PAYS THIRD DIVIDEND

The Nickel Plate is Keeping Up the Pace.—Another Dividend of 3% Declared June 1st.

PAYABLE ON JULY 1st 1910

All Within the Year With Vastly Increased Tonnage in Sight as Result of Development—Another Large Consignment of New Mill Equipment Arrived.

The Board of Directors of the Hedley Gold Mining Co. met at the head office of the company in New York on June 1st and declared another dividend of three per cent. on the capital stock of the company payable on July 1st, to all stockholders as appearing on the books of the company on 17th of June, so all who have purchased stock in the company since the last dividend was paid will do well to have it transferred on the books of the company without delay.

This is the third dividend which the new company has declared since they took over the mine on the 12th of August last, and this has been done with no betterment of the milling facilities than what the old company had, and after a large amount of development has been done which resulted in showing up much larger ore reserves than they had when the mine was taken over a little over 9 months ago. This is certainly a fine showing on the part of the new management which has succeeded in beating all former records made with the same equipment. Before many months are over we may look for a complete snowing under of anything in the shape of a record ever put forward heretofore on the premises, and when the new mill equipment has been installed and in operation we will not be long in forgetting that certain figures for output or extraction percentage were ever thought of as constituting a record.

On Monday eight more car loads of machinery came to hand and was seen to be principally for the mill, there being among the rest the tube mills, Deister tables, Oliver and Merrill filter presses, the other big boiler and piping galore, while from now on arrivals of new machinery may be looked for every few days until the balance of the new equipment is here.

On Monday also a contract was let to a number of Italians for digging the ditch for the new pipe line and a contract also to other parties for ties for the new trolley track to No. 4 tunnel on the Nickel Plate from which a good ore body has been located and from which other prospecting is now being carried on.

A new ore body has also been located recently down below the trolley track on the Bulldog and it begins to look as if the company were only beginning to get a little inkling of what they have in the way of reserve ore tonnage.

Never before did the camp look as prosperous as it does at the present time.

Hospital Donations

During the past week the hospital fund and equipment have been benefited by donations of $15.50 cash which came from "A Friend" (no name being given) and by several useful articles. On her return from Kere-mos this week, Mrs. Reveley brought with her a door mat, four handsome flower vases, two half rugs and a piece of carpet which would make others, the donation being made by George London for F. Richter & Co.

RACE FOR THE APEX

Claims were Staked After Midnight While Two Others were Waiting for Daylight.

On Saturday last word came down from the hill that the Apex had been staked the night before by T. D. Pickard and that the staking had been the means of heading off two others who had come in to stake it and were waiting for daylight. No one seems to know the cause of the staking or upon what grounds it could be made to hold water.

It is well known, however, that the property, although representing big value both in the money paid for it and in the money which has been expended on it in development, has never been crown granted and was subject to the same care and watchfulness to have assessments recorded and licence kept up as any other prospect.

The Colonial Gold Mining Co. which started in to develop the property last year appears to have made a hash of things and got themselves into ill-repute through neglect to pay bills incurred, but it is known that the New York man who purchased from W. D. Macmillan has paid in full for the property and was in no way to blame for any failure on the part of others to carry out their obligations. It is also said that he had expressed his intention to settle up all the outstanding bills incurred by the parties to whom he had given an option. There is a belief on the part of some that it was in his interest that the re-staking was done but of course there is as yet nothing to support it and the whole thing is still a matter of mere surmise. The fact of two others being there to stake it next morning would look as if there are some things connected with the situation that the public are not in a position to know much about and must await later developments before they will understand.

