Pattullo Rejects Coalition With Tory Premier

VICTORIA. Sept. 13.—Clarion call for mobilization of the whole people in the cause aggressive, capable economic government for British Columbia was issued by T. D. Pattullo, Liberal leader, today.

Mr. Pattullo's statement to the public followed his courageous, pointed rejection of Premier Tolmie's invitation to take office in a Union government under Dr. Tolmie's leadership.

Recognition of the new public psychology which is concerned with the fundamentals of economics rather than the fortunes of individuals or parties, underlay Mr. Pattullo's stirring appeal in which he pledged himself and his party to the service of the welfare of the whole public, regardless of race, class or creed.

With the realization that the Tolmie Government is lashing about in its death throes and that his constitutional position may at a moment's notice obligate him to form a new government, Mr. Pattullo pledged himself to call to his counsels the best intelligence of the whole province.

"The political atmosphere is full of mystery and intrigue, which is not healthy," said Mr. Pattullo. "The government of this province has fallen into such a state that the confidence of the people has been shaken in government generally and it is argued that the party system of government is responsible for the position in which we find ourselves."

Having recently covered a large portion of the province, I find that the situation is pretty well understood by the public at large and most people are of the opinion that the move for coalition is not entirely disinterested.

"Nevertheless, there is a body of opinion which believes that party government has become too partisan and it is a healthy sign that people generally are more interested in good government than they are in partisanship."

"The Liberal Party in British Columbia elected me leader. I have repeatedly stated that the Liberal Party exists for the furtherance of the principles of good government."

"Without restating these principles at this time, it is sufficient to say that they are definite and vital and have to do with the welfare of all society, irrespective of race, creed, or any other interests."

"In the present circumstances, it is obvious that the desire of all for clean, courageous, forward administration must be met and as leader of the Opposition, who would be constitutionally called upon to form a new administration should the present government vacate office, I repeat what I have said on former occasions, namely, that the power of all our people must be mobilized to meet present conditions."

"If called upon to form a government, I propose that men of the highest character and capacity and representative of all interests, shall be called into counsel."

"Government, by whatever name it may be called, is for the benefit of all and is the kind of Government which this Province will receive should I be called upon to form an administration."

Pattullo's Refusal Note to Tolmie

VICTORIA. Sept. 13.—"Not in the public interest" was the keynote of T. D. Pattullo's reply to the invitation from Premier Tolmie to join a Union Government.

The Opposition leaders' reply was forwarded to Dr. Tolmie this morning.

Its text follows:

Dear Dr. Tolmie:
I am in receipt of your letter of September 9, as follows:

I presume that you have seen my announcement in the press expressing my views on Union Government wherein I stated that under present conditions I thought it advisable in the interests of the province to call some of our leading men who have had experience in governmental affairs.

I am therefore asking you if you would be willing to join such a government under my leadership."

The announcement to which you refer in your letter indicated that you would issue a further statement in due course. This statement has not yet been forthcoming.

I have therefore not information as to what new policies or administrative measures you may have in mind, which you could not already have put into effect with the large majority in the Legislature which you have had supporting you.

Information is also lacking as to

Grand Forks City Council Proceedings

The regular meeting of the Grand Forks city council was held in the council chamber on Monday evening. The mayor and all the aldermen were present.

"It is not reasonable to suppose that these differences could be suddenly reconciled.

"While therefore I appreciate your confidence in me in asking me if I would be willing to join a union government under your leadership, I do not believe that the public interest would be best served by my agreeing to do so.

"With the hope that in the stress of your duties you may continue in every good health, I beg to remain,

Very faithfully yours,

T. D. PATTULLO."

Premier Tolmie's invitation mailed on Saturday was marked private and confidential, but Mr. Pattullo telephoned him and suggested that the correspondence be made public in view of the circumstances. This course was adopted.

Interesting To Farmers

DAIRY INSPECTION

Dr. D. H. McKay, provincial veterinary inspector, and G. L. Landon, district agriculturist, visited the farms in the Greenwood and Grand Forks districts during the past week.

The wedding was attended by the groom's sister, Miss A. C. Brew of Kettle Valley, and T. A. Cam of Nelson. After the wedding ceremony a grand breakfast was served at the Golden Gate, where all attended quite enjoyed themselves. With a grand send-off, the couple left on their honeymoon for Kettle Valley and other points, where they will visit for a short time.

SWINE CLUBS

The pigs in the Grand Forks swine club were judged on September 9, and those in the Midway club on September 10, by H. E. Craig, Dominion swine grader at the Calgary stock yards. There were six members in the Grand Forks club and ten in the Midway club. The pigs were scored allowing 60 points for placing, 26 points for feeding and management and 25 points for the financial record kept on the cost of raising.

In the Grand Forks club four members who exhibited their pigs and completed their records scored as follows:

First, Johnny Gavrelitz, 95 points.
Second, Gordon Mudie, 93 points.
Third, Mary Woodward, 92 points.
Fourth, John Starchuk, 87 points.
Of the eight pigs shown, seven graded select bacon hogs and one a bacon hog under the Canadian government grades. This is a very high record and the best ever made by the Grand Forks club.

