VIEWING THE KINGSTON

Managing Director Clabon
Pays Visit to the Mine

POWER PLANT BEING CONSIDERED

New Workings on Metropolitan—Further Development on Kingston Claim—
Engineer Watson Examines.

The visit to the mine of A. B. Clabon, Managing Director of the Kingston Gold-Copper mining Co. last week, was hailed as an indication that development work is going to go forward on a bigger scale than heretofore. Since his last visit here in July Mr. Clabon has been east through the Cobalt and Gowganda camps and also to New York and Montreal.

About a week ago he had an engineer Mr. Watson in Camp Hedley looking over the Kingston group with a view to laying out future development as well as looking over the ground with a view to ascertaining what development plant will be most needed, and arrangements will soon be made for installing a compressor and tramway.

There is now on various dumps on the property a considerable amount of shipping ore, much of it very high grade, for ore that will go over $100 per ton must be regarded as particularly high grade and there is some that will go considerably over that.

Recently a new opening was made on the Metropolitan about 300 feet west of the other showing. Already a shaft has been put down in it to the depth of about 15 feet and splendid results obtained. The values which Mr. Pollock has been getting in it are much better than what he found with the same amount of work in the place where he started in nearly a year ago and from which such excellent results followed as frequently described in these columns. The exceptionally good results which followed development on the Metropolitan have taken attention away from the Kingston claim and Mr. Clabon has decided to have work resumed there in following out certain well-marked indications where there is promise of new and important ore bodies being shown up to add to the reserves already blocked out on the various claims of the group.

When a developing plant is installed things will move more rapidly than heretofore although Mr. Pollock has surprised everyone with the amount of development work which he has accomplished by hand drills in such hard rock.

PROGRESS OF WORK ON GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

Contractor Welch Denies There is Serious Shortage of Men.

Vancouver, Sept. 9.—P. Welch of the firm of Foley, Welch & Stewart, railway contractors, arrived yesterday from Spokane on a trip to meet Mr. Stewart, who was to have come south from Prince Rupert yesterday. Mr. Stewart was delayed, however, and will not be here until Saturday.

Speaking regarding the work in the North, Mr. Welch declared that there was no truth whatever in the report that there is a serious shortage of men for railway construction work. "We are employing between 3,000 and 3,800 men on our contracts up there," he said, "and for our present needs that number is sufficient." Although not closely associated with the work in the North, Mr. Welch said he had understood that it was being carried on as rapidly as possible, and that all the construction now started was being pushed. Preparations were now under way for starting the Copper River-Aldermere contract, and several boat loads of material were sent up the river last week.

Spokane International fruit fair promises to be better this year than ever before. A prominent feature will be the mineral display and the visit of the American Mining Institute.

TROUBLE OVER BALL GAME

The Sports Committ and the Chronicle at Ours 'About Make-Up of Similkameen Team

Just as we were all hugging ourselves about the success of the Labor Day Sports and handing each other bouquets upon the reputation Hedley had won by handing out fair play and courteous treatment to all contestants, a bomb-shell was hurled into the camp in the shape of a baseball kick by Br'er Brown, of the Chronicle. The committee that had to do with the baseball arrangements and the baseballers themselves didn't seem to like it and have handed the Gazette a letter in reply which appears underneath. The Gazette was not conversant with details concerning arrangements for the game and hence had decided to let the matter pass; but as the letter has been handed in, and the writer of it is in a position to know what he is talking about, we have decided to put it in, relaxing for the moment the rule which we have followed of requiring writers to sign their own name. Of course it has created a little diversion by giving outsiders an opportunity to josh the Hedley baseballers on the Chronicle's assumption that the Similkameen team was composed of two distinct parts, a head and a tail, and the line of demarcation was where Keremeos ended and Hedley began. It has also given rise to sundry invitations to Hedley members of the caudal appendage of the Similkameen team to "set em up" with Keremeos' share of the prize money which they were alleged to have retained. But now we must quit joshing for "one of the committee" has told us in all seriousness just how the thing stands. The letter says:

To the Editor of the Gazette

Dear Sir:

