FRUIT MARKS ACT

Enforcement of This Law Will Be Beneficial to Local Growers

Under the fruit marks act all Canadian shippers of fruit have been compelled to comply with its requirements. This British Columbia growers have faithfully and cheerfully done, though imported fruit coming in direct competition with them was allowed to be sold without hindrance, without in any way complying with the law. This situation created a condition of unfair competi ion which the Dominion government recognized, and in 1912 endeavored, on representations, to remove; and in this they were unsuccessful, because the law did not apply to imported fruit, and even if it had, there was no adequate provision for its enforcement against foreign shippers.

The British Columbia Fruit Growers' association at its last annual meeting in January passed a strong resolution citing the injustice and unfairness under which the industry was laboring and asking the Dominion government to formulate regulations, making it incumbent upon foreign shippers to comply with the fruit marks act before the packages were allowed in Canada. A committee composed of W. S. Goggo of Vernon and Thomas Abriel of Nakusp, and the secretary of the association, proceeded to Ottawa in February to press this and other matters before the Dominion government. Hon. Martin Burrell, minister of agriculture, met them in a most helpful spirit and gave them all possile assistance. He fully recognized the injustice in the fruit marks act and had legislation prepared to remedy it. The bill secured precedence in the house over many others which were dropped, and, despite the crowded and contentious character of the session and some opposition, the bill was passed.

Under the bill, as passed, the governor-in-council had power to make regulations, and these were duly published, and so given the force of the law, in the Canada Gazette of July 5. They read as follows:

His excellency the administrator in council is pleased to order that the following regulations shall be and the same are hereby made and established under the provisions of section 320A of the inspection and sale act:

1. In these regulations. (a) "Importer" means the person, firm or corporation in Canada to whom fruit from outside of Canada is sold, shipped, consigned or delivered. (b) "Fruit" means apples, crab apples, pears, plums and peaches when shipped in closed packages. (c) "Inspector" means an inspector employed by the department of agriculture of Canada to enforce the provisions of part IX of the inspection and sale act, chapter 85, Revised Statutes of Canada, 1906, and the regulations made thereunder.

2 No fruit shall be imported into Canada except as hereinafter provided.

3. Every importer of fruit, or his representative, shall cause all grade marks found on closed packages containing imported fruit to be completely removed, erased or obliterated, when such grade marks are different to, or inconsistent with the marking or branding required by sections 320 and 321 of the inspection and sale act, or section 4 of there regulations.

4. Every importer of fruit, or his representative, shall cause all such closed packages containing such imported fruit to be marked or branded in a plain and legible manner, in letters and figures not less than half an inch long, and in the following manner:

[Place here the proper grade mark.] [Place here the correct name of the variety.]

Imported by

[Insert here the name and address of the importer.]

5. The removal, erasure or obliteration of original grade marks or brands on closed packages containing imported fruit and re-marking or branding of said closed packages to conform with the provisions of the inspection and sale act as required by these regulations, shall be done at the time when the said packages are being taken from the railway car, steamship or other conveyance in which they have been brought into Canada.

6. The marks or brands specified in section 4 of these regulations shall be placed on the end of the packages.

The association has just received a letter from J. A. Ruddick, dairy and cold storage commissioner, who is charged with the enfoaement of the fruit marks act, saying that a circular is in the hands of the printers for distribution. This circular makes public the provisions of the law, which must now be obeyed by the importer under the penalties of the act.

It should be a matter of congratulation to British Columbia fruit growers that this unfairness has been removed. The change will assist materially in securing for our fruit a market at a fair price. The success of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' association in this matter will be of benefit to all the fruit growers of Canada, and should greatly encourage us to improve the condition of the industry in other ways.

Metal Production

Of British Columbia gold lode production for 1912, which totaled, $5,322,000, Rossland produced more than one-half, or $2,730,000. The Boundary is credited with $2,167,000, and Nelson district with $36:,000. The Nickel Plate mine, at Hedley, yielded $775,000 from free milling quarts. The total production of the province, both placer and lode, was $32,440,000, The silver production for the province was $7,810,000, of which the Slocan district produced 61 per cent, the Fort Steele district 12 per cent, and and the balance from the Lardeau and Nelson districts. The total lead production was $1,806,000; copper, $8,405,000; zinc, $316,000, and coal, $9,200,000.

Want to Buy Foxes

A number of Canadians have written to the department of commerce, at Washington, seeking to buy some of the blue and silver foxes from the government's preserves in Alaska, but no citizen of the United States has made a similar request, although the department is anxious to get some American to go in for fox breeding. Assistant Secretary Sweet declares that good profits await those who take up the industry.

The man found drowned in the Kettle river last week may be Robert Birchall, of Boston. A man of that name has been missing from a trap camp at Beaverdell since June.

BOARD OF TRADE

Resolution Adopted Favoring Cannery as a Local Enterprise

On Monday President Clark of the board of trade received a communication from the Western Cannery company, of Kelowna, in reference to the establishment of a fruit and vegetable cannery in this city. The company made a proposition to build a cannery at this point, and to have it ready in time to handle next year's crop, if the people of the city and valley would subscribe for $20,000 worth of stock in the company. If an additional $2000 worth of stock could be sold, a jam factory would be added to the establishment.

Mr. Clark. on receipt of this letter, called a special meeting of the board to consider the matter. At this meeting, which was the most largely attended held here for some time, the company's proposition was thoroughly discussed.

The majority of those present seemed to think that the figures submitted by the Western Cannery company were too high, and at the close of the discussion a resolution was adopted instructing the secretary to answer the communication, and to tell the company that the board, at the present time, did not see its way clear to endorse the proposition. Another resolution favoring the establishment of a cannery by local people was adopted. A number of citizens are now engaged in perfecting the plans of such an enterprise.

Have You Been Stung?

The Fernie board of trade continues its efforts against real estate peddlers of faraway subdivision lots. These real estate peddlers make special efforts to sell to nurses, teachers, clerks, waitresses and chambermaids, and the Fernie board finds that much of the stuff sold is worthless and will not bring the price paid for it for many years. Fully $50,000 is sent out of Fernie every month to complete payments, and the customers of the merchants are unable to pay their legitimate bills. Some lots purchased in Athabaska Landing, for instance, at $150 each, are assessed at $25, and on writing to the municipality. the reply came back that the people of Athabaska Landing did not buy lots a mile and a half from town, and they doubted if the lots would bring $25 each at forced sale.

Here is another instance, and this from Moose Jaw, of lots being sold by a syndicate for $175 to $250. The owner of this property, on account of its proximity to Moose Jaw, has valued it at $100 per acre (it being at present a fine wheat field) as farm land. As a real estate proposition its value is about $200 per acre. There appears to be no possibility of getting water there within the next fifty years.

High School Examinations

In the results of the July examinations in the high schools of the province 1228 pupils passed out of 1747. The highest marks were obtained by Hazel McConnel, of Victoria, in the preliminary course junior grade, with 882, and A. L. Marshall, Victoria, in the advanced course, junior grade, with 857.

The pupils in the Grand Forks high school who passed were:

Advanced Course, Junior Grade—Harold W. McInnes, 674; Gladys Traunweiser, 616; Doris Kerman, 574; Sherlock W. Ingram, 550; Robert Newbauer, 516; Bertha M. Gilpin, 509.

Intermediate Grade—Constance E. Munro, 751; Edna M. Stuart, 734.

Disposing of Railway Lands

An order-in-council has been passed providing that within the 40-mile railway belt in British Columbia the minister of the interior may grant lands in areas not exceeding a legal subdivision of forty acres, more or less. The minister may, in the case of lands deemed to be specially valuable, dispose of them in such areas and on such terms and conditions as to price and settlement duties as he may see fit.

NEWS OF THE CITY IN BRIEF

On Wednesday a most enjoyable and very successful social was held at Mrs. James Livesley's residence, in the Ruckle addition, for the benefit of Holy Trinity parish. Ice cream and other refreshments were served, and recitations, songs and instrumental music helped to pass the time away most agreeably. A perfect evening, beautifully lit up grounds, a most genial host, and good company, made this occasion one of the happiest of the year.

A number of enthusiastic floriculturists of the city are advocating the formation of an improvement club for the purpose of holding a flower show here next summer. It is claimed that nothing gives the citizens of a town a greater incentive for beautifying their lawns and gardens than a flower show, and there fore the project should be encouraged.

