A WISE CHANGE

The new Municipal Act brought in by the Attorney-general has provoked a great deal of discussion throughout the province, and in some quarters where opposition could be looked for in any case, the criticism has been adverse. The feature about which the most complaint is made is that which provides for government supervision of municipal finances, for by the new Act it is proposed to appoint an inspector of municipalities, and one of his duties will be to carefully supervise municipal borrowings and especially the form of borrowing effected by the issue of debentures. The by-law which is submitted to the electors to authorize the loan, must be submitted to the municipal inspector authorized by the government together with the debentures themselves and a full statement of the financial standing of the municipality at the date of issue. While it is true that this would appear to be taking away from the municipalities some of the powers which they have heretofore enjoyed, it really does not mean that at all; for if the residents of any municipality and the men whom they choose to manage their municipal affairs will be careful in the creation of bonded indebtedness to proceed only on safe and sane lines, they will enjoy all the powers under the new Act that ever they had; and besides, they will be relieved of much of the responsibility which formerly rested on them of seeing that all the proceedings connected therewith have been carried out strictly according to law. This last consideration alone will often mean the saving of considerable cash which would have to be paid to eminent counsel on a good fat retaining fee.

The object sought by the government in the enactment of this addition to the Municipal Act is obviously that of protecting the credit of the province, and the more it is examined the more plainly it will be seen that the whole province stands to benefit by the improvement which will be effected and the greatest benefit will come to the municipalities themselves. To illustrate this fact it is only necessary to point out that communities do not always use the care they should in their choice of men whom they elect to their municipal councils, and it not infrequently happens that a municipality may find itself on the verge of bankruptcy as the result of reckless expenditure and indifferent financing on the part of their councillors. When in that position the first thought is to add to the bonded indebtedness to relieve pressing needs. A by-law is passed authorizing the issue of debentures and in the hope of securing the cheapest money possible the bonds are taken or sent to England. There they are subjected to examination by legal experts in such matters employed by the investors, and any weakness is at once detected. The inevitable result is a turn-down, and one of these is sufficient to give a black eye to all municipal flotations from British Columbia. Unfortunately too it doesn't stop there for there is nothing so timid as capital which has been likened to a startled bird on the wing, and the one sinister offering will react upon every other security of any kind from the province.

Another reason might be given why such legislation is necessary in British Columbia, even if there were no precedent for it in any of the other provinces, and that is the greater extent to which paternalism has existed in this province than elsewhere in the Dominion. Long after communities in other provinces similarly situated would have to organize municipally, the unorganized portions of British Columbia fared almost sumptuously under the government's care, and even after they felt strong enough to run their own affairs under municipal control and made a mess of it by getting in deep water the government time and again come to their assistance—a thing practically unheard of in the eastern provinces since the working out of the Municipal Loan Fund Act of Upper Canada in 1852. Now if this paternalism is to continue in British Columbia where municipal prodigality in some municipalities may be condoned seventy times seven, it is not fair to the other municipalities that elect careful competent men and conduct their municipal affairs on proper business lines. To check prodigality wherever it may exist and protect all municipalities which exercise wisdom and care in the management of the business of the municipality, no better plan could be devised than that proposed in the appointment of a municipal inspector.

It was a wise movement on the part of the government to appoint the municipal commission to examine into the matter of how the Municipal Act was working out, and it is quite evident that their findings have been helpful to the Attorney-general in preparing the new Act now before the Legislature.

LOCAL NEWS

Geo. Steel, who conducts a cigar and notion store just south of the depot, met with a painful accident last week, which will lay him up for a long time, adding to the unfortunate handicap he has labored under. Mr. Steel is a sufferer from locomotor ataxia, and he can move about only with the greatest difficulty, refusing to resort to the aid of crutches. One day last week he was carrying a bucket of water into his store and fell to the floor, breaking his left leg between the ankle and knee. Dr. Efner has the case in hand and reports the sufferer doing as well as could be expected considering the nature of the injury.—Oroville Gazette.

