CAMBORNE.

Eva Mill Starts Crushing.

The rush to Poplar creek took from Camborne the large population of prospectors which made this camp their headquarters in the early spring. The camp, however, shows solid progress.

THE OYSTER CRITERION

is all ready to start crushing except the water pipe, which is now arriving, after much delay in delivery. The mill building looks well. It is now being sheathed with galvanised iron. The rock-breaker, 10-stamp mill, three Frue vanners, water motor are all in position, and the arrangement reflects great credit on the mill manager, A. G. Street. The aerial tram, built by B. C. Riblet, works splendidly. The mill and mine are connected by telephone. The plant is built by Fraser and Chalmers. A Rand compressor has been installed, to be operated by water power, and the pipe-line connected with the mine. A. H. Holdich has his assay office fitted up close to the mill. The mill will start up in a month or so.

EVA MILL.

J. Knox, M. E., manager for the Calumet and B. C. started up the mill the beginning of last week. The mill is a strongly framed building set on a terraced basement, hewn out of the solid rock. The mill is a 10-stamp, of Fraser and Chalmers make, with Comet crusher. The ore is conveyed from the mine to the mill over an aerial tram put in by B. C. Riblet. Frue vanners have been installed for saving concentrates. On the mill being started up it was found to work like a charm, but a mishap occurred to the water supply through the blowing out of a valve and the flattening of some lengths of pipe, but this was soon repaired and the mill placed on a steady run. There is a large amount of ore ready for milling. The mine and mill are connected by telephone.

WATER SUPPLY.

The Camborne Water Supply Co. are getting the trenches dug for laying their pipe. The pipe used is of wood, strongly bound with wire and capable of withstanding a pressure of about 100 lbs. per square inch.

It is proposed to circulate a petition to the Mayor asking him to convene another meeting to consider the library project.

We congratulate the dominion government on its determination to assist the mining industry by establishing a federal department of mines. The necessary vote was put through supply last week.

BIG LUMBER DEAL

Minnesota Capitalists Buy Over 40 Square Miles.

An important lumber deal was consummated in the city this morning when Messrs. Lammers and Goldrick concluded the purchase of over 40 square miles of splendid timber on the Duncan from Messrs. W. de V. Le Maistre, Cowan, Kinnaird and associates. The deal is on a cash basis. The purchasers propose to erect a large mill at Nelson. The vendors are to be congratulated on their successful introduction of fresh capital into the development of Kootenay.

Having passed the Commons by 75 to 35 the Grand Trunk Pacific bill is now before the Senate.

A meeting of the liberal candidates returned will be held at Victoria Monday to elect a leader.

A conservative convention will be held at Kamloops on 29th inst. to arrange for the coming dominion elections.

The appointment of John Houston to a place in the McBride cabinet is the only thing now necessary to insure the defeat of the ministry.

The government is reducing the civil service staff by $22,000 a year. Amongst those being dispensed with is H. C. Killeen, inspector of roads and trails.

The official recount gave Ross a majority of seven for Fernie, but a recount is asked for by the judge and is claimed to secure return of Smith (liberal).

The liberals will now bend all their energies to fighting the by-elections, necessitated to fill the vacant portfolios of attorney-general and provincial secretary.

If report is true the McBride government has not been long in following up the policy of the old gang by giving the public estate to its friends. It is said that Clifford, who was to have been given a portfolio, will be mollified by a heavy subsidy for his Kitimat railway.

T. Taylor, member for Revelstoke, who went to Victoria to get the provincial secretaryship, formerly promised him, will, according to report, be side tracked. It is stated that portfolio will go to John Houston, and that Price Ellison will be appointed chief commissioner.

On Wednesday Sir William Mulock announced a postal surplus for the year of $202,702, which includes the Yukon deficit of $102,614. He proposed to increase remuneration of rural postmasters of class receiving a nominal fee ranging from $10 to $25, the minimum to be $25, a per cent increase to be granted on the basis of revenue.

As it is possible there may be another election for Revelstoke riding ere long, every man who failed to get his name on the voters' list for last election should make sure of having it on before Nov. 2nd when the court for revising the roll up to that date will be held. In case of a dominion election coming on shortly every man entitled to vote should register.

