The Aldermanic Board

At Monday night's meeting of the city council there were present, Mayor Bunting and Aldermen Desrosiers, Gulley, Sullivan, Sutherland and Wood.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS

From Holmes & Kennedy in reference to their water connections being frozen and asking for renewal of service at the earliest possible convenience of council. Referred to waterworks committee.

A petition from a number interested, asking for a sidewalk from Deadwood street along the west side of copper and from Copper up Louise to C. P. R. station. Messrs. Jenkins and Higgins, were present and asked for a sidewalk along south Silver. Both requests were referred to the streets committee.

From Fire Chief Hallett as follows: At 2 o'clock a. m., 14th inst., the department was called to a fire in the Pacific hotel. Department responded quickly and found kitchen in a mass of flames and burning fiercely. Flames were reaching half way through dining room and bar and eating their way through the walls. In a short time we had fire in lower portion of building under control, probably 15 minutes, but by this time fire had spread in space under the roof and into the rooms in second story. It took a long time to control this section on account of dense smoke and lack of ladders and appliances to tear down plaster and ceiling, but we gained steadily foot by foot until everything was black at 6:30. Had 900 feet of hose in use and five streams on the building a part of the time. Then followed a statement of the number of men engaged and the time of each at the fire. The mayor complimented the department on their efficiency at the fire. Report received and filed and account referred to finance committee.

The superintendent of waterworks made the following report:

I beg to submit for your consideration and approval an estimate of the work which should be undertaken during the present year.

Extension in Anaconda to supply foundry and others on Omaha avenue, $650.

Government street extension from Wood to Ida, $375.

Meters to serve hotels and other large consumers $400.

Extension from Greenwood street along gold, $125.

Flume on Lind creek to carry flood water over intake dam and thus avoid intake and reservoir, receiving the silt, $100

Total capital expenditure $1650 general maintenance $600.

Changing and deepening main at corner of Deadwood street and Kimberly avenue, $60.

Changing hydrants at corner of Silver and Greenwood, and Long Lake and Greenwood to prevent them freezing, $50.

This would make a total for maintenance of $710 and a total expenditure for the year of $2360.

I would also remind you that during the winter the Twin creek main, below reservoir and the city hall valves has frozen, but at what point has not been determined, but it is evident that owing to the limited circulation in this system it should be covered to a greater depth and also provided with a bleeder in the flume west of Copper street.

The original plans for reservoir on Providence creek provided for a capacity of one half that on Lind creek, or more than a day's flow of Providence creek, with the idea of enlarging it if it were ever necessary to pump from Boundary creek, but as we now have between 300,000 and 400,000 gallons per day, and the council has decided to gradually install meters, I am of the opinion that the day of pumping is some distance in the future, or until our population is at least doubled, and until that time arrives I believe the capacity as planned is sufficient, and within reasonable time our population doubles we will be much more able to bear the additional cost.

Yours respectively
SIDNEY M. JOHNSON

Report referred to waterworks committee to make an estimate of the cost of improvements recommended.

Finance committee reported favorably on following accounts which were ordered paid:

Greenwood City Waterworks Co.	$133.25
E. W. Bishop	16.50
Steam laundry	1.30
B. C. Times	41.50
Fire department	92.00

Mayor reported that a dead horse had been buried in the bed of Providence creek above the reservoir, and as soon as he had been informed of this Providence creek water had been shut off until the night of the fire, when he ordered it turned on again. Men are now removing the animal.

Alderman Sutherland reported that he and Ald. Desrosiers had consulted with a committee from the fire brigade and would recommend that the necessary equipment be purchased. The mayor also favored the purchase of additional equipment for the fire department.

Referred back to fire and light committee for an estimate of the cost.

Alderman Sutherland also reported that the new fire-alarm system would be installed in a couple of weeks.

The fire chief stated that it would be necessary to raise bell a couple of feet in order to work striker successfully. Referred to fire and light committee.