The outlook for an ice harvest in Hedley this winter is getting a trifle blue and there are fears in certain quarters that an adequate supply for next summer's needs may not be obtained. The river has never closed at all in the place where ice has been obtained in past years, and that place is about the only one available where the water is still enough. It is reported that in the event of there being no possibility of getting a supply put up in Hedley, D. J. Innis may make arrangements for putting up an extra supply in Keremeos where they are able to obtain some at the present time and bring it up here by train during the summer as required. It would seem that a better plan would be to ship the ice up here now in bulk by train and pack it here.

Mrs. E. H. Williams returned last week from her visit to Trail and was in very good spirits because of some late encouraging assurance she had just received from her husband in England, but unfortunately her hopes were dashed to pieces when she received a letter on Saturday informing her that he was totally and hopelessly blind and had been assured by three eye specialists who on consultation could hold out no hopes for recovery of the sight. Mr. Williams had been a resident of Hedley for about seven years, during which period he held the position of assayer for the Daly Reduction Company and the Hedley Gold Mining Company. Always full of ambition and of an active mind the calamity will prove a terrible blow to him. Deepest sympathy is extended to him upon his terrible affliction and also to Mrs. Williams who is feeling the blow very keenly, although she is bearing up bravely and is prepared to take up the burden which it entails.

The big clearance sale being conducted by the Hedley Trading Company in which their immense stock of $30,000 worth of goods is offered at slaughter prices is proving a most marked success. The bargains offered are sufficiently attractive to make something of a sensation in themselves, and to this has been added plentiful, judicious and skilful advertising, which when skilfully done was bound to accomplish the work. The two essentials are to give the public big fetching bargains and to tell them about it in a way that they have got to sit up and take notice. Neither one of these essentials can do it alone. There is no use to invite the public to a bargain feast if the bargains are not there when they go; and the big fetching bargains are no good to sell goods if the people are not told about it. W. A. Moore, the sales expert who was employed to put the sale on, thoroughly understands the psychology of advertising and he would no more think of trying to put on a sale if he were not given a free hand in the matter of his advertising than he would of trying to fly without a flying machine. He got all his printing done here in Hedley in the Gazette print shop and he paid us the compliment of saying that he was given more prompt service and a better class of work than he can often get in towns from five to ten times the size. He was not kept waiting for any of it and all was delivered to him on schedule time and in artistic shape.

Not more than 2,500 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

Town and Lower Valley.

W. G. Mattice and family are expected in from Winnipeg on Saturday the 21st.

Rev. A. H. Cameron left Monday for Armstrong to attend the meeting of the Kamloops presbytery.

Harry Prince of Oroville has been in the town and district for a few days cleaning up all the hides in sight.

Victor Quaedvlieg has got a new sled, and is delivering milk with its help more easily and with greater rapidity.

Hay is being hauled to Penticton and lumber brought in by the same teams. That's what we call making both ends meet.

Valentine's day has passed once more with nobody hurt. Many have received a jolt and taken it in the good old fashioned way.

On Friday last, the 13th, a party visited the old "R" ranch and were made very welcome by Mr. Alexander and the boys at the ranch.

Unless it hurries up and freezes a little harder, there will be little chance of skating on the rink. The weather prophets call for a little cold weather this month.

On March the 3rd the packing school will commence in the Town Hall. Don't forget the date and everyone interested should make a special effort to attend.

Larsen and McCormack have closed down the work on the W. J. Armstrong claims on the west side of the river from Similkameen. They consider the mine is showing up good.

Mrs. Daly will be very pleased to have her friends in all the valley to be her guest on Friday evening the 20th when she will give a dance in honor of her son Tom and his wife in the Town Hall, Keremeos.

Don't forget that you can have your skates sharpened in first class shape at Madore's, the blacksmith. Skates! Skates! Skates! Get the edge put on them at the blacksmith shop. J. F. Madore, proprietor.

Charley Jordan after putting in the past few months up the gulch doing work on his claim, the Dolphin, dropped in to town to have a talk with his old friends, and write a letter home. Reports showings very good on the claim.

