DRAFTS ON FOREIGN COUNTRIES

Every branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce is equipped to issue drafts on the principal cities in the following countries without delay:

Africa	Arctic	Asia	Belgium	Bulgaria	Canada	China	Czechoslovakia	Denmark	Egypt	France	Germany	Greece	Holland	India	Indonesia	Italy	Japan	Latin America	Malta	Manchuria	Mexico	Montenegro	Norway	Poland	Portugal	Romania	Russia	Sweden	Switzerland	Thailand	Turkey	United States	Yugoslavia

Miss Cummins is paying a visit to her parents.

BORN.—On April 21, to Mr. and Mrs. Bray, a son.

BORN.—On April 20, to Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, a daughter.

BORN.—On April 23, to Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, a son.

Billy Nelson is applying for a licence for his hotel at Carmi.

Charles G. Johnson is in hospital with an attack of rheumatism.

The electric lights took 15 minutes vacation last Sunday night.

FOR RENT.—Furnished house, piano, sewing machines. A. L. White.

A burning chimney on Gold street caused the brigade a run on Saturday evening.

Miss Raymond of Grand Rapids, Mich., is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Robert Wood.

J. E. McAllister returns from the coast this week and will remain in the city for ten days.

Dr. Robertson is leaving the city next week to follow his profession in some part of the West.

Dr. Dunbar of Montreal, will arrive next month to practice medicine with Dr. MacLean.

Ola Lofstad has lost his trick cat. Tom the Chink kidnapped the feline and has not yet returned him.

Miss Sorby, who has been nursing Mrs. Charles Fair for the last six weeks, returned to Victoria on Friday.

Jim Foulds and several other husky miners are running an open cut on the wagon road, this side of Midway.

R. J. Muir will open the Star Theatre when his moving picture machine arrives. He expects it this week.

Two empty burning houses in Silver street, near the Brewery hotel, gave the firemen a few minutes practice last night.

W. F. Proctor expects to leave for Armstrong this week. He has been in the employ of the Bank of Montreal for 35 years.

The Oddfellows will attend St. Jude's Church next Sunday evening in a body. They will form in procession at their hall at 7 o'clock.

The flume under the surface of Greenwood street should be repaired immediately. It is rotten and accidents to teams are likely to occur at any time.

After a short visit Mike Edgren returned to Alaska last Saturday. He makes double Boundary wages in the North but the frost makes the winters unbearable.

The officers of the Greenwood Rifle Association for the current year are: E. Hibbert, captain; Dr. MacLean, first lieutenant; and Mr. Walsh, secretary.

The officers of the Greenwood Tennis Club for the current year are: W. G. McMynn, president; A. F. H. Meyer, vice-president; and Mr. Loring, secretary.

W. G. Watson left this week to join the Mental Co. He is a young and energetic man, and should make good at the difficult and lonesome task of managing a traveling troupe.

Fred O'Connor is in limbo, charged with an attempted indecent assault upon Mrs. Elsie Rose, at Hartline's logging camp, about seven miles from Westbridge. The case will be heard on Friday before W. G. McMynn, J. P.

A tenderfoot might think that the Mexican war had moved to Greenwood, judging from the shots that are being fired along the mountain side. However, there is no need of alarm, for it is just Ola and his men shooting out stumps.

C. J. Leggett is moving his law office from Midway to Greenwood. Mr. Leggett has had a long and honorable career in his profession, and should have a large practice in Greenwood. His office will be in the Mellor block or in the premises at present occupied by the postoffice.

Three dogs jumped on Bessie Dean and bit her while she was walking in the north end of the city. Alex Jordan shot his dog on the spot, and Harold Woods has been summoned to appear in court this afternoon to answer for the rude conduct of the other canines.

Tom Walsh was in the city last week on a visit to his many Protestant friends. Tom is the picture of prosperity, and bears the appearance of a man who has three square meals a day. He expects a large influx of tourists to Bridesville this summer from Chesaw, Molson, New York and other points.

S. T. Hall has rented his house in Grand Forks and moved to Vancouver. Steve is the amateur journalist who murdered Anglo-Saxon on the Boundary Creek Times until that journal dropped dead, leaving a few unfortunates to financially weep in bitter memory of the money Noyes still owes them.

A dog belonging to W. H. C. Wilson bit and jumped on Fred W. McLaine's three year old child. In the police court Wilson was ordered to shoot the dog within three days or be fined $25. The dog is probably dead by this time; but there are a few biting dogs still within the city which should be chained up or entirely eliminated.

The creditors of the late Boundary Creek Times are becoming anxious for their money. They would like A. H. Noyes to explain why something is not being done to pay their accounts. They would also like to know why it was necessary for Noyes or his agent, to remove stationery from the Times office during the night. Honest men as a rule do not work in the dark.

C. J. Bunbury, who has been chief of the provincial police force in the Boundary district for nearly three years, has retired from the service, and will move to Vancouver. He was a fearless and competent officer, ever alive to his duty, and a terror to evil-doers. Ever ready to risk his life in the performance of his duty, he has cleaned out nearly all the lawless characters in this section of the province, and deserves the thanks of all law-abiding citizens. His departure from the Boundary will be regretted by a host of friends, for British Columbia has few officers his equal. He will be succeeded by J. A. Dinsmore formerly of this city.

CITY COUNCIL.

The Council met on Monday evening.

The Fire Department reported a call to P. Lincoln's house and enclosed an account for $13. The account was ordered paid; also the account of Crane & Co. for $5.80.

Tenders for covering flume were read as follows: C. Kinney, 20 cents per lineal foot; W. E. McArthur, $200 for 1,000 feet, or for poles from 5 to 7 inches, $220; W. S. Hartman $350 according to specifications. C. Kinney was awarded the contract at 20 cents a lineal foot, providing it is decided to use cedar for the covering.

The fire chief reported having inspected the fire escapes in the hotels, and would report again later.