THE ECKHARDTS

It is a rare thing, indeed when a whole audience will express entire satisfaction at a performance for which they pay a dollar admission fee, and yet that was practically what occurred in the case of the Eckhardt Co. of Swiss-Bell-ringers and musical entertainers who presented their splendid high class entertainment in Fraternity hall on Friday evening last; for not a whisper of dissatisfaction was heard from any quarter and the general verdict was that the company are all right in every particular and make good in all they undertake. They are simply musical wonders and it is not alone in the great number of instruments which they play but the high degree of perfection to which they have attained in each. The bell-ringing of the company (five in all, consisting of the father and three sons and Miss Mae George) was captivating in the beautiful harmony of sounds in each number as well as the widely different and difficult class of music rendered. On the musical glasses also a class of music not often attempted on so uncertain a method of producing musical sounds was executed with marvellous distinctness sweetness and harmony. No less noteworthy was the violin playing of Messrs. G. C. and B. Eckhardt and the trombone and bass horn selections of B. and G. Eckhardt. Rare instruments from which sweet music was discoursed were the marimbaphone, aluminum chimes and musical rattles. The singing of Miss Mae George and the singing and character impersonations of G. C. Eckhardt offered a pleasing variety to the other parts of the programme and helped to round out the whole for a specially meritorious performance.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER

Premier McBride Justified in the Eyes of His Opponents: The C. N. R. Now and Six Months Ago.

If ever a public man in this country was vindicated it is Premier McBride who is now receiving the indorsement of those who only a few months ago were assailing his public acts. Most of our readers will remember the ringing notes in which the Premier expressed his confidence in the bonafides both of the C. N. R. as a sound institution and of Mackenzie and Mann its promoters as sound business men whom Canadians could trust and be proud of. His opponents, however, for party purposes jeered at these expressions in the press and on the various platforms; but note what they now say; who only five or six months ago characterized the C. N. R. as "a ramshackle concern" and its builders as "a pair of adventurous schemers who were pulling the wool over McBride's eyes."

Speaking of the opening of the C. N. R. Atlantic line, the Victoria Times, the chief Liberal newspaper in British Columbia, says:

"The first steamer of the new Canadian line has arrived in the port of Montreal, after making a fast voyage without, however, breaking an ocean record. The new record will come in time, beyond question, as the Royal Edward, of the Canadian Northern steamship line, is undoubtedly the most powerful ship plying between Great Britain and our ports. But if the Royal Edward did not break any speed records she smashed one record of still more importance. She carried a record cargo, consisting principally of Mr. William Mackenzie, popularly known as 'Bill' and forty millions of dollars. He is going to spend it all in this country, most of it in British Columbia.

"Fourteen millions is to be sunk in a Vancouver Island coal mine, where it will increase and multiply and bring forth abundantly for the benefit of the rock from which it was drawn, and we hope also to the substantial advantage of the people of this province. Another five millions will be devoted to railway building. . . . The other half of the forty millions will be spent 'promiscuous like' for the benefit of 'Bill' and 'Dan' and also for the general advantage of Canada.

"We hope there are no Canadians small enough in calibre to be envious of the splendid success which has attended the careers of 'Bill' and 'Dan'. They are sons of our own soil, fine samples of one of the most valuable products of the country. They are the original Canadian railway builders. Sir William Van Horne, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and Mr. C. H. Hays, are men of great constructive and administrative genius, but they are Canadians by statute, not by birth. Mr. James J. Hill was born in Canada, but he found the field for the exercise of his acknowledged talents in the United States. Not until very late in his life did Mr. Hill realize that any good thing could come out of or be achieved by his native land. 'Bill' and 'Dan' are bone of our bone and flesh of our flesh, and we ought to take off our hats to them."

The Ottawa Free Press, the Liberal paper at the capital of the Dominion also says:

"The C. N. R. is indeed a great railroad corporation. It is paying bond interest on $2 millions, extending itself with wonderful rapidity month by month and year by year, and after doing this it has a few hundred thousand left over every year out of the net earnings for dividends on the $0 millions of capital stock.

"All this has been accomplished, and is being accomplished, without the aid of tremendous government grants and loans. The Dominion government has but guaranteed 26 millions of C. N. R. bonds, and that is a bagatelle when one reflects what the government has done for the C. P. R. and is doing for the G. T. P.

