GOLF

A most interesting game was played on the golf course on Saturday, when the men from Kettle Valley locked horns with the local "pill-chasers." Major R.
Gray and H. Douglas Hamilton played P. H. McCurrach and J.
H. Goodeve and although the latter were at the top of their form they could not down their worthy opponents and the game ended
"all square." R. E. J. Gray and Bolton P. Hardcastle played Chas.
King and K. M. Spence, the latter proving too good for their Kettle Valley opponents and winning 3 up and 2 to play. The visitors expressed themselves as delighted with the afternoon's enjoyment, and are loud in their praise of the work accomplished by the local committee in "manufacturing" the golf course, and intimated their intention of coming again.

To Hold-Up The Farmers

With weather and other conditions at the end of June—when this article is written—favorable to the production of a bumper crop in all three prairie provinces this year, a report comes of a movement under way having for its object the holding-up of the farmer in order to extort from him a high rate of wage for harvest hands and farm workers in general. It remains for the farmers themselves to nip the scheme in the bud, and for them to be forewarned is to be forearmed.

An effort is now being made by organizers of the I.W.W. to organize a farm-workers' branch of that body of international agitators and trouble makers in Winnipeg, which is the centre of distribution of farm workers throughout Western Canada, and one of the international organizers, is now in Winnipeg assisting the local organizers of the I.W.W.

On a previous occasion, two or three years ago, an attempt was made to organize an I.W.W. farm-workers body among the unemployed in Winnipeg at a time when efforts were being made by the civic authorities to find employment for these men on farms, thus benefiting them, helping the farmers, and relieving the economic situation in the city. At that time one of the I.W.W. organizers was reported as using the following language in a speech delivered in the Labor Temple:

"The only way to get even with the farmer for paying so small a wage to the worker was for the worker to turn round and sabotage the farmer. There were always lots of wagons, machinery and shovel handles that the workers could break up, and it would only be a short time until the farmer would realize the necessity of paying a decent wage in order to protect his personal belongings. Those of the unemployed ranks who were going out on the farm should get together and run an organized sabotage on the farmers, and make them spend more money on tools and implements if they would not spend it on their farm hands."

In Alberta an attempt of the I.W.W. to organize farm-workers' branches was killed through newspaper publicity, resulting in the farmers themselves being made fully aware of the designs against them, and leading to the taking of necessary precautions and concerted action.

Harvest and threshing time in Western Canada always forces the necessity of bringing tens of thousands of men from Eastern Canada and British Columbia for temporary employment in the harvest fields. Included in this temporary army there is always a large number of that class who are in a chronic state of unemployment, men who drift from place to place. There is also a percentage of young fellows "out for a lark" and ready for any kind of excitement. Mixed among them are professional agitators whose business in life is the stirring up of unrest, dissatisfaction and trouble. They require to be watched and their presence promptly reported to the authorities.

The vast majority of harvest excursionists are steady, reliable men, willing and anxious to work and give an honest return for their wage. Hundreds of them come to spy out the land with a view to permanent settlement here. Hundreds of others are farmers' sons who, having completed their own farm-work, are keen to see more of Canada, gain new experiences, and earn money which they cannot do by remaining at home. It must be recognized that such men, after paying their fare from the East—low though such fare may be—faced with only a few weeks employment and the cost of the return journey, are entitled to receive fairly good wages, good food, and decent living quarters and treatment. And the farmer who so treats his workers is advancing his own best interests and those of the West at large.

But the man who has no real desire to work, who "solders" on his job, who finds fault, grumbles and complains all the time, in a word, whose main occupation is to agitate, should receive short shrift. He earns little or nothing, and usually gets more than he does earn. It is this type which later drifts into our Western cities and towns "broke," unable to get back to the place from which he came, and constitutes a burden and source of expense and trouble to these urban communities throughout the ensuing winter months when there is lack of employment of all kinds.

