NEW INDUSTRY SEEKS AID FROM COUNCIL

Sewerage Works Come in for Criticism

Aldermen Calder, Copeland, Taylor, Thompson and Sutherland were present at the council meeting on Friday of last week. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, correspondence was read from the following:

From Robert Hamilton & Co., of Vancouver, notifying shipment of new tubular boiler for the power house.

From Mr. C. C. Jones complaining of the June light account against his residence. The council decided that in view of the meter readings for the period involved Mr. Jones had no cause for complaint; and it was shown that when the meter was last read an electric iron was in use in the house; Mr. Jones was therefore notified that if his account were not paid his current would be disconnected.

A deputation consisting of Messrs. F. S. Coates, P. DuMoulin, S. T. Elliott, W. Haug, W. B. Jones and D. H. Rattenbury waited upon the council on behalf of the Board of Trade.

Mr. Elliott informed the council that Mr. Keller, of Messrs. Keller-Lorenz Co., Spokane, had visited Kelowna for the purpose of establishing a vinegar and cider plant. Before making any arrangements Mr. Keller wished to know if the city would be willing to make any concessions in exemption from taxes or gratis supply of light and water.

The mayor was of the opinion that the city had not been supplied with sufficient information about the company and requested the Board of Trade to obtain further particulars to submit at a future meeting. The delegation then withdrew.

Alderman Calder reported having been approached by several residents as to what they considered an unsatisfactory method of constructing the sewerage works. Some people, he said, were of the opinion that there was too much loafing on the works, also that the engineers had failed to obtain the requisite rock and water for the disposal works from the most advantageous source. It was also stated that a sewer construction foreman had advised two of his men not to work too hard as the length of his employment would depend upon the amount of work they did.

Alderman Taylor stated that there was no loafing when he had visited the works. In reference to the hauling of rock and water, the engineers considered the rock and water on the ground unfit for use in the disposal works construction. He doubted whether the remarks attributed to the foreman were correct and thought some people might be trying to discredit the construction works without reasonable grounds.

Messrs J. Bigger and G. McKenzie, appeared as requested at the previous meeting in reference to the filling required to be effected at the new school. Mr. McKenzie pointed out that the filling was absolutely necessary, either

Welland Canal Contract Let

Construction of the first section of the enlarged Welland canal has been provided for. The government has accepted the offer of the Dominion Dredging company, of Ottawa, to build the first section. The firm offered to do the work for $3,000,000. This was the lowest tender. It provides for construction of thefirst few miles of the canal from the Lake Ontario end. The tenders for other sections of the canal which is to have a depth of 34 feet, will be called shortly. It will, when completed, allow the largest lake boats to reach the St. Lawrence with a full grain cargo from the west.

Mr. Pocock of the firm of Pocock Bros., of Vancouver, builders of the new rowing shells was in town this week.

Mr. J. J. Warren of the Kettle Valley railway paid a pisit to the city Monday.

SUCCESSFUL CLOSE OF THE METHODIST SUMMER SCHOOL

The first Okanagan Methodist summer school has proved very successful so much so that it has been decided to make it an annual affair. An executive has been appointed for this purpose, with Mr. J. A. Bigger as president, Mr. T. E. Cooper, secretary and Mr. W. J. Clement, treasurer. Representatives from each of the other towns in the valley will be on this committee, and next summer a camp will be again held in the Park on similar lines.

The purpose of the school is the training of Sunday school teachers and Epworth League workers, so that these important fields of endeavor may be brought to a higher state of efficiency.

No fewer than forty-two registered for the course of lectures, which given by such specialists in Christian and social work as the Rev. J. P. Westman, Rev. W. Morgan, B.A., and the Rev. F. W. Langford, have proved highly interesting and instructive.

On Friday evening last a camp fire was built on the sand near the camp and to the party which assembled under these novel conditions addresses were given on Mission work in China. On Sunday afternoon an open air mass meeting in the park was addressed by the Rev. J. P. Westman.

The ministers who have been conducting the school left Tuesday morning for Tappan, near Salmon Arm, where a similar school is to be held this week.

B. C. Poultry Association To Hold Convention

A convention of the British Columbia Poultry Association is to be held in Vancouver on September 3, during the Vancouver Midsummer Exhibition. The convention will be held in the stock judging pavilion. The indications are that there will be delegates from all over the province, and they will be entertained at a luncheon by the directors of the Vancouver Exhibition Association. As is customary all delegates will also be provided with passes to the fair departments. During the convention Mr. R. N. Barker will give an illustrated lecture on caponizing; Provincial Poultry Superintendent Terry will give a talk, with pictures, on plucking, trussing and marketing fowls. and Assiatant Superintendent Upton will conduct a question drawer, answering questions dealing with local conditions affecting fowl raising.

Mr. F. W. Sterling, travelling freight agent for the British Columbia division of the C.P.R., has returned from an inspection trip of the Okanagan valley and the newly opened branch of the Kootenay Central line south from Golden. While in the interior he made arrangements for estimates of the fruit crops and took up a number of other transportation matters.

He says that the first consignments or early apples will probably be ready for shipment in about two weeks' time and the peach crop will start to move about the middle of August. The cherry crop has been plentiful this season and large shipments are now being sent out from the Okanagan country.

Rutland News

(From our own correspondent)

An English church service will be conducted in the school house next Sunday at 11 a.m. There will be no service in the afternoon.

Mrs. L. Johnston of Vernon has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wigglesworth.

Another visitor has been Miss G. Powell of Peachland, who paid a short visit to her friends Mr. and Mrs. Blenkarn.

A somewhat rare atmospheric phenomenon was witnessed in the Rutland valley at 10.30 p.m. on Monday. While rain was falling the moon appeared over Black Mountain with the result that a perfect moonbow was produced. The effect was beautiful and the bow lasted for several minutes.

Mrs. Bowser, Mrs. A. W. Bowser, and Mrs. G. A. Bowser left on Monday for a trip to Oroville, Wash.

