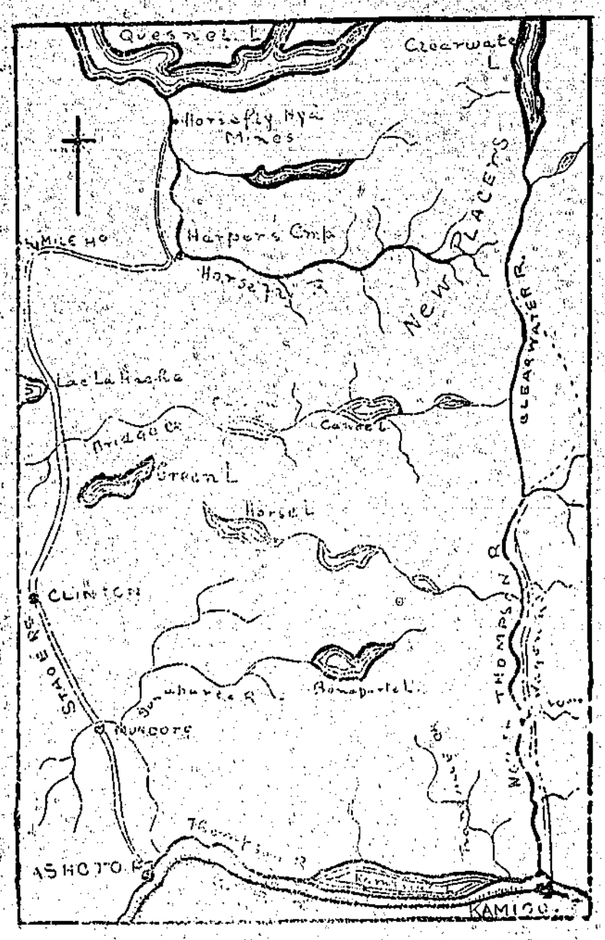
KAMLOOPS TO HORSEFLY



The opening up of the North Thomson route to the goldfields of the north has taken fast hold on the people of Kamloops. And with every reason. There is a waggon road to within a few miles of the junction of the North Thomson and Clearwater. From the end of the road a trail runs some distance up the Clearwater, which heads directly in the Horsefly watershed. What is wanted to open up the route is the extension of the trail some 35 miles. The cost is estimated at $2,500, and the government ought to have no hesitation in taking up the work. It is not merely a matter of a route to Horsefly but will afford a means of access for opening up a country which there is every reason to believe has valuable resources, but which has never been prospected for want of access. The above cut, kindly lent us by the Standard, which is taking an active interest in promoting the route, shows approximately the geography of the country. The citizens of Kamloops have taken the matter up so actively that this map appears on much of their stationery and the board of trade are issuing a special pamphlet on the subject.

UPPER RIVER.

Deputation Waits on Government.

$5,000 Granted and Engineer to Report.

Ottawa, March 14.—A. McRae and F. McCarty, of Revelstoke, waited on Hon. J. I. Tarte to-day with Hon. W. Templeman and asked that the improvements of the river at Revelstoke be proceeded with. Mr. Tarte said he was going to spend $5,000 now, and was going to send an engineer to examine what additional improvements were necessary, and a further grant would be made.

NEW STEAMER

To Run from Rapids to Canoe River.

G. S. McCarter has received a letter from S. Winter, one of the eastern parties interested in the Tete Jaune Cache mica deposits, in which Mr. Winter states his associates are willing to co operate in placing a steamer on the upper river to connect between Canoe River and Death Rapids. If this were done, and the tramway at the rapids constructed it would afford, by connecting with the steamer Revelstoke, a complete system of transportation between Canoe river and the C. P. R. at Revelstoke. Of course Mr. Winter's object is to enable them to get their mica to market at a reasonable cost of transportation. The mica has hitherto been packed 240 miles to Kamloops by the North Thomson trail.

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY.

Conditions of Trackmen to be Improved.