The Rossland Miner says it fails to see how Mr. McBride can expect to carry on government under existing conditions. It is, however, necessary that a session of the legislature be held before another election. It may be that the Liberals will consent to this from purely patriotic motives. But after a short session, it seems inevitable that McBride should be kicked out of the office once and forever."

T. Taylor, M. P. P., said to the Province: "The general opinion among the up-country members is that if Premier McBride is not able to carry on business with that majority, it would be best to resign and have another election. All the government members are determined that it shall be a straight conservative government or none at all. As far as the speakership is concerned, I think that the government could not do better than elect Mr. Pooley."

Says the World: "The fact that Conservatism, even under the peculiar conditions of the late contest which undoubtedly threw a large number of naturally Liberal votes into the hands of the enemy, failed to poll anything like an equal vote to that of the temporarily divided affinities, Liberals and Labor, was taken as an unmistakable proof that Vancouver has not forsaken her first love, true Liberalism, despite the fact that accidents may happen—and that the next election in Vancouver will tell another story."

Mrs. Crawford, mother of Engineers M. F., Hector and W. J. Crawford, died last night, aged 66. The body will be taken to Kamloops this evening for interment.

The lacrosse boys returned from Vernon this morning. They played the Vernon team Thursday and after a good game were beaten 5 to 0. A. Hyatt captained the local team. Our boys speak in the highest terms of the hospitality extended them at Vernon.

POPLAR.

Geo. Gilbert is arranging a shipment of ore the like of which has probably never before been handled outside an exclusive placer camp. A few sacks are expected to give returns of many thousands of dollars, as preliminary assays of the same character of ore gave returns of $11,900 to the ton.

Work projected on the Gold Park, Swede, Lucky Jack, Winquist and Kelly groups will by the time that the season opens in the spring show at considerable depths, the value of the ore bodies.

The Provincial Mineralogist reports on Poplar—There has been exaggerated reports circulated as to the richness of the district. Men are taking advantage of the recent rich finds there to boom properties which have not, showing to warrant it. Throughout a very wide area there are, however strong quartz veins, carrying gold. The great area mineralized is a strong point in favor of the territory.

Mr. Robertson does not doubt the veins have good depth and extent enough to satisfy any miner. Ore of most exceptional value has been found in many places, but there is need for a considerable amount of development work before a rule could be established as to the general value of the country as a gold producer.

The main body of the ore vein is comparatively low grade in character but work alone will tell whether these phenomenally rich places are to occur frequently enough to give the properties remarkable values.

FIRE VALLEY.

From our own correspondent.

E. G. Bangs has got his new house nearly completed and intends moving in very shortly.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1903.

One of the most necessary public works required to assist the Malakwa settlement is a trail to Mara, so that stock can be purchased in the Okanagan and driven in. We hope Mr. Fulton, M. P. P., will give the necessary attention towards securing a grant for this work.

The Indians put in traps for fish on Eagle river at Malakwa. Steps should be taken to stop this. Eagle river, if properly protected and supplied with young fish from the hatchery, should become one of the finest haunts of the angler in the province. With the traps put in each season by the Indians the fish are simply slaughtered.

Malakwa settlers complain that they are badly served by the C. P. R. They say that owing to the uncertainty of trains stopping perishable produce is often spoiled before they can get it to market. It is to the interest of the railway company to encourage settlement along the line and an effort should be made by the company to meet the requirements of the settlers and assist them in every reasonable way.

Financial reports show the tide of industrial prosperity in the United States is now receding and depression has set in, while in Canada, thanks to the wise policy of the liberal party, the country is but on the threshold of expanding prosperity.

The letter of Capt. Leonard in another column conveys an excellent suggestion for advertising British Columbia as a field for settlement. Settlers are rushing into the Northwest Territories, where the conditions of life are harder than here, and where there are not the same local markets. Every effort should be made to turn some of that tide of immigration to this province.

With Joseph Martin's proposed retirement from public life the province must reckon it loses the services of its ablest public man, though his retirement will consolidate the liberal party. His work in breaking up the railway monopoly in Manitoba will not soon be forgotten, and there is much that is good on the statute books of British Columbia for which the people have to thank Joe Martin.

