Meeting of City Council.

The Fixing of a Road for Traffic to New Farmers' Exchange Presents an Awkward Problem to a Council Without Funds.

A long session of the City Council was held on Monday last, the meeting coming to a close at about 10:30 p.m.

Aldermen Ball, Elliott and Rowcliffe were present, with Alderman Bailey as acting mayor in place of Mayor DeHart, who is away on an election tour The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and adopted, the clerk read the following correspondence from:—

The Dept. of Inland Revenue, re testing electrical implements, referred to Mr. Russell.

A. G. Long & Co., re appliances for fire department. Filed.

Mr. Edmonds, Penticton, asking for payment of his account.

The Vancouver Engineering Works, stating that they would leave disputed account in abeyance until Inspector Peck had given his report on the electric plant.

Geo. Fletcher, asking for a crossing to be placed across the road by his premises.

Louis F. Fingold, asking for information re a recent departure from this town.

J. B. Whitehead, calling attention to the fact that his sanitary box is not being attended to by the scavenger. Referred to the Health Committee.

The correspondence having been dealt with, Mr. Taylor, who was present, addressed the assembly.

He wished to know if the council contemplated doing anything to help both or either of the two cases of sickness, with which he was interested. Mr. Axon, he stated was in the Hospital with Typhoid fever, and his wife and children were not provided for.

Mr. Cramer in the other case was down with Consumption, and his wife was also ill.

The council agreed that in the latter case financial aid was not necessary, the former case they promised their attention.

Ald. Elliott pointed out that the road was very bad near his house in Pendozi Street, and asked that a crossing should be made.

Ald. Ball remarked that the Board of Works had gone over and above their estimates, and although several things wanted seeing to, he did not know how it was going to be done this year.

Ald. Bailey considered it would be better to fix the crossing now than wait until spring. The matter was left in the hands of the Board of Works.

The account for police work done by Edmunds, of Penticton, was again brought up, Constable Tooth being in attendance.

Queried by the council as to whether Edmunds was a provincial constable drawing a salary, Tooth replied that he was a special constable, and specially engaged for the case in question. Similar cases had arisen before with different municipalities, and the usual mode of procedure was for the city to pay and then apply to the Attorney-General's department for a refund of the amount paid. The account for Constable Hynes was merely disbursements for travelling expenses.

The city clerk said that he had seen the city solicitor with reference to the matter and found that the city was liable for the expense in bringing back the prisoner.

Ald. Ball suggested that the account should be paid and the Attorney-General be approached with the idea of obtaining a refund.

Ald. Bailey remarked that there would be better times when the Provincial and City police were combined, as there were often times when the City police had been able to help the Prov. police, and vice versa.

The following accounts were then referred to the finance committee, to be paid if found correct:

Canadian Fairbanks Co., Engine repairs	$114 00
I. S. Chamberlain, Eye bolts	7 00
Kel. Sawmill Co., Lumber and sawdust	97 87
D. Leckie, Hardware for October	5 00
Morrison Thompson Hardware for October	59 21
Collett Bros., teaming	5 00
Willits, Medicine for prisoners and Vaseline	3 00
H. H. Millie, 'Phone and telegraph	15 00
T. Lawson Towels	1 50
F. McClure teaming	2 00
C. G. Clement, contract price of Abbott St. sidewalk	472 93
J. W. Dunlop, 14 days' police work	35 00
W. C. Blackwood hauling gravel	24 00
J. A. Bigger, contract price for sidewalks	589 39
J. Chaplin, work on Bernard Ave.	2 75

Ald. Elliott stated that he had not had time to go into the matter of framing up By-law No. 65 again.

Mr. Parkinson attended with a plan of sub-division for lots on the Stirling and Boyce property, and asked for an assurance that the plans would be passed. The following motion was then passed:

Elliott-Rowcliffe—That the alteration in plans presented by R. H. Parkinson of the Stirling and Boyce sub-division, be passed and amended.

Mr. J. W. Wilks attended on behalf of Mr. C. de Gray Murray and others, and asked for permission for them to stack cord wood on the city's wharf. Mr. Wilks stated that the petitioners were cutting wood at Bear Creek, and had no place to land what they had cut on this side. If permission was given to use the city's wharf and a roadway was made for wagons to go in and out the town could be conveniently supplied with cord wood.

Ald. Bailey did not consider it right to give permission, as if the city wished to use the wharf at any time, it would be blocked up, and transit would be practically impossible.

Ald. Elliott suggested that the city should rent the wharf, as it was doing nothing at present, and would be a source of revenue to the city if rented. It was agreed to refer the matter to the Light Committee for consideration and report.

Messrs. Fraser, McDonald and Haug waited on the council with a petition, signed by 39 names mostly store-keepers in Bernard Avenue, asking the council to grade and gravel Water Street, so that teams could travel over without difficulty.

Mr. McDonald considered that a good road could be made for $700 to $1,000 and that if a body of shale rock was placed over the sawdust it would make a good, solid road. Taking into consideration that the petition was signed by a large number of the townspeople, he considered that the council should take immediate steps to have the road fixed.

Ald. Bailey considered it out of the question to have the road attended to this year, as the estimates had been over spent already. He did not agree with Mr. McDonald's figures, as he considered the road would take from $1,500 to $2,000 to be fixed in anything like a permanent manner. "To do it right," he said, "the sawdust should be excavated, and a good body of shale placed upon a solid bed of clay."

Ald. Rowcliffe agreed that it would be impossible to haul rock with the streets in their present condition, and then again the lack of funds hampered the proceedings.

Ald. Bailey, in excusing himself for not including any appropriation for the street in question in his estimates, stated that the C.P.R. had not made any definite arrangements for their slip, when the estimates were made out.

Mr. McDonald replied that the very fact that the ratepayers were asking for the improvement to the street, would warrant the council taking any steps necessary to obtain the money.

Ald. Ball considered the only way out of the difficulty was to put through a by-law to borrow money for the purpose, and have it voted on by the people.

