Ald. Jones drew attention to the fact that there was still some of the excavation made in constructing the cement sidewalk along Bernard and Glenn Avenues which was not filled. He asked if it was the intention of the board of works to do anything with it.

Ald. Dalgleish said that if the intention of the Board of Works was carried out the poles would be moved along Bernard Ave. and the road graded out full width as far as the Presbyterian church.

Ald. Jones announced in reference to Mr. W. T. Ashbridge, who had been asked to investigate the question of a sewage system, that he would have his report ready for submitting to the council by the end of the week.

The mayor announced that the Kelowna Land and Orchard Co., had signified their willingness to reserve 60 acres of land for the purpose of a sewage scheme, whenever the city was in a position to take it up.

Referring to the city band, mayor Sutherland pointed out that the city had promised a grant of $50 per month, and asked the council's opinion as to whether they should continue to pay it. The band, he said, had practically gone out of existence.

Ald. Jones did not think they ought to pay if they were getting no benefits from the outlay. He suggested however that the question be left until the next meeting and in the meantime the state of the band ascertained.

Mayor Sutherland stated that as he would be going away shortly for about ten days to attend the convention of the Union of B. C. Municipalities, it would be well to appoint someone to act as mayor in his absence.

A resolution was passed appointing Ald. J. W. Jones acting mayor during the absence of Mayor Sutherland.

The meeting was then adjourned to Friday morning.

John Taylor Channel, an old man of ninety-two, was found guilty of manslaughter at New Westminster last week and sentenced to two years imprisonment. Channel is the oldest prisoner in the history of the Canadian courts.

Complimentary Banquet to the Hon. Martin Burrell

Kelowna Joined by Visitors from all Parts of Valley in Doing Honor to Local Member

The banquet which had been arranged to do honor to the local member in the Dominion House on his recent election and his subsequent elevation to the responsible position of Minister of Agriculture, took place in the Opera House last Thursday evening.

An enthusiastic welcome was given to the Hon. Martin Burrell on his arrival by the s.s. "Okanagan" soon after 3 o'clock. Mr. Burrell was accompanied by Mrs. Burrell and his private secretary, and a large party of supporters from up the valley. Messrs. H. W. Raymer and R. F. Morrison, as president and secretary of the Kelowna Conservative Association received the hon. guest on behalf of the local party. They were supported by a large number of the prominent conservatives (and liberals, too) of the district. Several automobiles were waiting to take the party to the Palace Hotel where a deputation waited upon him on several matters of local interest. The rest of the afternoon was spent in an automobile trip around the district.

During the day the committee charged with the decoration of the hall were busy transforming the interior of the Opera House. A large Union Jack was suspended in the centre of the room with streamers of red, white and blue to the corners. The walls were covered with flags and photographs of the district, with pictures of the Royal family and prominent Canadians.

The banquet itself was attended by some 200 people the long tables being inadequate to provide seats for all who bought tickets. Some forty or fifty of the leading men from up and down the lake were present.

The menu, which included oyster soup, turkey and cranberry sauce, and abundance of other good things, was provided by Messrs. Biggin and Poole.

After the feasting was over chairs were turned round and cigars lighted ready for the speech making. Telegrams conveying regrets for inability to attend were read by the secretary, Mr. R. F. Morrison, from Mayor Sutherland, the Hon. Premier McBride, the Hon. Thos. Taylor, provincial Minister of Public Works, Mr. L. W. Shatford, M.P.P., and the Hon. Price Ellison, provincial Minister of Agriculture.

The toast list was opened in the usual way with "His Majesty the King," proposed by the chairman of the evening, Mr. H. W. Raymer, the meeting joining in the national anthem.

Mr. John Dilworth was the first speaker, and in proposing the toast of "Our Leaders," Mr. R. L. Borden and Mr. Richard McBride; he said it was a pleasure to toast a man like Mr. Borden who had made good from the first, and would no doubt continue to make good. He had the country at his back and when he had got men in the cabinet like the Hon. Martin Burrell, he had got men who were well qualified to rule. Mr. Richard McBride he characterized as the grandest man in the province to-day, and one the province should be proud of.

