TWENTY-FOURTH YEAR—No 8 "Tell me what you Know is true I can guess as well as you." FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1925

NEWS AND VIEWS FROM VICTORIA

Victoria, Jan 1.—Looming largely upon the horizon of Canadian affai s at he present time is the freight rates issue. Many times during the past year the question has been commented upon in these columns, but a solution of the problem has not yet been found. However, today the entire freight rates tangle is closer to an untanglement than ever before, and it has been clearly proven that the west has won an important victory. The restoration, temporarily, of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement rates might appear upon the surface as a setback for British Columbia, but to experts it seems that the removal of all discrimination against the west will shortly be accomplished.

For years Premier Oliver has fought almost a lone fight for British Columbia's interests. True, he has been supported by boards of trade and other public bodies, bu the initiative was his and to him belongs a large share of the the credit. Before the coming session of the house of commons has passed into history it is predicted that equal freight rates all over Canada will be in force, which means that the Pacific province will, for the first time, be able to meet the competition of Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime provinces.

One of the most important issues issues which has ever been raised in British Columbia is the disposition of the Pacific Great Eastern railway. That acknowledged "white elephant" has cost the taxpayers of the province tremendous sums, and a sale of the property would mean a saving of enough money each year to decrease materially the public expenditures. Premier Oliver has received assurance that the federal railway conference will be held in January. He will attend and present British Columbia's case. First of all will come the disposition of the provincial line, and secondly the question of linking up the great Peace river country with the British Columbia coast. The premier has been trying for years to get rid of the Pacific Great Eastern, but wit out success. Following his representations to Premier Mackenzie King, a general conference was arranged. After this is over it is expected some solution will be reached as to the future of the line and the settlement of the transportation problems of Peace river. The porential wealth of the latter district is conceded to be of inestimable value in the fuller development of British Columbia.

One of the sanest policies ever attempted by any government in regard to the unemployment question has been evolved by the provincial administration. All during the winter months road work and other public works will be carried out, wherever weather conditions will permit. Hon. Dr. Sutherland, minister of public works, has announced his program for unemployment work. This includes the construction and repair of roads in many parts of the province where unemployment it most acute. The sum of $150,000 has been set aside for the work and, while there may be a loss as a result of carrying out highway work during the winter months, it is felt that the government has attempted to solve the problem in the most pra tical manner.

Despite the difficulty of the situation, Attorney General Manson is rapidly working out a solution of the beer question. Throwing everything into the hands of the new liquor commissioner, Hugh Davidson, he has shown tha the liquor problem shall be taken out of politics and before the new year is very far advanced a plan will be announced which should meet with the approval of the majority of the electors.

Only An Empty

Six-year-old Freddy, a city-bred youngster, was on his first visit to his uncle's farm. At breakfast he heard that his uncle's Jersey cow had been stolen during the night.

"That's a good joke on the man who stole her," was Freddy's comment.

"Why," asked his uncle.

"Why, just before supper last night the hired man took all the milk out of her."

Why does one recall so often and so needlessly the times he has made a fool of himself?

WILL CONSIDER QUESTIONS OF ORGANIZATION

Vernon, Dec. 30.—A meeting of directors from the various locals affiliated with the Associated Growers will be held at Kelowna immediately following the convention of the British Columbia Fruit Growers association at Penticton for the purpose of discussing several questions of organization for the coming year and getting the views of the locals before taking action.

Experience of the past two seasons has shown the advisability of changes in our system and methods, and it had been suggested to the board of directors that the services of W. Macken be obtained to make a general survey of the whole organization and recommend such changes as in his judgment would lead to greater efficiency, but Mr. Macken's engagements will not permit him to undertake this work before February at the earliest, and many questions of policy must be decided before that time.

With reference to the proposed engagement of Mr. Macken, it is unfortunate that an unauthorized item has appeared in some newspapers giving the impression that he was being considered for the position of general manager of the Associated, thereby placing him in a false position. Mr. Macken has never considered occupying that position, and in fact stated very definitely that he would not accept any permanent engagement by the Associated. He has kindly consented to give such assistance as his business engagements would permit, provided that endorsement of all locals of the proposed work should first be secured.

One of the most important questions to come before the meeting of local directors is that of some more centralized form of control of packing operations, with a view to securing greater economy by eliminating duplication of work, more efficiency in operation, and uniformity of product.—The Associated Growers of British Columbia, Limited.

