BIG ORE BODIES

Immense Potential Tonnage of the McKinley Mine in Franklin Camp

Can Ship 1000 Tons Daily When Railway Reaches the Property

Two short years have sufficed to convert the McKinley claim into a mine. By the time the railway now building north from Grand Forks reaches here before the end of 1907 this well known property can easily maintain a daily output of one thousand tons of copper-gold ore. Other promising properties on which development work is being rushed will also have reached the shipping stage.

The McKinley is in shape to justify the installation of a large compressor plant. Its requirements in that respect are now engaging the attention of the management. Thus far about $40,000 have been expended in development work. A series of deep open cuts, besides extensive stripping along the course of the ore zone for hundreds of feet, have conclusively established the magnitude of the proposition. Solid pay ore self-fluxing in character was encountered in every working above and below ground. A 217-foot tunnel running south-east from McKinley gulch partially cross-cuts the ore body. When the last shift ceased drilling the face of the working was in ore. This rich mineralized chalcopryite ore zone in the opinion of the majority of the prominent experts who have inspected the property, extends to and possibly underneath the porphyry formation 500 feet farther up the hill. This supposed contact following the same general trend as the ore also caps the summit and can be traced down the opposite slope. A prominent American geologist impressed with the surface showings after a day's careful examination enunciated the theory that the mineralized area will be found far south of the contact. The porphyry he held does not attain great depth except at occasional intervals. The intermediate space according to his theory consists of a series of ore zones occurring in the lime dikes. A drift 112 feet long starting from a point 100 feet inside of the tunnel also demonstrated the enormous potential tonnage which will be available. From these underground workings diamond drill holes, many of them hundreds of feet in length, radiate horizontally and at an angle of forty-five degrees. Altogether about 3000 feet of diamond drilling have been done to date by Knight & Stone of Spokane. Similar holes were sunk from the various surface workings including one with a magnificent showing over 100 feet vertically above the face of the long tunnel. In several of these deep open cuts large quantities of galena mixed with chalcopryite are exposed. This ore runs much higher than the main ore body opened up in the tunnel and drift. It is reported to assay $50 per ton, principally in silver. On a shipping basis the major portion of the ore in sight will range in value from $9 to $12 per ton. Copper forms the principal constituent, the gold and silver values being subsidiary. The latter vary from 80cts to $1.50 per ton. Here and there in the ore zone, often a distance of twenty feet, the mineral assays twenty per cent in copper.

While no official information has been given out, it is understood the results obtained by the diamond drill have been quite satisfactory. Current report says the ore body has been proven to a depth of 400 feet from the surface. The drill is now sinking in a big showing of magnetic iron recently uncovered 500 feet distant from the tunnel in a north easterly direction. This ore even at the outcrop is impregnated with copper and will prove invaluable for its fluxing qualities. The lime dike or series of dikes in which the mineral occurs has a general trend a little east of south. No difficulty will be experienced in working the mine by glory-holing and by a series of long tunnels from the hillside all the way down to Franklin creek, affording in the latter instance a depth of 1000 feet. The adoption of this system will tend to reduce mining charges to a minimum. Even the ore from the glory holes will fall to the lower levels. The conditions here are identical with those prevailing at Phoenix where ore of much lower grade is earning big dividends.

Mr. F. Aug. Heinz, the Butte copper magnate, and his New York associates have apparently not overlooked any bets on McKinley mountain. Mr. Heinz personally examined the ground very carefully last fall. They have already purchased the Hannah and Munster claims lying below the McKinley as well as bonded about 20 other mineral claims, many of which possess good surface showings. The area under option, if acquired, will form one of the largest groups in British Columbia owned by a mining corporation. If the same success as has rewarded their efforts on the McKinley is achieved in regard to the other claims it will take no prophetic vision to foresee the possibilities of Franklin camp within a few years. Veteran miners who have had experience from Mexico to the Yukon declare that the output of this basin will sooner or later exceed that of Butte or any other copper camp on earth. That such a future is in store for this camp nobody intimately acquainted with its mineral resources doubts for a moment. Fortune hunting prospectors who have flocked in here this summer from all points of the compass are fond of recalling that Phoenix now shipping nearly 20,000 tons a week was a camp of mere mining prospects and without railway facilities eight years ago. With ore bodies equally as large and yielding values twice those of Phoenix there seems no reason why Franklin camp should not attract capital at a much faster rate.