Mr. J. A. McKelvie, of Vernon, replied. He commended the people of Kelowna on the great success which had attended their efforts in doing honor to their member, the Hon. Martin Burrell.

Speaking of the new premier, the Hon. R. L. Borden, he said that when the affairs of the country were placed in his hands they were placed in the hands of a really great man, who was far superior to to the conception of the average politician. It was fortunate that such a distinguished leader as Sir Wilfrid Laurier had given place to such another great leader as Mr. R. L. Borden.

In Mr. Richard McBride we had an astute, earnest man, in whose hands the province had passed from a condition of chaos to its present high place, and too much credit could not be given him for the work he had done.

Our provincial member, the Hon. Price Ellison, he said, needed no eulogy. All over the Okanagan were monuments to his enterprise and ability.

He referred to the great satisfaction which had been felt all over the Okanagan and Yale-Cariboo at the news that Mr. Martin Burrell had been raised to the cabinet. He believed that the people of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific thought that whatever might be said of the rest of the cabinet there had been no mistake made in selecting Mr. Burrell. The newspapers, too, were unanimous in their approval.

He would not be doing his duty, said Mr. McKelvie, if he did not make kindly reference to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. There was no exultation over a fallen foe. A tremendous question had been decided, but he felt a measure of sympathy as he regarded the efforts of many years by the man who had been the most distinguished Canadian of his day. He hoped he would have many years of prosperity and happiness as leader of the opposition.

Mr. J. M. Robinson in an amusing speech full of interesting reminiscences, proposed "The House of Commons and Our Honored Guest." He enlivened the proceedings with yarns of his early missionary efforts in preaching the "gospel of the sunny Okanagan" and telling his friends who were shivering in the north-west of the haven of rest to be found in the "Italy of Canada," and with extravagant eulogies of Kelowna and its people.

Coming to the subject of the toast he said he had followed closely the career of the Hon. Martin Burrell, and had always found him courteous as a politician and a gentleman, and one who knew his business and had the confidence and support of the best men in Canada. He could not help noticing that the newspaper press had been unanimous in favor of Mr. Burrell as minister of Agriculture. He was the right man in the right spot at the right time. We should hear a good deal of Mr. Burrell during the next fourteen or fifteen years.

The toast was drunk with much enthusiasm, and singing of "He's a jolly good fellow."

In rising to respond to the toast the Hon. Martin Burrell said that of all the tasks which a speaker had to face, the task of replying to such a toast was the most difficult. It was easy, during the heat of an election campaign to go out in the face of opposition and make a fighting speech when one had a cause to defend, but it was not so easy to speak satisfactorily to ones self when meeting all the old tried and true friends, and to attempt to voice one's appreciation of all the good wishes and congratulations which were heard on every side. When he looked around the hall in which they were assembled and saw the gathering of typical western men, full of vigor and earnestness, the beautiful decorations, and the excellent repast which had been prepared, he almost wished he had the tongue of a J. M. Robinson in which to express the pleasure he felt (laughter and cheers).

The chairman of the evening, Mr. H. W. Raymer, said Mr. Burrell was one of the old-timers of the Valley, a tried and true friend who had done much in his time for the party and the district and he was glad to see him there again that night. As for Mr. J. M. Robinson, they all knew that amongst the boosters of the Okanagan Valley none could eclipse the gentleman who had just taken his seat (cheers). While Mr. Robinson was one of the best type of boosters, he was not a booster who could not deliver the goods. He could always deliver the goods. He was a man who had shown a wonderful faith in the district, and strength in his belief in its great future, and such a man generally got what he went after. He (Mr. Burrell) entertained the most grateful appreciation of Mr. Robinson's friendship and the assistance which was always so generously given.

There was one thing which Kelowna could do, continued the speaker. He noticed on the walls photographs and pictures of the National Apple Show at which he himself had had a considerable share of the work of judging. In discussing with Prof. Van Deman the awarding of the prize for the best carload, the latter had declared that in the whole of his career he had seen nothing finer than Kelowna's famous carload of Jonathans. That alone was enough to convince any man what Kelowna could do if she tried.

It was a pleasure to see some new faces amongst the old friends present. Mr. C. A. Stoess he had known twelve years ago as a bashful young man who was characterized by the modesty and ability of the boundary people. He was glad to know that Mr. Stoess was doing good work in the district.

