THE BIG BEND.

Its Mining, Lumbering, and Agricultural Resources.

[BY E. A. HAGGEN, M.E.]

LAFORME CREEK.

This is the first creek on the Big Bend trail on which mineral locations have been made and any extent of development work done. Laforme Creek has its confluence with the Columbia River about seventeen miles north of Revelstake. The creek has two main branches, one heading in a glacier on the watershed between the Illecillewaet and Columbia river systems, and the other coming in from the north. The length of the main branch of Laforme Creek is about 14 miles. For half the distance from the source it flows through a wooded valley, and the second half consists of a canyon, with the mountains exhibiting sheer precipices on either side. This makes road construction difficult, as the trail has to be carried high up the mountain side to avoid these precipices, and the same thing would apply in the building of a road. Both sides of Laforme Creek have been swept by fire for about four miles, after which a fine growth of timber is met with.

GEOLOGY.

For the first seven miles up the creek the formation belongs to the Archaean period, and consists of greyish gneisses, occasionally hornblendic or garnetiferous, with glittering mica schists and hornblende schists, these giving place to the east to beds of quartzites and crystalline limestone of the Cambrian and Carboniferous periods respectively.

NOBLE THREE.

The first property visited on this creek was the Noble Three, which was recently disposed of by Messrs. W. B. Pool and J. J. Young to the Double Eagle Mining Company, organised by O. Kirby, of London, England. The property consists of five claims—Treadwell, Chilcat, Noble Three, Wawa, White Elephant. The trail up Laforme Creek is fairly good, as mountain trails go, and, after rising about 800 feet above the bed of the creek, descends at a point about seven miles from the main Big Bend trail, and crosses Laforme Creek by a bridge at an elevation of 3040ft. or 1250ft. above Columbia River.

From this point, a distance of two miles takes the traveller to the Noble Three cabin. Following down the right bank of the stream one experiences some of the worst trail to be found in the mountains—bog and quagmire that threatens to engulf horse and rider. The existing trail should certainly be diverted to better ground. Then the ascent of the mountain begins, zig-zag after zig-zag, till a valley is reached along which the trail runs at an excellent grade to the cabin, which is located on the east side of the creek at a point 4640 feet above sea level, or 2350 feet above the crossing of Laforme Creek.

The camp is situated near a small lakelet, which forms the watershed between Laforme and Carnes Creeks.

In the creek are to be seen boulders of galena, and it was the discovery of these by L. D. McRae which led to a search for ore in place, and the location of the ground now forming the Noble Three group.

DEVELOPMENT.

All development work has been done on the Noble Three. The work consists of open cuts run across the course of the deposit, a tunnel and a shaft. The ore is galena and is found in schist occuring in the limestone. The tunnel has been run 85 feet and shows a zone of oxidised matter 10 feet in width with streaks of carbonates and galena. In one of the open cuts there is a paystreak of nine inches of galena and carbonates. Ore is also found in two other of the open cuts.

The shaft is approached by open cut of 20 feet and has been sunk on the ore to a depth of 20 feet. At the point where the sinking of the shaft was begun there was a body of galena and carbonates 18 inches in width, and there are about ten tons of ore on the dump, taken out in the course of sinking the shaft. The ore chute has a strike of N. 40 W. and dips N. E. Streaks of tetrahedrite occur in the ore, and there is some zinc blende showing. In addition to silver and lead values it is stated the ore carries gold and that values in this metal have run up to $9. The tunnel is 500 feet above the cabin, or 5140 feet above sea level.

There is abundance of timber at hand and water power can be obtained from Laforme Creek.

CITY RIGHTS

Mgr. Cowan Raises Ire of Aldermen.

Telephone Company to Obey Orders.

At the meeting of the city council on Friday night the Mayor stated he had complained to Mr. Cowan about the telephone wires interfering with the alarm system. The result was a letter from Mr. Cowan demanding that the council should remove their fire alarm wires from the company's poles, and stating the company would not put in insulated wire as the Mayor had suggested the council might demand.

On the letter being read His Worship said Mr. Cowan had got on his high horse. Surely the city had a few rights left. He did not believe Mr. Cowan ha a monopoly of the rights of the city.

In reply to the Mayor, the City Solicitor said the telephone company was subject to any regulations which the city might choose to make. The council could compel the company to put in insulated wires.

Ald. McLeod, Manning, Hume, Taylor and Law expressed a determination to maintain the rights of the city, and the council resolved to compel the Telephone company to remove the causes of complaint or take proceedings against them.

CURLING.

The date of the Sandon bonspiel has been fixed for Monday, Feb. 24th. The number of rinks expected to compete is made up as follows: Asheroft 1, Phoenix 1, Rossland 4, Revelstoke 2, Nelson 3, Kaslo 2, Slocan City 1, making 14 in all, which with eight rinks from Sandon bring the total up to 22.

The Dominion estimates are $6,500,000 less than last year. $2,000 is set down for improving Duncan river, and $10,000 for Arrow Lakes.

LABOR'S CALL.

ORGANISER T. J. GRAHAM.

