T. R. H. the Duke and Duchess of Connaught Pay Visit

A WELL MANAGED RECEPTION

Royal Salute Civic Address—Duke Reviews Veterans, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and School Children—Views Fruit Lots from Auto

Pentiction did herself proud in the welcome extended on Friday last to H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, the Duchess and their daughter Princess Patricia, and the Royal party certainly strengthened the feeling in favor of monarchical institutions within the empire in the minds of those who turned out to join in the welcome.

It was the privilege of the editor of the Gazette to journey over and be present on the occasion and now that it is all over and we are back again to the daily grind we feel well repaid in the pleasant memory left by the event.

It is estimated that between 2000 and 3000 were present and all points between Pentiction and the boundary line were represented, while from Oroville there were said to have been several auto loads. The town was gaily decked with bunting and evergreens and a stranger in the town that morning could find evidence on all hands of a general inclination to tidy up. The corporation had men on cutting the weeds on some vacant lots and in other parts thrifty housewives were even handling the garden rake.

A reception committee appointed at a public meeting had been doing good work; the municipal council too had important duties to discharge and so far as could be seen they were equal to the part required of them. Altogether the welcome was well planned and details were so well foreseen and provided for that it was very evident the town had been fortunate in possessing a guiding spirit that knew the proper thing to do and had the energy to do it. The choice of marshal or master of ceremonies was particularly apt and so far as a visitor could see the lion's share of the credit was due to Police Magistrate Guernsey who discharged that important function. His military instinct and training stood him in good service, and after all when you want precision and smoothness there is nothing so wholesome and effective as a little spice of the military in the ordering of ceremonial even among civilians. Marshal Guernsey's muster of veterans and ex-soldiers was an unqualified success as about forty responded to his invitation, and the Boy Scouts and the Girl Guides lent a tone of finish to the military end of the affair while the fine turnout of school kiddies and the vim with which they sang "The Maple Leaf Forever" was a delightful finishing touch. To one who has had a taste of barrackroom life and can appreciate barrackroom punctuality it was most refreshing to see how orderly and punctually the muster of these four units was effected and the line drawn up on the wharf, the whole not occupying more than about five minutes, and at the end of about another minute or two after the composite line was formed to receive his Highness, the steamer which bore him was moored at the dock. The veterans were on the right of the line with the Boy Scouts next, the Girl Guides next, and the school children on the left.

The landing was made opposite the veterans and the gangway of the steamer interfered a bit with the centre of their line but not sufficient to make confusion. On the landing of the steamer the band played "God Save the King" after which his Highness was received with a royal salute, the veterans saluting and the Boy Scouts presenting arms. The municipal address of welcome was read by the town clerk after which his Highness replied and next proceeded to inspect the veterans going along the line of both ranks and speaking to each man in succession. In this connection a pleasing incident was noticed when on the special invitation of the marshal, Miss Hancock a local lady who had seen service in South Africa as nurse, had taken up her position on the left of the line of veterans and thus came in for a word from His Highness with the rest, while the Duchess engaged her in conversation for some time. On taking leave of the veterans his Highness thanked Mr. Guernsey for the pleasure afforded him of meeting with the men and his leave taking of the other units was equally kindly, while the Duchess and Princess Patricia made warm friends of all.

After the reception and review autos were on hand to take the Duke and his suite for a drive down to Lake Skaha and up over the benches, after which they returned to the steamer Okanagan on which they remained all night.

A dance was given by the Aquatic Club to which the Governor General's suite was invited and many of them attended.

Possibly the feature of the whole occasion which most impressed the writer was the simplicity and absence of all formality on the part of the royal party and every member of their suite, for there was not even the semblance of fuss and feather to be seen anywhere. In dress, in manner and in the kindly interest they displayed in everything, the Duke and his family were at one with the people who had turned out to welcome them. If

