Lightning Peak Company Acquire Two More Fire Valley Claims.

The Concern Has Ample Capital and Expect to Commence Shipping Ore Early Next June—Development to Be Started Soon.

An important mining deal was recently consummated in Nelson in which Grand Forks men are interested. The property in question was located a little over a year ago by Frank Fritz and others in the Fire Valley district, which, from recent accounts, is proving to be a rich camp. The Nelson News has the following to say concerning the deal:

The Wardner syndicate, which is made up of James Wardner, and a number of North Dakota bankers, has just closed a deal for the purchase of the Waterloo group of two claims for a cash consideration of $20,000. These claims are to be merged with those of the Lightning Peak Mining company. This concern was organized in November and immediately acquired the Thunder Hill group of four claims, which are located in Fire Valley. The capital stock of the Lightning Peak company is $1,000,000, and now that Waterloo group is to be added to its assets the capital stock is to be increased to $1,500,000.

Mr. Wardner was enthusiastic yesterday when he was speaking about the properties. They are located, he says, about twenty miles from Lower Arrow lake. The Thunder Hill group of four claims was purchased for the Lightning Peak company from Geo. A. McLeod and his five associates and the consideration was $15,000. The Waterloo group was acquired from Geo. A. McLeod, who owned 5 12th, for $20,000. Mr. Wardner further stated that the ore from the properties is of a very high grade, and so confident were he and his associates that the section was an alluring one to mine in that their intention was to acquire other properties in Fire Valley. A test shipment of the average ore from the properties of the company was recently made with very satisfactory results. The shipment consisted of 1580 pounds, and the smelter returns showed that it averaged $470 to the ton. The ledges are from two to three feet wide and can be traced on the surface for long distances.

Asked how the Lightning Peak company intended to market its ore, Mr. Wardner replied: "We intend to haul it to Killarney on Lower Arrow lake over a wagon road from our properties. We have the choice of the three local smelters in which to market our output. So from this you will see that there is plenty of smelter competition, and where there is lots of competition there is sure to be good living rates for the mine owner. I expect that we will have our properties in such a condition that we will be able to send out ore by early in June. Just as soon as we possibly can we intend to begin the development of the properties on a comprehensive scale. The men with whom I am associated have ample capital and are ready to put up any reasonable amount to equip and open their properties. To my mind the investments which so far have been made by the South Dakota people constitute but the thin entering wedge to what they intend to do, provided, of course, the initial enterprise is successful. I am fully satisfied that the Fire Valley section, when it is properly opened, will make one of the large producing camps of the province. I am banking upon it, and believe that I and those who are associated with me will come out all right. I wish you would mention that Peter Wilson, of the firm of Galliher & Wilson, has done some excellent work in the way of getting the people together and closing up the deals for the properties which have been acquired by our company."

SUNSET SAUNTERINGS

A branch of the Rathbone Sisters, an auxiliary of the Knights of Pythias, was organized in this city last Tuesday evening. The organization took place in the Knights of Pythias hall on First street. The new lodge has not yet been christened. The temple was instituted and the new officers installed by D. S. C. Wessie Katzenstein, of Spokane. The following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing term: M. E. C., Laura Chapple; E. S., Cora Manly; E. J., Lillie Hammar; M., Rea Meagher; M. of R. and C., Mary Stuart; M. of F., Mary Smith; P., Jessie Fisher; O. G., Phoebe Tutt; P. C., Jean Miller; trustees, Harriet Sheads, Cora Manly and L. Mahan. Forty members in all are enrolled. Several knights were admitted as honorary members. After the business of the evening had been completed the members proceeded to the banquet hall, where a sumptuous repast was served and a most enjoyable time was spent. "A happy ending to the inauguration of the society in Grand Forks," was the verdict of all.

