THE LEDGE

VOL XIII. GREENWOOD, B. C., THURSDAY, OCTOBER. 4, 1906. No. 13

Of Local Interest

Dr. Mathison, dentist, will return about 15th October.

The fall trade in wall paper is reported brisk by McRae Bros.

Walter and Mrs. Frith returned this week from an outing up Boundary creek.

Another shipment of Folger's coffee. Have a trial order. Russell-Law-Caulfield Co.

The Kaslo Kootenaine has discovered a new species. It says: "The leopard cannot change its spots, or the 'Utopian' its skin.

Jno. Rusk came down from the main river on Tuesday's stage, and left for Toronto yesterday. Mr. Rusk hasn't been east for 21 years.

George Cunningham, collector of votes for the Greenwood electoral district, will hold a court of revision in the government buildings Monday, November 5.

Geo. B. Paul, purchasing agent for the B. C. Copper company, has resigned and leaves next week for Spokane to take a position in the general offices of D. C. Corbin.

D. J. Robertson & Co., of Nelson advertise in this issue of THE LEDGE. The company is one of the best known furniture firms in the Kootenays, and their goods and prices are always right.

Andy Olson, an employe of the Greenwood smelter, died at the hospital Saturday last of typhoid fever, and was buried by the Greenwood Miners' Union Tuesday afternoon. The deceased had been only a short time in the district.

"Coniston" by Winston Churchill; "Karl Grier," by Louis Tracy: "Jane Cable," by Rev. J. McCutcheon; "The Treasure of Heaven," by Marie Corelli; "Puck of Pook's Hill,' by Rudyard Kipling; $1.50 each, are among the latest copyrights just published, and for sale by McRae Bros.

B. E. Walker, general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and party arrived in the city Sunday evening by special train. Monday morning, W. Allison, local manager of the bank here, drove the party to the smelter and other places of interest in the vicinity of the city. In the afternoon Grand Forks was visited.

Mayor Naden returned Thursday last from his trip north. The greater part of the three months was spent in the Bulkley Valley country. Mr. Naden made some mineral locations, from which he brought home surface samples, showing copper glance and peacock copper; also some silver-bearing ore. Coming out from the valley, Bruce Craddock accompanied him, and both visited Port Simpson and Kaien island. Mr. Craddock is expected in Greenwood in a few days.

C. A. Dempsey returned Saturday from a trip to Oroville and down the Okanagan river, along the proposed line of railway connecting the V., V. & E. either with the main line of the Great Northern near Wenatcheo, or with the Washington Central at Coulee city. This line it is said will be used as the main line to British Columbia interior points and coast cities, while the portion of the V., V. & E. between Midway and Oroville will be a branch feeder. Mr. Dempsey was pleased with the prospects of that section of country, especially its agricultural and fruit possibilities. He says they grow tomatoes there as large as pumpkins in Pterb county, Ontario.

J. C. Haas, M. E., of Spokane is in the city.

The Maple Leaf Brand Fuse is manufactured by the originators of Safety Fuse. Established 1836.

S. T. Belt, of the assay office at the smelter, returned the past week from a six weeks' trip south.

W. Morton came down from Carmi on Friday's stage, and will spend the winter in Greenwood.

If you want to buy either eating or cooking apples, get in touch with the Russell-Law-Caulfield Co.

Boundary Valley Lodge No. 38, I. O. O. F., will give their annual ball on Halloween night, the 31st inst.

A number of well-known railway magnates were in Nelson this week. Among others the party included J. W. Stewart, Pat Welch and Duncan Ross, M. P.

The Hotel Brooklyn in Phoenix is one of the best hotels in the great west. The hot water system has been installed, and if Jim will only put a little Scotch in every room he will have to enlarge the building in order to accommodate the people from Nelson.

The Cobalt strike at Westbridge appears to have been a fake. Like much of the stuff sent to outside papers from Grand Forks, the story is without foundation. If the correspondents in Grand Forks would confine their news items to territory tributary to that town, very little injury could be done.

There was a meeting of the Greenwood Board of Trade last winter, at whirh officers were lected, a delegate appointed to the meeting of the Associated Boards etc., etc. Collections were made from business men to defray expenses for stationery and salary of secretary. It now apperrs that the whole proceedings were irregular, or rather illegal. This is the reason perhaps, that the board have not been more active. The Greenwood board of trade has always been a rather unfortunate organization, and its luck doesn't appear to have changed. It never fails to make collections and have stationery printed annually.

There are a couple of licensed "joints" in this city that the commissioners should look after, one on Copper street and one in the southern end of the town. A license to a house to sell liquor does not empower the holder to make his place a public nuisance. The man who sells liquor to a person should protect that person while in the hotel or saloon. A license does not empower the holder to "roll" his patrons or throw them into the street after they are "broke." It is expected that the holder of a license will return all money and valuables entrusted to his care by customers when requested to do so. It is part of the duty of license commissioners to see that holders of licenses conduct their places with some regard to decency. When the law is continually and flagrantly violated it is time for the commissioners to step in and cancel the license. Some men run respectable houses; others do not. It is just as well that the necessity to observe common decency should be impressed upon those who aim to run disreputable places.