Alderman Wood reported on health. Efforts will be made to have a more sanitary system for the disposal of slops from restaurants enforced.

A motion was passed requesting the superintendent of waterworks to furnish complete plans of the city waterworks.

Water rate bylaw was finally passed.

Temporary loan bylaw was read a first, second and third time.

Council adjourned

Jas McGregor, mine inspector, was in the city last week and visited the mines of Phoenix and Deadwood camps.

The latest assays from the Duncan mine at Beaverdell gave $202 and $174 in silver. These assays were from heavy zinc ore.

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Mining Institute, held in Toronto, Frederic Keffer, consulting engineer for the B. C. Copper company, was elected president.

The Boundary Creek Times appeared last week as a 7-column, 4-page paper, the same form as the Ledge. We congratulate the management on its improved appearance.

President of Miners Union Speaks Plainly

ABOUT READING ROOM

Believes That Council Should Contribute Something Towards Its Support

TO THE EDITOR OF THE LEDGE.

Dear Sir—In your issue dated March 7th you stated that the city council had stopped the donation of $15 per month to the free reading room.

This is quite true, but for the benefit of the reading public, I think I will throw some light on the matter.

The free reading room was first started in Greenwood by ladies of the W. C. T. U. and was supported at first entirely by popular subscription. Later a grant of $15 per month was obtained from the city council and this grant held good till the last election of city officials, when the W. C. T. U. disbanded and the reading room assumed the proportions of a white elephant on the hands of the committee, in which the city council was represented. They requested the Miners' Union to take over the fixtures of the city reading room, as they, the Miners' Union, were running a very successful reading room on their own account. When the present council was elected and was requested by the union to continue the usual grant, they asked for a committee to be appointed by the union to meet a committee from the city council and discuss the manner in which the reading room was conducted.

Mayor Bunting Aldermen Gulley and Wood represented the city city council, and, R. Rawlinson, T. Gould, C. A. Phillips and myself represented the union. After considerable discussion Mayor Bunting said that he wanted to do what was right; Aldermen Gulley said he knew that in the past the money had been well spent, though neither he nor any member of the committee had visited the reading room, or inspected its stock of literature; Alderman Wood did not state his view of the question, but said he thought we had better lay the result of the meeting before the union. That, Mr. Editor, is the stamp of men the intelligent voters of Greenwood elect to handle their public affairs. Is it because the city councilors have been lending a ready ear to several varieties of knockers, the donation was stopped.

Knocker No. 1 is a parson, who objects to the present reading room because the Socialists have their literature there, and who tried to start a combined reading room and gymnasium. Socialist papers on the tables, to that I plead guilty, no parson can do my thinking or dictate what I shall read, that is also the sentiments of others. There are two capitalist papers in the reading room to every one Socialist paper, also several religious papers (though I admit the latter are seldom read) and if the parson could see none but Socialist papers on the tables, he should consult an oculist as his views are sadly restricted. Another objection urged against the reading room is that it is always filled with union men, and why not? Is it a disgrace to be a union man? If so, then I am disgraced and hope I may never outlive it.

The object in maintaining a reading room is to provide a place where men who live in hotels can spend a few hours in study or recreation apart from the demoralizing influence of saloons and gambling tables, and the men benefitted are the employees in the mines, smelters, and stores, as these men almost all belong to unions. That objection is groundless. My advice to all those who object to the present reading room because Socialism is discussed there, is to apply for Dr. Osler's old age pension, as Socialism is the absorbing topic all over the world today.