Ald. Rowcliffe was sure such a by-law would never pass. The amount of damage that would be done to the other streets by hauling rock, was gravely commented upon, it being considered next to impossible to start work until the ground was frozen up, or else the spring came.

Mr. McDonald wished to know what the road would be like in the spring, he said at that time it would be impossible to come near the track.

The fact of putting through a by-law would possibly raise the rate to 35 or 36 mills, and the council wished to see the rate lowered instead of increased.

Ald. Elliott was of the opinion that the increased assessment on the sub-divisions would pay for the street with next year's taxes.

Further discussion ensued, as to the lateness of time the matter was brought before the council, it being remarked that the old council left the new council an unavoidable legacy, and that this council would possibly have to do the same.

Ald. Rowcliffe commented upon the short days, and said a full day's work could never be put in.

Ald. Elliott suggested a temporary repair, with just a light coat of rock and soil, but Ald. Bailey wished to see the thing done in a peramanent manner.

Mr. McDonald stated that the Mayor DeHart had been over the road and had said a great deal as to what could be done next spring, but said naught about doing anything this year.

He, Mr. McDonald, invited the council to crowd on to a wagon with a ton load on, and see how far they could get with it. It was cruel to the horses to get them to drag even a small load on the street as it was at present.

The council agreed to look at the street and see what could be done to aid the trffic to and from the cars this year. An agreement was made to meet the council at 10 o'clock on the morrow. The deputation then retired.

The next question brought up was the plan of sub-division of lot 139 Block 48, presented by Mr. Duggan. The same was accepted by the council.

By-laws Nos. 66 and 67 were then recommended to be read a second and third time.

A long discussion arose as to how much money should be borrowed to disburse the debts incurred over the re-building of the power house, and also the break down. $3,000 had been mentioned at the general meeting, but that was before the break down occurred.

Several of the aldermen thought that the light account itself should pay for the break down, but Ald. Ball considered that the aim of the plant should be to supply light at a cheaper rate.

The city clerk looked out the profit the plant had realized in October, mentioning the sum of $233 as profit. He also mentioned that $3,884 was required over and above the insurance money paid for the building of the new power house.

The incorporation of a specific sum for the re-building of the power house, and another for the break down was suggested, but it was pointed out that the by-law could not be legally issued to cover the expense of two separate things. The by-law for the break down would have to go through separately.

After further discussion it was agreed to make the sum to be borrowed as $4,000, that sum being considered adequate.

The second by-law was one to borrow $12,200 for Local Improvements.

Ald. Elliott asked if a light could be placed over the bridge in Pendozi Street, as it was very dark there. It was decided to place a light on the south side of the bridge.

The Police Report was left over until next meeting.

Young Men Organize a Social Club

A very successful move was made last Thursday evening to organize a social club in this town, quite a few would be members being present at the initial meeting

It was desired to form a preliminary committee to look after the initial proceedings, to frame up rules and regulations, also to look for the most convenient room.

The following were nominated to act as a committee: Mr R. Mathie, Mr Duggan, Mr P. Brooks, Mr Moorehouse, Mr J. Campbell, and Mr V. D. Wade.

A meeting of the committee was was held directly after the general meeting, when the cost of running such a club was considered, it being decided that a membership fee of $3.00 for the winter season (5 months) would be found adequate to meet the liabilities incurred.

It was considered that after the initial outlay had been met the rate could be reduced.

It was decided that the name of the club should be the K. Y. F. or Kelowna Young Fellows Club and that it should:

(1) Provide a place of meeting for the members.

(2) Provide reading matter and literature, also writing materials.

(3) Provide games and other amusements.

(4) Organize concerts among its members both socially and for profit.

The preliminary rules for the club were formed and a limit of age for members agreed upon, it being decided that all members should be over the age of seventeen.

After a vote of thanks had deen passed to Mr H. W. Raymer, for the use of a room for the initial meeting, an adjournment was made with a resolution to meet again on Thursday November 11th (to-day) in Lequimes Hall when the proposition will be put before the public.

The proceedings will start at 8 oclock sharp.

Benevolent Society

Gratifying results were obtained at the meeting held last Friday at the home of Mrs T. Lawson, to further the cause for which money has been collected, and also to form a Benevolent Society. The ladies present decided to form the latter society to provide help in severe cases, it being pointed out that some children were suffering from want of sufficient and proper clothing.

Under these circumstances it was decided to ask all ladies to contribute towards furnishing and making childrens clothing also to give any discarded clothing they may have on hand to the cause.

Any such articles can be left at the home of Mrs Dan Campbell in Glenn Avenue or else reported to the following ladies who will deal with the matter: Mrs Rowcliffe. Mrs Millie, Mrs Lawson, and Mrs Daniel.

The ladies interested wish to make a special appeal to the ladies to come to a meeting to be held at the home of Mrs Dan Campbell on Monday November 15th, at three oclock, to properly elect officers and also make provision for the manufacture of clothes, and the care of same.

The ladsies wish to thank the Benvoulin district for another donation of $19.90, towards the Mc Millan fund.

Constable Tooth left Monday for Kamloops with prisoners Mc Leod and Richards. The former was sent down for a term for carrying concealed weapons, while the latter was committed for trial for horse stealing.

Don't fail to hear and see Professor Knox on November 26th.

Meeting of Board of Trade

Fruit to be Sent to Lord Strathcona - Mr. DuMoulin Suggests Formation of a Citizens' League.

A bare quorum was present at the Board of Trade meeting, held last night in the High School, Mr, P. DuMoulin being in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting, held on October 13th, were read and adopted, after which the secretary read the following correspondence:

From W. R. Pooley, pointing out that Lord Strathcona, when speaking about his recent tour through British Columbia, stated that the apples grown there lacked the flavour of those grown elsewhere. He suggested that Lord Strathcona be provided with some boxes of Cox's Orange or Newton Pippins, and at the same time attention should be drawn to his remark, asking him to test the strength of his statement. It was decided to write Mr. Pitcairn, who was on his way to the Old Country, and ask him to secure some fruit grown in Kelowna, and send to Lord Strathcona and also to Mr. Mr. Gaston, Lord Strathcona's agent in Scotland.

