AS OTHERS SEE US

The whimsical expression of an old politician, that "England is always going to the dogs but she never goes" has been the text of a good many editorials during the past month. The American press which has been wont to regard Mr. Bull as a somewhat decadent old party is now sending its respects to John and the family. The following extract from the Chicago Tribune is one of the finest of its kind, touching as it does in its closing words the pivotal point of the whole matter—that intrinsic republicanism which is deeper than external forms.

"A wonderful wave of enthusiasm and loyalty is passing over India," said the Marquis of Crewe, secretary of state for India, in Parliament, a few days ago.

"Native Indian troops will be employed in the war in Europe," is, in substance, the declaration made by Earl Kitchener, war minister.

Indian troops anxious to fight in war for Great Britain!

Irishmen, Ulsterites and Nationalists, ready to help the Empire!

Australia prohibiting the export of food anywhere except to the Mother Country!

Canada preparing to send a strong contingent!

The same story in England, Scotland, Ireland, and all the dominions and colonies!

What a queer, queer thing the British Empire is when you come to think of it!

In ordinary times you would naturally judge from the way Ireland and the dominions and colonies talk about Great Britain that the poor old country didn't have a friend on earth.

In ordinary times some part of the British Empire is always berating the Home Government.

In times of peace everybody feels at liberty to assume a possible revolution in India; separation of the dominions and all sorts of other disastrous things.

In time of peace the Empire is always more or less "doomed," according to the statements of many gloom-laden British subjects.

But in times of war how suddenly things look up in that queer, queer British Empire!

"I haven't a thing to take back", says Ireland, "but, under the circumstances, kindly show me the enemy as soon as possible. I want to get at him."

"Yours of recent date received," says Canada. "Am sending men as fast as they can be gotten ready and transportation secured."

"Reserving for a more auspicious time any hatred a part of our population justifiably bears England," says South Africa, "we are prepared to do our utmost in the present war." "Serious local dissatisfaction will arise, sahib, unless Indians are permitted to give their lives for the honorable Empire, now that it is at war with a foreign nation", says India.

It's everywhere the same story. In peace, it's "Confound your stupid, flat-headed, doomed, arrogant soul!" In time of need it's "Count on us to the limit!"

Which is why we say that the British Empire is a queer, queer institution!

In reality there is nothing queer about it.

The undoubted truth of the matter is that the words "British Empire" stands for the greatest republic the world has ever seen.

SAID HANNA TO LUCAS TO BECK

It is generally believed that the late Sir James Whitney will be succeeded by Hon. W. H. Hearst or Hon. I. B. Lucas with the odds in favor of Hearst. Lucas is one of the youngest and brainiest men in the Ontario cabinet with a facile tongue and a most embarrassing memory for indiscreet utterances of the Liberal organs. Lucas eats and sleeps with the Liberal papers and treasures up their sayings in his heart. When he begins to quote from the files of the Toronto Globe or the Manitoba Free Press, the more godly of his opponents bow their heads in agony of spirit; the rude fellows of the baser sort pass out for a "shot" of liquid nourishment; while the Tories sit up and enjoy the banquet. Besides this talent for making the opposition squirm, "I. B." has shown himself, since being called into the cabinet, to be possessed of genuine qualities of constructive statesmanship. However there is a strong probability of his being regarded as too young for the leadership of the party. If Hearst is chosen for the Premiership, it will be a clear case of a third choice being raised over the heads of first raters in the interests of cohesion. Hanna and Beck are the logical leaders of the provincial party, but Hanna will not serve under Beck—nor will Beck be led by Hanna. Foy and Pyne are too old; Lucas is too young. Hearst is a "middleweight, but a good mixer"; hence the choice, should he fall heir to Sir James' mantle.

Death is sacred: don't tack six or eight stanzas of doggerel to an obituary notice.

When you find your subscription expired send us two dollars: we might want it to buy a hymn book. We will bless you, Heaven will bless you and it will do a great deal of good. N. B. Send the two dollars, not the hymn book.

Don't write us a diatribe on the gum chewing habit. If your daughter "chews", harness her jaw and run the sewing machine with it.