Mr. Wm. Bunting, he noticed, from Ontario, who was performing a mission under the department of agriculture, in preparing comprehensive reports which would be a valuable guide to the department in its future work. When he had taken his stand in the House of Commons on the question of Reciprocity, Mr. Bunting had led the vanguard, and had made a most notable speech.

Mr. John Dilworth he was glad to see back again in his old haunts.

It was a pleasure too to see not only supporters of the Conservative party, but a strong sprinkling of Liberals.

He had no intention, continued the hon. gentleman, of making a speech. He had done that five weeks ago. He had been asked to reply to the toast of himself and also of the House of Commons.

The House of Commons differed from a gathering of the present kind in one pleasant respect. Any man who had to speak on any subject felt that he was met by a part of the members in a hostile spirit. He was often surprised too when he thought he was producing quite a fine effect, to discover that a good many were paying no attention at all. They would be reading newspapers, or would sometimes get up and go out. He had the advantage at the present meeting that no one was going out and that everyone was very friendly disposed.

He had some amusing remarks

Mr. James McEachern returned Saturday after two months visit on the prairie.

Next Sunday is world's temperance Sabbath in the Sunday schools.

The C.P.R. has replied to the letters of protest written from Kelowna against the Sunday boat that the change is merely an experiment to see if it is wanted. Last Sunday it was reported the "Okanagan" han only one passenger.

The s.s. "Okanagan" failed to appear as usual Wednesday morning from Penticton. The high wind of the previous night, it appears, had caused the boat to break from her moorings. She was driven up on to the shallows at the foot of the lake and damaged so badly she had to lay up for the day. The "Aberdeen" brought down the mail from the north during the afternoon.

Friends of Mrs. Daniel Brown, who left here with her husband only a few weeks ago for their old home at Dresden, Ont., will regret to learn of her death there. Her husband, it will be remembered, died on the way down. It appears that they both had the misfortune to catch severe colds on the train which in Mr. Brown's case turned to pneumonia, he dying in hospital at Chatham.

Masonic Banquet

At the regular meeting of St. George's Lodge A. T. & A. M. on Friday evening last. Several members of Miriam Lodge of Vernon paid a return visit, and took part in the work of the evening. After the lodge closed a banquet was held in the small hall, at which about 60 sat down. The toasts were few and well received.

"The King and Craft" being proposed by W. Bro. D. W. Sutherland, W.M. For "The Visitors" by W. Bro. Knowles of Vernon. W. Bro. Hamilton Lang and Bros. Turner, Smith, Rev. Davidson and others briefly responded. W. Bro. Lang on behalf of the visiting brethren proposed a toast to "St. George's Lodge," which was received with musical honors and replied to by W. Bros. Sutherland and J. W. Jones.

Several songs and short witty speeches contributed to the enjoyment of the evening, and everyone felt that the "Junior Warden's Toast" had brought to a close one of the best meetings conducive to a closer faternal spirit among the Masons of the valley.

Baptist Young People Open Winter Session

The Young People's Society of the Baptist church opened their winter session with a meeting on Monday evening last, Nov. 6th. The proceedings opened with a short song service, followed by a Bible reading by the Rev. D. J. Welsh. The business of the society was then taken up and the following officers elected:

President.—H. C. Jenkins.
1st. Vice Pres.—Mrs. A. J. Clarke.
2nd. Vice Pres.—J. B. Knowles.
Secretary.—A. S. Wade.
Treasurer.—Miss May Duggan.

Conveners:

Devotional.—Rev. D. J. Welsh.
Social.—Miss Mary Bird.
Membership.—Percy Haley.
Musical.—Sidney Good.

Mr. Welsh spoke a few words on each member's duty to the society and urged their attendance and co-operation in the work. The society purposes following a course of studies similar to those discussed last season. The full list, however, is not yet complete. The subjects for the meetings prior to Christmas are as follows:

Nov. 18.—"What Sunday work is necessary and what can we do about it?"
Nov. 27.—"Existing wages."
Dec. 4.—"The rising cost of living."
Dec. 11.—"Organised labor and wages."
Dec. 18.—"Christian principles as to wages."