A publication on "Fruit Farming in the Dry Belt," was next submitted, the editor being Mr. Redmayne. This gentleman was here about two weeks ago, and had, since his return distributed the publication.

A letter was also read from the C.P.R., stating that the daily boat service would be continued as long as the freight and passenger traffic would warrant the double daily service; as soon as a loss was being experienced they would go back to the usual winter service. The letter was filed.

Several copies of letters from the Associated Boards of Trade, re a reduction in the rates were read, also letters relating to the establishment of an experimental station, and the fumigation of trees from the coast nurseries. Filed.

A long list of bargain advertising schemes were submitted from the "Colonizer," a paper issued in London, England. These were referred to the publicity committee.

Mr. Kerr reported that he had received on an average, one letter a day from persons in Ontario and Quebec, all asking for literature about Kelowna. He put the reason down to the advertisement in "Canada Life and Resources," but very few had acknowledged the source.

Mr. G. C. Rose reported that the council had payed the balance of their grant, and that the money had been put to the credit of the board.

Mr. Rose also asked the opinion of the members of the board on changing the day of meeting so that a fuller report could be obtained in the papers. It was dfficult to find time to get out a full report and people were at a loss to know what the Board of Trade were doing. The day of meeting was found to suit the majority of members, and no steps were taken in the matter.

Mr. Hayman brought up the fact that Mr. DeHart would not be going to Spokane, and that he would not be able to look after the sale of the land, won as a prize at the Spokane Show. It was agreed to write Mr. J. Gibb, who was supervising the exhibit for Kelowna and to ask him if he would look at the land and place sale of same in the hands of a reliable real estate man.

A long discussion ensued over the arrangements for landing cattle at the C.P.R.'s new wharf, it being agreed to write the C.P.R., asking them to place a cattle shoot and small stockyard at the disposal of shippers and settlers.

Mr. DuMoulin suggested that a citizens' league should be formed to look after the election of councilmen, so that the same quality of good men on the council could be maintained as heretofore. It was, however, agreed that the board would not be well advised to go into the matter as a body, although the suggestion was a good one.

Mr. Hayman asked the board to recommend the extension of the park lights to the point, and to place a red light on the point to guide navigation.

The board decided that the council was the right body to approach on the subject.

Some discussion arose as to the time resolutions should be passed to put before the Associated Boards of Trades, when they met here in January. It was decided to form a committee on resolutions, the nominations being Messrs. Kerr, Sutherland and Elliott.

Mr. Kerr suggested that the application should be made to have a pillar box placed on the wharf and cleared by someone on the boat when she arrived. Owing to there being no mail clerk on the boat the matter was dropped.

It was stated that when Mr. Wilkinson was here he had pointed out the advisability of a mono-line railway out into the country, and Mr. Kilpatric of the C.P.R. had also said that the land was very suitable. He was looking forward to a time when the cars would be loaded in the orchard and taken down to the wharf by electric power.

After a little further discussion of various details the meeting was adjourned.

The Hospital Wants Your Help

The secretary of the Kelowna Hospital Society appeals to the annual subscribers to that society and to all interested in the success of the Kelowna Hospital, to remit with all promptitude their donations in aid of the funds.

During the past ten months 140 patients have been treated in the institution, and over 42 operations, the majority being of major degree, have been performed.

The Provincial Government made no grant this year nor has a per capita grant been allowed. The City Council granted the sum of $250 on the completion of the estimates for the municipal year.

The public interest in the hospital, which was well sustained during the earlier part of the year, and resulted in substantial benefit to the funds, has been sadly lacking of late. The institution is one deserving, nay, entitled to an ample measure of continuous support from all. It is absolutely unsectarian. The patients have been drawn from all races. In our interest in the hospital, and in our efforts on its behalf, we meet on the common ground of sympathy with human suffering.

All cheques should be drawn in favour of the Kelowna Hospital Society, and addressed to the Secretary, Kelowna Hospital. Contributions will be acknowledged through the press.

"Bis dat qui cito dat."

We have been asked to state that the school doors will open to admit pupils at 9-15 instead of 9 o'clock. This intimation is given to parents who send their children to school early thinking they will get into the school directly on their arrival. School does not start until 9.30, and if they arrive at 9.15 or 9.20 they will be in ample time, and will not have to stand about in the wet and cold waiting for the doors to open.

The Misses Cather, of Springwood, will be at home each Friday afternoon in the month.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wheeler and family left for the coast this morning on a short visit.

Don't forget to hear Premier MacBride on Saturday.

On Saturday afternoon next the electors of Kelowna and district will have an opportunity of hearing at first hand the outline of the Provincial Government's future policy. Premier McBride and Attorney-General Bowser, accompanied by our local representative the Hon. Price Ellison, Minister of Public Lands, are due to arrive in Kelowna on Saturday afternoon next, and will address a meeting in Raymer's Hall at 3 o'clock, thus giving the people of the near-by districts, for the large number of which Kelowna is justly celebrated, an opportunity to attend.

The great cry of all growing is for transporation, and it is mainly on a railroad policy that the goverment is now appealing to the people, and all those who have any interest at stake, or who have the welfare of the province at heart should not fail to be present on Saturday afternoon.

The "Literary" held at J. Wolsey's had an off night, games and a social time being indulged in. The meeting next week will be at Mrs. Wm. Gay's, when cuttings from magazines and papers, also questions, will be handed to the president, and impromptu speeches made on the different subjects brought up.

Nov. 5th, of Guy Fawkes fame, a day dear to the heart of the British youngster, was celebrated by some of the benchers. The crack of the squib and roar of the rocket denoted that the old custom was still observed around the burning tree stump which did duty for a "Guy."