Now, Mr. Editor, if I have been rightly informed, the city council voted $100 to the board of trade to defray the expenses of their smoker. In mentioning this I am not knocking the board of trade, as the boys, (including myself) had a good time, and aided the church members in their applause when the Lord's Day Act was denounced, the point I want to bring out is this, the city council handles the public money. The board of trade is not a public institution, as they require an initiation fee, if the board of trade can get a rakeoff from the city treasury to pay for a smoker, then the churches are entitled to the same privilege for their socials, and so are the unions and fraternal lodges. Now, Mr. Editor, if the city council and the parsons of Greenwood are as anxious as they claim to benefit the homeless young men, they must prove it by taking a better stand than stopping the allowance to the reading room. In closing I will state that the Miners Union have run the only successful reading room in Greenwood, and will continue to run it free to the public whether assisted by the city council or not.

St. Patrick's Ball

The members of Greenwood Miners' Union, No. 22, W. F. M. held their ninth annual St. Patrick's day ball Monday evening last. The old Masonic hall was tastefully decorated, the Irish emblem, of course, predominating.

Nearly one hundred couples were present. Bush's orchestra furnished the music. All thoroughly enjoyed the dance, which broke up about four in the morning.

The local Rebekah lodge furnished the supper, and the committee in charge of the ball wish to express their thanks to the ladies of that organization for the excellent supper provided.

The committee in charge of the arrangements were R. Rawlinson, W. Embree, Dan McGillis, Robt. Little, and Robt. Halcrow, with Frank Steel as secretary.

The Pacific

E. A. Lilly, of Calgary, arrived in the city Sunday evening and on Monday inspected the Pacific hotel and adjusted the losses.

Yesterday Greig & Morrison opened their bar. Work will be commenced on the building next week, and it is expected the hotel will be reopened about the first of May.

The loss to Greig and Morrison will be about $3,000, and Moore & McElroy, who conducted the restaurant, will be losers to the extent of about $800. Mr. Moore will again have charge of the restaurant as soon as the building is ready for occupation. Mr. McElroy has gone to Phoenix, and has purchased the Greenwood Phoenix stage line.

LORD'S DAY ACT

Associated Boards Discuss Question.

SPEAKERS MODERATE

A Majority of Delegates Opposed to Strict Enforcement of the Act.

Thursday evening of last week the Associated Boards of Trade took up the discusssion of the Lord's Day Act and the effect of its enforcement on the mining camps of the West.

The churches of the city were represented with the exception of the English Church.

Rev. H. S. Hastings as local secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, addressed the delegates, as also did the Rev. Father Hartmann of the Roman Catholic Church. The latter gentleman, perhaps, struck the keynote of the question as it effects the mining camps of this province, when he asked the delegates to "be fair." That is all the west wants is a fair deal. Conditions here are not the same as in in the East. The unmarried man in the West can live comfortably on $3 or $4 a day and work only six days per week. The married man with a family cannot, making allowance for sickness in his family. The necessaries of life have increased from 15 to 25 per cent. in Greenwood in the past four years. There has not been a corresponding increase in wages.

The discussion was opened by G. O. Buchanan, president of the Associated Boards, who was strongly in favor of the principal of the act. Though moderate in his speech, Mr. Buchanan left no doubts in the minds of his hearers as to his stand on the question and advocated the enforcement of the act.

Mr. M. A. Whiteside of Greenwood, although favoring a day of rest for all, pointed out that at times in mining camps great loss would result from the enforcement of the act.

Mr. F. E. Simpson of Cranbrook, was emphatically opposed to the coercive principle of the act. He thought it unfair for the east to dictate the manner in which the west should observe the day.

Mr. W. G. Gaunce of Greenwood could not vote on the question as he had not received instructions from his board of trade, but was in favor of a Sunday observance.

Mr. R. R. Hedley of Nelson, opposed the observance of the act on the grounds that it would seriously hadicap the mining industry, and necessitate an increase in the wages of the workers. The average mines of the Boundary and Kootenay were at present making a small profit. Should anything occur to increase the cost of mining and smelting in many cases this profit would be turned into a loss. He hoped that the act would not be strictly enforced in the mining sections of British Columbia.