There was a large attendance and the membership roll is already much larger than last year. A very cordial invitation is extended to all. Meetings commence 8 o'clock sharp.

Canada's Liquor and Tobacco Consumption

Canada's consumption of liquors and tobacco shows a marked increase for the past fiscal year. The per capita consumption of spirits was .859 gallons against .815 in 1910. That of beer was 5.434 gal. as against 5.276 gals; that of wine .104 gallons against .097; while the tobacco used increased from 2.940 pounds per capita to 3.011 pounds.

The total amount of tobacco smoked was 18,903,322 pounds against 17,961,279 pounds in 1910 and 17,217,710 pounds in 1909. The cigarettes smoked reached the enormous total of 585,935,370 against 451,095,138 in 1910, and 356,756,130 in 1909. The cigars smoked numbered 227,585,692 as compared with 205,820,851, in 1910 and 192,105,371 in 1909.

The members of the Musical and Dramatic Society, taking part in the choral practices, are requested to take notice, that if the attendance on Tuesday next November 14th is not satisfactory the practices will be discontinued.

A special school meeting is to be held at the small schoolhouse on Friday evening, Nov. 17, at 8 p.m. for the purpose of voting upon the raising of money for the purchase of additional school grounds and for the election of one trustee.

Mr. Hereron has a good force of men and teams working upon the Black Mountain roads, grading and levelling up. The short, sharp hills on to the first and second bench are to be graded down, thus making it possible to haul a much larger load from town.

Photographic Competition at "Dreamland"

Quite a new departure, which evoked no small local interest, was made at "Dreamland" on Tuesday night last. in the form of an Amateur Photograph Competition. In spite of the decidedly wet weather the hall was packed, quite a numbet being unable to find seats. Fifteen slides, the work of local amateurs were thrown upon the screen, the majority of which were splendid samples of the camera's work, and provided food for the discretion of the audience who acted as judge. Mr. Ed. DuVal being finally declared winner, with a bush camp scene by 24 Votes. Mr. W. G. Wilson second with a scene in the park at Vancouver, by 21 votes. Backed by the orchestra and a good wholesome show of cinematograph films, dreamland has made rapid strides since its opening and an extension of premises is to be made in the near future.

The Young People's Society and Adult bible class of Knox Presbyterian church are joinlng in a camp social on Monday evening, November 13th. All are welcome.

The World Improves

There is a fine old formula that has been popular for forty years—a mild laxative that you can always depend upon. It is particularly suited to children as it is the best known substitute for Castor Oil. It is equally good for adults.

is certain to be effective and will not gripe. Babes take it readily and like it. If baby is cross see to it first that his bowels are free and natural in action.

Banquet to the Hon. Martin Burrell

to make on a man's first impressions on entering the House of Commons and the wholesome levelling effect of life in that institution. He referred also to the many trials of public life generally, and urged his hearers to refrain from too hasty judgments.

There was some compensation, however, in meetings like the present, and the generous exhibition of loyal friendship would make the burden lighter and cheer him with the knowledge that all the time he was making strong and warm friends. There were various ways of killing a man—either by ignoring him altogether or by damning him with faint praise, or killing him by over-praise. There seemed to be a grave danger that he would be killed by over-praise, and he would have great difficulty in living up to all the kind things which had been said about him. They had just come through a great campaign, when the whole district had been surcharged with enthusiasm, and they seemed to be there to discharge some of their enthusiasm that night.

The 21st of September had been a great red-letter day in the annals of the empire, and an exhibition of patriotism which had proved that the emblem on the wall of "One Flag, one King, and one Empire" had a real and vital significance.

The new government, in entering upon its duties, had by no means an easy task. They had a great many onerous and serious responsibilities to fill, not only to Canada but to the whole Empire. Although as the census had shown they were only a small people of a little over seven millions, and as yet only scratching, as it were, in a great big country with vast possibilities, yet when we remembered that in 1770 the population of England was only seven and a-half millions, one began to realise what seven and a-half millions of patient and earnest people could do if they had to do it.