Another custom, which is not always so conducive of innocent fun, was celebrated last week, viz., "Halloween," and the results go to prove that the fool-killer is not attending to his work. We can all enjoy fun and harmless joking, but when it comes to destroying property and ill-using dumb animals, we conclude that none but "smart Alecks," devoid even of horse sense, would be guilty of such conduct! Those who broke into a bencher's shack (a man who is respected by the more intelligent Rutlanders), turned everything movable outside, broke open the stable, and mutilated the mane and tail of the horse, deserve a salutary lesson, and to be taught that, in this country at least, such conduct will not be tolerated, and that a man's habitation, whether tent, shack, or mansion, is sacred. We understand that the recipient of their attentions is determined to push the case, as the names of the "hooligans" are known, and no law-abiding citizen will sympathize with them if they get what they deserve. House-breaking is a criminal offence.

A CANINE HERO.

The Story of Scotch, an Obedient and Loyal Dog.

A most interesting as well as a most pathetic dog story is related by Enos A. Mills in his book, "Wild Life on the Rockies." Mr. Mills and his dog Scotch were on a four days' tramp on the summit of a desolate and lofty range far above the timber line, and Mr. Mills stopped to take some photographs. The work required that he should remove his sheepskin mittens, which he placed in his coat pocket. The story follows:

From time to time as I climbed the summit of the continental divide I stopped to take photographs, but on the summit the cold pierced my silk gloves, and I felt for my mittens, to find that one of them was lost.

I stopped, put an arm around Scotch, and told him I had lost a mitten and that I wanted him to go down for it to save me trouble.

Instead of starting off willingly, as he had invariably done before in obedience to my commands, he stood still. I thought he had misunderstood me, so I patted him and then, pointing down the slope, said: "Go for the mitten, Scotch. I will wait here for you."

He started for it, but went unwillingly. He had always served me so cheerfully that I could not understand, and it was not until late the next afternoon that I realized that he had loyally and at the risk of his life tried to obey me.

My cabin, 18 miles away, was the nearest house, and the region was utterly wild. I waited a reasonable time for Scotch to return, but he did not come back. As it was late in the afternoon and growing colder, I decided to go on toward my cabin along a route that I felt sure he would follow, and I reasoned that he would overtake me.

When at midnight he had not come I felt something was wrong. I slept two hours and decided to go to meet him. The thermometer showed 14 below zero. I kept on going, and at 2 in the afternoon, 24 hours after I had sent Scotch back, I paused on a crag and looked below. There in the snowy world of white he lay by the mitten in the snow. He had misunderstood me and had gone back to guard the mitten instead of to get it.

After waiting for him to eat a luncheon we started merrily toward home, where we arrived at 1 o'clock in the morning.

Had I not returned, I suppose Scotch would have died beside the mitten. In a region cold, cheerless, oppressive, without food and perhaps to die, he lay down by the mitten because he understood that I told him to. In the annals of dog heroism I know of no greater deed.

Lingering Belief in Magic.

The man in the country knows better than to offend the occult powers by "cutting them dead," an offence which soon bears its own punishment. In Devonshire to this day, when someone is afflicted with what is known as "a white leg," a bandage is put on the leg, and "the following formula is repeated nine times, each time followed by the Lord's Prayer":

As Jesus Christ was walking He saw the Virgin Mary sitting on a cold marble stone. He said unto her: "If it is a white ill thing, or a red ill thing, or a black ill thing, or a sticking, cracking, pricking, stabbing, bone ill thing, or a sore ill thing, or a swelling ill thing, or a rotten ill thing, or a cold creeping ill thing, or a smarting ill thing—let it fall from thee to the earth in My Name, and in the Name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.—Amen."—Occult Review.

A Prohibited Inscription.

In the west cloister of Westminster Abbey, in the oldest part of the building, imbedded in the pavement is a slab of marble marking the grave of John Broughton, who was a verger in the abbey for more than thirty years and before he obtained the situation was the champion prizefighter of Great Britain, holding the belt for more than twelve years. The guides who show people around the abbey say that when he was buried in the cloister some of his admirers wanted to immortalize him with an appropriate epitaph, and they indicate a blank space under his name which was left for the inscription, "For twelve years champion prizefighter of England," but it was prohibited.—Argonaut.

How It Grew.

Mrs. A (to Mrs. B.)—That Mrs. Newcomer is so fond of children. The other day when I called she was blowing soap bubbles with them through a common clay pipe.

Mrs. B. (to Mrs. C.)—That Mrs. Newcomer is so funny. Mrs. A. saw her amusing the children with a common clay pipe.

Mrs. C. (to Mrs. D.)—That Mrs. Newcomer smokes a comomn clay pipe.

Mrs. D. (to Mrs. E.)—That Mrs. Newcomer smokes a horrid pipe. I don't see how any woman in her sober senses could do that.

Mrs. E. (to Mrs. F.)—That Mrs. Newcomer smokes a pipe and drinks awfully.—London Scraps.

A Roumanian Custom.

A strange custom is still observed in Roumania. When a servant has displeased his or her master, the offender takes his boots in his hands and places them before the bedroom door of his master. It is a sign of great submission, and the boots are either kicked away as an intimation that the fault will not be forgiven, or else the servant is told to place them on his feet, which shows that he is forgiven.

Cheese in Soup.

Cheese is almost always a nice addition to a soup. Besides being agreeable to the palate, it adds nutriment to the soup if it is not rich in itself, like the tomato and the vegetable soup. Any good yellow cheese can be utilized in this way, even ordinary Canadian cheese. In foreign households clear consomme and other soups are often accompanied by grated Parmesan cheese.

Operation on Ocean Liner.

An ocean liner, travelling at 20 knots per hour is not the best place to perform a difficult operatien, yet this feat was successfully accomplished on the Cunard liner Campania, which arrived in Liverpool a few days ago. The ship's surgeon, Dr. Robt. Bruce, assisted by two medical passengers, was compelled as a last resourse to operate for appendicitis on one of the stewards. On arrival at Liverpool the patient was sufficiently well to proceed to his own home in Birkenhead.

