EIGHT PASS IN RECENT MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS

They Were Pupils of Miss Thompson—Exams Were Held on June 4th Here.

(Penticton Herald.)
The official examination of the Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Musicians was held at Miss Thompson's studio in Penticton on June 4th. The eight candidates who presented themselves for examination were all successful.

Local Centre Advanced, Grade 1—Marjorie Smith, Hedley. Intermediate Grade 2—Ruth Layton. Higher division, Grade 3—W. Emmerton. Lower division, Grade 4—Frances Latimer, Sylvia Mould. Primary division, Grade 4—Mabel Nicol (distinction), Annie M. Kirkby, Muriel Wagenhauser.

The unusually high standard attained by the candidates reflects very great credit on Miss Thompson, which is not lessened by the fact that the examiner, Dr. Frederick G. Shinn, of London, England, is himself a very distinguished musician and an author of considerable reputation on musical subjects.

TEN YEARS AGO

(From the Hedley Gazette of June 15th, 1905.)

The consideration of the V. V. & E. Bill at Ottawa was further postponed until the 16th.

M. C. Bond, representing the Great West Loan & Investment Co., was in town this week.

The Hotel Similkameen has had a large run of transients during the past few weeks.

W. C. McLean, wife and family, of Nelson, were in town on Saturday on their way to Ashnola.

C. T. Haslam, of Victoria, has been in town for the past week, and may engage in the real estate and brokerage business.

The wild roses and castus are in bloom and the Similkameen not only has donned its summer dress but is adorned for the flower festival.

Jas. Hislop, P. L. S., returned from Princeton last week. While there he surveyed several claims for Robt. Stevenson on Copper Mountain.

All the Great Northern engineers are now working above Hedley, Mr. Bassett's gang having gone up the end of last week.

Rev. C. E. Dockstader, with Mrs. Dockstader and child left on Monday morning's stage for their new field at Nittinat on Vancouver Island. In leaving Hedley they bear with them the best wishes of our townspeople whether connected with the Methodist church or not.

On Friday evening last a reception social was held in the Methodist church to afford an opportunity to become acquainted with the new pastor, Mr. Louis Thomas. A goodly number were present who spent the evening in social chat regaled with a dish of ice-cream which was so acceptable on so warm an evening.

The contractors are busily at work between Oro and the Boundary line. One tunnel of about 1200 feet will have to be driven. If the V. V. & E. bill were only passed the work would be prosecuted vigorously on this side of the line. Oroville is now experiencing a good sized boom. It is said there are no less than eighteen saloons in business there.

Rossland mines shipped 28,800 tons of ore to the Trail smelter in April, which is an increase of 6,000 tons over the same month last year.

SUBMARINES

The Risks They Run and Some of the Things They Can Do.

The modern type of submarine carries five torpedoes, which it can discharge one after the other by means of compressed air. So perfect is the firing arrangement that hardly any shock can be noticed either during or after the discharge, and the equilibrium of the vessel is not upset in the least.

When it is realized that each of these torpedoes is quite capable of making a hole in a battleship as large as a haystack, it will be seen that the sinking of a battleship that is not armored below water is practically an easy task for them.

A submarine vessel, however, runs a considerable risk in even attempting to torpedo another vessel. Before it can fire a torpedo it must come to the surface and show its periscope in order to aim the weapon correctly. If the battleship once sees the periscope the object of the submarine is practically thwarted, for such a vessel can be sunk by a shell from a big gun when only its periscope is visible, because of the fact that the cushion of water above the vessel does not offer sufficient resistance to prevent the shell sinking and holing it.

While running on the surface of the sea gasoline engines are used to drive the submarines. These engines also generate electricity, in addition to propelling the vessel, and this is stored up. As soon as the submarine dives the gasoline engines stop and it is driven by an electric motor, which gets its power from the stored up electricity. The speed at which the average submarine can travel is 11 knots on the surface and five below water.

A submarine can go to the bottom of the sea near shore and, if it is necessary, "sit" on the bottom for twenty-four hours at a stretch without coming up to the surface to "breathe." The ability to do this comes in very handy when a storm is raging, for below the surface waves are not experienced. Some of the latest types of vessels can run for 4,500 miles without taking in a fresh supply of stores or fuel.

In calm weather the submarine's range of vision is somewhere about eight miles. That is to say, an opposing warship can be seen when it is eight miles away, and, as at that distance the periscope would be almost, if not quite, invisible, the man-of-war would be unaware of the submarine's presence. Then, by means of the gyroscope compass, the submarine could fully submerge itself and without even the periscope showing run to within striking distance of the vessel it has designs upon.