T. J. Graham, organiser on this section of the main line on behalf of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen of America, has made his home in Revelstoke for the past twelve years, and has been employed nearly the whole of that time on the C. P. R. For some time he had charge of a bridge gang, but gave up that position to take charge of the Columbia River Bridge at Revelstoke. Bro. Graham's birthplace was Sand Point, South Renfew, Ont. Before coming west he followed the occupation of dam and pier building and the handling of squared timber. He has always taken an active part in the interests and organisation of labor, and politics are an inherent part of his nature. He has been a supporter of the conservative party, but latterly has thrown in his lot with the labor party, as he believes the workers have nothing to hope for from the old parties, and that their interest lies in independent organisation.

Bro. Graham has also been a prominent member of friendly societies, being associated with the local Orange Lodge, Revelstoke Lodge I. O. O. F., and United Workmen.

During the late strike he acted as secretary of the committee of the Mountain and Shuswap divisions, and conducted the interests of the strikers with conspicuous ability, being promoted to the position of organiser of the Brotherhood about two months ago.

OUR CITY FATHERS

ALDERMAN TAYLOR.

Ald. Taylor hails from Paignton, England, and took up his residence in Canada nine years ago. He has made his home in Revelstoke for the past five years. During his residence here Ald. Taylor has been one of the most active citizens in pushing the interests of Revelstoke. He has added materially to the buildings of the city, having erected ten dwelling-houses besides the handsome business structure known as the Taylor Block, on McKenzie Avenue. Ald. Taylor is a member of the well-known dry goods firm of Taylor & George. Vice-President of the Water, Light and Power Company, Director of the Navigation Company, which has provided the fine new steamer for the Big Bend trade, Treasurer of the Kootenay Lodge A. F. and A. M., secretary of the Chapter Lodge and a member of the Gold Range K. of P.

This is Ald. Taylor's second term in the City Council, as representative of No. 2. Ward, and he is the senior member of the present council, and chairman of the Works committee. Ald. Taylor is an enthusiastin volunteering and athletic matters and was captain of the local corps of Rocky Mountain Rangers.

UPPER RIVER

Nature of Improvements Required.

Few men know the Columbia River above Revelstoke better than R. A. Blackmore, with whom we had a chat the other day regarding the improvements required. If the canyon were properly cleaned out there is only a month in the year when a steamer could not run the canyon with safety. The whole of the canyon requires improving by the removal of rocks along the shores which would be a menace to a steamer in the event of her going ashore. The narrow part of the canyon should be widened. At the head of Nine Mile Riffle considerable rock-work is required. Steamboat or 17-Mile Riffle south of Laforme Creek, requires improvement. From Nine Mile to Twelve Mile Riffle boulders require removal along the river. Another bad place is Sandslide Riffle, two miles south of Nine Mile. There are big rocks there which are very dangerous and the Lytton had a narrow escape at this point.

Above Death Rapids the only bad place is Gordon Rapids. Above the Bend itself there is four miles of navigable water on the Columbia towards Kinbasket canyon. Wood River is navigable for four miles, and at Canoe River a steamer could run four miles up this stream.

G. B. Eagle expressed the opinion that Canoe River should be improved so that a steamer could run up it 50 miles to the log jam in high water.

ST. LEON.

Opening of M. Grady's New Hotel.

The celebration in connection with the opening of M. Grady's new hotel at St. Leon took place on Tuesday night. A special train from Revelstoke took about 25 passengers to Arrowhead, where about twelve more joined the party. From Arrowhead to St. Leon the visitors were taken by S. S. Minto, calling at Halcyon, where about 12 more, including Manager McNaught, joined the party. Arriving at St. Leon a hearty welcome was extended the visitors, who found themselves joined by others from Rossland, Nelson, Nakusp, New Denver, Slocan City, Fire Valley and other points.

Dancing began at 10.30 p. m. in the spacious dining room and a magnificent supper was provided in the old hotel building, the tables being looked after by the waiters of the Minto. The music was first class and was provided by T. V. Dunn (piano) and T. Duffy (violin). Extras were played by J. E. McPherson and W. Smythe. Guy Barber was M. C. The guests returned home delighted with the splendid treat with which they had been provided at the hands of host Grady.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Dominion public works statement for year to June 30 h last shows expenditure as follows: Columbia river at Revelstoke, $6,053.76; Duncan river, $2,693; Narrows between upper and lower lakes $59.50.

At a meeting of the Nelson Socialistic League, according to the Tribune, the Martin program came up for discussion. There was some difference of opinion especially amongst the more ardent of the Socialists, but the consensus of opinion appeared to be that the Martin platform was the best which had been put forth by the political parties of the day, and if the programme could not be carried out by the people it was obviously impossible for their more radical platforms to secure favor. James Wilks, of the miners union, was one of the chief speakers. He expressed himself as unquestionably a supporter of the Martin platform, and paid a flattering tribute to the sagacity of the newly appointed leader.

Alex. Wilson, one of the Victoria delegates to the Liberal convention, said to the liberals in meeting assembled at Victoria: "You went there to down Joe Martin. He downed you, and you have him right on your backs." He closed by paying his respect to the lawyers. Martin's best recommendation was that all the lawyers opposed him.