Touching upon the question of Imperial naval defence, Mr. Burrell said that in that particular matter the great word Duty, reverence for which was a mark of the English people, would enter largely into their deliberations. Nelson's famous words: "England expects that every man will do his duty" were watchwords which eminently fitted R. L. Borden, a leader whom it was an honor to follow, and the people of Canada could feel sure that with him the words would have something more than an empty sound.

Going back to the recent campaign, Mr. Burrill said they certainly had had an election in Yale-Cariboo. Some people called it a walk-over, but personally he thought they had had quite a strenuous time, though he had been troubled with no grave doubts as to the final result—a majority of 2,041. When they thought of the up-hill task of 1904, they had cause for gratitude that they had been able to convert a minority of 61 into a majority of 2,041. He wished to thank not only the people of Kelowna, but of the whole Okanagan for their splendid support. Although it had not been a personal question on account of the great issue at stake, and though he believed that any conservative in Yale-Cariboo running on such an issue would have received the same support, he would be foolish not to admit that he had a great many kind friends who would have supported him anyhow.

His appointment as Minister of Agriculture had caused him to disappoint his Kelowna friends at first, but possibly it had given added zest to the present gathering. His hearers would no doubt be pleased to know that not only from the Okanagan and Yale-Cariboo but from all over the Dominion had come letters of congratulation on his appointment. So many, indeed, that it was impossible to reply to more than a fraction of them.

In having the temerity to accept a position in the cabinet he confessed to a natural reluctance. He knew that if B.C. returned all conservative members a portfolio would have to come to this province and although unwilling to lose his services to the province he would have liked to see Premier McBride go to Ottawa, because no one was so strong and well able to fiulfil the duties required. The invitation to himself had come unsolicited and unasked, and as it had seemed his plain duty he had accepted, and would try to fulfil the task. He would like to feel that in thic he had the warm support of his B.C. colleagues, just as he would have had pleasure in supporting any one of them who might have been chosen.

In considering his duties as Minister of Agriculture it was natural in this district to think of fruit-growing as his principal duty. He was glad to find it was an increasing duty, and was becoming a question of national importance. In his first year they were to have in Ottawa the National Dominion Fruitgrowers' Convention, to which would come delegates representing fruit-growing interests all over Canada, and it would be his happy privilege to endeavour to make the convention a success.

There were other duties, however, which confronted a minister of agriculture, and he found he was supposed to be a kind of political Ko Ko, and to have all sorts of jobs, such as the care of the national archives, copyrights, quarantine, and the census.

He amused his hearers by an account of the storm of delegations which he had brought down upon himself when he issued his first summary of the recent census, and of his discovery of the abundance of pressing local needs. He knew, of course, that there were many pressing and legitimate needs which it was the duty of the government to meet, and he would try to see that they were met. While he promised to give sympathetic consideration to all requests he knew his hearers would recognise, as men of affairs, that with all the wishes in the world it was quite impossible to meet everyone.

It was a matter of great satisfaction to himself that he had no public or private promises to fulfil, and no pledges to redeem—he had no strings to him. That he had a heavy task before him no one realized more than he did, and he hoped to meet it with the best of his ability and energy.

He thanked the people of Kelowna again for the splendid gathering and the splendid expressions of goodwill.

A wild burst of applause greeted the hon. gentleman upon resuming his seat after his most manly and graceful address.

The next toast was that of "The Provincial Legislature," proposed by Mr. W. A. Lang, of Peachland. We had had many legislatures in B. C. said Mr. Lang in the course of his specch, some good and some bad, some shifty and some thrifty, but the one we had now was the daddy of them all. He recalled the deplorable financial condition of the province when the present government took hold. The province was without funds or credit and provincial cheques were being sold at a discount in Victoria. Now they were sorely put to it to find places to spend their money. He heartily congratulated the committee who had had charge of the banquet for the success with which it had been carried out.

Mr. W. T. Shatford responded. He regretted the absence of provincial ministers from the gathering and expressed the hope that now that B. C. had representation in the Dominion cabinet, the claims of the province might meet with greater recognition at the hands of the Dominion government. He was confident that the Hon. Martin Burrell would be successful as minister of agriculture, and said the valley was to be congratulated also in having the Hon. Price Ellison as provincial minister of agriculture He was sure they would work in harmony for the good of the district.