The dance given by Mesdames Hodges and Williams in the Yale hotel ball room last evening was the society event of the season. The first part of the program, which consisted of dancing, was carried out in 1903. Then, promptly at 12 o'clock, hands were joined and a circle formed around the room, and the new year was ushered in with singing. A tempting and sumptuous luncheon was served in the rooms adjoining the ball room, which were fitted up for that purpose. Addresses were made by A. B. W. Hodges, Mayor Burrell and R. A. Brown. The second part of the program started out with a leap-year dance—the ladies choosing their partners. The happy gathering broke up at 3 o'clock with cheers for the hosts and hostesses and the singing of "God Save the King." The costumes worn by the ladies were charming, and presented a fairy-like appearance whilst gliding around the room to the tunes of merry music.

The Phoenix Liberal association, at a well attended meeting held Tuesday evening, elected the following delegates to attend the convention at Kamloops: Wm. Delahay, H. S. Turner, E. H. Mortimer, J. B. Boyle, Robt. Horrill and J. McRae.

A meeting of the Grand Forks Liberal association will be held in Dr. K. C. MacDonald's office on Monday evening, January 4, at 8 p. m., for the purpose of electing delegates to the Kamloops convention.

EAD-PRICE—Walter H. Eade, of Spokane, and Mrs. Susannah M. Price, of Republic, were married at the Granby hotel last Tuesday afternoon, Rev. J. F. Betts performing the ceremony. The couple left for Spokane the next morning.

Ex-Ald. Chas. Cusson, of the Queen's hotel, returned home last night from a month's visit to Winnipeg.

H. N. Galer, assistant manager of the Granby smelter, is in Spokane on a business trip.

If THE SUN makes as much money in 1904 as it has during the year just closed, the proprietor will commence the erection of 25-story skyscraper in this city twelve months hence.

Most people are as good as they can be. The trouble is, some have never learned to be good.

Wednesday's Great Northern express did not arrive in the city until Thursday morning at 2 o'clock. The delay was caused by the wreck of a freight train near Spokane.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles are fitting up their lodge rooms in the Addison block in elegant style. The furnishings and fittings are being supplied by J. W. Jones.

Dr. Westwood has returned to Coleman this week, after spending Christmas with his family here.

The Grand Forks public school will re-open on Monday, January 4th, after having been closed for two months. A full attendance is expected.

For Rent—Six-room house in North addition; desirably located; city water and light; bath. Enquire at Grand Forks hotel.

Mrs. D. D. Monro returned home last Wednesday from Manitoba, where she has been visiting for the past two months.

Last Year's Output

Work Done in Mining in the Boundary Is Satisfactory.

Shipments From the Oro Denoro Will Be Increased When Boundary Falls Smelter Resumes—Mining News From the Camps.

In consequence of the closing down of the Boundary Falls smelter and the discontinuance of shipment from several mines, the ore shipments for 1903 do not reach the 700,000 mark. Revised figures will not be available for a few days, but 685,000 is the total in round numbers. The figures for the previous year were 507,811 tons, so that the increase in 1903 over 1902 is about 177,000 tons. While there have been some disappointments, the year's work in mining is satisfactory, and the Boundary district is easily the largest shipping district in the province.

Smith Curtis, managing director of the Oro Denoro Mines, Ltd., spent last night in the city, and left today for Rossland. Mr. Curtis stated that owing to the closing down of the Boundary Falls smelter the Oro Denoro was not shipping any ore at present, but preparations were under way to increase the shipments considerably when the smelter resumes operations. The mine is looking better than ever, and larger and richer ore bodies are being encountered as development proceeds. Mr. Curtis says there is no doubt of the Oro Denoro becoming a big mine.

It is reported from Republic that the coal seam discovered by Timothy Connors on his ground west of the Webster hotel, is widening into a solid bed of good merchantable coal. Mr. Connors has dug a drain ditch and let the water out of a hole he had sunk on the seam at a point as far into the hill as he could then get. There the coal is exposed above the footwall from five to seven feet thick, dipping into the hill at an angle of about 45 degrees, and there is enough good coal in sight to pay for mining. Several tons have been taken out, some of which is sacked and ready for sale. Mr. Connors expresses a determination to open up the property this winter to the fullest extent possible.

The work in connection with the converter plant at the Greenwood smelter is being rushed. The track on the converter spur will be laid this week. Two cars of structural steel have arrived, and another is expected daily. These will be hauled over the new spur to the converter site.