The assessor returned the assessment roll for 1911, showing land, $419,405; and improvements, $442,760, a total value of $872,165. It was decided to hold a court of revision to hear complaints against the assessment on June 15. Dr. MacLean, the health officer, submitted his report. The city has been remarkably free from disease during the past year, and the milk offered for sale is above the average. The shops of all kinds are kept in good condition. In some instances proprietors of real estate neglect to attend to the removal of garbage. These have been notified verbally, and will be further dealt with if the legal requirements are not obeyed. The matter of vacant buildings will be dealt with in a future report. The report recommended that the city clean up four lots. The city driver was instructed to attend to the work, and the report was then received and filed.

Council adjourned until May 8.

Arthur W. Goodenough who recently died in Spokane, lived for many years in Nelson and Kaslo. He came to Nelson in 1891, and tended bar for a short in the Bellevue hotel on Baker street. He ran a bottling works for many years in Kaslo. A noted mine in the Slokan bears his name.

The building permits for April in Kamloops will amount to more than $200,000.

The government will plant several experimental orchards in the Skeena district.

Before August the Canadian Northern will be running trains into Chilliwack.

In B. C. a man can marry his deceased wife's sister, but not his brothers widow.

A hospital will be built in Sumnerland. It will contain 14 beds, and cost $10,000.

The new opera house now building in Blairmore will cost $15,000, and seat 800 people.

Two mushers recently walked from Ashcroft to Quesnel, 220 miles, in seven days.

The C.P.R. is clearing 500 acres of land at Jaffray, which will be sold for dairy farms.

It is contrary to the health by-law, to store hides within the city limits of Lethbridge.

Merritt merchants bought three auto delivery wagons last week. They cost $1,250 each.

Isaac Eastwood is the first mayor of Merritt. He ran a meal shop in Vernon years ago.

It is said that the people of Silverton recently bought $16,000 worth of lots in Saskatoon.

Dr. Burgen is starting a farm in Northern Alberta, for the raising of minks and muskrats.

A. Guthrie & Co., have shipped five carloads of grading outfits from Princeton to Abbotsford.

The greed of some real estate men at Alberni is driving many would be settlers out of the district.

A. H. Wade has sold his general store in Penticton. He was the pioneer merchant of that district.

Charles Oasterton has retired from the government office in Vernon, having been superannuated.

The Agricultural Society at Lethbridge is putting up a main exhibition building that will cost $40,000.

Kit Summers has taken a band of horses to Princeton, in order to be ready for the stampede to Steamboat.

Lawyer Peters will likely be offered the position of city solicitor in Prince Rupert, at a salary of $150 a month.

At Edmonton the people are afraid that the Negro immigration will bring the hookworm into the northern country.

Edgar W. Dynes has an article in a Boston magazine, upon Father Pat, a pioneer sky pilot of Fairview and Rossland.

The Alaska salmon canners are confronted by a labor famine, and are trying to get laborers to come from the Sandwich islands.

Andrew M. Tyson of Vancouver has been appointed inspector of Indian agencies for the northern part of British Columbia.

A man has started over the 400 mile trail from Seward to Iditarod with 2000 live chickens. He expects to sell them for $5 each.

Kelowna has a touch of the "blue laws". The game of pool or billiards has to be played during certain hours in that city.

Ed Spangenberg died near Molson last week from Bright's disease. He formerly ran saloons in Oroville, Molson and Whatcom.

The city of Fernie has built a dog pound under the bridge. When the water gets high the Free Press suggests that the water spigots be tied down.

Honorable Clifford Sifton will spend most of the summer in England and go into British politics. Politics has made him a rich man combined with his brains, and industry.

In East Kootenay, the C.P.R. is using for ballast, tailings from the St. Eugene concentrator. If smelter slag is any good for ballast a mountain can be bought cheap in Greenwood.

In 1868 there were about 8,000 people in the Big Bend placer diggings above Revelstoke. In a week they stampeded to Perry creek in East Kootenay, and only 20 men were left behind.

It will not be many years till the C.P.R. will build a tourist hotel on the shores of Slokan lake. It will probably be on the opposite side of the lake from New Denver in order to be within easy reach of the glacier.

The Islander wants to know if 14 boxes of powder, exploded on Protection island is sufficient to break windows all over Nanaimo, what would become of Cumberland if the 30 tons stored at that city went into the air. Such an event would cause a boom of the wrong kind.

Lady Buller's Prize.

Sergeant-Major Wheeler, secretary and range officer of the Kettle River Valley Rifle association, has received an interesting letter from Lady Audrey Buller, wife of the late General Sir Redvers Buller, in which she inclosed a £5 note (24) as an annual subscription to the Association for a prize to be put up every year to perpetuate the memory of the late General Buller. Wheeler served under Buller in Egypt, Zululand, the Soudan, and South Africa.

The foolish man wastes the present worrying about the future.

PHOENIX, B. C.

Is opposite the Great Northern depot and is a delightful haven for the weary traveler. Great views of hot water run through the entire house, and bathrooms are always at the service of those in search of material cleanliness. The dining room is an enemy to dyspepsia, while the artistic appointment of the liquid refreshment makes the drinks go down like eating fruit in a flower garden. The sample rooms are the largest in the mountains and a pleasure to drummers with big trunks.

LOWERY'S CLAIM

During the 37 months that Lowery's Claim was on earth it did business all over the world. It was the most unique, independent and fearless journal ever produced in Canada. Political and theological enemies pursued it with the venom of a rattlesnake until the government shut it out of the mails, and its editor ceased to publish it, partly on account of a lazy liver and partly because it takes a pile of money to run a paper that is outlawed. There are still 25 different editions of this condemned journal in print. Send 10 cents and get one or $2.50 and get the bunch.

About Float.

Float is not a periodical.
It is a book containing 86 illustrations all told, and is filled with sketches and stories of western life. It tells how a gambler cashed in after the flush days of Sandon; how it rained in New Denver long after Noah was dead; how a person took a drink at Bear Lake in early days;
how justice was dealt in Kaslo in '93; how the saloon man outplayed the woman in Kalamazoo, and graphically depicts the ramblings of a western editor among the tender-feet in the cont belt. It contains the early history of Nelson and a romance of the Silver King mine.
In it are printed three western poems, and dozens of articles too numerous to mention. Send for one before it is too late.
The price is 25 cents,

Oh, These Tenderfeet.

