables from British Columbia; 2 cars peaches from Washington; 3 cars grapes from California; 1 car crabapples from British Columbia; 1 car cantaloupes and watermelons from Washington.

Preservation of Fruits and Vegetables for Use at Home

In canned goods there are two kinds of spoilage. The first is called "flat sour," which includes all forms of bacterial growth that develop within the food. The second type of spoilage to guard against is mould, a plant growth that is distinctly different from the bacterial growth. Moulded foods are seldom more than surface affected, because air is necessary for its growth, but the "flat sour" spoilage means that the entire can must be discarded. Bulletin No. 93 of the Dominion Experimental Farms, "Preservation of Fruits and Vegetables for Home Use," which may be had on application to the publications branch, department of agriculture, Ottawa, gives full information on the various methods of canning, including old and valuable recipes as well as new ones which have been valuable. Canning has become the most popular means of preserving large quantities of fruits and vegetables, and since these are plentiful during the summer months and at other times difficult to obtain, it is important to preserve quantities during the growing season for use in winter. Moreover, the use of an abundant supply of fruit and vegetables is essential to health at all seasons of the year.

THE DOMINION FRUIT GROWERS

What has become of the old-time assembling of the Dominion Fruit Growers and Shippers at Ottawa? asks the Fruit Markets Bulletin. We have slight recollections that during the war these gatherings were abandoned and the care of the fruit interests delegated to an executive committee with Mr. Hodgetts, horticulturist, Ontario, as secretary. It seems as if it was about time that Dominion Fruit Growers took the management of their destiny in their own hands again. We know of some live problems that need solving, but do not know how to approach this executive committee. Canadian fruit interests can not be managed by committees from year to year indefinitely. Something should be done towards reviving meetings. The fruit interests of Canada are now of sufficient importance to have annual Dominion meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Muir and E. Christensen arrived in the city last night from Allenby.

S. & B. C. LINE WILL QUIT

Last Train to Republic Will Probably Be Run Next Friday--Has Been Operated 18 Years

The Spokane & British Columbia railway will discontinue to operate its line between Republic and Danville. The train crew in this city has received instructions to take all ore cars and other equipment to Republic and to make the last run over the road a week from today. It is supposed that the interstate commerce commission has forced the company to take this action. As the S. & B. C. serves a number of small sawmills along its line that can not be reached by the Great Northern, an effort will probably be made to obtain permission to operate the road until the business at these mills is cleaned up. The road has been operated about eighteen years.

A very good exhibition of broncho busting was given at the Columbia stockyards Wednesday afternoon, when the mounted police broke to the saddle some of the reindeer recently purchased. The spectators enjoyed a free show that surpassed the Calgary Stampede. The chief broncho tamer was undoubtedly the best horseman ever seen in Grand Forks.

Contrary to various reports in circulation, the Granby smelter in this city is being maintained in first-class repair, and it is in good condition to resume operations at any time.

Sergt. Robert Campbell, who has been in the military hospital at Vancouver for a couple of weeks, returned home on Saturday. He states that business is good at the coast, and that the hotels in both Victoria and Vancouver are overtaxed with guests.

Fall wheat on the Big Y ranch went 26 bushels to the acre. If there had been sufficient moisture the yield would probably have been 50 or 60 bushels per acre.

Advises received in this city from Victoria state that Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands; E. A. Cleveland, comptroller of water rights, and J. E. Thompson, M.P.P., will not visit the city for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Delisle, of Bridesville, who have both been patients in the Grand Forks hospital for three or four weeks, are recovering from fever.

The Sunday school picnic of Holy Trinity church will be held tomorrow, the 6th, in the city park. Races, etc., will be included in the program.

The new government wagon bridge across the North Fork at Lynch has been completed.

August war savings stamps at the Grand Forks post office: War stamps, $96; thrift stamps, $17.25; total, $113.25.

H. Nichols was a visitor from Phoenix this week. While in town he sold his Ford to T. F. Simmons.

Mrs. E. McKewen, of Vancouver, is spending a few weeks in the city as the guest of Mrs. W. Murray.