In the Midway club the following exhibited their pigs and made the following scores:

First, William Boltz, Boundary Falls, 82 points.

Second, Frank Kebe, Midway, 80 points.

Third, Jack Floyd, Greenwood, 73 points.

Fourth, Peter Lepin, Boundary Falls, 71 points.

Fifth, Donel Boltz, Boundary Falls, 65 points.

Sixth, Thomas Forshaw, Greenwood, 64 points.

Seventh, Xavier Caron, Midway, 62 points.

Eighth, Onetta Park, Boundary Falls, 55 points.

SHORTHORN COWS

Ray Forrester of Grand Forks has recently imported three pure bred Shorthorn heifers from Alberta. They were purchased through the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders' association and selected by William Durno of Calgary, western fieldman for the Shorthorn Breeders' association. It is Mr. Forrester's intention to build up a herd of pure bred Shorthorns.

MIDWAY FARMERS' INSTITUTE

The Midway Farmers' Institute is contemplating purchasing a carload of screenings for the members. Those interested are requested to get in touch with the secretary.

Colonist Against Proposed Coalition

VICTORIA. Sept. 13.—Premier Tolmie's coalition government proposal has met a mixed reception here and is going decidedly short on press support.

The Colonist, strong Conservative party newspaper, leaves no doubt of its stand against a coalition. One Colonist writer likens it to the ship of state in drydock having its bottom scraped. The idea of labelling such a union a "national government" is absurd to this writer.

session, Rev. W. C. Mawhinney of Nelson gave the home mission report.

That the talkies will take a large share of the educational responsibility in the future was the opinion of Rev. George Kinney of Procter.

Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson of Nelson reported on young people's summer camps. The boys' camp this year was the largest yet, with 74 boys going into camp along with 26 leaders.

Rev. Bryce H. Wallace of Trail reported on the ministers' retreat at Camp Koalaree and remarked on the tremendous possibilities of these camps. Mr. Wallace highly commended the work of Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson at the summer retreat in connection with preparing the camps.

Rev. Fraser Campbell, veteran missionary of Vancouver, concluded the session with a prayer and the presbytery closed.

Mr. Bowser Declines Mr. Tolmie's Offer

TOLMIE'S LETTER TO BOWSER

On Sept. 9, Premier Tolmie dispatched the following letter to the former Conservative chieftain, Mr. Bowser:

Dear Mr. Bowser,—Further to our recent discussion on the whole British Columbian situation, when you agreed with me that a Union Government would be at the moment in the best interest of the Province and recognizing your wide experience in governmental affairs, I desire to ask you if you would be willing to join such a government under my leadership?

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) F. S. TOLMIE.

BOWSER'S REPLY

Mr. Bowser replied on Sept. 12 as follows:

Dear Dr. Tolmie—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of 9th inst., asking if I would be willing to join your Government.

In reply I beg to state that I cannot see my way clear to enter your Cabinet.

Yours faithfully,
(Signed) W. J. BOWSER.

Kootenay Presbytery At Nelson This Week

NELSON. Sept. 15.—At the second and final session of the Kootenay fall presbytery meeting of the United Church of Canada held in Trinity church Wednesday, Rev. Andrew Walker of Creston was unanimously elected as chairman of the presbytery.

Rev. R. E. Cribb, secretary and H. E. Dill, treasurer, both having served long terms in office, were re-elected at Wednesday's session.

Two lay members who were not present at Tuesday's meeting, E. W. Somers of Nelson and M. L. McPhee of Kaslo attended Wednesday. Mr. McPhee gave an address on the Kaslo church situation, while Mr. Somers spoke on the good work of Rev. G. Kinney in the Kootenay waterways mission.

Rev. A. C. N. Pound of Nakusp reported on the missionary maintenance fund.

Dr. Charles Endicott, superintendent of the missionary funds for western Canada, gave an address.

At the meeting of the afternoon the deportation papers had been served upon their leader, Peter V. Verigin, titular head of the Doukhobors in Canada, have caused unusual interest in this community and feeling is running higher than at any time since the chieftain of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood was sentenced to serve 18 months for perjury. But no disorders occurred here today, as hundreds of Doukhobors discussed his situation.

Especially are the Sons of Freedom insurgents group of the Doukhobors, at the fate which is said await Verigin, but despite great excitement in their ranks, nothing unusual was noted today, as R.C.M.P. officers kept close check on the various meetings.

the Kidd report, which was so much in the public eye for a period, has faded into obscurity for the present. Some interest was revived in Vancouver by an address before the advertising and sales bureau of the board of trade by W. Lyde Macken, one of the Kidd committee members.

Mr. Macken defended it against many of the attacks made on it and one part of his address seemed to suggest government by commission when he said:

"I honestly believe the province should be administered by a much smaller group than recommended. This body should be entirely unhampered, its duty being to place the province on a sound basis and then hand it over to some elective body."