Mr. A. B. W. Hodges of the Granby Company was asked to express an opinion on the question. He said that the enforcement of the act might, and possibly would at times result in great injury to the smelters of the district. While the mine managers could as a rule make arrangements to supply the smelters with ore, accidents might happen, a train wreck or difficulties at a mine would sometimes necessi-

T. F. Sutherland intends to go north Monday next. He will have charge of development work on the Telqua Mining company's properties this season.

Wires are being strung for the new fire alarm system. The system is being installed for the city by E. G. Warren and will be in operation in couple of weeks.

"We're here because we're here." This is not at all humorous. It came from Rossland with the Associated boards of trade delegates. It took possession of the city, attacked the business men, invated the hotels, and, well, it didn't do a thing to the newspapers, both being a few minutes late last week. If the Rossland delegates ever again attempt such an outrage on Greenwood there'll be a lynching bee. It is even reported that one of the city choirs at practice unconsciously broke into "We're here because we're here."

F. M. Elkins returned Monday from a business trip to Rossland and points along the Columbia and Western railway. He spent a couple of days at Westly, a point about four miles from Castlegar, where the Yale-Columbia Lumber Co. has a sawmill. At Westly he met a number of old Greenwoodites, among them Gus Luff, who is superintendent for the company at that point; Jas. H. Ellis, accountant, and A. G. Davis, outside foreman. There are 25 whites and 12 Hindus working at the mill which has a capacity of 45,000 feet per day. The C. P. R. is building an engine house and other buildings at Faron, to replace those burned last summer. Mr. Elkins reports increased activity in mining at Rossland, and says it is almost impossible to procure War Eagle stock in that city.

M. M. Johnson, consulting engineer for the Dominion Copper Co., arrived in the city Tuesday. Mr. Johnson was recently in Cobalt and was favorably impressed with some of the properties there.

Jas. Gorman, of Colfax, Wash., managing director of the Greenwood Tremont mines, Ltd., arrived in the city yesterday to look over the properties of the company, and will leave for the south today.

The infant child of Fred Roberts died Thursday from pneumonia. Coroner Black held an inquest Friday, which, from the doctor's evidence, proved to have been unnecessary, and a verdict was found to that effect.

Work has been started installing the electric machinery on the Moreen in Deadwood camp. The hoist will be 20 horsepower and the motor 25 horsepower. It will take about a month to install the machinery when development will be resumed under the superintendence of Al. Morrison.

J. W. Cockle, the well known entomologist of Kaslo, was a delegate from that city to the associated boards of trade. When requested by a Ledge representative not to discover any new species of bugs in the Greenwood hotels, he produced a bottle containing two specimens which he discovered in Greenwood.

D. Whiteside, of Grand Forks, came over Tuesday to defend the Boundary Club against a charge of selling liquor without a license. GREENWOOD, B. C., MARCH 21, 1907

THE sun crossed the line today.

HAVE you planted your apple trees?

A GREAT calm generally follows a great storm.

IN price lumber is steadily chasing the red metal.

A HARD trail does not always end at Easy street.

STAGNATION is death, but too much activity is also an evil.

SOMETIMES it takes a wise prospector to tell his own stakes.

IN the days of prosperity be wise and pile some money in the bank.

IN 1864 copper was 55 cents. The war had something to do with it.

BY each man doing his share Greenwood will soon become, if not a second, at lest a third Butte.

ANTICIPATION is still often better than realization. It is hope, aided by pork and beans that makes many a prospector find great mines.