Business men and communities generally should unite with the farmers in protecting themselves against this latter class and every possible action taken within the law to eliminate the agitators and keep them in bounds and not allow them to play ducks and drakes with the interests, not only of the farmers at their busiest time, but also with the main body of farm workers and harvesters who are anxious to get on with their work.

Defining An Oyster

Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings may be perfected definition as well as praise. For example, there is the case of the teacher who, at the close of the reading lesson, was questioning her class on the subject matter thereof. "What is an oyster?" she asked.

"Please, miss," replied the bright boy of the class, "it's half a fish and half a nut."

Chinese soldiers refuse to fight in the rain. It does dampen one's enthusiasm.

Need More Exercise

The modern housewife is not getting sufficient exercise. Dr. Guy E. Manning, San Francisco, editor of The Pacific Coast Journal of Homeopathy, declared in an address to the eighty-first annual convention of the American Institute of Homeopathy:

"The labor-saving devices which have come on the market to make the work of the modern housewife easy are making her lazy. Instead," said Dr. Manning,

Looks count. That's why autos cost more than bath-tubs.

Won First Victoria Cross

Charles David Lucas Was Decorated By Queen Victoria

Included in the estate of Mrs. Frances Russell Lucas, is a priceless relic, the first Victoria Cross ever awarded. Mrs. Lucas was the widow of Admiral Charles David Lucas, the first man to win the V.C.

This was gained on June 30, 1854, when H.M.S. Hecla was bombarding Bomarsund fortress, in the Baltic. When the Hecla was within 500 yards of the principal fort, a live shell, with the fuse burning, fell on the deck. Lucas, who was then a midshipman, picked up the shell in an instant and hurled it into the sea. Almost before it reached the water it exploded with a terrific roar. Captain Hall, of the Hecla, immediately promoted Lucas a lieutenant, and three years later Queen Victoria decorated him with the Victoria Cross. Mrs. Lucas was the daughter of Captain Hall, of the Hecla, afterwards Admiral Sir William Hutchison Hall.

Royalty Sees Bells Made

King and Queen Visit Bell Factory at Croydon

King George and Queen Mary spent part of an afternoon recently a few feet from a cauldron containing tons of white-hot metal in the bell foundry of Messrs. Gillett and Johnson at Croydon, England.

It was at the King's personal wish that they should see the world's biggest cauldron of bells approaching completion. They stayed in the broiling heat of the foundry for more than half an hour, watching one great bell and two small bells cast, and a tiny specimen was made for presentation to their Majesties.

Curious Inheritance Case

Descendants of Armenian Will Receive Property After Fifty Years

A curious inheritance case is occupying the attention of the Armenian patriarchal court, which is trying to discover the descendants of a wealthy Armenian, named Salerian, who died in India half a century ago and made a will, ordering the investment of his great wealth for years, after which it should be equally divided among his descendants. Most of them are believed to be living in Egypt, and of these about a score have already lodged their claims. The estate is said to amount to $150,000,000, and the difficulties of distribution are increased by the fact that many of the sought-for descendants are scattered over the world and their whereabouts are unknown.

Believe School Boys

Suffering From Leprosy

Two At Newark, N.J., Confined In Isolation Hospital

Suffering from a disease diagnosed as leprosy, two Newark school boys have been taken from their classrooms and confined in an isolation hospital at So Ho, N.J. The victims are brothers, Hal and Frank George, 11 and 13 years old, respectively.

They complained of a strange skin infection to the school nurse, who reported it to the physicians. Examination disclosed this malady to be leprosy, which the boys are believed to have contracted in Bermuda, where they lived until six years ago, when they came to Newark with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank George.

NEW STRENGTH

FOR WEAK GIRLS

Can Be Had Through the Rich Red Blood Made By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

There comes a time in the life of almost every girl when weakness attacks her. The strain upon her blood supply is too great, and there comes headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, attacks of dizziness, heart palpitation, a constant weariness and a tendency to a decline. All these symptoms may not be present in any particular case, but the presence of any one of them shows the necessity for prompt treatment. And the very best treatment is through the blood-making tonic qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are the one thing needed to maintain the health of growing girls and women of mature years.