Keremeos hockey team journeyed to Hedley on Sunday and suffered defeat at the hands of the miners to the tune of seven goals to one. The team was well treated in every respect and have no complaints to make and only hope they will soon be able to give our sister town another game in the near future.

James Munroe, now of Revelstoke, but well known here as one of his Majesty's mail stage drivers, dropped in to town last week and surprised his friends. After staying a few days he went on to Spokane and hopes to stay a few days longer in Keremeos on his return before going back to the land of six feet of snow.

Two sleighs filled with merry people left Keremeos about 7.30 on Tuesday evening bound for the W. H. Armstrong lower ranch, at which place they most pleasantly surprised Mr. and Mrs. Crooker by their visit. All kinds of fun was had and it was a hard time to break up so pleasant an evening. The party arrived back in Keremeos safe and sound a few hours before breakfast time.

It is with sorrow that we report the death of the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Carmichael and with their many friends, through these columns we extend our heartfelt sympathy in this their sad bereavement. The little child who was six months old had been ailing for some time past and passed away Wednesday morning, February the 11th. Rev. J. A. Cleland of Penticton, officiated at the funeral which took place on Thursday afternoon the 12th.

The social given by the Presbyterian Ladies Guild at "Uber Villa", the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Clarke, was a grand success and was enjoyed immensely by all. Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Thos. Daly, Messrs. Fred Patterson, W. M. Daly and J. D. Grainger gave a pleasant short programme which was most cordially received. Refreshments were served after which the rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

After the evening service given by Rev. G. T. McKenzie on Sunday the 8th, a meeting took place to take up women's suffrage in the Province of British Columbia. Mr. George B. Clarke was appointed to take the chair and while in this capacity read the following resolution. "That this meeting place on record its conviction of the injustice of women's disfranchisement and the loss to the state arising therefrom and calls upon the Provincial government to give the vote to women on the same terms as men enjoy it. Moved by Mr. Robert J. McCurdy and seconded by Mr. Robert J. Hogg that the resolution as read should be adopted and forwarded to Victoria.

Keremeos Conservative Association held their annual meeting in the Town Hall on Tuesday afternoon, 17th inst., with a fair attendance. D. McCurdy, president, filled the chair and in his opening remarks emphasised the importance of keeping in touch with the central association. Much important business was attended to and one important feature was the decision to tender a complimentary banquet to L. W. Shatford, M. P., in the near future or as soon as Mr. Shatford can conveniently arrange to be present. A committee consisting of J. A. Brown, R. H. Carmichael and R. J. McCurdy was appointed to make full arrangements and notice will be duly given as to the date.

On Saturday, Feb. 14th, there was a good turnout to the Royal Scarlet Chapter of L. O. L. 1770, Keremeos, B. C. One new member was initiated and the following officers elected: Wor. C. in C., D. McCurdy; Ex. C. in C., Ezra Mills; C. Chaplain, Rev. A. H. Cameron; Com. Scribe, H. C. Etches; Comp. Treas., E. M. Crooker; H. at A., P. Bromley; 1st Lect. D. J. Innis; 2nd Lect. C. Tickell; 1st Con. Edward Lee; 2nd Con. R. B. Hogg; In. Her. S. McCurdy; Out. Her. H. W. Hunter. Bro. Ezra Mills was elected delegate to Grand Lodge and left Monday, accompanied by Bros. C. Tickell and F. Munery, on the evening's train for Nelson. Bros. J. Knudson, of Princeton, and J. Howe, of Hedley, left on Friday the 13th to represent their respective lodges.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Institute met at Mrs. G. G. Keeler's last Thursday. There was a good attendance and the discussion of the subjects on the programme for February most interesting. Arrangements are being made by the Institute for a flower show in August. A special prize list is being prepared. With the facilities at hand in this part of the country for raising flowers—good soil and plenty of sunshine—this show should be a great success and the Institute want the co-operation of all those who are interested to help to make it a success. In next issue the programme for the year will be given when the ladies in the valley may have an opportunity of learning something of the benefit to be derived from membership in the Institute and regular attendance at its meetings.