I wish to contradict a statement appearing in last week's issue of the Keremeos Chronicle regarding the baseball game played at Hedley on Labor Day. The Chronicle apparently has a personal spite against the way the team was arranged or it would not make a statement which it must know to be untrue. Hedley ballplayers recognized some weeks ago that they had insufficient strength to play against the Great Northern also against the mine, both of which teams reported having secured professionals, and the Keremeos team was consulted with the idea of combining, to make a good game, and to call the team a Similkameen team. This was agreed by most of the Keremeos team who knew that they stood no chance of a look in if the opposing teams turned out in the strength expected. On Saturday prior to Labor Day, J. A. Brown, manager of the Keremeos baseball team, was telephoned as to combining the teams; his reply was as follows:

"Am bringing a team, could use three or four of your men," signed J. A. Brown, thus approving of the combine. It was strange the manager of the Keremeos team had not previously arranged his line up.

The captain and most prominent of the Keremeos team were in Hedley on the Sunday and wished to know what was doing so they and the Hedley boys picked the best players from each team giving no preference (evidently this is the Chronicle's complaint), but with the object anyhow to put up a good fight. The score came as a great surprise to the Similkameen team, who expected a much more closely contested game by the reports circulated. The Chronicle by making the following statement shows its entire ignorance of the arrangements thus its editor should guard against making such an ironical mistake.

"By this astute scheme the Hedleyites roped in the glory and prize money that they could not have otherwise secured."

The writer acknowledges that the main strength of the team were of Keremeos, the captain being of Keremeos, the prize money was handed to the captain who split it up and handed each player his $11.00; as to the glory, if there be any, any broad minded person would see that it was shared by the players and by no one else. I think the Chronicle owes an apology for such rough words when he knows they were so entirely untrue.

ONE OF THE COMMITTEE.

WHO OWNS IT

Dominion Official On Canada's Claim to Pole

SIR J. G. WARD ON DEFENCE

Makes Stirring Speech at Vancouver—
Emphasizes Necessity for Retaining
Three Power Naval Standard—All
Red Line

Nelson News

Vancouver, Sept. 9.—James White, chief geographer of the dominion, was here to day with a party of British scientists. He made a statement intimating that Canada had a claim to the lands in the vicinity of the North pole, claimed by Cook and Peary as belonging to the United States by right of discovery.

He said: "All islands of the Arctic ocean east of the 141st meridian form part of the dominion even though they are for all practical purposes uninhabited and inaccessible. Title by discovery is a low form of title, especially when made by a subject of a country not specifically commissioned to annex the new lands on a voyage of discovery."

Mr. White says that in 1882 the imperial government transferred to Canada all the lands and islands in British North America not previously included in the dominion or Newfoundland. The order was intentionally made sweeping and included Booths, Baffin, Bismere, and Victoria islands.

Interviewed regarding the rival claims of Cook and Peary concerning the finding of the pole, he replied that he accepted Peary's statements as they appeared to him to be founded on possibility because of his probable route. Cook's claim Mr. White did not seem inclined to accept.

Sir Joseph Ward, premier of New Zealand, gave a stirring imperial address before the Canadian club this afternoon. He said that true imperial consolidation could not be obtained in a short time and that Britishers in all parts of the world must be brought to understand that despite the peace prevailing for so long that once a match had kindled a flame in one part of the empire every other part would be drawn into the blaze.

Concerning the navy he claimed that the British fleet must be equal to any three other powers. New Zealand has made her offer for imperial defence and he doubted not but that Canada would loyally do her portion towards sustaining the empire on the sea. In 50 years the Dominion would have as full strength and power as England and it was specially incumbent of the Ottawa authorities to aid according to Canada's present position. The greatest danger to England in time of war would be the cutting off of her supplies and for this purpose a strong fleet was demanded to preserve connections.

President Ward closed with an eloquent appeal for the institution of the All Red steamship route and cable service. He specially emphasized the latter as a means of banding the colonies together and said that while the vested interests of the present concerns in the field should not be jeopardized minimum rates should be obtained in some way.

ROD AND GUN FOR SEPTEMBER

September is noted for Duck hunting and the numerous sportsmen who pursue this form of sport with ardour will find their favorite recreation dealt with in ample fashion in the September issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, at Woodstock, Ont. This healthy and invigorating sport receives fine treatment in stories of duck hunting in Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, goose hunting in the west and papers on the ruffed grouse as found in British Columbia and Ontario. Light travel and holiday sketches, with fishing papers give variety and interest to the issue. Dog lovers will welcome a further paper by Mr. Clapham dealing with the Airedale terrier. Altogether no better companion for the sportsman either at home, in camp, or on his travels, can be secured than a copy of this fine issue.

