DISMISSAL OF ASIATICS

British Columbia Faces a Difficult Labor Problem—Solution May be in Land Solution

Vancouver, April 18.—Labor conditions in Vancouver may be radically changed if the present agitation goes on against Orientals. Following the murder of a white woman by a Chinese boy, public feeling has been strong against Asiatics. In private houses, where Chinese servants have been employed for years, the Orientals have been discharged and have been superseded by white girls. Some of the smaller industrial concerns have abolished the cheaper labor and installed white. The question is a live one before the city council just now, when the motion was carried that lumber to be used by the city, and a large amount is used, be bought from lumber companies that employed no Orientals. Oriental labor in the sawmills has been one of the chief features of labor conditions in connection with the lumber industry, and the one lumber company in Vancouver that changed the personal payroll a few days ago is now reaping a nice little harvest. The lumber manufacturers' official association entered a strong protest against the council's resolution.

MORE WHITE LABOR AVAILABLE
Employment of Asiatics has been a live and vital question in British Columbia for years. It has become so much a part of the country that it will be difficult, even if possible, to eradicate the evil. The capitalist wishing to get a fair return on his money is not the only offender in utilizing the cheaper labor, but in homes, and gardens, in laundry work, in restaurants, in fact, everywhere Chinese and Japs are to be found. Conditions, though, are changing, and if this revolution of feeling does not result in the overthrow of the Asiatic it will at least have permanent effect. White labor is more abundant than a few years ago, and with things as it has been for the past year or so it is much cheaper. Then, too, the government is adopting a policy of getting people on to the land. This will be providing a substantial working for a main part of the population from which will be drawn help for all the industries that may be established. One cannot exist without the other. Industries want a market and cannot afford to run any risk for labor. Living on the land will be a class of people not very plentiful on the coast as yet, but rapidly increasing, and from the farms will come a sturdy stock that will make possible a truly white British Columbia.

HINTS FOR THE DAIRYMAN

In the commercial world it is reasonable to assume that what you pay and what you get determine value; a low price, in itself, does not spell value; price and quality, together, determine value.

As applied to the dairy herd, how does this work out? A farmer does not necessarily buy a cow because the price is low, he wants quality; in this case quality may be interpreted to mean dairy capacity, or ability to produce plenty of good milk. If he does not purchase, possibly the heifer coming into milk has been raised at rather a high cost so that her dairy quality is impaired. She may not be of the right stock, that is, from a dam of deep milking qualities and a sire of known ability, and, all may have suffered from lack of the right feed.

The other part of the value side of every dairy cow, that is, what you get from her, is right in the dairyman's own hands. He can easily determine each cow's value, or dairy quality, by keeping individual records of production. Then if he wishes to part with a good cow, her selling price is enhanced by reason of that certificate of value, her record, which helps to fix the price. Right buying is true economy; the factory patron with the highest conception of value will buy, or raise, right, and will know, by his own simple records that each cow in the herd separately, not averaged in a lump, fits his ideal of value. Fix a good standard, make each cow pay. Milk and feed record forms are supplied free by the Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa.

BASEBALL IN PRINCETON

Hedley Plays Return Game in that Town on Sunday and Brings Back the Bacon

On Sunday the Hedley baseball team accompanied by a number of supporters made the journey to Princeton to play a return game in that town. This time they reversed the score of the previous game winning by the score of 20 to 14. The game was played in the rain and hence the game was not up to its usual standard as the ball was wet and slippery and the grounds being not a bit better many errors were chalked up that would not have been made had the day been better.

Petrie occupied the mound for Princeton and Waddell and Hertell were doing the backslapping while W. Corrigan and Robertson were the battery for Hedley. Hedley went to bat first and managed to get couple of runs across the plate. In the second half of the innings Princeton tied up the score. In the second the Hedley boys went out in one, two, three order and Princeton managed in their half to get one run and take the lead which they did not hold long as in the third the Hedley boys secured five runs, while Princeton was goose-egged. In the next innings Hedley secured one run while Princeton received two but in the next the locals again got a run while Princeton again received a goose-egg. Princeton tied the score in the next innings when they handed a goose-egg to Hedley and secured four runs in their turn at bat. The next innings, the fatal seventh, Hedley run in seven runs by good stick work and Princeton tried hard to gain this up but fell short by three runs. In the next two innings the Hedley boys gathered in four more runs for good measure while all that Princeton could get was one. The following is the line-up and score of the two teams.

| Princeton | Hedley |
|------------------------------|-------------|
| Waddell, catcher | Robertson |
| Hughy, right field | J. Corrigan |
| Petrie, pitcher | W. Corrigan |
| Digman, second base | Anderson |
| Russell, first base | Bowlin |
| Osborne, centre field | Martin |
| Johnson, third base | Townsend |
| Rube, left field | McLean |
| Brown, shortstop | T. Corrigan |
| Hertell, catcher | Adie, spare |
| Princeton—2 1 0 2 0 4 0 1—14 | |
| Hedley—2 0 5 1 1 0 7 2 2—20 | |

Shorty Wagner refereed the game and gave satisfaction to all.