NEARING COMPLETION

Greenwood Waterworks Company's Plant Well Under Way

The building of the dam and other construction work for the electric light plant of the Greenwood Waterworks company is well on the way towards completion. The dam now being constructed is about a mile south of Boundary Falls and a short distance above the falls on Boundary creek. The foundation has a base of 25 feet in a narrow gorge of the creek, about 30 feet in width. This has now been built to a height of 25 feet, and will be continued to about 35 feet. The structure is of cribbing with interlocked timbers. From the cribbing for about 50 feet excavations have been made on the rock and concrete is being put down on each side of the flume or outlet. This flume is carried for a distance of about 20 feet through the rock and will be of cement. From the flume two pipes are run, one to drive the Doble water wheel and the other the equalizer. The former is thirty inches and the latter twelve. This piping is continued down stream for about 500 feet to the wheel, which will be 135 feet below where the water enters the pipes. The large pipe is of wood stayed with steel bands averaging three inches apart, along the whole length, near the bulkhead being from 1½ to 2 inches apart. The Doble wheel is of 250 horsepower. This will give about three times the power required for the present needs at the company.

Across Boundary creek from where the power plant is situated, a neat four-room cottage has been erected for the use of the man in charge of the plant, and is at present being used as an office.

Poles have been erected and a three-wire line strung from the plant to Greenwood, and everything is in readiness to make connections when the water is turned into the flume.

A couple of months will elapse before construction work is completed and machinery installed.

A large amount of smelter slag and other debris has accumulated in the bottom of the creek, and excavations will have to be made to remove this from the site of the reservoir. In case of water becoming too low in Boundary creek to furnish the necessary power, the company has a reserve in Long Lake, having obtained rights to a portion of that body of water. Gates have been put in at the lake and sufficient water can be released at any time there is a shortage in Boundary creek.

When the machinery is in place a full description of the plant will be published.

Livery Sold

Saturday last, D. A. Bannerman, of the Palace Livery, sold the business to Frank Buckles, of Phoenix, the purchase price being $9,000. Mr. Buckles took over the business Monday morning. Mr. Bannerman has been in business in Greenwood for the past nine years, first conducting a grocery, and afterwards purchasing the Palace livery. He served on the aldermanic board for two years, and was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor, losing by a few votes. Mr. Bannerman has not yet decided where he will locate, but will probably go north before engaging in business again. His many friends in the district will wish him prosperity wherever he goes.

Toilet and Dinner Sets, all new stock, and sold at various prices by Anderson Bros.

NELSON

There does not appear to be a Cap C in the News office.

E. E. Phair is frequently seen in the throng on Baker St.

A logging camp for the Gerrard mill has been established near Poplar.

Bill McCandlish has made a fortune since he came to Nelson. Bill should run for the Legislature.

The Victoria mine, near Beasley, resumed operations a few days ago. It is liable to become as great as the Silver King.

It is rumored that another daily paper is to be started in Rossland. That city always was a great town for throwing money at the birds.

A. H. Kelly is working the Dandy on Toad mountain. The high prices of lead, silver and copper now make this a profitable mine.

The Grits have no show to win in Kaslo at the next provincial election, except a labor candidate is put in the field backed by their support.

E. W. Widdowson, the celebrated assayer of Nelson is a firm believer in advertising. Through it he recently received orders from Manitoba and Sweden.

A syndicate was formed in Nelson this week to work the Winslow group in the Lardeau. The Winslow is mainly owned by P. H. Murphy and Bruce White.

The Magdala is the name of the new cigar recently put upon the market by the Kootenay Cigar Co., of Nelson. It is a blend of two Havanas, and is high grade.

George Horton is once more headed west with a million Ark cigars. He did not get them from Noah because they are made in Winnipeg, which hustling burg is a long way from Mount Ararat.

It might be better for British Columbia if the coal mines near Fernie were owned and operated by the government. The greed of private capital seems to keep Fernie in a position of turmoil that bodes no good to industrial enterprises in the province.

After an absence of many months W. F. DuBois has returned to the Slocan where he will act as manager of the Arlington mine which has recently resumed operations. He states that the Slocan looks better to him than all the camps he saw in Alaska, Oregon, California and Utah.

Quite a number of people in this city who have labored under the delusion that titled personages talked something like this, "Aw, I nevah drink watah, so, waitah bring me a glawse of beah, Bawse's if you have it, and then give the portah these brawses, and have him procure my bloomin' baggage, doncherknow;" were sadly disappointed when sub-royalty blessed the city for a few days. As the Earl Grey talked in a rational matter without any cheap Cockney accent the discovery was painful to those who thought that blue-blood butchered the English language in order to make an impression.