A STRAIGHT TIP

That Active Railway Building Will Begin on the Oroville-Brewster Section in a Few Days

The Oroville Gazette has an able-bodied hunch that dirt will be flying in a few days on the Lower Okanagan and that the Oroville-Wenatchee cut-off is soon to become an accomplished fact. The Gazette says:

"The way the information upon which this item is founded reached the community, and filtered into this office is thuswise: A gentleman who resided in Oroville several years ago left here to take the position of bookkeeper for a large firm engaged in railroad construction work. Last Friday a resident of this place received a letter from this bookkeeper in which it was stated that he expected to be in Oroville, or on the Okanagan, with a grading outfit within two weeks.

"Surely one is justified in accepting this straightforward, voluntary statement of a plain intention, and upon the strength thereof publicly proclaim that in a given time, short is its limitation, the performance of a certain thing of large general importance would take place. The authority is quoted so that no one can accuse the paper of propping up hope on a flimsy pretext.

"This is not all, though enough to arouse lively expectations. The contractor who puts down steel on all new road construction in this upper country asked a conductor who has handled trains on his track laying work if he was willing to take the job of running the crew for rail laying on the Oroville-Brewster route, declaring the position would be open about Christmas. Now if track is to be laid at that date there must be some pretty lively road building between now and the holidays, and the beginning cannot be postponed any more days.

"Putting this and that together a fortnight hence for initiation of construction cannot be said to be too early a date for fixing that important event."

HOW TO PUSH A CAUSE

Work Late and Early—Study the Enemy and Advertise

In Washington State just across the line they have a "Made in Washington Association" of which the Seattle Manufacturers' Association is one of the most active branches. Recently they gave at the A. Y. P. a "made-in-Washington" dinner of which lengthy reports appeared in Seattle papers. The following paragraph clipped from the report will convey some idea of the spirit of the organization and explain in some measure, why it is bringing Washington manufactures to the front:

"The spirit of the Manufacturers' Association of Seattle ever has been that all competition must be met in price and quality and competition in the Seattle market has meant real competition by reason of water transportation from regions that have for years had manufacturing down to a minimum of cost, a condition not obtained in a country being developed as has been the case in this mighty Northwest Empire. It has been a full realization of this important condition that from the inception of this local association has, in our minds, made imperative the broadening of such an organization. Furthermore, we have ever held, and it is an undeniable fact, that the producer, whatever he may have to offer, can not expect any community to flock about him and insist on buying his product. It is and always has been incumbent upon such a man or men to have known the merits of their wares as this Made in Washington Day so admirably does. In short, in the rush and whirl of business of today, he must adopt the revised "Early to bed, and Early to rise," as follows:

Late to bed,
Early to rise,
Work like—
And advertise."

Phoenix steam laundry is in the hands of an assignee.

Near Enderby on the Stepney ranch this year a yield of 8,200 bushels of wheat was obtained from 200 acres.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

The death of Mr. E. H. Harriman, the great railway king, has removed one of the greatest personalities in modern finance. Many men have attained great wealth as the result of some fortunate investment rather than by any display of superior ability, but no one can view the career of Harriman with its constant round of success, without realizing that luck played a very small part in comparison with the transcendent ability of the man. It is true Roosevelt on one occasion dubbed him "an undesirable citizen", but if railway competition is a public benefit, almost any country could do with a few more such citizens as he was.

Now that the scrap is on between Cook and Peary as to who shall have the honor of discovering the north pole, the boasting paragraphs about new land being discovered near the pole of which the United States was going to take possession, read a trifle ridiculous, especially when the two appear to disagree as to the existence of any land that had not previously been known. In any event, as Dominion geographer White points out, if there is any land up there not hitherto reached it belongs to Canada, and any freshies like Dr. Cook running about in that region with their little flags are just so many vulgar trespassers.

