A NARROW ESCAPE

West Kootenay Power Company's Lineman Nearly Electrocuted

Thomas Kelly, lineman for the West Kootenay Power & Light company, met with a serious accident at Phoenix today. While at work in a pole his body got between the power company's wire, carrying 2000 volts, and a telephone wire, and he received the full charge of the former. He fell to the ground, a distance of between twenty and thirty feet. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and conveyed to the Phoenix general hospital, where it was found that he had been severely burned by the electric current, and that he had also sustained serious injuries in his fall from the pole. His condition at present is critical, his lower limbs being paralyzed. He will be taken to the Sacred Heart hospital in Spokane next Monday if his condition improves sufficiently so that moved with safety.

Settling Old Accounts

A dispatch from Victoria says that the creditors of the defunct Midway & Vernon railway, a considerable part of which undertaking was taken over at the chartering of the Kettle Valley railway by that company, are to receive in the near future full settlement of their legitimate claims for labor, material, teaming, etc. Upon the incorderation of the Kettle Valley line with government assistance in its financing, such aid was made conditional upon the payment of outstanding claims as against that portion of the line which they will utilize. A commission consisting of R. F. Green, L. M. Rice of Seattle and Judge Forin of Nelson was created to pass upon the claims, each of which was inquired into, certified and paid. Later on an agreement was consummated between the railway company and the government extending the compensation to other Midway & Vernon creditors, the government and company paying in equal proportions. A cheque for the railway company's proportion was sent to Mr. Green not long ago by President J. J. Warren, and yesterday the government's cheque for its share was transmitted. The amount involved in this latest distribution is $14,552, leaving only about $2000 all told to be yet disbursed and all outstanding obligations satisfied.

A Wonderful Bargain

For a great big dollar's worth the offer this year by the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal can not be beaten. A sample copy of their new picture, "Mother's Treasure," size 23 by 29 inches, all ready for framing, has reached this office. It certainly is beautiful and every home in Canada will be the better of having a copy in the house. The Family Herald and Weekly Star, bigger, brighter and better than ever, along with such a beautiful picture, all for one dollar, is a bargain that should be taken advantage of. It is only The Family Herald and Weekly Star that can offer such a picture free with a year's subscription. People wonder how it is done, yet still it is done, and the people get the benefit.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Stabbing Affray — Curling Club Skips—Prize for Flower Garden

Hugh Lisle, a well known C.P.R. locomotive engineer, was seriously stabbed by Sam Roberts, of Republic, in a room at the Province hotel at 11 o'clock this evening. The condition of the furniture in the room indicated that a violent quarrel had preceded the affray. Lisle received five deep knife thrusts, one in the abdomen and the others in the back and shoulders. The wounded man was taken to the Cottage hospital. His condition is considered dangerous. Roberts was arrested and lodged in jail.

The meeting of the Grand Forks Curling club, held in the city hall last Monday evening, for the purpose of electing skips and to transact other general business, was very largely attended. President E. E. Gibson occupied the chair. Fifteen skips were selected, as follows: C. A. S. Atwood, W. A. Williams, A. E. Savage, G. M. Fripp, G. E. Massie, A. S. McKim, H. Mills, G. A. Spink, N. L. McInnes, H. W. Gregory, B. Norris, J. D. Campbell, T. A. McIntyre, R. J. Gardner and N. Taylor. The club decided not to canvass for members. Those intending to curl this winter are requested to at once notify the secretary, H. W. Gregory, so that the rinks can be filled up.

For the fourth time the flower garden at the C.P.R. station in this city has been awarded the special cash prize offered by the railway company for the best kept garden at depots in this division. The district extends from Arrowhead south to Nelson and Kootenay Landing and west to Midway. Two years ago Mr. Moir's landscape beauty was awarded the $50 prize for the garden on the Canadian Pacific system in this province.

Peter Kucheon, a Doukhobor, was arrested Monday on a charge of burying the remains of his mother without first obtaining a statutory permit. At the trial before Magistrate Cochrane the prisoner maintained a profound silence. Every effort to make him talk failed. On Tuesday Constable Dinsmore arrived on the scene, arrested John Zebro, chief interpreter for the local tribe, and had him brought into court as a witness. This gentleman also refused to talk, and he was given eight days in jail for contempt of court.

A special meeting of the directors of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power company was held in New York this week, when it was decided to continue the development and equipment of the plant and property at Hidden Creek out of the earnings of the company.

D. J. McDougall, aged 68 years, an old-timer in the Boundary district, died in the Greenwood hospital last Friday from heart failure.

C. A. Coughlan, formerly with P. Burns & Co. in this city and at Greenwood, but who has been manager of the Rossland branch for a couple of years, has been promoted to the position of district manager, and his jurisdiction includes both Trail and Rossland. He has been with the company for fourteen years.

The Granby company has taken an option on the Carmi mine, situate in the valley of the Kettle river, about fifty miles from this city and directly connected by railway with the company's smelter.

Mesdames E Miller and Lyle Reed visited their brother in Orient last Saturday.

Theodore Peterson and sons, Arthur and Oscar, are doing assessment work on the Lucile Dreyfus mine near Danville.

J. T. Miller, of Montana, has purchased the Boyle block in Phoenix for $4000.

James McArdle returned today from a three weeks' business trip to Lethbridge.

An athletic association has been organized in Phoenix.

An extra crew on the Great Northern has been engaged in distributing new steel and picking up old steel on the Phoenix branch during the past week.

The weather man has made a blunder. This is not the coast country.

The Sun's society editor has been taking a vacation this week. The police court reporter and the man who attends to accidental happenings have therefore been overworked.

If you intend to send your personal greeting card to your friend in the Old Country, it time to order them now. See samples of beautiful hand-coloured specimens, made in England, at The Sun office.

INSTANTLY KILLED

Workman at Smelter Lake Mill Is Mangled in the Machinery

J. W. Chambers, who arrived in this city about a month ago from Grimsby, Ont., met instant death at the sawmill of the Western Pine Lumber company on Smelter lake last Tuesday afternoon. He was working near a planer, and his smock was caught in a pulley, which drew him into the rapidly revolving wheel. The clothing was entirely torn off him, and his body was terribly mutilated and mangled. One arm was severed from the shoulder. At the inquest before Coroner Kingston on Wednesday a verdict of accidental death was returned. The remains were shipped to Grimsby today. Chambers was about forty years of age. He leaves a wife and family in the east.

