ON SIXTEEN MILE CREEK

What is to be Seen at the Oregon Mineral Claim.

A PROMISING COPPER PROPERTY

Good Showing for Limited Amount of Work Done.—Copper the Principal Metal.—Favorable Situation For Economical Working.

While there are two trails to reach the Oregon the best is by Eighteen-mile creek and Camp Rest. This trail, although rough in spots and also steep, is nothing for steepness compared with that by way of Sixteen-mile, on which the grade is so steep in places that the horses slide down. From Camp Rest, on the Eighteen-mile trail, there is good going for about two miles southward to the Oregon, which is situated on the watershed between Eighteen-mile and Sixteen-mile.

THE OREGON

was staked in 1903 by Tom Anderson, who was out prospecting for himself and I. L. Deardorf. The location line of the Oregon is in a southwesterly and northeasterly direction, and this from surface indications would appear to be the trend of the ore body, as the country rock, a light-colored eruptive, which may be chipped off anywhere, shows strong indications of copper.

A few days after it was staked a working bond was taken on it by M. K. Rodgers for the Yale Mining Co. They did a few days' work on it—not more than a prospector would do for one assessment—and threw up the bond, principally, it is believed, because the gold values were only between $2 and $3. Some nice copper specimens, both bornite and chalcopyrite, come from this cut.

Shortly afterwards Anderson disposed of his interest to F. H. French, who in turn disposed of half his holding to L. W. Shatford, M. P. P. The owners put in several open cuts along the supposed trend of the ore body and obtained a showing in each case similar to that in the first open cut. At one point further down the hill they started a tunnel, although there was no evidence from surface indications that better results would be obtained here than elsewhere. For the first ten feet or so the rock along the sides and roof of the tunnel bears a rather hungry appearance; even the favorable surface indications having to a considerable extent disappeared, but further on a decided improvement takes place, the rock changing in character and strong mineralization being in evidence. Near the face of the tunnel a rib of solid bornite 8 or 10 inches thick is encountered and the whole face of the tunnel is of rock well mineralized throughout with chalcopyrite. This tunnel is in about 30 feet. A sample across the face is said to have given 9.75% copper, 9.5 ozs. silver and a little over $1.00 in gold.

Adjoining the Oregon on the northeast is the Savage, of which Geo. Cahill owns a half interest, I. L. Deardorf a quarter and Messrs. Shatford and French an eighth each, while to the southwest and down the hill towards the Similkameen river, lies the Two Sisters claim, owned by J. K. Robinson. The St. Bernard joins on the northwest and the Winchester on the southeast. The Oregon is the centre of the group and lies on the face of a steep hill-side, but either the extent or the trend of the ore body is yet an unknown quantity and development work is needed to determine it. Little attention, too, seems to have been given to determine either the identity or the chemical composition of the rock. A few analyses of the rock should be made as well as the preparation of slides for petrographical examination under the microscope, and much more development work is required as well as numerous tests for value. The general favorable appearance of the property would certainly warrant it all.

C. P. R. AT IT AGAIN

Dog in the Manger Tactics at Midway.

BUILDS FENCE ACROSS V.V. & E. TRACK.

Midway, Oct. 4.—The Canadian Pacific and Great Northern have come to a clash in this district. Late last Saturday afternoon a Canadian Pacific work-train pulled into this place with a large gang of men aboard. The workmen proceeded to a spot on the V. V. & E. in the neighborhood of Jackson's ranch, about four miles from Midway. There they built a high fence of heavy timbers right across the right-of-way. Notices were also posted prohibiting trespassing under penalty of prosecution.

This morning the graders employed by the V. V. & E. arrived, tore down the fences and proceeded with the work of crossing the lots claimed by the Canadian Pacific.

Nothing further had developed at noon, but it is expected that there will be lively times within the next couple of days.

The Midway Star gives later details as follows: "The railway situation here is reported to be developing in a very interesting manner. A couple of days ago a C. P. R. lawyer, a provincial land surveyor and two policemen, armed with tents and other paraphernalia indicative of a prolonged stay, encamped on the V. V. & E. right of way where it crosses land belonging to the C. P. R.