PROVINCIAL MINING ASSOCIATION.

The Provincial Mining Association has a good start this year but it will be necessary for every man interested in the mineral industry of this province to keep his shoulder to the wheel and keep up the enthusiasm so necessary for the success of the association and the betterment of the condition of the mining industry. If those interested in mining stand together as they should, the association will eventually be the most influential body in the province. Now that the elections are over we trust an effort will be made to infuse new life into the Revelstoke branch, that it may contribute its quota towards carrying on the good work.

GALENA BAY ROAD.

Attention has repeatedly been drawn to the necessity of opening the Galena pass road to give access to the markets of the Lardeau. But there is another important use to which this road could be put. Winter after winter the Lardeau has been shut off from a regular mail service for weeks at a time by the freezing of the arm. Galena Bay is open water all the year round and if the Galena pass road were opened the mails could be taken in that way regularly during the winter months when the arm is frozen. The road is therefore of general as well as local importance and should be one of the first works attended to.

LAND FOR SETTLEMENT.

A great cause of complaint at Salmon Arm, Malakwa, Revelstoke and other points is that settlement is blocked by land being held for timber limits though not in some cases valuable for that purpose. If this complaint is justified it should be remedied. Of course where good milling timber exists the land is unfit for settlement as the cost of clearing would be too great, and the timber growth of the country is too valuable to permit its being wasted. Provision should, however, be made that, in the case of land suitable for settlement, the lessees holding it for timber should be required to take the timber off it within a certain time so that the progress of settlement should not be blocked.

GREAT HOLIDAY RESORT.

Every effort ought to be made to encourage the tourist traffic. We have all along contended that the Arrow lakes constitute the playground of Kootenay. The scenery is magnificent. There is splendid boating, yachting, fishing, hunting, and the hot springs afford sanitaria unexcelled the world over. These attractions of nature can be improved and one of the most effectual means of improvement is by improving the fishing. We consider the government should establish a hatchery on the Arrow lakes and promulgate the stocking of the streams with trout. There is no better attraction for the holiday-maker and the health-seeker than traversing well-stocked mountain streams with rod and line.

POLITICAL.

The Colonist, the leading government paper, says the result of the elections is not satisfactory as the conservatives expected a working majority.

At Arrowhead there was considerable indignation over the employment of an alien as scrutineer on Mr. Taylor's behalf to challenge good Canadians as to their rights of citizenship.

Comiplix and Arrowhead had reason to be proud of the splendid poll they recorded on Saturday week in the cause of clean government. Their votes were an object lesson to the constituency.

It is felt that T. Taylor's services to the conservative party should be recognised by Premier McBride calling upon him to take the portfolio of provincial secretary, rendered vacant by the defeat of Hon. A. S. Goodeve.

WHY I AM A LIBERAL.

NO. 12.

The liberal party has not only stood for closer alliance with the mother country but with all parts of the British empire, and has therefore promoted the grandest national policy the world has seen, federating not only the provinces of Canada in one harmonious whole, but striving to federate the whole empire under the strongest bond of union the world has ever seen. On the introduction of the so-called "national policy" by Sir John Macdonald, and the Tilley protective tariff, Laurier, speaking for the liberal party, pointed out that measure provided for free trade with Americans but this benefit was denied to England, and he declared this policy was not only injurious in itself, but unworthy of the Canadian people towards the mother country.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

It is in the history of the Canadian Pacific Railway that the liberal party stands out luminously as battling against corruption and prodigalism for the preservation of the rights of the people. The construction of this railway by 1881, was part of the agreement for British Columbia joining the confederacy in 1871. The liberals, while supporting the union, and being in fact the first to urge union with the Northwest and Canada, pointed out the time allowed for completion of the line was too short. Subsequent events proved the accuracy of the liberal contention. The agreement was however sustained, and it was only when the conservatives were proved to have received heavy contributions from Sir Hugh Allan, head of the company formed to build the road, that the conservatives went down to defeat in 1872.

A GOVERNMENT ROAD.