ACCIDENT TO BRIDGE AT HOPE

Ice Jam on Fraser Takes Out False Work on New Kettle Valley Bridge Now Being Built

Ice sweeping down the Fraser river near Hope on Wednesday of last week carried away a portion of the false work used in connection with the construction operations being carried on for the Kettle Valley Railway by Messrs. Armstrong and Morrison, the firm which has the substructure contract. One of the caissons which had been launched preparatory to submersion escaped injury, being protected from the full force of the jam by a breakwater. Two hoisting engines, a derrick and a concrete mixer were precipitated into the river. No lives were lost, the workmen receiving warning and escaping to shore before the full force of the ice jam struck the temporary structure.

The river for a considerable distance above Hope had been tightly packed for several days with icefloes that had drifted down from the upper reaches of the Fraser, and with a drop in the temperature yesterday the mass started to move. The contractors had been expecting such a happening, and were preparing to sink the caisson before the ice jam broke.

Work on the bridge was started two months ago and the false work had been extended nearly 750 feet from the south side of the river. The structure will have four spans 238 feet long and will be of the double-deck two-truss type. The portion of the temporary bridge carried away was about equal to one span. The contractors plan to complete the sub-structure of the viaduct before high water around May 1st. It is not thought that the loss yesterday will materially retard the progress of the work as the caisson on which the central supports will rest escaped injury. Mr. Alex. Morrison notified the local office of his firm this morning that the machinery will most likely be salvaged. The loss will be about $5000.

The bridge at Hope is designed to connect the Kettle Valley line, which will run from the Boundary district through the Okanagan and the Hope mountains, with the main line of the C. P. R.

HOCKEY MATCH

their own or of any one else, for that part. It just happened so and it couldn't be helped. Three o'clock was the hour set but it was after five o'clock when the teams lined up, and there is not much good playing light after 5.15 these evenings. Two twenty minute periods were agreed on, if they could be played. The light was all right for the first period, although near the end of it there was a strong suggestion of twilight and the electric lights were beginning to throw shadow rings on the ice. In this period Hedley had managed to get in 4 goals while the visitors had not yet found the nets. The second period was not much more than half over when it was hard to keep track of the puck, but Hedley players kept on notching tallies until they had compiled 7 and at the last the visitors got one through in a manner which amused both themselves and their opponents. The puck had been shot up from beyond the centre of the rink and hit Horswill where it remained in the folds of his sweater and he kept turning around looking for it on the ice in front of the Hedley goal. When it dropped out it fell right beside Lorne Coleman's stick and all he had to do was to shove it into the net, for the Hedley goal-keeper had not yet got his eye on it. Of the Hedley goals one was scored by Hill Innis, one by Al. Horswill, the Hedley point, on a rush up the rink, and the other five went to the credit of Harold Townsend.

It was good clean hockey on both sides and faster than the Princeton game. For the ice was in much better shape. Keremeos played a plucky, skilful game, but were over-matched. They have a goal-keeper who is hard to beat for he kept shovelling them out regularly or the score would have been about three times what it was. The playing of Ginty Cawston for the visitors was one of the features of the game. Diminutive though he is, he would tackle a 200-pounder and his tackling resembled for all the world the attack of a fox terrier upon a Newfoundland or mastiff. Neither was his tackling always according to Hoyle, but the players, the referee and the judge of play were all indulgent or he might have gone to the fence a few times, if the audience would have stood for it.

The game was refereed by J. A. Brown of Keremeos to the satisfaction of both sides and he was assisted by C. P. Dalton as judge of play. The penalties handed out were seven minutes to Hedley and eight minutes to Keremeos. The Keremeos chaps are good fast players and they are a gentlemanly bunch who can take a reverse without being disagreeable over it. This is a feature that was appreciated by the Hedley players. The line-up was:

Keremeos	Hedley
Armstrong goal	French
D. Cawston point	Horswill
Grainger cover point	Martin
B. Cawston rover	Innis
Keeler centre	Townsend
Coleman right wing	Robertson
G. Cawston left wing	Macdonald