IMPORTANT CHANGES

Mark the Annual General Meeting of The Daly Reduction Co.

Last week the Gazette made reference to the arrival in Hedley of principal stock-holders in the Daly Reduction Co. but at the time of going to press nothing definite had been given out. The occasion was the annual general meeting of the share-holders, held in the offices of the company here on October 4th, at which most of the stock was represented by proxy.

The directors elected by the shareholders were:

Marcus Daly and J. C. Lalor, New York; C. A. Crawford, Anaconda, Mont.; J G Morony, Grand Falls, Mont. and A. J. Campbell, Butte, Mont.

At the directors' meeting which followed, the officers elected were:

Pres. and Treas., J. C. Lalor.
Vice-Pres., Marcus Daly
Secretary, C. A. Crawford.
Asst. Secy., A. J. Campbell,
General Manager and Superintendent, R. B. Lamb.

The Daly Reduction Company is incorporated under the Companies' Act, British Columbia, and owns all the plant used in the reduction of the ores of the Nickel Plate mine, including mill, power-house, flume, tramways, (both gravity and electric) ore bins etc.—in fact all to the mouth of the mine tunnels. The mine and other mineral claims belong to the Yale Mining Company, incorporated under the laws of the state of Montana and registered in British Columbia as an extra-provincial company, and is at present under the management of M. K. Rodgers.

THE NEW MANAGER,

Mr. R. B. Lamb, is an Australian by birth, has spent all his life in the mining and reduction business, both in Australia and in the United States, and is eminently qualified to take hold of the concern. Under his management the company look for a record for economical extraction, and there is good reason to believe that they will not look in vain. During the past few days he has been taking his bearings and re-organizing his forces.

That important improvements in the plant are contemplated is quite evident, but what these will consist of remains to be seen. In all probability neither the manager nor the directors themselves have yet fully decided what they shall be.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION MEETS

Arrangements Made for a Match on Thanksgiving Day.—By-laws Adopted.—Match Rules.

The Hedley Rifle Association met in Fraser's hall on Saturday night.

The committee on membership handed in the completed roll, showing a round two dozen members.

The committee on by-laws also presented a full set of by-laws, rules and regulations based largely on those in force in the D. R. A. and B. C. Provincial Associations, modifying where local conditions rendered the others inapplicable. These met with the views of the association and were accordingly adopted.

The standing committee to arrange matches announced that a handsome cup was to be procured by the association to be competed for at the regular monthly matches, and to become the property of the member who wins the same three times in succession by the highest aggregate score at all ranges. In addition to the cup, there will be five money prizes awarded at each match for the highest five aggregate scores, the first prize being 40% of total cash collected for such match, second prize 25%, third prize 15%, and 2 prizes of 10% each. The entrance fee for competition in money prizes will be $2.50 and for the cup 50 cents in addition to entrance to money prizes, although any member who may not wish to shoot for the money prizes, but to compete for the cup only, may do so on payment of the entrance fee of 50c.

The first match will be held on Thanksgiving Day, commencing at 9 o'clock sharp, and the ranges shot will be 200, 300 and 400 yards, the first to be off-hand and the others any military position; head to target. Any rifle may be used, with Lyman or open sights, but telescope sights are barred. B. C. R. A. rules will govern.

A Liberal Dissents.

The Dundas Banner (Liberal) has too much respect for representative government to uphold the high-handed course that has been pursued in the new province of Saskatchewan. The Banner says:

F.W.G. Haultain held too prominent a position as premier of the Northwest Territories to be ignored by Lieutenant Governor Forget on the formation of the new provinces. He had been the choice of the people for years, and had served them with considerable ability. He was a member of the executive council and premier of the Northwest Territories when the new provinces came into existence. To ignore him on the formation of the provisional government was simply to repudiate representative government. To appoint a man as premier who was not the choice of the people and not their representative in any sense was simply to ignore the people. It it true Mr. Haultain opposed the autonomy bills, but as premier of the new province he would have been powerless to repudiate its constitution which embodies certain legal rights and privileges for Roman Catholics. Under representative government, and as the premier of the Territories, he was the proper person to organize one of the new governments. In selecting Walter Scott, who had no seat in the old council, Lieutenant Governor Forget became autocratic and simply told the people that representative government did not exist, and that they did not rule.