The B. C. Legislature opened Thursday. A redistribution measure, loan for public works, and railway construction were the chief features of the address.

At an opposition caucus R. McBride was elected leader of the opposition and Green, Tatlow, Neill, Munro, Murphy, Helmcken advisory committee. Steps will be taken to try strength with the government.

The Lisgar election is a pronounced victory for the Liberals, Stewart, the Liberal, getting a majority of 950 over Richardson. Hon. Clifford Sifton took an active hand in the contest.

The Kootenay Mail

FRIDAY, FEB. 21, 1902.

THE Victoria Times publishes a statement that Joe Martin paid the expenses of delegates to the liberal convention. The assertion is absolutely untrue.

THE Laurier Government are evidently figuring on taking over the C. P. R., for in a speech the other day Hon. J. I. Tarte said the time might come when the government of Canada would have to do with the railways what the British Government did in the case of the Suez Canal, acquire the shares to safe-guard national interests.

THE Globe says: "The problem of transportation and the problem of markets, will be greatly simplified when British Columbia has as many millions of people as it now has hundreds of thousands, and that is a very modest expectation. All British Columbia's troubles are temporary. The building of railways and the filling up of the west is going on here in a few years."

THE Dominion estimates have been brought down, and no provision is made for the upper Columbia river, or for a post office at Revelstoke. The total amount placed on the estimates for this section is $10,000 for the Columbia river, and that is for improving the narrows between the upper and lower lake. Let us hope these estimates will be rectified and provision made for improving the upper river and for a post office at Revelstoke.

THE Nanaimo Trades and Labor Council has passed a resolution urging the Government should undertake the publication and supply, either free or at cost, of the school books required in the Province. This proposal should meet with wide-spread support. At present the school-book publication of Canada is controlled by an Ontario ring who put 300 to 400 per cent. profit on their publications.

THE Dominion Government has selected its coal lands in the Crow's Nest railway belt and so valuable is the selection that it will recoup the Dominion the $3,000,000 given as a subsidy for the construction of that road. The next thing to do is for the Dominion Government to retain these coalfields for the benefit of the people of Canada and not turn them over to any corporation or syndicate to hold a dead clinch on the mining industries and railway fuel supply.

INDUSTRIAL ARBITRATION.

We have before us the full text of the industrial arbitration legislation in New South Wales. It is far ahead of the New Zealand law, avoiding as it does the weak points of that law. The act can only be set in motion by registered trade-unions on one hand or employers of not less than 50 hands on the other. Associations of workmen can contract for supply of labor and are bound to carry out their contracts. It is a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment, for workmen to strike or for employers to lock out their men pending settlement of disputes, which must be immediately referred to the arbitration court. This court consists of a delegate elected by the workmen, another chosen by the employer and a judge of the supreme court. This court may also declare that in employment of labor, preference shall be given to unionists. The tendency will be for large bodies of workmen to make terms with large bodies of employers,—in other words there will be collective bargaining about labor instead of each individual making terms for himself. This legislation might well be copied in Canada.

TAXATION.

When the Provincial Government want more revenue it might be well to consider the heavy discrepancy now existing between civic and provincial taxation. The provincial property tax is six mills on the dollar, while in cities the tax runs to about 35 mills. The burden on the cities has recently been much increased by the handing over of the schools. Another great difference in the two methods of taxation is that the provincial tax is mainly paid by the big corporations and under the present system they get off very lightly, whereas the home maker and builder in the city has to bear the heavy burden of taxation. Then again the income tax is very badly levied and we venture to say if an investigation were made into this system of taxation and its results it would be found that the government is being swindled wholesale. These are matters which the Provincial Treasurer would do well to give some attention to.

ASIATIC IMMIGRATION.

The Dominion Government has requested the Provincial Legislature of B. C. to amend the statutes prohibiting employment of Japanese and Chinese. The action of the Dominion authorities in prohibiting the laws relating to the employment of Japanese and Chinese on public works cannot be too severely condemned and is absolutely unwarranted. This Province knows what is best for local conditions and the Dominion should not interfere in such a case, especially after the legislature has re-affirmed its demand on such legislation again and again. It is time the matter was taken up direct with the home authorities. Self-government is a farce if laws required to meet the condition of the country are to be abrogated by the foreign office, which knows nothing of such conditions. Indeed it is the duty of the Dominion Government to stand by the Province as against the foreign office in such a case. This is a time when a strong man is wanted who will handle this and like question without gloves, and if the cries of the Liberal party coming to power in the Province Joe Martin will have a chance to show what he can do to remedy the wrongs against which this province has so long suffered in this respect.

To Keep Pace With the Times.

To make you acquainted with our Miracle Pills without loss of time we make this proposition. The largest ever made to the Canadian public. This is it:

The Automobile Worth $2,000 will be given FREE.

Catarrh in Relation to Deafness.

Among the causes of deafness, catarrhal inflammation of the nose and throat are of great importance. The reason for this is easily found in the fact that the Eustachian tube gives a direct passage from the upper part of the throat behind the nose to the cavity of the middle ear. Through this passage catarrh extends to the ear and produces changes in the membranes that lead to deafness. A more complete description of deafness produced by catarrh as well as by other causes, will be found in the "Journal for the Deaf," which can be obtained free of charge on application by post to the Secretary, 72 Regent's Park-road, London, England.