COUNCIL MEETING

Council met Monday evening, Mayor Naden and Aldermen Bunting McRae, Nelson and Sullivan were present. Minutes of previous meeting read and adopted.

D. A. Bannerman addressed the council re recreation ground, and stated that they were in debt to the amount of $100. He asked the council to donate that amount to clear debt off grounds. Request granted, the motion being that $100 be donated to secretary-treasurer of baseball club to pay up their present indebtedness.

Letter from A. M. Whiteside as follows: I have been advised that the city workmen are about to enter on the Providence mineral claim and proceed with the construction of the city waterworks system. I trust that this is an error, in view of the understanding that the arrangement with the Providence company regarding the use of its land for this purpose should stand over until next spring. There seems to be no reason why the matter should not be settled to the satisfaction of all parties. I therefore trust that the city will not encrouch upon my client's property, pending the agreement which is to be made. Referred to water committee.

Letter from residents of block 2 asking for water. Referred to waterworks.

Letter from F. Spearing re break in retaining wall at rear of his lot. Referred to the mayor with power to act.

From E. G. Warren offering to purchase cement. It was decided to sell surptus at cost.

A letter from Government Agent McMynn, re Richards, was referred to special committee appointed at last meeting.

Several applications were received from persons wanting water and living at a distance from the main. It was moved and carried that connections would not be made unless returns would amount to 15 per cent on cost.

The waterworks committee was instructed to discontinue work on Providence extension to waterworks until further notice.

A sidewalk was ordered to be laid on Church street.

Finance committee passed the following accounts:

Across the Blue

Victor W. Odlum, part owner of the Vancouver World, who has been in Nelson for several months enjoying his holidays by working at night on the News leaves this week on a short trip to England. Mr. Odlum is a very capable young man, and may yet become a Hearst in the newspaper field of the west. Althoug only 28 years of age he has not yet discovered the taste of whiskey. This may be one of the reasons why he has made $30,000 in three years out of a Vancouver newspaper.

Dekajulie Tea is the only tea of its class in the city, and sold by Anderson Bros.

News of the Mines

It is now pretty definitely settled that work will shortly be resumed on the Cariboo at Camp McKinney, at one time the great dividend-payer of British Columbia. Up to the time of closing down, some five years ago, the Cariboo paid in dividends about half a million dollars.

The Morcen in Deadwood camp will resume work about the 15th of this month. Work was discontinued about three weeks ago until a power plant could be installed. The 20 horse power electric hoist now on the way, it is expected, will be in place by the 15th inst. The power will be furnished by the Bonnington Falls Power company. The Moreen is about half a mile from the town of Deadwood. It is developed by a 65 foot shaft, about 100 feet of tunneling and a 35-foot winze. The lead in the Moreen is a very large one, being considerably over 100 feet.

The exhibit of Boundary ores shown by Geo. W. Cornish, captured three prizes at the Spokane fair, the silver cup for the best district display, the silver cup for the best cabinet and first prize for the best mine exhibit. The Strathmore mine at Greenwood captured the latter prize. Mr. Cornish's collection was from the Knob Hill, Ironsides Ruby, Preston, Don Pedro, Gold Bug, Iron Clad, Summit, Mother Lode, Prince Henry, Crescent, Providence, Skylark, Rawhide, Helen, Sally and Duncan (Beaverdell,) Bay, Monte Carlo, Strathmore and Elkhorn. It speaks well for the district, that ores from the Boundary captured three firsts from exhibits of four of the great mining states south of us.

A letter received this week by a friend in town from T. F. Sutherland, formerly assayer here, but now of Aldermere, B. C., in the Bulkley Valley country, states that he had just got his assay office running (August 26) and hoped to make a clean-up this season. He says in part: "I think this camp is going to be all right. They have some of the prettiest surface showings that a man could look at—ledges that can be traced for 12,000 feet. The ledges are certainly strong and big enough for any camp, and, while I have not taken any samples myself, still, judging from the assays I have made, the values seem to be there. Then again, there is good coal here. I am using it in my furnace. The coal is a semi-anthracite and very clean." Mr. Sutherland has taken up a homestead. He expects to come south for the winter.

W. Hanna returned this week from a prospecting trip north in company with W. T. Smith. They were away about four months. They went north from Ashcroft on the main line of the C. P. R. to Quesnelle lake and prospected in a northeasterly direction from that point. Mr. Hanna hasn't much to say about the mineral resources of the territory over which he prospected, but believes it will prove a rich mineral district. Game and fish are plentiful and the climate is moderate with early frosts. It is probable both will return north next season, and more thoroughly prospect the territory to which they have decided to give their attention. On their way back they visited Lillooet district. Mr. Smith went to the coast and is expected in Greenwood today or tomorrow.