Write us an occasional letter if only to cuss us. We do not mind being cussed, provided you think better of it later and send us a barrel of apples to square yourself.

Be sure to sign your name to all communications. An anonymous letter is the most contemptible thing in the world; it has neither a body to be kicked nor a soul to be damned.

Lowery says, "when someone visits you or you intend leaving town, tell your local paper. The former fact will be of interest to your friends and the latter to your creditors."

Tell us real news and your confidence will be respected. We do not believe in publishing petty scandal any more than we believe in lurching out of a garage can.

Imbibe deeply of your local paper. There is nothing intoxicating about it. Don't knock your home town: they who wield the hammer shall perish by the hammer.

Don't "turn gooseflesh" whenever you are asked for five dollars toward some public enterprise and then make matters worse by declaring that it is against your religion to give. It is against some men's religion to contribute money to anything.

Where Do You Shop?

Do you shop in a brisk, active store, or in a dull store?

Advertising makes bright stores. Failure to advertise goes hand in hand with dullness and stagnation.

Advertising brushes away cobwebs and dust, smartens shop windows, quickens the intelligence of salesmen, and lets in the sunlight.

Advertising makes the merchant think of you—of your wants and needs; makes him anxious to serve you to your liking and advantage.

Advertising keeps stock from having birthdays.

Advertising acquaints you with new things, and so brightens your home, your life, your person.

Advertising keeps a business from growing lazy and stupid. Advertising injects good red blood into the arteries of a business, and keeps it healthful and active.

Shop where your wants and needs are uppermost in the mind of the merchant. Shop in the store which reflects you, which you dominate. Shop where your money returns to you in better goods, better values, better service.

Shun the shop that is dumb and dark and dreary; keep away from the shop that never speaks to you, never smiles at you, never bothers about you.

Reward by your custom the merchant who lives to serve you, and who is doing his utmost to build up this community; who takes you into his confidence by means of advertisements in your local newspapers.

Smile back at the shop which smiles at you. Shake hands with it—keep company with it—your favor will be returned to you tenfold.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any good advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Building. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write, if interested.

We were pleased to hear a few days ago that the case of Dave Lawley whose sight was ruined in an accident at the mine last year is not so hopeless after all. While he has already learned the Braille alphabet and is able to read and write with considerable facility, every effort is being made to restore his sight. A new pupil has been grafted onto one of his eyes. While further operations and subsequent treatment will be necessary before success can be expected, he can already distinguish light from darkness and his condition is not without hope.

At the last meeting of the Hospital Board the much-mooted question of the electric sterilizer and the X-ray instrument was finally disposed of by the purchase of the equipment. After a thorough investigation on the part of the committee, an order was placed for a Cole Golden-Flame X-ray instrument and a solid aluminium sterilizer with an electric heating element. The apparatus was purchased by the committee at a very reasonable figure and as its installation will not require any additional equipment at the hospital, the cost is negligible in comparison to its value in moments of emergency.

Fine weather keeps the deer on the higher ranges with the result that local hunters are getting plenty of exercise and not much venison. About the only deer that have come into town of late were a pair of "five pointers" one of which was purchased from Charlie Richter by Anton Winkler and the other from a miner at the Nickel Plate by John Jackson. If the deer will not come to the sportsmen, the sportsmen are beginning to go to the deer. "TIPPERARY"

We publish by general request the words of the British marching song, "Tipperary". Nobody seems to know exactly how this song came to be adopted by Tommy Atkins to beguile the long hours of his weary marches; but "Tipperary" it is: so learn the words. You will need them often in the next six months.

Up to mighty London came an Irish man one day,
As the streets are paved with gold,
Sure everyone was gay:
Singing songs of Piccadilly, Strand and Leicester Square,
Till Paddy got excited, then he shouted to them there:

CHORUS

It's a long way to Tipperary,
It a long way to go,
It's a long way to Tipperary,
To the sweetest girl I know,
Goodbye Piccadilly, farewell Leicester Square;
It's a long way to Tipperary,
But my heart's right there.
Paddy wrote a letter to his Irish Molly O Saying, "Should you not receive it write and let me know:
"If I make mistakes in spelling, Molly dear," said he,
"Remember, it's the pen that's bad; don't lay the blame to me."
CHORUS—It's a long way etc.