Ocean Cables in Time of War.

A bill has just been passed in Australia, enabling the the Federal Government to seize and hold in time of war, all ocean cables touching Australia.

Suffragettes Throw Stones at Teleyraph Wires.

During a speech by Mr. Walter Runciman, M.P. at Radcliffe, several women went to the post office and endeavoured by throwing stones, to break the telegraph wires, in order to prevent the right hon. gentleman's address being telegraphed to the newspapers. They were successful in this, but managed to break one of the large plate glass windows. Five of them were taken into custody.

Hired Boat to Chase a Liner.

Miss Rose Smith, who had booked to New York by the White Star Liner, Cedric is a young lady not to be overcome by trifles. She arrived in Queenstown Sunday morning, to find the Cedric just steaming out. She hired a boat and gave chase, but though the boatmen rowed their hardest, they were unable to overtake the liner. Miss Smith then requsted to be put on board the Cunard Lusitania, which was just setting sail, and from there communicated by wireless with the Cedric, explaining the situation, and receiving their consent to travel by the Lusitania. She will probably arrive in New York a day or two ahead of the Cedric.

Burglars' Mean Trick.

Burglars entered the residence of Capt. Higginson, R.N., at Ealing, and stole a quantity of silver plate. Not content with this they obtained a quantity of lard from the kitchen and carefully plastered it all over the drawing room wall.

Ploughs up an Ancient Fattle Field.

A farmer ef Ardee Co., Louth, recently sent one of his men to plough up a field, unearthed about 50 human skeletons. Enquiries showed the place to have been the scene of several battles, which occurred about 300 years ago. The farmer had the skeletons removed and reinterred, marking the place by the erection of a cross.

Warrant Issued Twelve Years Ago.

Twelve years ago a warrant was issued for the arrest of a Nottingham young man who, however, managed to escape from the country. He is now desirous of returning to his home, in order to see his invalid mother. The magistrates, however, refuse to withdraw the warrant.

An Aeroplane Dance.

A new dance, the outcrop of aviation, has made its appearance. Its name is "L'Aeronnette," and it has been introduced by M. Leport, president of the Academy of Paris Dancing Masters. The dance, says "Gentlewoman," is composed of four distinct movements. No. 1, the couples perform a slow step, imitating the "rolling" of the aeroplane; No. 2, the couples raise their arms slowly, indicating that the aeroplane is rising in the air, whereupon they advance with little steps; No. 3 illustrates the unsteadiness of the aeroplane at the start, trying to recover its balance; No. 4 finally describes the descent.

Lieutenant Shackleton Starts on Big Lecture Tour.

Lieutenant Shackleton has commenced at Queen's Hall, London, a lecturing tour which will make him a busy man for some time to come. "Never before," says the manager of the lecture agency which has programme, "has such a long list of lectures been set down to the name of a famous man for a single tour." All the principal towns and cities in the United Kingdom and the chief capitals of Europe. Then will follow a visit to the United States, with visits to at least 30 cities.

School Teachers Ought to be Taught.

Speaking at University College, Phonetics, Professor Jones said that it was high time the teachers in schools learned to pronounce their words properly. The pronunciation of children in public schools was deplorable, and in most cases the teachers did not improve it, often leading astray some of the children by their extraordinary use of th English language. The sooner the teachers are taught the correct way to pronounce their words the better, as it way partly owing to them adhereing to the spelling, that the wrong sounds were used by the majority of school children.

Kelowna's Exhibit Leaves for Spokane

Last Saturday, the exhibit, prepared at the hands of Mr. F. R. E. DeHart and collected from all the best known orchards in the district, left for its destination at Spokane, Washington, where it will be exhibited against fruit from the best known fruit producing districts in the world. The total number of boxes shipped were sixty-one, sixty of which produced the best fruit that could be picked from the various orchards, the remaining one containing literature for distribution among the admirers of the exhibit.

The total number of entries number well over fifty, comprising exhibits in the box, pyramid and plate exhibits, each specimen looking a perfect winner.

The packing, which has been done during the past few days by Mr. J. Gibb, the expert packer, who had charge of that part of last year's exhibit, is certainly a work of art.

Each box was carefully packed with a double top and bottom so as to minimize any chance of bruising during the rather rough transit. The shipment of the fruit, which in the absence of Mr. DeHart, who is away on electioneering business, was made by way of Penticton, at which point a spring wagon will be ready to carry it over the rough road to Oroville, Washington, from whence it will travel directly to its destination at Spokane. This route will save time, besides causing less handling than last year, and will not deteriorate the condition of the apples nearly as much as last year's transit did.

Messrs. J. Gibb and N. Lloyd left by the same boat, and will personally conduct the exhibit trough to Spokane, and look after the setting of it up.

Mr. Gibb, who knew the exhibits sent in last year, felt very confident of success, and although he does not consider the colour of the apples is equal to last year, the trouble in this respect is general through the country, and will not materially impair the chance of success. Taken for granted that the exhibit goes on its way without mishap, it is practically bound to win outright, for it includes some of the finest fruit ever grown in this country and the world.

In the capable hands of Mr. Gibb and Mr, Lloyd, the fruit will be insured of a good display and it now remains for us to await the result: longing for the time when it will be in season to pat Mayor DeHart on the back and congratulate him on another success, such as he obtained last year at the same apple show.

Hortense Nielson in "Magda."

Magda in many ways is the most remarkable of Suderman's great plays that has ever been produced. Burndunt, Duse, Mentford and by many of our great stars. No one ever considered that a run of over a year could be accomplished until Hortense Nielson made the character of Magda one of the greatest creations of modern times. Before Miss Nielson produced Magda, she studied the character for three and then went to Germany, where it was then played under Sudmann's direction. She not only had the opportunity of seeing the original German company, but also had the chance to study the people and their character. She is an ideal Magda in size and looks, weighing only 115 pounds.