The articles by Lawson on Frenzied Finance in Everybody's magazine gain interest month by month, and the October instalment of the story is able, catchy, and convincing. To Canadians who are but slightly acquainted with even the salient features of the great Montana contest and the roles played therein by W. A. Clark and F. A. Heinze, the pen pictures of these men given by Lawson are certainly very striking and no doubt thoroughly accurate as all his other statements seem to have been. Heinze we have had some opportunity of knowing in Southern British Columbia from his connection with Rossland camp, and even ventricose Paddy O'Farrel, Heinze's Boswell, comes in for a share of attention. Lawson describes O'Farrel as a "newspaper outcast living by his wits," but most Rosslanders would have considered the description more accurate if he had used the word 'cheek' instead of 'wits.' In life insurance, the people of the United States owe to Lawson a debt of gratitude for the unmasking of men of the Hyde, McCall and Perkins kidney, and it is to be hoped that Canadians will profit by the lesson taught them and find out a little more about what they are going into before patronizing these rotten foreign concerns like the Equitable New York Life. Even Nevada where prize fights could be pulled off after every other place was closed to the pugilistic refugees, has out-lawed the New York Life.

James Dunsmuir has thrown up his option on the Nicola coal fields. Coast papers in referring to it quote Mr. Dunsmuir as saying that he is better satisfied than ever with the Island coal after seeing that of the Nicola, but there may be other considerations influencing him in the decision as well as a comparative estimate of the value of the different class of coal. Dunsmuir although a fighter never seeks the entrance to a "quarrel" and by going into Nicola it would be only a matter of a little time until he would find himself locked horns with either the C. P. R. or the Great Northern, and most likely with both.

Anonymous Correspondence.

When anonymous correspondence appears in a newspaper, the purport of which is to get a drive at somebody, it can pretty safely be counted on that the editor has been writing letters to himself, for in about 60 cases out of a hundred that is what is happening. In about 30 cases out of a hundred it is some cultus irresponsible mischief-maker who has found an editor as weak and cultus as himself to allow him to do it. The remaining one per cent. is probably genuine, where the public good may be served by a man who has a message to deliver, and who may not be in a position to disclose his identity. In almost every such case, however, it is not at all necessary to place upon any genuine article the brand or stigma of sneaky anonymity, for if the editor is not weak and cowardly he will accept the responsibilities laid upon him by virtue of the position which he holds, and taking the ideas contained in such a letter, incorporate them in an article of his own, thus making himself and his paper responsible. The genuine citizen who has an idea to advance will sign his own name and where is the editor who has a spark of manliness about him who will refuse to publish any such a letter even if it is a vivisection of himself? But as for anonymous scurrility, the proper place for such is the waste paper basket. Either this or return to the writer "declined with thanks." The decent publisher owes a duty not only to himself but to his brethren of the press to keep his columns clean, and this he can never do if he consorts with cutthroats and back-stabbers of the anonymous breed. In a very few cases the Gazette has incurred ill-will by refusing to be a vehicle for this sort of petty malice; but it is all right, for self-respect is too high a price to pay for the friendship of anonymous scribblers, and the Gazette simply refuses to pay it.

He Remembered.

(New York Tribune.)

"Robert," said a teacher of one of the lower classes during a reading lesson, according to Lippincott's Magazine, "please read the first sentence." A diminutive lad arose to his feet, and, amid a series of labored gasps, breathed forth the following: "See the horse runnin'!" "Don't forget the 'g,' Robert," admonished the teacher. "Gee! see the horse runnin'," said Robert patiently.