IT is evident that the Cox family are doing well out of the Canada Life. In addition to large salaries paid to all its members, the report shows that several subsidiay companies in which Mr. Cox is interested and in which he is really the company, carry on business by means of money borrowed from the Canada Life. The policy holders of the Canada Life have really supplied the capital that has enriched Mr. Cox and all his relations. It is evident that conditions which permit such proceedings to be conducted without violating the law, are unjust to those whose money is used in the manner described. A vast amount is at stake, the total life insurance policies in force in Canada at present being six hundred millions, of which the Canada Life has one hundred millions. Hitherto the managers of these companies have been allowed a free hand. They have levied such rates for insurance as they deemed advisable, without interference or supervision by parliament. The result is shown in the report now placed before the House. All the company managers have grown rich, whilst the Cox family have become millionaires. The plain conclusion evident from these facts is that they have been collecting too much money from their policy holders. By levying high premiums they accumulate a large surplus, and with this money they pay themselves enormous salaries, and then start numerous other companies with money borrowed from the surplus of the insurance companies controlled by themselves. The conclusion forced on the mind of the ordinary citizen is that it is high time for parliament to step in and not only put a stop to these proceedings, but place the future business of life insurance on a fair commercial basis.

Liberal-Socialist Combine

The stormy heights of fame are made gloomy by the sadness of statesmen and others who have reached them. It was the proud boast of J. A. Macdonald, W. W. B. McInnes, one known as the boy orator, and the rest of the Liberal speakers during the recent provincial campaign that they would have no alliance with the Socialists, and McInnes included in his denunciation not only the Socialists but also the Laborites. No unholy alliance with the Socialists was one of their cheif opposition shibboleths. Rather than have such an alliance the Liberals promised if they could not carry on the government without combining with the Socialists to appeal to the country. While Mr. Macdonald was denouncing the Socialists he had two members of the Socialist party as leaders in conducting his campaign in this riding. This did not look as though Mr. Macdonald was sincere in his antagonism to Socialism and Socialists. On Wednesday in the legislature the house was in committee of the whole on bills to amend the Interpretation act and the Assessment act of 1903. What would have proven a rather uninteresting session was made spirited by a lively debate over the proposed amendments to the assessment bill, moved by Oliver, Brewster and Hawthornthwaite, with a view to decreasing the taxation on small farmers. Finance Minister Tatlow opposed these claiming that the government had treated the small farmers generously. All amendments were voted down on a division by a straight party vote, the Socialists voting with the Opposition. The wonder now is how J. A. Macdonald and the other Liberals like this sort of coalition with the Socialists. It is probable judging from these surface facts that some sort of temporary coalition has been formed between the Opposition and the Socialists, and that Mr. Macdonald's denunciation of the Socialists during the campoign was a mere device to catch votes. Politics make strange bedfellows.—Rossland Miner.

A musical farce comedy said to be of unusual excellence, will be the attraction at the Auditorium on Wednesday, March 27th. The manager having been fortunate in securing the three act play, "My Wife's Family," the combined work of Hal Stephens and Harry Linton, prolific and successful writers of that style of entertainment. This merry concoction of fun, music and amusing frivolty, was greeted with warm praise wherever presented last season, as the jolliest, cleanest and liveliest of comedies seen in the musical world, a constant creator of laughter, that is simply irresistable. The comedy appeals to all that is refined; the book is not of the forced kind, while the musical numbers are all of the jingling whistling order. The company presenting "My Wife's Family" was selected for each person's natural ability to assume the various characters assigned to them, with the result one of the best drilled organizations on the road today. Clever comedians, pretty girls, and a whole ensemble well nigh perfect in every detail. The costuming, electrical and stage effects are correct in every detail. The engagement of "My Wife's Family" should prove to be an artistic and financial success.

New Mining Department

Hon. Mr. Templeman has given notice of a bill to create a separate federal department of mines. The mines branch is now under Dr. Haanel in connection with the geological survey, and the creation of a separate department under a minister and deputy minister will facilitate and enlarge the general educational and supervisory work of the federal government in regard to mines, as the same manner as fisheries and agriculture are now administered without conflicting with provincial jurisdiction. The creation of the department does not mean the addition of a new minister to the cabinet, but its administration will be assigned to one of the present ministers by order of the governor in council. It is understood Mr. Templeman will be placed in charge of the department which will comprise two branches, geological and mines, over each of which there will be a director and a deputy minister over both.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and in the territories the Dominion owns crown lands and enacts mining laws and regulations. In other provinces there will be a large scope for the federal department in connection with explosions, publication of accurate information regarding mineral resources, metallurgical investigation, etc.

