PLACES THE BLAME

Small-pox Quarantine Felt Severely In Oroville—Case Stated Fairly

For nine years we have carefully perused the columns of Loomis and Oroville papers conducted by Bro. Dallam and we have yet to see a single sentence with which we could not agree or which was not eminently fair, broad-gauged and in strict accord with the best features of what good journalism ought to be. When he thinks his friends are wrong he plainly tells them so. Last week he dealt with the small-pox situation in a lengthy article which we regret we have not space to reproduce in full but will give as much as we can, and if the people of the northern part of Washington state will pay heed to what he has told them they will be the gainers in the long run. The Oroville Gazette says:

"What was threatened by the British Columbia officials last week has taken place. A quarantine has been declared against the United States, and it is this particular part of the United States that is to feel the inconvenience and loss that such a quarantine entails. Whether there be fair and just grounds for this drastic action does not enter into the question. Those on the other side of the line with the power to issue such a mandate feel that they have ample reason for this step, and have taken it, and when such a step is taken by those in authority the whole machinery of the British Columbia government is behind them, and the order is a law that cannot be infringed upon without certain punishment following. The bolt fell Monday. The action of the Provincial Board of Health is set forth in the following official notice that has been posted in conspicuous places in Oroville, and at other points along the railroad:

"Notice—Provincial Board of Health—Re Outbreak of Smallpox—All persons travelling into Canada from the United States will have to produce certificates of vaccination when called on by the constable on duty, and if unable to produce it will have to return to the United States.
30th day of October, 1913
C. J. FAGAN,
Secretary Provincial Board of Health,
Victoria, B. C.

Certificates must be dated within six months of the time of presentation."

"Such is the ukase. It means just what it says. There is no dodging it. The provincial officers know no distinction of person. The man or woman travelling into Canada from this side of the line must be vaccinated, must hold a certificate of vaccination and that certificate must be signed by a duly accredited physician, otherwise it does not go. While deploring the measure taken, and doubting its expediency, one cannot help but admire the prompt action of the Canadian officials, and applaud the enforcement of law without fear or favor. For it will be enforced to the letter, and there are provincial officers traveling on the trains to see that no one evades the orders. This way of acting in an emergency rather puts the slipshod methods of procedure in this country in contempt. It can be said here, and made emphatic, that if the same prompt and decisive action had followed the first appearance of small-pox in this country the Canadian quarantine would not have been necessary.

"Now as stated above all this could have been prevented had common sense precautionary measures been taken by those in authority when it first became known that small-pox existed in this country. It matters not where the fault rests, for it certainly rests somewhere, as there can be no question but that someone failed to inaugurate strict preventive and precautionary measures to prevent the spread of the disease from the beginning, and some one should be held responsible. Because the cases happened to be mild is no excuse. There might be fifty mild cases, and then one or more fatal ones. Those who are expected to safeguard communities against contagious diseases were certainly derelict in the performance of their duties. It was the bounden duty of those in authority to use every means known to medicine to stamp

STAMPED OUT

Small-pox Danger at Keremeos Declared to be Practically Over and School Re-opens

Thanks to vigorous measures taken to prevent the spread of small-pox which had broken out in the lower part of the valley on this side the line, the plan of defence has been so effective that all danger is believed to be over and on Monday the school reopened on permission from Dr. Miller who has also left for the coast after giving full directions as to what must be done before removing all restrictions which had been placed on the quarantined premises. These at the expiration of a certain period are to be thoroughly disinfected.

Service was held in the church on Sunday night and apart from the quarantined houses the place is in possesion of a sound bill of health. The public are therefore free to come and go between Keremeos and every other place in the district, but the quarantine will be maintained on the railway until such time as there is good and sufficient evidence that the people in infected places south of the line have come to their senses and show that they are in earnest about trying to stamp the thing out instead of resorting to misrepresentation and concealment.

The amount of exposure there was from the mild case which imported the disease and the fact that the period of incubation is long past without any new cases developing, together with the active measures taken to prevent the spread of the disease leaves no reason to doubt that it is practically stamped out, and the main thing now is to see that no more of it is imported.