In addition to the "Journal for the Deaf," the Institute will send free of charge to patients unable to call personally a special report form, which allows them to submit their case clearly to the consulting physician. Any advice by correspondence is absolutely free, and the journal and report form are sent on mere application to the Secretary, 72, Regent's Park-road, London, England.

NEW ROTARY ENGINE.

Invented by Capt. Sanderson.

(From the Scientific American.)

Chief among the difficulties which have stood in the way of the production of a successful rotary engine have been those of providing a satisfactory form of valve-gear, steam-ports for the admission and control of the steam, and a suitable sliding abutment to support the reaction of the steam within the cylinder. The accompanying engraving of a rotary engine invented by Colonel Sanderson, of Halcyon Hot Springs, B. C., Canada, shows an ingenious attempt on the part of the designer to overcome these difficulties. The piston B, is fitted steam-tight within the cylinder and is provided at both of its faces with V-shaped cam-shoes, each formed by rods fastened to the piston and curved inwardly toward each other. At the upper part of the cylinder casings are arranged in each of which sliding gates, C, are fitted. These gates move toward and from each other and serve to close the cylinder so as to form an abutment for the steam pressure. The approach of the piston is utilized to throw the gates into open position—an end attained by forming the gate C with teeth meshing with the teeth of pivoted cams, A, arranged in pairs on each side of the gates. As the piston approaches, the cam-hoes F, will spread the cams, A, thereby moving the gates, C, apart to allow the passage of the piston. The gates are returned to their normal position by means of springs which are not shown in the engraving.

The valve mechanism employed to control the steam comprises two steam-chests, carrying valves which command feed-ports arranged in the cylinder at opposite sides of the gates. The valves are moved by connecting-rods attached to the valve stems and to an eccentric-strap working on an eccentric keyed to the engine-shaft. The throw of the eccentric can be regulated by an arm working with a quadrant held on the cylinder and disposed eccentrically to the shaft, so that by the adjustment of the arm the eccentric will be regulated to increase or diminish the movements of the valves. Steam is led into one of the valve-chests, depending upon the direction in which the piston is to be turned. Exhaust-valves are provided which are thrown in time with the valves regulating admission to the two valve-chests.

Had to Conquer or Die.

"I was just about gone," writes Mrs. Rosa Richardson, of Laurel Springs N. C. "I had consumption so bad that the best doctors said I could not live more than a month; but I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured in seven bottles and am now stout and well." Its an unrivaled life-saver in Consumption, Pneumonia, La Grippe and Bronchitis; infallible for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hay Fever, Croup or Whooping Cough. Guaranteed bottles 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at the Canada Drug & Book Co.

ILLECILLEWAET.

Rink and Dance.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A very pleasant time was spent at the skating rink on Friday evening. The weather was fine, ice in good condition, and almost every one in town took part. The boys of Jack Fraser's and Jack Magee's gangs were there in full force and among them are some of the best skaters in British Columbia. The "free bus" was engaged for the occasion, and was kept busy carrying skaters and visitors back and forth. Arrangements are being made to hold a carnival on Thursday evening. Mr. Moore, manager, has the ice in good shape, and a good time is expected.

A dance was given on Monday night which was the most successful of the season. Visitors from Rogers Pass, Ross Peak and Albert Canyon were present. Music was furnished by J. Fennell (violin), and W. Smith of Albert Canyon (gramaphone). J. McCallum was floor manager and general master of ceremonies, while J. Burnie did the calling off in his usual lively style. An adjournment was made at midnight for refreshments, when an excellent repast was served. Dancing was kept up until four a.m., when the singing of Auld Lang Syne brought to a close one of the most enjoyable events that ever took place in Illecillewaet.

Miss Anna Berger has returned from a visit to her sister in Golden. Needless to say she received a hearty welcome. More than one young man wears a happy smile.

What might have been a serious accident occurred a few days ago when one of our young men took his lady-love for a sleigh ride behind the "Rainbow." Whether he was not sufficiently acquainted with the spirited qualities of the "Rainbow" or that he was not as attentive to the lines as he should have been is not known but, however it happened, both were thrown out and received a bad shaking up. The horse ran on to his stable leaving the young couple to walk home, a distance of two miles. Next time this young man goes driving it will be with a quieter horse.

SECOND DAY.

THE MAIL AND THE TELEGRAPH.

By virtue of that omniscience necessarily possessed by every story teller we may be permitted to reveal the secrets intrusted to some of the letters sent flying eastward on that May morning to their relatives and friends in New York by the various personages with whom we are en route for the great west. First in this series of glimpses behind the scenes comes a short but weighty epistle from Mrs. Bradley Hurst to her liege lord. The italics are the fair writer's, not ours:

I.—Mrs. Bradley Hurst to Mr. Bradley Hurst, Union club, New York:

ON BOARD THE MIRANDA, May 12, 1890.

My Dear Bradley—I have heard you say that an ocean voyage gave a man more opportunities than any other situation to shower attentions upon the woman he liked, but from personal observation I can testify that a trip in a private railroad car—especially if that is your car—is quite as fruitful in chances to express one's affectionate regard.