A contributor writing in the Kelowna Courier has the following:

"We are in the midst of a crisis not only in Kelowna, but all over the Province. A number of serious people have lately come from the prairies, and they say that the moral and spiritual condition of British Columbia will never do.
The old free and easy ways which have been found so pleasant for 60 years must be given up, and everybody must go twice to church on Sundays and wear a sad face during the rest of the week. We have been told by Kelowna aldermen that amusement is not a necessary part of life.

The old timers of British Columbia do not take kindly to this new gospel. For more than a century this province has been a very agreeable place to live in, and it has owed its reputation as much to its tolerant spirit and easy going ways as to any other cause. It is said that a man who has lived in British Columbia can never feel at home anywhere else.
Certainly he cannot feel at home on the prairies, for I have known a good many men who went from here to the prairies, and they nearly always come back in a few months saying that there was too much intolerance over there for a man who has known the freedom of British Columbia. On the other hand, we find that prairie people are usually delighted with British Columbia, and many of them have confessed that they are very thankful to get away from the narrowness of their earlier lives, and to live in an atmosphere of liberty and toleration.

Our strict-minded prairie friends are always telling us that it would be the ruin of their boys and girls to let them grow up in the free and easy ways of this country. But the proof of the pudding is in the eating of it.
There are thousands of men and women in this province, from Premier McBride down, who were born in the Province and have always lived in it, and they are as fine specimens of humanity as can be found anywhere in the world.
Stronger and healthier men and women are not produced on the face of the earth. The born British Columbia can get along as well in the world as the native of any other country. I have met a great many drunkards in this province, but I do not recollect meeting one who was born in it.

It is interesting to note that exactly the same situation exists on the American side of the boundary. California has even greater freedom than even British Columbia has ever had. You can do almost anything you like there, and the result is that it is the most delightful place on the face of the earth. The people who live on the American prairies are greatly shocked at California, and a number of jealous persons have from time to time arrived on the scene and tried to "reform" California. But they have had no

Rather.

A banker once gave his wife a book of blank checks all properly signed and ready for filling in. "You are welcome to use these as you see fit," he told her,
"but I want you to write on the stub of each just what that check was used for, then when the book has been used up I will look over the stubs and see what disposition you have made of them."

She handed him the book the other day, after using all the checks, and he began an inspection of the memorandum on the stubs.

"Here is check 79 for seventy-five dollars, marked 'church expenses.' What church expenses are these? I have regularly paid the assessments," he said.

"Oh," replied the wife, "that was for a new Easter bonnet."

One third of the deaths in Manitoba are of children under one year old. It might be well, instead of giving so much attention to immigration, to spend a little more time and money on saving the home product. The infant mortality throughout the country is much too high, and much of it is the result of ignorance.

FAMOUS PEOPLE

BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY

President of the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

To be the guiding spirit of a great railway company, with a firm hand on the lever of a thousand phases of the work, requires long, practical, thorough experience, splendid executive ability in choosing and handling men, and a quick mind to decide vital issues on the moment if need be. Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy has these essentials and more; he is a tireless worker, a man of energy and enthusiasm, a keen common sense that cuts Gordian knots of difficulty with ease, and a prodigious memory that is always ready on the instant.

He was born in Milwaukee, Wis., of Irish parentage in 1853, and after taking the usual course in the public schools had a little supplementary schooling down and polishing in a business college, and was then ready at sixteen to begin the battle of life. He entered the kindergarten of railroading in his first position in the purchasing department of the Milwaukee and St. Paul road, and it was not long before it was recognized that he had a good business head firmly set on his broad shoulders; and with constant purpose and undaunted determination he worked his way, never looking at the clock nor stinting his efforts, until in 1879, at the age of twenty-six, he was general store-keeper of the road.

In 1882, Sir William Van Horne, another alumnus of this railroad who was a splendid college of training and experience, resigned from the Milwaukee and St. Paul to assume the management of the Canadian Pacific. He had been keeping close tally on Mr. Shaughnessy's work; he realized his possibilities and was confident that the young man was broad-gauge enough to be equal to larger opportunities, and took him to Canada as general purchasing agent. Two years later he won, by his ability, the post of assistant general manager, later becoming assistant to the President and in 1891 was made Vice-President and elected a director, and in 1898 when Sir William Van Horne retired from the presidency, the opportunity of his life, the climax of the rosiest dreams of his ambition came to Mr. Shaughnessy when he was made President—the kindly autocrat of the Canadian Pacific.

In October, 1901, his old folks at home in Milwaukee were roused from sleep one night by a messenger with a telegram. In trembling fear his father opened the envelope and with wonder and delight read aloud these words from one of the great railway kings of the western hemisphere: "You may be gratified to know that His Majesty has conferred on me the honor of knighthood. One owes a great deal to a good father and mother. T. G. Shaughnessy."

NATURAL HISTORY.

Wherein is Related a Tale of a Farmer and a Possum.

PLAYS DEAD WHILE HANGING.

Only Way to Kill Him is to Beat Him to a Jelly—One the Soldiers Let Go, Prose and Poetry Tell a Lot About the Animal That Bluffs.

By M. QUAD.
(Copyright, 1930, by Associated Literary Press.)

A possum he lived in a tree, And a jolly old fellow was he, Took life as he found it, And walked all around it.

WHAT is called the Virginia possum is found in almost every middle and southern state, but while the farmer often catches sight of foxes, coons and woodchucks he seldom gets a squint at a possum. The animal hardly ever moves out by day, and at night he is very shy. He makes his nest in a hollow tree, hollow log or among the roots of a tree, and he hides it well. He is a poor runner and not much of a fighter, though if he once gets his teeth into a dog he will hang on until killed. It is owing to this grip of his jaws that the fox, the coon and the "chuck" give him half the path when they meet at night. Any one of them can roll him over, but so tough is his hide that they might chew on him for an hour without hurting him.

"BUT POSSUM HE PLAYED."