NOTES ON THE GAME
Princeton should begin to play the ball games on the upper diamond as it is an insult to the outside teams to have to play on a diamond with side-walks running across the outfields in every direction.

When a ball game is being played in Princeton on a wet day the Princetonites should get a camp stove behind the grand stand and dry the balls out for their pitcher.

POWER DAM COMPLETED

Work All Finished This Week—Work Started at Putting Bridge Over Top—Stringers Being Got Out For Flume

The work of putting in the power dam for the Hedley Gold Mining Company on the Similkameen river which was started late last fall was all completed this week excepting a small portion of the upstream aprons on the west section and this can not be put in until the water gets low again this summer.

The work of putting in the bridge over the dam was started this week but owing to the inability of the management to secure some of the big timbers this work will be delayed somewhat. The tracks that were used for the hauling of materials have all been torn up and some of the machinery taken out.

The work on the right-of-way for the ditch and flume is now being rushed along and already a large part of this work is ready for the lumber.

George Bowerman has the contract for getting out the stringers for the flume and at the present time has about six or seven men engaged at this work.

RECORDS FRUIT CROPS

Year 1914 Will be Record Breaker For British Columbia Fruit Growers Declares Fruit Inspector

"The present year promises to be the greatest year in the history of the fruit industry in the province, and it is going to be one of great prosperity to the growers," declared Fruit Inspector Thomas Cunningham, the other day in an interview with the Daily Province, Vancouver. "The necessity for the second clause of the sentence," he added, "lies in the fact that in some previous bumper years the hugeness of the fruit crop did not mean big returns for the growers. Sometimes it meant loss owing to glutted markets, which did not pay a return for the cost of picking and packing and marketing the crop.

"I have never yet seen much evidence of a big fruit crop since I have been in the province," said the fruit inspector. "It is not only one fruit or one district but the reports from every district are to the effect that all the fruits promise to give a record crop this year."

As a result of the marketing organizations brought into being through the assistance of the Provincial government last year, there is now no danger of a glutting of the market. Previously the fruit had all been shipped to two or three points, where congestion occurred, leaving large markets untouched. "For instance," declared Mr. Cunningham, "in order to arrange for marketing I went to Lethbridge, Alta., last year. Lethbridge is a fine city and serves a fine territory in the distribution of fruit. I went to all the wholesale dealers there, and I could not find a single piece of British Columbia fruit. There was fruit from Washington, Oregon, California, Utah, Wyoming and South Dakota, but not one box of fruit from the neighboring province of British Columbia. That sort of thing was taking place in many of the large prairie towns and cities. Now, the fruit will be sent to scores of centres of distribution, and the shipments will be controlled to suit the state of the markets in the various places. Thus, not only will the consumer be able to look forward to a good fruit crop this year, but the growers will be able to reap the benefit of nature's bounty and their own care of cultivation."

KAMLOOPS TO THE OKANAGAN

C. N. R. to Undertake Construction of Branch Line This Summer

Winnipeg, May 1.—M. P. McLeod, general manager, is in Toronto arranging for Canadian Northern Railway work for the season. It is officially announced here that outside of completing the main line into Port Mann, the most important undertaking of the company will be the construction of a branch line from Kamloops into the fruit districts of the Okanagan. Vancouver is to have a C. N. R. head official with considerable authority.

ACCIDENT IN RAWHIDE MINE

James McCormick and Thomas Pritchard Meet With Untimely Death Caused by Powder Gas

James McCormick and Thos. Pritchard met an untimely death early yesterday morning while working at the Rawhide mine near town, being asphyxiated by powder gas after setting off a blast. The bodies of the two men were found within ten feet of the face of the drift by the morning shift going to work. They were removed to the undertaker's, where they will rest until funeral arrangements are made. The two men were working on the night shift, and after blasting before coming off shift, it is presumed they went back in to see how the holes broke, as is frequently done by miners, and were overcome by gas.

McCormick has been in Phoenix about five years, and has been employed practically all of the time at the Rawhide and Grauby mines, and for the past two years was shift boss at the Rawhide. He was about 35 years of age and married. He was a member of Phoenix Aerie No. 158, Fraternal Order of Eagles. He was a native of Michigan.