PROPOSED ORGANIZATION TO CONTROL LOCAL AMATEUR SPORT

Dr. Davidson Suggests Branch of B.C. Amateur Athletic Union and Playgrounds Association

Dr. J. G. Davidson, of McGill University College, Vancouver and president of the British Columbia Amateur Athletic Union, and president also of the Vancouver Playgrounds Associapaid a somewhat unexpected visit to Kelowna Monday and Tuesday of this week. The object of the visit was to prepare the ground, if possible for the forming of branches of these two organizations in Kelowna, for the purpose of fostering and developing purely amateur athletic sports amongst the youth of the city, and also among the children of the public schools.

In addressing a hastily gathered meeting on Monday evening in the Board of Trade offices. Dr. Davidson gave a brief history of the Amateur Athletic Union and indicated some of the results which it had accomplished in putting all forms of athletic sports on a better basis, and eliminating the professionalism which was antagonistic to all true sport. Four or five years ago amateurs and professionals were all tangled up together in a way which was most unsatisfactory. There was no doubt as to the necessity for keeping the two apart. Professional sport was not a good thing for young fellows to follow. It was true they might be able to pick up a few prizes here and there which would serve to keep them going for a time, but it usually ended nowhere. The Union had endeavored to correct this state of things by taking charge of all sport in Canada except purely professional baseball and lacrosse. The work of the Union had been very noticeable in Vancouver, where clubs of all kinds had sprung up composed entirely of young fellows who played for the pure love of the game. Such sport was forming a very important factor in the building of manly characters, and counteracting the evil influence of loafing and wasting of leisure hours.

The efforts of the Union had proved so successful in the larger centres of population, that it was desirable that its scope be extended to include the smaller cities and towns. The plan proposed was that a provincial executive be formed composed of representatives from different local associations, which would regulate all matters relating to amateur standing and the establishment of uniform rules for the government of all athletic sports within the province. The local boards such as he suggested should be formed in Kelowna would be composed of one representative from each athletic organization or club and also representative from the city council, school board, parks board, etc. The duty of this body would be to see that all kinds of athletic sports were encouraged and developed, and to see that as many young fellows as possible took part in these clubs. The present disorganized state of things, where a sport of enthusiasm would be got up for a day or two perhaps, and then forgotten was almost useless. The experience had been that where such local boards had taken hold of things, athletic sports had developed in a surprising way and one could hardly realize the amount of benefit which had been derived.

He was pleased to see so much good sport in Kelowna, and he felt sure that we had advantages here in the splendid water front and many open spaces which were possessed by very few towns. If however, such a local body were formed, affiliated with a province-wide organization, and the various sports fostered in a systematic way, they would gain additional strength and interest.

Dr. Davidson also touched upon the modern playground movement which is being taken up all over the continent of America. Millions of dollars were being spent in the great cities in purchasing playgrounds for the poorer children and hundreds of thousands more in maintaining them. The work also included the school playgrounds.

Two years ago the movement was taken up in Vancouver, and they now have eleven paid instructors in charge of the children's sports. These men were specially trained for the work, and were under the direct control of and financed by the city.

The playground movement, continued Dr. Davidson, was going to rank in the near future with general education. People were beginning to realize that a knowledge of how to play well, was just as important in the development of the young as other kinds of knowledge. The general tone and character of a man or woman was often determined by the use made of spare time. The movement bid fair to swallow up the whole amateur athletic question and broaden it. He would like to see one such playground instructor employed in Kelowna to take charge of the children, and develop all kinds of playground sports and manual training. He should be employed by the city as being a much better plan than taking up subscriptions. Such a man might also be the secretary-treasurer of the suggested Amateur Athletic local board. He thought the provincial union could assist in finding trained and capable men for such a position.

In conclusion he expressed the hope that Kelowna people would get together, and endeavor to put the scheme into practical effect and he firmly believed they would have no cause to regret it.

Those present at the meeting were plainly heartily in accord with Dr. Davidson's remarks, and to Mr. F. M. Buckland, who had acted as chairman was left the task of calling together a meeting of all interested for the purpose of organizing on the lines suggested.

Before leaving by the boat for Penticton on Tuesday Dr. Davidson held a conference with the school trustees and others likely to be interested.

GROWTH OF KELOWNA'S BUSINESS

Rapid Increase of Imports and Exports Shown in Striking Official C.P.R Figures

The following striking figures showing the remarkable increase in exports and imports from and to Kelowna during the past year are from the records of the C.P.R., and may therefore be taken as authoritative:

Outgoing freight:—
1911	1912	Increase
Incoming freight:—
1911	1912	Increase
$132,732.28	$191,740.28	$59,008.00
Passenger business:—
1911	1912	Increase

The figures tell in a particularly convincing way of the growth and prosperity of the city. The increase as 86.29 percent., in exports in a single year is significant of the great development of our local industries, and it is stated that the figures for the first six months of the present year will show even more remarkable figures. The imports increased 44.45 per cent., in 1912 over 1911, and the passenger traffic on the lake steamers also shows rapid increase.

Arthur B. Mortens of Toronto, teller at the Dominion Bank at Seaforth, was mistaken for a burglar by his friends, and shot thraugh the lungs. He is not likely to recover. Clerks mistook a noise for someone trying to get into the bank and shot Mortens as he was coming into the building without turning on the light.

Several professors are now en route to Willow Bunch, Sask., to see the petrified human remains, discovered there, which are said to be 10,000 years old. Among the number is Professor Hill-Tout.. of Oxford University. The prehistoric remains were discovered by a farmer some three weeks ago.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES MEETING PRINCIPAL LORD IS CONGRATULATED

The Board of School Trustees met on Tuesday of this week, those present being Messrs. Biggar, Knowles, McKenzie, McTavish and Trench.

The board confirmed the appointment of Mr. Hoppenstadt as assistant teacher.