Tuesday morning the first of the three furnaces now being built by the B. C. Copper Co. at the Greenwood smelter was blown in. A second furnace will be blown in in a few weeks. The capacity of each of these new furnaces is about 600 tons in 24 hours. This means a much larger tonnage from the Mother Lode and other properties of the company than heretofore. During the past six months development has been pushed at the Mother Lode mine, preparing for this increased tonnage, and it is said that the mine will be able to supply ore for the three furnaces when running at their full capacity. Besides the Mother Lode the company has the Emma and Oro Denoro in Summit camp, both large producers, to draw from in the event of the output from the Mother Lode not being sufficient. The new smelter is modern in all its equipment, in ore bins, blowers, automatic furnace charging. The converter plant, which has been idle for two or three weeks, will again be put in commission this week.

CARMI NOTES

CARMI, B. C., Oct. 1.—The Carmi mine is working along nicely and from the appearance of the yellow stuff that comes off the plates every night a clean up is made one would think the mine was all right. About fifteen tons of ore are being treated each shift.

Pope and Arthur are building a residence in Carmi, in expectation of the railroad work in the near future.

Alex. Bloomfield of Midway visited Carmi yesterday.

W. G. Kennedy and Percy Jackson are here on a hunting trip.

The Sally mine has a force of 16 men at work, and from appearances the mine will be shipping ore in a short time.

The Duncan is working six men and taking out ore, but owing to the difficulty of getting ore down the hill they are somewhat handicapped.

J. W. Nelson visited the Rambler mine last week, and was well pleased with the progress being made. Ore will be shipped as soon as the snow flies.

W. A. Keith & Co. are doing a good business at Beaverdell. Herb Holmes is working in the store and they keep him busy delivering goods to the several mines that they supply.

Robert Wood came up on Thursday's stage, and is the busiest man at the Sally mine.

Mrs. Smith is doing a good business in the hotel at Beaverdell.

C. Smith went up to Ptarmigan mountain to start trapping the first of last week.

Wm. Morton left Carmi for a business trip to Greenwood Thursday last.

It is principally Manitoba people who have been speculating in Kootenay fruit lands. Boundary people are too busy with the red metal.

A 1000 foot tunnel is to be run on the Highlander at Ainsworth. It is reported that the Great Northern wanted to buy the townsite, probably with a view of building a tourist hotel in the oldest camp on Kootenay lake.

Will Hamar come to Greenwood? Was this city called after him, or that quiet place of many tears in New York?

Fall NEW GOODS Winter

THE LEDGE

Is published every Thursday at Greenwood, B. C, and the price is $2 a year, postage free to all parts of Canada, United States, Mexico and Great Britain. To other countries it is sent postpaid for $2.50 a year. Address all letters to The Ledge, Greenwood, B. C.

R. T. LOWERY,
EDITOR AND FINANCIER.

GREENWOOD, B. C., OCT. 4, 1906.

THE only tight place some men get into is a saloon.

TALLOW candles are the most popular breakfast food in Greenwood.

FOR lack of a political pull at least one publication is denied the use of the mails in Canada.

IT is now rumored in the Slocan that Bill Hunter was cold-decked at the last provincial election.

THE seat of parliament in Canada should be in Winnipeg. Ottawa is too far away from the West.

IF matrimonial alliances are a sign of prosperity, Greenwood is certainly entitled to a seat on the stage.

COOKING should be taught in our public schools. It would assist greatly towards the decrease of crime.

IN America the intelligence of the masses will alone save the country from the anarchy of labor and capital.

IN the Slocan prosperity has reached the door, and is waiting for the inhabitants to wake up to turn the key.

MONOPOLIES are sometimes injurious to the public interest. See how long it takes a sack of mail to get here from Phoenix.

FOR the present in Western Canada speculation has been pushed to the limit, and caution waving its hand to the crew on the front end of the train.

IN Alberta merchants offer prizes to the lady who shoots the most gophers. Perhaps this will explain why so many dead horses are found on the plains.

WHEN your business has that tired feeling give it a dose of printer's ink. You can get the medicine at the office of Greenwood's leading excitement.

IN Texas the other day an editor turned preacher. No cause for the trouble is given, but it is supposed that the "devil" drove him crazy yelling for "copy" during the hot weather.

SELFISHNESS is mighty and will prevail. Miners working alone on leased mines seldom look at the clock. Many of them become time blind and cannot tell the difference between 8, 10 or 12 hours.

THE troubles of the universe appear to centre in Fernie. The people seem to have become so addicted to calamity that they cry for it, much the same as a hop fiend when you hide his dope.

COCAINE fiends are so numerous in London, Ontario, that the city is becoming alarmed at the prevalence of this habit. This condition does not speak well for the morality or intelligence of the people in that city for only fools trifle with the most deadly of all drug habits.

THE circulation of this paper is limited to a million so send in your name early. There is no limit to the advertising space except the paper mills run out of stock, or the world out of money.

DO not grumble when the real estate man asks you $100 an acre for ranch land. Where there is prosperity land is always high. You can probably buy land 3,000 miles north of Greenwood for 10 cents a square mile, while near the Bank of England in London it costs $150 an inch.