J. T. Wilson, president, and A. B. Lowe, vice-president, of the B. R. T. of A., had an interview with Mr. Russell, manager of the Intercolonial Railway, with respect to a schedule presented to the company by a committee representing the trackmen. The terms are the same as those asked by the trackmen from the C. P. R.

The foremen of extra gangs shall receive $3 per day; section foremen, $2.1 per day; section men, $1.50 per day; foremen of snow ploughs and flangers, $3 per day; section men employed on same work, $2 a day; foremen carpenters, $2.75; carpenters, $2 per day.

The rate of wages which obtains at present is on the basis of $1.65 per day for section foremen and $1.20 per day for section men.

"Mr. Russell has already accorded recognition to our organization," said Mr. Wilson, "and he has expressed a willingness to grant us other of the concessions asked for. Our schedule will be sent to the Minister of Railways, and we are confident that it will meet with fair treatment."—Montreal Herald.

Hume said ex-mayor McCarty told him the tools were returned and the amount was not owing.—Ald. Law did not think the tools were returned as he saw them lying about.—Referred to Works Committee.

Provincial Health Officer, asking that city adopt regulations re tuberculosis.—Consideration deferred.

H. W. Bringhurst, quoting for fire appliances.—Ald. McLeod, chairman of F. W. and L. committee, said the matter had been deferred for fuller information.

L. S. Ellerman, offering to maintain fire alarm system for $5 a month.—The Mayor said the writer had contracted to put the system in good condition for $48 or not be paid. He pressed for his money, and a day after he was paid the system was out of order again.—Ald. Hume said Ellerman had done as he agreed, and the late storm disorganised the telephone as well as the fire alarm system.—Ald. Law said Ellerman had agreed to put system in order and wait for his money till it was satisfactory. Then he was going away and wanted his money. The committee should not have paid him so soon.—Ald. McLeod said the sooner the city arranged for someone to look after the system the better.—Chief Bain said the system at No. 1 hall was not working.—Ald. Manning said the system worked well when the committee tested it. The fault was in the plant.—Ellerman was asked whether he would put the system in repair free of cost and he agreed to do so.

TAXES.

The Mayor said the government had in hand $200 of taxes due the city and which would be paid over on requisition.

LICENSES.

The Mayor said complaint had been made that men were soliciting orders for goods manufactured outside, and were only paying a $5 license, whereas under the bylaw they should pay $50.—Ald. Manning contended the system was driving labor out of town.—Ald. Law said that those taking orders were simply doing the same as the shopkeepers, selling ready-made.—Ald. Hume said his firm took orders for clothing in the same way.

LIGHTS ETC.

Ald. McMahon said a light was wanted on the hill near G. Johnston's.—To be put in.

Ald. Manning said the lights he had applied for had not yet been put in. A sidewalk was also wanted by the railway shops.

McMahon has done good service for his country, having served in the forces who went out to suppress the northwest rebellion.

LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Revelstoke Lumber Company.

The Revelstoke Lumber Company have got their mill in good shape for the season's operations. The boiler house, 28ft. by 60ft. and the mill 54ft. by 42ft., have been roofed with iron. The plant is being increased by the addition of another moulding machine, a re-saw, and a 30 h. p. engine for driving the planers. A new dining room for the employes has been built. Substantial sorting and pocket booms have been put in at the Eddy, and arrangements provided for sorting out the logs of other firms when required.

The company expect to resume operations by April 10th.

Good Templars.

Columbia Lodge, No. 34, I.O.G.T. met in Selkirk Hall last night, Chief Templar W. Lee in the chair. A successful and pleasant meeting was held. A number of propositions for membership was received and one initiation took place. The lodge meets for mutual benefit and instruction as to the best way to prohibit the liquor traffic. Meetings are held every Thursday at 8 p.m., and all who favor the cause are invited to take a hand in the work.

MINING DEAL.