Hon. Martin Burrell, minister of agriculture. and Hon. W. T. Reid, minister of finance, who are now in London, were presented to King George last week.

Labor day will be celebrated by the citizens of Phoenix.

THE CITY COUNCIL

A Block and a Half of Cement Sidewalks Is Authorized

Mayor Fripp and Ald. Manly, Miller, Smith, Taylor, Woodland and Wright were present at the meeting of the city council on Monday night.

The chief of police was instructed to enforce the provisions of the noxious weed act.

A petition was received from the property owners for a cement sidewalk on First street, from McInnes' store to P. Burns & Co.'s store. The petition was granted.

Properfy owners on Victoria avenue petitioned the council for one block of cement sidewalks, which was granted.

The board of works reported that the Bridge street bridge had been temporarily repaired; also that some grading on Riverside avenue had been completed.

The health and relief committee reported that the frame blocks between P. Burns & Co.'s and the Bonthron-McKie block, on First street, to be in an uusanitary condition, and the clerk was instructed to notify the owners to have septic tanks constructed.

The health and relief committee complained of the unsanitary methods of the meat markets in handling their meats. The clerk was instructed to notify them to take greater precautions in future.

City Engineer F. W. Reid was granted a two weeks' leave of absence.

A Federal Bird Law

The sixty-second congress of the United States passed a bill that places migratory birds under the powerful protection of the federal government, and that will put an end to the shooting of song birds and insectivorous birds in any state. The Weeks-McLean migratory bird law provides that the bureau of biological survey of the United States department of agriculture shall fix the seasons in which the shooting of migratory birds is permitted. The bureau has completed and published the first set of regulations, which may become effective on October 1. These regulations take absolute precedence over all existing statutes in the various states Spring shooting is absolutely prohibited, and so is the shooting of migratory birds between sunset and sunrise. A closed season is established until September 1, 1918. for band-tail pigeons, little brown, sand-hill and whooping cranes, swans, curlews, all shore-birds, except black-breasted or golden plower, Wilson or jacksnipe, wood duck, and greater and lesser yellow-legs. At all times and in all states, the regulations prohibits the shooting of insectivorous birds, such as robins, grosbeaks, larks, and many other birds. They also protect the smaller shore-birds, and others that have become greatly reduced in numbers.

English Reserve

An informal address was delivered by a member of the Anglo-American community at one of London's most popular clubs on the text: Is the Britisher Losing His Habitual Reserve? The speaker has lived ten years in London and the provinces, and claims that a complete change has come over the Englishman during that time, for instead of hating the sight of his fellow men, he has got so that he is now almost human. The English Sunday has changed, the Englishman no longer stops at home. The restaurant habit has increased his affability so that he not only does not avoid strangers at his table, but even talks to them. Then 10 years ago he would do his best to find a railway compartment for himself, now he has become quite an agreeable travelling companion.

Many forces, the speaker averred, have been at work to break down the Englishman's traditional reserve. The cinema picture houses, the theatres, and music halls, the big department stores, continental tours, winter sports, summer seaside resorts, golf and a dozen other factors are helping to make an Englishman more congenial. The clubs that epitomized this reserve are becoming less popular—they were the high altars of the isolationists' creed.

Yes, concluded the speaker, the walls are down from the Englishman's reserve; his thoughts are open to progress; he finds he can get on much more pleasantly and economically by sharing the world with others, and the whole tendency is good, and one that commercial people should not forget in arranging to do business with the new generation of Englishmen.

At the Tiller

A sailor on leave was about to escort his best girl across the road, an off-shoot of a busy thoroughfare in London, when an omnibus came bowling round the corner, and they had a narrow escape from being upset. The sailorman poured out the vials of his wrath upon the conductor.

What's the use of talkin' to me? cried the conductor; I ain't drivin' am I?

No, replied the salt, but you're steerin' ain't yer?

John, aged 3, was being prepared for bed.

I'm afraid you'll not be able to wear this waist any longer, said his mother, it is getting too small.

You'll have to get another little boy, mother, he answered thoughtfully.

Fact and Fiction

He vowed he would traverse raging seas just to look into my eyes.

4,000 ACRES TREATED

Saskatchewan Has One of the Largest Farms in Western Canada. How Tractors Brought the Land Under Cultivation.

One of the largest farms in Western Canada is that known as the Weitzen Farm, situated about ninety miles southwest of Saskatoon, and twenty miles south of Rosetown, which is on the Goose Lake branch of the Canadian Northern Railway. The farm comprises sixteen sections, or 10,240 acres, of beautiful undulating prairie land with almost unbroken surface, free from stone, brush or other obstructions, with a rich chocolate colored soil several feet in depth, on clay subsoil.

The land was originally purchased from the Canadian Northern Railway about four years ago by O. O. Winter, who was for some years superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, with offices at Winnipeg, Fort William and Brandon, and later general superintendent of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Mr. Winter, with friends residing in Minneapolis, organized the Weitzen Land and Agricultural Company, for the purpose of putting the land under cultivation under his direct management.

This big farm was first developed in 1910, and in order to carry out the work with the greatest possible despatch, three big gasoline tractors were employed, with an equipment of gang plows, packers, discs, steel tanks for hauling gasoline and other necessary utensils.

The three engines, each drawing six fourteen-inch breaking plows and a packer, were kept in constant service day and night, with the result that by the first of September the virgin prairie, which had for ages been the roaming ground of the buffalo, showed an expanse of 4,500 acres broken up by the plow shares.

The plows were then replaced by six discs, attached to each engine in such a manner as to give the upturned sod a double stroke, thus pulverizing it well and putting the sod in fine condition for seeding. The whole 4,500 acres were treated in this manner before the close of the season.

Since that time the progress of the work has been steady during each succeeding year, and the Weitzen farm is now one of the show farms of Saskatchewan for mechanical equipment.

Suggestion

Suggestion is of three kinds: subconscious, musculan, and external. The first must be noted here. When you put a shell to your ear you hear a murmur as of far-off voices. So is it with the mind. It is haunted by the sub-conscious memories of the past. Some of them are echoes from the silent lips of our ancestors, still repeating themselves ever more faintly in succeeding generations. In that subsconcious state we catch the undertone of great events, which long since moved the world, just as the wavelet which laps the shore has in it a tremor from storms which ages ago swept the ocean.

What influence the minds of a congregation have on the extempore prayers of the minister is a question of interest. At such times his own will is often subordinated to the influence of the moment. The well-known instance in the life of 'Rabbi' Duncan may be cited. Unknown to the preacher he had entered the church and seated himself below the pulpit. The prayer uttered by the minister was clearly not his own; the very form of the petition bore evidence of the strong individuality of the earnest worshipper seated below.

The Apt Retort

There is rather a good story current in connection with a lady principal of a girl's college in the west of England. Intercourse between her pupils and the boys who attend a neighboring school is strictly forbidden, but one morning the lady principal beheld a small boy and girl engaged in conversation, and commenced the attack as follows:

Lady Principal (majestically)—Little girl, have you ever been introduced to this little boy?

Little Girl (trembling)—No.

Lady Principal—Little boy, have you ever been introduced to this little girl?

Little Boy (defiantly)—No.

Lady Principal (sternly)—Then you must understand that it is exceedingly impolite to speak to anyone without a proper introduction, and—

Little Boy (interrupting)—Then I think it's a jolly cheek of you to speak to me!

The lecture was put off until another day.

The Mysterious Turtle

He is neither fish nor flesh nor fowl. Yet he has the characteristics of all three. As for his eating, it seems quite superfluous, for he can remain shut up in a barrel for a number of weeks and emerge at the end of the time apparently none the worse for the lack of food and light and air.

A farmer took out a policy of fire insurance on his barn. After a loss and due proofs, the company came to settle or adjust the loss, but took advantage of its option under the contract to build a new barn.

Subsequently a life insurance company sought to have him insure his life in favor of his wife.

Oh, no, he said, you don't catch me a second time. If I'd die, you would come around here and offer to get a new husband for her.

Character

We may judge a man's character by what he loves—what pleases him. If a man manifests a delight in low, sordid objects, the vulgar song and debasing language, the misfortunes of his fellows or animals, we may at once determine the complexion of his character.

On the contrary, if he loves purity, modesty, truth—if virtuous pursuits engage his heart and draw out his affections—we are satisfied he is an upright man. When we see a young man fond of fine clothes and making a fop of himself, it is a sure sign that he thinks the world consists of outside show and ostentation, and he is certain to make an unstable man without true affection or friendship, fond of change and excitement, and soon weary of those objects and pursuits which for a time gave him pleasure.