Town and District.

M. K. Rodgers went out on Saturday, bound for the coast.

Barney Guest went over to Fairview Saturday to help attend the sick.

The C. P. R. do not expect to reach Coutlee until March next.

Homer McLean was in town on Monday, having ridden over from Penticton.

Mrs. S. L. Smith has been ill during the past two weeks, but at last reports was much better.

Govt. agent Hugh Hunter is in town this week and the provincial money bags will swell their sides accordingly.

The Hedley contingent to the Fair returned on Tuesday night. Roll-call is deferred until next stage to allow remaining stragglers to fall in.

Engineer Baldwin of the V. V. & E. admits that the route through the Coquihalla is practicable on a grade not exceeding two per cent, but says that there will be heavy work.

Glanders is rampant among horses at Peachland. Nineteen head were destroyed one day last week and a lot more suspects are penned up on a 40 days' quarantine.

J. J. Marks has the Gazette's thanks for a tender, juicy roast of venison and a plump, fat blue grouse brought in on Saturday, which came in fine for a Sunday dinner.

The V. V. & E. surveyors are making good progress in revision of the line of survey at this point so as to run all trains through the town instead of having to back in from across the river on a spur.

J. H. Bromley was down last week from the ranch. He had heard that his brother Joe was among the typhoid patients in Fairview, but obtained word over the 'phone that he was all right.

Dr. Mathison, dentist of Greenwood, came in on Saturday night, and is practicing at the Hotel Similkameen. He will remain until about the 22nd of October. The doctor likes this part of the province, and perhaps he could be induced to remain here.

The Daly Reduction Company are applying for 5,000 inches of water from the Similkameen River to be taken from the stream at a point ten miles up and returned to the stream at Twenty Mile, the water to be used for industrial and domestic purposes.

Several miners from the Apex were in town this week heading back to the Boundary. Most of the Apex crew were recuited in the Boundary, and possibly felt a little too much out of the world on Independence Mountain to make up their minds to remain there all winter.

Much of the outside work about the Daly Reduction Company's plant these days is in getting ready for winter. The penstocks running up the hill from the power house are being protected from the frost, and the work of double-boarding the flume will soon be completed.

The telephone exchange was completed last week. There were some sixteen instruments installed to commence with, and this will possibly reach two dozen in the course of a few months. The more subscribers there are the greater degree of usefulness to those who are subscribers.

The mill hands in the Daly Reduction Company's stamp mill will henceforth be short their usual Sunday's rest, for the new management intends to keep the stamps dropping constantly Sunday and Saturday until they wear out. Last Sunday the mill ran full power all day, and this is to be the programme right through from this on.

It was not the Gazette's intention to convey the idea that Mr. Hunter was at all responsible for the issuance of those inquisitorial income tax schedules. The document was prepared in Victoria and Mr. Hunter has no more option in the matter of sending them out than he has objection to collect all that is collectable, so don't pull any wry faces but shell out when he comes round.

Rev. A. J. Fowlie was presented with a purse containing $75.00 by the people of Princeton on his departure. This was certainly white on the part of the people of that town and on Mr. Fowlie's part the courtesy was well-deserved. Had the people of Hedley known of it there are quite a number who would have been pleased to contribute. To take a similar action on their own behalf was out of the question as they knew nothing of Mr. Fowlie's intention of leaving until the the Sunday evening when he came to preach his farewell sermon and he intended to go out next day.

Jas. McEvoy and O. L. Spencer, coal experts from Fernie, were in town on Tuesday, coming in by Tuesday's flyer from Midway. They were on their way through to the Nicola coal fields. Mr. McEvoy is chief geologist for the Crow's Nest Coal Company, and is fairly familiar with the Similkameen, having made a trip through here in 1888. Mr. Spencer has also had a prior knowledge of the Similkameen, having journeyed through several years ago. On Tuesday they had a run over the mill and works of the Daly Reduction Company in company with the Gazette, but did not have time to go up to the mine. Mr. McEvoy will make an examination of the Similkameen and Nicola coal beds.