"A list of Canada's great men would be woefully incomplete without the names of Mackenzie and Mann."

CONSERVATION REPORT

A Comprehensive Production Dealing With Canada's Resources and Preservation of Same

In its first annual report the Commission of Conservation has amply demonstrated the reason for its existence and justified the outlay made for its maintenance.

Conservation of our national resources is to-day easily one of the biggest questions before the public and let us hope that the creation of this commission on the part of the Dominion government and all other movements to that end on the part of federal or provincial governments may not be for Canada the proverbial locking of the stable after the horse has been stolen.

The report begins with a recital of the enactment which authorized the appointment and the order-in-council bringing it into existence together with the composition of the commission.

Chairman Sifton's inaugural address covering some 26 pages has but to be read to appreciate its comprehensive character and the amount of attention that has been paid to the subject. He explains that the commission is not an executive or administrative body and that the value of its work must depend on its own merits. In other words their sphere is to study, investigate and advise; all administrative powers having to come from the various governments that as the result of their advice or of their own initiative, may inaugurate measures to help on the good cause of conservation.

In the report also Prof. Fernow deals with Scientific Forestry in Europe, its value and applicability in Canada; Dr. James W. Robertson with Conservation of Agricultural Resources; Dr. Eugene Haanel with Possible Economies in Production of Minerals in Canada; Hon. Frank Cochrane with Conservation of Natural Resources of Ontario; Adam Beck with Conservation of the Water-powers of Ontario; F. T. Congdon with Fur-bearing animals in Canada and how to prevent their extinction; P. H. Boyce, M. D. with measures for the maintenance and improvement of the Public Health; H. T. Gussow with diseases of Forest trees; Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt with insects destructive to Canadian forests.

These with the reports of committees and discussion of same make intensely interesting and valuable reading. Get a copy; read it carefully and become imbued with the conservation spirit. That, after all is an important phase of the question, for when the people of Canada become fully alive to the vital importance of the question, then and not until then, the cause of conservation may be considered as won.

WATER AND LIGHT

Now that the season's programme to be carried out by the Hedley Gold Mining Co. in the way of improving and extending their works is plainly indicated it is up to our townspeople to do something for themselves by way of taking advantage of those improvements. Two of these things which should be looked after are fire protection and street lighting. Five years ago when townspeople seemed to be more alive to their own interests than they have ever been since an effort was made to have property-holders get together and take steps to procure fire hose. There being no municipal organization the only plan in view seemed to be to pass around the hat and endeavor to raise some funds in that way but hearty co-operation could not be secured and the matter was dropped.

Although Hedley may get the credit of having a system of waterworks, property-holders here may not be aware of the fact that with the insurance under-writers we have no such credit, but on the other hand we are advertised by them as having no fire protection whatever. The effect of this has been that during the past five years we have been compelled to pay in extra insurance rates more than would have purchased the hose ten times over. Is it business to continue in this way or is it not? Now that the water supply is to be made continuous and not subject to flame breakages and with ample pressure for good fire protection surely something can be done to secure hydrants or fire plugs and ample hose to reach the principal buildings in town. Princeton several years ago with no water supply except a few wells took action and organized a fire brigade, procuring hook and ladder equipment; but the example did not excite Hedley and we merely looked on with indifference as if the matter had no personal interest for us.

Of course as far as street lighting was concerned there may have been excuse for inaction as the service procurable was not all that could be wished, but now that ample power will be available and a new large generator is being put in which will ensure a good strong current the year round some joint action should be taken to have lights placed at the leading corners, and the town being compact very few would be necessary to light all the business portion and most of the residence portion.