Buys New Dominion Bonds

The Voigt property, optioned last year, will be further developed, as the British Columbia Copper company has obtained until early January an extension of its privilege of purchase, says the Boston Commercial. On the ground under development five diamonds drill have been at work, and to date have accomplished rather encoueaging resvlts.

The New Dominion Copper company, subsidiary of the British Columbia Copper company, has been shipping to the latter's plant about 800 tons of ore daily. Should the British Columbia management decide to finally exercise its option on additional properties, the erection of a small concentrator would doubtless be necessary.

Another block of New Dominion bonds has just been acquired by the British Columbia company, which now owns more than one-third of the issue. These bonds have been paid for out of surplus earnings and represent an investment within the past sixty days of nearly $100,000 made from its accumulated funds.

Still Negotiating

F. Augustues Heinze is still negotiating with the provincial government for the sale of his undivided interest in the Columbia & Western railway land grant. An undivided half interest in the land has been bought by the government from the C.P.R. at 40 cents per acre. Mr. Heinze desires to sell and the government is inclined to buy. The desire to sell on the part of the copper magnate is supposed to be brought about by the fact that the period of tax exemption of his land has expired. He is therefore liable not only to a tax of about $6000 per annum for the future, but also to about $60,000 back taxes. Tax exemption on wild land in British Columbia is something of a joke, as Mr. Heinze has discovered. You can get your exemption for a number of years, but when this has expired you become liable for ten years' back taxes in a lump sum. It is under this clause of the law that Mr. Heinze owes the province about $60,000, being 4 per cent per annum for ten years on about 300,000 acres, valued at 50 cents per acre.

ANIMALS AGES

Whales Live for 1,000 Years

Undoubtedly the longest-lived animal on earth is the whale, its span of existence being estimated by Cuvier at 1,000 years. The next largest animal the elephant, will, under favorable conditions, live 400 years.

When Alexander the Great conquered Porus, King of India, he took a great elephant that had fought gallantly for the defeated king, named him Ajax, dedicated him to the sun, and placed upon him a metal band with the inscription "Alexander, the son of Jupiter, dedicated Ajax to the sun." The elephant was found alive 350 years later.

The average age of cats is fifteen years; of squirrels, seven or eight years; of rabbits, seven; a bear rarely exceeds twenty years; a wolf twenty; a fox, fourteen to sixteen. Lions are comparatively long-lived, instances having been recorded where they reached the age of seventy years.

Pigs have been known to live to the age of twenty years and horses to sixty but the average age of the horse is twenty-five to thirty. Camels sometimes live to the age of a hundred, and stags are very long-lived, one having been taken by Charles VI. in the Forest of Senlis which bore about its neck a collar on which was engraved, "Caesar hoc mihi donavit. Whether or not this stag had actually lived since the days of one of the Caesars it is impossible to say, but the evidence seems good.

Eagles occasionally and ravens frequently reach the age of a hundred years, and swans have been known to live 300 years. A tortoise has been known to live 107 years.

Efforts have been made to connect the rapidity of the pulse-beat with longevity, but no logical conclusion can be reached as will be seen from the fact that the pulse of a lion beats forty times a minute; that of a tiger ninety-six times a minute; of a horse, forty times; of a wolf, forty-five times; of a fox, forty-three times; of a bear, thirty-three times; and of an eagle, 100 times. It has been impossible to count the beats of an elephant's pulse, but that of a butterfly beats sixty times to the minute.

Almost Credible

Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture was talking on the Mauretania about the record crops of 1912.

These wonderful crops, he said, are almost enough to make you believe the crosscut saw story.

A farmer, you know, sent his hired man to a neighbor's with a note, saying:

Friend Smith—Will you please lend me your crosscut saw, as I wish to cut a watermelon up, so as to get it into my dray?

The neighbor wrote back—

Friend Jones—I would be glad to lend you my saw, but same has just got stuck in a cantaloupe.

One Link Missing

Reporter—I believe that's about all, colonel. O, by the way, how did your grandfather get his start in business?

Col. Kneemo (candidate for congress)—I haven't the least idea, young man, but if there was anything disreputable about it some of my biographers will print the story before the campaign is over. Good morning.

A man was caught in the act of entering a Prince Albert jewelry store. Maybe he was after a marriage license.

Why Should I Use Cuticura Soap?

"There is nothing the matter with my skin, and I thought Cuticura Soap was only for skin troubles." True, it is for skin troubles, but its great mission is to prevent skin troubles. For more than a generation its delicate emollient and prophylactic properties have rendered it the standard for this purpose, while its extreme purity and refreshing fragrance give to it all the advantages of the best of toilet soaps. It is also invaluable in keeping the hands soft and white, the hair live and glossy, and the scalp free from dandruff and irritation.

While its first cost is a few cents more than that of ordinary toilet soaps, it is prepared with such care and of such materials, that it wears to a wafer, often outlasting several cakes of other soap, and making its use, in practice, most economical. Cuticura Soap is sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, but the truth of these claims may be demonstrated without cost by sending to "Cuticura," Dept. 7M, Boston, U. S. A., for a liberal sample cake, together with a thirty-two page book on the skin and hair.

Human Hair-Nets

The annual sale of nets of human hair, according to the report of the American Consul at Kehl, is estimated at 12,000 000.

Hair-nets are made almost wholly in the houses of Alsatian and Austrian peasants; the peculiar skill required to net hair has become in part hereditary.

The children begin first to tie the hairs together, end to end, to make one long hair. Then with only a round piece of wood about 6in. long and 1-2 inch in diameter and a needle the older girls and women—and sometimes the men—weave the nets. Each mesh is knotted in much the same way that fish-nets or hammocks are made. Only tying a single hair is a more delicate and difficult task than tying a string.

To make a dozen nets is a day's work of ten or twelve hours.

Following the Hounds

Smith was a great cyclist, but had rarely been on a horse. One day when staying with a sporting uncle he thought he would like to follow the hounds, which were to meet near by, so he borrowed from a young relative a horse which was not much accustomed to the hunting field. At first he went steadily until the horse, being startled by a rabbit darting from a clump of grass, broke into a mad gallop. The rider was flung forward on the horse's neck.

What are you doing, my lad, with your arm there? jokingly called out his uncle.

I'm feeling for the brake, was the muffled reply, but I can't find it.

Some of the farmers in Western Canada are complaining that not enough men are coming from the east to help them in harvesting their crops. They blame the railways in part for this, on the ground that the excursion rates are too high. Now the fare from Montreal to Winnipeg is $10, and to Edmonton and to other points it is proportionately as low. Do the kickers expect the railways to carry the workers for nothing?—Montreal Gazette.