ROSSLAND still mourns because Earl Grey did not look upon the golden city. All the wildcats had been blanketed, and the first families prepared to do honor to subroyalty that never came. Rossland has a world-wide reputation for entertaining strangers within its iron caps, and it is to be regretted that Grey found it impossible to come up the hill and gaze at the city that was once famous in many a distant land.

WE assayed Sandon the other day and found a trace of old times, six high ball factories, a chicken dinner and a few of the best fellows on earth. Hole cards and blackjacks have almost faded out of the formation, and the city is so moral that even the parsons complain of hard times. Hope was much in evidence, for in the hills around the camp millions of dollars worth of ore is waiting for a ride to the smelter. Although rich it cannot walk.

THE freedom of the press in Canada is largely a matter of imagination. Under certain condition it is necessary to have a pull in order to get the use of the mails. The postmaster-general recently excluded a journal from the mails without warning and practically ruined it financially. Many of the condemned articles in this publication were copied from several other journals that still have the privilege of using our oftimes slow, but dividend paying postal system. This is the cowardly blow of a tyrant who has not yet had the courage to give the editor of the condemned journal the names of his accusers. The greatest sin of the excluded journal was in parading the truth in the garb of our first pair of earthly parents. From a worldly Canadian point of view its editor was a fool to expect justice in Ottawa—that hotbed of sin, graft and flesh pots.

THE AGE OF HYPOCRISY

The hypocrite blooms and blossoms in the present age. The man who talks one way and acts in another is as common as pea soup in in Quebec. Consistency is a jewel that requires a great deal of prospecting to find it in place. The foxy business man uses the amen corner on Sunday in order to spread his bait to advantage during the week. Editors think one way and write another, while politicians are in daily commune with Ananias. Society of every grade wears a false front and the greatest crime is in being found out. Even the honest, hard-handed miner will occasionally slip off the trail. He will shout himself hoarse in defense of eight hours a day when working for a company; but when alone in the hills on a proposition of his own, leased or otherwise, he will generally forget that such a thing as hours are a part of the formation of time. And thus the theory and practice of life goes on.

Some years ago the editor of Lowery's Claim wrote to the postoffice department in Ottawa and asked for definite information as to what matter was prohibited in the columns of journals using the Canadian mails. No reply or information whatever was sent in return, and the editor went boldly onward guided only by scanning the literature in similar publications that were permitted the use of our postal system, such as it is. The editor of Lowery's Claim went on and built up a large business in all parts of the country. He was human, and running without a time-card from the government he bunted into the feelings of those who had a pull at Ottawa and the P. M. G. promptly switched him into the side-track where the mail trains never come, and the postage stamp is just as dead as a bald-headed mummy in Egypt. The practical wrecking of Lowery's Claim was one of the most rude and impolite acts we have ever known a Frenchman to do. The wreck could easily have been prevented if the postoffice department had given proper orders. The matter that to a great extent shut the unfortunate journal out of the mails was largely copied from journals that are still permitted to use our dividend paying postal system. This does not show hypocrisy upon the part of our most respected P. M. G., but it is a shining example of inconsistency, and proves that at least one editor in Canada has financially suffered for not being a strong Grit, with one hand in the pap sack and the other on the machine at Ottawa.

There is good in everything. No good Mohammedan drinks intoxicating liquor for its against the teaching of his creed, although Mahomet died drunk on a heap of muck and his body was eaten by the hogs. Thus it is in our day for we often find egotistical saints dictating to the masses how they shall live while breaking the rules themselves. One law as it were for the saint, and another for the sinner. The Rev. W. M. Rochester rode in a rig all one Sunday in order to reach Greenwood and deliver a sermon on Sunday observance. Although we would not do such a thing we do not censure him for doing it, but we do think that a parson in order to suit his own convenience should never commit an act that will cast a shadow over his pulpit professions, and cause the rational to accuse him of money motives and insincerity. This puts us in mind of the "Rev." Bill Blakemore when he was over in Nelson. Bill would write and also preach when he got an opportunity about the sin of breaking the Sabbath. Then he would slip into his office and work the balance of the holy day. Bill, of course, got eventually punished for this because he is now in Victoria editing a weekly paper with one eye, and watching for the sheriff with the other. Be real good and hypocrisy will fade into a vacuum.

They Were Resigned

"Who'd have thought we'd live to see our boy in the Legislature?" said the old man. "Nobody," said the old lady, "but the Lord's will be done."

Not until you make men self-reliant, intelligent, and fond of struggle—fonder of struggle than of help—not until then have you relieved poverty.—Phillips Brooks.

When you dispute with a fool he is certain to be similarly employed.

TALLOWGRAPHIC NUSE

BY OUR LEASED LIER.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 4.—In this city prayers have never yet been offered up for rain.

SANDON, Oct. 4.—Billy Parkham will probably be the next mayor of this city.