Webster's NEW INTERNATIONAL Dictionary, (G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.) surpasses the old International as much as that book exceeded its predecessor. On the old foundation a new superstructure has been built. The reconstruction has been carried on through many years by a large force of trained workers, under the supervision of Dr. W. T. Harris, former United States Commissioner of Education, and reinforced by many eminent specialists. The definitions have been rearranged and amplified. The number of terms defined has been more than doubled. The etymology, synonyms, pronunciation, have received unsparing scholarly labor. The language of English literature for over seven centuries, the terminology of the arts and sciences, and the every-day speech of street, shop, and household, are presented with fullness and clearness. In size of vocabulary, in richness of general information, and in convenience of consultation, the book sets a new mark in lexicography.

Town and District

F. H. Parsons, of Olalla, was in town this week.

It is said that Princeton and Hedley will try conclusions at baseball on Sunday.

Henri U. Rousseau has been engaged during the past week painting the hospital.

Mr. Davidson, representing Smith, Davidson & Wright, wholesale stationers, of Vancouver, was in town on Monday.

Hugh McGraw came over from Camp McKinney last week and is spending a few days with his brother and sister.

Mrs. Revelley returned on Tuesday from Keremeos where she had gone to attend the wedding a week ago, and reports having a good time.

Mr. A. Creimart returned from Loomis this week and is expecting some others in shortly to confer with him and look over the camp a little further.

During the past week the local disciples of Isaac Walton have been tempting the finny tribes and some have succeeded in getting some nice strings.

The agency for Keremeos, Hedley and Princeton for the splendid "Estimo" Havana cigars has been secured by Rolls & Co., of Hedley, who have a well assorted stock on hand for wholesale and retail.

Messrs. John Lind and Geo. Walker returned on Thursday last after a trip up to the Portland Canal district, which they found very much over-rated in their opinion and concluded not to stay. Joe Rotherham who went with them went on to Prince Rupert.

L. C. W. Rolls is developing into a crackerjack golfer. This week he became ambitious and challenged Hincks for first place and the first round resulted in a tie. This is calculated to make the game more interesting and some royal tussles may be looked for during the season.

H. A. Hincks has made a new milestone in local golf, having succeeded in beating the new bogey by one stroke, making the round of seven holes in 34. The old bogey was 44 and this was cut down to 35. Considering the difficult character of some of the holes and the number of hazards which beset the way and the unlucky, this is a score that is not likely to be beaten by any other player for some time.

The six who were concerned in the matter of taking the law into their own hands at Penticon when they threw the editor of the Press into a duck pond were fined $10 and costs each. Stipendiary Magistrate Guernsey had no alternative, for all who take the law into their own hands render themselves liable, and law and order must be maintained no matter how great may be the provocation which prompted the violence.

If the hens have a union or protective association of any kind, Martin Carsellan has a hen that is in danger of being fired out of the same. This hen persists in supplying a brand of hen fruit that is three inches long and contains two yolks. If any more of them start this sort of thing it will be necessary for the rest to get their heads together and establish a standard weight and size of egg that must not be exceeded or the trade will be ruined.

King George's birthday, June 3rd, was proclaimed a public holiday and all government offices were closed, but banks and business houses did not close and but for the flying of the flag by those who were aware of the fact that the holiday had been proclaimed or who happened to remember the date, there was little to show that it was a holiday. Later on when the public become more conversant with the date it will doubtless be more generally observed.

The death of Edgar Woodward which occurred on Thursday morning of last week at the hospital was learned with general regret and with some surprise on the part of those who had no learned of the critical turn which his illness had taken a few days before. On the day before Dr. McEwen had him taken to the hospital where an operation was performed which consisted in the removal of portions of four ribs, and so weakened had the little patient become with his long illness of nine or ten months that the doctor had grave doubts as to whether he would survive the operation but his condition was such that it was the only chance for him and if he managed to survive the anaesthesia there might be a possibility of his youth and good spirits pulling him through when relief was given through the operation. For a time it was doubtful whether he would come out of the anaesthetic but he did and seemed to be doing well when he took a quick turn for the worse and had not sufficient strength left to rally. His illness which began last September took the form of wet pleurisy and the measures taken then for his relief appeared to have been incomplete and did not accomplish the object intended. The funeral on Friday last was largely attended for the boy was well liked in the town in addition to the sympathy which his long illness and the patience with which it was borne, had created. The children of the day school and Sunday school attended in a body and a short service was held in the church, conducted by Rev. Mr. Kinney. The bereaved family and especially the invalid mother have the heartfelt sympathy of all.