The way a woman knows her clothes are sensible when they make men senseless.

Proud of It

The old-age pension officer had a magnificent sense of his own importance, and questioned the old lady with a zeal that would have done credit to the reporter in search of a "scoop."

And now, he proceeded, drawing himself up to his full height of nearly five feet, tell me this. Have you ever been in receipt of parish relief?

Never, answered the applicant.

M'yes. Have you at any time been in the hands of the police?

The lady hung her head, and the officer smiled as much as to say, Got yer.

Come, on come on; tell me the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, he commanded, fixing the woman with his steely eye.

Well, replied the applicant, I don't see that either you or the Government have any business to know, but I don't deny it. Girls will be girls, you know. But still, proudly—he was a sergeant.

Cheapest of all Oils.—Considering the curative qualities of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants keep it for sale. So being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

An Elephant's Bath

The elephant's bath takes a week to carry out in every detail. It requires the services of three men and costs about $50.

This treatment is necessary for a circus elephant and if the animal is a valuable one the proprietor of the circus does not consider the money wasted. The first process consists in going over the immense body with the best soap procurable; 150lb of soap is used, and the elephant's ears are especially carefully attended to.

When the soaping and drying are completed the elephant is well sandpapered, and after that rubbed all over with the purest Indian oil until the mousegrey skin is supple and glistening. The last finishing touch is the most expensive part of the whole bath, as over $30 has to be spent on the oil alone.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. In illustration of the dreary Glasgow Sunday, a lecturer told this story of the late Mr. J. L. Toole. He was leaving his hotel in Glasgow one fine Sunday morning, when the sun was shining brightly. As he was strolling along George Square a policeman eyed him suspiciously, and at last approached and said—

Ye had better tak' care, sir, what ye're doing.

What am I doing? inquired Toole, and added, with a merry wink: Why I'm not even whistling.

No, replied the Glaswegian, in solemn and reproving tones; but ye're lookin' almost as happy as if it were Monday.

No, said the uncle.

Then you would not be much good to send to buy eggs, chuckled the small one.

In the treatment of summer complaints the most effective remedy that can be used is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It is a standard preparation, and many people employ it in preference to other preparations. It is a highly concentrated medicine and its sedative and curative qualities are beyond question. It has been a popular medicine for many years and thousands can attest its superior qualities in overcoming dysentery and kindred complaints.

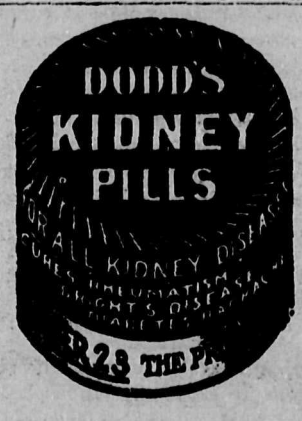
I suppose you do a bigger trade when it rains than when it doesn't rain?

No, I don't notice any difference, said the umbrella dealer.

But you get better prices when it rains, don't you?

Why should I?

Why umbrellas go up, don't they?



More About The Loading Platform

The present generation of Western farmers will never know the difficulties and vexations experienced by their predecessors in the earlier years when no one could get a carload of grain shipped in bulk except by loading it through an elevator. The system forced the majority of farmers to sell their grain to the elevator owners at arbitrary prices, and oft times to submit to heavy dockage and other annoyances, causing continual dissatisfaction. Now however the distribution of cars as fixed by the Grain Act, and the use of the loading platform, provide facilities which enable the farmer to secure satisfactory treatment in the disposal of his grain, and the highest market prices at time of sale. Every farmer therefore, should more and more endeavor to use the loading platform in shipping his grain to the terminal elevators. It is the safeguard of the farmers' freedom in disposing of his grain to the best advantage for himself. If farmers refrain from using the loading platform freely, it might result in its being done away with, because railway companies and elevator owners are strongly opposed to it. It is easy to understand why elevator people desire the loading platform abolished. The railway people on their part say it delays the loading of cars and helps to cause car shortage. This we know to be nonsense, because frequently after cars are loaded whether with grain, coal lumber or other merchandise, they are sidetracked for days and even weeks instead of being promptly moved forward to destination. It is engine shortage and shortage of competent train men that mostly causes grain blockades on railways and not lack of cars. Let every farmer therefore, do all he can to use the loading platform and become an independent shipper. In subsequent advertisements we will state in detail the savings and other advantages of direct loading into cars compared with loading through elevators.

We handle the farmers grain strictly on commission, make liberal advances on car bills of lading, supervise the grading at time cars are inspected, secure the highest prices at time of sale and make prompt returns when sold. Write us for shipping instructions and market information.

PSORIASIS WAS CURED

AFTER FIVE YEARS OF SUFFERING—THREE DOCTORS FAILED AND SAID CASE WAS INCURABLE

Itching and Burning Was Terrible Until Relief and Cure Was Effected by

Psoriasis is another name for chronic eczema. It is the worst form of this dreadful itching skin disease. Once eczema has reached this stage it is usually considered incurable.

But here is a case which proves again the wonderful healing power of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Not only does relief come quickly, but the resulting benefits are thorough and lasting.

Mrs. Nettie Massey, Consecon, Ont., writes:—"I thought it my duty to write you telling you the great benefit I received from using Dr. Chase's Ointment. For five years I suffered with what three doctors called Psoriasis. I doctored with three different doctors, with no good results, and one of our noted doctors told me if any one offered to guarantee me a cure for $50.00 to keep my money in my pocket, as I could not be cured.

"The disease spread all over me, even on my face and head. The itching and burning was hard to bear. At last my brother read in the paper about Dr. Chase's Ointment as a healer. I used 8 boxes, and I am glad to say I am entirely cured, not a sign of a sore to be seen. I can hardly praise the ointment enough, and you are at liberty to use my testimony, as I hope thereby to induce other sufferers to try the same."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60c. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

The following unrehearsed incident took place at a village cricket match on Saturday last. One of the umpires was the village butcher, who was very absent-minded. A wicket had fallen, and the incoming batsman took up his position and made the request to the butcher umpire, who was talking to the bowler at the other end:—

Give me leg, please.

Turning round rather quickly, the umpire remarked:—

Sorry sir, but we have only a few shoulders left.

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Two young ladies recently went to see a cricket match.

They had never seen the game played before, and with the inevitable curiosity of their sex they wanted to know the ins and out of everything they saw.