The Silver Cup Changes Hands

On Friday an important deal was consummated by which Messrs. J. J. Young and W. B. Pool became the owners of the Silver Cup mine in the Lardeau. The parties interested object to giving out the amount of the deal at present, but it is no doubt in the neighborhood of $200,000, that being about the value of the mine. The property has been a large producer of high grade ore, and in addition to 711 tons shipped this winter there are 1500 tons of similar ore blocked out, besides large amounts of concentrating ore in the mine and on the dumps. As the deal stands at present Messrs. Young and Pool own a half interest in the mine and an English company the other half. Mr. J. V. Armstrong placed the new owners in possession on Monday.

The new owners intend to put in an air compressor plant and power drills and push the low level tunnel to prove whether the ore chute goes down. If it does the mine will be a very valuable property. The ore bodies are proving larger and more valuable than supposed, and Mr. Pool brought in a sample which assayed up to $2,500.

Mr. Didisheim, M.E., who has done excellent work as manager of the mine, will probably return to Europe at an early date. His departure will be a loss to mining interests in this Province, as he is one of the best qualified and most reliable men who have been operating in this country.

BUSINESS NOTES.

D. C. McLaren, of Kamloops, draws attention of prospectors intending to go in by the Clearwater route to his fine stock of saddlery, aparejos, etc.

F. B. Kelsigliato, of Lytton, offers for sale his blacksmith business.

Attention is directed to the card in another column of C. Outhett, assayer, of Kamloops. Mr. Outhett has the reputation of being a thoroughly reliable assayer, and his place of business at Kamloops has the advantage of convenience, by which those sending him ore samples can get prompt returns of their assays.

Pitman's Business College, conducted at Vancouver by Miss Richards, is a first-class institution at which to obtain a business training.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Irish Social and Benevolent Society.

One of the most successful entertainments given in the city was the smoker and concert by descendants from the Emerald Isle held in the Selkirk Hall on Monday night, under the auspices of the above society, to celebrate St. Patrick's Day. There was a crowded attendance. Tim Dunne presided in a most efficient manner. The only sulphur in evidence was that used to ignite the tobacco pipes and the society acted on the suggestion of T. Downie's Nelson friend, to bar dynamite. Supt. Kilpatrick gave an Irish recitation, speeches were given by Messrs. T. Downie, Freeman Lake, Temple, Beasley, H. A. Brown, D. O. Lewis, G. Downie, Drs. Cross and Lazier. B. R. Atkins read the story of St. Patrick, not omitting the Scotchman's claim that he was countryman of theirs.

Songs were given by T. E. L. Taylor, H. Cook, W. Smythe, W. M. Lawrence and P. Murphy; piano solos by Dr. Carruthers and R. S. Atkins; mandolin and piano by F. Brown and W. Smythe. P. Murphy entertained the audience with the story of his life, not omitting the usual "grievance." He claims to be the first white man to teach the Japanese the use of firearms on board ship. Step dances were given by W. Winsor and W. F. Ogilvie, and a bagpipe solo by Sandy McDonnell. W. M. Lawrence told some of his witty Scotch tales.

H. A. Brown expressed the thanks of the guests for the treat afforded them. Clay pipes and tobacco were supplied, and beer, crackers and cheese were served by way of refreshments.

The society intend to hold a monthly entertainment at the Selkirk Hall.

FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1902.

CAPITAL for investment is plentiful in the east and the coming spring should see considerable investment in the mining industry of the Province.

THE Postal department should give prompt attention to the establishment of a post office at Camborne where such an institution is urgently required.

KAMLOOPS and Revelstoke have a mutual interest in the opening up of the northern country. The two cities should work hand in hand in this direction.

A BILL is before the Commons to constitute a medical council for Canada and do away with provincial qualifications. The same principle should be applied to dentistry, law and other professions.

THE advantage of government ownership of railways is again evidenced by the ready way in which the Intercolonial is meeting its trackmen as narrated by President Wilson of the B. R. T. of A. in another column.

NEW Zealand and Australia have solved the question of Asiatic immigration by imposing a poll tax up to $1,000 a head and educational tests. The question could be settled in Canada by similar legislation if our legislators would get down to business instead of piling up the burden of the tax payers by wasting time in personal quarrels as to who shall hold office.