The intelligent and economical manner in which the McKinley mine has been developed by A. D. McPhee, the superintendent, is favorably commented on by every visitor. Mr. McPhee received a practical training in the mines of Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada and Colorado. What he does not know about rock formations is not worth knowing. In common with a great many forceful Scotchmen he claims Glengarry as his birthplace. He has followed his present occupation for thirty years. Mr. McPhee has been in charge of the McKinley

Hawthornthwaite Denounces His Former Political Ally

Commissioner Would be Fired in 24 Hours in a Socialist Government

VANCOUVER, Aug. 14.—"They talk about me as being in the vanguard though not a leader, in this province—a revolutionary socialist. You can bet your life I am a revolutionary socialist—revolutionary to the last degree. Knowing that I am a slave, that I am producing children and rearing them for the slave markets of the world, if I thought I could not obtain emancipation and my children's by peaceful means—by means of the ballot box—I tell you I would be organizing in this province a rifle brigade to fight for my freedom."

Thus J. H. Hawthornthwaite in the course of a lengthy and impassioned exposition of revolutionary socialism addressed a crowded meeting in the Grand theatre Sunday evening.

At the level of practical politics the speech was remarkable only for the violent contrast it revealed between Mr. Hawthornthwaite's attitude to the McBride administration a few weeks ago and his attitude at the present time, now that his tour in the upper country has taught him that an alliance formed solely on the ground of political expediency and entirely at variance with the principles he professes, while it might place him temporarily in a position as gratifying to him as it was humiliating to his associates, would be found to have discredited him in the constituencies. When Mr. Hawthornthwaite spoke in Vancouver some weeks since, it was as the apologist of the McBride administration; Sunday night, on the contrary, he declared with regard to the Kaian island deal, that if Lands and Works Commissioner Green had been a member of the socialist administration, he would have had to quit on 24 hours' notice.

For the most part, however, it was as the apostle of revolutionary socialism that Mr. Hawthornthwaite orated. At the close a list of eighteen questions was sent up by Mr. Kane. It dealt in stinging detail with the events of the last session, and Mr. Hawthornthwaite's peculiar votes on popular questions. Mr. Hawthornthwaite opined that the writer was a lawyer, and invited him to stand up. The questioner seemed to have the slave taint well under control, and promptly rose like a free-born Britisher and declared he was a workingman and he wrote the questions. Hawthornthwaite seemed to like that, and he struggled bravely half way through the list. On the way he said he didn't know there were any South African script holders interested in the Kaian island deal, whereupon the "heckler" promptly told him there were three. Mr. Hawthornthwaite referred sneeringly to South African heroes, but dismissed the list with the statement that if the Hon. Mr. Green had been minister of lands and works in a socialist administration he would have got his walking papers inside 25 hours.

Tracklaying on V., V. & E.

MOLSON, WASH., Aug. 14.—For nearly three weeks the V., V. & E. track laying machine has been at a standstill on the east side of the long trestle which crosses Myers creek. They have plenty of rails and plenty of ties and a crew which is large enough to allow them to proceed at the rate of a mile a day, but are held up on account of the lack of stringers for the trestle. While the trestle itself is composed largely of tamarack and native fir, it is desirable that the stringers used on it be made of Douglas fir grown on Puget Sound. Orders for this were placed a long time ago, but for some reason have not yet been delivered. The material is expected every day, however, and when it arrives the steel will proceed towards Molson. Between here and the Myers creek canyon there are three bridges of considerable size, but they will form no obstruction to the steel gang if they are supplied with stringers, as all of the woodwork is done. The line is all graded now between Molson and the end of the steel. Pat Hughes finished his contract last Saturday and Burns & Jordan and Gallagher are all done with the exception of ditching, etc. Winters, Parsons & Boomer, whose contract lies west of Molson, will be through about the first of September.

CITY NEWS

Bert Rea, manager of the Betts & Hesperus mine, returned yesterday from Chicago. Since leaving here Mr. Rea has visited the famous camp of Cobalt, Ont., where he is interested in some mining properties with Richard Armstrong, one of the original owners of the Grand Forks townsite.

Two thoroughbred English bulldog pups arrived in this city last Wednesday. They were shipped here by Harry Morton, manager of the Grand Union hotel at Coleman, Alta., and were presents to friends in this city. They are valued at about $100 apiece. One went to the Hodges kennel and the other to A. H. Lawder's.