The following accounts were passed:

Mr. P. E. Corby	$30.00
Mr. W. Crawford	4.50
Mr. J. J. Campbell	8.00
Mr. Dunn	5.00
Dalgleish & Harding	19.10
Morrison-Thompson Co.	1.00

The meeting requested the secretary to convey Mr. A. R. Lord their congratulations upon the success achieved by all the candidates from his room in passing the high school examination.

Mr. Priest who has been acting in the capacity of special teacher, wrote requesting release from his engagement.

The committee appointed to interview Mr. Ritchie in regard to finding suitable rooms for use of the high school students reported that some had been found on Leon avenue, west of Pendozi street.

A communication was received from the architect in reference to the new building on Richter street, advising certain minor changes in details of the work.

The board acted in accordance with the architect's suggestions.

The meeting then adjourned.

Armstrong Defeats Kelowna Lacrosse Team

The local lacrosse team journeyed to Armstrong yesterday by motor to meet the lacrosse aggregation of that city. Three cars were engaged to carry the boys and a splendid trip is reported. The local team was very weak yesterday, having only seven of the regulars on the line up. The remainder of the team was composed of some of the younger and less experienced boys of the town, who, however played very well, and proved that in a year or two, with practice and experience will be able to defend Kelowna's lacrosse nets.

Much criticism was indulged in over the rulings of the referee, who, according to reports was anything but lenient on the visiting team, handing out many uncalled penalties and putting two and three men on the fence at one time, when in reality none deserved a penalty.

The score at the close was 4 to 2 in favor of Armstrong, which speaks pretty well for the Kelowna team in their weakened condition and Armstrong with full strength and at home.

To an independent observer at this distance from the turmoil of Ottawa politics, and especially as time lends perspective to the view and new light is thrown upon the situation by recent utterances of British Statesmen, the action of the senate in throwing out Mr. Borden's navy bill appears more and more a mere party trick intended to force the dissolution of the government.

What makes the senate's action particularly ridiculous is the pretence that it was prompted by high patriotic principles. If that body had come out roundly with the statement that it was opposed to Canadian assistance to the British navy and that Canada should undertake her own defence regardless of the rest of the empire, they would at least be credited with honest if mistaken ideas. But, because the opposition in the house, in the hope of making political capital out of the fact that Quebec and some parts of the west were opposed to the navy bill, fought the measure tooth and nail with the manifest purpose of forcing dissolution, and because the designs of this vindication minority were frustrated by the adoption of the closure, the senate, with at least the saving quality of gratitude for past favors, under the leadership of Orator Ross the Rejected on Ontario, defeated the measure by a practically straight party vote.

Now we cannot but be struck by the reasons set forth by those opposed to the bill for rejecting it.

"The navy should be" they say' Canadian built and Canadian manned.' In the fifteen years during which Sir Wilfrid Laurier administered the affairs of this country there arose from time to time the necessity to secure vessels of various types, from ice-breakers to fishery protective boats, for the use of the government. Do we find that these boats were built in Canadian yards, of Canadian steel by Canadian workmen? They were, one and all purchased in England and no outcry was heard from the then government benches that Canadian money was being sent out of the country, money that should have been spent among Canadian workmen. Not one of these patriots suggested that Canadians should build their own vessels. But as soon as it was suggested by the Borden government that Canada should take her share in the defence of the empire and provide ships for the fleet, naval experts, whose existence as such had never been suspected were discovered on the opposition benches who at once became solicitous for the poor Canadian workmen. These self-imposed critics and patriots suddenly became intensely, ardently desirous of assisting the empire. They would spend double as much as Mr. Borden if necessary for its safety, but regardless of cost or common business sense they insisted that the ships be built in Canada.

If, during the long Laurier administration any effort had been made to build up in Canada ship yards capable of turning out even a gunboat there would be some justification for this outcry, but when as has been said, the Liberals, when in power purchased abroad all the vessels they required, their position on the matter is utterly untenable. In fact, the new government is only following out the policy initiated by their predecessors. And with good reason too. Does it not strike any fair-minded man as absurd that this, or any other country in a similar stage of development could be able in the course of two or three years, to provide and man the immense plant necessary to construct the most complicated and powerful of all modern engines of destruction, the Dreadnaught? Years of patient, careful foundation work will be necessary before ever a cruiser could be built here and the construction of a dreadnaught is to that of a cruiser as the building of an automobile to that of a farmer's wagon.

The second great point set forth by theopposition orators is that the ships when finished should be manned by Canadian sailors, we shouls say "brave Canadian sailors" to be on the same plane of high rhetorical effort. "You offer" say these experts and patriots to our dear motherland but the dry bones of a fleet. The spirit is wanting. Let us build the fleet of Canadian material in Canadian ship yards by Canadian workmen and when completed let us man them with brave Canadian sailors." A curious commentary on this effortless flow of language is contained in the following item, copied from a Victoria paper of a recent date. It says. "The Royal Navy pensioners and active service men who had signed as instructors to recruit on the Rainbow are preparing to leave for England." The reason is that there are no recruits. The Canadian boy does not take kindly to the discipline of sea life so the instructors are being dismissed and the Rainbow is laid up at Esquimalt with no plans for her future.

Could anything be more absurd than the Liberal position in this whole matter? From the recent utterances of Mr. Churchill in the British House it is evident that the mother country needed the assistance of Canada; a second, that she depended upon that assistance, and third; that she is dissappointed in not receiving it and has had to change her plans on that accoune so as to heavily increase the proximate expenditure for naval defence.

The ships will be build whether Canada pays for them or not and it will be to the lasting shame of a country of our riches and resources and with our claims to be considered the most important unit in the chain of nations that make up our empire, if Canadians do not rally to the support of the administration in its efforts to place ourselves right in the sight of our sister states in this matter.

Canada's Dissatisfied Navy

The contingent of forty seamen who have just quit the Cruiser Rainbow on the Pacific coast, and who sailed for England last week on the Royal Edward, says an eastern paper, will undoubtedly give the Canadian naval service an advertisement of some sort. It is to be feared that advertisement, while gratuitous, will not be so favorable as to cause a rush of recruits to fill their vacant places.