MONTAGUE COMES BACK

The Eloquent Doctor Re-enters Politics to Take Portfolio in Manitoba Cabinet

Winnipeg, Nov. 8.—Hon. W. H. Montague has accepted the portfolio of minister of public works in the Manitoba cabinet, succeeding Hon. Colin H. Campbell. He will be sworn in to-day The consent of the lieutenant-govenor was received last night. Mr. Campbell has resigned through ill health, but retains his seat in the house.

From the early 'eighties' to the fall of the Conservative administration in 1896 he was one of the most prominent figures in Canadian public life and was generally considered one of the foremost platform speakers of the day. His electoral contests with Colter of Haldiamand first brought him into public notice and in them he won his spurs and showed that he was cabinet timber.

At the time of the defeat of the administration he was Secretary of State but retired from politics altogether and would never offer himself in any constituency. His return to public life will be welcomed by all his old-time admirers.

CLEMENT CASE HEARING

Justice Cassels Presides and Formidable Array of Legal Talent Argue

Last week the case against Justice Clement for alleged overcharge of travelling expenses was up for hearing in Vancouver before Justice Cassels who had been specially sent west for that purpose. The claim made by the Crown was for $4291 alleged overcharges in putting in the travelling expenses from Grand Forks to Vancouver when he was all the while living in that city.

Justice Clement was defended by Hon. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, Mr. E. P. Davis and Mr. E. V. Bodwell while the case was handled for the prosecution by Mr. F. S. McLennan, K. C., of Montreal.

The legal point of what constitutes residence was one of the main points that defendant's counsel made their fight upon. Another point urged by defendant was that the action was political in its source.

In view of the importance of the case and the points involved the presiding Justice reserved judgment.

WORK DELAYED TEMPORARILY

Men at Work on Dam Were Laid Off on Saturday—Mr. Jones on Way to New York

In last week's issue we referred to further instructions being awaited from New York before the order for full steam ahead might be expected, and expressed the hope that all obstacles and causes for delay might be cleared away so that advantage might be taken of the fine weather for building.

Well; the word has come, but instead of it being to go ahead, it was for Mr. Jones to proceed to New York with certain information which was required by the Board of Directors in reference to plans, estimates, etc. Of course it is but natural and is certainly business on the part of the directors to want to have the fullest possible information before they decide to go on with a project which will in all probability cost upwards of $200,000 before it is finished. The unfortunate feature of the halt is that good weather with the river at its lowest and no frost in the ground, and these are the ideal conditions for the building of the dam, valuable time is now being lost by way of getting everything in readiness to go on with the installation a road had been brushed out to enable material to be taken on to the site. Some excavation had also been done on the spot marked out by the engineer, and by getting the dam completed this winter it would put them a year ahead.

The Directors' meeting in New York is to take place about the 15th and in order to be there in time it was necessary for Mr. Jones to start next day after receipt of the telegram, which left very little time for him to get the data required. To do so, each man on the staff had to leave what they were doing and begin compiling and it was near evening on Sunday before the auto left with him for Penticton to take the boat that evening. It will not be known until after the 15th what course may be decided on by the directors, and whatever it may be it will doubtless be in the interests of the company, for it will be the result of the deliberations of hard-headed men of business with facts and figures before them.

VALUE OF A PROSPECT

A Basis That Seems Reasonable Has Been Fixed

The Daily Mining Record of Denver has propounded the theory that "a prospect is worth no more than the amount of money it will require to prove it up." Touching on this the Mining, Engineering and Electrical Record says:

"One of the great drawbacks to the development of mining in British Columbia is found in the absurdly high and speculative prices demanded for metalliferous and coal properties. No prospect is worth more than the cost of proving it, and the prospector or speculative holder should be willing to take his chance along with the investor. If a prospect cannot make a mine it is worth nothing. The best prospect requires a large amount of capital to prove it up and to place it into productive condition when that work is successful. Only one prospect in twenty has any chance of proving a mine, and the investor is obliged to consider the development of a prospect accordingly."

PARCELS POST BY JAN. 1st

Post Office Department Trying to Conplete Preparations This Year—Tentative Rates Established.