The output of the mines of Canada is now about $75,000,000 and the possibilities of future developments are so great that it is not unreasonable to expect that Canada will take rank as one of the two or three leading mining countries of the world.

Vote on New Act

A vote is being taken at the St. Eugene on the Lord's Day Alliance Act. This vote is taken at the request of a committee of mine owners and smeltermen who recently held a meeting at Nelson for the purpose of going into the question thoroughly. The blank circulated is in the form of a petition addressed to Premier McBride. Of the men working in and around the St. Eugene mill, 24 have voted against the enforcement of the act and 14 for its enforcement. The vote among the miners is not yet complete, but at present it stands with a majority of 10 against the enforcement of the act. A similar vote is being taken at all of the mines and smelters in the Kootenays, and the result of this vote will be summed up at a meeting of the managers of the mines, smelters and sawmills which will be held in Nelson for Thursday, 14th of March, 1907, for the purpose of taking such steps as may be deemed necessary in regard to this most important matter. —Moyie Leader.

Float is not a periodical. It is a book containing 86 illustrations, all told, and is filled with sketches and stories of western life. It tells how a gambler cashin after the flush days of Sandon; how it rained in New Denver long after Noah was dead; how a parson took a drink at Bear Lake in early days; how justice was dealt in Kaslo in '93; how the saloon man outprayed the women in Kalamazoo, and graphically depicts the roamings of a western editor amongst the tenderfeet in the cent belt. It contains the early history of Nelson and a romance of the Silver King mine. In it are printed three western poems, and dozens of article too numerous to mention. The Elephant

In talking about the intelligence and remarkable memories of elephants, Mr. Bockstock, who had been a trainer and exhibitor of animals all his life, said: "The elephant is the most intelligent of animals. It is the easiest to train, the most good tempered and interesting of all.

"Speaking of the memories for persons and events that elephants have, I would like to tell you an instance that came under my own eyes some years ago when I was in England. My father was the manager of a show, but he having died my mother was in charge. We had several elephants, and one of them was of unusual size. He was within three or four inches as tall as Jumbo and a trifle heavier.

"In the rural places where we were exhibiting at the time it was the custom of the people to have large baskets of apples placed by the side of the road after they had been picked from the trees. This particular day our show was passing along a street and the elephants all ate of the apples.

"Not long after the big elephant was taken very ill. He laid down on the ground and was apparently unable to get up. We did not know whether he had been poisoned or not. Finally a chemist was called and he gave the elephant some physic.

"It did not appear to do much good. For hours the animal lay on the ground and the chemist kept giving him medicine. Bystanders jeered at the man for his apparently unsuccessful efforts. Finally, however, the elephant began to revive, and at last stood up on his feet.

"Seven years later we happened to visit this same town again. The big elephant was drawing a chariot with two others in the lead, tandem fashion. We were passing along the street when the elephant suddenly paused and walked up to a man standing on the sidewalk. She placed her trunk around the waist of the man, lifted him up in the air and drew him to her. She began to caress him, purring loudly all the while.

"Come to find out, this was the chemist who had cured the animal of her sickness seven years before. The man remembered the elephant and the elephant remembered the man. At the performance which we gave the chemist was among the spectators.

"When the time came for the big elephant to appear she walked right over to the chemist and raised him from the ground and hugged him so close that it was uncomfortable. But we could not release him until the elephant was ready. The elephant purred like a cat for almost twenty minutes.—Boston Journal.

MY WIFE'S FAMILY

Success artistically and laugh producing from the start, is the remarkable and pleasing record accorded "My Wife's Family," a three act musical farce comedy, written by Hal Stephens and Harry Linton, which was brought out last season. Built for laughing purposes only, it accomplished its end, with the result that return dates were played at many of the large cities by special request of managers and the theatre-going public. The attraction will be seen in this city on Wednesday, March 27th.