NELSON, Oct. 4.—Social distinctions have driven our soldiers into peaceful mutiny.

ROSSLAND, Oct. 4.—Colonel Topping was in town the other day and made a valuable investment.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 4'—The C.P.R. has not yet given anything towards improving the whiskey in this city.

VICTORIA, Oct. 4.—This week the Colonist was sold to Chinamen. The price paid was five cents per copy.

THREE FORKS, Oct. 4.—The Hotel Slocan will give a turkey dinner on the 28th, with a little Scotch on the side.

VERNON, Oct. 4.—No suicides have occurred here within the last hour. The hotels must nave changed their brand of booze.

KASLO, Oct. 4.—The troops have not yet marched on to Nelson, although the Kootenaian has been in action and mangled the atmosphere with paper bullets.

CALGARY, Oct. 4.—Bob Edwards found a bottle of Scoth this morning underneath the safe in his office. It had apparently been there for many months, and has been sent to Doc Brett for a post-mortem examination.

FERNIE, Oct. 4.—Nearly all the clocks in the city went on strike today, although there is no present hope of having their hours changed. A watch is being kept on their movements, and time will tell the tale.

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—An honest Grit was discovered here this afternoon. Thousands of curious people are now taking a good look at him. He is supposed to have escaped from the asylum at Belleville.

A great deal of talent is lost in the world for the want of a little courage. The fact is, that to do anything in this world worth doing we must not stand back shivering and thinking of the cold and the danger, but jump in and scramble through as well as we can. It will not do to be perpetually calculating tasks and adjusting nice chances; it did very well before the flood, where a man could consult his friends upon an intended publication for one hundred and fifty years, and then live to see its success afterwards, but at present a man waits and doubts and hesitates, and consults his brother and his uncle and particular friend, till one day he finds that he is sixty years of age, that he has lost so much time in consulting his first cousin and particular friends, that he has no more time to follow their advice.—Sydney Smith.

Methinks it well behooves merchants to consider well of the justice of a war, before they voluntarily engage a gang of ruffians to attack their fellow-merchants of a neighboring nation, to plunder them of their property, and perhaps ruin them and their families, if they yield it; or to wound, maim, and murder them, if they endeavor to defend it. Yet these things are done by Christian merchants whether a war be just or unjust; and it can hardly be just on both sides. They are done by Christian merchants, who, nevertheless, complain of private theft, and hang by dozens the thieves they have taught by their own example.—Benjamin Franklin.

The Toad

Its great value to the pomologist and gardner has been fully established, on account of its destroying insects, especially those injurious to vegetation. We should, therefore, cultivate its friendship and assistance as well as that of birds. Every tidy housewife detests the cockroach and other vermin. Two or three domesticated toads will keep the coast clear of these. The toad is possessed of a timid and retiring nature, loving dark and and shady places, but under kind treatment becomes quite tame. Many instances are cited of pet toads remaining several years in families, and doing valuable service. All that is necessary to secure their co-operation, indoor or out, is to provide them cool and safe retreats by day, convenient access to water; and they will go forth to the performance of their nocturnal duties "without money and without price." In Europe toads are carried to the cities to the market, and are purchased by the horticulturists, who by their aid are enabled to keep in check the multiplication of the insect tribes which prey upon their fruits, etc.

MAN IS A QUEER DUCK

Men are queer. Wouldn't there be a roar when they went home to their meals if they had to climb up on a high stool in front of a table on which there was no cloth and eat their meals in that fashion? Yet a majority of them when they go to a restaurant to eat, will pick out the high stool and the feed board with no cloth on it in preference to a comfortable chair and a covered table. A man will borrow a piece of tobacco and most of them will set their teeth into the plug right where some other man has gnawed out a chew. Offer him a piece of pie at home from which his wife or one of the children has taken a bite and he would holler his head off. At home he will not drink out of a glass or cup from which some one of the family has been drinking. Call him into the back stall of a livery barn, pull out a bottle and he will stick the neck of the bottle half way down his throat in order to get a swig after half a dozen other fellows have had the neck of the bottle in their mouths. A man is a queer duck.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

NOT IN KELOWNA

Baddy had been to market, and the potheen proved so potent that half way home he descended from his cart and slept soundly on the bank by the roadside. Awakening some hours after, he found only his cart, the horse being missing.

Taking up the shafts, he trudged to the nearest police station, and addressed the sergeant in charge:

Plase sorr, am I Pat Murphy?

I don't know, replied the guardian of the peace.

Well, says Pat, scratching his head, sure its like this. If I'm Pat Murphy I've lost me horse, but if I'm not Pat Murphy I've found a cart.

NOT IN GREENWOOD

Coroners, like other people, should really call things by their proper names. When a man was asked the other day whether he kept a common lodging house, he pleaded guilty to the lodging house but indignantly denied that it was common. It is a respectable hotel for working men, he added. In fact, it is understood to be at least four pence a night in the best parts.