The liberals, succeeding to power, got the authority of parliament to build the line as a government work, and started it accordingly, besides building telegraph lines from Lake Superior to Edmonton to be used in connection with the work. The premier, Mr. McKenzie, also made an agreement with British Columbia, by which the government should build the E. & N. railway on Vancouver island and have an extension to 1900 for completion of the Canadian Pacific line, but the conservative element in the senate rejected this statesmanlike settlement made in the public interest, and the liberal party went down to defeat on the grandest national railway policy ever presented to the people of this country. Had the liberal policy been carried out the dominion would today have been richer by $1,000,000,000.

THE GIVE-AWAY POLICY.

On their return to power, the conservatives determined to reverse the liberal policy and to institute the give-away policy from which Canada suffers, and will suffer so terribly for years to come. "Thus," says Willison, "the policy of public construction was finally abandoned, and thus was made the gravest national mistake in all our history."

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC CONTRACT

was then entered into with Messrs. Stephen, McIntyre and Angus. The terms were: Syndicate to receive $25,000,000 cash and 25,000,000 acres of land, land grant to be in alternate mile blocks 24 miles back from railway, in case of land being unfit for settlement selection to be made from fertile belt, free grant to be given of land required for road-bed, station grounds, workshops, dock ground, water frontage or navigable water, and materials for construction to be admitted free of duty; no competing road to be allowed south of main line for 24 years; station grounds, workshops, buildings, yards, rolling stock and appurtenances to be free from dominion, provincial or municipal taxation, and the company's lands to be free of taxation for 20 years after grant from crown; rates not to be reduced till net profits exceeded 10 per cent on capital actually employed in construction, government to build and hand over free to company road from Kamloops to Port Moody. The conservative government, according to Sir Charles Tupper's estimate, thus made the company free gift of $78,000,000, and saddled the people of Canada for all time with the share of taxation which should be paid by the company.

The liberals, to their credit, fought this outrageous contract, Blake and Laurier taking an active part to try to protect the interests of the people, but all to no purpose, as the conservatives were in the majority. Laurier pointed out how the company would abuse its rights and privileges, and declared the contract a public danger, as it threatened to create upon the free soil of Canada a monopoly which might yet become a cause of trouble to the peace and harmony of the country.

The liberals organised petitions throughout the country and 50,000 liberal electors protested against Canada being given away to the C. P. R. Sir William Howland offered to build the road for much less land and money grants, to submit to the same taxation as the public and to hand the road over to the government at any time at a price to be fixed by arbitration, but the conservative ministry was determined to hand over the country to its friends, and used its majority to reject the Howland proposition though so much more in the public interest than the Stephen-McIntyre-Angus scheme. In addition to the extraordinary concessions given the company, the government guaranteed 3 per cent per annum for 10 years on $100,000,000 of stock, and lent the company $22,500,000, and subsequently guaranteed another $15,000,000 of bonds. The company sold $65,000,000 of stock for $81,000,000, the first issue of $5,000,000 being sold at par, the second of $20,000,000 at 25c., and the balance at 52½c. Of the $31,000,000 realised $21,000,000 was repaid in dividends, equal to 24 per cent per annum for part of the time, and 20 per cent for the rest. The promoters of the C. P. R. thus put up $3,500,000 for the work and $21,000,000 into their own pockets. The road and equipment cost $91,500,000 and the grants given by the conservative government equalled $139,340,000. That is to say our conservative friends gave the company a free gift of the road and put $47,800,000 in addition in the pockets of their friends, thus creating from the public funds those millionaires of Canada who have become, and will continue to be, a menace to the good government of the country. The government had also promised the C. P. R. would carry freight at a fourth the cost of other roads, but gave the company such powers that the people of interior British Columbia are today face to face with the fact that they are taxed with the most exorbitant tariff levied by any transcontinental road.

Simultaneously with these enormous national gifts to the promoters of the C. P. R. the conservative party used its power to despoil the public estate by huge gifts to its friends. Willison says: "Millions of acres of land were granted to colonisation companies. There was an immense waste of the public resources upon eager speculators and greedy partisans. There was a season of delirious gambling in prairie lots, a frantic competition in the plotting of paper towns, a reckless trading on the future that occasioned widespread loss and ruin, and put a positive blight on the country for years afterward. We wasted our patrimony in the west as a spendthrift wastes a fortune and created some grave problems for other generations."