OUR American cousins are coming to Canada to be educated. Canada has the soundest banking system in the world. The American Committee on banking and currency recommends Congress to amend the banking system on Canadian lines.

COMPLAINT is made at Kamloops that the Columbia River Lumber Company deduct hospital fees from the men working at their Kaslo mill and pay these over to the Golden Hospital, instead of to Kamloops, where any serious cases from the mill are sent for treatment.

THERE is every prospect of a large influx of settlers into the Kootenays. The Lardeau valley offers an excellent field for settlement also the valleys in proximity to the mining camps, which will afford good markets for farm produce.

FROM the return presented to the legislature last week it appears the receipts for the past half year were $741,245, and the expenditure $1,325,990. This shows a deficit of $584,754. If the year's expenditure and receipts were in the same proportion, there is no getting away from the fact that the province is in an unsatisfactory financial condition.

IT is hardly safe to live in Nelson. The other day, they sent a man to goal there for an offence which does not exist on the statute-book. Postmaster-General Madden, of the United States, who is refusing transmission through the mails to papers whose views he does not approve, would find a congenial clime in Nelson.

THE action of the New South Wales government in charging the Home government commission for war disbursements, is not very creditable to that colony. The expenditure of the Imperial Government in stores and war material is a benefit to any colony and colonial governments should do what they can to encourage that policy instead of cinching it.

THE Dunsmuir Cabinet have taken a very proper course to prevent the blackmailing of companies for technical breaches of law, a scheme promoted by Victoria adventurers. The amendment provides that proceedings must be taken within 30 days after the alleged irregularity and that the Provincial Treasurer can remit any portion of the penalties. Smith Curtis has introduced a similar bill:

IN R. MCBRIDE the Opposition party has one of the most incapable leaders who ever occupied that position in the legislature. He is responsible for the shameful waste of time experienced this session. He has had several trials of strength with the government and has been defeated on every occasion. A good leader of the opposition is as essential as a good premier, but in their selection of the present leader the opposition have shown their utter incapacity for taking the places of the government should they have the opportunity.

WE HAVE already referred to the disgraceful conduct of Victorians on the occasion of the recent bye-election. Such misconduct was not confined to the rank and file but was supported by those who ought to know better. Even the press despatches have been prostituted to Victorian prejudices for we find a telgram to the eastern papers stating:—"Mr. Martin, to save the Government, will have to endorse an enormous land grant to the Canadian Northern." Mr. Martin's position on that question is clear to everybody. He was appointed at the liberal convention as leader of the party on a policy opposed to such grants. He accepted that policy, and will of course stay with it.

SMITH CURTIS.

SMITH CURTIS has done some good work in the legislature in the past but of late he seems to have lost his head, and his conduct this last session has been a great disappointment to his former friends. The order paper is burdened with all sorts of childish questions which he appears to amuse himself in drawing up. His latest freak is to give notice of a no-confidence motion when he and his confreres of the opposition have already been placed in the minority on several similar motions. One of Mr. Curtis's motions takes over two pages of the order paper and relates mainly to election matter which appeared in the Times and Colonist. The country electors want to know what Mr. Curtis and other members are going to do in their place in parliament; and not what the newspapers say.

CROW'S NEST COAL COMPANY.

The report of the Crow's Nest Coal Company for the past year makes interesting reading. It is a refutation of the charges that have been made against the company by certain sections of the press. The company's operations are now the most extensive in the province. The wages pay-roll has more than doubled itself during the year, having risen from $419,057 to $911,407. $2,252,548 was expended in improvements. The coke ovens have a capacity of 1,000 tons a day. The falsity of the reports—that the company is sacrificing British Columbia interests to American trade—is refuted by the fact that the coke delivered to Canadian smelters for the year was 86,928 tons, and to American smelters 35,407 tons. The company's output increased during the year from $703,102 to $1,215,892.