LOCAL NEWS

Signor Antonio Pasquale, late of Daveport's cafe, Spokane, has leased a portion of the Province hotel, and the carpenters and painters are now at work fitting it up as a first-class cafe and short order house. It will be opened to the public about January 14th. This is a needed want, and as all the delicacies of the market will be served to order, this well known chef will no doubt be well patronized by the epicures of the city and the public generally.

Nominations for mayor and aldermen will be held on January 11th, and the election will take place three days later.

MUNICIPAL matters are indeed very quiet, considering the short time that now remains before election. At present there is not a mayoralty candidate in the field. It is time the question was taken up by the electors and a choice made, as some time should be allowed candidates to place their policies before the ratepayers and state squarely their position on the different issues that at present are of interest to the people of the city. There are, as usual, a number of citizens who want to see a mayor and council elected that will give them an "open" town, and there are also others who wish to see the city government conducted on the present moral system. The question of salaries for members of the council should also be made an issue in the forthcoming election, and should either be endorsed or condemned by the ratepayers. For these reasons candidates should be in the field at as early a date as possible, in order to afford them ample time for setting views on these and other questions before the public.

THE SUN'S DREAM BOOK

¶To dream that you are a coal baron, means that you will have to burn wood until the McBride government gets ready to issue your licences.

¶To dream that you have read the New Year's edition of the Nelson Daily News, means that you know everything worth knowing about the mineral resources of southern British Columbia.

¶To dream that you was a candidate in the last provincial election, means that you have made a great many promises that have never been fulfilled.

¶To dream that you have sufficient influence to kill THE SUN, means that you are silly.

¶To dream that you have attended all the dances in Grand Forks during the holidays, means that you will be broke for the next six months.

¶To dream that you are advertising in THE SUN, means that you will have to employ additional clerks.

¶To dream that you are going to run for the Dominion house, means that you are speculating in futures.

¶To dream that you are the brainiest man in your bailiwick, means that your head would make an excellent life preserver.

¶To dream that you are going to be an alderman in the city council, means that you will have to serve without a salary.

¶To dream that you are a regular subscriber to THE SUN, means that you know a good thing when you see it.

¶To dream that this is leap year, means that all the old bachelors in Grand Forks are perfectly save.

¶To dream that you have made a lot of New Year's resolutions, means that you will soon have a great deal of fun breaking them.

¶To dream that you are "a funny little fellow," means that you bore everybody with your alleged humor.

¶To dream that you are stage struck, means that the audience wish it would strike you hard enough to kill you.

¶To dream that the city couldn't get along without you, means that you are dreaming.

SUNSET SIGNALS

The English church Sunday school entertainment and Christmas tree was held in the Megaw building Tuesday evening. Tea was served from 5 to 8 o'clock. A large number of young people were in attendance. A very credible program was rendered by the scholars of the school, which was greatly enjoyed by all present. A prettily decorated tree was loaded down with good things for the children, which Santa Claus distributed to them, after which they went home feeling happy and contented for another year.

William Robb, who was hurt by a bad fall at the Granby mines Christmas morning, is lying at the Phoenix general hospital, and is very low. While the physician does not hold out much hope for his recovery, Robb seems to be holding his own for the time being at least. His injuries are almost entirely internal, his lungs being punctured, with other complications. Robb was hurt by falling a distance of 40 or 50 feet from the ore bins, near the Knob Hill crusher. He landed on his feet, but it was at once evident that his injuries were most serious. He is a young man of 22 or 23, unmarried, and a Scotchman by birth.

John Donaldson is building an addition to the west side of his store, which, when completed, will be used as a barber shop by Mr. Long, now doing business in the Windsor building.

A most enjoyable little social dance and party was given by Miss Lily Taylor in honor of her friend, Miss Kate Scanlan, of the Nelson public school teachers' staff, in the Eagles' hall, New Year's night. About twenty-five young couples were present. Card tables were provided for those who did not indulge in tripping the light fantastic. The hall was brilliantly lighted, and presented a happy scene, with young people enjoying themselves on all sides. At 12 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served. The hostess came in for many congratulations on the splendid success of the party. After luncheon dancing and cards were resumed and continued until the wee sma' hours, when the happy gathering broke up, after spending a most pleasant evening.