Near by lived the good Farmer Dwight. And the possum he went every night, He went looking for scraps, And he thought that perhaps With the dog he'd get up a fight.

The possum does not wander far from his lair. This is because he is like no other animal in his eating. He will eat fowls, young rabbits, birds, eggs, roots, berries, vegetables of all sorts, scraps from the table, mice, bugs and almost everything else you can think of. He can therefore get his living around any farm. If living near a marsh he will feed on crabs and frogs. If there are snakes on a farm he will turn them out. A fight often takes place between a possum and a black snake, but the former is always the winner. It is said that the bite of a rattlesnake will not poison him. In gathering fruit from a tree the possum hangs to a limb by his tail and uses his forefeet to gather with. He can eat more persimmons than any three colored men, but when it comes to the watermelon he doesn't care for it.

He'd pick up a chick now and then Or strangle a gopher or hen. And he ate the best, And he ate it with zest.

Before he'd returned to his den. The two oddest things about the possum is the way he uses his tail to hang by and his "playing dead" when attacked and overcome. If the farmer clubs one to death, or thinks he does, the animal will remain quiet for hours and then get up and walk off. To actually kill him with a club he must be beaten to a jelly. He has a hide on him like a bull, and he has few nerves to feel pain. A bulldog may worry one for an hour after he is supposed to be dead, and he will come to life again and make for his tree.

There were nights in the full of the moon When he was mistook for a coon, And the dog made him jump Around bushes and stump.

And get out of that pretty soon. Naturalists used to assert that when the mother possum had a litter of five the old man turned to and ate up three of them so as to keep the number down where all could make a good living. This has been found to be incorrect. As soon as the house is full of children papa takes his departure and finds another boarding house for himself. They may live or die, but it's nothing to him. It is only at such times that if he meets another daddy possum he will get up a row without the least excuse. He's mad about it, you see; thinks two to the family enough.

Three times he was caught in a trap And over the head got a rap, But possum he played, And living he stayed.

And winked as he woke from his nap. In the New York zoo several years ago a possum was struck fifteen times with a baseball bat in the hands of a strong man. He went dead, and a man was set to watch him. He was watched for ten hours, but as he stayed dead the watcher went away for half an hour. Upon his return—no possum! The next day the animal was as lively as if he had not been clubbed. During the club he was some distance from the cage and a possum in Virginia and let him curl his tail over a limb. He was closely guarded for three days and was still "all there" when the boys let him go.

At length "was the farmer who said: That possum shall sleep with the dead. I'll catch him once more, And, b'gosh and gators, His blood I truly will shed!"

When a fox or coon finds he is discovered at his little game and is chased by the dog two or three times he pulls up stakes and hunts a new neighborhood. Not so with the possum. When he finds a good thing he hangs right on, and the result is that his wife looks for him to come home some morning and he does not show up. The fox and coon are gone from the pen. He has sucked scores of eggs. And then used his legs To toss himself homeward again.

At the Chinatown zoo they put a basket containing six dozen eggs into the cage of the possum. He was willing and went at it. They thought he might suck the whole seventy-two, but he was no hog, and he stopped at fifty. The hole he made in the shell was no larger than a darning needle, and not a shell was broken. Just how much eggings a possum can drink is not known, but about a gallon would probably do for him.

By thunder, I'll stand it no more, But dabble my hands in his gore! I've sworn it and said "That I'd have him dead, And to let him shall come nevermore!" The stupidity of the possum is shown in the fact that he can be easily trapped. He is not looking for anything of the kind, and it is said that he cannot scent a steel trap like the fox or wolf. A trap set anywhere around the henhouse will eventually get him. And next morning the captive was there, And the ax the old man did prepare. One look he just gave him, And then he did snave him, And cut him in two, I declare!

Queer Clocks.

One Le Roullat of Limoges, in France, seems to have been able to make clocks from any material, however unsuitable. One clock he fashioned entirely from old newspapers converted into pulp, another from large and small sticks held together by wires, a third from discarded tobacco cans, and so on. Some of his clocks are, however, triumphs of workmanship.

H.M.'S. POULTICE WOLFPERS.

Things Not Generally Known About the Army Doctors.

Known to the irreverent as the "Poultice Wolfpers," the officers of the Royal Army Medical Corps have undergone a good many vicissitudes.

In the old days the army "sawbones" was attached to a regiment, followed it everywhere, and often spent his life with it. Nowadays, however, with the exception of the Household troops, army medical officers are appointed, not to regiments, but to garrisons, and are constantly being moved from one garrison town to another.

The modern army doctor, therefore, has army rank, but at the same time his executive powers are limited. He can only command men of his own corps.

Candidates must be between twenty-one and twenty-eight years of age, and at the time of appointment must be registered under the medical acts in force in the United Kingdom.

They have to undergo an entrance examination on purely medical subjects, and their character, health, etc., being satisfactory, they are appointed on probation.

While on probation, the officer undergoes a two months' course at the Royal Army Medical College on hygiene, pathology, tropical medicine, military surgery, and military medical administration. Then he goes to the Royal Army Medical Corps School of Instruction at Aldershot for a two months' course in the technical details of his corps, in each case having to pass an examination at the end of the course.

All being well, his probationary period now expires, and he becomes a full-fledged officer of the R.A.M.C. The army doctor's pay is fairly good, certainly very good compared with that of a regimental officer. As a lieutenant he gets 15s. a day, as against the 6s. 6d. per diem of the ordinary subaltern; but then he is usually an older man.

As a captain, the army doctor gets only 15s. 6d. a day; but then he can become a captain in about three years, as against the six to nine years that it takes the regimental officer to "get his company." Moreover, after seven years' total service, the army doctor gets 17s. a day, and after ten years' total service he waxes fat on a guinea a day.

A major gets from £1 3s. 6d. to £1 6s. a day, according to length of service, a lieutenant-colonel from £1 10s. to £1 15s., a colonel £2 5s., and a surgeon-general £3 a day; while, if he becomes a deputy-director-general, or military "Bob Sawyer" he will get £1,500 a year, and if he reaches the top of the tree and becomes director-general of the Army Medical Service, £2,000 per annum will be his reward.