Children are the real humorists. They never rack their brains to say something funny. Here is a small boy's composition on politeness:

Never eat quickly, or you may get bones in your throat. My father knows of a boy who got killed over his Sunday dinner. The greedy boy was picking a rabbit's head in a hurry, and swallowed one jaw of it, and my father said he was choked to death there and then. Be very polite over your meals, then, especially when its rabbits. Since my father told me that, I have always felt kind of queer over a rabbit dinner. I don't talk much and don't ask for any more.

A definition that won a little girl praise, despite its strangeness, was Turf, sir, is grass and clean dirt stuck together by God.—New York Tribune.

Prof. James E. Breassed, the Egyptologist, who has recently returned to the United States from Egypt, writes that the oldest fixed date in history is 4241 B. C. In that year, he says the calendar was established, the year beginning on what would now be July 19. Consequently the calendar now in use was 6147 years old last July. The professor arrived at these conclusions during his long exploration trip to the Nile Valley, when he compared the astronomical dates in the old and middle kingdoms of Egypt.

On a recent Monday morning the pastor of a church in Virginia was the recipient of a basket of strawberries brought to him by a little girl of the parish.

Thank you very much, my dear, said the minister. These berries are as fine as any I have seen. I hope, however, you did not gather them yesterday,—the Sabbath.

No, sir, replied the child. I pulled 'em early this morning, but they were a-growing all day yesterday.—Atlantic Journal.

Rubbe—Does Reuder's wife whiff his breath when he comes home late at night?

Dubbe—No; she floods the path that leads from the gate.

Rubbe—What good does that do?

Dubbe—Why, in the morning she goes out and looks at Bender's tracks to see if they are straight.

The Best Irish Story

I asked a man who had lived in Ireland for years what he considered the best instance of Irish wit he had ever heard, and he replied that without exception his favorite was the one about the soldier and his wounded companion. This yarn has been told by many professional story tellers, and is always appreciated. It goes like this: Two young fellows who went to war together agreed that whichever was first wounded should be carried to the doctor by the other. While a battle was in progress one of them fell, crying that a bullet had struck him in the thigh, and requesting his friend to carry him to the hospital. Pat accordingly shouldered his comrade and started for the rear. On the way a piece of shell cut the wounded man's head off clean at the shoulders. Someone met Pat with his gruesome burden and asked him where he was going with the headless man. Pat looked around in horror and disgust, then exclaimed: What a thundering liar that fellow was; he told me he was shot in the leg.

When Longfellow was well along in years, his head as white as snow, an ardent admirer asked him one day how it was that he was able to keep so vigorous and write so beautifully. Pointing to a blossoming apple tree nearby, the poet replied: That apple tree is very old, but I never saw prettier blossoms upon it than those which it now bears. The tree grows a little new wood each year, and I suppose it is out of that new wood that those blossoms come. Like the apple tree, I try to grow a little new wood each year. And what Longfellow did we all ought to do. We cannot stop the flight of time; we cannot head off the one extent that happeneth to all; but we can keep on "growing new wood" and in that way keep on blossoming until the end.—Selected.

COPPER STREET.

TRACK IS IN MOLSON

Okanagan country is at last connected by rail with the outside world. Tuesday night of this week the steel laying crew of the V., V. and E., reached the International boundary line two miles north of Molson. The next morning work was commenced on the American side and by 10 o'clock Thursday the first locomotive to enter Molson was puffing away on the station grounds.

RAILROAD NOTES

Steel for the various sidings and the big Y will be laid at once and the work continued towards Oroville.

Chief Engineer Kennedy and a number of his subordinates came in over the new line yesterday on a tour of inspection, returning to Ferry last evening.

On Monday the Great Northern bridge crew, consisting of 30 men under Robt. McDonald, came up from the work across the line, having completed the last bridge in Canadian territory. They went down the line towards Oroville and are now at work on the first large bridge in that direction—acout 7 miles from Molson.

The telegraph is closely following steel-laying machine. A crew of a dozen men are at work this side of McBride's place installing poles, stringing wires and putting in a complete line. O. E. Stratroen has charge of this work. Mr. Stratroen was in town Monday and reported that he expected to reach Molson by the middle of next week if nothing happens to prevent the present rate of progress.

The work of ballasting is being carried on to the best possible advantage with the limited amount of help obtainable. Up to the time of going to press the road had been ballasted as far as McBride's, but it will probably be a couple of weeks before it is done as far as Molson.

The steel-laying crew has been camped at McBride's place for some weeks past, but their camp will be moved either today or tomorrow to Molson.

It is understood that work will soon be commenced on the depot at this point. The Myncaster depot was finished last week.

One of the steel-laying crew was seriously if not fatally injured Monday night by falling off the high grade at the end of Main street. When found in the morning his legs were totally paralyzed. He was taken to the hospital at Midway and a late report from there states he is in a critical condition.—Molson Independent.