POCKET BOROUGHS.

The Victoria Times, Columbians and a few other papers who wish to see a continuation of the pocket borough system of representation, are attacking Joseph Martin bitterly because he supported the government against R. D. Helmcken's tricky motion on the matter of anti-Chinese legislation. Mr. Martin did what was right and what every right thinking man will approve. The government is in a more certain position than the opposition, and is pledged to redistribution. Let that be provided for first, and then no matter when election comes, it will be on a right basis if a just measure of redistribution is granted. Smith Curtis, R. McBride would appear to be willing to fall in to each other's arms to maintain the present representation if they could only defeat the government.

THE PRICE OF LIBERTY.

The decadence of the United States looks as if it were beginning when the Postmaster-General refuses to permit a free press in the land which has so long boasted of its freedom. The Appeal to Reason was the first paper attacked because it preached socialism. Then Wiltshire's magazine was suppressed because it was a journal devoted to showing up the rusty and the proprietor had to come to Canada to secure that freedom which is the right of every man. Now the organ of bi-metallism published by Bryan, who has twice been a candidate for the presidency, is refused the use of the mails. In this latest move autocrat Madden would seem to have caught a tartar for Mr. Bryan is after him hot and strong, and we should not be surprised if the result is to place Mr. Bryan in the presidential chair. When freedom is suppressed, with it dies the life of a nation, and such a mistaken policy can only mean decay or revolution in our southern neighbor.

THE OTTAWA DELEGATION.

The result of the visit of the delegation to Ottawa is shows satisfactory as was expected, still good work has been done. The grant of $5,000 will enable the worst places of the river to be put in reasonably safe condition for navigation for this season, and as Hon. Mr. Tarte has promised to send an engineer to examine and report there is every probability that the work necessary to put the river into the best condition possible for navigation will be carried out at an early date. It is not reasonable to suppose that the Dominion Government would undertake to immediately expend a large sum without the necessary examination and plans of work being prepared. Now that the government has taken the matter in hand we believe they will carry it out, and with assistance from the provincial government in putting on a tramway at the rapids, as promised by Hon. W. C. Wells, there is every reason to believe that next season will see through steamboat communication established between Canoe River and Revelstoke.

WOMAN'S AILMENTS

Suffering Which Doctors Fail to Cure.

Homes and Hearts of Women Throughout Canada in a Similar Condition.

Words of Hope to Sufferers.

In countless homes throughout Canada, where health and happiness should reign supreme, the peculiar weaknesses and diseases of women are responsible for an atmosphere of hopelessness and despair. This awful condition is largely due to a false understanding of the proper manner in which to effect a cure for female troubles of all kinds. Dr Williams' Pink Pills have been more successful in cases of this kind than any other medicine, and they should be in every home, and should be used by every woman who is not perfectly hearty and strong. Mrs. Fred. Murphy, a well known resident of Pubnico Head, N.S., cheerfully bears testimony to the great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to woman's ailments. Mrs. Murphy says:—"A few years ago my health was completely broken down, my troubles beginning in one of the ailments which so frequently afflict my sex. I was a great sufferer from violent attacks of pain which would seize me in the stomach and around the heart. It is impossible for me to describe the agony of the spasms. Several times the doctor was hastily summoned, my friends thinking me dying. I was wholly unable to perform my house-hold work, and was under medical treatment all through the summer, but without benefit. My appetite left me; my heart would palpitate violently after the least exertion, and I was pale and emaciated. My husband urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and procured me a supply. After useing the pills a couple of weeks, I could tell that they were helping me, and after using seven bottles, I was fully restored to health. From that time until the spring of 1901 I enjoyed the best of health, but at that time I felt run down, and suffered from pains in the back. I at once got some more of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they soon put me at right, and I am now feeling better than I have done for years. I cannot parise these pills too much, nor can I too strongly urge those who are ailing to test their wonderful health restoring virtues."