John has played the role of mine host most charmingly to us all, but to Florence he has been devotion itself. You know my heart is set upon their coming together. It is perfectly clear that he just idolizes her. Even the odious Filley must see that against such an adversary he has no chance. I cannot understand why John ever made him one of us, but it will give Florence a glimpse of the two men side by side. Girls are so quiet nowadays, and she is so self contained and reserved that it is impossible to discover whether her heart is touched. I am resolved that John shall have every chance. It would be such a relief to know that she was happily married and in good hands. A motherless girl is such a responsibility. How odd it will seem for us to be sisters-in-law and I old enough to be her mother! Stranger things have happened!

We expect to be in Denver the day after to-morrow, and I will write again upon our arrival. All of the party are well, and Madge sends her love with mine. Ever yours affectionately,

BESSIE.

II.—Miss Madge Hurst to Miss Fannie Hyde, 7493 Madison avenue, New York:

INDIANAPOLIS, Wednesday.

My Dearest Fan—Our journey has been just one delightful picnic ever since we left New York yesterday morning. I am writing this very hurriedly at the cutest little escritoire you ever saw in one corner of Uncle John's private car, and if you do not recognize the handwriting you must blame the jiggling of the train, not me, petite.

If we don't have a wedding before we get home, it won't be somebody's fault. I told mamma that it looked as though Uncle John had arranged this trip so that he could have darling Florence all to himself, and then I was in disgrace for the rest of the day. He plays the beau empressé to perfection, and one would never think he was as old or older than papa. He seems to anticipate her every wish. What she thinks, I'm sure, I don't know. When I tease her, she smiles that superior smile of hers and changes the subject.

But there's no fun in watching other people make love, and C. I. says he agrees with me. Do you know, Fan, I begin to believe the foolish fellow really cares for me a little bit, but what mamma will say if she ever suspects I dread to think. Tity Bes so proud. I don't mean that—but I'm sorry he's not rich, though I'm sure he's got brains enough to look out for us, and I know Uncle John thinks he'll be somebody some day.

I shall look for a letter from you in Denver, dear, so don't fail. Always lovingly,

MADGE.

III.—Chester Ives to Frank Carpenter, managing editor of The Daily Scurrifer, New York:

My Dear Old Boy—Here I am in Indianapolis, the second day out from New York, enjoying to the utmost the first real vacation I have had in ten years, thanks to Uncle John Draper, whose guest I am. We are traveling in the midst of a luxury that is simply splendiferous. If it were not for the motion, you would imagine yourself in some magnificent palace. You clap your hands, and, lo, a black slave appears and provides a banquet to which the ends of the earth have contributed their fairest. You press a button, and unlimited cigars and cooling drinks are at your elbow. If you want a magazine or today's paper, you have only to ask for it. A bath and a shave may be had for the wishing. All this while we are annihilating space at the rate of 40 or 50 miles an hour. Truly we Americans are the greatest railroad travelers in the world, and we have certainly surrounded ourselves with "all the comforts of home" while rushing over the rails. The quarters are somewhat cramped, but as Draper's private secretary and I have the better part of an ordinary sleeper to ourselves, we can't complain.

Of course there's a fly in the ointment, and Reuben K. Filley is its name. I think I am pretty tolerant toward other men, but I distrust and detest that fellow, and I care say he returns my dislike with interest. Nevertheless, we shall doubtless finish the trip without riot or bloodshed. Unless I am mistaken, he evinces a marked penchant for Miss Grannis. Uncle John's ward, whom you have met—and for her money—but he might as well make love to the statue of Liberty. She simply looks over him.

I hope Dennis is getting along all right with my work. Write or wire me at Denver if anything turns up. Faithfully yours,

CHESTER IVES.

IV.—John Draper to Edward Gates, Esq., of Prodder, Gates & Prodder, New York:

(Personal and confidential.)

INDIANAPOLIS, May 12, 1890.

My Dear Gates—This communication, which will come to you bearing the Indianapolis postmark, treats of a subject very dear to me, though it necessarily partakes of the nature of a business letter.

As corroborative with me of Miss Florence Grannis I beg to inform you that it is my intention, if possible, to make her my wife. She is of age and hence free to act for herself, but I consider it only right that you should be advised of my purpose. I don't imagine that you will advance any objections. I am old enough to know my own mind and am certainly as able to support her in the style to which she has been accustomed as the most jealous parent could wish. I need scarcely assure you that her private fortune will be most rigidly secured to her. When next I write, I hope to be able to ask you for your congratulations. Cordially yours,

JOHN DRAPER.

V.—Telegram from Edward Gates, New York, to John Draper, St. Louis, in answer to foregoing:

Go in and win, and God bless you both.

EDWARD GATES.

Reuben Filley kept the wires humming on his own account, but as his purposes and plottings will now appear it is not necessary to cite his various messages nor the answers they elicited. He was playing a deeply dangerous game. Detection meant ruin, disgrace and possibly condign punishment at the hands of the law.