British Columbia Honey

There is a market on the prairies for British Columbia honey. The supply now used there comes from Ontario and the United States. The Ontario supply is reported to be short. We would like to see the British Columbia honey men organized commercially and quoting their honey on this market as a unit, says the Fruit Markets Bulletin. We can assist them when they are ready to step.

The 4-pound tin, 2 pound tin, 1-pound glass jar containers seem most popular. Wholesale prices today, from the United States are 19c to 20c per pound, Ontario at 25c to 25c per pound. The prices are f.o.b. shipping point in 4 pound tins. The prices for glass containers are higher.

Retail prices: 12 oz. jars retailing in Calgary 45c to 50c; 8 oz. jars retailing Calgary 30c to 35c; 2 1/2 lb. tins, 95c to $1.10; 5 lb. tins, $1.90 to $2.20; 10 lb. tins, not in demand.

Moses and Advertising

The Bible is the greatest encyclopedia of human nature in the world. Any man who wants to know how a crowd will act can learn all about it by studying the gang that Moses led around in the wilderness. Tremendously grateful to him for getting them out of slavery—grateful, yes, for about five minutes. No sooner were their feet a little wet in the wilderness, and their backs bitten a little by mosquitos, than they began to criticize Moses and wish they had n't come. People haven't changed one single bit since those days. Moses found he couldn't keep them sold for twenty four hours at a time; all the sales work had to be done over and over again, constantly. We've discovered the same thing; that's why our advertising runs all the year round, in season and out.

The evil that men do is soon forgotten—by themselves.

NEW BUSINESS ESTABLISHMENTS

Two Real Estate Firms and a Commission Agent Will Open Offices Here Next Week

Robert Campbell, a veteran of the late war, will open a real estate office on Monday in the front of Geo Massie's shop on Bridge street. He will make a specialty of orchard and ranch lands, and, being a notary public, he will also attend to the execution of all kinds of legal documents. He is an old resident of the city, and is well and favorably known here.

C. V. Muggitt, commission agent and fruit broker, is another old-timer who intends to open an office in the city next week. He will be located in the building on Bridge street formerly occupied by S. G. Kirk, and intends to deal in farm and timber lands, poles, posts and ties. He will keep a collection in his office of the products of the orchard and farm, as well as ore samples from all the mines in the district, in order that strangers may gain a comprehensive idea of our resources.

Hugh W. Robertson, the Nelson real estate man, will open a branch office in this city. Geo C. Ege, who is now in the city, will be in charge of the the local office.

GRANBY REPORT OF OUTPUT FOR JULY HAS BEEN MADE.

The Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power company produced 2,637,184 pounds of copper in July, according to a Boston report.

An unofficial report placed the production in June at approximately 2,000,000 pounds. The May production was 1,267,688, April 607,361 and March 90,682 pounds, according to reports regarded as official.

The increase in July is believed to have resulted from the use of more equipment, which includes four furnaces, and from a better supply of coke. The ovens of the Granby company at Anyox began to produce coke and byproducts early in July.

Advertising, when properly directed, is no doubt a means of creating additional business for the advertiser. How the advertiser spends his appropriation—from the standpoint of securing results—is his own concern. The medium by which he reaches the public, however, concerns the public, and the people are awakening to the fact. Appearance counts. For this reason, and no other, all modern daily and weekly newspapers' notwithstanding that the greater proportion of their revenue comes from advertising, have excluded display advertising from their front pages. When a private industry, so dependent on its advertisers, can take a stand on behalf of appearances, how much more important is it that our public streets, the front pages of our city, should be protected. The more public a place, the more eagerly is it seized upon for the erection of a billboard, and this regardless of the fact that it constitutes a deteriorating influence upon surrounding property, in many cases is a hiding place for a "dump" and often creates a fire menace of no mean proportion. Cities are spending enormous sums in the construction of good roads and sidewalks; merchants and residents, largely for the sake of appearances, improve their property fronting on same, that the eye of the travelling public may not be offended. Yet billboards and signs are permitted without control as to location. It is high time municipal authorities recognized their duty towards public amenities, and regulated the erection of signs and billboards.