Miss Nielson is a woman of broad and delicate art, her magnetism is said to be remarkable and her individuality of conception that she has given the role makes her presentation distinctly original. A young and beatiful woman, she attracts all classes of play-goers with her splendid talent and genius.

Magda will be played on Monday, Nov. 15th, and Ghosts will be produced on the previous Saturday, Nov. 13th.

Steps to Establish Navy.

One of the first steps toward the actual establishment of the n w Canadian navy will be the securing from Great Britain of two second or third class cruisers as training ships for officers and men, and as fisheries protective vessels in Canadian waters. The cruisers will be loaned to Canada, pending the construction of the vessels for the Canadian navy, and arrangements have now been completed between the Admiralty and the Canadian government. One vessel will be used on the Atlantic coast and the other on the Pacific, and will begin the training of men at once. A naval academy may also be established as a necessary addition for the efficient training of the crews.

Quebec Bridge.

The expert engineers who were sent to report and prepare plans for the Quebec bridge have sent in their report to the Minister of Railways. They state that it is possible to span the St. Lawrence at the site of the old bridge structure with a bridge either of the suspension or cantilever design.

Already Wanting Space at Next New Westminster Fair.

The New Westminster Exhibition has reached a position of undeniable importance the in estimation of the various fruit-growing districts of the province. Altho the exhibition has only been closed about three weeks applications are already coming in to the secretary for space in next year's show. Summerland, it seems, with characteristic energy, is taking time by the forelock and seeking representation in the 1910 fair. Other districts who have made application are Comox, Surrey, Armstrong and Mission. The exhibit from Comox at the recent exhibition experienced very great difficulty in getting to its destination, having been transhipped no less than eight times in the course of its journey from the Island.

Still Seeking Carriboo Hold-ups.

The police hnve been busy searching for the two highwaymen who held up the Cariboo Stage recently, but have not yet been successful. The stage held several registered packages, but the loss is not so great as was originally estimated. A cheque for a large amount covers the majority of the $5,000 reported lost, and no gold dust was on the stage. Payment of the cheque has been stopped, and a strict watch is being kept on the various banks. The only clue as to what trail the robbers took after the hold-up is in some clearly defined hoof-prints indicating that they made a hurried exit from the district.

Caused Prairie Fire.

One of the rare cases when a man is brought to justice for starting a prairie fire was heard before Police Magistrate Shannon of Killarney, Manitoba. The man, whose name was Lester Parks, pleaded guilty to being the cause of the conflagration, as he was setting fire to stubble and did not have an adequate fire guard. He was fined $50 or six months in jail.

Hold-up at Niagara Falls.

A most daring hold-up occurred at Niagara Falls at five o'clock in the afternoon last Thursday. Two strangers came to the door of the express office, situated a few yards from the Grand Trunk Railway station, and one of them asked the clerk if there was a trunk for him. As the clerk was bending over the book looking for the name the man struck him over the head with a loaded pipe, rendering him unconscious. The two men then leapt over the counter and gathered up bank notes to extent of many thousand dollars. The police had to wait for some time until the clerk was well enough to give his evidence and a description of his assailants. It was not until this was received that the police were able to start on their search.

Navy Bill Will Appear This Session.

The Canadian Parliament will open today the session possibly continuing for six months. The chief item of discussion on the programme will be the bill by which the new Canadian navy will be constituted. There will be a tarriff discussion, but little legislation will be looked for beyond a bill to confirm the Franco-Canadian Trade Treaty. The Canadian Gazette contains many notices of intended applications for legislation. The Kettle Valley railway, the Vancouver, Westminster, and Yukon railway, and the Victoria and Vancouver Eastern railway all seek time extensions to build their lines.

Report Shows Wheat Increase.

The reports of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange show that nearly double the output of grain is anticipated this year as against last, owing to the increased acreage in crop and the greater yield per acre. Fort William heads the list for the output of grain, the total number of bushels estimated being 4,599,000. Port Arthur comes second with over three million bushels.

Ellison School District.

The subject for last Tuesday's debate was "Woman Suffrage." Unfortunately owing to the roads being rather muddy, and the appearance of a few drops of rain, very few turned out, making the subject a very difficult one to handle. Mr. Geo. Stirling was chairman and spoke long and earnestly in favor of women's rights. He thought as women must obey the laws they should have a share in the making of them. He sympathized with the suffragists in England, and predicted that ere long women would have the right of voting there. He enlarged upon the noble qualities of women, their steadfastness in their ideas of right, the good influence their presence should have upon men engaged in political life, their high morality, their strict honesty.

Mr. Clarke, whilst acknowledging that there are many good noble women well fitted for Parliamentary honors, thought that there was a much less capable class of women who would be entitled to vote who wohld be of no benefit to the country. Still, he was rather in favor of women having the vote?

Mrs. Hay asked if the tide of the tide of foreign immigration affected the polls of women in this country.

Miss O'Reilly thonght the more sacred duties of women in the home life would suffer by entering the political arena. She also mentioned the likelihood of women being subjected to sneers and hisses from her opponents.

Mr. McDonald said voting should at least be limited to single women owning property, whilst Mr. W. Munson was of opinion that if women had the right of voting should be discussion in the home.

Mr. Sirling clearly answered most of the objections, and on a vote being taken it was found to be in favor of franchise for women.

News of the Valley.

A Salmon Arm orchard is lamenting the loss of nine or ten boxes of Ben Davis apples, the "Observer," calling the theft a foolish one. We agree, why not go for Suttons or Newtons?

William Fulkard, a young man of 23 years of age, met his death last week at Enderby, being practically blown to pieces by dynamite. The deceased was thawing out powder for blasting stumps on the government road, at the time of the accident, happened to be loading one of the holes. He took up a box of caps and some fuse, when the contents of the box exploded in his arms, injuring him terribly. The injured man was taken to the Vernon Hospital, but the shock combined with the loss of blood, was too much for him. He died within a few hours after being admitted.