Intelligence and ability are the same thing and both are "inborn," the British Association for the Advancement of Science was told today. The man with the highest intelligence is the man with the greatest number of inborn abilities, Prof. W. McDougall, noted psychologist, said. The difference in intelligence between man and the lower animals is really a difference inborn abilities. Intelligence, he explained, is a sort of outgrowth of instinct and both are based on two things, propensities, or "natural born s," and abilities. Instincts are a close linking-up of a "natural best" with some particular ability. This close combination of the two governs actions of lower animals. The secret of the ability of migrating birds to find their way accurately over long distances probably lies in powerful eyesight, enabling them to note landmarks, Prof. C. G. Patten told the Association. He expressed doubt that birds have an instinctive "sense of direction." Young birds are guided by older birds who have been over the route before.

A doomsday book, the ancient method of determining a taxpayer's holdings in vogue during the time of William the Conqueror, is for a rival in Russell township, Ontario. A questionnaire, styled after the doomsday book, is in course of preparation. It will list the entire holdings of farmers who are unable to meet their property tax this year, the name of wife, number of children and the amount of income during the past year. It also asks the number of livestock owned and the quantity of grain and hay harvested. When completed, the questionnaire must be sworn to before a notary public and sent to either the reeve of the township or C. A. Seguin, the county representative, Conservative member of Russell.

Discussion of the need for the Keren Hayesod, the Jewish Palestine Foundation Fund, occupied a prominent place on the agenda of the Western Division Conference of Hadasah Chapters in session at Winnipeg. Declaring that in some form or other the principle of public ownership of basic commodities is becoming more widespread, Rabbi Jesse Schneirz, Montreal, declared there was a great need for a large fund to enable national development of the River Jordan, reclamation of minerals from the Dead Sea and the building of transportation systems. Dr. May Berre Morenuski, Palestine, formerly of Winnipeg, was the guest speaker at a luncheon, following the reading of reports from the following chapters: Estevan, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina, Calgary, Melville, Kamsack, Fort William, Vancouver and Winnipeg.

"We're being treated like babies," is the cry among 1,400 students at Kelvin High School in Winnipeg. "Blue Law" innovations introduced with the opening of the school term have hurt the dignity of the pupils. "Think of it," one of the students said today, "boys and girls, some of them 17 or 18, are not allowed to talk to one another in the halls. We must come into school through separate entrances and go out the same way, even though it may be more convenient for us to use one entrance rather than another." Parking of students' cars in the block around the school is prohibited. In the school is a canister operated by the blind. Sale of chewing gum and pop to the students is forbidden, although the canteen can still sell hot dogs, tea and chocolate bars. What the students object to, particularly, is having to walk in single file from one class room to another, reminiscent of their public school days. At four o'clock the boys and girls are required to march out of classes in line, which must be kept intact until out of the building. Finally, word has gone out that no dances will be permitted at Kelvin this fall or winter. Over the river five blocks away is the Gordon Bell School, recently become a senior high school. Kelvin sees it as a logical rival in sport, and its principal is reported to have said: "I don't care what you do as long as you like Kelvin."

Firemen wearing gas masks rushed into a basement here to rescue a child whom neighbors said they could hear "crying." The basement was filled with ammonia fumes from a broken refrigerator system. Ten minutes later they emerged carrying a black kitten. "Well, we did our duty," coughed one of the firemen. "Our first duty is to save life and the second property."

New York is not usually considered a mining state, largely because it does not contain any gold or silver, yet its sub-surface deposits yield returns greater than those of many states with popular reputations for their mineral resources, according to a recent publication of the New York State museum. More than thirty substances are mined in the state, including iron, zinc, pyrite, salt, calcium sulphate, stone and clay.

Perhaps the biggest colony of blue herons on the Atlantic coast is at Bartlett's island, near Bar Harbor, Maine. The island, a four-acre tract off Indian point, is owned by Augustus P. Loring, Boston lawyer. On it there are some 500 blue heron nests and in addition, many nests of the black-crowned heron and of osprey.

We, perhaps should never have anything except what we need. Anything else leads to extravagance.

Regent Street Gasps

Beach pyjamas and swimming suits have appeared on London streets—and conventional women do not know whether to be shocked or envious, returning travelers declare.

Weeks of blazing sunshine have wrought great changes in styles of English dressing. They have revealed that the Englishwoman dares to dress as she pleases when the English climate becomes her ally. Tourists have seen a new England, with beaches more crowded than ever before due to the Government's appeal to holiday-makers to vacation in their own land, a great influx of visitors from abroad availing themselves of the favorable rate of exchange and gay fashion.

Miss Vancouver thinks nothing of riding downtown to do her shopping in beach pyjamas, or elegant swimming suit; but tourists who knew the Englishwoman of old have been startled to see her adopt the style.

Regent Street, in the heart of the world's capital, stared amazed when it saw three young women daringly dressed for comfort at the height of the heat wave. One wore gaily decorated beach pyjamas, in palest blue, with parasol to match. A second wore knee-length shorts of silk, with rolled socks and sandals, a silk sweater over which was a contrasting colored coat, a large floppy hat of loosely woven straw. The third dared the busy street in swimming suit of Mary blue, bare legs and Parisian shoes.