Speaking of souvenirs, did anyone get anything better than the eighteen thousand "doughboys" who brought back brides—from France, England, Scotland, Ireland? Those young women, as the American Legion Weekly says, are as courageous as their husbands, for they have left home and people and native land, to dwell in a country where every face but one is the face of a stranger, and every custom is new; but that spirit of adventure has always been the salt in our blood, and it will continue to give us, as it has given us in the past, men and women who do not fear

To shake the iron hand of Fate,

We have never had much faith in the many varieties of special sales as factors in reducing the cost of living. As a general thing, the alleged reduction in prices is made on knick-nacks, odds and ends, shopworn articles, and goods that have ceased to be in fashion, while on all staple articles and the necessities of life the old prices are maintained. At these sales people often buy goods that they do not really need because they imagine they are getting bargains, and thus increase, rather than reduce, the cost of living. A useless article is dear at any price.

The following incident, according to an American exchange, is supposed to have taken place somewhere in the United States. It might have occurred just as easily anywhere in Canada if our government were disposed to take more stringent measures against profiteering: "An ordinary looking man dropped into a shoe store, and asked the proprietor to show him some of the latest patterns in footwear. The proprietor smilingly obliged. The ordinary looking fellow spotted a pair that suited him and asked the price. 'Fourteen dollars,' chirped the proprietor. 'Fourteen dollars!' echoed the ordinary looking chap. 'Isn't that a bit high?' 'Oh! no,' the proprietor assured him. 'Tomorrow you'll have to pay $16 for that same pair of shoes. Everything is going up.' 'Very well,' said the ordinary looking man, 'I'll take them,' saying which he hastened to display a government badge to the now much agitated proprietor. Then he asked the boss to produce the invoice for that pair of shoes. After a lot of stalling and skirmishing the invoice was finally unearthed. It showed that the shoe dealer had paid $4 for that pair of shoes. Some profiteering, sure enough."

When dogs fight a bear, says the San Poil Eagle, one dog bites the bear in the back while it is facing the other dog. Then the bear turns around to fight the dog that bit it, and that gives the other dog a chance to bite the bear in the back. In this fight against the high cost of living the government is the bear and the profiteers are the dogs. Why does not the government back itself up against the wall and force all the dogs to the front? Then say to those avaricious hounds, "You may sell at such and such prices, and if you sell at higher prices we'll cuff your damned heads into jail." Such has been done in other countries and it can be done in America.

The waistcoat is at present receiving a great deal of abuse as a useless adjunct of men's apparel. These traducers are short-sighted. A man without a waistcoat in January belongs either to the hobo clan or to some lunatic asylum.

Although an ancient contract gives Denmark the right to redeem the Orkney islands from Great Britain by paying the dowry of a Danish princess and the interest that has accrued on it, the Danes are not likely to claim the right. They transferred the islands to Scotland in 1468 as a pledge for sixty thousand florins, the dowry of the princess of Denmark who married King James III, and the deed of transfer, which still exists, particularly states that they may redeem them. But the interest on sixty thousand florins for four hundred and fifty years would amount to perhaps a trillion pounds sterling.

The Dominion parliament opened last Monday. The program for the session, it is understood, will include a number of bills for continuing in force legislation passed under war measures act.

General Sir Arthur Currie, replying to an address of welcome at Sherbrooke, said that 50 per cent of the male population of London had been found unfit for military service, which went to prove that conditions are healthier in Canada, and that farm life helps the life of the nation.

After investigating irrigation conditions in Alberta, Hon. Arthur Meighen has decided to have the regulations altered. No further permits will be granted until a comprehensive place has been prepared, and then only where the greatest benefit will accrue to the greatest number of people.

We have still got to conserve even though the war is over, but there is no reason why we should carry it so far as the man who always puts a carpet over his boy when he's going to thrash him so that he will do two jobs at one time.

A signal failure has wrecked many a train of thought.

Too many men mistake gull for ability.

Don't Pose When You Telephone

There was a picture in the papers recently of Enid Bennett, movie star, using the telephone. Miss Bennett is a fine actress, and she surely knows how to use a telephone, but in this case she had her face turned away from the transmitter. Perhaps she was posing, but it might have suggested to some one that her method was the proper one when telephoning.