Presently the eyes of one damsel rested on the wickets.

What are those sticks in the ground for? she asked her friend.

Why dear, replied the other wisely, I suppose those are the cricket fixtures.

There may be other corn cures, but Holloway's Corn Cure stands at the head of the list so far as results are concerned.

Bill Sprague kept a grocer's shop in a little village in Cumberland. One day he set off for London to buy a lot of goods. The goods were dispatched immediately, and as Bill had lingered in London sight-seeing they reached his village shop before him.

The goods, in an enormous packing-case, were driven to the shop by the local carrier. Mrs. Sprague came to see what had arrived, and with a shriek tottered and nearly fell.

Oh, what's the matter, ma'am? cried a neighbor.

Mrs. Sprague, her eyes blinded with tears, pointed to the packing-case, whereon was stencilled in large black letters—

Bill inside.

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper

I understand that your wife and Mrs. Exe are not on speaking terms.

It's so, confound it! And it is going to cost me money.

Indeed! In what way?

Oh, my wife now proposes to give a big dinner party, so that she can snub Mrs. Exe by not inviting her.

Glancing hastily down the pages of Tommy Jones's examination papers, the teacher's heart thrilled over Tommy's unexpectedly good showing, for not one of the questions remained unanswered. But upon subjecting the papers to a more careful perusal her pride in Tommy's proficiency had a fall. After seven of the ten questions Tommy had written politely:—

I am sorry that this is a subject on which I have no information.

Sweet and palatable, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is acceptable to children, and it does its work surely and promptly.

Traveller (at crowded hotel)—How much do I owe you? What's my bill?

Landlord—Let me see; your room was—

Traveller—But I didn't have any room. I slept on the billiard table.

Landlord—Ah, well, two shillings an hour.

Sent to the Mat

A great lover of animals, Professor Dryasdust was much given to having his pet dog sitting beside him at meal-times, and eating tit-bits from his own plate.

The other evening he was at a dinner-party, and his partner was a very great lady, who was proud of her title.

But the professor paid absolutely no attention to her. His mind had switched off on to some abstruse point and he was lost to the world over the problem.

The duchess did not approve of this and presently, to attract his attention she pulled him gently by the sleeve.

Then the professor woke up. Grabbing a half-picked chicken-bone from his plate, he thrust it under her startled nose.

Don't bother just now, Fido! he said curtly. Here take this and go and eat it on the mat, like a good doggie.

Your Asthma Too. The efficacy of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is not something that is merely to be hoped for; it is to be expected. It never fails to bring relief, and in your own individual case it will do the same. So universal has been the success of this far-famed cure that every one afflicted with this disease owes it to himself to try it.

A Slump

So when you were married you ran away?

Yes.

Well, what then?

In addition to the twenty-seven first prizes of $50 each, there will be eighty-one other cash prizes, ranging from $10 to $25 in our

1912 PRIZE CONTEST FOR FARMERS

This contest is along the same lines as the one which was so successful last year, except that there are three times as many prizes, and therefore three times as many chances for each contestant to win. Every farmer in Canada who uses "Canada" Cement is eligible to compete. The conditions are such that large and small users of cement have equal opportunities to win a $50 prize.

The contest is divided into three classes, and there are first, second, third and fourth prizes ($50, $25, $15 and $10) in each class.

CLASS "A"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who use most "Canada" Cement on their farms in 1912.

CLASS "B"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who send photographs of the best concrete work done with "Canada" Cement on their farms in 1912.

CLASS "C"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who send the best description, telling how any piece of concrete work was done with "Canada" Cement. (Entries for this prize must be accompanied by photographs of the work.)

In addition to thus being divided into classes, so as to give small users of cement an equal chance with those who use more, the Contest is also divided into nine divisions, one for each province. So you see you need only to compete with the other farmers of your own province, and not with those all over Canada.

Don't think that because you have never used cement, you cannot win a prize. Many of last year's prize winners had never used cement before they entered the Contest. We will send you a free book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete," that will not only help you in the Contest, but will tell you everything you could want to know about the use of cement on the farm.

Don't delay, but send us your name and address to-day and get this free book and full particulars of the Prize Contest right away.

Use a letter, postal or coupon.

CAREFUL DOCTOR

Prescribed Change of Food Instead of Drugs

It takes considerable courage for a doctor to deliberately prescribe only food for a despairing patient, instead of resorting to the usual list of medicines.

There are some truly scientific physicians among the present generation who recognize and treat conditions as they are and should be treated, regardless of the value to their pockets. Here's an instance.

"Four years ago I was taken with severe gastritis and nothing would stay on my stomach, so that I was on the verge of starvation.

"I heard of a doctor who had a summer cottage near me—a specialist from N.Y.—and as a last hope, sent for him.

"After he had examined me carefully he advised me to try a small quantity of Grape-Nuts at first, then as my stomach became stronger to eat more.

"I kept at it and gradually got so I could eat and digest three teaspoonfuls. Then I began to have color in my face, memory became clear, where before everything seemed a blank. My limbs got stronger and I could walk. So I steadily recovered.

"Now after a year on Grape-Nuts I weigh 153 lbs. My people were surprised at the way I grew fleshy and strong on this food." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

Cursory

A huntsman called on Hodge, says Judge, to settle for damages done by a run to hounds and found only Mrs. Hodge at home.

Has your husband, he inquired, made an examination yet?

That he have, sir, replied Mrs. Hodge, with a curtsey.

Rather a cursory examination, I suspect.

Oh, dreadful, sir. Such langwidge I never heard—never.

It's ridiculous for a young man to get married as soon as he comes of age! said the elderly bachelor.

Think so, do you? said Henpeck languidly.

Of course! Why, he's scarcely old enough to be his own master.

Well, he isn't if he gets married.

THE result of the American election did not surprise any one who has kept in touch with the trend of public sentiment in the republic. The verdict plainly indicates that the masses have grown weary of the trusts and the political bosses. Whether the new administration will do anything to curb the arrogance of the combines, and to lower prices by reducing the abnormal tariff, is problematical at present. Democratic presidents and congresses have been elected on previous occasions to accomplish this work, but they have made a dismal failure of the task. It now remains for President-elect Wilson to show the American people that he is stronger than the trusts.