The American Railroad Hog

To know the American you must see all sides of him. On a train between Jersey City and Paterson, a poorly dressed woman carrying a baby in her arms, walked through two cars and was unable to find a seat. The railroad hog was there. In a dozen cases he had a whole seat to himself and his bundles, and he meant to keep it. The woman finally took a seat in the smoking car. Soon after, the hog went forward to enjoy a cigar and found her crying.

"What's the matter?

"Baby is very ill, sir.

"And where are you going?

"To my sister's. My husband is dead and I have no home.

"Leave you any money?

"Not a dollar, sir.

"Umph! Sorry for you. Let me hand you this.

The hog had been robbed of his bristles. Woman's tears had melted him. He returned to his car, gathered the other hogs about him and said:

"Come down! Poor widow—sick baby—no home. Come down!

The hogs went down for their wallets, and in ten minutes a handsome sum was put into the woman's hand, and the boss hog observed:

"There—there—its all right—not a word! Now come back here!

She followed him into the next car, and a dozen hogs rose and insisted that she take their seats.

The railroad hog can't be crowded but he can be melted.

Without disparaging the hog, we think it better to be a gentleman than a hog.—Editor.

Irish Wit

An Irish priest had labored hard with one of his flock to induce him to give up whiskey. I tell you, Michael, said the priest, whiskey is your worst enemy, and you should keep as far away from it as you can. Me enemy, is it, Father? responded Michael, and it was your Riverence's self that was telling us in the pulpit only last Sunday to love our enemies! So I was, Michael, rejoined the priest, but I didn't tell you to swallow them.—Sacred Heart Review.

In mentioning a series of curious facts concerning animals, the Dundee Advertiser says: Unlike most animals horses have no eyebrows. The eye of the owl is also very peculiar, seeing that it is immovably fixed in its socket and cannot stir in any direction. To compensate for this seeming disadvantage, it can turn its head almost completely around without moving its body.

THE LORD'S DAY ACT

tate working seven days. It might be possible that by working six days the mines could not supply the smeltir with ore. He also pointed out that its enforcement would mean an increase in wages.

Rev. H. S. Hastings, Greenwood's Methodist minister and local secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, pointed out that the Mother Lode mine was not worked on Sunday and maintained that there would be a better class of workers by enforcement of the act. As for sub-section 2 of clause 4, that was put into the act by Duncan Ross, M. P. for Yale. The best men had not left the Mother Lode and it was found that just as much work was done by the men in six days as in seven.

Lorne A. Campbell of Rossland, said the enforcing of the act would cut down the supply of coke and coal one-seventh, it would cut down transportation, it would involve companies boarding their men free on Sunday and it would cut down the wages of the men. Men would not lie around a bunkhouse idle all day Sunday and would simply get another job. The act was not workable in this country and would work a great hardship.

Mr. A. W. Dyer of Nelson, spoke shortly, showing the absurdity of the act as applied to newspapers and declared that if the province had not authority in the matter it should take steps to see that it did have. He was in favor of clause 4 of the act.

Mr. Starkey, of Nelson, quoted legal opinion to show that the privy council had made no decision that interfered with provincial authority to legislate. He pointed out that an enforcement of the act would lead to a demand for higher wages which might result in regrettable labor troubles.

The following resolution was then put and carried:

"Whereas, an act respecting Sunday has been passed by the Dominion Government, which if enforced will, it is believed, greatly interfere with the successful operation of many industries in British Columbia.

"Therefore, be it resolved that this board whilst wishing to restrict labor as much as possible to six days a week, urges the associated boards of trade of eastern B. C. to request the provincial government to give an assurance that no action will be taken in enforcing the said act so that in the meantime all the parties concerned may look fully into the question and confer with the government with a view to providing a solution of the difficult points involved."