STRATHCONA'S ADVENTURE

Was Mixed Up in Dangerous Runaway at Vernon—Someone Deserves Censure

W. R. Megaw's penchant for driving wild, mettlesome horses came very nearly proving his own undoing as well as that of Lord Strathcona and others who accompanied him on the drive. When his lordship was in Vernon last week, part of the entertainment was a drive to the Coldstream property and Long Lake, behind a pair of W. R. Megaw's prancers hitched to some sort of tallow-ho that in all probability the same horses and harness had never been hitched to before, for it was found at a time when too late to remedy the blunder, that the tongue was too short and allowed the rig to strike the horses when going down a steep hill. The result was a bad runaway in which Megaw sustained a broken leg and Lord Strathcona a bruised arm.

Much is made by Vernon newspapers of Megaw's horsemanship in steering the runaway horses into a barbed wire fence and upsetting the tallow-ho on top of its occupants instead of allowing them to plunge headlong down a steep incline; but that does not alter a whit the culpability of allowing such a rig-out to go out with such a party on such a drive.

Lord Strathcona is a man bordering on ninety years of age, who for his public services to Canada and the Empire, is often called "Canada's Grand Old Man," and the people of Canada have a right to expect that in his latter day journeyings about the dominion, some reasonable degree of precaution for his safety will be taken. Like the man who rocks the boat and sundry other indulgers in fool-hardy pastimes, the drivers of wild, half-trained horses are allowed too much latitude in this free country. If they would drive alone and risk only their own necks it wouldn't matter so much, although even then the safety of others who have to use the road is imperilled.

When a train wreck occurs there is an investigation and often an engineer, a conductor or a brakeman is indicted for manslaughter, who is not half as culpable as the horseman who will risk the lives of others behind wild, half-trained horses or with trappings improperly supervised. Mince matters as they will, the Strathcona incident must stand a disgrace to Vernon and to those who have to do with the entertainment of public men who are visitors to their town.

MARCUS DALY IN MEXICO

What is Being Done in Connection With Once Famous Mine.—Bad Place for a Pessimist.

(Mining and Scientific Press)

John B. Farish, of Denver, has made an examination of the Cinco Minas, famous antiquas in the Hostotipaquillo district of Jalisco, and as a result of his report the deal for the purchase of the mines by the Marcus Daly interests for $530,000 will be carried out. Mrs. Daly, head of the Daly estate, has made another payment on the purchase price, and has advanced considerable money for further development and for mining machinery. The Cinco Minas deal has been held up since last April, when Ernest A. Wiltsee, a New York mining engineer, sent to Mexico by the Daly estate, made an unfavorable report on the properties, recommending that the purchase be not made. In his report Mr. Farish reverses the Wiltsee finding, and sustains H. E. Crawford, the New York engineer who interested the Daly estate in the mines, predicting even a more important mining enterprise than pictured by Mr. Crawford. The new development in the mines, which has been in progress since last fall, has resulted in finding considerable rich ore and in opening big bodies of milling ore below the old workings, and in disclosing virgin ground at the same levels as previously worked. A five-stamp experimental plant will be erected at the properties, and later a 250-ton plant will be built. The Cinco Minas have a recorded production of many millions.

Town and District.

Frederick Keffer is expected in the Similkameen shortly.

The Star says that ex-governor Dewdney is to be married in England shortly.

O. H. Carl, of Keremeos, is making weekly trips with fruit to Hedley and Princeton.

D. McRae went out on Tuesday morning's stage for Merritt and may go to Vancouver before returning.

Mrs. Dr. Whillans left last week for the coast to visit friends in Vancouver and Victoria and take in the A. Y. P.

Messrs. H. H. Gervan, A. L. Coote and H. J. Wilson, of Chilliwack, were in town on Monday night, having ridden over the Hope trail.

The past month has made a record for drought. Everything is as dry as tinder, the dust inches deep, and the water in Twenty-Mile lake is fast receding.

The truck-layers have now passed Smith Creek, 7 miles from Hedley, on the way to Princeton, and have no more bridges or trestles ahead of them until they reach Wolf Creek.

The Kettle River and South Okanagan Pioneers' Society meet on Friday 17 at Fairview for their annual dinner and pow-wow. Mine host Harry Jones, of the Golden Gate hotel, will be caterer.

L. W. Shatford, M. P. P. leaves the hospital at Rochester, N. Y. the middle of this month for a short trip to Halifax. He will revisit Rochester on his return west and will be home early in October.