"Politeness is to do and say the kindest thing in the kindest way" the Duke early learned the lesson and practiced it all his life until it has become a part of himself. Not only so but it has led him to seek out the same trait in others with the result that in the members of his suite is to be seen the same kindly consideration for others. Especially was this seen in the case of his secretary Col. Lowther who had practically all to do with making arrangements for his visit to the various places. A enough from the Grenadier Guards, a corps that is supposed to be strong on ceremonial and credited moreover with turning out martinet with some of whom Canada has had some experience in the past. Col. Lowther has proven the very opposite on this tour and many will have occasion to remember his kind consideration. A little incident may be related which though trivial in itself conveyed a great deal to the writer who witnessed it, and we are sure Capt. Esterbrook will not mind us relating it by way of illustration as it is not meant to reflect on him in any way and does not. In the dusk of the evening after the party had returned from their trip over the benches and the Duke had gone to his quarters Col. Lowther was standing on the wharf talking to Hon. Martin Burrell and the writer when Captain Esterbrook, of the Steamer Okanagan, approached and asked him whether it would not be proper for him to take down the royal standard. Col. Lowther replied quickly but kindly "Oh no, that flies day and night" and then after a short pause added "I think; but wait a little bit and I will find out and let you know." Now the Colonel, it was plain, was never in any doubt about it, and there was nothing at all singular in a Canadian captain in the merchant marine not being posted on that particular point of ceremonial. Clearly it was kindness which prompted Col. Lowther to feign indecision; but at all events the standard was not taken down and it was there flying at the masthead at dawn the next morning.

MINING NOTES

The August net profits of the British Columbia Copper company were $30,000 or $10,000 less than in July owing to the lower grade of ore treated during the month. The costs are said to be 9 cents a pound. The company has increased the wages of the miners 25 cents a day on a sliding scale basis. When copper reaches 18 cents another similar advance will be granted.

The 15 stamp mill of the Jewel mine over in the Boundary is now in full operation and the Phoenix Pioneer says the first clean-up is soon to be made and a most satisfactory one was anticipated, if not assured. Concentrates having a value of $125 have been shipped. The vein is from 2 to 4 feet in thickness.

REO REACHES HEDLEY

Wilby Looking Hale and Hearty is Now Speeding for Vancouver

Just as we are going to press superintendent Turner with Mr. Wilby on board speeded into town in Turner's Case car. They were pacing the Reo in which Mr. Wilby has made the long trip from Halifax. The Reo was on the road and was accompanied by John R. Jackson's car from Greenwood. A little later the Jackson car with J. R. Jackson, M. P. P., T. D. Pickard and Chief Constable Dismore on board drove in with the word that the Reo had sustained a puncture and they were changing the tire.

Mr. Wilby is now in a position to know something about the roads in Canada and he says British Columbia's roads are by all odds the best in the Dominion. In some places he had to ship the car where there were no roads at all and in other places they took the railroad for it and bumped along on the ties, tearing their tires all to pieces. As the Nelson News put it Mr. Wilby told them there that they were "Like birds in a golden cage" for there is no communication with Nelson except by train or boat. Mr. Wilby's diary of the trip should make a most interesting volume.

A FINE HIGHWAY

From all the reports that have come to hand as to the great improvement of the roads in the Similkameen district the Gazette was prepared to see something nice during the auto ride from Keremeos to Pentiction but this was a case in which anticipation fell far short of the real thing. It was a Thursday evening the trip was made, and the car that was on the route that evening was Welby's 30 horse power Case. The car which had been out of commission a few days before owing to broken piston rings in the cylinder had recently been fitted to new ones and was working stiff for the first part of the distance.

Owing to road repairs that were being made between the station and the Centre on the route past the school house the driver took the west route and from the top of the hill in to the Central Hotel a piece of road recently widened and finished off by Bob McCurdy's gang is a fair sample of the quality of roads that are now insisted on by the Public Works Department. The road up Keremeos Creek built by Danny McEachern's gang shows long stretches of beautiful roadway fit in many places for a public park and establishing Danny's reputation as a high class road builder.

Many of the hills have been cut out and new stretches of roadway on easy grades and curvatures and beautifully rounded off from ditch to crown have replaced them. The only places that remain to remind one of the old order of things are the long steep hills just before coming to Fish Lake and the Green Mountain hill. Fine work again has been done by L. A. Clark's gang along by the Indian reserves before the road strikes down Beaver Creek. On this portion a grader and roller were used and appear to have accomplished very good work.

If superintendent Turner is getting as good work from road foremen in other parts of the riding as that now to be found between Keremeos and Pentiction he and Mr. Shafford should be happy men and we can readily understand why the engineer from the Public Works department who was through here a short time ago expressed his satisfaction with the way appropriations in the Similkameen riding were being laid out. Effort should be made to have the Premier and Minister of Public Works pay a visit to the riding and see for themselves for being so believing and we are sure they would have reason to continue the good work in this riding for there is some encouragement to vote money for public improvements when there is evidence that proper value is obtained for it.