As seen on board they looked genuine British Jack Tars, and they were every one of them proud of wearing the uniform which some of them still retained, although they were going home on pension after three years here and twelve years in the imperial fleet. But their first grievance was that the naval uniform was looked down upon in Canada. Though they spoke for the west, admitting that they could only sample Montreal for one day. "People in the west look down upon us for wearing this," said one of them, touching his coat.

The pay was utterly insufficient so far as the west was concerned so that it was impossible for a man to bring his wife and family over to this side. If he went ashore at Vancouver for a few days and indulged in what in most places would be a very ordinary expenditure his whole month's salary would have vanished.

Government Railway Shows Surplus

The fipal audit of the Intercolonial Railway of Canada for the fiscal year show a net surplus of $800,000. This is about $100,000 less than the estimate of the minister, when he made his annual speech in the House. Certain revenue accounts did not total quite as much as expected.

A few years ago the rolling stock of the government road was appraised at $15,000,000, but on checking over it was found that the value was much below that. In the meantime the surpluses have been used in buying new equipment.

Canada's Fire Losses During June

According to the Monetary Times, Canada s fire losses during June amounted to $3,069,446, this not including losses from forest fires in Northern Ontario and New Brunswick. Losses for the same months last year were $1,229,412.

There were 39 fires, with losses over $10,000 and eight with losses of $100,000 or more, a lumber mill fire in Prince Albert, Sask., leading the list with half a million loss.

Eighteen lives were lost. The Times estimates of fire losses for the first half of this year is $14,325,463, with Ontario leading the provinces with $3,620,260.

Forestry in South Africa

Progressive Policy Inaugurated by the Federal Government.

The report recently issued by the Chief Conservator of Forests in South Africa for the year ending December 31, 1911, is of considerable interest by way of comparison with what is being done along forestry lines in this country. For such a young union the progress made is remarkable, and considerable credit is due to the Forest Department for the efficiency already attained in administration and fire protection.

The area of the Forest Reserves in the union of South Africa in December 1911, was 1,799,550 acres. Besides this, there was also 42,587 acres reserved for growing railway ties, on which railway funds alone were expended ,making a total reserveh area of 1,842,137 acres. This area is divided into seven conservancies,— roughly speaking, a conservancy to each province in the union. Each conservancy, consisting usually of several reserves, is administered by a district forest officer and a technically trained assistant Forester. Under them are chiefs of reserves, forest guards, rangers, etc. The more important positions are all filled by technical foresters, usually highly trained men who have completed their course in the Oxford school af forestry and in Germany. This organization very closely resembles that of the Canadian government forest reserves.

Under their supervision forest surveys are being made for the demarcation of the new reserves, and existing reserves are being protected from fire by burning or cutting fire-belts around the reserves and by planting up their perimeters with trees of the less inflamable species. As a result of these precautions, there were burned during the season of 1911 only seven hundred acres or 0.04 per cent.. of the total area.

On the reserves themselves improvement cuttings are being carried on under the direction of forest officials, for the removal of defective timber and weed trees. and these operations not only have much improved the species composition of the forests but have proved financially justifiable, as well.

Replanting is also extensively being carried on in the various reserves, the total area replanted at the end of 1911 being 48,136 acres. Several species of exotics are being introduced with considerable success. Nurseries are maintained and the seed and transplants of forest trees are sold to the public at cost. About six thousand dollars worth of seed was sold by the department during the year, together with 2,806,402 seedlings, valued at over $42,500.

Okanagan Specimens for the Provincial Museum

One of the most successful expeditions in search of specimens of the natural life of British Columbia for use in connection with the British Columbia museum of natural history has just been concluded. Mr. E. M. Anderson, assistant director of the institution and R. C. B. Garrett, who accompanied him, have returned to Victoria after a three-month's sojourn in the wilds of the Okanagan Valley. They secured four hundred birds, five hundred eggs, two hundred small mammals, many rattle snakes of unusual size, some of the blue racer—the fastest moving snake of the province— as well as several mule deer, which are reported to be very plentiful in the district.

While on the hunt for material to enrich the provincial museum, Messrs. Anderson and Garrett established nine camps, and had many interesting experiences. Their routine was to rise at 4 o'clock in the morning and do their hunting. It was between that hour and 9 o'clock that they captured what was sought. To secure samples of the eggs of some of the rarer varieties of birds it was necessary to exercise patience of a kind that is known only to the enthusiastis naturalist or to a modern Jab. It will not be new to those who are at all acquainted with the practices of those engaged in making such collections, but Mr. Anderson's account of how he followed those feathered creatures to their nests by placing pieces of white string where he would find them feeding and followed their flight with its aid as they took it to help in the construction of their homes is most interesting.

Among the specimens which are particularly valuable are three of Williamson's Sandsucker, which were secured on Schoonover Mountain, near Okanagan Falls, at an altitude of over 4,000 feet. They were caught in April and are the first to have been obtained for the use of the institution. In the same locality was found the Rocky Mountain Jay, a rather extraordinary bird. One of its peculiarities is that it begins nesting very early in the year, before spring has actually broken, and often when the thermometer registers 40 degrees below zero. However through unflagging attention to the eggs it succeeds in bringing up its family under what would seem to be almost impossible conditions. Although the presence of the Bobolink in British Columbia has been recorded Mr. Anderson was able to take the first specimens for public display in the neighborhood of Penticton.

Of the five hundred eggs which have been brought from the interior, one of the most notable is a remarkably large egg of the Great Northern Diver, commonly known as the Loon. That referred to measures four and a half inches in length.

The flying squirrel, gophers, chipmunks, bushy tailed rats, and bats of most of which there are included many varieties, are included in the exhibit of small mammals. In assembling these Mr. Anderson had a somewhat exciting time. Especially so was the work of securing the many kinds of Okanagan bats that are found in the collection. These he caught almost entirely by means of a butterfly net. Like a baseball player at bat he took a stand in the line of the creatures' flight and as they flew by struck at them Frequently they curved in, out, up or down and escaped. However the number that succumbed indicates that the local naturalist, after all, established a pretty fair "batting" average. The larger varieties he shot, using exceedingly small shot.