In this costume they did their mornings shopping, oblivious of comment. Elderly men and women were shocked but the new generation of young Englishmen and women admired.

In some papers nearly every page is a liar. You don't have to go very far away from home to verify this fact.

Show Places of Millionaires Found Going Out of Fashion

New York—"Millionaire palaces," those respondent show places which used to dot the suburban countryside in such profusion back in the old days of pre-depression prosperity, are going out of style, according to a survey report just put out by the American Institute of Architects.

Experts who participated in the survey envision the time when such symbols of wealth and social standing will ornament the American landscape no more. Indeed the report suggests the possibility of the passing of the personal suburban dwelling of whatever size and cost in favor of the "model village" or standardized house.

The report, prepared by Dr. Leicester B. Holland, chief of the division of fine arts of the Library of Congress and chairman of the committee on preservation of historic buildings of the American Institute of Architects, is described as an analysis of the role of architecture in the present age consciousness of the social body.

The waning interest of the wealthy in large private houses is explained by Doctor Holland as "largely due to an increase in mobility," and further to the fact that the wealthy instead of concentrating on a single establishment, are now in the habit of maintaining two or more residences in different parts of the country or even abroad.

It is to be expected that the effect of mobility will extend constantly down the scale of wealth," says the report, "with a consequent tendency to lessened interest in the personal suburban dwelling. The modern village or the standardized house may in time replace it. There will probably result an increase in economy, possibly an increase in beauty, but also a decrease in esthetic responsiveness. For it is only the selective interest of the individual that makes for critical appreciation.

The city apartment building illustrates this reaction. Modern apartments are architecturally far more interesting than the uniform rows of city houses they replace. But they have very little effect on the architectural consciousness of the community.

On the other hand, business buildings, such as stores, offices and theaters, which a century ago were of almost no architectural consequence, today have assumed prime importance. This change is due chiefly to the modern devotion to advertising in all commercial undertakings, though with this there enters an element of personal pride on the part of the merchant owners.

"An early expression of just this combination of motives was P. T. Barnum's residence, Iranistan, at Bridgeport Conn., designed by a London architect in fantastic Moorish style and built regardless of expense within unobstructed view of the main railroad line."

The report shows that business buildings have assumed first importance in American architecture. Government architecture is "essentially unimportant." College architecture tends toward "archaic theatricality," while church, libraries and other cultural foundations will rank at the end of another century as "the outstanding architectural examples of the day," according to the report.

"Thou hast conquered, O Galilean!" These, according to a legend, were the dying words of the Roman emperor Julian, who was the son of the half-brother of Constantine the Great and who succeeded Constantius as emperor in 361 A. D. He was brought up a Christian, but his early teaching was soon modified by his interest in Neoplatonism and other philosophy and he acquired the name Julian the Apostate because after he became master of the Roman world he ordered a return to pagan worship and issued many decrees against Christianity. His was not the true paganism as it had been practiced in times past, but an idealized amalgam of paganism and philosophy which he learned from the rhetoricians who taught him and which was associated with a preference for the culture of the ancient Hellenic world. Julian marched at the head of a powerful army into Persia and in 363, after a long and futile march, he found himself surrounded by a superior Persian force in a desert region in the hot and sultry season. The emperor was always in the thickest of the fighting, but after many desperate encounters with the enemy he fell mortally wounded, treacherously stabbed by a Christian according to an unauthenticated story. Just before he died Julian, the legend says, threw some of his blood toward heaven and exclaimed: "Vicit Galilaeus." Thou hast conquered, O Galilean! This legend was mentioned by Theodore, bishop of Cyrrhus, in the fifth century, but most authorities regard it as a pure fabrication or merely an elaboration of the account of the emperor's death given in the poems of Ephraim Syrus, who died in 373. Nevertheless, fact or fiction, the story symbolizes the fact that the work of Julian the Apostate perished with him.

ANCIENT HISTORY

LIFE IN GRAND FORKS TWENTY YEARS AGO

Bidding was keen at the city tax sale today and some of the properties sold for all they were worth.

W. Beighron of this city has been awarded contracts to build stations and station houses for the Kettle Valley line at Carmi, Etavendell, Westbridge and Rock Creek.

Work on the Canadian Pacific railway's marshalling shop and roundhouse in the West End is progressing rapidly.

W. Blakemore, the Doukhobor commissioner, held sittings here of the commission in the new court house on Tuesday and Wednesday, and also made a personal inspection of conditions in the colony four miles west of this city.

At the tax sale today B. Leguime bid in Ralph Trotter's big residence near the cemetery, and Bob Petrie bought a 2x4-foot lot on the corner of Bridge street and Riverside avenue. It will erect a 30-story brick office building on it.

A number of Eholi employees of the Canadian Pacific railway have been in the city this week looking over future place of residence.