No surgical operation is necessary in removing corns if Holloway's Corn Cure be used.

A very large and muscular Irish woman had the little, shrivelled up man to whom she was married haled up in the police court on the charge of assaulting and beating her. He was the worst dilapidated man the judge had ever seen. His arm was in a sling, his head was tied up, his eyes were blackened, and he seemed scarcely able to stand. The judge listened to the big Irish woman's tale of woe, and unable to stand it any longer, asked in derision: Do you mean to say that little bit of a physical wreck could beat you as you have stated?

Yer honor, he wasn't a physical wreck until he tried to beat me.

Bridget — Johnny t'rew his ball t'rough the windy, mum, an' broke a pane of glass.

Johnny's Mother—Well, that's nothing to make a fuss about. Accidents will happen, and besides, we don't own the house and intend to move next week.

Bridget—But th' ball struck that chany teacup you got with half a pound of tay and smashed it all to splinters.

Johnny's Mother (angrily)—What! Send that boy right in to me! I'll teach him to be more careful the next time!

Moses Meyer brought a piece of cloth home to have himself a suit made. The family, examining the goods which were spread out on the table, remarked upon the fine quality, pattern, etc. Even little Isidor was called upon to give his opinion of father's new suit.

He immediately turned the stuff on the wrong side and began to examine it.

Isidor, said old Meyer, laughingly, Isidor, that is the wrong side. How stupid you are.

Why stupid? answered the boy. It will not come to me until it's turned on the wrong side.

BEGAN YOUNG
Had "Nerves" from Youth

"When very young I began using coffee and continued up to the last six months," writes a Southern girl.

"I had been exceedingly nervous, thin and very sallow. After quitting coffee and drinking Postum about a month my nervousness disappeared and has never returned." (Tea contains the same injurious drug, caffeine, found in coffee). "This is the more remarkable as I am a Primary teacher and have kept right on with my work.

"My complexion now is clear and rosy, my skin soft and smooth. As a good complexion was something I had greatly desired, I feel amply repaid even though this were the only benefit derived from drinking Postum.

"Before beginning its use I had suffered greatly from indigestion and headache; these troubles are now unknown.

"I changed from coffee to Postum without the slightest inconvenience, did not even have a headache. Have known coffee drinkers, who were visiting me, to use Postum a week without being aware that they were not drinking coffee."

Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Write for booklet, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular (must be boiled).

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water, which makes it right for most persons.

A big cup requires more and some people who like strong things put in a heaping spoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and have it served that way in the future.

"There's a Reason" for Postum.

AN EXAMPLE FOR BOXERS

Acrobats and Jugglers by Far the Better Trainers

Training with the average boxer is a joke. In fact they seldom do any real training. Even when they are making a bluff at it they do a little running in the morning, a little shadow boxing in the afternoon. Most of their so-called training, however, consists in loafing in the training quarters and more time is spent in undressing and dressing than in actual work. One man who gets around to the fighters' gymnasium once in a while timed a fighter who was supposed to be training hard for a bout. This fellow did a lot of undressing and dressing, and a lot of talking and joshing with the other scrappers. But he did very little actual work, as a matter of fact, just 11 minutes. That was just one minute more than four rounds in the ring.

Professional acrobats, jugglers, etc. could give the fighters tips on exercising. They spend hours every day of their lives doing their stunts. They never miss a day, even in the winter when they are laying off, they keep limbered up by constant exercising. Men who do hard acrobatic work at afternoon and evening performances don't consider that enough work to keep in shape, but also do some training every morning just to take the stiffness out of their limbs and arms.

Many musicians practice four and five hours every day, keeping it up for years. When this work is compared with the fighter's 11 minutes, the scrappers' system seems like a cinch.

The funniest thing, however, about the training of the modern boxer is the rubdown. Even the cheapest preliminary fighter nowadays has to go through a massage treatment every time he goes to the gymnasium, no matter how little work he does. Most of these fellows get the idea that the rubbing will increase their fighting ability, whereas it does nothing but increase their natural laziness.

BABY'S TEETHING TIME.

Mothers find baby's teething a source of great anxiety—the little one becomes restless and nervous; he becomes cross and cannot sleep, and sometimes constipation, diarrhoea, colic or convulsions seize him. Baby's Own Tablets will prevent all this. They regulate the stomach and bowels; allay the feverishness, and baby will cut his teeth without pain or worry. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

New Form of Lynching

The old-fashioned disorderly lynchings are no longer in vogue, according to dispatches from Georgia, which is an acknowledged authority on lynchings. We read where a quiet and orderly gathering of gentlemen entered a county jail, took therefrom a prisoner and hung him. The sheriff, who was asleep in the jail, was not disturbed. This is the latest and most approved type of lynching.

Ornaments Long-Lived

Ornaments last longer than anything else man makes. There are brooches and necklaces in museums more than 40 centuries old. Monuments, perhaps, stand second, and houses third. The life of furniture is shorter still. There is very little furniture in England which dates beyond the year 1500. Pictures last longer than furniture and there are paintings still in fair condition which have weathered six centuries of life.

President Wilson has a dry wit, said a newspaper correspondent. In Trenton, before the inauguration, I was once pestering him for cabinet news. Now, we all know that some irresponsible writers had sent out a good many cabinet fakes. Well, it was apropos of this that President Wilson made a net remark.

Do tell me about the cabinet, I persisted. The public is dying for the facts.

Dying for the facts, it is? said he. Well, nevertheless, I'm afraid it will have to be satisfied with the news.

Monumental Crime

John Bright's voice was unequivocally for peace.

He was walking once past the Crimean monument in London with one of his sons, then a lad. Everyone knows that the word Crimea is engraved on the monument. The boy pointed to the monument, and to the word upon it, and asked:

Father, what is that?

That, said John Bright, pointing also to the word, is a crime.

SHE WAS HELPLESS FOR TWO YEARS

WHY MRS. BALDWIN RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

She Could Find Nothing to Cure Her Rheumatism Till On a Neighbor's Advice She Tried Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Walburg, Sask. (Special).—"I can truly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills for any one suffering from rheumatism." These are the words of Mrs. W. A. Baldwin, a highly respected resident of this place. And Mrs. Baldwin gives her reasons.

"I was nearly helpless with rheumatism for two years," she states. "I got medicine from the doctor, and tried several other remedies but nothing helped me. Then one of my neighbors advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought four boxes, and they helped almost from the first. I have used nearly two dozen boxes and am nearly cured."

That rheumatism is one of the results of diseased kidneys is again shown in Mrs. Baldwin's case. She had headaches, stiffness of the joints and backache, her sleep was broken and unrefreshing, and she was always tired and nervous. Her limbs swelled and she was always thirsty. These are all symptoms of diseased kidneys. When she cured her kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills, the symptoms vanished—and so did the rheumatism.

Wise Boy

Boss—You told me an untruth yesterday when you said you wanted to get away to go to a funeral.

Office Boy—Well, the home club lost, and it was almost as sad as a funeral.

Post Toasties

They are among the good things to eat, but not in the cook book, because they require no cooking.

Toasties are always crisp and appetizing---ready to eat direct from the package. You save heaps of time and avoid hot work in the kitchen.

Some rich cream---sugar if you want it---or cool fruit juice, with these fluffy bits of corn and you have a dish that is fascinating for any meal of the day.

Toasties are sold by grocers everywhere.

One in a Thousand.

Yes, my wife is one in a thousand.

Fine cook?

It isn't that.

Economical.

No, it isn't that.

What then?

She always listens patiently while I tell her all about the game.

He was a very down-hearted and disgusted-looking boy; with torn clothes and rumpled hair, and a few suspicious bumps on his face; so I stopped and asked him what the matter was and whether I could be of any assistance to him.

Naw, yer can't do nothing fer me; it's a business trouble, he explained.

Ah! Have you lost your position? I asked.

Naw; and I wouldn't care if I had. The president of our company is the worst old duffer in town.

Does he ill-treat you? I said kindly.

Naw; he doesn't even know me by sight; but he come into the office cross as hornets this mornin' and climbed up the secretary's collar the worst you ever seen.

But how did that affect you?