The Summerland Review relates a strange romance, which, however does not have the happy ending. A young woman, it appears, who lived at Gellatly, had a squabble with her parents and resolved to leave her home. She consequently boarded the Okanagan, and when on board, told her pitful tale to one of the passengers. When the pair got as far as Summerland, the young man's sympathy was aroused, and he decided right there and then that they would see a priest and he would claim her as his own. A telephone message from the father, however, cut the wedding short and the runaway was forced return home. The young man made a hurried exit, as there was some mention made of arresting him in connection with the case.

Norval McGregor.

Norval McGregor, Miss Hortense Nielsen's main support, holds the distinction of having played in more countries than generally falls to the lot of the average actor. He has received the praise of the press and public, not only in critical New York, Boston and San Francisco, but the English critics in the Oriental countries have compared him very favorably with their great English actors. He carries with him notices from the Hong Kong Daily Mail, The Englishman of Calcutta, the Bombay Gazette, The Age, of Melbourne, all testifying to his ability in their opinions. He has run the whole gamut of Shakespearian drama, and holds the distinction of having played in five Ibsen plays and originated two of the leading roles in this country.

The Lyric Theatre has been engaged by the Hortense Nelson Co., for November 13th, 15th, 16th, when two plays will be produced, "Magda" and "A Doll's House." Who said a dog did not know his own country? A sure proof that at least one member of the canine race either did not like the climate on the other side of the lake, or else saw no prospect of getting fed, was shown last Friday, when Sport, a dog belonging to Mr. J. E. Wheeler, was taken across the lake on the ferry, and somehow or other got left on the other side when the return journey was made. Determined not to be done, the dog started the long swim across the lake, arriving home in the wee sma' hours of the morning and made his way to the hotel, where, in a siffened up condition, he slept for some twelve hours utterly exhausted. Truly a good "sport" eh!

A. Shatford, of Vernon, and A. P. Morris, of Kamloops, have been appointed returning officers for the Okanagan and Kamloops Electoral districts. J. A. Brown, of Keremeos is appointed returning officer for the Similkameen.

Premier McBride will arrive in this district on Saturday, November 13th, and will hold his first meeting in Penticton. On the same day he will visit Summerland and Vernon, taking in Kelowna on his way up the valley. He will address the meeting here at about three o'clock in the affernoon.

A slight alteration has been made during the past week in the boat service, the time of leaving the Landing being altered from 12:15 to 12:45. Consequently the afternoon boat will be scheduled to arrive here thirty minutes later, namely at 3:05 instead of 2:35.

The Lyric Theatre found itself capable of comfortably seating eighteen people last Friday, on the occasion of the Cassels Percival Co.'s visit to this town. Friday is considered a bad day for theatrical entertainments any way, owing to the fact that quite a number of people are attending choir practice and other functions, but the show put up by this first class company was certainly worthy of a better attendance.

Last Friday, final arrangements were made between Mr. J. E. Wheeler and Messrs. Lavigne and Dart for the purchase by the latter party of the Royal Hotel. The deal, which we understand is a cash one, will be very satisfactory to Mr. Wheeler, for he has been wishing to get back to his interests on the prairie for some months past. The new proprietors are from Strathcona and are related to each other, Mr. Dart being Mr. Lavigne's brother-in-law. Mr. J. E. Wheeler will leave, together with his family about the end of this month for Moose Jaw and Caron, and while we are sorry to say goodbye to this popular proprietor, we are pleased to shake hands with the new parties in the project. The change in the management took place last Monday.

Attention is drawn to the secretary's remarks with reference to the yearly subscriptions to the Hospital which are now due. We understand that the cost of running the institution is away ahead of the funds coming in, and in order to meet the expenses of the institution, it is absolutely necessary that those subscriptions and donations should be sent in regularly and promptly.

The cement mixer started work last Friday, filling the forms for the foundation of the new school on Corner Richter St. and Glenn Ave.

What Local Option has Done for New Zealand.

The remarkable results of the "local option" and "reduction" polls, taken in connection with the recent New Zealand general election, have already had a most beneficial effect. At a meeting of the Auckland Brewers' and Licensed Victuallers' Association, reprenting all the wholesale and nearly every member of the retail trade, held at Auckland, it was unanimously resolved "to abolish barmaids, to abolish private bars, and to raise the age limit" of youth who may be served with liquor from 18 to 20 years. No woman will be supplied with liquor for consumption on the premises unless she is boarding in the house. In an interview the mayor of Auckland, who is himself a brewer, stated that "since the trade has to ask the people every three years for the continuance of its existance, it is necessary for it to be conducted on lines approved by the public at large." During the recent discussion on the Licensing Bill in this country we heard much about the hardships of "throwing defenceless women out of employment," but here in New Zealand we have seen an enlightened liquor traffic prohibiting barmaids, protecting women and children from the temptations of the public house without the aid of legislation. Local Option is truly a most reforming influence, and might, if tried in this country almost render unnecessary many of the important but minor clauses of the recent Licensing Bill.

Shingling Roofs.

Chaplain McCabe tells a story of a drinking man who, being in the saloon late at night, heard the wife of the saloon keeper say to her husband, "Send that fellow home, it is late." "No, never mind," said her husband, "he's shingling our house for us." This idea lodged in the mind of the drunkard, and he did not return to the saloon for six months. When passing the saloon keeper in the street, the latter said, "Why don't you come around to my place any more?" "Thank you for your kind hospitality," replied the former victim, "I have been shingling my own roof lately."

One Phase of the Curse.

Experts in the treatment of feeble-mindedness, insanity, and epilepsy, are now almost unanimous in attributing to to the drink habit a great deal of the serious evils with which they have to deal. Sad indeed is the lot of little children who have to carry one of the heaviest of the burdens imposed upon humanity because of the wrong-doing of others.

Dr. V. H. Podstata is the superintendent of an asylum for insane and epileptics in Illinois. In a recent article he forcibly points out the relationship just as stated, and tells a sad story of a boy thus afflicted, then he goes on to say:

"But while the case is pathetic, it is not rare. There are today in this fair State of Illinois about eight thousand epileptics. More than half of them are children. Nearly two thousand could, if they knew enough, justly point their fingers at their fathers, or mothers, or at both, and say, 'You are responsible for my misery—you, through the alcohol which made you its slave.'