These rates of pay are generally substantially increased by extra pay for holding certain appointments. For example, the medical officer in charge of a hospital gets £500 a year, and a day extra, according to the number of beds; an officer holding an appointment as specialist gets 2s. 6d. a day extra; and in one way or another the army doctor can add to his income.

With average luck an army doctor, after ten years' service, should be making at least £500 a year, and at the age of from thirty-one to thirty-eight—and another ten years should see him drawing at least £1,000 a year.

He has a certainty, and when he retires—which he must do at fifty-five, unless he is a colonel—there is a pension waiting for him, ranging from £1 a day after twenty years' service to the £1,125 per annum of a retired director-general, with three years' service as such, and thirty years' service in all.

In the old days, Indian army doctors often made fortunes out of attending rajahs, who were only too delighted to hand over the equivalent of £10,000 for having an ingrowing toe-nail removed, or some other trifling operation performed.

But these days are gone, and civilian practice is only permitted under certain conditions.

The Home Secretary's Wit.

Mr. Winston Churchill was told by an acquaintance that a very dear friend was suffering from indigestion. Mr. Churchill determined to write a note of sympathy at once. He was just sitting down to write the letter, when the word came that the illness was acute indigestion. His note was worded thus: "Dear —, I am very sorry to hear that you are ill, but am glad that the trouble is with the table of contents rather than with the appendix."

Ready With the Goods.

Teacher—What is the meaning of excavate?
Pupil—To hollow out.
Teacher—Give a sentence containing the word.
"A boy excavates when his papa licks him."

"Which of you has been waiting the longest?" asked the doctor, coming from the consultation room.
"I have," replied the tailor. "I've been waiting for more than a year for you to pay for that suit of clothes."

He was a tough prisoner of forbidding aspect. "Prisoner at the bar," said the Recorder, "do you challenge any of the jurymen?" "Challenge 'em!" grunted the ruffian, "why, I'd fight the whole lot of them with one hand tied behind me."

"Pluck," said the financier, "is the secret of success." "Well," interrupted the shabby man, "I'll give you £10 if you'll teach me your method of plucking."

Mr. Hobbs—I think there is some hope for Danerick. He's sold out his suit.
Mrs. Hobbs—Yes, but he has opened a drug store.

W. N. U., No. 802.

M'GILL'S NEW SCHOOL.

Medical Faculty Has a Fine Modern Home.

When the 500 or more students in 'medicine of McGill assemble for another year's work in the autumn they will find the new $300,000 Medical Faculty Building prepared to receive them.

It is pretty safe to say that none of the universities of the world will afford its students and professors a more practically designed and complete home for their avocations.

As befits a modern medical training college, the first consideration of the builders has been hygiene.

The vaulted passages and corridors are vaustrated with white tiling, which finds place also around doors and windows, where wooden moulding is usually employed. Where wood is used at all, it is old oak, chemically treated to resist fire. The lesson of the disastrous fire which destroyed the old building and its valuable museum has not been overlooked.

The administration department and faculty room are on the McGill College avenue side of the building, and are beautifully finished in oak. Adjoining on the campus front are students' libraries and reading rooms of equally sumptuous design and finish, the leaded windows bearing in colorful escutcheons names famous in medical and surgical science from Aesculapius and Galen down.

There are two striking tablets also in the lower corridors. The memory of G. T. Holmes, M.D., LL.D., and R. P. Howard, M.D., LL.D., both former deans of the faculty.

The class rooms and smaller lecture rooms are on the campus front side on the three stories.

The two extensions, which run almost close to the Royal Victoria Hospital, are devoted on the Avenue West side, to pathology, chemistry and anatomy respectively. Dentistry also finds a place on the ground floor, several demonstration and class rooms being devoted to that branch of the science.

In the basement the subjects for dissection will be disposed in airtight receptacles, and preserved by an alcoholic arrangement of great practicability. An enclosed special elevator will convey subjects to the dissecting room on the third story. These arrangements are of peculiar interest, and represent the latest word in anatomical education.

The eastern extension is fitted up for museum purposes. Its distinguishing feature is a central lighting tower, surrounded by massive pillars, and low-tiled walls, with handsome balconies displaying the special collection of arms of the faculty.

These large apartments are at present being fitted up with steel and glass and light cases of uncommon design by Messrs. A. Edwards and Co. of Syracuse, N.Y.

The building itself was erected by Messrs. J. Lyall and Co., and is of fireproof construction, stone, tiles and steel being the structural material employed. Like so much that is connected with the upbuilding of what is best in Montreal, the beneficence of Lord Strathcona is represented in the new structure, as is the honorable memory of other merchant princes of that city.

Admiral's Long Career.

One of the few Canadian officers of the British navy arrived recently in Montreal. He is a member of the degree of LL.D. from McGill University. He is Admiral Sir Archibald Douglas, Grand Commander of the Victorian Order and a K.C.B., since 1902. He was born at Quebec in 1842, the son of George Melville Douglas, of that city. He was educated at Quebec High School and as a boy of fourteen entered the navy as a midshipman on the "Boscawen," flagship of the North America and West Indies squadron. He won rank successively, as follows: Lieutenant, 1861; commander, 1870; vice-admiral, 1901. Since 1907, he has been on the retired list. He served in the naval brigade in Congo and Gambia in 1890 and from 1873 to 1875 was director of the Japanese Imperial Naval College; he saw service in Egypt in 1884 and was commander-in-chief of the squadron in the East Indies in 1899 and 1900; a Lord of the Admiralty from 1899 to 1902, commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic and West Indies squadron from 1902 to 1904, and commander at Portsmouth, 1904 to 1907. He held the honorary post of A.D.C. to the late Queen Victoria, was a Knight of the Legion of Honor (France), 1st Class Rising Sun (Japan), and 1st class, Order of Naval Merit (Spain). He has many friends in Canada.

What He Was Doing.

It is said that some years ago a mayor of Toronto who was anxious to appear extremely busy, made a point of attempting to surprise certain officials, in order to catch them in neglect or idleness. This course of action on the part of the chief magistrate led to a lead to an overwhelming popularity, and he soon found himself regarded with coldness. He persisted in his over-zealous vigilance, however, but made no alarming discoveries.