Why, don't you see? the boy asked, impatiently. The secretary had to get square somehow, so he jumped on the cashier with both feet; and after the cashier'd thought it all over and got good and mad, he jumped on the book-keeper, and the book-keeper jumped on the entry clerk, and the entry clerk jumped on the bill clerk, and he just sailed in and gimme particular rats. An' there wasn't no one fer me ter jump on so I thought I'd go out and lick a district messenger.

Well, couldn't you find one to lick? I asked.

Oh! I found him quick enough, but I didn't lick 'im.

Why not?

'Cause he licked me!

Wife (complainingly)—You are not like Mr. Knagg. He has been married 20 years, and Mrs. Knagg says he is so tender. Husband—Tender! Well, he should be after being in hot water all these years.

Externally or Internally, it is Good.—When applied externally by brisk rubbing, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil opens the pores and penetrates the tissues as few liniments do, touching the seat of the trouble and immediately affording relief. Administered internally, it will still the irritation in the throat which induces coughing and will cure affections of the bronchial tubes and respiratory organs. Try it and be convinced.

An Irishman, in order to celebrate the advent of a new era, went out on a lark. He didn't get home till 3 in the morning, and was barely in the house before nurse rushed up, and, uncovering a bunch of soft goods, showed him triplets. The Irishman looked up at the clock, which said 3, then at the three of a kind in the nurse's arms, and said:

I'm not superstitious, but thank hivins that Oi didn't come home at twilve!

One of the neighbors had recently purchased a little donkey for her little boy, Walter. Of course, all the children in the neighborhood were delighted and were allowed their turn to ride.

The other afternoon Jim, the donkey, acted very badly, and caused Walter to kick and scream to get off his back, when trying to ride.

Howard, aged 4, in telling about it, said: All the children were afraid.

Were you afraid, dear? I asked.

O no, he said, I wasn't afraid. I just said I don't care for any ride to-day. I would rather have one to-morrow.

First Bootblack—Wot's the matter Jimmy? Yer looks played out.

Second Bootblack—Played out! I should think I am. Just been giving two policemen a shine.

The One In Command

Who's that impressive looking woman over yonder?

That's Mrs. Peckum. She's a remarkable strong-minded woman, and they do say that she commands a very large salary.

How does she earn it?

She doesn't earn it. Her husband earns it and so she commands it.

In the lobby of a Washington hotel the other evening they were talking about big legal fees when Representative Koenig cited a case.

Some time since, according to the representative, a man fell into an open coal hole, sued for damages and was awarded a substantial amount. When he received a bill from his lawyer, however, he was stumped again, and as soon as he could get into hustling shape he hastened to see him.

Your bill is outrageous! exclaimed the client to the legal one. It is more than three-fourths of the amount that I recovered.

Quite true, was the calm response of the lawyer, but you musn't forget that I furnished the skill and legal learning for the case.

Yes, excitedly cried the client, but I furnished the case.

Oh, as far as that goes, was the scornful reply of the lawyer, anybody can fall down a coal hole!

The day was warm, the children restless, the teachers impatient. One curly haired boy was moving his jaws faster with chewing gum than his brain had ever been known to work. His feet were in the aisle. A smile was on the face of more than one pupil when the teacher said:

Take that gum out of your mouth and put your feet in.

AFTER EFFECT OF FEVERS.

Banished Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Following wasting diseases such as fevers, many people find it difficult to regain their former strength. They become breathless and tired out at the least exertion; their appetite is fickle and they often feel as though death was staring them in the face. The trouble lies with the blood which has not returned to its normal condition and is lacking in the red corpuscles without which good health is impossible. It is at a time like this that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills prove their great tonic value. Every dose helps to make new, rich, red blood which means health and vitality. Mrs. Theodore Foley, Athens, Ont., says: "Following an attack of typhoid fever I was left in a very weak and disheartened condition. The smallest exertion left me worn and tired out, and I was hardly able to get around, and naturally felt despondent. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they proved of the greatest benefit to me. I am now as well and strong as ever, and can do all my own work, and as we live on a farm, it goes without saying that there is much to do. I feel, therefore, that I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

If you are suffering from the after effects of fevers, la grippe, or any acute disease, you should begin to get new strength to-day through the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The angry citizen puffed into the office of the city editor.

See here, sir, he yelled, what do you mean by publishing my resignation from my political office in this way?

You gave the story out yourself, didn't you? asked the editor.

Of course I did, replied the angry citizen. But your fool paper prints it under the head of Public Improvements.

He thought he was a connoisseur, and he was lamenting the decadance of art.

Look, he said, at the great Italian school of painters. Look even at the old Greeks! Why, Zeuxis painted grapes so naturally that birds came to peck at them.

He did, did he? said a hearer. That's nothing. I've got a friend who paints a dog so natural that he has to paint a muzzle on him to keep him from biting.

Coal Prices Rise

Nova Scotia and Cape Breton collieries are this year quoting for short tons of coal the same prices which last year applied to long tons. This is equivalent to raising prices precisely 12 per cent.

Four-year-old Donald lived near the carbon works, and liked to watch the men coming from their work as black as if they worked in the coal mine. One evening as he was waiting on the verandah for his black friends a negress passed the house with a baby in a carriage. Donald crawled upon a chair where he would have a better view and then, all excited, called: Mamma, mamma, come quick and see the little carbon works baby.

A Dutchman was going to cross a bridge; he was riding in a little cart drawn by a goat. The toll man came out and said:

Here, you've got to pay toll before you can pass this bridge.

What, to pay toll?

Yes, 5 cents to cross this bridge.

After an argument the Dutchman paid the 5 cents and went on. In the afternoon he came back again, only this time he had the goat sitting on the seat, and he was dragging the cart himself.

Out came the toll man and said: Here, you know you've got to pay 5 cents.

The Dutchman shook his head, and pointing to the goat, said:

Don't talk to me—ask the driver.

Reduced by Asthma.—The constant strain of asthma brings the patient to a dreadful state of hopeless exhaustion. Early use should by all means be made of the famous Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, which more than any other acts quickly and surely on the air passages and brings blessed help and comfort. No home where asthma is present in the least degree should be without this great remedy.

And how did you escape this? asked one of his hearers.

Symptoms Warn to Remove the Cause

The ordinary doctor spends his efforts in arresting symptoms rather than removing the cause of trouble. He is often compelled to do this against his better judgment in order to satisfy the demands of his patients.

Symptoms are removed at a dreadful expense to the organs of the body. As an example, consider the effect on the nervous system of drugs so powerful as to immediately stop headaches and other bodily pains.

The reaction is most exhausting on the system, and the result is that the pains and aches return, and the system constantly grows weaker and weaker.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures by removing the cause. Gradually and naturally this food cure revitalizes the feeble, wasted nerves, and by invigorating the system drives out pains, aches and disease.

This is Nature's way of curing disease. It is the only way. The treatment of symptoms is only a makeshift way of avoiding pain. It overlooks the importance of symptoms as a warning of impending trouble.

To get well and keep well use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food until the blood is rich and red, the nerves steady and the body filled with health and vigor.

"Old Moore," England's licensed prophet, predicts that the suffragettes will get the vote in 1914. Is our most fruitful source of news to be thus subverted for the cause of justice?

According to newspaper reports, the persons killed in the Balkan war outnumber the original population of the several states two to one. People evidently grow very rapidly in these countries, because figures never lie.

Our old friend, Cipriano Castro, once dictator of Venezuela, lately kicken out of the United States, is once more in harness, and Venezuela has an up-to-date revolution of her own. She need no longer be jealous of her neighbors.

Mexico offers a fine field of operation to the man who imagines that he is a fighter. We advice all men in Grand Forks who are aching for for a scrap to go down there and have their heads cut off.

In the wilds of Africa the dusky society belles dress only in the beads of their own perspiration. An eastern Canada preacher thinks their white sisters in this country would show more modesty if they would change their hobbled skirts for the same costume. But the difficulty would arise in acquiring the perspiration beads during the winter season.

Our Conservative contemporaries have evidently discovered that the parcels post would be a popular institution in Canada. Otherwise daily attempts to popularize the Borden government with this bait would not be necessary. Up to the present time the Ottawa administration's legislative work has not been of a nature to enthuse the people. This is possibly why the parcels post is dangled in front of our eyes.

It really seems too bad that born talkers are gsnerally those who find it necessary to earn a living.