Vasseaux Lake, which is near Okanagan Falls, is described as the British Columbia home of the rattlesnake. Here, in a country that bears a striking resemblance to a Texan prairie the poisonous snake flourishes. Mr. Anderson draws attention to a peculiar fact in this connection, namely, that this snake is to be found on the east side of the Okanagan River, it being discovered very seldom, if ever, on the west. The bull snake, which closely resembles the rattler, and often is momentarily mistaken for the more dangerous creature, also infests the district to quite an extent. As well, there is the blue racer, which Mr. Anderson refers to as quite a handsome snake with a record for speed above that of any of his fellows in this country. He is harmless, and "shows his heels" in astonishingly short order when encountering anything from which he may expect trouble. While on this subject the returned naturalist told of the finding of the blue-tailed lizard, which resembles strongly his tropical brother in coloring and other features.

Mr. F. Kermode, the provincial curator, states that it will be impossible to place on public exhibition the new specimens received from the Okanagan and others from other sources, because of the present lack of accommodation. However, as soon as the new quarters to be assigned for the use of the museum are available, they will be given a proper place among the public exhibits.—Colonist.

BASEBALL

The baseball game here on Thursday afternoon was witnessed by the largest crowd that has visited the exhibition grounds this season and they were not disappointed in seeing their favorites capture the contest from the Kamloops team in a well played and sternly contested game by a score of 7 to 5.

The large crowd from Penticton attended the game, having arranged with the C.P.R. authorities to hold the steamer until 7 o'clock before returning to Penticton instead of leaving at 4 o'clock as originally arranged.

The Kamloops team arrived on the "Okanagan" and the game which was scheduled to start at 4 o'clock did not get under way until after 5 with Mr. Castner holding the indicator.

For the first few innings the two teams fought hard but neither seemed to have any advantage. Kamloops scored in their half of the first inning and Kelowna evened up in their turn at bat. In the second inning each team added another run and in the third Kamloops secured two while the locals went runless. In the fourth however Kelowna secured one while the visitors went runless until the seventh. In the meantime Kelowna had secured three extra making the standing up to that time 7 to 4 in favor of the home team. When Kamloops scored in the seventh the scoring was finished for the day.

The game was not as fast as some of the games have been but was a splendid exhibition and the home team well deserved the victory they gained.

The many fans who have been anxious to see the big pork side twirler in action were given their desire when Manager Coates selected Davis as the slab artist for the day. Cosgrove, recently secured by Kamloops from Tacoma, Wash., worked on the mound for the visitors. Both pitchers played a steady game but the local man had the visitors at his mercy most of the time and it is no fault of his that Kamloops secured five runs, but the ragged support that he received at a critical moment.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Davis not only pitched a good game but he drove in the three runs in the fifth inning with a hard drive to right center on which the two fielders interfered with each other, the hit going for a two bagger and scoring three runs.

A. Henning played errorless ball in left field and got a couple bingles that helped some.

F. Henning played a steady game at second, and scored two of the seven runs secured by his club.

Patton, at third and Albert in centre did not have a fielding chance in the game.

The Kamloops team on their return trip stopped in Vernon for an exhibition game on Friday afternoon and were defeated by a score of 8 to 7 in a game replete with bonehead plays and errors. Casad, first baseman of the Kelowna team acted as umpire for the game. He returned alive.

The grain is growing well on the prairie. If there is a good harvest, times will improve throughout Canada.

The Duke of Portland is reported to have purchased 37,000 acres of land in the Nicola Valley.

Double tracking of the C.P.R., line from Vancouver east to Ruby Creek a distance of 80 miles is now practically completed.

Enough money has been collected by the Lord Mayor of London to support the relatives of Captain Scott and the other brave men who died after having reached the South Pole. It has been distributed so that none should suffer from poverty as well as sorrow.

Although only a week or so since the first shipment of "Yale's" came in for the Kelowna Garage Co., they are all sold and a further lot ordered. Pumping methods will be introduced for irrigation. This experimental farm will undoubtedly mean a good deal to Summerland in horticultural and agricultural development.—Summerland Review

FIFTY-TWO ARMORIES UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Rapid progress is being made in equipping the militia and drill halls.

Nineteen are now under contract, tenders are in and under consideration for eight more, and tenders have been called for twenty-five more. This makes a total of fifty-two centres which are being supplied at the present moment with accommodations.

These halls are all being erected by the militia department. The military authorities long have been pressing for armory accommodations, the need being specially great in small rural centres and also in the west, where exorbitant rents are charged officers commanding small units.

IRRIGATING BY SUN POWER

The sun power plant designed by Frank Shuman, the American engineer to carry on the work of irrigation in the Nile valley is an unqualified success, according to the official report just received from Cairo.

The device has proved to be more efficient and more economical, even with the river at its lowest level, than pumps run by coal fuel engines, or the old hand method of lifting the water into the ditches. Lord Kitchener, the agent in Egypt, who recently inspected the plant, believes it will be of enormous help in the agricultural development of the Soudan and Upper Egypt.

A number of young men, including most of the local baseball team spent last Sunday across the lake. The best part of the day was spent at Bear Creek where the boys enjoyed fishing and swimming and viewing the beautiful scenery along the creek. The water in the creek is very high and the large amount makes the falls a very beautiful sight. Later in the day they enjoyed a fine hour's sport bathing in the lake and finally ended the day by visiting the farm of Mr. Chaplin where he gave permission to help themselves to the well laden cherry trees. Needless to say the boys did justice to the delicious fruit and it is reported some of the members of the baseball team were unable to work on Monday but they managed to report for practice Monday evening.

Corded Trunks by Freight

Railway Commission Issues Orders To Companies

Henceforth trunks may be sent by freight on Canadian railways if corded securely. This means that the public will not have to pay express charges, which have been referred to by Chairman Drayton at the Railway Commission as "enormous." An order was issued by the board after a hearing of the case that trunks be accepted as freight if securely corded.