DIED
In Hedley on June 2nd, 1910, Harold Edgar Wesley Wood, aged 14 years, 10 months and 2 days.

CANADA SHOULD BEWARE
Hon. R. L. Borden Gives Timely Warning to Avail Entanglement for Coming Reciprocity Negotiations

Ottawa, May 25.—Mr. R. L. Borden at the end of the session spoke very clearly on the subject of reciprocity negotiations which the Laurier Government has promised to enter into with the United States. He said:

"No one is more desirous than I am for good relations respecting trade or any other matter between this country or the empire as a whole and the United States of America. But we have other considerations.

"We have considerations of Canada and of Canada's relations to the empire as a whole.

"I am one who believes that the British empire is not very well organized. It is more a disorganization than an organization to-day, having regard to the utter absence of any effective co-operation up to the present time of trade, and having regard also to the lack of organization up to the present time, or almost up to the present time, in matters of defence.

"Now, I believe it to be the desire of every man in this country who has considered this subject with any attention that we may at some time in the future, and I hope in the not too distant future, bring about a system of mutual trade preferences within the empire, and I would say to the gentlemen upon the treasury benches that any negotiations which they enter into with the United States ought to be subject to that consideration above all.

"We ought not to place ourselves in any position by any negotiations which would hamper our future fiscal action with regard to any country in the world.

"Especially we ought not to enter any negotiations as will prevent the consummation of that great idea which Mr. Chamberlain presented to the people of the British Isles and to the people of the empire some few years ago, and which I hope may have its consummation and realization before many years are passed. I think it would be a fatal mistake for the government of this country, whatever party might be in power, to embark upon any such negotiations as would hamper or prevent the consummation of that great ideal.

"I desire as much as any man may desire the extension of the trade of this country, but I desire also the maintenance of our own industries in this country, the maintenance of our own fiscal autonomy, the maintenance of our own industries in this country, agricultural, industrial, and of every other description.

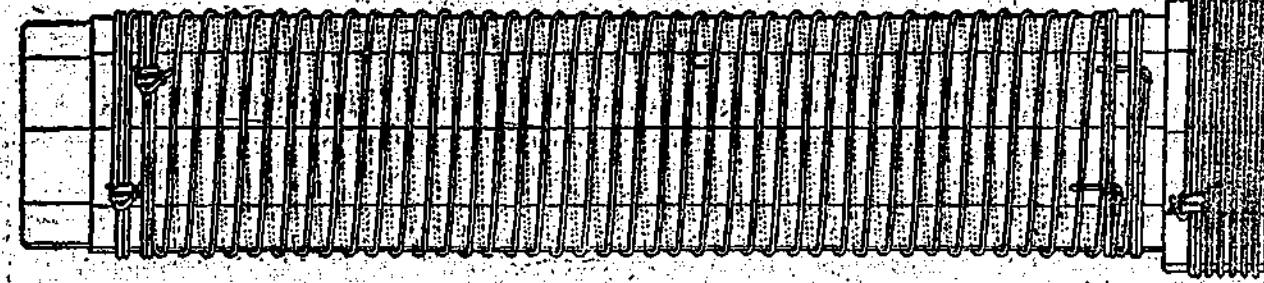

"I desire last, but not least, that the fiscal freedom of this country shall be so maintained that Canada shall be at liberty at all times in the future to enter into the great scheme of mutual trade preferences between the mother country and all the dominions of the empire by which the whole empire will be bound together not only by ties of sentiment, but by ties of interest and of trade to the great good, not only of the mother country, but to the great good of every dominion of the empire and to the enormous advantage of this great Dominion of ours."