EXTRAORDINARY OFFER

A radical change from old methods and prices was announced by the Toronto News this week. The eyes of the newspaper world have been upon The News for the past few months, during which time several departures have been made which have given that paper a widespread reputation for enterprise and originality. This latest move is to place The News at the price of $1.00 a year by mail. Only a deep-founded belief in the future success of The News could lead the publishers to make such a reduction in price. But just as the dollar magazine has taken hold of the people, so, we venture to predict, The News will secure a vast and ever-increasing circulation, based not only on the popular price at which it is sold, but mainly upon the intrinsic merits of the paper.

We have arrangements concluded which enables us to club the Toronto News with our own paper at $2.25 a year in advance. Such a combination presents many unique features—our semi-weekly giving you all the home and district news, and the big 12-page daily keeping you in touch with events all over the world. Send us your subscription to The News, or if you would like to see the paper first, write us and we will secure a sample copy.

The Rev. Irl R. Hicks 1904 Almanac

The Rev. Irl R. Hicks Almanac for 1904 is now ready. It will be mailed to any address for 30 cents. It is surprising how such an elegant, costly book can be sent prepaid so cheaply. No family or person is prepared to study the heavens, or the storms and weather in 1904, without this wonderful Hicks Almanac and Prof. Hicks' splendid paper, Word and Works. Both are sent for only $1 a year. Word and Works is among the best American magazines. Like the Hicks Almanac, it is too well known to need further commendation. Few men have labored more faithfully for the public good or found a warmer place in the hearts of the people. Send orders to Word and Works Publishing Co., 2201 Locust St., St. Louis, Mo.

and one lady was very profuse. "Oh,
dear Sir Lawrence," she said, "I am awfully glad to hear of the honor you have received. I suppose now that you are knighted you will give up painting and live like a gentleman."

In an Ohio town last fall, the African Methodist-Episcopal Church of that district held a conference, and for a week the town was filled with colored pulpit orators. A few days after the conference closed its sessions, one of the leading colored women of the town drove out to Pea Ridge to purchase chickens of an old mammy who had supplied the family for years. Aunt Hanna, coming to the gate, said: "I'm sorry, Miss Allie. I ain't got a chicken left. Dey all done enter de ministry."

A story is going the rounds about a prominent Nova Scotia lawyer who is noted for his carelessness in dress, which fact annoys the members of the Bar exceedingly. Entering the courtroom one day minus a cravat, the judge reproved him, saying the law required him to wear one. "Oh, yes, your honor. I know it," he answered;
"but it does not say where he shall wear it," and as he spoke he pulled it out of his trousers pocket. The matter then dropped.

General William T. Sherman was fond of relating the following story:
"When I was with the army in Georgia, a slave-owner about Christmas time missed a fine fat turkey. He suspected a good-looking mulatto, and ordered the man brought before him.
'You have stolen my turkey and eaten it,' said the irate planter. 'I see not guine to say I didn't, when you says I did, massa.' 'I ought to have you flogged. What have you to say why I should not punish you?' 'Well, massa, you hain't lost anything particular.
You see, you has a little less turkey and a good deal more nigger.' And the master was compelled to acknowledge the philosophy of the slave, and let him go unwhipped."

As a young man Paul Kruger was regarded as an authority on psalm singing, and the farmers used to come to him to learn the keynote for starting the psalms at the next Sunday's service. Kruger, even in those days, was no believer in the policy of giving anything away—not even a note of musio—so he had a uniform charge of a double handful of dried peaches for his instruction. Even the fact that the work was in the service of religion did not deter him from resorting to strategy, for he made a point of giving each applicant a different note. The result when the pious Doppers attempted to raise their voices in sacred harmony next Sunday may be imagined. The result was that each man concluded he had lost the key, and had to return for a further lesson. "I nearly bankrupted them of their dried peaches," said the president.