The proposing of the toast of "The City of Kelowna," fell to Mayor Husband of Vernon. He added his congratulations to the honored guest on the high position to which he had been elevated, and said that the people of Vernon no less than the people of Kelowna would follow his career at Ottawa with keen interest. He had many good things to say of Kelowna, which he described as a town with a magnificent stretch of lake shore and with the finest orchard lands right at its door. He was filled with admiration, he declared. when he saw the many evidences of the display of that public spirit which was so necessary to the development of a new country.

In the absence of Mayor Sutherland Ald. J. W. Jones replied. He voiced on behalf of the people of Kelowna the high honor they all felt at having the presence of the minister of agriculture at the banquet and also so many representatives from the different towns in the Valley. They had had so many congratulation and bouquets thrown at them that they had come to believe that Kelowna was no mean town. He had been proud to notice on his return after the summer's absence abroad the great development and improvement which was going on in the district. He spoke of the fame which Kelowna had already achieved on account of the high quality of her fruit products; the many fine buildings contemplated and in progress; the growth of the public schools, &c. The citizens of Kelowna had good reason to be proud of their town and the rapid advancement which was being made.

Dr. W. H. Gaddes proposed "Our Local Industries." Although the subject, he said, might seem insignificant when so much was being said about provincial and Imperial government, yet our local industries were more in our minds every day. We were living in a climate where it was pessible to grow a great variety of products—fruit, garden produce, tobacco, &c., and these, too, of the very finest quality as evidenced by the number of prizes we had been able to capture. The great problem we had to face, however, was not how to grow the best fruit, nor how to obtain labor, but the lack of rransportation facilities, and he would like to emphasize this while there were so many present representing every district of the Okanagan. Extensive development in the way of orchard planting was going on all around, but unless something was done quickly he could see many of our beautiful red apples lying on the ground for want of transportation facilities. The present provincial government went into power on a progressive railroad policy and although much was being done in that way, we in the Okanagan were not getting our share. Railways were not being built sufficiently fast to cope with the growth of the fruit output. Even now shippers were placed at great inconvenience, but next and succeeding years would see these difficulties multiplied many times. We were too apt to be satisfied with the prospect of electric tramways, &c., when what we wanted was some trunk lines, capable of handling a heavy freight traffic. It was the duty of everyone present, he said, to press that question home to representatives of the governments as more than anything else we needed attention in that way.

Mr. B. McDonald, of the Farmer's Exchange, who replied, also spoke on the transportation difficulty. He considered we were getting a very poor deal from the C.P.R. At the present time when shipment of fruit should be over on account of car shortage they had still a considerable quantity of produce to move. The result would probably be great damage and loss.

A toast to the Learned Professions was proposed by Mr. C. T. Daykin, of Armstrong, and replied to by the Rev. Thos. Greene, B.A., and Mr. W. R. Banton, of Enderby.

"The Press" was proposed by Mr. R. W. Pooley, and responded to by Mr. John Leathley, Mr. Thos. Bulman and Mr. Walker of Enderby.

The closinh toast of "The Ladies" was proposed by Mr. J. B. Knowles the responder being Mr. L. V. Rogers B.A., of the Public School.

Interspersed with the speechmaking were songs by Messrs Ferrier, Tom Hill, Hamilton Lang and Geo. Whitaker, which were loudly applauded.

It was nearly 2 a.m. when the guests dispersed. Those of the visitors who had been unable to find room in the hotels were provided with accomodation at the houses of friends who kindly came to the assistance of the committee in that respect. The Hon. Martin Burrell was the guest of Dr. Boyce for the few remaining hours, leaving by the boat at 8 o'clock for Vernon.

Bullets of solid gold were used by Yaqui Indians in fighting against Porforia Diaz in the recent Mexican revolution, according to passengers arriving in San Francisco on the steamer Curac from Mexican ports. In Mazatlan hospitals, where many wounded were operated upon, discovery of gold bullets, it was said was an ordinary occurence, although few patients had received enough of them to pay the doctor bill.