Ottawa, Nov. 8.—The efforts of the post office department are still being directed towards the establishment of the parcels post system on January 1, though the date is not absolutely certain.

The schedule of rates has been drawn up tentatively, but will require the approval of the postmaster-general. A great deal of detail is necessary in connection with the regulations goverining the system.

KETTLE VALLEY RAILWAY

President Warren at Vancouver Ready to Open Tenders—Progress of Construction

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 6th.—Mr. J. J. Warren, president of the Kettle River Valley Railway, arrived in the city last evening from Kamloops, accompanied by the chief engineer of the system, Mr. McCullough, and in a short space of time the rotunda of the Hotel Vancouver was crowded with railway contractors, all anxious to see them. The reason for this activity is that Mr. Warran will open the tenders today for the construction of the last stretch of the Kettle Valley.

The distance to be awarded is about sixty miles west of Osprey Lake.

In conservation with a reporter Mr. Warren said that the contract might be awarded in two parts. This would be decided after the tenders had been opened and studied. He was anxious to complete the railway as soon as possible. He said construction of the rest of the line was proceeding satisfactorily.—Province

The reporter who interviewed Mr. Warren goes on to speak of the difficult character of the work in the Coquihalla and appears to have taken for granted that this was part of the work then about to be let, but as a matter of fact the Coquihalla portion between Hope and the summit was let months ago and grading has been under way for some time.

FATALITY AT PENTICTON

Three Men Are Killed by Fall of Earth While Working in Pit

About fifteen corporation laborers at Penticton were working in a pit near Okanagan River where dirt was being taken out for grading the lake shore drive. Suddenly without any warning the bank above them gave away and several hundreds of tons of dirt came down on them. Two wagons were in the pit being filled at the time and the men who were between the wagons and the slide were unable to get away in time and were crushed to death.

Three men named James Campbell, James Boyce and Malcolm Nicholson were killed and another man named Weir had his leg broken. Boyce leaves a widow and four children who live in Penticton.

MERELY INCIDENTAL

Mistaken Idea Entertained in Oroville as to Cause of Quarantine

A mistaken idea seems to obtain in Oroville as to the cause of the small-pox quarantine maintained on the G. N. R. trains at the boundary line. It is commonly reported there that the quarantine was put on to compel the railway company to run the trains through and that the small-pox was merely being used as an excuse to that end.

This feature of the case is but another evidence of how hopeless it is to expect the people of that town and its officials to look the matter squarely in the face when they will attempt to use such a red herring as that to shift from themselves the blame. If the quarantine had produced the effect which those who peddle that yarn seem to think it was designed to produce, it would have been hailed along this portion of the Great Northern as a very good thing in itself, but still it would only have been a mere incident, a corollary or whatever else you might like to call it. But as for it having anything to do in the way of influencing the medical officer who was sent here from Victoria with full authority to do as he has done, the thing is absurd.

There was quite a bumper house for the opening of the Star theatre on Friday evening last when the first moving picture show was put on in it. The building will seat 250 if necessary, although seating for that number has not yet been provided and will not be until it is needed. A new aluminum curtain seems to bring out the pictures in bolder relief although there never was any trouble in that direction as they have been remarkably clear all along.

A REASONABLE CLAIM

The announcement in coast papers of the probable elevation of Hon. Price Ellison to the Senate and the choice of a successor to the portfolio of Finance and Agriculture has given room for speculation. Along with this circumstance is the fact that a bye-election has been necessitated in one constituency on the coast owing to the elevation to the bench of Hon. A. E. McPhillips, President of the Council, who represented the Islands constituency. A standard-bearer for the government has been chosen to contest this constituency and the choice has fallen upon W. W. Foster, deputy-minister of Public Works. One despatch appearing in a coast paper is to the effect that it has already been decided that on the election of Mr. Foster he is to be taken into the cabinet and given the portfolio that he is best qualified to fill, which is that of Public Works, owing to his familiarity with the affairs of the department, and that Hon. Thos. Taylor is to be given the portfolio of Finance and Agriculture.