Although in receipt of a handsome stipend from John Draper, he was not content. His was one of those devious and deceitful natures that prefer a crooked road and a subterfuge to a direct path and complete candor. He was a gambler from choice, but from necessity, and scrupled not to avail himself of the "inside" information which it was so easy for one in his position to obtain and to use surreptitiously. But he longed for a larger sphere where he could handle and gamble with millions instead of with thousands.

About six months before this story opens what Filley vulgarly called a "snap" presented itself. A quarter interest in a stockbrokerage house was going begging, being offered for sale very cheaply. Yet the sum required was greatly beyond his means, but he resolved to "make a bluff" and capture the prize. Falsely representing to the members of the firm in question that John Draper was his "backer," he purchased the retiring partner's interest, paying $50,000 down, raising the money with notes for the amount at six months, drawn by himself and purporting to bear the indorsement of John Draper. With the name of the great financier on their backs these notes were regarded on "the street" as "gilt edged paper," and Filley had no trouble in getting them discounted.

But the indorsements were skillfully forged, and Reuben K. Filley was the forger!

No announcement of his partnership in the new firm was to be made at Filley's request, for six months. Everything was booming in the stock market, and by the end of the term he confidently hoped that his half yearly share of the profits would be enough or nearly enough to enable him to take up the notes when they fell due. Failing this they would be presented to their indorser for payment, and the forgery would be discovered. Of course it was imperative that he be on the spot to "keep the wires from sagging."

Judge then of his dismay when informed by John Draper that he was to accompany him to Denver! In one way the trip was fortuitous, as it would take his employer out of New York at a critical time. In six days the forged paper would mature and, even allowing for the usual three days of grace customary at that time, would be presented for payment before the date set for his return. But there was also the general risk of something going wrong at such a ticklish time. Hence Filley's determination to quit the car party on the first plausible pretext so as to hasten back to New York, take up his profits, redeem, destroy or renew the forged notes and thus protect his imperiled interests.

Once over this stile, he told himself, he could snap his fingers at John Draper and as a member of an old and honored firm enter the lists with him for the hand and fortune of Miss Grannis.

HINTS FOR GIRLS

How to Preserve Health and good Color.

Pale, Sallow, or Anaemic Girls Restored to the Bright Freshness of Youth by Natural Means—Good Health Within the Reach of All.

From The Sun, Orangeville, Ont.

Miss Maggie Brownlee, of Orangeville, is a young lady well known to the residents of the town and greatly esteemed by all her acquaintances. Like thousands of other young girls throughout Canada, Miss Brownlee fell a victim to anaemia or watery blood, and for a time, as she says herself, feared she would never again enjoy robust health. Experiences like Miss Brownlee's cannot fail to be a benefit to other pale and anaemic girls, and for this reason she kindly consented to give a statement to the sun for publication. "My illness," said Miss Brownlee, "came on very gradually, and at first it merely seemed as though it was a feeling of depression and tiredness. I kept getting worse, however, and finally had to give up a good position. I was at times troubled with a throbbing racking headache; my appetite gave out; the least exertion tired me; and my heart would beat painfully. My limbs seemed to feel like weights, and at other times there was a sinking sensation which I can scarcely describe. I was treated by a good doctor and took a number of remedies, but without any improvement in my condition, and I began to fear that I was doomed to be an invalid. One day a friend who called to see me spoke very highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and what she said interested my mother so much that she bought a few boxes. I began taking them, and in the course of a few weeks there was no room to doubt that they were helping me. I continued taking the Pills for a couple of months or more, when I felt as well and strong as ever I had been. It is about a year since I gave up taking the pills, and I have not since felt the need of any medicine. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a grand medicine, and should be taken by all pale and feeble girls."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make rich, red blood with every dose taken, thus restoring the bloom of health and the brightness and freshness of youth to pale and sallow cheeks. Through their action on the blood they cure such diseases as anaemia, nervousness, headache, rheumatism, dyspepsia, St. Vitus' dance, heart troubles, diseases of kidneys, etc. These pills also cure the ailments that make the lives of so many women a constant misery. Sold in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full name—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale people. Can be procured from all druggists, or will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"It is my intention, if possible, to make her my wife."

THE CARE OF BABIES.

Great Responsibility Rests on all Mothers.—Baby Should Always be Bright and Cheerful.

Babies that are well, sleep well, eat well, act well and play well. A child that is not lively, rosy-cheeked and lawful, needs immediate attention or results may be serious. Prudent mothers should always keep ready at hand a safe yet effective medicine to administer to their little ones as emergency arises. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets do not act as the so-called "soothing" medicines do. They do not have a deadening or stupefying effect, but on the contrary go right to the seat of the trouble and by removing it cure the child and prevent a recurrence of the difficulty. All mothers who have used this medicine praise it and always keep it in the house. Mrs. G. Baines, Six Mile Lake, Ont. says:—"The Baby's Own Tablets which I ordered came just in time. My baby was very ill from indigestion and bowel trouble, but I am happy to say the Tablets relieved him after a few doses and he is now doing splendidly, with just a Tablet now and then when a little restless. I am the mother of eight children and I must say I have never had a medicine I thought so much of as Baby's Own Tablets, and I have tried all the old remedies. I think mothers ought always to keep them in the house in case of emergency."