This was done in spite of the strenuous objections of the railways that it would lead to objectionable traffic. Cheap goods would be offered for transportation as freight. Some of the immigrant's trunks now, for instance are of cheap construction and have a piece of clothes line wrapped around them.

The reason this matter was taken up was the tremendous charges made by the express companies for taking trunks by themselves.

zt was contended that such baggage was not accepted in other classification, and it should not be accepted by Canadian railways unless the trunks were boxed, had steel bands, or were wired to prevent possible pilfering, for which the railway would be held responsible..

The present limited liability admitted was also thought too low, and more will be heard of this, while an order will go forth ordering trunks to be accepted as freight. A release of liability may be made a condition of this.

She— Have you travelled much?
He— Yes, extensively.
She— How do you like Turkey?

Canada's Land Defences

According to the Ottawa Free Press, the government is going ahead with a naval defence policy on land. This paper states that the defences at Halifax and Esquimalt will be greatly strengthened and that new forts will be built in the neighborhood of Vancouver, where there is an adequate naval reserve, which is also true of Sydney and St. John. Later in the summer Col. Hughes will go to England to again witness the British army manoeuvres, and it is understood that he will also confer with the war office and the admiralty in regard to joint action in securing adequate defence works at the ports mentioned. It is likely that a generous appropriation will be asked by the government at the next session of parliament, to carry out the contemplated program of land defence for Canada's principal seaports.

Who Will be Poet Laureate?

Premier Asquith made the announcement in the House of Commons yesterday that it was the intention to appoint a Poet Laureate to succeed the late Alfred Austin, whereupon an irreverent member, amid laughter, asked whether or not the Prime Minister had noticed that whenever genius was patronized by authority, authority remained but genius fled.

Another suggestion was that the office be enlarged so as to embrace a Laureauteship of literature. Mr. Asquith shook his head at this suggestion.

Dear Sid.—I can see where I'm due for a bad case of indigestion. I've got to eat those cruel words I said about the climate here! Just to show what he really could do if he tried, the guy who deals out the weather turned off the water spout, and threw the spot light on the beautiful stage setting of our glorious valley and the result is weather you couldn't duplicate "From Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand." So genial were the rays of old Sol, and so tempting looked the lake, that the boss and I, with a literary gent of Kelowna, decided we would take our maiden dip, and give the admiring throng a chance to view our manly forms! Soon we were tripping blithly towards the Aquatic building, and ere long were wiggling our little pink toes in the translucent waters of the Okanagan. I haven't had had so much fun for a month of Sundays. After this I intend to take a bath at least once a week, whether I need it or not.

Gracious goodness, before I forget it let me break the glorious news to you! Oue ball team won a game last Thursday! Cross my heart and hope to die if they didn't! Of course we will have to admit that they had the earnest assistance of the visiting team at times, but then it's the effect we're after, and the causes don't matter much. The team plays Vernon again today, and it is the sincere hope and prayer of every man, woman and child in Kelowna that we win. If we lose it has been decided by a number of our most representative citizens, that not a girl will be allowed to speak again to the fallen idols, so it's up to the boys to take a large dose of the do or die dope, for if they fail "it were better for them that a mill stone were hanged about their necks and they were drowned in the depths of the lake."

We are going to have our usual big feature program on Saturday. The boss said to me "Jimmy, we've rung the bell every Saturday so far, and believe me we'll hit the bull's eye on the next one too."

We had a grand picture on Wednesday: "King Rene's Daughter" was the name, and take it from me it was some picture—and also some daughter; but there's no need of my telling you about it. go see it yourself, it will be in Vancouver next week. I believe I mentioned before about the "Uncle Tom's Cabin Co., that's coming to the opera house on July 30. There are lots of these companies good, bad and indifferent, but this one tops the list. They carry a flock of real blood hounds; they also give a written guarantee that little Eva is positively not over 45 years old. There is one thing, however, that's worrying me; if it stays as hot as it is now, I don't see how Eliza is going to get across the ice before it melts.

Several days ago I went with a jolly bunsh on a picnic way up Mission Creek. From start to finish, Sid that trip was a series of surprises to me. In the first place I had no conception there was so much back country around Kelowna, and such magnificent land, it is truly, Sid. This district is simply pregnant with possibilities, awaiting but the Alladin touch of water to make it blossom like another Eden. As we mounted higher the scenery became grander and more rugged, until it seemed as if my heart would overflow at the splendor of the panorama spread before me., When will I forget that rich bronze in the beepening twilight; at our backs the moon just peeping over the distant mountains, while in front the sunken sun had tipped the hills with a fringe of gold, a scene which made one feel that surely this is one of the chosen spots of earth.

Good-bye, Sid, old boy for this time. Let me hear from you, and believe me, I am now as ever your devoted friend,

JIMMY.

New Anglican churches have been dedicated within the last two weeks by Bishop De Pencier at Merritt and Newport.

The provincial botanist, Mr. J. Davidson, F.L.S., F.B.S.E., has started on a collecting trip to the dry belt. He hopes to secure during his trip a number of the characteristic plants of the interior.

It is estimated that at least a tenth of the total agricultural products of the United States is annually destroyed by injurious insects. It is estimated that $300,000,000 is a conservative approximation of the loss sustained each year.

Canadian exhibits have been excluded from the Fairs of North Dakota. Communicating this decision to Winnipeg exhibitors, the secretary of the fair association states the reason for this action is the fear that local exhibitors will be discouraged, owing to the good showing made by the Canadian exhibits.

Irrigation Convention at Lethbridge

International Congress to be Represented, Will Be Big Attendance.