One morning he arrived at the City Hall at the hour of eight and proceeded to the office of Dr. Charles Sheard, to find that dignitary in his shirt sleeves absorbed in the toils of the day.

"Dear me," exclaimed His Worship mildly, "what are you doing here so early?" "Finding my own business," was the laconic reply.

Want Monuments Collected.

Buried at the old cemetery in Sandy Hill, Ottawa, which the city is converting into a public park, are ten or twelve British soldiers' former supporters and miners who came here and built the Rideau Canal locks prior to 1830. Now the city is making the change, Mayor Hopewell has received the suggestion from Charles King and others that military men of the city should unite in collecting the monuments of these old soldiers, one of whom, Reuben Traveller, fought at Trafalgar under Nelson, and have them placed at Beechwood Cemetery.

"An editor is somebody who does not do anything himself, and when somebody else does, goes, and tells other people all about it." Another gave a more thoughtful definition, "whether or not it was original with him." "An editor is a man who has the industry of a beaver and the instincts of a bee."

A food faddist was lecturing to a large audience on the marvelous results to be obtained from chewing soup, or eating nut butter, or something of that kind. He was not a very imposing person physically; but, swelling out his chest, he slapped it three times with his own and said: "Friends, two years ago I was a walking skeleton, a haggard, miserable wreck. Now, what do you suppose brought about this great change in me?"

He paused to let his words sink in, and a voice asked: "What change?"
"Ah, little boy," said the village suffragette, with a sigh, "I am shocked to see so many youngsters around her with soiled faces. Don't you know we suffragettes have promised to kiss every little boy who has a clean face?"

Pains about Heart Splitting Headaches

Caused Much Suffering and Alarm—But All is Well Now Since Using DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Nearly everybody gets serious when the heart is affected. Headache often tells of just as great danger, but headache is so common that it often falls as an alarm signal, when the nervous system becomes exhausted. For there is then every reason to look forward to some form of paralysis and consequent helplessness of mind or body.

Sleeplessness, nervousness, indigestion, irritability, nervousness, loss of interest in things about you and inability to concentrate the mind are some of the symptoms of approaching nervous collapse.

Let the writer of this letter tell you what Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did for him when in such a condition. Mr. J. Law, 247 Hunter street, Peterborough, Ont., and who is employed with the Peter Hamilton Co., states: "For a long time I was troubled with severe splitting headaches, and suffered a great deal with pains in the region of my heart, caused no doubt by indigestion. I procured a box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and began this treatment. Since using this preparation for some time, I can say that I feel quite different, and my health is very much improved. My digestion is good, and the headaches and pains about my heart have not troubled me at all of late. I can sincerely recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food as a thorough cure for nervous dyspepsia and its accompanying symptoms.

You can rely on Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to bring you safely out of trouble when the nerves become exhausted, because it supplies in condensed and easily assimilated form the ingredients which nature requires to build up the new nerve cells.

A severe case of treatment must be regular and persistent, but you will soon notice signs of improvement which will give you encouragement. Why not get started on the road to health today? Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 40 cts. a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Augustus Saint-Gaudens, the celebrated American sculptor, used to illustrate the development of art in America by a story of the past.

In the forties, he said, a rich Bostonian built a fine house in the Black Bay. He decided to adorn the lawn with statuary, and having heard of the Venus de Milo, he sent to Rome for a copy.

The copy duly arrived. It was marble. But the Boston man no sooner got it than he sued the railroad company for $2,500 for mutilation. He won the suit, too.

A CANADIAN PHILOSOPHER.

Prof. George J. Blewett Has Found Fame Abroad.

Prof. George J. Blewett of Victoria College, who last year was honored with a call to deliver the lectures of the Taylor Foundation at Yale, is a recognized force in the world of letters though little known in Toronto outside of academic circles. He has not any decided talent for preaching, and is not fond of public appearances of any kind. He leads a life given over to books and meditation, and except for thick-crowding fancies might fittingly be described as a lonely man, fulfilling the old idea of the ascetic philosopher. For his years there is not a more widely read student nor a greater master of English prose style in Canada.

Dr. Blewett was born in St. Thomas in 1873, and comes of an old Cornish family. From his infancy he was scarcely ever seen without a book in his hand. He matriculated in 1890, but after spending over two years at the University of Toronto, he was obliged, on account of ill-health, to go west, where he engaged in Methodist mission work in Alberta for three years. Returning to Victoria College, he proceeded with his course, and was graduated with high honors in the department of philosophy in 1897. He spent the next two years in Toronto in post-graduate work in his chosen subject. Following this, he pursued his studies in Germany and at Harvard University. At the latter institution he was showered with honors and received a fellowship for a year at Oxford and Berlin.

Dr. Blewett was appointed in the autumn of 1901 professor of philosophy in Wesley College, Winnipeg. After serving there with great acceptance for five years he was called to Victoria College, and since coming to Toronto has received tempting offers to assume professorships in the United States.

Prof. Blewett published in 1907 a large volume of philosophical essays entitled "The Study of Nature and the Vision of God." This book was received with cordial praise not only by the daily press, but by such learned publications as The London Quarterly Review, The Expository Times, The London Spectator, The Philosophical Review, The Journal of Theology, The Review of Theology and Philosophy of Edinburgh.

A Vast Unknown Land.

Nineteen-ten has been a red-letter year in the history of the Upper Fraser River. For in June last the woods re-echoed the strident blast of the siren of a steamboat which pushed its way successfully up from Fort George to Tete Jaune Cache, conclusively proving that, with ease, its treacherous waters could be navigated by a shallow draft vessel. Next year, a fleet of commodious stern-wheelers will tear incessantly up and down, bearing construction material, men and provisions for the building of the line. Thus, the Grand Trunk Pacific will effect two remarkable achievements in one stroke—will develop a vast tract of unknown land by penetrating it with the iron horse, and open a long-closed waterway to steam navigation.