Vaccination against typhod fever is to be urged upon all of the 13,500 employees of the United States department of agriculture in accordance to a recommendation to that effect approved by the Secretary of Agriculture Wilson. A committee which he recently appointed to consider the subject declared itself in favor of vaccination. Of the 11,000 employees of the department outside Washington a considerable number are engaged in travelling. It is to protect them from drinking impure water that the vaccination was ordered.

The monthly Canadian bank statement indicates that Canadian banking institutions are calling in loans from abroad, presumably to meet cash requirements for crop moving. Call loans outside Canada aggregate $93,517,076, almost all of which is in the United States. This is a decrease of eight million from the August figures. In Canada the same class of loans totals $67,717,991.

Police departments throughout British Columbia have received advices from the secret service officers of Canada to be on the watch and endeavour to ascertain the source through which counterfeit four-dollar bills are being sent into Canada from the United States in considerable quantities. The bogus notes are said to be brought here by seemingly innocent immigrants, and by reason of their low vaiue are much more readily accepted without special examination than they would be if of larger denominations.

Sawdust Concrete

When sawdust or woodpulp is used as part of the aggregate in mixing, the resulting concrete is of light weight and low tensile strength but has some special properties that commend it for certain indoor uses. On account of its elasticity combined with its non-absorbant character, it is said to be specially adapted as a floor veneering for markets, butcher shops, saloons, etc.

A novel application of sawdust concrete has recently been made in the new public library building in Springfield, Mass. It was employed there as a base on which to lay the cork carpet covering the floors. The object was to obtain a layer into which nails could be driven and which at the same time would hold the nails.

It may be laid without joints, in in a continuous layer one and a half inches deep, upon paper spread over the floor that is to be treated. In these cases the customary proportions for mixing are one part cement, two sand and two and a half sawdust. A greater proportion of sawdust would make it too absorbant.

World's Apple Crop

Of all fruits that are the subject of international trade, apples represent the greatest aggregate value. The following table shows that 44.5 per cent. of the apples imported to the United Kingdom in 1910 came from British possessions.

From Canada, 1909, 1,635,855 cwt., value £960,156; 1910, 1,106,510 cwt., value £652,292. Australia, 1909, 248,455 cwt., value £251,761; 1910, 323,725 cwt., value £322,748. Other British Possessions, 1909, 13,933, value £7,277. Total British possessions, 1909, 1,898,303 cwt., value £1,219,543; 1910, 1,442,973 cwt., value £991,317. Foreign countries, 1909, 1,321,343 cwt., value £788,368; 1910, 1,799,232 cwt., value 1,179,992. Total 1909, 3,129,646 cwt., value £2,007,911; 1910, 3,242,205 cwt., value £2,189,309.

It is seen that Canada supplies the British Isles with by far the largest quantity of apples, and in 1910-11 the United Kingdom took 476,200 barrels, value $1,598,359, out of a total Canadian export of green or ripe apples of 523,788 barrels, of the value of $1,757,753.

We are just now sampling India Relish, and Mandalay Sauce, and everyone who tries either or both of them gives the same verdict, and so the story goes with all things bearing the Heinz Brand. These goods are now manufactured in Canada at their own factories in Ontario, consequently the price is less and the quality nothing lessened.

Bring Your Cash To Us

We are in the market for your money. We are paying good prices right now for money–Real Cash Money.

If you have some money you want to sell, now is the time to sell it. We pay the highest market price for it.

We will take silver money, gold money, and even paper money, if it has not been used too much; second-hand money brings just as good a price as new money.

Don't throw away old money. Sometimes it is worth a little more than new money. We take it by the peck, pound or price; any way to suit you. But don't ask us to buy your money on future delivery. We don't buy future promises. Don't offer to sell us money unless you can deliver the goods on the spot. "Spot cash" is the kind of money we are offering good, strong prices for. You can sell your money for future delivery at lots of stores, but you won't get a very good price for it. "Spot Cash" money always brings the best price if you sell it at a "Spot Cash" store. Try it. Credit stores can't pay good prices for cash money, because they buy lots of promises also that spoil on their hands, and the cash money has to be used for the spoiled promises. It takes lots of good, clean money to sweeten up a bunch of rotten promises. The Kelowna Hardware and Specialty Co., Keller Block, Bernard Ave., City.