Last Sunday the third big blast was set off at the Mother Lode mine. Eight tons of dynamite were used, and 17 holes were loaded. The blast was touched off by electricity.

YOUR OUTLOOK

What is your outlook for a long healthy life? When one considers how dependent human happiness is upon health, it would seem reasonable to expect an intelligent answer to this or other similar questions. Those who answer, with few exceptions, will have to admit that, while they hope to enjoy many happy years, this hope is not based upon any knowledge which they have of the condition of their bodies.

Tuberculosis does not develop over night. In its very beginnings, while the disease is gaining its foothold, it does not cause any real upset. By the time symptoms appear and health suffers, the disease is well established.

Lift should not be lived in fear of disease. Life should be lived intelligently, which means—among other things—consideration for future health through reasonable attention to the body at all times. A periodic health examination, the best means available to provide the necessary guidance to individual health.

Disease is generally insidious in character. It develops from slight changes which cause little or no disturbance of the body functions, and so there is no definite symptom. If these early changes are detected, they may be corrected by proper treatment, and to the serious conditions, which might grow out of them, would be prevented.

In order to keep the body healthy,

FACTS THAT YOU MAY NOT KNOW

The Sewing Room

Keep a small flashlight in the drawer of the sewing machine to use when threading the needle on a dark day, as well as for other purposes, such as oiling the machine and finding small articles in the drawers.

Rolls

Before sprinkling poppy seed on home-made rolls, spread a little unbeaten white of an egg on the tops. After baking the seeds will adhere to the buns.

Ants

Throw quicklime, then water, on the ant nests and it will destroy them. Also green sage, when placed where ants infest, will cause them to disappear.

A Serviceable Door Mat

When making a door mat try coiling a rope and tacking each coil with strong cord on the underside. The mat can be made square, round, or rectangular.

Filler for Floor Cracks

Make a paste of 2 cups of flour, 1 tablespoonful of alum and 3 quarts of water. Soak pieces of newspaper in this solution and boil well, stirring constantly. Use a putty knife to fill in the cracks. After the paste has hardened, apply a stain and the filled cracks will hardly be visible.

Asparagus Juice

Soup can be made from the juice in which asparagus is cooked. Use a few of the left-over stalks, chicken and add cream, butter and seasoning. Serve with hot round crackers.

Cleaning Glass

It is an easy task to clean windows and mirrors with a cloth dipped in two tablespoons of household ammonia to two quarts of water. This will also give the glass a polish.

For the Sewing Room

An old safety razor blade is excellent for ripping goods and for other uses in the sewing room. Lay a small stick along one edge of the blade and hold it on with adhesive plaster, to serve as a handle.

Jelly

...When making jelly, place a hot cloth around the mould and the jelly will come out easily. Do not pour the jelly into cold glasses. Rinse the glasses in hot water immediately before pouring; this will set the jelly much quicker.

Ironing

Do not dampen clothes so much that they are difficult to iron absolutely dry. It will result in easily creased clothing that looks unsightly after one wearing.

Creamed Cucumbers

Peel fresh, crisp cucumbers, cut lengthwise in quarters, then boil slowly for 12 minutes in salt water. Drain and add cream sauce and paprika. It will be a nice change in vegetables.

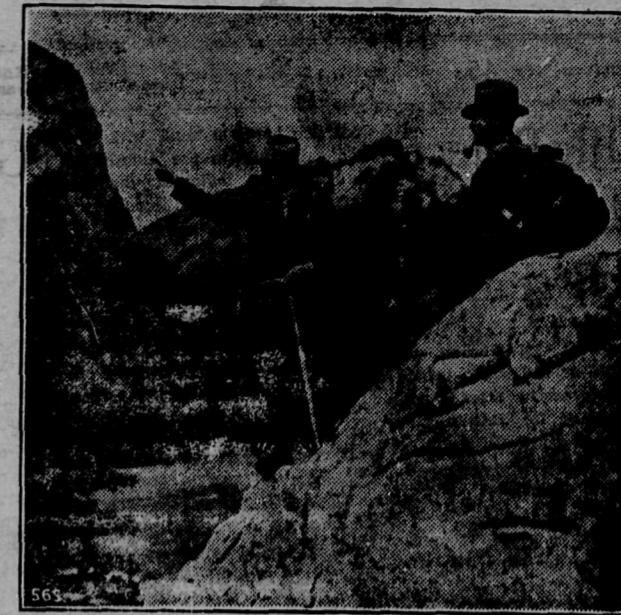

Mice

To get rid of mice, place a little oil of peppermint on wads of cotton about their haunts. They will soon look for other quarters.

Gnat

One of the best preventives against gnats is camphor. It is also considered one of the best cures for their stings.