When you telephone, talk directly into the instrument, with your lips an inch or so from the transmitter. Then you will have to talk in an ordinary tone, and the person at the other end will be able to hear you distinctly.

Make Greater Use of the Apple

Nothing Else Quite Takes the Place of the King of Canadian Fruits in the Menu

"No fancy foreign fruit am I,
But I can make apple pie;
The golden orange brightly glitters,
But I can make good apple fritters;
These useful gifts, pray, do not spurn,
Nor from the faithful apple turn."

Scandinavian legends affirm that the apple was the favorite food of the gods, which goes to show that the gods knew a good thing when they saw it. There is no other fruit that quite takes the place of apples in the menu; they are wholesome, comparatively cheap and they can be served in such a variety of ways, there is no danger of apple dishes becoming monotonous.

When cooking apples only an earthen or graniteware utensil should be used, and silver or wooden spoons should be employed in stirring. It must be remembered that all fruits contain one or more acids, and when exposed to air or brought in contact with an iron or tin surface a poisonous compound may be formed.

Blushing Apples.—Wash, core and cook red apples in boiling water until soft. Have the water half sur round the apples and turn often. Remove the skins and scrape, putting the "red" back on the "cheeks" of the apples. To a pint of water add one cup of sugar, grated rind of one lemon and juice of one orange. Simmer until reduced to about half a cup. Cool and pour over the apples. Serve with cream sauce.

Cream Sauce.—One egg,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup cream,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup powdered sugar,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoonful vanilla. Beat the white of egg until stiff, add the well beaten yolk and gradually the sugar. Beat the cream until stiff; combine the mixtures, flavor and serve with apples.

Baked Apples.—Eight apples,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon cinnamon,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar, boiling water.

Core the apples and fill the cavities with the sugar and cinnamon, add a little hot water and bake. Serve hot or cold with cream.

Jellied Apples.—Four good sized apples, 1 pint water,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice,  $1\frac{1}{2}$  table spoon gelatine.

Cook the sugar and water until the sugar dissolves, add the lemon juice and gelatine; cloves may be substituted for the lemon juice if desired; dissolve the gelatine and set the whole aside to set. Serve with whipped cream. This looks nice colored with vegetable coloring.

Bread and Butter Apple Pudding.—Apple sauce, sugar, stale bread, vanilla.

Cover the bottom of a buttered shallow pudding dish with apple sauce. Butter slices of stale bread cut into diamond shaped pieces and place as close together as possible over the apple sauce, butter side up. Sprinkle with sugar, and a little vanilla. Bake in a moderate oven and serve hot with cream.

Dutch Apple Pudding.—One egg, 1 cup milk, 1 tablespoon melted butter,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon cinnamon,  $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups flour, salt to taste,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup brown sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 2 apples.

Beat the egg without separating, then add the milk, melted butter, flour, baking powder and salt; stir well and pour into a buttered shallow pan. Press into the mixture quartered apples, dust with the brown sugar and the cinnamon and bake until the apples are tender.

Apples Stuffed with Sausage.—Six medium sized apples, 6 sausages,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup water.

These make a nice accompaniment for roast chicken or goose. Wipe and core six medium sized apples. Insert one sausage in the cavity of each apple. Place in a pan with the water and bake in a moderate oven until the apples are tender and the sausages are done.

Plain Apple Sauce.—Wash clean, perfect apples; quarter and slice. Put into a granite pan with only enough water to cook. When done, rub through a colander, sweeten with white or light brown sugar, a small piece of butter, and a very little grating of nutmeg. Serve cold. It is very wasteful to peel apples unless afterwards some use is to be made of the peelings.

Coddled Apples.—From tart, ripe apples of uniform size remove the cores. Place the fruit in the bottom of a porcelain kettle; spread thickly with sugar and a little butter and cinnamon on each one; cover the bottom of the kettle with water and allow the apples to simmer until tender. Remove to a dish and pour the syrup over the apples and serve cold.