PRESS OPINION

Colonel Roosevelt, if he is not elected president, may become editor of the New Xork Press at one hundred thousand a year Should he accept the editorship no one doubts that he will do hard work and good work for his paper. General Harrison upon leaving the white house in 1893 resumed the practice of law at Indianapolis and appeared in the trial of cases to the end of his life. At the same time he contributed some excellent articles to the leading magazines of the country. In Britain we find cabinet ministers and premiers writing books and articles, the result of research and erudition. Our Canadian statesmen do not find much time for anything except politics. Are they less versatile or have they fewer opportunities to become many-sided? Surely we need badly a political history of Canada. That such a work can be written by a public man without offence to others, and without embarrassment to himself, was proven by Hon. James G. Blaine, who wrote a most valuable historical work between his retirement from office in 1881 and his uomination for president three years later.—Vancouver Sun.

The Bobcaygeon Independent thinks that either the recent bye-election or his pot-metal title made Sir Rodmond Roblin daffy when he said that Britain is on her knees beseeching Canada for help. John Bull does not have to, and does not know how to, get on his knees to mortal man.—Toronto Star.

Hon. "Bob" Rogers is now minister of public works, and the correspondent who announces this important fact also points out that he has forty millions to spend. Wow! What a carnival there will be—while it lasts!—Victoria Times.

If Mr. Robert Rogers was the power behind the unwarranted arrest of honorable men during the Macdonald election, Mr. Rogers ought to be at the bar before the judges instead of in the Dominion government. Toronto Globe,

A horse drawing the carriage in which sat Premier Borden and Mr. Monk at the duke's welcome back to Ottawa kicked over the traces. Supposed to be a case of plain, ordinary horse-sense.—Victoria Times.

British subjects who desire to hold the British empire together are short-sighted in trying to associate imperial unity with restricted markets in Canada, food taxes in Great Britain and civil war in Ireland.—London Advertiser.

A prominent grain man's remark on the Macdonald election this morning was: "The Roblin-Rogers combination would have beaten the Duke of Connaught even worse, and they'd probably have worked the loyalty cry against him, to boot."—Winnipeg Tribune.

A theory seems to be sufficient for the philosopher to grind away on, but he finds that actual conditions call for hard cash.

Many a man has so bragged about himself that later he has been compelled to get out and hustle to make good.

People who pay as they go are not likely to be arrested often for violating the speed limit.

GRANBY BAY

"THE PAY ROLL TOWN"

Home of the 2000 ton per day Granby Copper Smelter

and sawmill now producing over 600,000 feet of lumber per month, both owned by the Granby Bay Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Co., Ltd., a corporation with assets of over seventeen millions!

The mines at Granby Bay already have the stupendous total of 4,500,000 tons of rich copper ore "in sight," and the mining carried on in the winter of 1911-12 proved the wealth of the properties beyond guess-work. The ore now in sight will keep the smelter busy 75 years. Think of it! And this not taking into account various other adjoining properties, come under option to tue Granby Co. It is estimated that the Granby Co. can produce copper here for 23 cents a ton cheaper than at its Grand Forks smelter. When the big smelter is completed the total investment of the Granby Co here is expected to be nearly two millions,and that over 1000 men will be employed here.

When you consider the fact that today two bustling cities in British Columbia are almost entirely supported by the payrolls of this company—Phoenix and Grand Forks—you can get an idea what Granby Bay will be Granby Bay has a good deepwater harbor, and today the G. T. P. and C P. R and the Union Steamship Company operate regular steamers to this point.

Granby Bay is going to be a Payroll Town. And it is the kind of a town that is always "up and doing." A conservative estimate places the number of men to be employed at 1000 and their monthly payroll at about $100,000, without figuring on any other industries outside of the properties and smelter of the Granby Co.

Grasp those facts!

Granby Bay is in the very heart of a developed abulously rich copper mining district.

Granby Bay has a smelter owned by a formidable commercial Giant, the Granby Company.

Granby Bay will have an immense payroll every month.

Granby Bay must have a population of over 1000 people.

Granby Bay is a seaport.

Granby Bay can produce copper cheaper than in places where big profits are made from mining and smelting.

Every lot in Granby Bay is a gilt-edged investment.

Only a few choice lots are being offered for sale in Granby Bay Townsite—and there is not much doubt that they will be snapped up quickly. The prices are very low. To avoid disappointment applications for lots should be made now. The Continental Trust Co., Ltd, of Prince Rupert, is acting as trustee for the property. Newspaper Law

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the postoffice, and state the reason for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payments.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrearages, or the publishers may continue to send it until payments are made, and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper out of the post office, whether directed to his name or not, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper stopped and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5 The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the post office or removing, leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

REV. CHAS. SAGER SAYS

Mr. C. A. ABBOTT, August 11, 1905.
60 Ann St., New York City.

Dear Sir: I have known for over 40 years of the effects of Wilson's Kemedy [Wilson's Preparation of Hypophosphites and Bridgetti] in cases of pulmonary troubles. At this point I will say to you what you have not before known of; that 40 years since, while I was a resident of N. Y. City, I was severely ill with lung trouble. Physicians said I was a consumptive and my family physician told my wife that he thought I could not recover. My attention was directed to the Wilson Kemedy, which I used with splendid effect. I have been on my feet and at work ever since my cure. Yours truly,

ONTARIO WOMAN'S FORTUNE

Freed From That Weak, Languid, Always Tired Feeling, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Thessalon, Ont.—"I cannot speak too highly of your medicine. When my appetite is poor and I have that weak, languid, always tired feeling, I get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it builds me up, gives me strength, and restores me to perfect health again. It is truly a blessing to women, and I cannot speak highly enough of it. I take pleasure in recommending it to others."—Mrs. ANNIE CAMERON, Thessalon, Ont.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 30 years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Grand Old Men

The Mexican who has just died at the alleged age of 185 has been predeceased (according to American news) during the past dozen years or so by a citizen of New Brunswick aged 132, and a comparative youngster of Valley Mills, Texas, whose age was only 115.

The man in the street will be pardoned for thinking that the 185 has been inadvertently transposed from a cricket report. Among ex-Biblical heroes probably Old Parr and Henry Jenkins will stand as the best authenticated instances of superlongevity. The monument at Bolton (Yorkshire) records that Jenkins attained the amazing age of 169.

A man of eighty-six, observed Mr. Dooley recently, looks down on a man of eighty-five, and receives his callow opinions with a superciliuous smile; and for that reason probably (if not because he was a fisherman) Jenkins was able to give evidence on oath concerning matters 140 years or so previous. As a hale young centenarian he was in the habit of swimming the Swale with ease, and as a boy he is said to have taken a horseload of arrows to be forwarded north for the Battle of Flodden.