While we have nothing whatever to urge against the fitness of either of these gentlemen for the portfolios for which they are said to be slated, there are good and valid reasons for thinking that Similkameen riding should have some of the honor when they have a representative who could fill the position with credit to himself and his constituency and in the best interests of the province at large. Moreover, when a portfolio has for any reason been rendered vacant and some semblance of balance in reference to coast and interior representation in the cabinet is to be maintained, it is desirable that the portion of the province deprived of its cabinet representation by the change, should receive the first consideration. As the vacancy in this case would be created by the retirement of Hon. Price Ellison, who represented the Okanagan riding, it is in every way fitting that the Similkameen riding should now have its turn when it has repeatedly sent Mr. Shatford to represent the riding and support the administration of the day, instead of disturbing the present balance or preponderance (whichever you may wish to call it) by filling the position with a coast representative who is not now and has not yet been a member of the Legislature.

In point of seniority Mr. Shatford is now one of the oldest members in the House, having been returned by this riding for its representative for four parliaments in succession, defeating some of the heaviest timber the opposition could bring against him, and the last time being returned by acclamation. And in point of fitness the portfolio which would be rendered vacant by Hon. Mr. Ellison's elevation to the Senate is the very one which would fit in best with Mr. Shatford's special qualifications for it. In finance it is doubtful whether there is his equal in the Legislature to-day, to say nothing of superior. This fact he has proven in numberless ways and with a degree of absolute conclusiveness that cannot be gainsaid. To substantiate this claim, it is scarcely necessary to mention the names Southern Okanagan Land Co., Bank of Vancouver, British Columbia Life Insurance Company and many others with which he has been identified and in some of which the success attained has been due almost entirely to his special effort and capability as a financier. In agriculture also he is almost equally strong, for although not what might be called a practical farmer or orchardist, his connection with the Southern Okanagan Land Company forced him into a study of the technique of fruit growing, and it must not be forgotten that fruit-going was the branch of agriculture in which Hon. Martin Burrell specialized, and it was recognized to be of sufficient importance to help to influence his choice.

Perhaps this may be all beside the question for we do not claim to know whether Mr. Shatford entertains any cabinet aspirations or whether cabinet preferment would fit in with his plans, for we have never discussed the matter with him: but we do know that the people of Similkameen want the honor for their riding and for their representative and that is sufficient warrant for us in putting forward the claim.

GOLF REDIVIVUS

Fresh Interest in Game Awakened by Local Challenge Match

Interest in local golf has been heightened by the arrangement made recently for permanent use of the grounds and the donation of cups for competition by Mr. I. L. Merrill, president of the Hedley Gold Mining Co. It received an additional boost by a local challenge match when R. James, secretary of the club, and W. Martin, the local scratch men, issued a challenge to play any other two members of the club a four-ball foursome and allow a stroke a hole handicap. The challenge was forthwith accepted by A. Megraw, vice-president of the club, on behalf of himself and another member of the club to be chosen and announced to the challengers the day preceding the match. The choice of partner for the game fell upon Miss Emily Jackson who has been playing steady golf for several weeks past.

The toss-up for honors was won by the challengers who took it for themselves, James driving off on the "saddle" hole and getting a clean lie about fifteen yards to the right of the green. Martin followed with a direct shot which gained the bank by a small margin but having a suggestion of a pull it got dangerously near the left bank hazard and dribbled down to the bottom. Miss Jackson sliced her drive into the hazard, barely missing the ravine to the right but made a splendid recovery and landed with her second near the green but dangerously near the left hazard. Megraw drove short but made the bank and had a safe lie. Martin also made a fine recovery and landed about 10 yards off the green. James was short on his approach; Megraw laid his second on the green and went down in one putt, getting the whole in three while the challengers each took four and Miss Jackson missing her first putt took a five, the hole being tied by her with the handicap and won by her partner without it. The second hole was made by the challengers in five and seven and by the defenders in five and eight leaving them two holes up with the handicap. The third hole was halved. In the fourth the defenders had serious trouble with their drives while the challengers got off to a good start and the hole was won by Martin with a five. The fifth hole saw excellent drives by James and Miss Jackson who both lay on the green and Miss Jackson halved it with him. The sixthhole was won by Megraw, making the defenders again two up. The seventh hole was also halved with James, although both defenders had serious trouble with their drives which cost a penalty stroke in both cases. On the eighth hole Miss Jackson again saved the situation with a half, and the ninth hole completing the first round of the course was won by Megraw, making it three up for the first spasm. The second round again opened auspiciously for the defenders when Miss Jackson took it in four and won it again without the handicap. They also won "Polaris" both partners being in the kill and leaving them five up. In the next hole the challengers were in serious trouble all the way and both defenders won it, one of them doing it without the handicap. This left them dormy with six up and six to play. The next hole "Corkscrew" was won by the defenders and the match was over, seven holes up and five to play. The balance of the round was played for practice and it was seen at the end that in this round Miss Jackson had cut 10 strokes off her score for the first round by making it in 54 and her partner also in making it in 52 had taken three strokes off the score for his first round.