Here is a bit of strong proof.—Miss Matilda Bran, King Highway, Newcastle, N.B., says: "I was in an extremely run-down and nervous condition. I was losing flesh, had a poor appetite, always pale, and suffered frequently from headaches. In fact my condition can best be described as miserable. I had tried several treatments but they did not help me in the least. Then, reading one day about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I decided to try them. After using three boxes I was much improved, but continued until I had taken six boxes, with the result that I am now well and strong, with good color and a hearty appetite. In view of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me I cannot recommend them too highly." You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 12

THE GOSPEL IN ANTIOCH OF PISIDIA

Golden Text: Behold, I have given him for a witness to the peoples, a leader and commander to the peoples. Isaiah 55:4.

Lesson: Acts 13:13-52.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 9:1-7.

The Text Explained and Illumined

1.—The impression made by Paul's first preaching at Pisidian Antioch, verses 12, 43.—See the Historical Background. As Paul and Barnabas went out of the synagogue, the people besought Paul to address them the following Sabbath. When the congregation was dismissed, many devout proselytes (God-fearing Gentiles— their presence in the synagogue gives evidence of the kindly feeling existing between Jews and Gentiles in this city), followed Paul and Barnabas, who urged them "to hold fast the measure of faith they already had, and to expect further divine favor in answer to their steadfastness."

11.—The jealousy of the Jews, verses 44, 45.—Paul must have been a most convincing speaker, for the next Sabbath almost the whole city was gathered to hear him. The sight of such a crowd filled the hearts of the Jews with jealousy, and they contradicted Paul's word and slandered the apostles.

Science Versus Crime

Doctor's Examination Helped to Convict Man of Counterfeiting

French police suspected a man of counterfeiting, but had not the desired proof. The suspect was quite glib and plausible under examination and nothing could be proved against him.

"Before you depart, though," said the investigator, "a doctor will examine you." Merely a little precaution in the interest of public health. The man submitted willingly. Two days later the police called at his cafe and again took him in custody, for they had evidence that eventually resulted in his conviction. The prisoner had unwittingly supplied it during the physical examination, in a tiny specimen of wax which the doctor had taken from his ear. This bit of wax had been forwarded the director of the police technical laboratory at Lyons, who had photographically enlarged it with his microscopic camera. Magnified more than fifty thousand times, the speck of wax showed telltale streaks of printer's ink, particles of dust identified as from a lithographic stone, and traces of characteristic crystals of a chemical used by engravers, undeniable evidence that the prisoner's story was a fabrication.

River Moved After Bridge Built

The Missouri state highway commission just about had a bridge completed at Lexington, Mo., over the Missouri River when the river shifted its channel a half-mile to the north, took out the approach on that side and left the bridge spanning a lot of mud and sand, and a small fraction of the river's current. United States engineers are bringing the river back to where it belongs. It will cost $200,000, borne jointly by the state highway department and the war department.

Honor North Pole Explorers

Amundsen Receives Gold Medal Of Good Citizenship From Norwegian King

The King of Norway has conferred the gold medal of good citizenship on Captain Roald Amundsen, leader of the recent aeroplane expedition to the North Pole. This honor has only been conferred three times previously. Lincoln Ellsworth, Chicago-born member of the expedition, was made commander of the Order of St. Olaf. The other four members of the Amundsen expedition were made Knights of St. Olaf.

An agency dispatch from Oslo reports that the Norwegian state council at a meeting decided to double the national award to Captain Amundsen, making it 12,000 instead of 6,000 kroner.