Relief for the Depressed.—Physical and mental depression usually have their origin in a disordered state of the stomach and liver, as when these organs are deranged in their action the whole system is affected. Try Paremlee's Vegetable Pills. They revive the digestive processes, act beneficially on the nerves and restore the spirits as no other pills will. They are cheap, simple and sure, and the effects are lasting.

THE TRUE CAUSE OF RHEUMATISM

Due to Acid in the Blood---Can Only be Cured Through the Blood.

Not many years ago even doctors thought that rheumatism was only a local pain caused by exposure to cold or wet. Now they know that the trouble is caused by the blood becoming tainted with uric acid. This condition of the blood causes the muscles to contract, stiffens the joints and irritates the nerves. If not promptly treated the stiffness spreads and the pain grows worse until you are a helpless cripple, tortured day and night. If the disease touches the heart it means sudden death. You cannot cure rheumatism with liniments, plasters or hot cloths, as so many try to do. You must go right to the root of the trouble in the blood. The scientific way to cure rheumatism is to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which make new, rich blood that goes right to the root of the trouble. They sweep out the poisonous acid, loosen the aching joints and muscles and bring ease and freedom where before had been pain and misery.

Miss Beulah Sheppy, Morpeth, Ont., says: "Following an attack of measles I took inflammatory rheumatism. My joints became swollen and the pain was almost unendurable. I doctored with two doctors, but the pain was only relieved while I was taking their medicine, and soon returned. For six months I continued to suffer in this way. Then I tried electric pads, but they failed to do me any good. Finally a friend persuaded me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I had not been taking them long before I found relief. I continued using the Pills for a time and soon found myself in perfect health and feeling like a new person. I never lose an opportunity to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as I cannot say enough in favor of them.

Good Form

Consideration For Others.

It goes without saying that consideration for others is one of the twelve pillars of the law of good breeding and a very important one. Everybody recognizes this in a general way, yet many people do not realize how large a share it has in the technical rules of etiquette. Thus punctuality is said to be the politeness of kings, but punctuality is dictated by a consideration for others as well as by the desire to have everything move in a smooth and orderly manner. Guests at a dinner must arrive at the hour named or five minutes after lest they keep the party assembled waiting for them. Fifteen minutes is the utmost limit allowed to tardy comers.

A hostess who invites friends to visit her simply because she is bored and wants them to amuse her violates, perhaps unconsciously, the laws of hospitality. People who have a great deal of money and little to do sometimes offend in this way. Time hangs heavy on their hands, and they are delighted to have some bright girl or clever young man come to stay with them to brighten them up. If they provide amusement for the visitors or give them something desirable which they do not get at home, such as automobiling, coasting or skating, there is no objection to their expecting thereafter to make them some return in the way of agreeable talk.

Elderly persons or those living quietly in the country should remember that the daily routine of their existence may seem dull to active young people accustomed to more life and excitement. Let us all beware lest we become social vampires, draining the vitality of those who come near us.

The woman who throws open her house for the sole purpose of displaying its expensive furniture and appointments is worse than her "bored" sister, because she adds pride to selfishness. A story is told of two rival leaders in a large American city which shows to what depths of vulgarity one may descend if one permits pride to replace good feeling toward others. Mrs. X. appeared at a ball wearing a costume of magnificent brocade which quite eclipsed the gown of Mrs. K. The latter congratulated her rival on the beauty of her dress and urged her to wear it at a reception which she (Mrs. K.) proposed to give a week or two later. Mrs. X., not dreaming of any treachery, unwisely complied with the request. Imagine her feelings when on arriving at the house of Mrs. K. she found that the latter had had all her drawing room furniture covered with the admired brocade!

Do You Sit Correctly?

In the good old days a lady would no more think of sitting with her elbows on the table and of crossing her legs than she would of eating with her knife. Now such actions are so common as to pass almost unnoticed.

The girl who leans habitually on her elbows soon ruins them. The skin roughens and reddens, eventually becoming callous and horny. Worse yet, the pressure of the body on the elbow stops the circulation and reddens the skin of the entire arm.

More dangerous is the habit common to men and women alike of sitting with one leg swung over the knee of the other. The pressure comes at a sensitive part of the leg and knee, a spot where there are a number of large veins, arteries and nerves. The pressure stops circulation, crowds the tissues together and produces various ills.

Many a woman who suffers from headache or numbness will find it relieved if she ceases to sit with her legs crossed. The habit long continued produces varicose veins, a red nose, bruised spots and other ills attendant on stopped circulation.

It will be easier to conquer this bad habit if a woman makes a practice of sitting erect on chair or sofa with the end of her spine pressed close against the back of her chair. This will throw her feet in a natural position on the ground, and the temptation to loaf or sit cross legged is minimized.

Belated Appreciation.

A workman called at the home of President Taft's brother, Charlie, in Cincinnati to perform some odd job, and he paused to note some of the priceless paintings in Brother Charlie's private gallery. He was attracted to a small original Van Dyck and moved up closer to get a better look.

"Ah!" he exclaimed. "I've got that same thing down home. Yes, it's exactly like that. My wife got it some place here in town. Are they worth much?"

"That one is worth $35,000," he was told.

"Hum!" he murmured. "I guess I'll have ours framed."—St. Paul Dispatch.

A CHANCERY ROMANCE.

Helping a Friend, He Unearthed a Fortune For Himself.

Perhaps there is no more curious chapter in the history of the chancery courts than that of two Pittsburgh men. The first had a claim to a small estate abroad, but he did not have the money to pay the claim agency to make a search, so he got a friend to back him.

This friend's name was Peterman, and the money he advanced was like a grub stake—he was gambling on his friend's claim proving up.

One day when Peterman was at the claim agency office he came upon this advertisement in the agency files: "Peterman (Albertus), musician, born in Amsterdam in 1829, son of Charles Frederick and Henrietta Suzanna Gasman. Left for Liverpool in 1856. He is sought for inheritance by M. Contot, avocat, 21 Boulevard St. Germain, Paris."

That was the inception of the famous "Kinsey docks" case, the name coming from the fact that the original Peterman was last seen at Kinsey docks, in Liverpool. The claim agency took the matter in hand, traced Peterman's lineage back and enabled him to establish a good claim to an inheritance of $200,000.

That was a case of fortune being thrust upon a man.—Lewis Edwin Theiss in Harper's Weekly.

JOBS FOR THE INDIGENT.

Swiss Method of Solving the Problem of the Unemployed.