On the return trip made in the crisp morning when the roads were in this ideal condition and the engine running truly it only took an hour and forty minutes to make the run from the Hotel Incola in Pentiction to the Central Hotel in Keremeos.

ACCOMPANIES THE DUKE

Hon. Martin Burrell Accompanies the Duke of Connaught and Suite Through his Constituency.

Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, and Mrs. Burrell are accompanying the Duke and Duchess of Connaught on their tour through the interior of the province, or at least as far as Nelson which they were to reach on Monday last.

Mr. Burrell joined the ducal party at Victoria and it was eminently fitting that as cabinet minister for the province he should accompany the Governor General through a portion of it at least, and it was especially fitting that the itinerary through his own constituency should be of that portion. It was a circumstance which pleased his constituents when they met him there.

Hon. Mr. Burrell will spend a few days at his old home in Grand Forks, after which he will have to hurry back to Ottawa to get his department ready for the opening of the session next month. He has had a busy time since he took charge of the department of Agriculture and he expects a busy time in the session now coming on. While he has no information to give out concerning the naval programme for the coming session he expressed confidence that the announcement which the Premier would make on that question when the House assembles would not disappoint his friends.

EXORBITANT RATES

Keremeos fruitgrowers are far from being satisfied with the service and the rates they are getting from the Great Northern railway but particularly are the rates coming in for strong disapproval. The feature about which most dissatisfaction exists is that Okanagan fruitgrowers are much better served by the C. P. R. The rate charged from Keremeos by the Great Northern is 40c per hundred on potatoes and 65c on apples while the rate from Pentiction to the coast by the C. P. R. is 25c per hundred on potatoes and 40c per hundred on apples. This is a heavy handicap for the fruitgrower in the Okanagan to have over the fruitgrower in the Similkameen and it is time the Great Northern were looking into the matter for it should be to their interest to endeavor to encourage the industries of fruitgrowing and market gardening instead of trying to strangle the life out of each of them in that manner. The comparison of the rates in the two cases is certainly a surprise and it goes to beat out the charge so frequently made that the Great Northern officials are in the habit of studying out the cost of production with a view to charging all the industry will stand and making their freight charges accordingly.

GENERAL NEWS

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is continuing his tour through Ontario.

The cruiser Niobe is to sail for England shortly. She has been in drydock for about a year and officers and crew are said to be jubilant at the prospect of getting back to England again.

Both sides are watching with interest the by-election in McDonald, Manitoba. Hon. Robert Rogers has been in the riding and addressed the electors in the interests of the government candidate.

The Provincial Government of British Columbia have fully decided to abolish the poll-tax. A modification of it was desirable, but its entire abolition in the case of those who pay no other tax would seem to be a piece of mistaken leniency.

A usurer in Vancouver named Abraham D. Goldstein (sounds Irish doesn't it?) charges $100 interest on a note for $500 for two months.

The immigration figures month by month show a great increase of the volume of immigration into Canada during the present year over that of any former year. The increase over last year is fifteen per cent.

Judge Murphy of the Supreme Court has handed out a written judgement that the British Columbia Companies Act is intra vires.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Referring to the complaint made in last week's issue as to the condition of the government telephone line through this district it is most desirable that the matter be at once brought to the attention of the head of the department having to do with the maintenance and operation of government telegraphs and telephones. During the last administration there was complaint enough about mismanagement of the telephone, and local and district superintendents were denounced right and left, but the mulishness of the district superintendent increased in like ratio with the vehemence of the complainants and little or no betterment resulted. Surely the present administration in their over-anxiety to avoid the charge of using the axe do not want to perpetuate a state of affairs for which their predecessors were in some measure made to suffer, and if the present failures are due to the retention of those who acted in the past as if they do not care a whoop how things are going, then it would be well for those at the head who are justly to be held responsible for these failures to reconsider their policy. What the public want is efficiency and reasonable protection from mishap from neglect. In these days of auto travel, overhanging wires threatening decapitation becomes a serious matter and wants to be looked after without any nonsense either on the part of departmental heads or of subordinates.