Dust Causes Asthma. Even a little speck too small to see will lead to agonies which no words can describe. The walls of the breathing tubes contract and it seems as if the very life must pass. Changes Made By Electricity

Primitive Pumps In Many Parts Supplanted By Motors

Some of the most primitive pumps in the world have been supplanted by electrically driven water pumps. The Near East Relief maintains at Syria, an island just off the coast of Greece, an orphanage which cares for about 2,500 children brought from Turkey at the time of the evacuation of the Christian minorities. Here the principal water supply came from deep wells. Earthen jars attached to wheels rotated by donkeys brought the water to the surface. Now, however, electric motors drive the pumps that raise the water from these wells. These were installed by boys in the orphanage, who, having special mechanical aptitude, were apprenticed to the electrical contractor. The actual work of installing these electric motor-driven pumps, which daily handle 120 tons of water, was done by the orphanage boys as part of their school work in manual training. Water is supplied for the garden as well as for use in the orphanage buildings.

Island Is Little Known

Impossible to Journey Far Into Papua To Map Interior

The Island of New Guinea, or Papua, as it is sometimes called, lying north of Australia, is a bit of the world little known. The greater part of the island has never been mapped, simply because it is impossible to journey far into the interior. Less than a thousand whites live in New Guinea, and few of these escape the fevers for which the island is notorious. Very few can continue to live there for many years as the continued attacks of fever are certain to prove fatal. In the interior there lurk tribes about which little is known, save that they are cannibals. There are immense deposits of gold in the interior; also many kinds of precious stones. From time to time various attempts have been made to reach them. Explorers must literally take their lives in their hands, for in nearly all expeditions more than half of the men have never returned. Those who perish have either died of fever or else fallen victims to the hostile natives.

Every time poor Heine shows signs of repentance somebody finds another gun on him.

TO EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Letter from Mrs. Ayars Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Spring Valley, Sask.—"I took the Vegetable Compound before my last confinement, when I got to feeling so badly that I could not sleep nights, my back ached so across my hips, and I could hardly do my work during the day. I never had such an easy confinement and this is my sixth baby. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the 'Farmer's Telegram' and wrote you for one of your books. We have no druggist in our town, but I saw your medicine in T. Eaton's catalogue. I am a farmer's wife, so have all kinds of work to do inside and outside the house. My baby is a nice healthy girl, who weighed nine pounds at birth. I am feeling fine after putting in a large garden since baby came. (She is as good as she can be.) Yours is the best medicine for women, and I have told about it and even written to my friends about it."—Mrs. ANNIE E. AYARS, Spring Valley, Sask.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system so that it may work in every respect as nature intends. All druggists sell this dependable medicine. Give it a trial.

Earliest Train Exhibited

One of Novel Features at English Centenary Celebration

A curious procession travelled over the road of the world's first railway between Stockton and Darlington on July 2 to celebrate the centenary of the opening of the railway.

First came Helton Colliery, one of the first locomotives puffing away at a speed of 6 miles an hour as it did on its first run in 1825.

This and other old-stager set the pace to great, modern locomotives drawing luxurious carriages sent by the great railway companies.

The procession was six miles long and showed the century's development from the ancient rolling stock and primitive engines to the most modern equipment, including motor and electrically driven trains. One train was composed of flat wagons, each presenting a tableau.

Last but not least the "City of Newcastle," the L.N.E.R. Company's newest and greatest locomotive, drawing one of the trains of the Flying Scotsman service.

This was followed by Locomotion No. 1, George Stephenson's engine, drawing a replica of the train it hauled on the memorable day, September 27, 1825, when the line was opened.

In the seats across the old wagons was a band wearing uniforms just like the band wore on the opening day.

The Duke and Duchess of York were among those watching this procession.

Decency In News Reporting

Everything Should Be Given To Public In Best Manner

Occasionally during the debate as to what newspapers should print and especially what they should not print, something is said which clarifies the discussion. A case in point is the comment of Edward McKernon, superintendent of the eastern division of the Associated Press, in the course of an address at Manchester, N. H. "We suppress nothing because it is bad," said Mr. McKernon, "but we present the unpleasant decently. This is close to the heart of the matter. The newspaperman feels instinctively that the suppression of news is wrong; that whether the item is good or bad, the public is entitled to know about it. But he is sometimes called upon to answer the charge of those who insist that publication of bad news corrupts the public morals. Mr. McKernon answers that charge. In effect what he says is that no matter how unpleasant the news may be, if it is news, the public is entitled to know it. The item should be given to the public, but the reporting should be decent."—New York World.