These tablets cure all the minor ailments of children, such as constipation, sour stomach, colic, diarrhoea, indigestion and simple fever. They break up colds, prevent croup, and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. They are for children of all ages, and dissolved in water can be given with absolute safety to the youngest infant. Sold by all druggists at 25 cents a box, or sent post paid on receipt of price, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. F. C. Wells, of Vale Ridge, Ind., writes: "I was troubled for years with Asthma, tried almost everything, and found no relief, but was finally induced to try your Asthmalene. It relieved me at once, and in a few days I was entirely cured. I have since taken a bottle to a friend who was afflicted with Asthma, and it cured him also. I have also recommended it to others with the same happy results."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechsler
Rabbi of Temple Israel
New York City, N. Y.

The Taft Bros. Medicine Co.,

Gentlemen:—Your Asthmalene is a perfect remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever and its contagious allegiates. All troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is astonishing and wonderful. After having it carefully analyzed we can safely say Asthmalene contains no opium, or any other form of ether.

Very truly yours,
REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER.

AVON SPRINGS, N. Y., Feb 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.:

Gentlemen:—I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the merits of your Asthmalene for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been a terrible sufferer from asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted seven skilful physicians in many others, I resolved to see your advertisement on the windows on 125th St., N. Y., I immediately obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the 1st of November. Every succeeding dose showed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can conscientiously recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this dreadful disease.

Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO., Feb. 5, 1901.

Gentlemen:—I was troubled with Asthma for 22 years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I saw across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found it doing me good. I then sent for a full size bottle and I am now entirely cured. I have a family of four children, and for six years was a sufferer. I can now go to the coast of Labrador and am feeling first-class. For testimony you can refer to me as you see fit. Home address, 15 Rutgers Street.

Socialism

TO THE EDITOR:

SIR,—There are men and women in this town as well as in every city, town and hamlet throughout the Dominion who state that Socialism and Anarchy are twins. Of course if they know more about definitions than do Worcester's, Webster's, Standard, Century, Imperial and other dictionaries, or even the Encyclopedia Brittanica, it is no use trying to point out the density of their ignorance.

"For what they will, they will you may depend on't,
And what they won't, they won't so there's an end on't."

To those who do not wish to learn I would ask them not to read any more of this article, but as I believe there are those who are willing to listen to logic, will quote a few of the utterances of great men:

Herbert Spencer the English philosopher says: "The citizens of a large nation, industrially organized, have reached their happiness when the producing, distributing and other activities are such that each citizen finds in them a place for all his energies and aptitudes, while he obtains the means of satisfying all his desires."

John Stuart Mill, the recognized head of the English classical school of political economy, says: "No thinking man will contradict that associated industry is the most powerful agent of production and that the principles of association are susceptible of further and beneficial development."

Prof. R. T. Ely, the head of the modern school of political economy, says: "Socialism is simply applied Christianity. The Golden Rule applied to every day life."

There's no smell of gunpowder or dynamite bombs about this is there?

John Ruskin: "Government and co operation are in all things eternally the laws of life; anarchy and competition in all things the laws of death."

I hope the sayings of these men will not upset too abruptly the queer ideas of some of our local sages, who believe in many of the aims of socialism without knowing it, but the word itself scares them because of the deep-seated wrong belief that it means anarchy, knives, guns, plots, etc., dividing up, destroying incentive. This ignorance would be excusable in the days when education was hard to get, and dictionaries beyond the purse of the working man. Explain some of the platform to a man and he will accept it as good, but so deeply pitted is his notion of socialism that at the mention of the word he closes up like a clam.

Let us look at this bogey-man. You know the devil is not quite so black as he's painted and upon a closer investigation of the character of socialism we may correct some of our foolish notions.

Does the word "social" frighten you? Have you fears regarding the contents of your pocket-book when somebody mentions "sociable"? When you hear somebody speaking of an "associate" do you conjure up murder and dark deeds? No doubt you are thinking what stupid questions these are, but let me ask why you have such a horror of the word "socialism," who is of the same family as those above mentioned, while it's "societas"—society, that is the whole body of the people, and when we tag on "ism" to the word "social" it simply means the science which deals with society.

Is your opinion regarding this terrible word (?) changing at all? Well now let's go a little farther and see what the followers in socialism wish to do.

First they wish to introduce the Initiative and the Referendum into politics. Now what do these stand for? Does the method of their use necessitate the overthrow of our present form, and instead of voting upon themselves as we do with the present system, the people will vote upon the question, and the majority will decide it. Is this anarchy? Does it mean the overthrow of our present system? Does it mean the destruction of property? Does it mean the abolition of the family? Does it mean the abolition of religion? Does it mean the abolition of marriage? Does it mean the abolition of anything? Not a thing. It simply means that the people will have the power to say what they will have and what they will not have. Is this anarchy? Is this socialism? Is this anything to be afraid of? Is this anything to be ashamed of? Is this anything to be ridiculed? Is this anything to be condemned? Is this anything to be feared? Is this anything to be opposed? Is this anything to be hated? Is this anything to be despised? Is this anything to be scorned? Is this anything to be laughed at? Is this anything to be sneered at? Is this anything to be frowned upon? Is this anything to be looked down upon? Is this anything to be turned up the nose at? Is this anything to be shunned? Is this anything to be avoided? Is this anything to be shrunk from? Is this anything to be afraid of? Is this anything to be ashamed of? Is this anything to be ridiculed? Is this anything to be condemned? Is this anything to be feared? Is this anything to be opposed? Is this anything to be hated? Is this anything to be despised? Is this anything to be scorned? Is this anything to be laughed at? Is this anything to be sneered at? Is this anything to be frowned upon? Is this anything to be looked down upon? Is this anything to be turned up the nose at? Is this anything to be shunned? Is this anything to be avoided? Is this anything to be shrunk from?