SEVERELY BURNED

Mrs. James Stewart Meets Accident While Cleaning Gasoline Stove

Mrs. James Stewart, wife of the Canadian customs officer at Carson, was severely burned late this afternoon, and she was brought to the Cottage hospital in this city at about 6 o'clock. While Mrs. Stewart was engaged in cleaning a gasoline stove, which was burning, a gust of wind threw the flame onto her apron, which immediately ignited and set fire to some of the furnishings in the room. In her eagerness to extinguish the blaze in the room, she neglected her own clothes, which were rapidly being consumed by the flames. She fought the fire heroically, and finally succeeded in quenching it, but not until nearly every stitch of clothes was consumed by the fire, and she had been seriously injured. In this plight her husband, whose office fn the Carson station adjoins their living apartments, found her. He at once phoned to this city for the ambulance.

Mrs. Stewart is severely burned on several parts of the body, but it is not thought that the the wounds are dangerous.

Most Important Events at Home and Abroad During the Past Week

Friday

Two masked highwaymen hold up a stage near Gold Lake, Cal.

Nearly three million tons of cargo more than last year pass through the Canadian canals.

The professor of Brandon college gets entangled in the rope of a balloon and is nearly killed.

Direct wireless communication has been established since Sunday between Nome, Alaska, and Anadyr, Siberia.

Large forces are being sent southward, and every available power in northern China will operate against the rebels.

An important development in the Balkan situation comes with orders from Vienna to cease hostilities immediately. Turkey is still defiant and warns Russia against continuing her advance upon Ottoman territory.

The first gold output from the Shushanna strike arrived in Dawson today, and comprises 200 ounces from the discovery claim on the Chisina. This sum was shovelled in by two men in two days. Dawson is wildly excited over the possibility of a stampede, and hundreds are prepared to commence a rush to the new gold fields

Saturday

The Bulgarians are again defeated. The powers are powerless to deal with Turkey.

Downing street, London, is the scene of another disturbance by the suffragettes.

Non-Militant suffragettes hold a monster demonstration at Hyde Park, London.

The king's prize is won at Bisley by Private W. Hawkins, of the 48th Highlanders, Toronto.

The report of the provincial department of mines for the year ending December 31, 1912, shows that the mineral production of the province of last year far surpassed that of all previous years, having reached the large sum of $32,440,000 in value, an increase of nearly $9,000,000 over the preceding year and more than $6,000,000 over 1910, which had previously been the banner year.

Strong representations, the most drastic in phraseology that have been made since the present American administration came into power, were made to the Huerta government in Mexico today. The United States government demanded the prompt arrest, court-martial and punishment of the Mexican federal soldiers who shot Charles B. Dixon, an American immigration official at Juarez, and the immediate release of Charles Bissell and Bernard McDonald, mining managers, imprisoned by federal soldiers at Chihuahua, and said to be threatened with execution.

Monday

The Intercolonial railway may have to face an employees' strike.

The heat wave in eastern Canada is broken by a violent thunderstorm.

There are no new developments in the Balkan war. Hunger faces the people

It is expected that the grain crop in Alberta this year will break all records.

The department of railways at Ottawa does not expect a strike on the Intercolonial railway.

Hon. T. W. Crothers, on his arrival in Ottawa from the coast, says that prosperity is everywhere evident in British Columbia.

The boxmakers of the British Canadian Canning factory at Port Dalhousie, Ont., are out on a strike for an increase in wages.

The ambassadorial conference in London today settled the status of new Albania. A prince will be nominated six months hence to rule over the new state.

Charles Beisel and Bernard Mc Donald, the mine managers held by Mexican federals under sentence of death, have been released by the Huerta government. Secretary of State Bryan is gratified at the result.

Wednesday

Montreal city foremen are charged with making laborers pay for their jobs

The Canadian Bisley team and the Canadian bowlers sailed on the Virginian today for home.

The Democrats and Republicans of the senate clashed again in debate on the Underwood tariff bill today.

Washington, D. C, is visited by a violent storm, which lashes the city like a giant flail. Three persons are dead and scores injured. The property loss is enormous.

Learning that this coast is shortly to be deluged with Russian peasants from the steppes of the Volga and the barren wastes of Siberia, Mayor Morley, of Victoria, protests to the immigration department against the flooding of this province with these people.

According to "Old Moore," England's only licensed prophet, 1914 will be an eventful year. The majority of the suffragettes will get the vote; Turkey is to be sponged off the map of Europe; war between Germany and France will be only narrowly averted; England is to have a nation-wide strike, a death in the royal family and an attempted assassination of a cabinet minister; China is to have another bloody rebellion, and there is a big massacre due in Asia Minor.

Thursday

The advance guard of the international geological congress arrives in Ottawa.

The Unised States will distribute millions of dollars in southern banks to preuent a money stringency.

A sanguinary battle is fought in the Balkans. Two thousand Greeks are killed and seven thousand wounded.

A Democratic senator attacks the American administration's tariff measure. He says free sugar will ruin Louisiana.

Venezuela is in the throes of a revolution, which started simultaneously in several states. Cipriano Castro is at the head of the movement.

Five trainmen were killed and two injured when a Grand Trunk double-header freight train ran into a sleeping herd of cattle four miles east of Otter Lake this morning.

The secretary of the Dawson board of trade makes makes a statement, in which he says he brlieves that the recent gold strike is genuine. Two men washed out $32,000 in four days.

There are persons who seem to have a remarkable propensity for losing money and friends at the same time.

Women Pearl Divers

Pearl oysters are found at a depth of from 5 to 30 fathoms. Women who are employed in Japan for the work dive to the bottom without any special apparatus and retain their breath when under water.

They disdain the use of weights to help them in their descent and can remain below the surface from one to two minutes—in a few instances as long as three minutes—without experiencing any ill effects.

In the cold weather they will dive for an hour and then return to shore and warm themselves at the fire specially built for this purpose, resuming their work again after partaking of a frugal meal of rice and fish.

The divers range in age from 13 to 40 years. It has been found, however, that those from 25 to 35 make the best workers because of their physical strength and experience. Some of these women will bring to the surface a score, or even 50 oysters in a minute from a depth of 13 fathoms. Partly to realize what this means you have only to lie at the bottom of a six-foot-deep swimming bath while you count 60, and then remember that these women stay for the same length of time, and more, at 12 to 13 times that pressure and depth, busily working with their hands the whole while

The hours of labor vary with the seasons, in warm weather about six to eight hours constitute a day's work, and at this time of year three divers have been known to collect 1,000 oysters between them. In very cold weather the women cannot work for more than one to two hours. The wages paid range from 12 to 50 cents a day. The highest ever paid is $1.25.

Astonishing as it may sound, some of the women manage to save considerable sums, largely because the cost of living is so low. Some of the younger girls endeavor to earn their marriage dowery by diving.

Astute Procrastination

Madame Novikoff, in arguing that the Bulgarian army should not be denied the hard-earned honor of entering Constantinople, repeated an interesting remark of General Grant's apropos of the failure of the Russian army to enter the Turkish capital in 1876, which, when similarly placed, was held back by orders from St. Petersburg.

I was in Paris, she writes, when General Grant, the American ex-president, called on me. Almost the first thing he asked me was: Can you explain why the Russian army did not occupy Constantinople, when it was so entirely in its hands? I replied that, to our sorrow, our government had telegraphed the order not to advance further.

Well, replied Grant, all I can say is, that if I had been one of your generals, I would have put the telegram in my pocket, and have opened it three days later at Constantinople.

Recessional Mss Sold for $120

A sheet of notepaper covered with neatly-written verse, was sold for $120 at Sotheby's recently. The writer was Rudyard Kipling, and the poem was the famous 'Recessional'—

God of our fathers known of old—
Lord of our far-flung battle line.

An interesting reference to the poem is made in a letter in which Mr. Kipling says:

Glad you like the Recessional. These things come not for fasting or prayer. They arrive by themselves somehow. Evidently the idea must have been in the air, or men would not have taken to the rhymed expression of it so kindly.

The sum of $400 was paid for a letter written by Lord Nelson to Lady Hamilton from the George Inn, Portsmouth, on September 14, 1805, just before the admiral went on board the Victory. Six letters written by Lord Byron realized $605.

A collection of autograph letters by Charles Lamb, Coleridge and Southey from the correspondence of John Rickman, the originator of the census, and for thirty-eight years an official of the house of commons, was sold for 54,750.

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians

I understand that you called on the plaintiff. Is that so?