The teamsters of the city appear to have a grudge against the bicycle path on Winnipeg avenue. If they encroach much more they will soon force the wheelmen on the sidewalks again.

The five months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowell, of the West ward, died at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning of cholera infantum after a brief illness. The funeral took place from the family residence at 3:30 yesterday afternoon.

Owen Clark, a nephew of Mrs. W. B. Bower arrived in the city this week from Listowel, Ont., and will occupy the position of junior clerk in the Eastern Townships bank.

A. H. Lawder, of the Grand Forks Liqueur company, made a business trip to Coleman, Alta., this week.

NEWS OF THE CITY

A. P. Low and R. W. Brock Make a Brief Visit to the Boundary

Granby Company Declares a 3 Per Cent Dividend, Payable September 15

A. P. Low, the recently appointed head of the geological survey, arrived in the city last Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by R. W. Brock, of the survey department. After inspecting the Granby smelter, the visitors left for Phoenix, Greenwood and Midway. From the latter place Mr. Low proceeded to the coast, and from there will make a trip to Mexico before returning to Ottawa. Mr. Brock returned to this city last night, and this morning, in company with Geo. A. MacLeod and Geo. A. Fraser, M.L.A., started up the North Fork for Franklin camp. Mr. Brock made an inspection of this camp in 1900, and his favorable impressions of the mineral indications were summed up in the official report of that year. The present visit will be of special interest and value, as not only has the country been burnt over and made more accessible for examination, but a larger amount of surface and other work has been done on the McKinley and various other properties.

The Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power company has declared its tri-annual dividend of 3 per cent, or $405,000, payable September 15th. This is at the rate of $1,250,000 per year, and will make a total of $1,348,630 paid by the Granby up to date.

Kettle Valley line officials report that work on the grade is progressing in a satisfactory manner, altho railway laborers are still scarce. Camps are strung out for a distance of sixteen miles up the river. The contract for clearing the right of way ten miles farther up the line from this point was let this week to G. L. Woodard, the old contractor for this class of work.

A. W. B. Hodges, general superintendent of the Granby Consolidated, returned yesterday from his vacation at Burrard Inlet. Mrs. Hodges and daughters returned home from the same place a short time ago. Mr. Hodges caught a 41-pound salmon in the Campbell river, a famous and inaccessible stream near Vancouver, noted for big fish and frequented only by millionaires.

This morning the business of the Black Hawk livery stable, the sale of which was recorded in the Tuesday edition of The Sun, was transferred from Jas. McArdle to A. Erskine Smith & Co. Mr. McArdle intends to look after his mining and other interests in this vicinity in the immediate future, and will probably continue to make Grand Forks his permanent home.

A harvest ball will be given on the night of the 24th, in K. P. hall, Danville, under the auspices of S. O. O. W. S.

THE DEBENTURE BY-LAW

The question as to whether or not the city shall issue debentures for the Fourth street bridge is the paramount topic of discussion among the taxpayers at the present time. Our objections to the pending by-law are these: Three years ago, at the time of the amalgamation of the corporations of Grand Forks and Columbia, the city had a floating debt of over $8,000. The debenture fund had been overdrawn $8,000. Since that time there has been over $20,000 of debentures redeemed, besides paying off the floating debt and bringing the debenture fund up to the requirements of the municipal by-laws.

The revenue from hotel and saloon licenses this year is $7,000. The same revenue last year was $5,500.

The monthly salaries for city officials this year is lower than in any previous year, owing to one policeman having been dismissed.

The annual revenue from water and light should be greater this year than ever before, owing primarily to the growth of the city and the consequent increase in the number of consumers.

Now, if in the previous three years the floating debt has been paid off and other shortages made up, and the present council took office without any back debt facing them, and with the additional advantages of greater revenue from licenses, water and light and other sources, why should they not be able to set aside from the current year's revenue enough money to build a bridge without shouldering four or five thousand dollars of an extra debt—in addition to the enormous liabilities of the city at the present time—on the taxpayers? This is a question that should be thoroughly probed by every citizen before he votes in favor of the by-law.