Ford Madox Brown, the artist, once had to be smuggled into his own exhibition. The occasion was a private view in Bond street of the Manchester fresco, "John Kay." The artist being unwell at the time was accompanied in his carriage to the gallery by his doctor and old friend, William Gill. The time passed pleasantly enough en route in conversation, when suddenly Madox Brown's talk came to an abrupt full stop; he started as though struck by some very disquieting thought, and wildly plunged round in his various pockets, blank dismay depicted on his countenance the while. "Good heavens, Gill!" he exclaimed, "I have forgotten my card of admission! What am I to do?" "Your card of admission!" replied his amazed friend, "surely you can get in without that?" "No, no," answered Madox Brown in despair,
"they will never let me in—they don't know me!" Fortunately, however Mr.
Gill was provided with the necessary passport, and he thus played the distinctly original role of getting an artist admission into his own show.

Eggs for The British Museum.

A notice of the collections recently bequeathed by the late Mr. Phillip Crowley to the natural history branch of the British Museum appeared a few days ago in the "Times." A very important portion of the bequest is the collection of eggs, from which 15,200 specimens have been added to the series previously possessed by the museum. Among the gems in the Crowley cabinet are an egg of the great auk and one of the extinct pied Labrador duck. Both these specimens were acquired by Mr. Crowley from Canon Tristram. The great auk's egg is one of the last "batch" despatched in 1844 from Iceland to Denmark. The two specimens in the museum previous to this addition were both cracked and in otherwise poor condition. An interesting item in the collection is the number of clutches of eggs of various species of birds with a cuckoo's egg among them. The Crowley collection has added about 15 per cent. to the species of birds represented by their eggs in the museum, the increase being especially marked in Australian forms, in which the national collection was previously weak.

Jay—Yes, sir; when I was in New York a sharper robbed me of fifty dollars. Hay—Why didn't you call a policeman? "Well, I thought fifty dollars was enough."—Philadelphia "Press."

GOOD SERVICE is composed of two elements —excellence of the work and promptness in the execution. Bad work executed promptly is not good service—good work delivered behind time is not good service; but the two combine to make one of the most necessary, but hardest to obtain and often most expensive, requirements of the twentieth century business man. That we have learned the lesson in theory we have shown. Our customers will testify that we have also learned it in practice.

WHY GO EAST

Over the sun-burned, sage brush and alkali plains, when you may just as well take a delightful, cool and comfortable ride through the heart of the Rocky Mountains in view of the grandest scenery on the American continent?

This you can do by traveling on the Rio Grande system, the famed "Scenic Line of the World," the only transcontinental line passing through Salt Lake City, Glenwood Springs, Leadville, Colorado Springs and Denver enroute to eastern points.

Three daily express trains make close connections with all trains east and west, and afford a choice of five distinct routes of travel. The equipment of these trains is the best, including free reclining chair cars, standard and tourist sleepers, a perfect dining car service, and also personally conducted excursion cars, each in charge of a competent guide, whose business is to look after the comfort of his guests. No more pleasant and inexpensive means of crossing the continent can be found than is provided by these excursions.

THE MILWAUKEE

A familiar name for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, known all over the Union as the great rail way running the "Pioneer Limited" trains every day and night between St. Paul and Chicago, and Omaha and Chicago. "The only perfect trains in the world." Understand: Connections are made with All Transcontinental Lines, assuring to passengers the best service known. Luxurious coaches, electric lights, steam heat, of a variety equalled by no other line.

See that your ticket reads via "The Milwaukee" when going to any point in the United States or Canada. All ticket agents sell them.

Caught in a Stampede.

TWO years ago, when the cowboys of north-eastern Arizona came together to find out who was the "best man" in various ways, James Evans won the steer-tying championship by roping, throwing and tying a vicious steer in twenty-four seconds. But in a recent round-up the champion did a more remarkable thing, by which, says the Kansas City "Star," he saved his own and another man's life.