The best ball score for the 13 holes of the match was as follows:

Challengers—4 5 7 5 3 6 6 4 8 5 5 8 6—72
Defenders —4 3 5 8 7 4 6 7 5 8 4 5 6 6—74

SECOND GRUBB MANIFESTO

After last week's paper was off the the press and mailed to subscribers we received a somewhat bulky envelope on which was printed "Hotel de Grubb" and which contained six copies of a printed "Notice to the Public" which was a rehash of what Mr. Grubb wrote us two weeks ago on the small-pox situation, only it contained several more paragraphs than the last and was altogether more long-winded, but did not look a bit more sincere nor more worthy of credence than the last. In fact it was less worthy of credence than the former although it was again signed "E.N. Grubb, Mayor of the Town of Oroville" and re-inforced by another signature, "Dr. F. S. Beale, Deputy County Health Officer". The reason why we say it was less worthy is that there was a possibility that when the first manifesto was sent out by the Mayor he may not have known anything about the new case of confluent small pox which had broken out there and which was quarantined on October 31, but this second manifesto is dated November 6, and no mention whatever is made of it. On the contrary the document discourses of "months ago, "mild cases" and "quarantined premises" and being a follow-up to the first which specified 30 days lapse since the last quarantine, there is no other inference to be taken than that the public are asked by these two officials to believe that there have been no new cases of small-pox in Oroville for 30 days plus 7 days since the last quarantine, whereas health authorities on this side have positive evidence to the contrary.

Mr. Grubb is a hotel proprietor and fancies that concealment will be best for him and his business. The Deputy County Health Officer we do not know; but we do know that he has allowed his name to go to a document which destroys all confidence or reliance which we might otherwise have been disposed to place in him. Both of them are making a mistake and we are quite sure that it was their attitude which showed Dr. Miller the necessity of taking the more drastic course for protecting this portion of the province, for he could have no confidence in any possibility of them employing the necessary means to cope with the disease. The quarantine hurts us all and while we have done all we could to protect ourselves and get rid of the quarantine, only part of what we had attempted to accomplish can be brought about until Oroville and the county in which it is situated make up their minds to get a new Mayor and new Deputy Health Officer who can rise above the dollar andcent consideration. At all events it will be necessary to receive some further assurance of a clean bill of health than any manifestoes which hereafter come from either of these gentlemen.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-west Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Dr. Jackson, dentist, will be in Hedley the latter part of next week.

Mrs. Sampson and children were down from the Nickel Plate on Friday last visiting Mrs. G. P. Jones.

J. R. Edmonds went to Alberta last week for another supply of beef cattle and is expected home about the 15th.

Arthur Freeman of Medicine Hat, brother of Mr. H. G. Freeman, came in last week to see his brother and have a look at Hedley.

The Nelson News has swallowed the Mayor Grubb dope about small-pox in Oroville. Wouldn't it be well for the News to get vaccinated internally?

Rev. A. H. Cameron returned to Keremeos on Monday for the first time since the small-pox outbreak there. He has conducted service every Sunday evening in Hedley during his stay here.