Everyone who contemplates attending the seventh annual session of the Western Canada Irrigation Association at Lethbridge, August 5, 6, and 7 should arrange before hand for hotel accommodations as it is anticipated that every available room in all the hotels will be taken. This matter is easily attended to, all it requires being a post card to the local secretary, W. Finley, Box 687, Lethbridge, stating the train upon which you will arrive and the number of days you plan to stay. and, if you have a choice specify the hotel. The rates are the current ones; no extra charges will be made at any hotel on account of the rush. But unless the notice is sent there many may be disappointed, for the rule will be followed of "first come first served" and everyone failing, to send notice will have to do the best he can.

Irrigationists of note from all over the United States and Canada will attend and participate in the convention. The session opens in the Majestic theatre on the morning of Tuesday, Aug. 5th, and there will be in attendance at the opening the premiers of the western provinces, ministers of agriculture, forestry and irrigation experts, as well as a large number of the leading men in advanced agriculture from the states over the border, notably Washington, Idaho and Oregon. This will be the first time the international irrigation association will be formally represented, and among the speakers representing this great organization will be President Richard W. Young, secretary Arthur Hooker and W. A. Holabird of California, the celebrated irrigationist and manager of the California Development company.

The International Irrigation Congress has its eye on Canada and its officers have made known that they were agreeable to consider a formal invitation to hold the congress of 1914 or 1915 in western Canada. Calgary is known to have anxious eyes on such a large convention, and it would not be surprising if the formalities incident to making the tentative offer were carried out during the convention in Lethbridge.

C.P.R. Big Construction Programme

Money Stringency Will Not Cause the Curtailment of Expenditure

G. J. Bury, vice-president of the C.P.R., in discussing matters at Vancouver, affecting the British Columbia division said:

"This year the C.P.R. is carrying out the greatest construction program in its history. Camps have been established at Rogers Pass in preparation for the gigantic boring project. The whole work is to be finished in forty-two months, and the contractors will start on both portals of the huge tunnel at an early date, just as soon as the plant is assembled and the preliminary operations are completed."

With regard to the financial situation, Mr. Bury called attention to the fact that despite the financial stringency which has been affecting all the money markets of the world, the C. P.R. was not curtailing its expenditures as were many other large corporations, but on the other hand, was proceeding with several large projects which would involve many millions of dollars. The company would spend altogether $100,000,000 in improvements this year. A tribute to the financial foresight of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy was paid by Mr. Bury in this connection. He said he considered that the fact of the C.P.R. spending such large sums of money redounded to the credit of the Dominion, and it was in itself a splendid advertisement abroad.

Mr. Bury denied the report to the effect that the C.P.R., contemplated issuing stock for another $100,000,000.

New Land Order

An order-in-council has been passed providing that within the forty-mile railway belt in British Columbia, the minister of the interior may grant lands in areas not exceeding a legal subdivision of forty acres, more or less, or for such other areas less than 160 acres. The minister may, in case of lands deemed to be specially valuable, dispose of them in such areas and on such terms and conditions as to price and settlement duties as he may see fit. He may also dispose of them at public auction in such areas and at such upset prices and such further terms and conditions as he may see fit.

Planting Season, 1913-14
"RELIABLE" NURSERY STOCK
I am offering a limited number of trees in standard varieties, all grown in my own Nurseries, and guaranteed true to name and free from disease or frost injury. ¶ My trees are all "Budded Stock on 3-Year Old Roots," which require 2 years to produce from the time the imported French Seedling is planted out, and should not be confounded with piece root grafts made in a cellar during winter and sold the following season.
I most cordially invite all intending purchasers and others to inspect my stock and winter storage system at "CLOVERDALE" (located on the road to Vernon opposite 25 mile post). My experience in growing orchards is that budded trees are unquestionably superior to those root grafted.

Methodist Church to Have Moving Picture Theatres

The Methodist Church proposes to establish a chain of moving picture theatres in every large city of the Dominion, with a view of "educating the public along safe and sane lines." To this end a company has been formed with a capital of $100,000 and a beginning will be made in Vancouver in the near future, at the Hamilton Hall, Dunsmuir street.

The intention at present is to run the show as a regular picture theatre, on an all-day basis, just as the ordinary picture theatres are operated, but in regard to this and other points of detail the last word has not been said. The object and aim of the founders of the enterprise is not monetary gain so much as the rational education of the people.

When matters are a little more advanced, an advertising propaganda will be undertaken, in which the aims and objects of the enterprise will be defined and the full particulars published. It is intended that the class of films shown in the theatre shall be specially educational. It was felt at the last Methodist conference held that there was need for some innovation, and that there was a sufficiently large public which could be appealed in support of a scheme of this nature.

The films will also specially deal with various phases of the church's activities, including missionary work and social service.

London to Advance Money for Crops

New Scheme of Bank Finance to Do Away With Tight Money.

Negotiations are at present under way between Canadian chartered banks and their London connections, which, if carried to a successful issue, will probably have a distinct bearing on the money market conditions.

Hitherto Canadian banks have had their resources more or less taxed during the months in which the movement of wheat takes place, and the strain has usually had a deterrent effect upon the market situation generally. For months prior to the harvesting of the rapidly increasing crops of the west the banks have been compelled to curtail credits in almost every other branch of their operations in order that the movement of the grain from the western areas may be handled expeditiously. It is understood that arrangements have been made recently whereby several large London banks will came to the assistance of Canadian institutions. The method employed will be very much similar to that used in the United States in respect to the financing of the immense cotton crop, and a widespread application of the principle, it is felt will do away with much of the inconvenience characteristic of the autumn season.

When the crops are harvested and the demand for money assumes large proportions in the west, the Canadian banks will draw on their London connections three months' bills, selling the exchange at a time when the demand is low. When these bills mature it is probable that a renewal for three months more will be arranged for, so that by the time the wheat is actually in England, or en route to the market there, the banks will be in a position to pay their obligations in London by bills drawn on the English consignees of the cargoes. In this way London will be simply advancing its credit to pay for the grain which eventually reaches there, or, in other words, will be going good for the sum involved sufficiently ahead of time to ease the money situation here. The whole principle is, however, based entirely upon credit, as the London bankers are in a position to sell the bills drawn by the Canadian institutions and accepted by themselves on the London money market where paper of this nature is readily negotiable.