Three times winner of the world's champion wheat prize at the Chicago Live Stock Show, including this year's prize, J. C. Mitchell, Agoma, Alta., sailed for the Old Country on a demonstration tour aboard the Canadian Pacific steamship "Montlaurier" on December 12. Mr. Mitchell states that prize wheat is improving each year and that exhibits which would have won first prize twelve years ago now seldom take higher than fifteenth place.

Within a radius of forty miles from Taber, a small town in the heart of the settled southern district of Alberta, antelopes estimated to number 1,000 are running wild. The prairie antelope was once almost extinct but protective measures put into force have saved the species and present indications are that this splendid game animal may soon increase to an extent rendering an open season possible and adding greatly to Alberta's attraction for sportsmen.

One of the heaviest rushes ever experienced by the Canadian Pacific Railway in connection with its traditional Christmas sailings to the British Isles was experienced this year. A special train from the West to Montreal was required for the accommodation of passengers for the company's steamship, the "Montlaurier," sailing December 12 from St. John, N.B., while one or two specials or extra sections from Montreal to St. John and extra sections on the Imperial, the Canadian Pacific transcontinental, were required daily for steamship passengers during that same week.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 2 1925

Municipal affairs have begun to engross the attention of the ratepayers, and from now until the 15th matters in connection with the civic election will furnish most of the topics for discussion. A few of the enemies of the present administration criticizes it for putting through a $5000 loan bylaw at the end of its term Yet when the financing of the city during the past year is compared with the methods pursued by councils of former years the retiring administration has nothing to be ashamed of. The 1924 council assumed from the preceding council obligations amounting $1700, esides the $4100 required for the purchase of the Granby property. There was a shortage of $3000 water and light rates, and $2000 taxes. In spite of these handicaps a fair amount of public improvements has been carried out. Six blocks of new electric line have been reconstructed; a new cement sidewalk has been built on Bridge street; considerable sums have spent on improving the City park. Not to mention other improvements, these public works have been a heavy drain on the city treasury. The two council previous to 1924 did practically no work of a public improvement nature and, unless the citizens wish to see the city fall hopelessly behind in progress, it was absolutely necessary that this money should have been expended during the past year.

The passage of the loan bylaw is not alarming. Had it not been for the deeds of the Granby property arriving in the city at this time the council would not have had to resort to this method of financing. It is not all likely that the entire amount will be used; and, with the city's share of $2500 of liquor and pari-mutual profits due to arrive here almost any day, not one cent of the amount named in the by aw may be required to finance this year's council. At any rate, the council usually passes a $15,000 loan bylaw at the beginning of each year, and the amount of the present bylaw will likely be included in the new bylaw.

I can not understand why any person who has the least regard for the appearance of the city should criticize the council for building the cement sidewalk on Bridge street. It improves the looks of the business district of the city fifty per cent; is a source of comfort to everybody, residents and visitors alike. And by no means the weakest argument in its favor is, that the taxpayers on the street whom it benefited most were entitled to it.

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation, which controls an endowment fund subscribed by the admirers of the late president for the purpose of awarding an annual prize of $25,000 to some one who has "performed meritorious service of a public character tending to the establishment of peace through justice," has made its first award. The prize for 1924 goes to Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, better known to the world as Lord Robert Cecil Viscount Cecil is a son of the Marquis of Salisbury, who was three times premier of Great Britain. From the very beginning he has been the most earnest advocate of the League of Nations in England. In the assembly of the league he has represented South Africa.

The new method of transmitting photographs by radio, which the engineers of the Radio Corporation have worked out, is briefly described as follows: The picture to be sent is photographed, and the developed film is attached to a revolving cylinder of glass. Inside the cylinder is an incandescent lamp the beam from whiah passes through the film with varying intensity according as parts of the film are light or dark. The beam is then focused by a lens on a sensitive photo electric cell called the "eye," which transforms the light waves into electrical waves that after they have been amplified in a series of vacuum tubes can be transmitted by radio. The high power alectric energy that leaves the antenna of the sending station is broken up by an ingenious mechamism into impulses like dots and dashes, corresponding to the longer or shorter waves transmitted by the "eye." At the receiving station the impulses are again amplified and translated back into the black and white of a picture, A piece of paper is wrapped round a revolving cylinder like that on which the orignal film was placed. A specially contrived fountain pen bears against the paper, and the electric current that has come across the ocean controls the pen and causes it to reproduce on the paper longer or shorter marks that correspond to the length of tho electric impulses transmitted by the sending station.