The Fraser River Valley will, in the course of a few years, become one of the busiest and most prosperous agricultural and industrial basins in British Columbia. As the river is traversed the mountain ranges roll well back, leaving a wide, yawning valley through which the river makes its tortuous way, doubling and redoubling upon itself. To give some idea of this extraordinary wandering, it may be mentioned that whereas you must cover 320 miles to journey by water from Tete Jaune Cache to Fort George, the railway, by following almost an air line, only requires 200 miles of steel to connect the two points.

The whole of the valley is covered with dense impenetrable primeval forest, stretching from the water's edge right up to the timber-line on the mountains. Fortunately, fire has wrought but little damage here, and the timber is of distinct value too. Just how many hundred million dollars this huge forest represents to the British Columbian Government it is impossible to say. Towering Douglas fir are in profusion, while the spruce, hemlock, and cedar are also prolific.

Dr. Grenfell in London.

Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, C.M.G., who is well-known in Canada because of his useful work in Labrador, is at present in England, where he is attracting considerable notice. On Feb. 6, he delivered a lecture in Queen's Hall, London, before a brilliant audience. He was described by The Westminster Gazette as "one of the best story-tellers living," which is praise indeed. Dr. Grenfell describes himself as "the most popular doctor in his district," and as he is the only doctor in one-quarter of a continent, his claim is not overrated.

As a youngster, Dr. Grenfell played Rugby for Oxford. He is an excellent shot and all-round athlete. He was house surgeon to Sir Fred. Treves, before crossing the Atlantic to Newfoundland and proceeding to his chosen work in Labrador nearly nineteen years ago. In different parts of that extensive country he has set up four hospitals, which are of great benefit to the sea-going people. He spends part of each year lecturing to raise funds for his work, and his lectures abound in good stories and stirring passages, dealing with the adventures of his life and simple heroism of the people among whom he works.

Fearful Cost of War

Those who are preaching in behalf of the world's peace should realize the tremendous cost of war. No more effective sermon against increased armaments could be prepared than is contained in the simple statement that since the civil war ended, in 1865, the United States has paid, for pensions and the pension system, the stupendous total of $4,094,860.20. This, although nearly forty years ago President Garfield said: "We may reasonably expect that the expenditure for pensions will hereafter steadily decrease."—Leslie's.

Canada's Champion Dancer

Cured of Piles by Zam-Buk

Mr. Thomas J. Hogan, Champion Clog and Pedestal Dancer of Canada, who resides at 59 Chalmers St., Montreal writes: "It gives me much pleasure to let you know my opinion of your wonderful Zam-Buk. For some time past I have been troubled with piles, but this year I suffered so much that I was obliged to cancel a number of engagements. I tried all the so-called remedies that were recommended, but they seemed to do me no good. Having been advised to try Zam-Buk I purchased a box, and after applying it a few times I felt marked relief. I continued with the Zam-Buk treatment, and the relief was extended into a permanent cure. I gladly permit you to use my experience as an illustration of the great value of Zam-Buk for piles."

Another illustration of how Zam-Buk cures long-standing cases of piles is provided by Mr. William Keaty, of Upper Nine Mile River, Ontario, N.S. He says: "I suffered terribly from piles, the pain at times being almost unbearable. Zam-Buk was recommended to me so I procured a supply and commenced with the treatment. After a very short time Zam-Buk effected a complete cure."

Zam-Buk is also a cure for ulcers, abscesses, eczema, cold sores, chapped hands, varicose ulcers, rashes, blood-poison, ringworm, cuts, burns, bruises, children's abrasions, letter scum, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Zam-Buk Soap, which may be had from any druggist at 25c a tablet, should be used instead of ordinary soap in all cases of eruptions and skin diseases.

When the Odds Are Against You

You Can Depend on DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE to Help You, If You Get the Genuine

What a fight goes on during the winter season against coughs and colds. The children are careless about keeping dry and warm, and the parents are worried to hear them cough. The best insurance against serious results is the use of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. So well-known is this medicine, and so universally used that we need scarcely tell you of its merits. But we do want to warn you against imitations and substitutes.

Once you know that there are at least four imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine on the market you are not likely to let any dealer talk you into accepting anything but the genuine, on each bottle of which are the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author.

Imitations are sold on the reputation of this great medicine, and not on their own merits, or why should they not have a name of their own.

With the genuine Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine you can readily overcome cough, bronchitis, whooping cough, throat irritation and the most serious coughs and colds. 25 cents a bottle; family size, 60 cents; all dealers or Edmundson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Great Guest Comes

While the cobbler mused there passed his pangs
A beggar drenched by the driving rain;
He called him in from the stony street
And gave him shoes for his bruised feet.

The beggar went, there came a crone,
Her face with wrinkles of sorrow sown;
A bundle of faggots bowed her back,
And she was spent with the wretched rack.

He gave her his loaf and steadied her load
As she took her way on the weary road.
Then to his door came a little child,
Lost and afraid in the world so wild,
In the big dark world. Clutching it up,
He gave it the milk in the waiting cup,
And led it home to its mother's arms.

Out of reach of the world's alarms,
The way went down in the crimson west,
And with it the hope of the blessed Guest;
And Conrad sighed at the world so gray;

"Why is it, Lord, that your feet delay?"
Did you forget that this was the day?"
Then, soft in the silence, a voice he heard:
"Lift up your heart, for I keep my word."

"Three times I came to your friendly door;
Three times my shadow was on your floor;
I was the beggar with bruised feet,
I was the woman you gave to eat;
I was the child on the homeless street."

He Got Shot
The smart man burst into the room.
"Heard the news about Dickenson getting shot?" he roared, red with excitement.

Club members dropped their papers and sprang suddenly to life.
"No," they cried. "When?"
"Bout half-an-hour ago," gasped the Smart Man. I was there and saw it!"

"Where did he get shot?"
"Where did he get shot?" broke in another.

"Down at the ironmonger's!" chuckled the Smart Man, slipping into the best chair. "He bought two pounds of it!"

Fate
Of dreams divine I built his shrine
And washed it clean with tears,
I strewed before its golden door,
The flowers of all my years.