Dr Williams' Pink Pills go right to the root of disease by making new, rich blood, and restoring shattered nerves. In this way they cure such troubles as the functional ailments of women restore the glow of health to sallow cheeks, cure palpitation of the heart, anaemia, headache, indigestion, and liver troubles, rheumatism, partial paralysis, St. Vitus dance, etc. Be sure you get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on every box. If you do not find them at your dealers, they will be mailed postpaid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Do not judge between friends."

If your shoeman tells you he has a favorite line which is better than ours—don't question his motive.

SIXTH DAY.

SHOTGUN SOVEREIGNTY.

It was Sunday morning. What a Sabbath experience, thought Mrs. Hurst and the girls as they conjured up visions of Fifth avenue and the richly dressed churchgoing procession of which they usually formed a part! What a Sabbath experience, thought Chester Ives as he stood facing the motley gang of cutthroats, while down the gloomy vista of the cavern he could see the forms of the women huddled together on the sand for protection and comfort, while a few paces away stood a couple of the gang on guard.

"This ain't quite as tony as that there car o' yourn," began Jim Dallon, addressing Mr. Draper, "but it's good enough for poor devils like us, and p'raps you and your lady frien's can manage to worry along. You ain't obliged to stay here no longer than you like," he added truculently.

"Why have we been brought here?" inquired John Draper.

"Well, pard, it's just this way," said Dallon, who did all the talking. "Some people gits all the fat in this life, and some gits all the lean. Here's you, for instance," checking off the index finger of his left hand with his right forefinger, "and here's us," indicating the second finger. "By all signs you've got more money'n you know what to do with, and we've got none. I don't ask you how you come by it—you got it, and that's enough for me," he said savagely, looking around at his auditors.

"That's the kind o' talk, cap'n," said one, while angry looks were directed on the chief object of their attack, John Draper.

"Such bein the case," resumed the outlaw, with forced politeness, "the present perceedin's has for their object the unloadin o' some o' your surplus cash for the benefit o' the poor laborin man. Ain't that so, boys?"

"Right you are, Cap'n Jim," was the unanimous answer.

"Now," said Dallon, resuming his argument, "how much do you vally yourself at, John Draper?"

"Oh, I'm not a rich man, as rich men go," replied Draper, affecting to misunderstand the fellow's meaning and fencing with him.

"I don't mean that," hastily rejoined Dallon, "I know how much money y've got soaked away—about five millions o' dollars, I guess. What I mean is, How much do you vally that hide o' yours—wot's it worth to you to get out o' this scrape?"

Draper was silent. Chester Ives stood by, taking no part in the colloquy, yet closely noting every word. Filley, too, could not help being interested in the outcome of the duel of words—indeed, he experienced a fellow feeling for the robber. Their trades were not so far apart, and perhaps he might do worse than join the gang when his own private and particular crash came.

While the president hesitated, weighing all the chances, considering the sufferings of the ladies, seeing clearly that worse might follow if Dallon were enraged and also running over in his mind the chances of rescue or escape, the captain of the band resumed:

"Might as well understand that yer trapped hard and fast. Oh, yes, they'll send out a search party from Denver," he laughed, reading Draper's thoughts, "and they'll maybe find them kyars. What then? They can't find yous, not till I choose. You're a long cry from the railroad, anyways." Then, stepping forward, he hissed in Draper's ear:

"How about the women folks? I shouldn't like 'em to git hurted, but I won't answer for the boys. If you're ugly, they'll be ugly too."

This decided John Draper. They were in a hole, that was clear. Better get out with as little damage as possible. So he said curtly:

"Name your price."

The gang crowded around in eagerness now that the crucial point was reached. Dallon was clearly embarrassed. It was his move. If he asked too much, the negotiations would be prolonged and thus increase the chances of detection. On the other hand, if he named too little he would "everlastingly kick himself," as he elegantly phrased his inward thoughts. Twice he moistened his lips and essayed to speak, but the words refused to come. At length he rapped out:

"Fifty thousand dollars!"