Mr. L. G. MacHaffie, manager of the Bank of B. N. A., received word on Thursday last of the death from typhoid fever of G. H. Winter which took place in the hospital at Prince Albert on October 2nd. As relieving agent and one of the inspectors of the bank he had gone to Rosthern to relieve the manager there, when he was taken sick. Mr. MacHaffie had not heard of his illness and had only a few days before received an interesting chatty letter from him in which no mention had been made of illness. It seems but a short time since he left Hedley after opening up the branch here, of which he was for a short time acting manager; and business men in Hedley have pleasant recollections of his courteous manner and kindly disposition. In his death the Bank of B. N. A. lose a valuable officer who had always at heart the welfare of the Bank and was ever loyal to its interests.

Southern Okanagan Land Co.

Speaking of the most note-worthy features of display inside the buildings at the Dominion Fair, the Columbian says:

Southern Okanagan is rapidly coming to the front for its peaches. A small but highly interesting display of this delicious fruit together with apples, pears, grapes and plums is invitingly displayed in the exhibit made by the Southern Okanagan Land company. The booth is attractively arranged showing a number of excellent photographs of Penticton, the thriving town at the foot of the lake, and orchard, meadow and lake scenes on the lands of the Southern Okanagan Land Company. The company owns a tract of 30,000 acres of arable and pasture land in the heart of the Southern Okanagan valley, stretching from Penticton to the International boundary line. This land has been subdivided into five and ten acre plots and an extensive irrigation system is now in course of construction. To give an instance of the productiveness of the soil there is in an orchard on the company's land a most prolific cherry tree, which is also the largest one in the province. This tree is in the habit of yielding in the neighborhood of $100 worth of cherries every season. In an exceptionally productive year, when prices, too, were high, the tree netted its owner over $150. The company making the exhibit has at its head two very enterprising directors in the persons of L. W. and W. T. Shatford.

A nice line of Boys' 2 piece Norfolk and double breasted sample suits will be sold at reasonable prices.—CAMPBELL AND SHIER.

THE BOARD OF TRADE

Fire Protection Main Topic Of Discussion.

INQUIRIES ABOUT CRIBWORK

Bridges Needing Attention.—Matter of Procuring Fire Hose.—Protection of Fire Plugs, Water Taps, etc.

The October meeting of the Board of Trade was held in Fraser's Hall on Monday evening.

J. D. Brass, vice-president, was in the chair.

The minutes of previous meeting being duly read and disposed of, the secretary's account of $3.28 for postage etc. was presented and ordered to be paid.

The question of having the crib-work on the creek duly attended, to during low water this fall, was discussed at some length and finally the secretary was instructed to write the representative, Mr. Shatford, in reference to the same.

Mr. Fraser said that samples of fire hose had been procured, and that one grade which was 75 cents per foot appeared to be suitable for the work that would be required of it here, but that with the cost of freight added a sum exceeding $400, would be necessary to procure 400 feet. The fire committee appointed at the public meeting had intended making a canvass to ascertain what amount of money could be raised to procure hose etc., but owing to the fact that the sports committee for the Labor Day celebration had canvassed the town for funds about the same time they didn't think it wise to attempt raising money for fire protection.

Boom Broke.

Last week witnessed an exceptional rainfall. The rain on Monday night caused a very marked rise in the water of the Similkameen river and Wednesday night's heavy and continuous rain increased it still more, with the result that the boom broke, letting out a quantity of logs. On Thursday morning the report was around town that all the logs had broken away, and other reports gave it 150,000 feet, but on inquiry it was learned from the proprietors that only 50,000 feet had broken away, and men were dispatched to stretch a boom across the river to catch them before they had passed Hedley. Thus the loss was trivial, but might have amounted to a great deal but for the vigilence maintained. For a while the river was rising at the rate of an inch every ten minutes. The Similkameen is a tough customer when filled up with too much liquid, as mill men have found to their cost.