Show Them A Mountain And They'll Do The Rest

Edward Feus (left) holds that "the climbing urge" is a heritage of all white races, be it objective high furniture for an infant; a tree-top for a schoolboy; or the pinnacle of success or the summit for an adult. He ought to know, for he makes his living as a mountain guide in the heart of the famous Canadian Rocky Mountains, with headquarters at the Canadian Pacific Railway's hotels at Banff and Lake Louise, and has more "first ascents" to his credit than any other man in the country. His brother Ernest (right) is also an experienced guide and mountaineer. Both are natives of Interlaken, Switzerland, and have winter-homes in the little Swiss guide village of Edelweiss, in the Columbia Valley. They are shown scanning the peaks adjoining the Banff Springs Hotel.

What the Rural Weekly Press of B.C. Can Offer

THERE are fifty-five regular weekly newspapers in British Columbia. They are published in a widely scattered field in communities with populations of from 300 to 400 to one of 10,000. Sixteen are published in communities of less than 1000 population; fifteen in communities of 1000 to 2000 population; seven in communities of 4000 to 5000; four in communities over 5000 to 10,000. These weeklies appeal to 145,000 of British Columbia's population. The news in these newspapers is mostly all local, because that is what interests the readers, and the advertisements for the most part tell what local merchants are doing. The country editor knows the people he serves; they are farmers, lumbermen, miners, fishermen, prospectors, laborers, all. It is estimated that the average farm family spends $2000 every year for things which are not necessary to raise crops. The total sum that is spent by farmers in the United States for those things with which to live well is the appalling sum of thirteen billion dollars. Seventy-two per cent. of all automobiles sold go to people living in towns and

Tolmie's Coalition Drama Has No Actors

VANCOUVER, Sept. 13.—Seamed up dispatches from Victoria picture the jovial, rotund Dr. Tolmie as proceeding grimly determinedly, resolutely about this coalition business, failed to carry conviction.

That is Vancouver's verdict, as revealed in comments on all sides.

If it were possible to imagine that the good-natured premier had suddenly acquired these virile qualities, say critics, the facts of the present situation would be at variance with this remarkable metamorphosis.

The vague statement promising he was undertaking.

No telephone
—so his house burned down.

Byron Blank thought he was going to economize by having his telephone taken out. One night, soon after, his house caught fire. There was no telephone handy to call the firemen, so, of course, the place burned down.

It made Blank a sadder but wiser man. The other day, when he moved into a new home, one of the first things he did was to have a telephone installed. He knows now that he can't afford to be without the protection it gives.

Grand Forks Sun Job Department

The position into which he has landed himself is this:

1. He has committed himself to forming a Union government.
2. He has forfeited his claim to the support of the Conservative association.
3. He has enunciated no policy on which the proposed Union government is to be founded.
4. He does not know whether anybody else is willing to join his proposed Union government.
5. He has admitted the impotence of the present government to carry on.

Usually reliable sources of information of what is going on in the Bowser camp emphatically insist that Mr. Bowser will not join a Tolmie government—whether Conservative coalition or otherwise.

Mr. Patullo, the Liberal leader, has publicly stated that he can see nothing in the present government to coalesce with.

The Kidd report can form no basis for coalition, since the government of which Mr. Tolmie is the head has publicly declared that the recommendations are impractical and cannot be carried out.

In the face of that statement the authors and backers of the report believing in the soundness of the policy advocated, cannot join with men who say the program is impracticable.

Where then is Dr. Tolmie to get the material for his coalition cabinet?

The late Joe Martin, about 30 years ago, found himself in the technical position of having to form a government. He picked up commercial traveller on the train and made him minister of finance, and rounded up a cabinet by such methods as that in order to go through the formality of an election in which he knew he was beaten before he started.

It would begin to appear as if Dr. Tolmie had allowed himself to be stampeded into pretty much the same position. There are plenty of unemployed who would be willing to accept even six weeks' ministerial pay.

When coalitions have been formed in the past, there was usually a clearly defined policy upon which the participants are asked to unite. As a rule it has been a policy upon which the government of the day was divided.

The government leader, through confidential agents, sought support elsewhere. He ascertained whether there were other public men willing to support him in carrying out the proposed policy. If there were not, the policy was quietly dropped and the cabinet, united on other issues, remained as it was.

If the desired support was available, invitations were issued to the selected individuals, and then—and not until then—the public statement was made.

That is the way Borden did on coalition. That is the way Macdonald did on "the dole."

But that is not the way it is being done at Victoria, where topsy-turvy procedure recalls Alice's Adventures Through the Looking Glass.

Here the critics find a public declaration in favor of the abstract principle of Union government with no policy and no assurance that anybody is willing to join it.

The one certainty that emerges from the fog is that the head of the provincial government has admitted finally that his own ministry is incapable of carrying on any further.

He may or may not succeed in forming a Union government. To the man in the street the prospects look exceedingly slim.

What will happen then, if he fails? Will he attempt to govern with a cabinet that he admits has failed? Or will he throw up the sponge and call a general election?

That is the question being asked in Vancouver.

Mystery cruises, so popular out of New York, Southampton and Montreal, have come to the Pacific Coast, being ushered in there by the trim little coastal liner "Princess Patricia," of the Canadian Pacific service, which took the first of these cruises recently. The ship had a full sailing list.