As Hon. Clifford Sifton told parliament a few years ago: "We have 67,000,000 acres of land in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories reserved from settlement. On that 67,000,000 acres I, as the minister of the interior today, cannot give a man a homestead entry. Nor can I sell a single acre of it, although there are millions of acres of that land that never have been, and never will be nor can be, earned by any railway company."

This is the awful legacy which the conservative party left to the government of the future in face of liberal warnings as to the consequences. It was not until the liberals attained power that any success attended the efforts to minimise these consequences, and the success of settlement in the northwest, despite the drawbacks created by their predecessors is a standing monument to the statesmanlike administration of the liberal party under Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

CORRESPONDENCE

A Good Idea.

Editor KOOTENAY MAIL.

Sir,—Will you kindly allow me, through your paper to place before the farmers and fruit growers a scheme for the advancement of our provinces. The advantages of British Columbia as a place for settlers are very little known and it cannot be denied that where printed matter will often pass unheeded the object itself will arrest attention.

My proposition therefore is to collect samples of roots, fall and winter fruit, etc., to be forwarded to Great Britain. Here they could remain for a certain time on exhibition in the large towns and, afterwards be distributed amongst the hospitals and such like institutions where they would no doubt be highly appreciated. I would suggest printing a list of donors, together with particulars of the fruits, etc., which each contributes, so that intending settlers might if they so desired, obtain information about any particular locality from a resident. By this means it might also be possible to open up fresh markets for fruit and introduce capital.

I would esteem it a favor if intending donors of produce would kindly give probable weight and class of sample when communicating with me, in order to facilitate arrangement for collection.

Yours truly,
W. V. LEONARD, J.P.

Progress With New Mill—Plant Ordered.

The Arrowhead Lumber Co. are making excellent progress with their new mill. The plant has been ordered. A track has been built to connect the C. P. R. tracks at Arrowhead with the new mill site, and has a retaining wall on the lake frontage. T. J. Graham, who had the contract, has made a good job of it. The timbers are being framed. The company has built the best mill boarding house we have seen in the country. Mr. Beatty, the manager, is having this boarding house furnished in liberal fashion. The lodging accommodation consists of separate rooms fitted with two single beds. Separate reading and smoking rooms are provided and the quarters should prove most comfortable for the company's employes. A stable for the teams has also been built.

LUMBERING.

The Revelstoke Lumber Co. are making preparations for a big season's output of logs, as the force at the company's camp at Rocky Point has been increased to 70 men.

M. Quinn has purchased from J. A. Stone, G. Lund, J. Soards and Harry Howard their timber leases at Big-mouth.

The Pingston Creek Lumber Co. have let logging contracts to Capt. Sanderson and M. Buchanan.

THE BIG BEND.

Progress in Lumbering, Placer and Lode Mining, and Ranching.

GROUND HOG BASIN.

Situated at the summit in which French, McCullough and Camp Creeks take their rise, Ground Hog Basin has been a point of great attention from mining men on account of rich placer gold found in the sixties in the French and McCullough Creeks. Many believe this section was the source of those rich gold deposits while others hold the gold was the result of glacial action, brought from a point far distant, and from a formation which has been entirely eroded from its original place on the earth's crust. There are good arguments on behalf of both theories but the most forcible one finds presentation in the fact that remarkably rich specimens of gold-bearing quartz have been found in the leads in place on Ground Hog Basin. When shown some of the finest specimens from Poplar Creek several leading citizens of Revelstoke declared they had seen just as good from Ground Hog Basin in the Big Bend.

This Basin has never been thoroughly explored. Its exploration is difficult on account of the rich growth of vegetation that appears with the melting snows in springtime, and the wash that almost everywhere covers the country. In summer Ground Hog Basin is one of the prettiest spots on earth—like an old-country park, over which one can ride on horseback and over a good deal of which a carriage might be driven.

When the upper country gets developed the rancher of the future will find here a magnificent piece of country on which to fatten his stock in summer the growth of grass and pea-vine being nowhere excelled in the province. Indeed, in the days of the placer excitement of the sixties it is said cattle were driven in here by the Seymour pass trail, fattened and killed in fall to provide the winter beef supply for the camps.