Orient Uses Many Lanterns

Part of National Expression For Japan and China

Lanterns in all their grades of picturesque beauty are inseparable from the life of the Chinese and Japanese. In all groups and classes and environments the lanterns of the Orient fashioned of paper and bamboo, of horn, porcelain and bronze, of wood and of stone and lacquer, painted, embroidered, carved or bejeweled, form a part of the national expression.

Even the oriental heaven has its sky lantern, while the New Year celebrations are brought to a triumphant close on the 15th of the first moon, by giving the lanterns that are set out in the doorstep to light the way of the bluen, one through the various courts which they may have to travel, are the essence of good cheer and courtesy.

Advice In New Form

How One Fire Chief Warned People Against Carelessness

The Brandon Sun quotes a fire chief who has a happy way of telling a few things to people in general as to the avoidance of fires, and he does not do so in the stereotyped fashion at all. In fact, he gives luncches, and he warns the people as follows:

A crack in your chimney is a sure sign that you are going to move.

To see a paperhanger hang paper over a flue hole indicates an impending loss.

It is worse luck to look in a dark closet with a lighted match than to see the new moon over your left shoulder.

When the wind means it is extremely bad luck to burn trash near your house.

If you smell gas or gasoline and look for it with a lighted match, it is probable that you are about to start on a long journey.

If you have a pile of rubbish in your cellar, it indicates that a crowd of people are coming to your house.

A quart of gasoline will cause an automobile to move three miles. A similar amount in household cleaning may cause three auto fire trucks and an ambulance to run a similar distance.

A child who plays with matches will gain experience—if he lives.

Earthquakes In Britain

Records Show Average of More Than One a Year

Reports of earthquakes in Great Britain are usually dismissed as being of no importance.

This is reasonable, because, compared with countries such as Japan, where an earthquake occurs on the average once a day, Great Britain escapes very lightly. The earth tremors felt not long ago at Redruth, for example, did no more than rattle a few windows and dislodge several chimney pots.

Yet the number of earthquake shocks recorded in Great Britain is very large indeed.

Dr. Charles Davidson, of Cambridge, has given up all his leisure in the last thirty-five years to an investigation of England's 11,700 earthquakes. His catalogue begins with the year 971, and goes right on to the present day. The worst period recorded appears to have been about 1750, when there were five notable earthquakes.

The number in Great Britain recorded by Dr. Davidson reached the astounding total of eleven hundred and ninety-one, or an average of more than one a year.

Coffee Is Good Stimulant

Better Than Alcohol Says Dean of College of Pharmacy

Alcohol is unjustly famous as a stimulant, while coffee is insufficiently praised, Dean Henry H. Rusby, of the Columbia College of Pharmacy, said at the New York Botanical Garden in a lecture on "What the World Drinks and Why."

Alcohol is depressing, Dean Rusby argued, because it paralyzes fear and restraint. Men slightly under its influence can do more work, he continued, but they do not do it well. Coffee and tea are truly stimulating, on the other hand, enabling a user to work beyond normal strength, although later he must pay the penalty for losing sleep.

Tokyo Coming Back

The population of the Japanese capital is now 1,917,000, or only about 120,000 less than before the earthquake. In Yokohama the population is 390,000, as compared with 422,000 before the earthquake.

The daily consumption of tea in Great Britain amounts to over one million pounds.

Had Lively Voyage With Jungle Cargo

Collection For London Zoo Provided Plenty of Thrills

The London Zoo has just welcomed a most interesting collection of rare creatures—perhaps the finest to arrive in the country since the war.

It was brought from Singapore by C. H. Hicks, of the Zoo staff, and he never had a dull moment on the 35 days passage.