The Canadian Open Golf Championship, third of the ace contests figuring yearly in the Royal and Ancient game, will be staged on the course of the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, next year, word to that effect having been received by the secretary of the links from the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

Seventy-seven per cent of wheat and 63 per cent of oats and barley in the three western provinces were harvested by September 3, according to the report issued on that date from the general agricultural department, Canadian Pacific Railway, Winnipeg. This result was reached in spite of the half in hindrance operations due to heavy rains in wide sections of the Prairie Provinces.

All records for the story of the "big one that got away" were broken recently when a well-known fisherman hooked a beaver in Vermillion Lakes and played it for five minutes after which the tradition was fulfilled with loss of fly and leader. The hero of the exploit was S. C. Bennett, of Toronto, a guest at the Banff Springs Hotel.

Canadians got a thrill recently when Captain J. A. Mollison, intrepid trans-Atlantic solo flier, spoke over the air, which he has conquered, from the Mayfair Lounge of the Canadian Pacific Liner Empress of Britain. Captain Mollison was heard on 34 radio stations from Halifax to Victoria over a network arranged by the Canadian Pacific Department of Communications. Loud speakers distributed the broadcast to 60,000 visitors at the big exhibition at Toronto.

Though the "Princess Royal," veteran of the Canadian Pacific Railway B. C. Official and unofficial delegates to the Imperial Economic Conference went sightseeing from August 12th to the 14th. Two tours from Ottawa were arranged, both leaving the capital in special Canadian Pacific trains. Late Friday night, August 12, Shawinigan Falls and Three Rivers were visited by one party, while the other members were cruising down the St. Lawrence from Kingston to Montreal and spending Saturday evening in the metropolis. None of the United Kingdom, Canadian, Australian, New Zealand or Newfoundland or Irish government ministers were able to absent themselves from Conference deliberations, but their delegations were well-represented. Ministers enjoying the trips were Hon. N. C. Havenga and Hon. A. P. J. Fourie, South Africa, and Hon. H. W. Moffatt, Southern Rhodesia. The Canadian Government was represented by Hon. Arthur Sauve and Hon. Maurice Dupre, with the Shawinigan party, and Hon. Alfred Duranleau and Hon. H. A. Stewart, with the other party.

Wide Variety of Recreational Attractions
Canadians Fortunate in Holiday Advantages Their Country Offers

HE majority of Canadians

probably do not realize what a wonderful choice of vacation opportunities this country offers. How many of us in any one province have first-hand knowledge of the wide range of attractions of our neighbouring provinces? Many no doubt have gone abroad to seek a holiday, forgetting that our own Dominion is unequalled in the exceptional variety and range of its recreational resources. Surely a country which attracts visitors from other countries by the tens of millions must have recreational features of interest to its own citizens.

Summer Resorts Numerous and Varied

Throughout the Dominion there are many summer resort districts which offer a wide range of attractions and variety of accommodation.

On the Atlantic coast, in the provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, are typical sea-shore resorts, where sun-bathing, sailing and deep sea fishing are the principal attractions. The rugged beauty of this coast and the picturesque charm of the fishing villages, at the head of every inlet, cannot fail to enchant the summer visitor.

Quebec's summer playgrounds are of the most varied nature including as they do, sea-shore, mountain, lake and forest resorts. Along the lower St. Lawrence, summer colonies have been established at many points. North of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa rivers the Laurentian mountains, clothed with fine forest and dotted with lakes, constitute a vast summer and winter playground. The Eastern Townships, which adjoin the international boundary, also have a number of well-established resorts, on picturesque lake and rivers.

Ontario has perhaps the largest number and greatest variety of developed summer resorts of any of the provinces. The Thousand Islands, Lake of Bays, Muskoka lakes, and Georgian bay are known throughout America, but there are in addition equally attractive, only slightly less known, districts. Accommodation includes everything from campsite to palatial hotel, and cottages may be rented in any district.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, many attractive resorts are located along the shores of the lakes and rivers. The Canadian Rockies are world famous for scenic beauty and contain some of the most highly developed tourist resorts on the continent.

British Columbia, with varied and splendid scenic attractions, is a tourist wonderland. The province has majestic mountain ranges, and extensive lake area, stately forests, an imposing coast line, and many attractive resorts in settings of exceptional natural beauty.

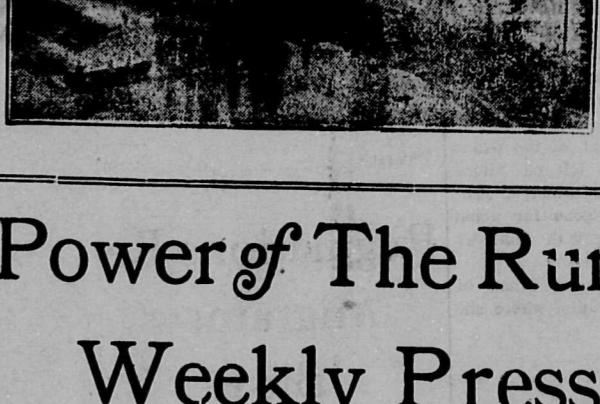

Government Bureau Free Information Service

For a number of years the Department of the Interior at Ottawa has been engaged in the promotion of the Canadian tourism industry, more especially the development of tourist travel from the United States to Canada. It is also endeavoring to influence Canadians to spend their vacation in the Dominion. The National Development Bureau of that Department will gladly furnish interprovincial road maps and other information for the use of those planning a Canadian tour, and where necessary will refer enquiries to provincial and local tourist organizations. Applications should be as specific as possible as to the section of Canada in which they are interested, in order that available information may be supplied.