The first varnished and gilded car to reach Hedley was the private car of Supt. R. C. Morgan, of Spokane, which steamed in on Tuesday morning with Mr. Morgan on board, accompanied by J. H. Kennedy and A. H. Kellett.

The report of a contract having been let for grading between Princeton and Otter Flat lacks confirmation. The engineers hereabout have heard nothing of it although they admit the possibility of it. The right-of-way was negotiated some time ago as far as the Dominion twenty mile strip.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw and Miss Bradshaw are going out to the coast early in the week. They will take in the Spokane and Seattle fairs and visit Vancouver and Victoria. Mr. Bradshaw has designed the outing to celebrate the anniversary of their silver wedding.

A very successful opening dance was held on Monday night at the Hotel Similkameen to mark the beginning of the new management. Something over twenty couples were present which taxed the floor capacity and the music, piano and violin, supplied by various local artists, was particularly good. Altogether the function was most successful.

Frank Bille and his associates finished up a station contract for rock-work near Bromley's last week. The take which they had was the unfinished job of another sub-contractor, Oscar Waugh, who needlessly ran up expenses and made it cost more than it would otherwise have done, and in this way the profits on the contract were lessened considerably.

Work is in progress on the new bridge over Twenty-Mile on Webster St. Harry Rose, foreman, had a small force on and the piers are in. The completion of this bridge will be a boon to eastenders who will no longer be required to risk their necks after nightfall on the old elongated wobbly-foot-bridge which was put up years ago to do duty in high water.

Mr. Geo. M. Gilbert arrived with his bride on Friday last and has been receiving congratulations from Hedley friends. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert are taking up their residence in Mrs. McKinnon's house on Kingston Ave. It is now about fifteen months since Mr. Gilbert left for the old country and he reports a growing interest in British Columbia mines and real estate in the old country.

Anton Winkler, proprietor of the Grand Union, showed the Gazette last week some beautiful Duchess of Oldenburg apples grown on his ranch up on mountain about a couple of thousand feet above Hedley, which his partner Mr. Denman brought down. These were from trees planted by him in the spring of 1907. The apples were beauties and well flavored. Many a laugh and jibe has been made at Winkler about his mountain top ranch, but he now has the laugh on his critics.

Book Worms. The Hedley Drug Store will start a lending library on the 1st of Oct. All new copyrights will be handled on exchange system. Call in and get prices on stationery. Big reduction on all lines.—Love's Drug Store, Hedley.

WERE AFTER EASY MONEY.

One of the Events of Labor Day Not Provided For on the Programme.

The good old days in Hedley when a man could get a jug on, and slumber securely with his valuables on him are apparently gone. Henceforth there is nothing for it but cache the valuables before hand or make arrangements for a more retired spot for the siesta.

On Tuesday night, September 7th, Charles Richter went to sleep on the bench out in front of the Grand Union and after about three hours of peaceful slumber awoke to find his watch and chain gone, also his purse containing $20.00, and his hat. Information appeared to have been freely supplied as to who was the thief and next morning there were a dozen or more that knew of one of the steel gang named Daniel Gunn having been seen taking the watch and the money as unconcernedly as if he regarded it a "kinchen lay" Gunn's pal named S. T. Marsh, peached on him, and accordingly was taken into custody early on Wednesday, and Marsh being drunk was gathered in also on a charge of drunkenness as the surest way of having him on hand to give evidence.

The matter came up for hearing on Thursday night before A. Megraw, J. P., when L. H. Patten conducted the prosecution on behalf of Constable Sproule. During the hearing the prosecution was not satisfied with such information as Marsh was prepared to give, but probed deeper for the rest of the story which Marsh was trying to conceal. The result was that the story which Marsh had prepared by way of evidence and the sundry admissions which were picked out of him wouldn't agree, and furthermore went to show that he himself had a lively interest in the robbery.

Other evidence, however, was strongly corroborative of the essentials of Marsh's evidence against Gunn and he was committed for trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

Two charges were then preferred against Marsh, one of being accessory, and the other of receiving stolen goods knowing them to be stolen. These charges were preferred by the constable for a double reason—one because he was believed to be a more dangerous criminal than Gunn, and the other to make sure that he would be on hand as witness for Gunn's trial at the assizes.