The Bend has been far from transportation facilities, though this difficulty has now been to some extent remedied by placing the steamer Revelstoke on the upper river, and this section will be much benefitted by the completion of the proposed tramway at Laporte and steamer being run between there and Canoe River.

The only properties on which development work of any consequence has been done are the Orphan Boy now owned by C. N. Davidson of Vancouver, the Ole Bull group, including the Ole Bull, C. O. D. and Big Bend Belle purchased by an English syndicate from Gus Lund. These properties have been Crown granted and allowed to lie for some years now without any work being done on them. Other groups are owned by Messrs McCarty, Bourne Bros. C. B. Hume, C. E. Linmark, T. Kilpatrick, G. S. McCarter, J. D. Graham, D. Woolsey, F. Jackson, Gus Lund and others. And sufficient work has been done to crown grant some of these, while on others simply the annual assessments are performed. Numerous open cuts have been made on the leads and stringers traversing the basin.

There are cabins at the Ole Bull and Orphan Boy. From 2200 lbs. of quartz put through a one-stamp mill Gus Lund got $52 in gold. Gus Lund stays with the Basin and has implicit faith in its wealth and prospects. He is now doing development work on the controlled by him. This property consists of the Gold Hill, Gold Hill Fraction, O. K. Florence, Columbia, Johannesburg, Rocket, Roseberry, and Gold Coin claims. It surrounds the Orphan Boy. Gus has a blacksmith shop on the Florence a short distance from the trail and is running a tunnel on the lead where it is exposed in a small creek. This tunnel is at at a point 500 feet above the main creek and 4,900 ft. above sea level.

There are two distinct series of leads. The first and probably main series strikes northwest by south east, while the second series runs at from right angles to other variations from the main series. Though there is no place at which sufficient work has been done to enable an estimate to be formed of the history and bearing of the respective series to each other, it is probable the North-west and South-east leads are the orginal ore-bodies of the section and the cross-leads are a secondary deposition. The former are much larger, while the latter run from an inch or two to two feet in width and are richer than the former, from which they have probably derived a considerable portion of their values. The schists also carry more or less gold, though it is not likely they will show payable values at any distance from the ore-bodies. If it should be found they do, the whole basin could be operated as a stockwork, and would prove one of the biggest and best gold-mining propositions in the country.

The ore is mainly in the form of sulphurets, with molybdenite. The country rock consists of hydro-mica and graphitic schists and shales, the schists showing evidences here and there of the presence of chlorite, so favorable to the occurrence of gold deposits. If the ore-bodies average $6 a ton there is here every prospect of a good investment by the erection of stamp mills with cyanide plants. We are assured the quartz itself carries gold values but from the observations made the value of the deposits will entirely depend on the gold values carried by the sulphurets. The quartz is very brittle and easily milled. On the group there appear to be two leads running from 4½ ft. in width to 9 ft. in width.

On the O. K. there is a tunnel run for 10 ft. on a 12-inch stringer and 5 tons of ore are on the dump.

On the Johannesburg claim, in the bed of the main creek, a lead has been exposed showing a width of 2½ ft. The strike is N. 24 E. with a northerly dip of 27. The Florence and Orphan Boy leads strike through the Roseberry ground, and the latter outcrops on the Rocket claim.

On the Florence claim, in the bed of the creek, is a lead three feet wide exposed for 22 feet while above the trail a tunnel has been run on the lead 20 feet, and the lead has been exposed above for 30 feet by ground-sluicing. The lead has a strike of N. 65 W. and stands almost vertical having a dip of 82 north-easterly. Both walls are schist, which is heavily mineralised. The lead is from 3 ft. to 3½ ft. wide. A good millsite has been secured.

The development on the Orphan Boy consists of a tunnel in 85 ft. and several open cuts.

Development on the Ole Bull group is confined to several open cuts and a shaft.

H. A. Brown has two claims on the east side of McCullough creek opposite the Florence.

FRENCH CREEK.