Newspapers that worked for the best interests of the three parties during the late geueral election should have no difficulty in supporting two opposing caudidates at by-elections. Heads I win, tails you lose.

The of the stone tablets discovered in the ruins of the ancient temple at the foot of Mt. Sinai may possibly have been inscribed by the hand of Moses himself. The message, which is in primitive Hebrew, reads: "I am the son of Hatshepsut, overseer of the mine workers of Sinai, chief of the temple of Mana and Jahu [Jehovah]. Thou, O Hatshepsut, was kind to me and drew me out of the water of the Nile; and thou hast placed over the temple which is on Sinai." It is well known that Hatshepsut was a great queen of Egypt who ruled about 1500 B.C. and who opened copper mines on Sinai. The date, moreover, corresponds with that which Jewish tradition assigns to the lifetime of Moses.

Perhaps you haven't noticed that when a man advertises that he has a roll of money to give away for the asking, that his hand has an extraordinarily firm grip on the long green.

At the Faculty club at Indiana university a few nights ago the older professors were discussing how they saved the pennies when they were young professors. The story that took the prize was told by the head of a department. He said he ordered three cents' worth of meat from the butcher for his cat. The meat was delivered at his house, but before it came the cat had caught a monse, so the professor called the butcher and asked whether he would come aud get the meat and take it back—refunding, of course, the amount paid for. It was reported that the butcher took the meat back.

The jars of crystallized ginger so much in demand at Christmas time come from China, so also do the root. Packages of cream ginger are prepared in the United States, but packed in Japanese boxes, and wonderful collections of crystallized fruits which are the real fruits of France, prepared there but put up in Japanese containers. There are Chinese cumquats, really miniature oranges, which do not look like oranges at all, but rather like crystallized limes or pale prunes, although they taste exactly like a strong, rather bitter orange. Mixed Chinese fruits are imported in bulk from Hongkong. Eight different kinds of fruit are packed there and sold as "Chinese chow chow." There is flagreot, too, from China for those who like something a little different from ginger.

Hunters patronizing territories in the Algoma district of the Canadian Pacific Railway had a very successful season in 1924, according to a report recently issued. Moose numbering 173, deer numbering 2,183 and approximately 7,050 partridge were secured and the number of hunters ran into several thousand. The figures quoted include those for Kipawa, Temiskaming, Mattawa, Sturgeon Falls, Pakesley, Sault Ste. Marie, Chapleau, Sudbury, Schreiber and Nipigon, all exceptionally good game areas.

More Christmas trees were shipped from Nova Scotia for the 1924 festive season than ever before, according to figures just compiled. A splendid season of winter sports is expected at Quebec this year, as more and more people are becoming interested in these healthy recreations in Canada and the United States. These include inter-club, inter-collegiate and international competitions in all winter sports, to be held under the auspices of the recently formed Frontenac Winter Sports Club, which will award the successful participants with trophies of various kinds and attractive gold, silver and bronze medals.

The most successful year enjoyed by the Canadian Pacific Great Lakes Steamship Service in freight shipments since 1913 is reported by Mr. Duff, manager of that service, for the season lately closed. The whole fleet of package freighters for the first time since the outbreak of the Great War, has been constantly employed during the seven months in which the lakes are open. A feature was the very large increase in the export flour business, some 75 per cent of the 300,000 tons of flour carried eastward by the service having been destined for export. October was a particularly good month, the ships having transported in that month 58,000 tons of eastward bound milled stuffs and grain alone.

The fight that our forces wage each winter to maintain hundreds of miles of telephone lines in the face of wind, rain, ice and snow constitutes a creditable and picturesque record. For this we do not seek praise, as it is part of our regular service to subscribers. Prescribing for the Unwilling

The soldiers marched to the church and halted in the square outside. As one wing of the edifice was undergoing repairs, there was room only for about half of the company.

"Sergeaut," ordered the captain, "tell the men who don't want to go to church to fall out."

A large number did so at once.

"Now, sergeant," said the captain, "dismiss all the men who did not fall out and march the others in; they need it most."

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 1,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least 5 acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.