Called the Wrong Crowd

On his western tour Earl Grey stopped in his car over night at Cranbrook. He sent word into the lumber metropolis that he would like to meet a few of the citizens. Vipond, Harvey and a few others came to the car and welcomed the Earl. Being real sociable the Earl produced a bottle but not a guest would take a drink. He then handed out the cigars but none of the party smoked. The Earl stopped right there and gazed with astonishment upon the group of western men. It evidently was a revelation to him to find so many men in the far west on the water wagon, and outside the hypnosis of nicotine. The writer does not wish to splash green paint over the fair name of Cranbrook, but probably those who called upon His Excellency were the only bunch in town sober enough to walk to the car at that time of night. At no other point did the Earl find any difficulty in "ginning up" the crowd, and it is to be regretted that a severe cold prevented him from visiting the Boundary.

Fuming Fernie

The strike is still on in Fernie and business is good in that city as it always is for a short time after a strike. According to the circulars sent to their customers the Coal Co. expect the strike to be of short duration, probably not longer than a month. As the Granby smelter at Grand Forks uses 300 tons of Fernie coke a day it might cause that big red metal producer to close down for a short time.

East Kootenay

F. M. Elkins returned this week from a months' business trip in East Kootenay. He visited Cranbrook, Wycliffe, Kimberley and Marysville. At Wycliffe there is the largest sawmill in the interior, employing 250 men. The company has six miles of railway and two large freight engines to haul their logs to the mill. At Marysville, the smelter is kept busy treating the ore from the Sullivan mine. The Sullivan employs 45 men, the Stemwinder 10, and the North Star 15. Mr. Elkins reports a very successful business trip.

Customs Returns

Following are the customs and inland revenue returns at Greenwood for the month of September.

Customs	$4,649.48
Inland Revenue	1,782.65
Total	$6,432.13

Build up Home Industries

Some of the large concerns operating in the Boundary seem to have a great desire to deal in Spokane instead of helping out the country in which they are making money. They could do just as well, and perhaps better when in need of iron work but as orders frequently go by favors the work is sent across the line. Home industries should always have the preference, all things being equal.

Not Hindoos

The laborers from British India who are becoming so numerous in B. C., are not Hindoos any more than an Irishman is a Scotchman. They are Sikhs, and noted for being in time of war the bravest soldiers on earth. According to their faith it is better to die with your boots on in warfare than in any other, way so if these dusky chaps ever get ugly we will have some scraps in this province that will not be all wind. The Canadian climate will drive them all home when their little stake is made.

Awful Stories

Correspondents have sent THE LEDGE some awful accounts of the misdeeds of parsons in Nelson and Revelstoke but this journal has no room for them. Congregations should deal with erring pastors by keeping the details as far as possible out of the public print.

Arrow Lakes

During the summer a Nelson real estate firm has sold 9,000 acres of wild land, principally in large tracts along the Arrow lakes. Later on most of this land will be sold by the speculators in small parcels to actual settlers. Ed Traves has a fine farm in Fire Valley for which it is reported he refused $32,000 this summer. From 100 acres of it he cut 300 tons of hay this season.

Down to Zero

Although Phoenix has a delightful climate it has often fallen to zero in that city this summer for the fellows playing the wheel.

The Fairs will soon be all over and the Boundary people will have more time to smoke Royal Seal cigars.

BANDFAIR

He Was "Rawnching"

A couple of miners were on their way out of Nelson to the Eureka mine when they heard a blast go off not far from the roadside. Climbing up the hill a short distance they found a man trying to drill a hole in a big boulder and asked him if he wished to hire a couple miners. "Miners be blowed! I'm not mining, I'm rawnching," replied the Chappie come lately as he reached for another piece of fuse.

Turkeys and Religion

Two ladies living near Plattsburg raise young turkeys. One of them is a Baptist, the others a member of the Christian church. The Baptist lady says her success with turks is due to the fact that as soon as the young turk emerges from the shell she dips it hastily in cold water and dries it carefully. The other lady agreed to try the method. Her husband, hearing of the conference and its conclusions, was mightily amused. Beats anything I ever saw, he said: Here's an old school Baptist and a Campbellite getting together and practicing infant baptism.—Paris(Mo.) Appeal.

Bruce Acquitted

At the Nelson assizes on Tuesday Laughlin Bruce was acquitted on the charge of murdering Hugh McGarvey at Creston. The jury gave their verdict without leaving the box.

Always Speak Gently

They were on their honeymoon. He had bought a catboat and had taken her out to show her how well he could handle a boat, putting her to tend the sheet. A puff of wind came, and he shouted in no uncertain tones, "Let go the sheet." No response. Then again, "Let go that sheet, quick." Still no movement. A few minutes after, when both were clinging to the bottom of the overturned boat, he said: Why didn't you let go that boat when I told you to, dear? I would have, said the bride, if you had not been so rough about it. You ought to speak more kindly to your wife.