Yes, replied the witness.

What did he say?

The attorney for the defence jumped to his feet and objected that the conversation could not be admitted in the evidence. A half hour's argument followed, and the judges retired to their private room to consider the point.

An hour later they filed into the courtroom and announced that the question might be put.

Well, what did the plaintiff say?

He weren't home, sir, came the answer.

Mary, aged fourteen, was found one day by an older sister sobbing and crying.

What is the matter? she asked, with great concern.

Three boys have asked me to go to the dance tonight, was the unexpected reply.

Well, my dear child, certainly that is not such a terrible misfortune.

Yes, but I told the first one that I would go with him, and the last one was a long-panter.

WOMAN IN PAIN FOR THREE YEARS

With an Aching Shoulder and Lame Back That Seemed Incurable

TELLS OF HER REMARKABLE CURE

"Very few people could so patiently suffer for three years as I did," writes Mrs. M. D. Durand, from her home in Augusta. "Sometimes I did feel very discouraged, but knew that a remedy would some day turn up with the power to relieve my sufferings. Nerviline was the one thing that ever did me real good. It had the power to sink into my stiff, sore muscles, and it drew out the pain and gave me release from such distress as few people know. My condition was largely Rheumatic, and on this account I do urge every person with Rheumatic tendencies to use Nerviline—rub it in frequently and bind a hot flannel cloth over the aching parts. This is very soothing and will surely cure."

It is just such cases as this that has made Nerviline famous in many lands. No liniment is so penetrating, so strong, so pain-subduing. Its influence over Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica and Rheumatism is simply a marvel. Thousands of actual, permanent cures prove this. In the home Nerviline is so useful because it can be taken internally with sure results, for cramps, stomach pains, and diarrhoea. It stops vomiting, cures nausea and sick headache.

No home complete without Nerviline. Family size bottles, 50c., trial size 25c., at all storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

A little boy was given two images of plaster, coated on the outside with pink sugar. He wanted to eat the images, but he was warned on no account to do so.

They are poison, he was told. If you eat them it will kill you.

However, the boy was dubious. He had been cheated before this by grown up people. Finally he had a young friend to spend the day with him, and that night it was discovered that one of the images had disappeared. His mother nearly frantic, rushed to him.

Harold, she said, where is that pink image? Harold frowned as he answered, defiantly: I gave it to Richard, and if he's alive to morrow I'm going to eat the other one myself.

of the bowels is an absolute necessity for good health. Dont's for Lightning Storms

Every year quite a large number of people are killed by lightning because they did not know what to do in a thunderstorm.

First of all, it is safer to be indoors than out. Most people get killed when out in the open. If you are caught in a thunderstorm, then don't be afraid of sheltering under a tree just because you have heard that it is dangerous.

It is dangerous to shelter under a solitary tree, because lightning likes to strike the highest point and a solitary tree is the highest point as a rule for some distance around. But you are pretty safe if you take shelter in a wood. A tree in a wood is seldom struck.

Certain trees are more dangerous than others. If you have a choice between an oak and a beech tree, then take the beech tree all the time. A far greater number of oak trees are struck than beech trees. Elm trees are nearly as dangerous as oak trees.

Avoid big crowds and collections of animals. For some reason—probably because of the warmth that rises from their bodies—crowds of animals and persons are liable to be struck by lightning.

An Easy Pill to Take.—Some persons have repugnance to pills because of their nauseating taste. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so prepared as to make them agreeable to the most fastidious. The most delicate can take them without feeling the revulsion that follows the taking of ordinary pills. This is one reason for the popularity of these celebrated pills, but the main reason is their high tonical quality as a medicine for the stomach.

Swallow's Long Trip

A communication from Utrecht, Natal, conveys the interesting fact that a swallow ringed at Rosehill, Cheadle, Staffordshire, by Mr. J. R. B. Masefield, on May 6, 1911, was caught at the farm of Mr. J. Mayer Roodeyand, 18 miles from Utrecht on Dec. 23 last. There was a metal label round a leg of the bird with the words: Witherby, High Holborn, London, and on the other side 'B 830.'

There was not even standing room in the crowded car, but one more passenger, a young woman, wedged her way along just inside the doorway. Each time the car took a sudden lurch forward she fell helplessly back and three times she landed in the arms of a large, comfortable man. The third time it happened, he said quietly:

Hadn't you better stay here?

"INTERNATIONAL FLY WAY"

Prevents the Tremendous Loss from Flies

Flies cost the Farmers of Canada millions of dollars annually by retarding the growth or fattening of animals and by greatly reducing the production of milk by constantly annoying the animals all summer. Every farmer or stockraiser knows this statement to be true from his own experience.

Flies also cause a great loss of life by Spreading Diseases from farm to farm. "International Fly Way" will keep flies off your animals and give them perfect rest from these pestiferous insects, which will make you more money in a larger production of milk or much quicker growth of all animals.

SAVE YOUR STOCK

By Using

"INTERNATIONAL FLY WAY"

It is positively guaranteed to be effective in Driving Away Flies, Mosquitos, and other insects which worry stock and reduce their earning capacity. It is harmless to the hair and skin and will be found perfectly satisfactory when used according to directions.

CANADA CEMENT COMPANY LIMITED — PORTLAND — CANADA — CEMENT — MONTREAL

It means cement of the highest possible quality.
It means cement tested by experts whose authority is final at all our mills.
It means cement acknowledged by engineers, architects and hundreds of thousands of farmers to fulfil every requirement of scientifically made Portland cement.
It means a cement that is absolutely reliable, whether used for a great bridge or for a concrete watering trough. You can use with complete confidence that your concrete work will be thoroughly satisfactory. You ought to have this confidence in the cement you use, because you have not the facilities for testing its qualities, such as are at the disposal of the engineers in charge of big contracting jobs.

Canada Cement

These engineers know that when cement has passed the tests made upon it at Canada Cement mills, it will pass all their tests.

And this same cement is sold to you for your silo, your foundations, your feeding-floor, your milk-house or your watering-trough.

Used according to the directions in our free book "What the Farmer can do with Concrete," Canada Cement never fails to give satisfactory results. Write for the book. It not only tells you how to mix and place concrete, but will also suggest scores of uses for it on your farm, every one of them valuable to you. In asking for the book you do not incur the slightest obligation.

SEVERAL SHOOTING SCRAPES

And a Number of More or Less Prominent Citizens Are Personally Conducted Across the State Line—The Editor Only Holds Five Offices.

By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1913, by Associated Literary Press.]

A ROAD agent stopped and robbed a mail carrier on the Lone Jack route the other day and got 11 cents for his pains. This seems to be running an honored profession into the ground.

During the last three sessions of the common council the mayor (who is ourself) has not had to keep a gun on Alderman Murphy to keep him in his place, and his constituents are wondering whether he has gone down in his boots for good or is waiting to catch us with empty shooters.

The editor of the Blue Hill Times charges us with holding eleven different offices and grabbing for others. We had only five offices, and the only other we are reaching out for is the presidency of the United States. Please correct and oblige.

William Johnson, who arrived in this town with two guns and a whoop one day last week, left it last night with three jumps and a sigh. He made several efforts to get up a reputation as a terror, but we gave him thirty minutes to reach the town line, and he didn't want but fifteen.

That we will have the esteem and confidence of the people was proved last week when we were elected chief of the fire department, named as orator for next Fourth of July and asked to lead the church choir for the coming year. Integrity of character, backed up by two guns, will always win.

The New York cocktail has been tried here and found to be a flat failure. The idea of a cocktail with our people is to leave a feeling along the throat as if a string of barbed wire fence had been swallowed.

We are given to understand that there will be more high teas and at homes in Giveadam Gulch this spring than ever before and that society will be elevated at least two pegs.

A florist from Chicago who was here the other day says that the 2,000,000 acres of desert land in Arizona could be made to grow $20,000,000 worth of roses every year. We'd like to see the cactus, the rattlesnake and the prairie dog hitching along to make room for roses!

The man who woke us up at midnight the other night by heaving a cobblestone through the front window of the Kicker office had a good start as we threw up the sash and fired at him, but we think we winged him by the way he limped around a corner. We are always ready for little surprise parties and always do our best to make them entertaining.

Did our esteemed contemporary shoot at us on the street last Monday afternoon? He declares that he fired six shots at us, and we declare that we never knew anything about it, and we'll give anybody 15 cents to straighten the kinks of the mystery and settle the question one way or another. We like to know when we are shot at, even by a man who shuts his eyes when he pulls the trigger.