Rev. G. D. Griffiths of Princeton will hold Church of England services in Fraternity hall on Sunday next, 16th inst. Holy communion at 8 a.m.; morning service at 11 a. m. and evening service at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. H. G. Freeman was pleasantly surprised on Thursday last to receive a visit from her mother and sister, Mrs. Thos. Shortt and Miss Jennie Shortt, who came from Pasqua, Sask., as the visit was unexpected.

About half a dozen Hedley Orangemen took in the Guy Fawkes supper given by the Princeton Orangemen last week. The party was large enough to make a comfortable auto load and with that mode of conveyance they were able to get back in good time. All report a good time.

E. E. Burr while not so successful as some of the other Nimrods in getting his share of the deer, has scored a notch in bagging a wild goat back up on the mountain to the north of the Sirois ranch. In build it was a regular wind splitter and was apparently got up for the express purpose of walking along narrow ledges of rock that a more bulky animal dare not attempt.

When the two scratch men of the Hedley Golf Club challenged any other two members of the club to a four ball foursome and give a stroke a hole they started something. The challenge was forthwith accepted and the challengers went down to defeat. Since then the winners have had challenges raining in on them so fast they do not know what to do with them.

Mr. M. L. Gezon arrived in Hedley on Friday last from Vancouver to take the position of time-keeper and storekeeper at the mine. Mr. Owen Dickenson who arrived two weeks ago for a similar purpose did not remain and Mr. Wood who was expecting to get away was not relieved until Mr. Gezon's arrival. The line Mr. Dickenson had been taking was that of mining engineering and as his work here would not advance him in that direction he concluded to waste no time.

We have received a letter from Victor Voigt of Princeton complaining of the reference in last issue to the Joe Garrison incident. It appears we were misinformed in some of the minor details and the main inaccuracy he points out is that constable Wolford and his wife were on horseback when the horses were frightened, and not driving as stated in the paragraph. He also denies that the car which was driven by himself was being handled in a manner to deliberately frighten the horses, but ascribes the whole trouble to the shooting. These corrections it appears to us should be made in all fairness to him, although the tone of his letter was both impertinent and offensive, and for that reason we would have been justified in taking no notice of it.

The fire alarm rang on Tuesday evening for a little blaze in the roof of the white cottage at the end of the old foot bridge, now occupied by E. Michell. The hose team made a speedy turnout but it was not necessary to begin laying hose line as prompt action of Allen Galbraith and J. Mairhofer had it checked. The old menace of stove-pipe through the roof, and the pipe separating, was the cause. A brisk fire in the heater from a pitchy stick made Mrs. Michell suspicious and she sent one of the boys out to see. Thus the trouble was noticed before the blaze broke out and it was all on the outside. She also had a ladder up and water ready for Allen Galbraith when he got there. The occurrence shows the necessity of another hydrant or fire plug over about the bridge.

The gypsies who were here last week and enjoyed the hospitality of the baseball grounds for a camping place and George Riddle's wood pile for fuel, forebore their thieving propensities on the night they were here because they were too closely watched, but the number of chickens which disappeared from local coops on the night following showed that they had doubled back on their tracks for a night invasion that was only too successful. No clothes lines that we have heard of were raided and circumstances bear out the impression conveyed by their personal appearance that they had no liking for laundried apparel.

out this small-pox, and restrict it to the narrowest limits. That was not done, the disease has gradually spread, and at last it has required the energetic actions of physicians from a neighboring country to set our people an example, and that a humiliating one.

"What first attracted the Canadian officials to Okanagan county was the appearance of small-pox at Keremeos, where several cases have broken out. Physicians traced up the source of the disease and discovered that the first victim was a woman who had stopped in a lodging house in Oroville, where the first case in this place broke out. The presence of small-pox at Keremeos was followed by exaggerated reports of the number of cases in Oroville, and a member of the Provincial Board of Health came all the way from Victoria especially to make a thorough examination of conditions. He found that there were only a very few cases in and about Oroville, but what aroused him and his associates was the discovery that the rooms from which patients had been removed had not been fumigated and disinfected, or no apparent effort made at strict quarantine, which was declared to be nothing short of criminal negligence, a menace not only to the health of the community, but to all who are compelled to stay in Oroville over night. It might be hard to fix the responsibility for such shocking carelessness in the United States. It would not take long in Canada to fasten the responsibility on the right person, and after once established such punishment as would prevent repetition of the same oversight would be meted out, and meted out swiftly.