In this connection it might be stated that we have been credibly informed that the First street bridge can be put in a safe condition for general traffic at a cost of from two to three hundred dollars. If this is true, and if the present council can show that it is impossible to build the Fourth street bridge out of the present year's revenue, the most sensible plan to pursue would be to defeat the by-law and to give the council to understand that public opinion is overwhelmingly in favor of making a make-shift of the old bridge until such time as the new one could be built without plunging the city further into debt.

In any event, we do not believe the taxpayers of Grand Forks will entertain a proposition to increase the liabilities of the city until they get on a firm financial basis.

Hawthornthwaite, Premier McBride's ally, has at last discovered that he is a slave. The people of this city have known for the past six months that Mr. Hawthornthwaite is a slave to the C.P.R. and other corporations.

The Conservative ward politicians of the city are chuckling in their sleeves. Because the most rabid Tory politician in the Boundary has finally succeeded in becoming the Grand Forks correspondent of the Liberal Nelson News, they imagine that things will be coming their way in the next election.

since its purchase two years ago by Geo. A. MacLeod of Grand Forks. He has witnessed the property evolve from a prospect into a mine which simply captivated so great an expert as Mr. Heinze. The $500,000 bond on the property is certain to be taken up. It matures in October, 1907. The money will go to the citizens of Grand Forks who backed Mr. MacLeod, the pioneer operator in Franklin, and who interested the Butte millionaire in the McKinley.

A genuine hobo was discovered at the smelter one day this week, and in consequence a foreman of that institution is shy a new suit of overalls. In common with the rest of his kind this dilapidated son of red had a woeful tale to relate. Besides having several college diplomas to his credit he also had an aged father who he was compelled to support. He had acquired a bad case of inflammatory rheumatism in a heroic attempt to move the Suwanee river down in dear old Georgia, etc., etc. Although he was wholly unfit for labor of any kind yet he was willing to sacrifice himself in order that he might raise sufficient means to buy his poor old man new pair of socks. His plea seemed so genuine that the heart of the foreman immediately melted, and to show the unfortunate man that his heart was in the right place he graciously submitted his extra overalls to the care of the stranger while he earned the much needed socks. Since then the foreman has seen nothing of the man nor of his overalls.

AS YOU LIKE IT

Some people think they are in love when all they need is a phys'c.

A man is generally known by his "setting-up" qualities, which eventually follows in his up-setting.

Cupid busies himself getting people into trouble and then leaves them to fight their own battles.

"Liberty" is represented as a female, but it is difficult for some married men to understand why.

You must not hold a man responsible for his fool kin, as you may have troubles of that kind of your own.

The "first part" in a minstrel show is very much like an expensive ladies' Easter bonnet—a joke on somebody.

"You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink." Let's see. You can lead a man to the bar, but—

The time is now ripe for the chronic kicker to get busy in lamenting the rawness of the morning air and to regret the shortness of the hot weather.

A minstrel show is a company of colored gents who have the happy faculty of playing to houses of such jamed fullness that Shakespeare is jared in his grave.

For a man to spring the average minstrel gag as a new one is to place himself on a plane with the man who bobs up occasionally to inform us that the soup must have been near the fire.

An Eastern professor says the average young man hasn't the git and push that he should. Has he ever been on Winnipeg avenue when a show was in town? and does he not know the signs of 5-cent lager?

M. Mecklenberg, M. A., the celebrated oculist, optician and eye specialist, will again be at the Yale, Aug. 27-29. Now is your opportunity to have your eyes attended to properly by this well known and widely experienced eye specialist. Fees moderate; satisfaction guaranteed.

They are simply dried bile, made up of crystalline constituents of that fluid. Very common is this disorder among merchants, clergemen, shop girls and those of sedentary habits. Prevention consists in maintaining correct action of the liver and bowels, which is best accomplished by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. No person using this medicine need fear gall-stones, nor need they ever be bilious. Sound digestion, good appetite, a clear color will evidence the health giving properties of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which are the safest and best for family use. ### Health for Run-Down Women

From the experience of Mrs. Jno Panke, Saskatoon, nothing compares with Ferrozone. "At times I was confined to my bed and couldn't do any work. I was run down in flesh, had no strength, my appetite failed, my color was pallid. Weary and cast-down, it seemed I couldn't catch up. Ferrozone started a new kind of life in my blood, built me up, vitalized and strengthened my nerves, and finally cured my heart and stomach pains." Ferrozone is a re-builder that has special virtue in female troubles. Sold everywhere in 50c boxes; try Ferrozone.