My neighbor's fame was black with shame,
Weed-grown her shrine and bare,
Yet by her gate of sin and hate,
He paused and found her fair.

With careless eyes he passed me by,
The love I might not win,
But knelt before her graceless door,
And prayed her take him in.

—Marie Conway Oemler in Smart Set.

The stage manager of a stock company playing in Spokane tells the following story: "One of the stage cats, seeing the soft flakes of imitation snow trickling from the mechanical clouds of a performance of 'The Girl of the Golden West,' entered the retaining net to play about the time I took a turn at producing a roaring blizzard for the road agent. Knowing something of Dakota zephyrs, and aided by a machine of my own invention I produced a storm that made the audience shiver and turn up their collars. BOWEL TROUBLE MAKES SICKLY BABIES

Bowel trouble is the cause of most of the ailments from which little ones suffer. When baby's bowels are not working regularly illness is sure to appear, but when the bowels are regular the little one is usually bright, active and happy. No other medicine for babies has such good effect on the bowels as has Baby's Own Tablets. They make their action regular, sweeten the stomach and promote good health. Concerning them Mrs. Freeman Feener, of Barry's Corner, N.S., writes: "I can heartily recommend Baby's Own Tablets for all the troubles from which little ones suffer. My baby girl was troubled with her bowels and was so small and puny I thought we would lose her. I saw Baby's Own Tablets advertised and began giving them to her and now she is a big, healthy, happy baby. For this I thank the Tablets, and I always keep them in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Successful Entertainment.

Last Thursday evening the Auditorium was filled with a $181 audience to witness the entertainment given by the Junior Woman's Auxiliary of St. Jude's church. The farce, "A Mere Man," was excellently acted by a company of eight ladies, which included the Misses Ida and Bertha Shaw, Miss Caldwell, Miss Mollie Cummins, a bevy of lovely girls in charming costumes; Mrs. McArthur, the elderly and sentimental spinster; Mrs. Meyer, an attractive and elegantly attired widow; Mrs. J. E. McAllister, a dainty club maid, and Mrs. Colin Cummins, the severe and formidable president of the Emancipation Ladies' club. The farce was followed by a dainty song and charming dance by Madame Cartier which the audience vainly endeavored to follow. In the second part of the program a circle of sixteen prettily costumed Pierettes gave a series of songs and choruses interspersed with jokes and comedies, the local hits meeting with delighted applause. Miss Ida Shaw, as interlocutor, carried her part excellently. The Pierettes being mysteriously masked, the audience was kept busy guessing at identities. The song, "Stingy Moon," followed, prettily sung by a small "Pierrot" (Miss Joy Cummins) and a tiny Pierrette (Miss Mayme Lewis) and met with approval. The concluding item was a graceful dance in Pierrette costume, given by Mrs. Meyer, Miss Caldwell, the Misses Dollie and Eileen Oliver, the Misses Ida and Bertha Shaw and Miss Mollie Cummins, which drew an enthusiastic encore, to which the ladies kindly responded.

BOUNDARY MINES

The diamond drill is down 275 feet on the Axtex claim, near Chesaw. The Snowshoe is shut down and it is not likely to resume for some time.

Nine miners are working at the No. 7 and the force is being gradually increased.

The Granby mine has cut out Sunday work until the coke situation becomes more rosy.

Some work is being done on the Morning in the Summit camp. It is owned by Pete Lover and M. W. Ludlow.

There are 1,500 tons of Lone Star ore now in the bins at Boundary Falls. It will be shipped to the Greenwood smelter this week.

Gold ore has been struck on the Jim Hill mine, near Chesaw. Sam Turnbull and John Winters are driving a 1,100 foot tunnel on this property.

In the Big Tunnel the recent rich strike at great depth is being developed. The few shots that have already been put in show that the rich mineral is scattered all through the country rock.

B. C. MINING NEWS

It is estimated that the coal mines at Coalcomb, in the Similkameen, contain at least 120,000,000 tons of coal.

About two miles from Princeton the B. C. Portland Cement Co. is putting up buildings and getting ready to turn out cement by November. No cement will be sold until it is three months old; and 50,000 barrels will always be kept in stock. The present price of cement in Princeton is $6.75 a barrel, which will be reduced to $3 when the works are in operation. It is estimated that the works will employ about 500 people.

BLACK IS PECULIAR.

A. S. Black is attorney for that little man A. H. Noyes, who made such a dismal failure of running the Boundary Creek Times. When the crash came a large quantity of stationery was removed from the Times' office in the middle of the night. Part of this stationery had been shipped to Noyes by Smith, Davidson & Wright of Vancouver, and had not been paid for. Mr. McKenzie, traveller for the Vancouver stationers, interviewed Mr. Black a few days ago for his firm, demanding a return of the stationery or the money due for it. Black stood pat like a big man and said that he had sold the stationery, but would not state who was the buyer. This was small satisfaction for McKenzie, and he left town somewhat disgusted, and evidently thinking that our worthy city solicitor and fellow citizen, Mr. Black, was somewhat like the picture of the flag and the bulldog, under which is printed, "What we have, we hold."

Rock Creek.

Rock Creek wants a bank.

B. Barker is building a residence.

The addition to Pittendrigh's hotel is nearly completed.

Douglas Hamilton's gander turned out to be a goose.

G. Boyd-Wicks of Nelson paid another visit to this district last Saturday.

Rev. J. Steel of Grand Forks is a visitor at Rock Creek.

Logging is just about finished and the river is rapidly rising.

H. Nicholson left on Monday for Fairview.

A Presbyterian parson holds service twice a day every Sunday at Rock Creek.

The Episcopal church building is nearly completed.

Several other denominations hope soon to have representatives at Rock Creek.

There is no truth in the rumor that Rock Creek hopes, in the future, to emulate Toronto (vide last week Ledge).

Midway.

Tom Peck, and several other enterprising citizens are decorating their beautiful homes with paint.

J. H. Bush has bought Dr. Newcomb's residence, and sold his former house to Mr. Hood.

T. J. Hardy has purchased and moved into the Melville residence.