The mere fact that before it can strike a submarine has to come to the surface and show its periscope renders it vulnerable, for if the periscopes are showing a large vessel knows exactly where the submarines are and can both fire at them and also keep out of the way of torpedoes from them.—Philadelphia Ledger.

GLOATING OVER LUSITANIA

—WAS FINED $250

(Nelson News)
Calgary, Alta., June 11.—A. Trainer was fined $250 and costs at the criminal assizes tonight on a charge of using seditious language by gloating over the sinking of the Lusitania.

A further charge of sedition was laid against him for saying that "in a year the King would be washing dishes for the Kaiser." This was dismissed as accused pleaded he was joking and treasonous intent could not be proved.

"KIT" IS DEAD

Noted Newspaper Woman and Author of "Kit's Column" Passes Away at Her Hamilton Home.

News has been received in Vancouver of the death of Mrs. Theo Coleman, which occurred recently at her home in Hamilton, Ont. To thousands of newspaper readers of Canada and in many other parts of the world Mrs. Coleman has been known for years as "Kit" and was without doubt the best known and one of the most popular newspaper women in Canada. She had a large number of personal friends in Vancouver as well as a number of newspaper friends which she had gained for herself during the time in which she wrote a weekly column for "The News-Advertiser."

Mrs. Coleman was the first newspaper woman in Canada to win distinction in that line of work and she had also the distinction of being the first woman war correspondent in the world, when she went to Cuba in the war of 1898. As correspondent for the "Mail and Empire" she attended the Diamond Jubilee in 1907, the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893 and the mid-winter fair in San Francisco in 1894. From 1890, when she first entered journalism, she joined the staff of the Mail and Empire and up until a few years ago she conducted the "Woman's Kingdom" on that paper. There are few women in Canada who do not remember her bright and interesting articles. Later she conducted a weekly column known as "Kit's Column" for a number of Canadian papers, including the "News-Advertiser."

Mrs. Coleman had been in poor health for some time, but her death came suddenly after only two days' illness from pneumonia. She is survived by her husband, Mr. Theo. Coleman, her son Mr. E. B. Coleman, and her daughter, Mrs. John Gartshore. Mrs. Coleman was born at Castle Blakely, West of Ireland, in 1864, her maiden name being Kathleen Blake Watkins. She was educated in Dublin and later in Belgium, coming to Canada in 1884.

WHILE WE KNIT

Tune: "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp."

In my cottage home I sit,
And I knit, and knit, and knit,
While my thoughts are with the boys
across the sea,
Fighting there 'mid shot and shell,
While the bombs and cannons yell,
Fighting for our country, homes and liberty.

CHORUS.
Tramp, tramp, tramp,
The boys are marching;
Cheer up, comrades, bravely stand,
And beneath the Union Jack,
We will drive the Germans back,
And we'll fight for our beloved Motherland.

While the boys are at the front,
Bearing all the battle's brunt,
We, at home, are planning comforts,
while we pray:
Socks and mufflers, sleeping caps,
That's the work we all are at,
While the boys are beating Germans in the fray.

(CHORUS.)
While the hissing bullets fly
O'er the trenches where they lie,
In the midst of winter's snow or biting sleet,
They will bless the women's thought,
That has much of comfort fraught,
As they wear the socks we're knitting, on their feet.

(CHORUS.)
When the British lion's roar
Makes the Kaiser boast no more,
And our soldier boys come marching home again,
We at home, who sit and knit,
Will be mighty glad of it,
As we welcome back the boys across the main.

(CHORUS.)
—By Miss Alice Ferguson, King, Ontario.

American grape juice diplomacy has passed on. We presume the next brand will be the near beer variety.

The Canadian farmer earnestly bending all his energies to increase the food supply for the Britisher at home and the British soldier at the front, is doing his share in the gigantic struggle of the Empire.—Hon. Martin Burrell, in the War Book.

Today the ladies of Hedley who are actively interested in Red Cross work will hold a "Sock Reception" and Tea in the Union church. The proceeds will be used to provide material for making bandages, etc., required in the field by the Red Cross Society. All you need to take with you is a pair of socks (more if you like) and a dime for the tea. We bespeak for the ladies a good attendance to aid a worthy cause.

A movement is on foot in town to hold a big patriotic affair of some kind to assist financially the universal efforts to supply comforts to our fighting boys at the front. A preliminary meeting of a few of the interested ones will be held tonight, and the local Band will offer their services free for a concert or dance or both. The offer is an exceptionally good one and we trust that any who possess histrionic or musical talent will not be slow in following this lead.

Collier's on Canada's Share in the War.