Across the summit on the French creek slope F. B. Wells and F. Saunders are interested in two claims, the Khartoum group, which carry ore running $50 to gold and other values. The work done consists of 35 ft. of tunnelling and several open cuts.

GRAHAM CREEK

takes in the headwaters of French creek across the divide from Ground Hog Basin. F. McCarty, J. D. Graham, T. Kilpatrick, A. E. Kincaid, G. S. McCarter, Gus Lund and others hold claims here. The one on which most development has been done is the Mayflower, held by Gus Lund and located on Mayflower creek, a large tributary of Graham creek with considerable fall. The location is at an altitude of 5,650 ft. above sea level. The lead has a strike of N. 65 W. and dip of 72 north-easterly. The country rock is a graphitic schist, with a strike of N. 48 E. and dipping south-easterly. The lead is from 9 in. to 24 in. wide with well defined walls, and distinct gouge. The quartz is impregnated with dark colored iron sulphurets.

The Golden Eagle, a claim jointly owned by Gus Lund and J. D. Graham on the summit between Ground Hog and Graham creek basins, is said to show good gold values. The lead is one of the largest in the district, about 14 ft. wide.

F. McCarty has five claims at the head of Graham creek covering nearly the whole of that basin.

POLITICAL NOTES.

J. A. Macdonald is freely put forward as the liberal leader.

The Colonist says T. Taylor's name is frequently mentioned in connection with high preferment.

The socialist local intends holding weekly meetings and debates on Saturday evenings in Selkirk hall.

Even the hidebound Colonist admits that "Conservatism is razed to the ground. The tree is pruned down to the roots."

Hon. R. Green's election for Kaslo is to be protested, and a protest may also be entered against T. Taylor's return for Revelstoke.

Hon. R. Green owes his election to W. B. Pool who hauled off his coat and worked night and day to secure the return of the minister of mines.

It is believed John Houston, who went to Victoria last week with blood in his eye against The McBride government, will be mollified with a portfolio.

The McBride government, having given work broadcast up to the date of election, has rewarded the faithful who voted to sustain it by stopping all public works. A telegram was received Monday from Victoria to that effect.

The McBride government propose to secure a working majority on the floor of the house and "corrupt" Hawthornthwaite by offering him the speakership, which would remove him as an active member on the floor of the house.

At the meeting of the Liberal Association on Tuesday E. A. Haggen spoke on "Practical socialism and the way to attain it." An interesting discussion followed in which Messrs. Edwards, Mitchell, L. A. Fretz, Bell, Kellie, F. B. Lewis took part.

The News-Advertiser says: "What ever may be found to be the actual situation when the complete returns are received, it cannot be denied that the result of the elections is most unsatisfactory as regards provincial interests."

The conservatives claim an understanding with J. H. Hawthornthwaite, socialist member for Nanaimo, by which that gentleman will support McBride. In that case Williams, socialist candidate for Newcastle will go with him. Where then will be the socialists and their boast that they will not be connected with either of the old parties?

The dominion supplementary estimates include the following: Kamloops, public building improvements, $1,700; Columbia river above Golden, $4,200; site of warehouse at Wilmer, $1,000; Upper and Lower Arrow lakes, $12,000; Narrows, $4,000; North Thompson river, improvements, $7,000; Salmon river, $3,000; protection banks at Enderby, $15,000.

The annual meeting of the Revelstoke Liberal Association was held Tuesday. The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: Hon. president, W. A. Galliher, M. P.; hon. vice-president, Theodore Ludgate; J. Abrahamson, president; W. J. Dickey, vice-president; F. B. Lewis, secretary-treasurer; J. M. Kellie, F. H. Bourne, G. Lund, W. M. Lawrence, E. A. Haggen, executive committee.

CARIBOO HYDRAULIC.

A Great Enterprise With a Bright Prospect.

The water supply of last season unfortunately was the shortest the Cariboo Hydraulic have had since the organization of the enterprise in 1894, giving barely 2,500 miner's inches for about 53 days, and was barely enough to enable the company to advance two branches of their main flume through extremely rocky ground for a distance of 750 feet for each branch up to the main bank where they get their large results.