For example, his cabin door opened to admit the whiskered face of a seaman announcing stolidly, "Cobra adrift, sir." Then Mr. Hicks, with the moral support of the entire crew, went out with a stick, pinned down the hooded head, and put the squirming death back in its box.

Or it might be, "Tapir adrift, sir." Then followed what Mr. Hicks describes as bull-fighting, with bananas instead of a sword.

Another time it was, "Two sun-bears adrift, sir." These were discovered curled up in bunks belonging to Chinese passengers.

These Chinese had one golden moment. A fine turtle had died. Mr. Hicks conducted an inquest on the remains, while the Orientals stood by with a pot of boiling water. Soup followed.

Fisherfolks Greatest Holiday

Blizzard Coming Around March 18th Makes Work Impossible

Among the Newfoundland fisherfolks the greatest holiday of the year is known as Sheila's Brush, which falls on the 18th of March. Primarily the word "brush" in the dialect of the island means a storm or blizzard, and because fishing is impossible at such times a "brush" has come to mean a cessation of work. In short, a holiday; enforced if you please, but none the less a holiday.

Newfoundland has two brushes, Patrick's and Sheila's, that is to say, storms supposed to be connected with the birthday of St. Patrick and that of Sheila, his wife.

Of course, these atmospheric disturbances, corresponding to what we term the equinoctial gales, do not always come exactly to date, but any storms occurring about this time are named in honor of these saints.

Then, when the blizzard from the frozen Arctic sweeps down upon the island, and is all muck and gloom outside, inside the stone-built houses is light and warmth, and jollity continued sometimes for as many as forty-eight hours on end.

One Of London's Treasure Houses

Tiny Room Houses Priceless Collection of Old Coins

Hidden away at the top of a tall building, in an unpretentious part of London, England, is a tiny room. Thousands of people pass the building every day, but few glance upwards and none suspect what that room contains.

A short time ago I mounted the long flight of stairs (writes a London newspaper man) rapped at the door, and whispered the password—"Coins." A genial figure appeared and I was welcomed in. It was Mr. William Valentine. Once he was a carpenter on the tramways. Now he is one of the greatest authorities on coins.

"See that safe?" he said, pointing to a corner of the room. "I had to buy that to store 1,200 coins sent to me for classification by the Indian Museum of Calcutta. They were gold, silver and copper coins of the native princes, and the whole collection was priceless. Ten years ago I began the task and it is not finished yet, for I have been stricken with writer's cramp."

Trotzky's Uncollected Salary

Trotzky used to live in New York. He left there in order to help in the Russian revolution and has since become a world figure. In his haste he neglected to collect three months' salary from the Canadian Pacific Railway for publicly work. Some time ago the treasurer of the company wrote him relative to it, but has had no reply. He may be thinking of coming back to collect.—Railroad Magazine.

"Lady Of the Peony Rose"

Peonies Flourish to Utmost Perfection In Canada

A blaze of color will meet the eyes of those who visit the C.P.R. pavilion at Weembley early in July; for 5,000 peony blooms will soon be shipped overseas from Canada for exhibition purposes.

Canada has long enough been heralded as "Our Lady of the Snows," say those who are behind the scheme. The time has come when she should be known as "Our Lady of the Peony Rose."

The bulk of the blossoms will be cut from plants grown by W. Ormiston Roy, well-known landscape gardener of Montreal. In order that everything may be done to keep the blooms in proper condition, John F. Roy will go over with them on the boat; for it is believed that this is the first time cut flowers have been sent across the ocean on a considerable scale. A temperature varying with the humidity, but below 40 degrees Fahrenheit, is required for the best results.

W. Ormiston Roy's world-famous collection of peonies, recognized as the greatest and largest assemblage of the classic sorts old enough to produce exhibition blooms, will be supplemented by a few rare kinds from the noted peony gardens of H. Norton, Ayerscliff, Que.