The Lone Jack Recorder says that we hold seven political offices and are wire pulling for eight and asks if such things can be and Arizona remain right side up. The Recorder man is in error. We hold five political offices and are after the sixth, and Arizona was never more solid on her pins.

We may take the lecture platform next month for a few weeks in this locality, but we desire to warn all audiences in advance that we shall have our dignity and our guns along, and the first frozen rabbit that comes whizzing past our head will be the signal for return action on our part. We hate to shoot our lecture on the rise of Shakespeare into the audience, but we have got through jumping out of back windows or hiding in the woods.

When we claim 10,000,000 weekly circulation for the Kicker we lie about it, of course, and that's the difference between a New York and Arizona editor. It's all in the profession, however, and all meant to encourage the reader to lead a life of integrity.

Major Desbro of the 333 ranch says he can identify the dead man hanged to the limb of a tree at the crossing of Wolf creek the other day. It was a person named Tinker, who started to leave Arizona on one of the major's blooded horses, but didn't get a fast enough gait on him to keep ahead of the procession.

We always thought there was something wrong in the head of Joe Hathaway, and his death by suicide the other day proves it. There are at least four towns within a radius of thirty miles which are fairly aching for a lynching bee, and if Joe wanted to die why not give some vigilance committee a show? Let other critters in despondent mood try to improve on his shape.

During our temporary absence from the postoffice Wednesday afternoon an ill favored stranger, who is supposed to be a teamster, entered the corridor and fired six bullets into the clock and got safely away. If he will come some day when we are at home and start in to repeat the performance we will guarantee him the finest coffin to be had in town and a funeral procession half a mile long.

An individual known as Kansas Tom got out of town last Monday night just ten minutes too quick for the vigilance committee, and if he keeps up the gait he had on him when he left his neck will be safe for some time to come.

Old Joe Wheeler, the bear hunter, sends us word from his cave in the mountains that he is coming down some day next week to shoot a few of the townspeople and have a jolly good time for a couple of days. Come on, Joseph. This town is always ready for something new and lively.

There is not much to record in social events this week. The only event of importance was the high tea given by Mrs. Colonel D'Arens, and owing to some mistake in the highness of the tea many of the guests did not get home till afternoon the next day.

In order to maintain our dignity as mayor of this town we had to throw Colonel Chilvers down the city hall stairs one day last week, and we understood that he is likely to be laid up for some time to come. Sorry for the colonel, who is a good fellow at bottom, but our dignity must and shall be preserved.

Joe Baker, who lives over on Panther creek, called upon us yesterday to say that he had discovered what appears to be a mine of condensed milk and that he is now looking around for a mine of canned coffee to match it. You can find anything you want in the blue mountains around us.

We understand that Major Callahan, who used to be a resident of this gulch, has come to his end at Santa Fe. He ordered burnt gin at a saloon over there, and the bartender burned too many holes in it, and there was a row. Then he burned a hole through the major.

Mr. George Parsons of Tucson writes us that we are a braggart, an egotist, a liar and a scoundrel and that the people of Arizona ought to rise up and drive us forth. Thanks, George! We like to feel bad now and then.

A party which went into Bill Williams' mountain last week in the interest of science found undeniable evidences of a race of people at least 10,000 years old. We regret that it is too late to shake up a few subscriptions among them.

S. P. I.

On the Other Foot.

"John, how much money have we in bank?"

"We? I have a few hundred dollars, Maria. Why?"

"Nothing, only I just got a letter today from the lawyer who settled up my father's estate. There was more property than anybody anticipated—a good deal more."

"That's fine! How much do we get out of it, Maria?"

"We? I get a few thousand dollars, John. Why?"—Chicago Tribune.

READING THE ENVELOPES.

They Tell More Than the Name and Address to the Postman.

Envelopes often tell me more about a man's financial standing than could the best "private inquiry agency." You can't "swank" a postman. And when I deliver on a certain day every month an official envelope with the relief stamp of a furniture firm on the back of it I know pretty well that the envelope contains the receipt for an installment on the furniture. When that envelope fails to turn up I keep an eye open for the other signs of impending bankruptcy.

An envelope with a crease down the middle has obviously been inclosed in another envelope. This tells me the handwriting of the householder and the kind of stationery he uses. When I deliver one of these day after day at the same house I know that the occupant is out of work and is answering advertisements. But when the envelopes stop coming I am left to wonder whether the applicant has been successful—or can afford no more stamps.

Sometimes there is tragedy in envelopes. There was a young fellow who used to stare down at me from behind the window curtain—so anxious to see what I'd got in my hand that he wouldn't wait till I'd pulled the bell. I soon tumbled to his job, for by nearly every post there would be a long envelope creased down the middle, showing it was a return. A writer he was. —Pearson's Weekly.

MAGNETIC CLEOPATRA.

Her Manner, Rather Than Her Beauty, Was Her Chief Charm.

The only authentic portrait of Cleopatra that is known to archaeologists is a bust which appears on a series of coins. It is on the reverse and bears the inscription in Greek, "Queen Cleopatra, the Divine, the Younger," while on the obverse is a portrait of "Antony, Dictator For the Third Time, Triumvir."

The workmanship of the coin is far from good, and this accounts in some measure for the undeniably plain appearance of the queen. Yet the likeness, as far as the features go, is a true one, for the other coins of the same series, though of a different type, give her the same features, an aquiline nose, a strong chin, a long neck and narrow shoulders.

The fact is that her beauty was not so remarkable as one would think from the spell she cast over Caesar and Antony. Plutarch, for instance, tells us "that her beauty in itself was by no means incomparable nor calculated to amaze those who saw her," but adds that the magnetic charm of her manner, the gracefulness of her movements, the persuasiveness of her conversation and her figure were most attractive.

Enjoyed What He Paid For.

It is interesting to note the effect that reputation has on those who are not good critics of the efforts of public performers, as a clerk in a downtown bank was telling.

"I happen to know a celebrated concert artist," he said. "One evening she was in the city and had nothing to do, so she came up to our very humble flat in Harlem to spend a quiet, homelike hour or two. The night was warm, and the windows were open. After dinner she sat down at the piano and sang several songs for us. The next day I heard that one of our neighbors complained loudly about the 'yelling' in our flat and said that such nuisances ought to be prohibited. Two nights later that same neighbor paid $2 a seat for himself, his wife and his daughter to hear our friend sing at a concert."—New York Sun.

Ptolemy's Big Boat.

Ptolemy (Philopator) was fond of building big boats. One of these is said to have been 420 feet long, 57 feet broad and 72 feet deep from the highest point of the stern. This vessel had four rudders or what some would call steering oars, as they were not fastened, each forty-five feet long. She carried 4,000 rowers, besides 3,000 marines, a large body of servants under her decks and stores and provisions. Her oars were fifty-seven feet long, and the handles were weighted with lead. There were 2,000 rowers on a side, and it is supposed that these were divided into five banks. That this extraordinary vessel ever put to sea is doubted, but that she was launched and used at times, if only for display, several historians are agreed.

A Case in Arithmetic.

The teacher was hearing her class of small boys in mathematics.

"Edgar," she said, "if your father can do a piece of work in seven days and your Uncle William can do it in nine days, how long would it take both of them to do it?"

"They would never get it done," answered the boy earnestly. "They would sit down and tell fish stories."—New York Post.

GRACE DARLING'S LOVER.

Sweetheart of Heroine Tells of the Woman He Loved.

Mr. Jimmy Giles, of Ipswich, who for nearly sixty years was dock-gateman and assistant engineer, is a wonderful link with the past, inasmuch as he was the sweetheart of Grace Darling. Listen to the following conversation with the old seaman, and live over again the memories of that brave exploit near Longstone Lighthouse that made immortal history:—

"When a young man I took a cargo of salt from Ipswich to Sunderland. While there I left my brig and was made coxswain of a coble that supplied Longstone Lighthouse with provisions. This was in 1839, and as Grace's great deed took place the previous year I was anxious to meet the famous girl. On my first trip in the coble I saw her standing at the lighthouse door, but, although I tried to draw her attention, she got behind the door. The next time I visited the lighthouse I took a silk handkerchief full of grapes and gave the lot to Grace when I saw her. She thanked me, and we got on well. We walked and sat about on the rocks, and one day we paid a visit to Bamborough to see the castle. As she had to return early to see to the lighthouse I rowed her back.