Molly wrote a neat reply to Irish Paddy O, Saying "Mike Maloney wants to marry me, and so
"Leave the Strand and Piccadilly or you'll be to blame,
"For love has fairly drove me silly, hoping you're the same."

Don't forget to call around and see Ezra Mills. What about that stove? If you have anyone coming to spend Thanksgiving, don't tire yourself out cooking a big dinner, but come and bring your friends with you to the Thanksgiving Supper in the Town Hall, given by the Ladies Aid. Supper will be ready at six, which will give you a long evening without a thought of clearing away and washing dishes. Price 50 cents.

The committee appointed to look after the details of the local branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund met on Monday night. The treasurer reported that the sum of $178,000 had been raised at the concert. It was decided to open subscription lists under two headings, one for those who wish to subscribe a lump sum at the present time, and one which will cover a monthly payment, there being many who wish to donate in this way on account of their inability to give at once as much as they would like. A system has been inaugurated in some places where the amount of one day's pay per month has been subscribed. This second list will give an opportunity to those who wish to give by installments. The lists will be published from time to time.

The concert held in the Town Hall on Thursday, Oct. 1st, under the auspices of the local branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund exceeded all expectations in regard to attendance. Fully one hundred and seventy or more were present, and yet there were many well known faces absent. The hall was tastefully decorated with flags and bunting, mingled with evergreens and sumach. The hall commenced to fill about eight o'clock and before half past all the chairs were taken up and long planking had to be brought in to make improvised seats. The Daily Reduction's auto arrived from Hedley with Mr. Walter Beam, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Wallis Knowles, and Messrs. Lonsdale, Burnes, Huneke and Prior. The kindness shown by their presence was very much appreciated. For the first part of the programme Mr. T. W. Coleman acted as chairman, his place being taken by Mr. R. H. Carmichael after the interval. "God Save the King", brought the people to their feet in an instant, and Keremeos' first patriotic concert was on. The programme was made up of both old and new patriotic songs and music, the rendering of which was especially good and the pleasure of the audience was shown by loud applause. During the interval the local boy scouts under Rev. F. H. Stanton, very creditably performed the Fireman's Drill, First Aid work, etc., to the delight of the audience. The boys have only been organized for a couple of weeks and this performance merely an earnest of other things they are anxiously awaiting to learn. The committee desire to thank the people for the way they responded to the call to join in the noble work of helping to support the homes of our gallant soldiers now fighting in Europe. It was very few who took the advantage of the minimum admission fee of fifty cents. A pleasing feature of the evening was the presence of one veteran, J. A. (Joe) Brown, in the uniform of the South African campaign; and it made us proud to know that we have at least one amongst us who shared in our country's glory. The refreshments were served directly after the concert and congratulations are due the committee who had the arrangement so excellently in hand. The dance which followed was not a success, according to the way the committee had figured it. The music was to have been provided by local musicians but to the committee's sorrow there was a sad lack of enthusiastic players, and it was a hard proposition to keep the "ball rolling." The committee wish to express their deep appreciation to Mrs. Tom Daly for her unselfishness, in not only acting as accompanist for almost the entire concert, but playing for dance after dance while others who could have helped sat by and made no effort to do so. However, in spite of mingled joy and sorrow, the concert as a whole was a splendid success.

WORST PHASE OF THE WAR

The war has given rise to a lot of blank verse and blanker prose. Since the outbreak of the struggle in Europe much ink has been shed, much sleep lost and much perfectly good paper spoiled in the composition of war odes, coopered together without regard for the English grammar or respect for the English tongue. They are not poetry; they are merely prose gone wrong,—cramped into a metrical form to the obscurement of their meaning, the detriment of their vigor and the extreme grief of the reader. In the phrase of a certain writer; "Some will serve for sixty days; And some will be forgotten; A few may nearly merit praise; But most are frankly rotten."

We publish below a few of the better class which, for one reason or another, are worth reading. Some are new and some are not.