National Parks Cover

Large Area

National and provincial parks in Canada cover nearly 25,000 square miles. They are areas which have been withdrawn from exploitation and are being preserved in their virgin beauty and wildness, for purposes of pleasure and recreation. The largest national parks are in the Rocky Mountains section of Alberta, a region of unsurpassed scenic splendour admirably equipped by nature for all forms of sport and recreation. There are also important parks in British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec. Accommodation ranges all the way from large modern hotels, to log cabins and tents. Fishing is

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

That advertising through the printed page has the necessary attractiveness and efficiency of performance that brings profitable results.

History has shown that continuous advertisers have found success, while non-advertisers have always been lagging behind.

Lack of advertising is killing many a business that should show increasing business instead of decreasing business.

People have been educated to the fact that well advertised products are the quality kind and they won't buy any other.

Continuous advertising of quality creates a buying demand which assures the advertiser quicker turnover.

Any business in this day and time cannot stand still. Progress and competition demand that it move ahead or go out of business.

Continuous advertising of quality and service builds and keeps the confidence of the public. Without the confidence of the public, no business can move ahead.

Continuous advertising is the modern way of building better business. It proves to the public that the advertisers are proud of what they have for sale.

Anything worth selling is worth advertising.

Advertising is the most effective selling help that can be found, because continuous advertising paves the way to bigger sales.

Every business having something to sell should advertise continuously so the public may know who they are, where they are, and what they have for sale.

Power of The Rural Weekly Press

Listen to what John H. Perry, President of the American Press Association, has to say on the influence of the country weekly:

"The force that controls this country of ours, in the long run, is the rural editor. In his capacity as spokesman for hundreds of thousands who live and earn their living on the farms and in the villages and towns.

"It is not necessary to take the writer's word for it. Ask any politician whom you know. He will tell you the truth. Ask any representative of the interests—big city bankers, for instance, or presidents of great railroad or industrial corporations.

"The politician, if he is above peanut size, will tell you that he worries little about what the city papers say; but let even half a dozen country weeklies in his home state or district open on him, and he pulls down the lid of his desk at the state capital and takes the next train home to see what it is he has done to make the farmer sore.

"The Big Businessman, if he is big enough to be entitled to the designation, will tell you that his business is gold or bad depending on how the country people like the way it is run, and that what those country people are thinking he finds out by reading or having others read for him, what the country papers are saying."

The governor-general of Canada did not visit Grand Forks yesterday. After all, the expectation that he would visit the city seems to have been entertained by a minority of our citizens.

Yesterday was the last day for straw hats, as decreed by an idiotic public opinion. A straw hat feels as comfortable on a warm October day as it does in the middle of August, and if we owned one we should be afraid to wear it on the former date.

No damage of any importance was done.

The deer season opened on Thursday with a bang from all corners of the district. So far, it is not known whether any of the hunters struck luck. It is stated that game is rather plentiful in some localities, but a hunter's knowledge is required to locate them. Deer always manage to themselves scarce to the novice. Wonder why?

On Saturday the Biner pavilion and hotel at Christina lake were sold to C. G. Kingsley, from the Pinehurst Inn of South Slocan. Dorothy G. Hilliard and R. D. Forrester United in Marriage

On Friday, September 2, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. S. Atwood was the scene of a pretty wedding when the latter's niece, Miss Dorothy Grace Hilliard, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Hilliard of Oak Bay, Victoria, B. C., was united in marriage to Robert Douglas Forrester of Grand Forks. There were no attendants and Mr. Atwood gave the bride away in marriage. Rev. Mr. Archibald performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives of the bride, who was dressed in a shimmering shell pink jacquard costume of blue velvet girdle which formed a large bow in front, and wore a corsage bouquet of pink and white rose buds and asparagus fern. The color scheme was carried in the room decorations, which were charming with masses of gladioli, larkspur and cosmos. Mr. and Mrs. Forrester left by motor for Christina lake, and will later reside at the Riverside Nurseries, Grand Forks.

Speakers Say Harsh Things of Coalition

B. C. wants none of coalition because it would only mean two dogs at the trough instead of one, said J. E. Armishaw, leader of the People's Party, to an audience that half filled the Georgia street Auditorium Monday night.

Capt. Guy Sheppard of Victoria, leader of the movement there was equally sure that B. C. wants no more of W. J. Bowser. "What's the use of a 1912 model? The men who have resurrected Bowser should go down in history with those who dug up King Tut," he said.