"Done!" exclaimed Draper as quietly as though he were buying a block of stock on 'change in New York. "But you don't suppose I carry that much money about me, do you?" he inquired.

"Not on yer life!" was the slangy rejoinder. "I've thought o' that," said Dallon in a swaggering tone, elated and conc[illegible] the success of his plot and stru[illegible]ore his men like the monarch o[illegible]rayard.

"You got a checkbook, I s'pose?"

"Yes."

"Well, your name's good in Denver for a heap more'n $50,000."

"I see what you mean," replied Draper. "But I'll be fair and plain with you. No bank in Denver would cash a check for any one of you men for $5 without identification, much less for $50,000. The man that presents that check will be detained and questioned, and then your whole plot is exposed."

"You make me tired!" snorted Dallon. "As if I hadn't thought of all that. What do you take me for, a farmer? D'you think I'm such a fool as to show me face in Denver or to let one o' me boys do it? Not much! What's the matter with havin one o' your friends go to the bank—him or him," pointing first at Ives and then at Filley, "with a escort, o' course, I mean," he added hastily. "I guess he can git the money, and as he knows what it's for he ain't goin to expose no plot. Hey, what d'you say?"

The thing was feasible certainly and proved that Dallon had engineered his vile scheme in a devilishly clever way.

Miranda again and en route for Denver.

"That is, if we are not rescued before," said Madge Hurst.

"If you value your own safety and that of your mother and Florence, my dear, you will not talk of 'rescue' any more," said Uncle John gravely. "Our friends over there might not like it, and after what has passed I don't want to hurt their feelings."

Madge was silenced, but in her heart of hearts she distrusted Filley, and so, forbidden to speak her thoughts, she turned to Chester for comfort, and together they conversed in low tones, while Mr. Draper and his ward did likewise.

There being no objection Gustave was roused up and bidden to cook some sort of a repast out of the scanty materials in the commissariat of the robber gang. With the accustomed ingenuity of his profession he worked wonders, and soon a decent appearing and smelling meal was spread before the famished captives, to which they sat down by the side of the brook gurgling through the cavern.

While they were eating a curious phenomenon occurred. The tiny stream began to foam and sputter; its volume of water momentarily increased until in the space of ten minutes it ran bank full, and our party had to move back to avoid a wetting. For upward of half an hour the miniature freshet continued, and then the stream as quickly subsided to its former modest dimensions.

On being questioned as to the cause of this sudden swelling of the waters Dallon replied in an offhand manner:

"Been a-rainin up yonder in the mountains—sorter cloudburst, I reckon. That there crik tumbles in here from underground sources, but no one rightly knows where."

This set Ives pondering, and soon a wild and perhaps foolish idea occurred. The water in the creek had risen at least three feet above its normal level and then subsided. This proved that the inlet or orifice by which it entered the cave had a capacity or bore sufficient to carry the larger flow of water. When the flood drained away, there would naturally be a space of three or four feet left between the water and the roof of the tunnel if, as he supposed, there was a subterranean tunnel connecting somewhere with the open air.

What was to hinder a man escaping from the cave that way? Prudence said, "No; remain where you are until Filley returns." But suppose Filley met with some accident or the bank refused to pay the money? What then would be the fate of Madge and Florence and Mrs Hurst? He shuddered to think!

By this time it was pitch dark in the cave. A small fire was kept burning but the embers had died down to a dull red glow. One by one the women succumbed to fatigue and excitement and lay down on the sand, their heads pillowed in each other's laps. Uncle John, Henry, Alec and Gustave soon followed their example. The robbers were all withdrawn to the mouth of the cavern, that, in their estimation, being the only spot worth guarding.

Soon the regular and rhythmic breathing around him convinced Chester that he was the only person awake. He rose to a sitting posture, then got upon his hands and knees and in this fashion wriggled his way to the upper end of the cave, following the course of the flowing water on his left hand.