Fruitgrowers in British Columbia have had an object lesson this year as to what reciprocity would have done for them if Canada had been foolish enough to have humored Sir Wilfrid Laurier and some others of his venerable associates in this piece of waywardness peculiar to second childhood. American peaches have been shipped in to Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver at a valuation as low in some cases as 18½ cents per box which with the duty added makes a price for local fruitgrowers to compete against that is most disastrous, and here we have peaches by the ton rotting in the orchards at Keremeos and Penticton because of lack of a market and too high freight rates. And while all this is happening the Toronto Globe is lying to the Grits all over Canada that there has been a backset to the peach industry in British Columbia and because of so many trees being frost-killed the supply is not equal to the demand. Yet only a year ago we had dwellers in the Similkameen who were so hidebound to party and so willing to follow their party no matter where it would lead them that they wanted fruitgrowers in the Similkameen to vote for reciprocity which would have let American peaches and apples in here free of duty. The Gazette recalls at the present moment a couple of timely articles on the effect of reciprocity on both the peach and apple industry of this and the Okanagan valley which were presented just a year ago in argument of the question by Mr. W. T. Shatford of Penticton, and if ever a man had his views borne out by the cold logic of subsequent facts it was Mr. Shatford in that instance. Still we have Sir Wilfrid Laurier (the same Wilfrid who told the fruit and vegetable growers of Ontario that they must be prepared to be sacrificed) even yet persisting in his wayward obstinacy and declaring that reciprocity with the United States is the goal he has in view.

NOTICE

Liquor Act, 1910

Town and District.

Monday, October 28th has been proclaimed Thanksgiving Day.

Chief constable Dinsmore was in Hedley this week inspecting hotels.

Mr. Humphreys the district superintendent of immigration went up the line on Tuesday.

Mrs. Bruce Rolls and her two children arrived in Hedley on Saturday to rejoin her husband.

Mrs. MacKenzie, wife of Rev. MacKenzie, accompanied her husband to Hedley on Saturday.

Jimmy Cody went to Vancouver on Monday where he expected to undergo an operation for varicose veins.

Mr. and Mrs. Joyner are going to Seattle shortly and have let the Rodgers residence or a portion of it to E. H. Williams.

Mrs. Lowe came up from Victoria to see her daughter at Keremnos and to visit old friends in the Similkameen was in Hedley last week.

Word has been received that H. A. Hincks formerly manager of the Bank of B. N. A. here is quitting the service of the Bank at Victoria and will engage in ranching in that locality.

The Great Northern bridge gang are in the valley making some repairs to bridges and this week they are giving their attention to the bridge over the Similkameen this side of Bulldog Brown's.

Tom Henderson and Dave are going to the coast and intend to walk it over the Hope trail. It was their intention to make the start today and it is to be hoped that their luck will keep them clear of any snowstorm which is liable to come in earliest at this time of the year.

One of the cottages of the lower town at the mine which was used as a bunk house by some of the men was burned down on Friday night last. Being some distance away from the works the company carried no insurance on these cottages. The fire is said to have originated with some paint that was on the stove catching fire.

T. C. Brooke of Princeton passed through Hedley on his way to and from Princeton where he went to help to do honor to the Duke. In the veteran's parade he met Hatfield of Kaleden who was in the same column for a considerable part of the campaign in South Africa, Hatfield being with the first Canadian contingent while T. C. was with the Shropshires.

An aggregation called the Hawaiian Novelty Co. held the boards in Fraternity Hall on Tuesday evening. There are conflicting reports as to the merits of the performance, the conflict for the most part being about the degree of punkness. Not being present the editor offers no opinion.

Carloads of contractors' supplies in the way of lumber, tents, etc. have been going up the line during the past week and it is reported that the contractors Guthrie & McDougall have sublet all of it and many of the sub-contractors had in turn given out station work to men who are already on the ground.

There is a law in mechanics that you can gain speed only at the expense of power and power at the expense of speed. Equally inexorable is the law in finance that as the interest increases the security decreases. If it is protection and security you want in life insurance then don't choose the institution whose greed for high interest will make it select speculative investments for its funds.

Is it a regulation of the Education department that the British flag shall be flown on all school houses in the province or is it not? If it is, why is the flag not in evidence at the Hedley school? It is true no doubt that the rope has been stolen but there are other ropes to be had, and as the school has now been open a month since the rope disappeared there has surely been time to get another.