Agricultural Commissioners to go Abroad

Mr. Alex. Lucas, M.P.P., for Yale, sailed last week for Australia as the special representative of the Provincial Royal Commission on agriculture, to investigate the agricultural land credit system of the Commonwealth and New Zealand. The results of his visit will be embodied in the report and recommendations of the Agricultural Commission. He will be absent until November next. Another member of the agricultural commission, Mr. W.H. Hayward, M.P.P., for Cowichan, will shortly leave for Europe to make a study of the advanced agricultural legislation in the British Isles, France, Germany and elsewhere. His findings will also form part of the commission's report.

Record Ayrshire Heifer

A new record has been made for Ayrshire heifer of the three-year-old class by a little cow owned by the Kansas State Agricultural College, Elizabeth of Juneau 26292 has just completed a year's record of 15,218 pounds of milk and 535.8 pounds of butterfat. This record of milk production is the highest ever produced by a three year old Ayrshire. The next highest record for a heifer of this age is 14,582 pounds of milk or 626 pounds less than Elizabeth's record. The butterfat produced is equivalent to 626 pounds of butter. Following is her record for the year, by months:

	Milk lbs.	Fat lbs.
May	1073.3	39.8
June	1504.0	57.7
July	1378.7	45.6
August	1456.4	45.7
September	1295.9	47.5
October	1284.2	45.9
November	1321.7	41.9
December	1240.7	41.0
January	1190.7	40.9
February	1087.5	41.1
March	1163.3	39.2
April	998.3	39.4
May 1-8	223.4	9.3
	15218.1	535.8

Test, 3.53 p.c.

Elizabeth has not been given but very little more attention than has been given to the other cows in the college herd. She has been cared for by students in the Agricultural College and five different men have had her in charge during the past year. Her ration has consisted of a general herd ration of four parts corn, two parts bran and one part oil meal as a grain portion and she has received all the alfalfa and silage she would consume. During the past season she had access to blue grass and alfalfa pasture.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Holstein Records

During the last half of June reports of the official tests of eighteen cows and heifers were received and accepted.

Among the eighteen semi-official yearly records of this breed, the best are in the three-year.old class. DeKol Mutual Countess, 12464, owned by G. A. Brethen, Norwood, Ontario, has a record of 867.5 pounds of butter, and Daisy Tensen Posch 11148, belonging to Wm. E. Mason, Tyrell, Ontario, 747.5 pounds of butter, both exceeding the highest previous records in this class. Three mature cows made over 700 pounds, Lady Princess DeKol 2nd, owned by W. O. Palmer, St. Sebastien, Que., having 751.25 pounds of butter to her credit; Bertha 8190, has 738.75 pounds, and Daisy Aechthilde Posch 8631, 700.48 pounds.

Feeding Value of Hay

The feeding value of hay varies a great deal more than is commonly realized, and scientists who have investigated the composition of many samples aver that it differs more than any other food. Probably the chief factor in determining its nutritive value is the age at which it is cut, and this is controlled by seed-formation, because as soon as this starts the food ingredients of the plant are quickly transferred to the seed, thus depleting the folliage of much of its worth. Hence as has been repeatedly stated, hay should be cut just before the seed formation begins, that is during the flowering stage, as by so doing the great bulk of nutritive matter will be secured. A larger bulk may be obtained by delaying the cutting, but it will not justify the decreased nutritive value of the produce.

Propose Taxing Real Estate Profits

At the convention of the Union of Municipalities, which was held at Toronto last week, Aldermay May, of Edmonton introduced a resolution dealing with an increment tax. The resolution was as follows:

"Resolved that this convention believes the time is ripe for the application of the principle of an increment tax on the profits made on the sale of real estate in excess of the assessed value for which such realty may be taxed by the municipality in which it is located, so that the communities of Canada which are making such real estate desirable and valuable by the undertaking of improvements, may reap some of the values, thereby lessening the debts which may have been incurred in the progress of their public improvements."

After a lengthy discussion it was finally decided to refer it to the executive, who will send copies to the Provincial organizations for their consideration.

At the Opera House

That old, old story, so new to present day theatre goers, "Slavery Days" will be realistically interpreted at the opera house on Wednesday evening, July 30th, by Stetson's spectacular "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company. For this season, the members of the Stetson company were selected especially for his or her adaptability to the roles essayed. The result has been a rarely harmonious whole, it is claimed, which have done much to add to the effectiveness of the production. The scenery, painted especially for this revival, includes a number of handsome scenes reproduced from pictures of the localities mentioned in the book, as they were at the time when the great authoress first wrote the story, more than fifty years ago. Some of the most notable of these scenes are the "Swanee River" by moonlight, cotton fields in full bloom, the Ohio River in winter, and the escape of Eliza, carrying her child across the floating ice, the rocky pass in which George Harris made his stand against the men persuing him and protecting his family; the St. Clair plantation home, the levee at New Orleans showing a slave auction; Legree's plantation, and lastly, the beautiful transformation scene, showing Eva's ascension to the Celestial city. The play has long since been public property and has been played by many poor companies until the public has come to recognize the fact that none but Manager Washburn has the one great unequaled organization, and that is why his Stetson production always brings out the theatre-going crowd.

Laugh and the world laughs with you. Weep and you will laugh with hundreds in spite of yourself, if you witness the funny antics of Topsy and the side-splitting comicalities of Marks, the lawyer, in Stetson's double spectacular production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Increase of War Vessels

The First Lord of the Admiralty made an important statement in the House respecting armoured ships, cruisers and destroyers which have been completed since January, 1911 for the British and German navies. This statement shows the growth of the respective fleets as follows:

	Great Britain	Germany
Battleships	9	7
Cruisers (battle)	4	4
Cruisers (prot.)	10	12
Destroyers	51	49

Mr. Churchill explained that the list of British cruisers did not include the vessels belonging to the Royal Australian navy.