The company's water supply system has a capacity for delivering 5,000 miner's inches of water, and the water shed tributary to the system, with three storage reservoirs, is capable of furnishing over 470,000 miner's inches of water during a season that will give 30 inches of precipitation between the first of November and the first of May, and this quantity of water would be sufficient to operate the mine with 2,500 miner's inches for about 180 days. During the season of 1900 the company recovered $350,000 in 171 days, with about 461,000 miner's inches of water, so all they require to enable them to get a large annual output is a return of the precipitation to what it was prior to 1901, which varied from 28 to 36 inches annually between the years 1890 to 1900. Included in the company's hydraulic leases are, at a low estimate, 500,000,000 cubic yards of high grade gravel, and this can be exploited successfully from three different outlets.

WATER SUPPLY.

There is an abundance of additional watershed that can be got under control by extending the company's canals at costs varying from $10,000 to $15,000 per mile, and the water supply could, no doubt, be more than doubled by the construction of about 20 miles of canals and a couple of dams to make large storage reservoirs. There is sufficient ground included in the company's leases to warrant an expenditure necessary for bringing on 20,000 miner's inches of water.

CROWN GRANTS.

With reference to crown grants for hydraulic leases, after eleven years experience in this country, Mr. Hobson, the manager, has become thoroughly convinced that deep placers should be placed on the same footing as mineral claims, with regard to the annual expenditure and crown granting, to give stability of title that will secure the prospector in his efforts to demonstrate values in deep placer mines, and that will be sufficiently staple to encourage the investment of capital in deep gravel mining enterprises. Crown granting of deep placers could never lock up placer mining lands tighter than they are now locked up under the leasehold system, as shown by Mr. Brown's statement in last issue. This leasehold system has been tried for about twenty years and found very unsatisfactory. At the present time it is not within the means of any prospector to secure and hold a deep placer mining claim, for the reason that he is compelled under the condition of the lease to pay $50 rent, and perform work to cost not less than $1,000 to enable him to hold his claim for one year. So it is in the interests of the prospector that the laws must be changed so he may be encouraged to explore and make discoveries that will attract the capitalist and encourage him to invest. Any title that is good enough for the prospector will be satisfactory to the legitimate mining investor.

The patenting of mineral and deep placer mining mining lands in the United States has not tended towards locking up the lands, but on the other hand wonderful and extensive exploration followed the passage of the acts of 1872, which encouraged the investment of enormous amounts of capital and the development of an immense mining industry. The crown granting of mineral claims has not tended to lock up from development the mines of this province, but on the other hand has tended to encourage the investment of foreign as well as Canadian capital and the development of a great mining industry that would not be brought to its present condition under a leasehold system.

FUTURE OF HYDRAULICING.

We have in this province the largest and most extensive area of high grade auriferous alluvials of any country in the world, but unless these lands are thrown open for exploration and development they will be idle, as they have for the last forty years, undeveloped, and producing but little revenue to the government. It is well known that several hundred prospectors who have been in Cariboo have been compelled to abandon their deep placer claims on account of their inability to comply with the requirements of the placer mining acts and have left the country."

The promoting speculator appears to be the only person who flourishes under the leasehold system. He, by some means unknown to the ordinary miner or prospector, manages to secure leases for large tracts of deep placer mining ground and holds them by simply paying rent, without making any expenditure whatever for development work, holding these large tracts from year to year with the expectation of turning them over at enormous figures to intending investors. If the leasehold laws were complied with in this district $200,000 would be expended annually in Cariboo, and this expenditure would keep employed annually during the open season about 600 men who would make prosperous several of the little Cariboo towns which are now almost deserted.

REMEDIAL LEGISLATION REQUIRED.

The want of remedial legislation has no doubt tended to reduce the population of the Cariboo district to about 25 per cent of what it was five years ago, and the vote at the late election confirms this statement.

The principal objection of some placer miners to crown granting is the fact that under the amendments proposed by the mining association he is compelled to pay $5 per acre to receive a crown grant, while a mineral claimant pays nothing but receives a crown grant whenever he has completed an expenditure of $500 in development work.

If the proposed placer mining amendments are changed to conform to the mineral acts, and no charge is made for land to placer miners, all would be satisfied, and the measure could be got through without opposition.

A Femcrkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many million bottles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.