The following spirited lines are somewhat crude but they possess a sensational vigor of expression almost akin to Kipling's own.

ROLL UP
 "Roll up the map of Europe!"
 The German Kaiser cried,
 "For I'm the new Napoleon,
 An' England's 'ands are tied."
 But another sort of rollin' up
 Is coming into play—
 "Roll up! Roll up!" sez Kitchener,
 And we're rollin' up all day.
 'E thought, did Kaiser William,
 That England would stand by
 While 'e and 'is five million
 Were crushin' 'er ally;
 "For they 'aven't got the men," 'e said
 "To fight acrost the seas."
 "Roll up! Roll up!" sez Kitchener,
 "New Army, forward, please!"
 Yes 'e wants a Second Army—
 'E's goin' to get it, too;
 For we know the man that call us,
 An' we trust 'im thro' and thro'.
 We're steppin' up from everywhere,
 To the tune of the old tow-row,
 "Roll up! Roll up!" sez Kitchener
 "It's King and Country, now."
 An' while we do our part 'ere,
 We'll think with love an' pride
 Of our comrades now a rallyin'
 Acrost the oceans wide.
 For East an' West an' furthest South
 They hear K.'s call resound—
 "Roll up! Roll up for England!"
 An' they're rollin' up all round!
 —W.M.L. Hutchinson

The poem below speaks for itself; it is a real gem of its kind, and undoubtedly one of the best compositions which have appeared on the war. It is the work of Mr. H. Chappell, a railway porter of Bath.

You boasted the day, and you toasted
 the Day,
 And now the Day has come.
 Blasphemer, braggart and coward all,
 Little you reck of the numbing ball,
 The blasting shell, or the "white arms"
 fall,
 As they speed poor humans home.
 You spied for the Day, and you lied
 for the Day,
 And woke the Day's red spleen.
 Monster, who asked God's aid Divine,
 Then strewed his seas with the ghost-
 mine;
 Not all the waters of the Rhine
 Can wash thy foul hands clean.
 You dreamed for the Day, you schemed for the Day,
 Watch how the Day will go,
 Slayer of age and youth and prime (Defenseless slain for never a crime)
 Thou art steeped in blood as a hog in slime,
 False friend and cowardly foe.
 You have sown for the Day, you have grown for the Day
 Yours is the harvest red.
 Can you hear the groans and the awful cries?
 Can you see the heap of slain that lies,
 And sightless turned to the flame-split skies
 The glassy eyes of the dead?
 You have wronged for the Day, you have longed for the Day
 That lit the awful flame.
 'Tis nothing to you that hill and plain Yield sheaves of dead men amid the grain;
 That widows mourn for their loved ones slain,
 And mothers curse thy name.
 But after the Day there's a price to pay
 For the sleepers under the sod,
 And He you have mocked for many a day—
 Listen, and hear what he has to say:
 "Vengeance is mine, I will repay."
 What can you say to God?

 Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta,
 the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of the Province of

 In surveyed territory the land must be de-applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

 Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights

 ing rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.
 The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

WE'VE GOT THE BUSINESS AND THERE IS GOOD REASON WHY

If we were to be here to-day and pack up and go tomorrow we could perhaps afford to run our business along slipshod lines. We are here, however, to build a business. This we intend to do by stocking high-grade goods and selling at a low margin of profit.

FORWARD ALL!

This is a time of crisis, a time for readjustment, a time for quick action,
 a time for greater efficiency—

But Not a Time for the Curtailment of Good Advertising

Canadian advertisers are face to face with an opportunity. Sad it is that this opportunity is evolved through blood and tears; but not to take advantage of it is to fail in a real duty to the Empire.

Some businesses—chiefly those dependent upon imports—must suffer;
 but for every business that suffers, ten will prosper. Never has business been less interrupted by a great war.

Re-adjust your business to advantage of new openings. Grasp now the markets that must look to you as never before. Make a more efficient use of advertising. Use the newspaper to better advantage. You can find Your opportunities in this situation If You Look For Them.

Efficient, carefully-planned and properly-prepared newspaper advertising will open the way for you.