Pritchard was about 25 years of age, and was a native of Wales. He had been employed at the Rawhide for the past two years. He was the sole support of his mother in the old country. His father and a brother were killed in a mine accident in Wales not long ago.

Both men were well known and respected here.—Phoenix Pioneer.

CANAL HELPS B. C. LUMBERMEN

Lumbermen of Province Conducting Publicity Campaign to Bring Resources of B. C. Before Eastern Purchasers

The possibilities for trade expansion, which the completion of the Panama Canal will give the British Columbia lumbermen, are emphasized by the recent announcement that the "Robert Dollar", the largest lumber cargo boat in the Pacific service, will be the first boat to take shipments of timber from this province to the eastern markets.

Lumbermen in this province are showing themselves alive to the geographical and strategical advantages they possess by engaging in an active campaign to make known the resources and timber manufactures and they expect the big lumberman's parade, planned in connection with the Pacific Coast Ad Men's Convention to be held in Vancouver in June, to play a prominent part in this connection.

British Columbia's rivals freely admit that the opening of the Panama Canal will give a big impetus to the timber trade in this province. The American shipping laws give vessels plying out of Canadian ports a decided advantage. The following extract from an article, one of a series entitled "The Panama Canal and Lumber," published in a recent number of "The New York Lumber Journal," summarized the situation as it impresses the outside observer.

"Much has been said about the monopoly created and fostered by the restrictions of coastwise trade to American vessels, and one might suppose that these restricted laws would greatly stimulate the construction of American-built ships in view of the Canal commerce, and that thus the problem of sufficient tonnage for lumber to the east coast would reach a satisfactory solution. What such laws may do for the coastwise traffic generally we are now discussing, but as far as lumber is concerned, this desired result is not likely to be soon realized. Any advantage these laws apparently give to American vessels is nullified by other laws which entail additional cost in the building, manning and operating of American vessels; and if a commodity like lumber can be purchased on neighboring foreign soil at the same price as the domestic product it stands to reason that vessels of other nations will load there and bring their cargoes into the United States, against which there is no local restriction.

MINING BOOM NEXT

Shrewd watchers of the markets predict that when the present oil stocks speculation has run its course there will come a mining boom the like of which this country has never seen before" says the Wall Street Journal. "It is believed that the oil share hysteria has reached its apex and is now on the decline. Railroad stocks are no longer attractive speculatively both because of the collapse of the securities of several of the leaders and because of the activities of politicians and professional agitators. The downfall of so many of the so called good-will-companies gave a check to the interest in industrials, and it appears that mining stocks are about the only class of issues that have not received several severe body blows in the last three or four years.

"Curb traders report that there is an interest and activity in the outside mining stocks such as have not been in evidence before in the last four years. The 1907 panic put a check to the wild gamble in mining stocks that preceded that crash, but the speculative public is regaining its courage and is now nibbling strongly.

"Another mining boom would doubtless be accompanied by the usual outpouring of worthless securities, but the public is educated by observation and bitter experience, and it is doubtful if the promoters of 'rotten' stocks will ever be able to flim-flam investors as in the past."

Along the same line, the Victoria Colonist says:

"Everything indicates a great revival of interest in mining in British Columbia. Some months ago, quoting Sir Richard McBride, we said that many things pointed in that direction, notably the rapidly increasing output of existing mines. Events are bearing out this forecast. In view of this the people of the province have a clear line of duty before them, and it is to avoid lending their names to wild-cat schemes. Incalculable harm was done, at the time of the great Kootenay boom, by the flotation of all sorts of properties, and the sale of stocks in companies with hardly as much as a hole in the ground to represent their assets.

It may be said that when a person is offered a dollar share for five cents, he knows he is taking a chance of losing what he pays out, for if there was any reason to think the share would be worth a dollar within any reasonable time, no person would sell it for five cents. This is true enough, and if such transactions could be confined to the original vendor and the original purchaser, no very great amount of harm would be done; but they cannot be so confined.

"In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, a man who buys a dollar share of mining stock for five cents has not the least expectation of ever getting a dividend out of it. His hope is to make a profit of selling it to someone else. The wild-cat promoter knows this and he baits his hook accordingly. He tells how the value of other stocks has risen and then he goes on to say that at a certain date the price of his shares will be advanced. The purchaser sees a chance of turning over his shares in a short time at the advanced price and bites at the bait. In other cases fictitious sales are employed as a means to put up the price.

"All this is very elementary, and we only mention it because as the stock gambling fraternity says, there is a fool born every minute, which is a picturesque way of saying that there are always a lot of people who are sure that they can beat the other man at his own game.