Canada's part in the war elicits the following comment from the well-known American weekly, Collier's:

"So Canada has more than 100,000 men under arms. Whatever else this war brings to England, one gain is sure. It means a tightening of the bond uniting her dominions. That bloody day on which 6,000 Canadians gave up their lives, outnumbered but standing off the Germans at a crucial point near Ypres, brought laughter and mother country closer together for all time. Perhaps what counts most is not the fact that the Canadians are marching contingent after contingent of fresh troops aboard the transports, but the spirit which prompts this sacrifice. Canada is not as a nation, ardently impulsive. This very fact may make her all the more a consequential factor in a long-fought war. One evidence of this is the deadly seriousness with which she is living down the public scandal that attended the spending of her first war appropriation of $50,000,000. Neither sellers, middle, nor government could boast of entirely cleanly hands in those transactions—but what war, in what country, was ever fought without commercial smirch? Graft, then, is not the issue, only the spirit in which the would-be grafters are put down. In Canada, Premier Borden himself, on the last day of the late session of Parliament, rose from his seat in the House of Commons and read out of his party, without sparing their names, two fellow-Conservatives. Mr. Borden's action is typical of Canada's whole attitude toward this great war. It is a safe guess that the commission delegated to expend the new appropriation of $100,000,000 will live up to Canada's best ideals. Today our neighbor is not contributing mere rhetoric to her mother country; she is giving her own money and her own blood; she is doing her duty, and duty and desire are, with Canada, one."

Aggressive Germany.

All the reports indicate the arrival in Belgium of a German army either freshly mobilized or else released from the eastern theatre of operations. We may look for a new aggressive in France and Flanders. Germany is lost when she assumes the defensive. Her whole campaign was her only hope. That was the teaching of Bernhardt. That was the reason the advance though Belgium was declared to be a military necessity. Though the war has been prolonged far beyond the time when Germany expected to end it, she still finds it necessary to force the fighting. She does so because from their inside position, with their better means of transportation, the Teutonic Allies can still meet the enemy in equal or superior numbers. With her immense supply of ammunition and her fine military industrial organization, Germany is far superior to her enemies in equipment and munitions. But in all these respects time is on the side of the other Allies. They are raising men faster than the Teutonic enemy. They are rapidly increasing their supply of munitions by manufacture and importations. Every day that the war is prolonged is to the disadvantage of Germany. What she is to do she must do now.—News-Advertiser.

Dogs As Downies.

Everywhere is the dog the friend of man, but in Manchuria he is more strictly the friend of woman. There the dowry of a young woman does not consist of hard cash as in Europe, but in a certain number of sleek dogs with thick fur or silken hair. The girl's status may almost be guessed by her wedding portion of dogs. If she receive six she is poor; if a dozen, her parents are in easy circumstances; and if twelve dozen it may be taken that she comes from a rich family. They are carefully fattened for their savoury flesh, and their skins after death become coverlets, pelisses, vests for hunters, or bedside carpets which scarcely ever wear out. Even to its fur the devotion of the dog is warm and lasting.

Sun and Earth.

The sun's greatest distance from the earth, about July 1, is nearly 94,000,000 miles; his least, about Jan. 1, rather less than 91,000,000 miles; his mean distance is about 92,333,000 miles. It may serve to give some idea of the vastness of this distance to say that a ball fired from a thirteen inch gun at the sun would require, thirteen years to reach its mark, supposing its velocity to remain unchanged throughout the journey. The sun's diameter is 860,000 miles, exceeding the earth's about 109 times. The sun exceeds the earth in surface 11,750 times and in volume 1,260,000 times.

"Speak For Yourself."

Lord Leicester of Holkham nearly a hundred years ago was a widower and in the latter part of his life nearly blind. He enjoyed an intimate friendship with his neighbor, Lord Albemarle, and had in his own mind selected Lady Anne, one of Lord Albemarle's daughters, as the future wife of his nephew and the mistress of Holkham.

One day Lady Anne came along to join his morning ride, and Lord Leicester seized the opportunity of asking her:

"Anne, my dear, how should you like to be mistress of Holkham?"

"There is nothing I should like better," answered Lady Anne, drawing herself up in her saddle.

"Then I shall send my nephew William to court you."

Lady Anne drew herself up still more and, tightening her rein, replied calmly, but very gravely:

"I shall not be mistress of Holkham on those terms."

It was then the old gentleman's turn to rein in his horse. He looked his companion hard in the face and asked her: "Why, you don't mean to say you would marry me?"

"Yes, indeed I would. And there is nothing I should wish more."

This was a wooing that was not "long a-doing," and it led to a most happy marriage.

Cracking of Trees.