Applying the above method of reasoning that we vote for measures, not men as is the case now. When speaking of a government we say the Turner, Semlin, Cotton, Beaumont, Martin (?) et al, but in addition to the above we have another able ally in our efforts to obtain good laws.

Imperative Mandate! What's this? At the present time a representative makes promises in order to catch votes which, if elected, he either forgets or ignores, although we call him a public servant. In reality he is boss of the situation, but with the Imperative Mandate in effect it would be different. Before election he would subscribe to a platform, when this was done his signed resignation is placed in the hands of a committee, if he breaks any of the planks in the platform he is notified that it is time for him to step down and out. This is the Imperative Mandate.

These three factors are summed up as direct legislation. Of course if you are a boss or leader you'll say the present representative system is the best—for me, but the electors would think differently. As it is now we have the tail wagging the dog—that is to say the creator (the electors) is less than the creature (their representative) whilst the representative is in office you have no redress.

There is much to be said on the subject which would occupy too much space but let me give you a few instances of how it works in Switzerland.

In 20 years there were but 68 laws passed in Zurich, 50 accepted and 18 rejected. Berne, with a population of 530,000, and 120,000 voters averages three laws a year.

Sir Francis Adams, British minister to Switzerland, says: "The referendum has struck root and expanded wherever it has been introduced, and no serious politician of any party would now think of attempting its abolition. The conservatives, who violently opposed its introduction, became its most ardent supporters when they found that it undoubtedly acted as a drag upon hasty and radical law making."

This is only a brief (?) starter of what socialism stands for. Some future time if the editor will give me the space, I will endeavor to give some more details.

Yours truly,
J. W. BENNETT.

CITY COUNCIL.

Meeting held Friday night. All present.

CORRESPONDENCE.

School trustees, with statement of accounts to Dec. 31st, showing $74.10 due by government.

In reply to the Mayor, Mr. Floyd, secretary, stated he could not get the books and accounts from the late secretary, Mr. Graham.

The city solicitor was instructed to write Mr. Graham demanding the production of the books and papers of the late trustees.

Telephone Company, demanding removal from Company's poles of city fire alarm attachments, and stating company would not put in insulated wires as the Mayor had intimated might be required, and warning the council against the company's telephone being used for city purposes.—Resolved to move fire alarm attachments and call tenders for supply of poles for city.

W. L. & P. Company, asking fuller particulars regarding lights required.

G. M. Sproatt, asking rent for block 52—To be informed there was no contract with city.

Eastern firms re truck wagon and fire ladders.—Referred to F. W. and L. committee.

T. Steed, asking rebate of taxes on Mrs. Beckett's lot—Refused.

REPORTS.

W. W. and L. committee reported having one electrician repairing the Edison system.

The Mayor suggested the committee should enquire fully into a fire hall for lower town. As matters stood they had no fire hall at all there.

POLICE MAGISTRATE.

In reply to Ald. Manning the city clerk said amount of fines received for year was $284.75 and police magistrate's salary was $250. For previous year fines amounted to $867.39; and for nine months prior $515.35.

Ald. Manning asked if the city could not do without a magistrate and let local justices do the work?

The Mayor:—They could.

A SCANDAL.

Ald. Manning:—The present magistrate does not seem to be the man for the position. If the city can do without him it will save $250 a year. Persons have been brought before the court and allowed to go home and have a big time.

Ald. McLeod:—This scandal has been thrown in the teeth of the aldermen. The chief of police did his duty and these women were allowed to go and had a "big" blow-out over it.

In answer to enquires Chief Bain said:—I brought some women up in accordance with instructions from the police commissioners. The late mayor objected and said they were not able to pay their rents. The police magistrate had gone without the mayor's leave. The mayor asked me to remand the cases for two weeks. I did so and that let them out.

Ald. Hume:—Then it was the fault of the late mayor.

Ald. McLeod:—The council are perfectly satisfied the chief did his duty and the mistake was not his fault.

LICENSES AND GAMBLING.

Ald Manning:—Are the licensing laws here the same as in the east, and is gambling allowed?

City Solicitor:—Gambling is not allowed in licensed houses, but the trouble is to define gambling.

WATER AND LIGHT DEAL.

Ald. Manning:—What is being done about the water and light matter?

The Mayor:—The Fire, Water and Light committee should go fully into this matter and ascertain the price at which the company's property can be bought and all about it, and lay the facts before the council.