A pleasant social event was the "At Home" at the hospital given by Miss Allen the matron on Friday last. The door was opened by Miss Patten for the many guests who were received by Miss Allen, assisted by Mrs. Gomer P. Jones. Mrs. F. H. French poured tea in the dining room while Miss Elizabeth Clare and Miss Edith Bradshaw served refreshments to the first comers, the later guests being served by Misses Florence Messenger and Doris Lyall. The decorations which were very pretty and tastefully arranged, consisted principally of sweet peas, asters, marguerites and autumn leaves.

Lee Lee who is one of the oldest and most popular types in the local Chinese colony left last week for China where his mother has recently died. He has been a long time in B. C. and having attended to the matter of tidying up the Bank of B. N. A. premises every morning ever since the Bank opened in Hedley, he claims to be the oldest member of the Bank of B. N. A. staff. A picture which he had taken some time ago in banking attire was an amusing production.

Sunday, October 13th will be the hundredth anniversary of the death of General Brock on the field of Queenston Heights and tomorrow the 11th should be made the occasion for special exercises in all Canadian schools in commemoration of the event. It is proper that Canadian children should keep green the memory of Sir Isaac Brock, and the story of the capture of Fort Detroit and the repulse of the enemy on Queenston Heights even at so great cost should be retold in all schools, at this time. If ever they sang "The Maple Leaf" and especially the stanza "At Queenston Heights and Lundy's Lane" now is the time it should not be omitted.

G. H. Whiteman will henceforth represent the Princeton Coal & Land Co. in Vancouver. The class of coal they are now able to supply by reason of the facilities which they have for classifying and sorting is enabling them to put a grade of coal on the market which can hold its own anywhere. In superintendent Holden they have a man who thoroughly understands the operation of collieries and now that he has been provided with the necessary appliances for grading, the colliery is fast redeeming the mistake in yielding to the clamor for coal which caused them to attempt to supply the demand before they were ready to fill orders and guarantee the quality which would enable them to do justice to themselves. So well is the reputation of the coal now established that the orders coming in have made it necessary for them to increase the working force by 50 more hands.

The stockholder is no more a necessity to a life insurance company than a bedbug is to the fair damsel or swain off whom he may choose to feed. The history of the Mutual Life of Canada proves this for it never had a dollar of stock, and after 42 years of business its assets which were only a little over $8000 in 1870 are now considerably over seventeen millions. Some stock companies whose shorter business career happened to cover the years of Canada's boom time have been able to make greater relative progress in the volume of business written. So was the Titanic able to make a greater mileage in the few days of its career than many a less pretentious craft that has landed its cargoes voyage by voyage in safety in all kinds of weather, and so also the Mauretania which has not yet met disaster.

Constable Sproule left on Saturday for Kamloops where the summary trial of Blair and McGillivray is to take place at the fall assizes. The uncertainty as to time of trial which has prevailed during the past three weeks has tended to make the evidence less complete than it might otherwise have been had it been known definitely that there would be no postponement to the spring assizes. The main witnesses from here were Orr and Waddell who lost the money, L. C. Rolls, who saw the hiding and finding of a portion of it, and the waiter at the Grand Union to whom one of the culprits did some indiscreet talking. Of course Sproule himself is the main witness. It is rumored that the bar-tender McLennan who was friendly with them and who was behind the bar at the time the offence is supposed to have been committed in front of it was not to be found but it is possible this may not be correct. He was originally called as witness for the defence and his evidence did not appear to be of special importance.

A few days ago J. R. Edmond discovered that two of his hogs were missing which were kept in a corral near the slaughter house and on making a search for them he found one that had been shot through the body with a rifle bullet of about 30.30 calibre. The manner in which some of the bones had been shattered by the bullet that had killed the animal left no doubt that it was a heavier bullet than a 22 or any of the smaller bores of hunting rifle. Whether the thing had been done accidentally or not is something which he cannot say but he is of the impression that it must have been some one who had been shooting at crows that are frequently to be found around the slaughter house and was too careless or irresponsible to note where the bullets were going. Under the circumstances he is obliged to prohibit shooting on the premises altogether, and in the meantime it will be in order to try and locate the guilty party and compel him to put up the loss, for full grown hogs run into money these times.