"And when most of these children die early, prematurely, usually in horrible convultions, with their poor little limbs drawn together in spasms, and their child-faces purple and twitching, from the physician's view-point the case is a case of murder, and the name of the murderer is Alcohol."

Communications

Under this heading communications will be received upon any subject of interest. Letters must be signed, be brief, avoid personalities. The Editor does not necessarily endorse opinions given below.

Editor Orchard City Record,

Dear Sir,—It has come to my notice that some person selling trees has circulated a report that no trees are grown at Kelowna in connection with the Layritz Nurseries. I would like to inform our customers and those expecting planting out orchards in this vicinity that this year over 20,000 trees have been grown at Kelowna by us, these all being strictly first class, there still being a quantity of this unsold. In the best commercial interest, and for future business. Mr. Layritz, of Victoria, has recently purchased ten acres of the very best land procurable a short distance out of Kelowna, which will be used entirely and solely for the enlargement of his branch nursery here. This new acquision is being carefully worked and prepared now for next spring's extensive planting.

Yours truly,
ALBERT E. BOYER.

TYROLEAN MARKSMEN.

Peasant Sharpshooters and the Way They Are Trained.

Some idea of the accuracy of a Tyrolean crack shot may be gathered from the fact that unless he can, standing, put five successive bullets into a space that can be covered by a half crown piece at 200 yards he considers himself in very poor form. Even then his score may be only 20 out of a possible 30. A poor shot, though a man who can get on the 12-inch bull every time, may find himself credited with a paltry five or six. It is disheartening work for a novice, even if he has not done so badly at Bisley in former days and proudly sported the marksman's crossed rifles on his volunteer tunic.

That this fancy shooting—there is no better name for it—does not spoil the Tyrolese peasant for military rifle shooting is amply demonstrated when we witness an Imperial rifle regiment on parade. It would seem as if every man wore the green velvet balls dangling on his breast, the Austrian Army badge of marksmanship. But, excellent weapon as is the Austrian Mannlicher rifle, it is of little use at the tiny targets of the national shooting ranges.

The writer has had ample opportunity of studying the Tyrolese peasant marksman at home. Every village or cluster of villages has its own rifle range, run by the village council, and controlled by the state. Membership is not obligatory, but there is on subscription attached to it, and, once a member, the peasant may use any rifle range throughout the country. A further privilege is granted him after the completion of his three years' military service—namely, that one of the annual three weeks' trainings with the colors as reservist is remitted to the Standeschutz, or member of the National Rifle Club. This is also an exclusive Tyrolese privilege.

When a youth reaches the age of 18 he must attend the nearest rifle range, whether he is a member or not, and fire a certain number of shots. And later, if he is passed for military service, he must again fire a certain number of rounds as conscript ere he joins his regiment. The regimental authorities thus know the shooting possibilities of each recruit, and these preliminary tests are carried out with the service rifle, of which every range must possess a few.

Weather permitting, every range is open for practice on Sunday throughout the year from 11 a.m. till sundown. Ammunition is supplied at cost price, but most marksmen prefer to supply their own cartridges, which they fill themselves. The clerk of the range enters every score on an official sheet, and a nominal charge of four hellers (less than a halfpenny) is made for each shot entered therein. This pays for the upkeep of the range, the markers, etc.

An additional zest is given by a weekly Gnadengabe (gift of grace) from the Government, whereby the top scorers of the day receive two or three shillings each as a prize. The older men and crack shots, however, seldom compete for these small prizes and give their younger and poorer comrades a chance to pay their day's shooting expenses—Reginald Wyon, in Chambers' Journal.

As In a Looking-Glass.

"I know I am looking like a fright to-night," said the woman.

The man studied her dress, her hair and her complexion closely.

"I don't see anything the matter with you," he said. "So far as I can see, you are looking as well as usual."

"But I am not," she insisted. "There is something wrong, and that head waiter saw at a glance what it is. If I had been up to the mark he wouldn't have put us away over here in this out of the way corner. He would have given us a table right under the chandelier in the middle of the room. All the best dressed people are always seated in the most conspicuous places, so as to make the restaurant look attractive. I am glad to say that that is where I usually sit. The plain people are ranged along the sides of the room just as we are to-night."

Old English Libel Suit.

Parliamentary repartee was ably upheld by Lord Brougham, especially during the great reform debates of the last century. On one occasion, when anti-reformers were trying to howl him down by imitating the sounds made by various animals, among which the braying of the ass was most recurrent, he waited for a pause and then remarked imperturbably that by a wonderful disposition of nature every animal had its peculiar mode of expressing itself and he was too much of a philosopher to quarrel with any of those modes. This was no less severe than the famous libel on the Earl of Limerick, calling him "a thing with human pretensions," which appeared in The Times in 1831 and for which the printer was fined $500 and confined for an indefinite period in Newgate.—London Chronicle.

Americanism.

"Don't," said Lady Lacland to the American heiresses she was about to launch in London—"don't say clerk when you mean shop assistant. A clerk is a writer, not a salesman. Pronounce it 'clark,' by the way.

"Don't say 'mad' when you mean 'angry.' Madness is insanity.

"Don't say 'on' a street, but 'in' a street.

"Don't say 'it is claimed that So-and-so.' Say 'it is declared' or 'it is stated.' Why? Oh, because 'it is claimed' is an Americanism in good Oxford English the expression is neither written nor spoken.

"Don't say 'patent.' Say 'patent'."

Armless, But Useful.

Professor Karl Lohmeyer of Konigsberg, who died at Danzig, at the age of 72, was born without arms. A special permit was granted to allow his entry into the university service. His students opened and shut doors for him, but he turned the pages of books with his mouth and could sign his name firmly with a pen held between his teeth.