Mr. Roy has a growing ambition to have the peony recognized in Canada at its true value as a landscape plant; and he claims that it is the only beautiful hardy plant that will thrive the length and breadth of Canada. This is a rare and proud distinction, because our national emblem, the maple, cannot exist in many parts of our country. The peony requires less care than any other plant or shrub, and will succeed in any good garden soil, provided it is exposed to sunlight and is well drained. Given these simple conditions, and if it is not planted more than two or three inches below the surface of the soil, it will grow in any province of the Dominion, even the Klondike, he says.

The varieties which Mr. Roy intends exhibiting at Wembley will include such rare sorts as La France, Solange, Tourangelles, Sarah Bernhardt, Enchantees and Avalanche—all of which are seldom seen in such perfection in English gardens. In fact, in no country in the world do they flourish as in Canada—not even in China, where the first peonies came from, and where for upwards of a thousand years the plant has been regarded with love and reverence.

From Mr. Norton's garden will come blooms of such unusual varieties as Kellway's Glorious, which originated in England; Le Cygne, perhaps Victor Le Moine's greatest contribution to the peony world; Martha Bullock and Mrs. Edward Harding's outstanding varieties of American origin, all of which still range from $25 to $100 a plant.

Mr. Roy points out that if Canadians once appreciate the value of the peony in landscape planting, every city and village in the country could be as noted for peonies in a comparatively few years as Portland, Oregon, is now famous for its roses. Canada yet has the opportunity to preempt the peony and to grow it in every garden where there is a yard or two of soil open to the sun. No other country has yet awakened to its wonderful possibilities.

Removing Salty Taste

A recipe which dates from the days of "salt junk" in the navy is given by an ex-naval man. He says salted meat should be placed, uncooked, overnight in cold, well salted water; about half a teaspoonful of salt to a gallon of water. This sounds a strange cure for saltiness, but the sender says it is a fact that in the morning the salt will be removed from the meat.

Minard's Liniment for Neuralgia

Says Bees Are Specialists Prof. Von Frisch, of Berlin University, who has made a special study of apiculture, believes that bees that collect honey from roses, for instance, will not pay attention to any other flower. He declares that bees specialize on some one flower for the reason that they react to only one perfume.

Tree Grew From Cane

Cottonwood Stick Was Planted in Kansas Fifty Years Ago

One of the largest trees in Hutchinson, Kas., has grown from a judge's cane.

Fifty-one years ago, in April, 1874, Judge W. R. Brown, the first judge of this judicial district, was walking along East Sherman Street in Hutchinson twirling a cottonwood stick. Amos Plank, veteran jeweller, who vouches for the story, was working in his yard when Judge Brown came along.

"Well, I guess I'd better plant you a tree," the judge remarked, and he stuck his cane into the soft ground in front of the Plank home. Plank was called away from home for the summer. When he returned he found the cottonwood stick had sprouted. He left it in the ground. Today it is one of the largest cottonwood trees in Hutchinson.—New York World.

Thousands of other mothers agree with Mrs. Klug as to the merits of the Tablets. There are thousands of homes throughout Canada where the Tablets are always kept on hand in readiness for the least sign of any of the minor ailments which afflict little ones. School Sports at Midway

The expectations of all were more than satisfied last Wednesday when pupils from eight schools gathered to enjoy a days real sport at Midway. The spirit displayed by the children was splendid. Each one entered heartily into all the events working for the sake of the sport and not for mere mercenary gain. Many girls and boys proved themselves sports in the true sense of the word when they entered into every possible event and worked their very best when they knew that they were beaten. Their only desire was to make points for their school. This unselfish spirit of school loyalty is one all too rare among our schools. It is very gratifying to see signs of this spirit. May it spread throughout this district until each and every pupil feels a deep and great pride in his school. May each pupil desire his school to prove itself superior to any other, and work with that end in view, striving to gain points for the school when he cannot gain a prize himself. When this is true then those who have worked to make this sports day a success, will feel amply repaid.

The schools did splendidly, especially the Norwegian Creek school, the Greenwood boys and the Midway girls.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emption is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 8,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 5,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emption are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emption must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price for first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged; priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partly free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.