"Grace was not handsome, but she was passable, with dark eyes and hair, and a face bronzed by the sea air, and conveying a sense of purity and innocence that I have never beheld in any other. She wore very short skirts and a dark blue Scotch cap, which suited her well. She was as good as any sailor, and could set a sail or pull an oar with the best of them.

"Her father, an old man, nigh seventy, was a very old-fashioned man, and always wore drab knee-breeches and buckled shoes, with a sparrow-tail coat, big waistcoat, and a round skull cap trimmed with fur. He didn't think much of my carryings-on with her. Grace often referred to the loss of the Forfarshire, but made little of her own exploit. She showed me her presents, including a gold slipper in a scarlet morocco case, which the Czar of Russia sent her. She was often asked to go to London, but she wouldn't leave 'Daddy.' And, although I became her sweetheart, that was the reason she gave for not marrying, and so we drifted apart."

First Thing Taught.

The Rev. T. E. Brigden is, with one exception, the smallest man—physically, of course—in the Wesleyan Methodist Church. When a student at Didsbury College he was appointed to preach at one of the big chapels in Lancashire. Arriving early, he took possession of the vestry, rested, and looked over his sermon notes. The society steward at this chapel had been newly appointed, and was big, very big, with his office. Having little education himself, he despised it in others, and thought it tawdry and unnecessary. Just before service-time he came swaggering into the vestry, and, seeing the boy-like form of Mr. Brigden, addressed him in a hoity-toity manner.

"I suppose," he said, looking disdainfully at the student—"I suppose you're our preacher for the day?"

"Yes, sir," meekly replied Mr. Brigden.

"And you come from Didsbury College?"

"Yes, sir."

"I have no patience with these colleges," continued the steward. "They only cram a lot of rubbish into the fellows' heads, and precious little good it is to them." Then, raising his voice, he said: "What on earth do they teach you there?"

"Well," said Mr. Brigden, meekly, "one of the first things they teach us is to mind our own business."

The steward asked no more questions.

Sand-Bin Beds.

Shortly after eleven at night a policeman in a Yorkshire town was astonished to hear the clock which was in the tower in the market-place strike twelve, and a few minutes later one o'clock. On going to the tower he found the door open, and, clambering up the ladder, found a man apparently fast asleep amongst the works of the clock. Whether the man had dreamt that he was playing football, and had so kicked and deranged the clock as to cause its erratic striking, did not transpire, nor why he should have chosen such a strange sleeping-place.

Every Londoner knows by sight the iron sand-bins which the L.C.C. provide for use in frosty weather. But their cold sides and gritty contents would not seem to make them suitable as sleeping-places. Still, quite recently, a policeman was surprised to find a man curled up in one of them and sleeping as soundly as if he had been on a feather bed.

Perhaps one of the best stories told of Lord Claud Hamilton, chairman of the Great Eastern Railway and M.P. for South Kensington, who has announced his retirement from Parliament at the next election, is that concerning a remark he once made when speaking to the electors whose suffrages he was seeking. "Gentlemen," he said, "I have been spoken of as a bloated aristocrat." Then, passing his hand down his thin chest, "Gentlemen, is that quite fair? Am I bloated?" He was never afterwards called a bloated aristocratic in that constituency.

BALLOONIST AT EIGHT

PERCIVAL SPENCER WAS MASTER OF HIGH ALTITUDES.

Celebrated Aeronaut and Balloon Manufacturer, Who Died Recently In Britain, Inherited His Love For High-Flying From His Grandfather and Father—Used Balloon In War In 1890.

Of almost world-wide reputation as a balloonist, which career he started at the early age of eight, Mr. Percival Spencer, of Spencer Bros., the famous balloon manufacturers, died at his home, Aberdeen Park, Highgate, N., (Eng.) at the age of 48. Mr. Spencer, who was a widower, was the eldest of three brothers, who conduct the business of balloon manufacturers at Highbury, and he was a daring and successful aeronaut. Mr. Spencer must have spent more time in the air than any contemporary aeronaut. He said quite recently that he thought ballooning was the safest way of traveling in the world. And he recommended it for jaded nerves. He also said that a day aloft did one as much good as a week or even a fortnight of any other sort of relaxation. The Spencers are a ballooning family. Mr. Spencer's grandfather made ascents as far back as 1836, and his son carried on the family tradition by making an ascent at the Crystal Palace when only eight years old. On that occasion he was accompanied by his father, and afterwards he made balloon ascents and parachute descents in Egypt, India, the Straits Settlements, China, and Japan. He made special ascents that were witnessed by the Czar of Russia and the Emperor of Japan. Mr. Spencer was a familiar figure not only at the Crystal Palace, but also at fetes and galas throughout the country. On seven occasions he crossed the Channel by balloon, and he has flown across the Irish Sea from the Isle of Man to Scotland. From ballooning Mr. Spencer passed enthusiastically to the airship problem, and he believed that he was the first balloonist to take an active part in military aeronautics. The occasion was the war in Acheen, Sumatra, in 1890. Accompanied by Major Droese, of the Dutch Army, he made a series of investigations that afforded useful information to the Netherlands officers. During part of the operations the balloon, attached to the last truck of an armor-plated train, was drawn through dense tropical forests. When the aerostat was liberated it rose high in the air and showed the position of the enemy's forces, and at a given signal the guns of the forts poured out shot and shell on the native insurgents. The effects were noted from the balloon and orders issued to the forces below. In the pursuit of his profession he had many thrilling experiences. One of his most serious occurred in India. He made an ascent outside Calcutta and came down in the jungle. Quite outside his bearings, and with no knowledge of his whereabouts, Mr. Spencer wandered about the jungle for three days. When eventually he found his way into Calcutta, he was so emaciated and weak that he was thought by the natives to be a ghost, and was so described by them. In Japan he fell with his balloon into the ocean, and was only saved from drowning through the timely appearance of a boat from a battleship.

Good Training.

"How now?"

"Get you in training for afternoon teas. I haven't spilled anything on a gown this winter."—Kansas City Journal.

The Neighborhood Traveler.

It is written, and the world believes it, that travel is the infallible, exclusive cure for provincialism. Perhaps! Ultimately that depends on what the man takes with him in his wanderings. Merely to go accomplishes naught. In fine, one need not travel at all. If the man with the common eye will but use his eyes he may bring all the world to him. The Alps and the Rockies are worth seeing, indeed, but the man who is capable of really seeing them, if among them, is capable also of beholding landscape and glory in his own neighborhood.—Booklovers' Magazine.

NEWS OF THE CITY IN BRIEF

D. Ewart, I S O, chief architect of public buildings, of Ottawa, was in the city on Tuesday and inspected the new post office building Mr. Ewart expressed satisfaction with the building and the manner in which the clerk of works had performed his duties. The work on the clock tower is now progressing very rapidly, and will soon be completed. The inside fittings have not yet arrived, but it is expected that they will reach here in time so that they can be installed and the building opened for business about the 1st of October. The city council has petitioned the government for a portion of the upper lot in order to make a better curvature in the street.

Five drills are busily employed by the British Columbia Copper company on Copper mountain and 110 men are on the payroll. A large amount of open cutting or trenching has been made besides a lot of underground work in tunnels and cross cuts. The work of exploring and estimating the ore bodies is being pushed. When completed railway construction will be proceeded with from Princeton. The permanency of the British Columbia Copper company in these parts is beyond the doubtful stage.—Princeton Star.

Machinery Year

This will be a real machinery year at the Interstate fair, which opens in Spokane September 15. Six eastern machinery firms have already reserved space for the week, and are going to bring no less than two carloads of new appliances. Daily demonstrations will be made of new gas tractors for use in making roads as well as farm purposes. Threshing machines, reapers, caterpillars, ploughing machines, stump pullers, dairy appliances—all will be running in full blast for the education of the visitors. The fair is making every effort to have this year's display rank with any in the country, and special inducements are being made to manufacturers to have them bring their products to Spokane for the beuefit of the farmers.

Reports Show Short Crop

According to statistics compiled by the North Pacific Fruit Growers' association, the apple crop of the United States this year will fall far short of that of 1912. The association's latest report says: "We have enough data to know that peaches will be normal, pears, prunes and plums about 60 per cent, and apples not to exceed from 65 to 75 per cent." This should mean better prices for apple growers.