While he and some companions were camping for the night on a high tableland, which ended a few miles away in an abrupt drop of two hundred feet, a storm swept through the mountains. Made nervous by the lightning, the herd of fifteen hundred cattle stampeded in the direction of the precipice. Evans and his men mounted hurriedly and, circling to the front of the maddened cattle, tried with whips and revolver-shots to turn them back.

In the dense blackness of the night Evans's horse missed his footing and went down in a heap, one leg in a gopher-hole. The horse of a cowboy named Davis, running close behind, stumbled over Evans's horse, and Davis, too, came to earth and lay still, unconscious.

Fifty yards away came the herd, and a short flash of lightning showed Evans the situation. The swiftly moving sea of cattle reached one hundred yards each way. Unable to arouse Davis, and never thinking of leaving his disabled comrade, Evans took the only chance of saving both. He emptied his own revolver and his companion's into the center of the herd, cutting a breach in the front of the mass. Then, throwing the inanimate form of Davis over his shoulder, he awaited his opportunity.

As one of the leaders brushed by, Evans, with one movement, put the body of Davis across the shoulders of the steer, and mounted, also. Vainly the animal leaped, bucked and side-jumped. With his legs wrapped tightly around the body of his mount, Evans drove his spurs deep in, and held himself and Davis in place.

The steer, wild with rage, agony and fright, rapidly left the herd in the rear, and, veering to the right in a furious gallop, carried his riders out of danger. Then Evans rolled off the back of his strange rescuer, and a half-hour later, when his cowboys turned the herd at the rim of the canyon, and rode back to look for the foreman and Davis, they found them, both unconscious. The weary steer, with his sides covered with blood, lay exhausted a short distance away.

The outfit ordered a medal for Evans, and the steer has been pensioned for life on the best alfalfa in the valley.

A Revolutionary Age.

Soulless corporations, heartless coquettes and conscienceless rascals of various sorts we have had with us now these many years, and it looks very much now as if a kind of providence was about to even things up a little by providing us with such useful contrivances as wireless telegraphy, heatless light, smokeless powder, boneless snad and seedless oranges. If some genius will rise up now and give us a breed of biteless dogs and stingless mosquitoes, together with some loseless umbrellas and spendless cash, we shall all be happy and content. "Leslie's Weekly."

A Visit to a Saint Factory.

WHAT lends a peculiar interest to a visit to such a factory, writes a contributor to "Pearson's Magazine," is the curious suggestion of humor which, in one's conversation with the workmen and employees, comes to relieve the deep sense of awe and reverence which at all times weighs upon one.

I remember that, having contemplated, not without a painful feeling in my breast, the most lamentable figure of an old man in monk's attire, whose hands were pierced, whose side was pierced, and from whose furrowed brow large drops of blood were trickling down, I asked a passing workman to tell me whom the statue represented. And he called to a fellow-workman: "Who is that old gent up there?" It was St. Francis d'Assisi. The painful feeling was for a while dispelled. This was but a figure after all, an article of trade. And so also, when one hears the clerks calling through the telephones: "When is it St. Maurice coming down?" "Five St. Anthonys, with their pigs, wanted at once." And so on. There is not a vestige of irreverence in these remarks, but, as I say, they are not without a most welcome suggestion of humor.

For, indeed, the terrible realism of many of these statues must impress even the most indifferent. I could not refrain from asking the maker of saints why he allowed his artists to carry the horrible to such extremes. Here was a St. Jean de Dieu succoring a leper, on whose body the modeller had not omitted one of the horrid signs of that most foul of maladies. Here was a writhing St. Sebastian streaming with blood. Here a chained woman in the flames of purgatory extended her anguished hands.

"We export very largely to South America," said Monsieur Pacheu, "and it is necessary that, to impress the imaginations of the people there—who are indifferent, as a rule, to suffering—we should strike hard. Yet in none of our figures is truth surpassed. That leper is studied from life. Those horrid bruises were copied from a corpse."

Where They Flourish.

Crawford—If you're not going out to buy a new hat, but merely to look at them, what do you want with a dollar? Crawford—Why, you can't get a dollar seat at the matinee for less than a dollar.