Apple Custards.—Steam two large tart apples that have been cored. Rub them through a sieve and add one cupful of milk, 2 teaspoonfuls of butter,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cupful of sugar, and the yolks of three eggs. Turn the mixture into baking cups, stand them in hot water and bake about 20 minutes. When they come from the oven, pile the beaten white of egg on top of each cup, sprinkle with powdered sugar, and place in the oven to brown slightly. Serve cold. This may also be served in baked pastry or patty shells.

Oatmeal Betty.—Have you ever substituted oats porridge for tapioca in apple tapioca? You will find it as good as the tapioca and an excellent way to use up left over cereal.

Four good sized apples,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup sugar, 1 cup rolled oats porridge,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon of cinnamon.

Pare and slice the apples, mix with the rolled oats porridge, add the sugar and cinnamon and bake until the apples are tender.

Giving Him Assistance

They called him Puny Pepper, because he was, besides one of the smallest, one of the most peppery officers of the regiment. To see him throwing out his 32-inch chest was to be reminded of the frog in the fable who burst with blowing. When he gave his orders in a high treble, he resembled a crow with a cough.

One day, in a particularly tropical temper, he accosted a regimental giant, and began to abuse him. For a while the huge private listened in silence. He was used to such scenes, and took them with philosophical calm. But at last he grew weary and called out to a brother private:

"Bill, go and fetch a ladder, will you? I believe he wants to box my ears!"

Then They Gave Him Up

Mr. Niblett was thrifty in money matters, and cared little for his own personal appearance. He had worn the same old shabby overcoat until his sons were ashamed of him, and tried to induce him to buy a new one.

"Oh, no," the old gentleman would always say. "I would rather have the $30 that it would cost."

One day the sons determined that he should wear a new coat, and, being living that if he could get one at a good bargain, he would buy it, arranged with a tailor to sell him a $30 coat for $15, they to pay the difference. They then went home and told their father what a handsome coat they had seen, and what a bargain it would be to buy it. So the father went and looked at it, and, after beating the tailor down to $10, took it, and started for home. But when he reached the door he had no coat with him.

"Didn't you buy the coat, father?"

"Yes; got it for $10," replied the old gentleman.

"Where is it?"

"Oh! I was showing it to a friend in the tramcar, and when he offered me $15 for it, I let him have it. I cleared $5 on that transaction."

In the Interests of Science

"Ah!" said the old professor to a friend who had called at the laboratory "I was hoping you'd come in. I want your help."

"Certainly," was the reply. "I shall be glad to give it. What can I do?"

"This is what's bothering me," continued the old man as he produced a sheet of paper covered with a quantity of white powder. "My tongue has become so vitiated through continually tasting things that I can't trust it any longer. Just put a little of this on your tongue and tell me what it tastes like."

The friend complied, while the professor gazed at him intently.

"Do you notice any effects?" he asked.

"No."

"Does it bite the tongue?"

"No."

"Is it unpleasant?"

"No," said the other, "but rather bitter."

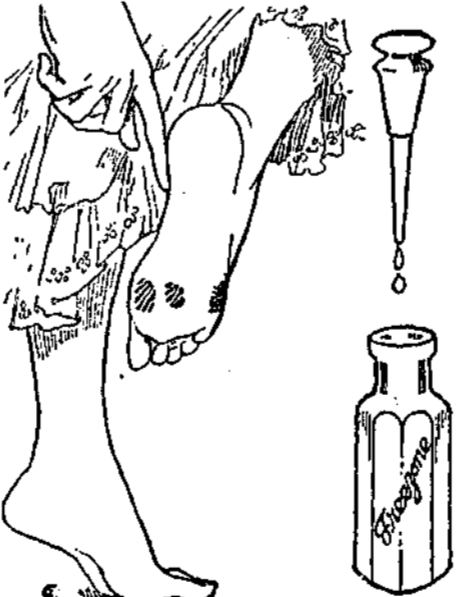

"I thought so," was the reply.

"But just what is it?" asked the friend.

"I don't quite know," said the old man kindly. "That's what I'm trying to find out. Some one round here has been poisoning horses with it!"

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off. When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

Sheet music, vocal and instrumental, 15 cents, at the Singer Store.

Those wishing neat sign painting to ornament their business places should call on W. P. O'Connor, a returned soldier.