He had covered less than a hundred yards when he was stopped by a wall of rock. Gently stepping into the stream, he felt all around the opening and found it had a radius of about three feet above the water, being of a roughly semicircular shape. The bottom of the stream was smooth and pebbly and the water not more than nine inches or a foot deep. Rising to his feet, Chester looked back along the full length of the cave to where the embers of the fire glowed like a red spark. All was quiet.

Again he stooped and got on all fours in the bed of the stream. This brought his head below the level of the arch and a cool, fresh breeze came blowing in his face, proving that not far away there existed some sort of connection with the open air.

With a whispered "For Madge!" he began to move forward cautiously, the ice cold water reaching nearly to his middle and swashing and curling around his legs and arms.

CAMBORNE GROUP

Northwest Development Co.'s Operations.

As the result of the visit of Messrs. Rosenberger and Brock to the Camborne group, Mr. Brock decided to install a 60 horse power electric plant at the earliest possible date; he now being on the Coast ordering machinery for that purpose.

D. J. Kennedy is in charge of the work at present and is pushing the wagon road from Goldfields to the Camborne group, while he is also working a force of men on the flume and ditch line. The company will commence active development work on the property just as soon as machinery is installed, it being their intention to use electric power drills.

STANDARD MINE.

Prince Mining and Development Co.

Stock Raised to Thirty Cents.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the above company the Secretary was instructed to obtain full particulars of cost and capabilities of the Vulcan Smelter with a view to making arrangements to install one on the company's properties. The Directors gave the following statement:—"The cost of such a smelter with a daily capacity of thirty tons is about $8,000. With one installed at the company's properties it would put the mine on a self-sustaining and dividend paying basis.

The development work is steadily proceeding and already a considerable body of ore is marked out, which will be increased by the time spring opens up.

No. 3 tunnel has been extended and is now in 530 feet. Drifts have been run on the ore in No. 2 tunnel, showing continuous ore all the way. Besides this drifts have been run easterly and westerly at a point 35 ft. down the winze, showing, in the face of the westerly drift, five feet of ore, and in the easterly a drift over six feet of ore, the drift being forty feet in length. An immense body of ore has been opened up by an open cut on the Commander, which will be tapped at a depth of 275 feet by extending No. 4 tunnel to a distance of 300 feet, of which 106 feet has been already driven.

The Five Mile trail was partly completed by the government last year, when our company took hold of it and pushed it to completion, as it makes a much shorter cut from the steam-boat landing to the mine.

The steamboat which we mentioned in our last circular letter to the shareholders as being under construction, is now completed and will be making her regular trips as soon as navigation opens in the spring. From his improved method of transportation much can be predicted for the Big Bend this coming season.

Owing to the bodies of ore struck in the company's properties and the completion of the steamboat it was deemed advisable to raise the price of shares from 25 to 30 cents per share."

Night was her Terror.

"I would cough nearly all night long," writes Mrs. Chas. Applegate, of Alexandria, Ind., "and could hardly get any sleep. I had consumption so bad that if I walked a block I would cough frightfully and spit blood, but, when all other medicines failed, three $1.00 bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery wholly cured me and I gained 28 pounds." It's absolutely guaranteed to cure Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Troubles. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at the Canada Drug & Book Co's. drug store.

C. P. R. TRACKMEN

The Montreal Star says: "Mr. Wilson is at the Grand Union, Montreal, along with Mr. Low and many other prominent members of the brotherhood who are preparing a schedule to be presented to Mr. McNicoll, second vice-president and general manager, about the 20th inst. The men are organizing all over the system, and are prepared to prove to the company that they have organized an association of sufficient numbers and influence as to merit the consideration of the executive. Mr. Wilson receives communications from every section of the road, many of whom he answered by wire.

Mr. McNicoll left on a tour of inspection of the Lake Superior division as far as Sault Ste. Marie, accompanied by C. W. Spencer, general superintendent. They will be absent for a week, so nothing can transpire before their return.

Delegates are arriving daily at the Grand Union, and it is fast becoming filled with the familiar faces who were its guests during the siege of six long months last summer, the longest and most orderly conducted strike in the history of the brotherhood."