In Switzerland the people act upon the theory that a man who is unemployed is, if left to himself, liable to become a waste by being a subject of charity and a tax upon the community. Therefore the problem is considered as an economic question.

The purpose is to assist the unfortunate unemployed to secure work, not only for the sake of his family, but in the interests of the state. There is no toleration for the loafer. Begging is prohibited by the law, and vagrancy is classified as a crime.

If an unemployed person does not make a serious effort to find work the authorities will find it for him, and he is compelled to perform it. If he refuses he is placed in the workhouse, where strict discipline is maintained and every inmate is required to work to his full capacity, receiving therefor his board and lodging and from 5 to 10 cents a day in wages.

There are also institutions where temporary employment is furnished to persons out of work, through no fault of their own, and comfortable accommodations and some money compensation given until they can find more remunerative wages.—Chicago Tribune.

Metherly Advice.

"My dear, you mustn't be so sharp with strange young men. You know you may give them a wrong impression."

"What's the matter now, mother?"

"You scarcely spoke a word to that young man you were introduced to last evening."

"I didn't like his way, mother."

"Did you know him?"

"No; I'd never met him before."

"Do you know anything about him?"

"Nothing, except that he seemed to me to be very impertinent."

"Still, you shouldn't have snubbed him, at least until you had learned more about him. Once I snubbed a young man that way without knowing who he was, and I regretted it ever after, because I found out later that he was very rich. I might have married him if I had been more careful."—Detroit Free Press.

Why Bruises Become Black and Blue.

The color of blood is due chiefly to iron in the little blood cells. When the iron is kept in these little blood cells, which are living and traveling around in the blood vessels, the color is red. Hit the skin hard enough to break some of the little blood vessels beneath the surface and the little red cells escape from the injured blood vessels, wander about for awhile in the tissues and die. When they die the iron that made them red before then changes to black and blue coloring. After awhile this iron is taken up by the glands called the lymphatics and made over again into nice red cells. The iron is taken up very much more quickly by the lymphatics if the black and blue spot is rubbed and massaged.—St. Nicholas.

His Painful Debut.

"I shall not easily forget my debut," Sir Charles Wyndham said on one occasion. "We opened at Washington, and I appeared as a character who had to declare, 'I am drunk with love and enthusiasm.' Having uttered the first three words, I was seized with stage fright and said no more. This is what I read in a New York paper the next morning: 'A Mr. Wyndham represented a young man from South America. He had better go there himself.'"

The two powers which in my opinion constitute a wise man are those of bearing and forbearing.—Epictetus

JANITORS IN VIENNA.

These Autocrats Are Paul Prys, Tax Collectors and Jailers.

The Viennese who does not wish to be out of pocket must keep early hours. After ten o'clock at night he is taxed on entering his own house or apartment. The "sperregeld" or door opening tax is not peculiar to Vienna, but is also found in other capitals of Europe.

The 2,000,000 residents of the Austrian capital are practically imprisoned in their own homes from ten o'clock in the evening until six the next morning. They may go in or out only by paying the equivalent of four cents to the janitor or, as the Austrians call him, the house master.

Now, Vienna is built on the flat or apartment house plan. Rich men and working people alike live in quarters of this kind. The houses are large, having five or six floors, usually with four flats on a floor, so that not infrequently there will be upward of 100 persons living under one roof. There is a common entrance from the street, and after ten o'clock at night this door is bolted and barred.

This tax must be met every time one passes through the doorway. There is no exception to this rule. A man who has dine with a friend must, if he stays late, pay four cents to get out of his friend's house and four cents more to get into his own. A telegram in the night calls for the payment of the tax before the messenger can enter.

It is the function of the house master to keep duplicate copies of forms, on which every individual in the house must report to the police his age, birthplace and religion, his exact occupation and other personal details that the Austrian authorities insist on knowing. Nor does the power of the Viennese janitor end here. From the little lookout that he occupies at the foot of the stairs he sees every one that goes in or out. He ascertains with astonishing accuracy the amount of each tenant's income, the events of his private life and the character of his visitors.

In some apartment houses the house master is more powerful than in others. There is a case on record in which an Anglo-Saxon resident was obliged to move from an apartment that he particularly like for the simple reason that he could not venture to speak with any degree of sharpness to the man at his door, even when the janitor was remiss in his duties.

The flat was owned by a railway belonging to the state. This made the house master a state official, to insult whom is a very serious offence in Austria. A reprimand for delaying letters would be construed into an insult, and the foreigner deemed it best to move to other quarters.

Unreasonable.

"I suppose your chief creditor is very rich."

"Well, I should say so. But even at that he acts as though I were living above his means."—Fliegende Blatter.

A Glass Needle Stilette.

As diabolical a specimen of murderous ingenuity as ever was discovered by the police was found one day in the possession of a Chinaman who had been working in a laundry in New Orleans and who was believed to have intended using it upon his employer. It was a tiny stiletto, with a handle about as thick as a carpenter's pencil and a blade four inches long of glass, pointed as keenly as a needle. A tiny groove had been filed around the blade close to the hilt. Suppose it was driven into a man's body. It would be certain to break off at the groove and leave three inches of glass deep in his flesh. What is more, the puncture would be so tiny that it would probably close at once and show no mark, not even a single drop of blood.

Wouldn't Have Missed.

As a battalion was returning from rifle practice at the ranges a shot was discharged from the leading company, apparently by accident, but the bullet passed uncomfortably close to the colonel. "Look here," he roared to the captain of the company, "who fired that shot?" "Sir," replied the officer proudly, "it can't be a man of my company, for they are all first class shots."—London Globe.

AN ACADIAN AUTHORESS.

Grace McLeod Rogers Makes a Specialty of Canadian Folk Lore.

Many hearts, vexed to preserve to this Canada of ours its golden wealth of unreclaimed tradition, sighed as people sigh for "a light untimely snuffed," when Grace McLeod Rogers, its saviour in Nova Scotia, put aside her highly successful literary enterprises for the, to her, dearer duties and joys domestic, says The Canadian Courier. Those hearts, however, are about to be comforted, for now her four splendid boys are "out of arms," as she puts it—the eldest, a freshman, carried off this year Acadia College's trophy for essay writing—Mrs. Rogers' facile pen has been re-assumed.

Canadian folk lore is Mrs. Rogers' field, particularly in its Nova Scotian features. Her first volume, "Stories from the Land of Evangeline," appeared when Mrs. Rogers was Grace Dean McLeod. It won immediate recognition, both here and across the waters, as a native product of rare beauty by virtue of both its matter and authorship; its tales being incorporated into the School Readers of three countries, Canada, New England, and Old Scotia, and widely used also as supplementary reading.