"However, notwithstanding the action of the Canadian authorities, the small-pox situation is not causing any great uneasiness in this place. It has never taken the form of an epidemic, and it is believed that if the proper precautions had been taken in the first place the disease would have spent its force and disappeared with the first patient."

KEREMEOS, the Centre of Lower Similkameen---Famed for Fruit Growing

Town and Lower Valley.

Dave Innis was a visitor to Hedley Monday last.

Babe Kruger of Fairview is special constable for train 396 at Chopaka.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Clarke will hold their masquerade dance on Friday the 14th.

Robert Lee of Greenwood spent the week end with his cousin, Ed. Lee, of this town.

Miss Ella McKenzie of Keremeos is visiting her brother the Rev. Geo. McKenzie at East Collingwood near Vancouver.

Rev. J. A. Cleland of Penticton will hold Church of England services in the school house the last Sunday in the month.

J. C. Goupil of Vernon, who has been working most of the summer on the Similkameen Fruit Lands Company's property, returned home the 10th.

The regular Assembly dance will take place in the town hall on Friday the 5th December. Also on the 21st of this month the boys hope to have a nice little dance as a kind of preliminary.

J. F. Madore, blacksmith, wishes to state to the skating public that he will be at home to all kinds of skates. Having set up an emory wheel for the occasion, he will guarantee satisfaction in the sharpening of skates.

The members of the Women's Institute, will hold a "sale of work" in the town hall the evening of the 21st. As well as fancy work for sale there will be home-made cookery which many, especially the bachelors, should take advantage of.

There has been a regular nuisance of late in town caused by dogs which are allowed to roam at will all through the night. Many of the citizens are getting their shot guns ready, so those owning the noble creatures should see that the canines are safe abed before they roll in themselves.

We are pleased to report no other cases of small-pox. We are lucky, we must admit, to have held it down to the three. Nearly all in the district, as far as we have been able to find out, have been vaccinated. Some have had very sore arms which have given them a real tough time, especially among the little fellows. Dr. Miller left for the coast last week after putting in a strenuous time in the valley. Another doctor is expected in to take his place shortly. The trains are still under guard of the special constables and no one is allowed to cross the line unless he shows his vaccination certificate.

William Mattice of Winnipeg writing to his brother Albert here, states that the car loads of apples received on the Winnipeg market were the best quality the dealers had ever handled. The Macintosh Reds nearly caused a stampede. One gentleman, a prominent Winnipeg business man, seeing some of these apples at the exhibition, wrote a letter to Mr. J. J. Armstrong to the effect that it was the most beautiful fruit he had ever seen. This certainly sounds good for the valley. We are not able at the present to send men and pay them to be continually at exhibitions held at different points in the Dominion, for the heavy expense would fall on so few shoulders; nevertheless our fruit cannot be beaten. The district is free from blight or diseases of any tree description even the old orchards planted twenty to twenty-five years ago have never had the slightest of tree diseases. This of course tends to give us the very best fruit that can be grown. Now it is up to the growers to look carefully after their orchards and see that this good record of the best fruit and cleanest orchards, is kept up and handed on as time goes by.

LARGE CONTRACT AWARDED

Messrs Armstrong, Morrison & Co. to Build Sub-Structure of Bridge at Hope

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 7.—Messrs. Armstrong, Morrison & Co., of Vancouver were the successful tenderers for the contracts for building the substructure for the big Kettle Valley bridge which will span the Fraser River at Hope. The announcement was made by Mr. J. J. Warren, president of the Kettle Valley Railway, this evening. There were a number of tenders submitted, but the local firm carried off the contract.

Mr. Warren stated that the new bridge would be 1,000 feet long, and he estimated cost when completed will be between $575,000 and $1,000,000. The present contract is only for the sub-structure, the upper portion of the big bridge being left to a later period. By means of the bridge the Kettle Valley line will connect with the main line of the C. P. R.