The catalpa never shows the sear and yellow leaf in autumn like the sumac, hard maple, etc., for the reason that its leaves are caught in a green, unripened state by the first severe frosts. In one night their bright green is turned to a dingy black. This sudden check gorges the cambium layer and new wood of the stem with water. An excess of water swells the protoplasm of the cells to such an extent as to rupture the inelastic bark, and in trees where the cell structure of the wood is not ripe the crack will extend into the wood often with a noise like an explosion. This often occurs in the fall when it is not cold enough to stop plowing. Sometimes there is much loss in nursery in this way with varieties not fully ripe when the first frosts come. Sometimes, indeed, it injures very hardy varieties. In such cases the swelling of the protoplasm comes from the water absorbed at the ground surface when combined wet and cold come together in autumn. The cracking of cherries and pears comes from the same cause—that is, by absorbing water on wet days, causing an expansion of the protoplasm. With trees the best treatment is to cover the rupture with moist clay and then wrap to exclude the air as much as possible.

Believing, He Got Ready to Dodge.

A Hudson river steamboat captain extended the hospitalities of his snug wheelhouse to a clergyman who could not find a seat on the crowded upper deck. The visitor was chatty, and when he had plied the man at the wheel with sundry questions concerning his spiritual welfare the skipper asked the reverend gentleman:

"Do you believe in predestination?"

"Of course I do," was the emphatic reply.

"Then you believe that whatever is to be will be?"

"Certainly."

"Well, I'm glad to hear it."

"Why?"

"Because I'm going to pass that boat ahead in just fifteen minutes if there is any virtue in hard coal and safety valves. So don't be alarmed. If the boilers are not going to burst they won't, that's all."

The divine arose, put on his hat and was leaving the wheelhouse when the captain observed:

"I thought you believed in predestination?"

"So I do, but, my good man, I prefer being a little nearer the stern when it takes place."—New York Press.

CASH DIVIDENDS ON GOODS YOU BUY

By HOLLAND.

SOUNDS good, doesn't it? And the best of it is it is true. These cash dividends are paid on every dollar you spend, provided you spend wisely and buy goods that the maker believes in so strongly that he advertises them.

Advertised goods are not always the cheapest so far as the amount asked for them is concerned. But they are INVARIABLY THE BEST. And this makes them cheap when all things are considered.

When you buy for the same money a better article than you have been buying you get a cash dividend on your purchase. When you pay less for an article of the same quality you get a cash dividend.

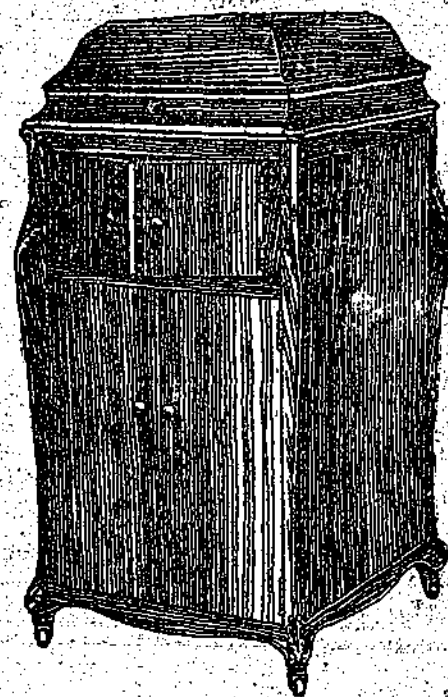

THESE DIVIDENDS ARE PAID TO THE READERS OF ADVERTISEMENTS IN THIS PAPER.

The Maple Leaf For Ever

In days of yore, from Britain's shore,
Wolfe, the dauntless hero, came,
And planted firm Britannia's flag
On Canada's fair domain.
Here may it wave, our boast, our pride,
And joined in love together,
The Thistle, Shamrock, Rose entwined,
The Maple Leaf for ever.

CHORUS.

The Maple Leaf, our emblem dear,
The Maple Leaf for ever!
God save our King, and Heaven bless
The Maple Leaf for ever!

At Queenston Heights and Lundy's Lane,
Our brave fathers, side by side,
For freedom, homes and loved ones dear,
Firmly stood and nobly died;
And those dear rights which they maintained,
We swear to yield them never!
Our watchword evermore shall be,
The Maple Leaf for ever!

Our fair Dominion now extends,
From Cape Race to Nootka Sound;
May peace for ever be our lot,
And plenteous store abound;
And may those ties of love be ours,
Which discord cannot sever,
And flourish green o'er Freedom's home,
The Maple Leaf for ever!

On merry England's far famed land,
May kind Heaven sweetly smile;
God bless old Scotland ever more,
And Ireland's Emerald Isle!
Then swell the song, both loud and long,
Till rocks and forest quiver,
God save our King and Heaven bless,
The Maple Leaf for ever!