Later productions were published from time to time in the best periodicals of Canada and the United States. These were written usually upon request and were characterized always by the reality of subject, the delicacy of diction, and the high pervading spirit which marked that initial series of province tales. Love of the Has-Been, a faculty for research, and a genius for adapting her language to her theme, account for Mrs. Rogers' achievement. And the lapse of years has served only as a mellower of these powers, to judge from latest examples of her work.

But for more than "pennish" reasons might this authoress be proud. She is the daughter of the late A. J. McLeod, distinguished as barrister and author, and is also the niece of R. R. McLeod, the well-known litterateur. Her ancestry includes the Warrens and Hopkins of Mayflower fame and the Dunvegan McLeods of Skye. The Nova Scotia Historical Society claims her as a member—a distinction she is the first woman eligible to enjoy. Also, in company with Miss Marshall Saunders—whose story about her pet goats lately appeared in print—she received last June at the hands of Acadia College the honorary degree, M.A. But while she fondly cherishes her family traditions, instanced by her writing when she gave her photograph, "The scarf is my McLeod tartan—I must always wear it about me"; and while she delights in her varied honors as in the symbols of her countrymen's goodwill, modesty of the sincerest type is the crown of this woman's woman-nature. "I am only a woman," somewhere she writes, "not even the much-abused 'new woman' bristling with Academic honors, member of societies legion, and burdened with suffrage, and school bill and tariff, but a simple-minded, old-fashioned one, believing in love, and home, and 'the untrodden ways'."

An Interesting Theory.

That the increased efficiency, due to climatic conditions, of the transplanted Britisher will soon make Canada the centre point of the British Empire is the statement with which Prof. Willis Moore, chief of the U. S. weather bureau, has startled Londoners recently.

Prof. Moore declares it can be scientifically demonstrated that the climate of the North American continent is producing a race which in mental and physical energy promises to be distinctly more efficient than any past nation of the Northern Aryan race. He bases his theory on the fact that the northwest winds of Canada, blowing with great velocity from an extreme altitude of vast electrical potentiality, release more ozone in the proper state for human breathing than in any other place in the world. The climate of Canada differs from the marine climates of Europe in the fact that most of the winds originate over land areas and that they carry oxygen which is readily transmuted into ozone by electricity, whereas the marine winds of the British Isles and the European continent are lacking in the means for releasing this virile element. Consequently the Canadian weather expert maintains that the Canadian can no more control that nervous energy which is the marvel of Europe than he can stop his own breathing.

Drenching the Doorstep.

In many parts of England there exists even to-day a very curious custom which makes it imperative for the girl friends of a bride to drench the doorstep of her home with boiling water if they wish other marriages to follow very quickly. At the wedding, therefore, great kettles of hot water stand ready for this strange ceremony, and long after the rest of the guests have dispersed the young girls of the party may be seen keeping the threshold warm as long as the water supply will last.

Milton's Works.

Milton regarded the "Paradise Regained" as infinitely superior to the "Paradise Lost" and once expressed great surprise that any one should entertain a contrary opinion. "On the Morning of Christ's Nativity" was his best. It was his earliest, being written in 1629, when he was twenty-one years of age.

THE SWINEHERD.

Sows that are to produce fall litters should be bred in May if possible. This will bring the pigs in September and in time for them to get a good start before cold weather.

Keep a good brood sow as long as she will produce satisfactory litters. The pigs from mature sows will average more weight at six months old, everything equal, than those from very young sows.

Be sure the hogs, old and young, have plenty of pure, fresh water to drink. Comparatively few people realize the importance of drinking water for hogs.

Go slow with corn to the brood sows and young pigs.

Do not allow too many pigs to run together. Unless the range is large each litter should have its own pasture.

Pork costs only one-third to one-half as much when pastures are used as when concentrated feeds alone are used.

TAMING UNRULY BULLS.

Two Methods of Repressing Their Superabundant Energy.

We suppose every one has a recipe for the treatment of these very troublesome fellows, but it will do no hurt to say something from our standpoint, says Hoard's Dairyman.

In the first place, bulls get unruly largely because of the superabundant energy that is wrapped up in them. They ought to be made to work every day on a tread power or in some other way and get real tired. That will do more to repress their "masculine rage" than anything we know of.

Second, if a young bull gets the notion in his head that he is boss take him out on the meadow or where the snow is deep enough to make a fair cushion and throw him with a double loop a few times. That will put more sense of his inferiority in the hands of man into his thick head than anything we ever tried. The double loop is made in the following manner: Take a half inch rope, say, twenty feet long. Pass one end through the nose ring, leaving about six feet in front, thence up between the horns. Then pass the rope around the body just back of the fore legs and make a half hitch at the backbone, thence back to the hips, making another turn around the body just in front of the hind legs with a half hitch at the backbone and carry out the rope over the tail six or eight feet in the rear.

Let two men take hold of the end in front and two more on the rope in the rear and give a stout pull together, when down goes Mr. Bull as if he was shot. Hold him down by the head a few moments and let him up. Likely enough he will make a lunge at the men in front, but another slow pull brings him to his side with a bang. Throw him two or three times in this way, and it will take the conceit out of him wonderfully. You have not struck him nor hurt him nor is his anger aroused. He is simply nonplused and completely beat at your power over him.

We have known of several very cantankerous bulls who were kept quite decent by an occasional dose of the double loop.

Geologists Coming.

The twelfth session of the International Geological Congress, held in Ottawa, Canada, during 1913. This is the first time this country has been honored with this important meeting and the following details in advance will be of interest to our readers:

Since the first meeting of the congress in Paris in 1878, meetings have been held in Italy, Germany, England, the United States of America, Switzerland, Russia, Austria, Mexico and Sweden. At the last congress held in Stockholm in 1910 there was an attendance of 850, and it is expected that this number will be exceeded in Canada next year.

Geologists from every quarter of the globe will attend the congress and for many it will be their first visit to Canada. They will include professors from the leading universities and mining schools, officers of the various Government geological surveys and mining departments, and geologists and mining engineers in private practice.

Another happy couple has qualified for the King's three guineas. Triplets, two girls and a boy, have been born to Mrs. John Montague of Earlscourt, Toronto. All concerned are doing well. What is most remarkable about the occurrence is that this is the third time Earlscourt has been blessed in this way within the space of a couple of months. Earlscourt is a suburb chiefly made up of English immigrants.