"The press ought to be on its guard. In a way it is the custodian of the reputation of the country, but often in its anxiety to print what seems to be news, it gives prominence to alleged discoveries. It is hard to know just where to draw the line. For some years The Colonist has drawn it so far afield that many persons have thought that they had a genuine grievance because they were refused publicity for what they honestly believed were valuable finds of mineral or oil. Nevertheless, we have never as yet found any reason to regret having declined to publish matter calculated to give importance to alleged discoveries. The wild-cat lives on publicity, and in case one should be prowling around, we have thought it wise never to do anything more than report transactions in actual mining."

Queer Auction Custom.

"Candle auction" is an ancient custom which still survives in Somersetshire, England. A valuable piece of meadow land in the village of Tatworth was sold recently by auction while the candle burned. The ceremony consists of the burning of an inch of candle, the last bidder before the candle's final flicker becoming the tenant for the ensuing year. Previous to the auction freeholders assembled for a supper of bread and cheese, beer and pickles, the funds for this being provided from the "coiting" of the new tenant. Fines are also imposed for speaking, nose blowing, laughing out loud and moving, other than bidding, while the candle is burning.

Be Suspicious

BE suspicious of that of which nobody is proud. Be suspicious of the mere low-price argument offered in favor of an article with no reputation, no backer, no guarantor.

Better buy the thing you know and can trust, than an article unbranded and unvouched for.

The branded shoe, made by a maker with a reputation, is a safer shoe to buy than the one made in an unknown factory by an unknown maker.

The underwear made by a firm whose name is as familiar to you as your own, is worth more to you than underwear nameless or labelled by a maker of whom you have never heard.

Tea sealed in a packet bearing the name of a reputable firm is to be preferred to tea of which the packer is not sufficiently proud to advertise its quality.

That in which much money has been invested to make or keep it good is worth more than that on which nothing or but little has been spent.

Peace of mind is worth something, just as quality is. Buy peace of mind.

When you buy anything worth while buying, buy that of which you know—from advertisements, or from other dependable acquaintance. Buy the article with the "money back" guarantee—with the pledge of a known name behind it.

Put your faith in the advertisements appearing in good newspapers. Beware of the article that cannot stand the spot-light of publicity. The commodity an advertiser backs with his own money is something worth your buying.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any good advertising agency or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 508 Lumsden Building. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.

and helped him to drive the cattle back.

Between seven and eight hundred people attend the Sacred Concert in the Methodist Church on good Friday evening, and everything was very appropriate to the occasion. The choir, assisted by Mrs. Miller of Toronto, Miss Williamson and Mrs. Farr of Aurora, over forty voices in all, acquitting themselves most admirably reflecting great credit on Mr. L. K.
Farr of Aurora, the accomplished organist and musical director. "The Crucifixion" by Stainer is a beautiful composition and the words are admirably adapted to the theme. The principle solos were taken most excellently by Mr. Geo. Young and Mr. Eugene Barker. The trio, quartettes and choruses were all rendered with splendid expression. The church is to be congratulated upon having such an excellent choir. At the request of the pastor no applause was given and the audience retired as quietly as from a Sunday evening service.—The Aurora Banner.

The entertainment given in Fraternity hall on Tuesday evening by the Princeton Pierrot Troupe was a marked success from every standpoint.
The show given was good and the troupe are to be congratulated and too much praise cannot be given. Harry Whiteman kept the crowd in an uppour all the time by his humorous songs and actions and he made a hit with the crowd for he was called back time after time. There was not a dull spot in the entertainment from beginning to end. The troupe cannot come back here too soon and from reports they will be welcomed back by a bumper house. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Church of England building committee and the proceeds which amounted to about $57.00 will be used in erecting a Church here. The members of the troupe were: Rev. and Mrs. G. D. Griffiths, Miss L. Day, Miss N. Leighton, Mrs.
Hawse, N. Ridge, A. Cole, and Harry Whiteman. Mrs. Waterman was accompanied.

On Thursday last Pete Halstab had the misfortune to cut his foot with a hand ax. He was working on the flume and was driving a spike when the ax glanced and the handle turned in his hand and struck him in the foot inflicting a gash that required several stiches. He is now getting along nicely and no serious after effects are expected.

Don't Know They Have Appendicitis

Many Hedley people have chronic appendicitis (which is not very painful) and think it is just bowel trouble.
Some have doctored for years for gas on the stomach, sour stomach, or constipation and F. M. Gillespie, druggist states that if they will try simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler's-Kat, the German appendicitis remedy, they will be surprised at the QUICK benefit. A SINGLE DOSE stops these troubles INSTANTLY.
