Constance Talmadge Hits Laugh Record

Constance Talmadge's latest First National comedy, "Her Night of Romance" is the funniest she ever made. Accept this statement as the belief of Sidney Franklin, who directed it. The story was written by Hans Kraly, noted European screen writer, and shows Constance in a love tangle with an English lord as a result of her efforts to dodge fortune hunters. Roland Colman, a young British actor, is Constance's leading man in thts picture, which will be shown at the Greenwood Theatre on Saturday, June 5th.

Kerr, on behalf of the Ladies Aid, followed by an able speach by R. D. Kerr. In replying Mr. Walkinshaw thanked those present for the kindness shown to Mrs. Walkinshaw and himself on this occasion and during their stay in the district.

Death of Mrs. A. F. H. Meyer

On Thursday, May 20th, Elarion L. Meyer, wife of A. F. H. Meyer, of Vancouver, passed away at the home of her parents in Tacoma, Wash., after many months patient suffering in severe illness. Her bright and cheery disposition and her great consideration for others endeared her to everyone with home she came in contact; and with cheerfullness and patience endured her extreme sufferings to the last. The deceased was 43 years of age and was well known in Greenwood having resided here for many years before moving to the coast. She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, who lives in Vancouver. The sympathy of a large circle of friends in Greenwood goes out to him in his sad bereavement.

Mining Notes

The new find on the Gold Pick is attracting considerable attention this week. The strike was made below the railway track at this claim, in the grass roots, and looks most encouraging.

An engine secured from H. Pannell at Midway is being used to supply the power for pumping out the Prince Henry mine. Good headway is being made with unwatering and in a few days this mine will be ready for examination by a prominent engineer.

Skilton & Weston, who recently opened a mining office in Greenwood, have sent out circulars asking for information relative to this district. It is hoped that all who receive them will fill in the questionaire and return same promptly, as it will undoubtedly mean a great deal to this section.

F. K. McMann, of Penticton, was in town during the first-of-the-week, looking over his mining property. Fred owns the Herbert Spencer adjoining the Tam O'Shanter in Deadwood camp and it his intention to interest capital to work his property this summer. Mr. McMann is a pioneer of Greenwood, coming here over 30 years ago, and still has great faith in the old camp.

More About This Wonderful Age

In this column last week attention was directed to the marvellous achievements of recent years in the development of rapid means of transport and communication—devlopments within a decade far outstripping the work of previous centuries. But it is not alone in the field of mechanical invention that this is truly a wonderful age. The onward march of progress is just as rapid and even more remarkable in scientific research and attendant results.

Take the science of preventive medicine as an example. It is difficult today to realize that only a century ago the average length of life was less than thirty years. It practically doubled during the nineteenth century, and now comes the further news that the average of life in the United States and Canada has been lengthened by five years since 1900, but so quietly and effectively have the forces of prevention been carrying on their successful warfare against disease and death that few realize what has been accomplished, nor how it has been accomplished.

One of the chief causes is the decrease in infant mortality. The spread of vaccination did away with smallpox, sterilization and the use of anaesthetics made modern surgery possible, pure milk and water supplies have prevented typhoid, fresh air has done much to conquer tuberculosis, toxide and other serums are eradicating diphtheria, scarlet fever and other diseases, the discovery of insulin has resulted in control of diabetes, while present-day knowledge of how the excess or lack of secretions of the ductless glands affect the health has opened a new world to the medical profession.

With all its horrors, sufferings and losses, the Great War conferred at least one benefit on mankind in that it opened the eyes of all people, and particularly all Governments, to the physical condition of the race and demonstrated that the greatest of all national assets are people, and people of strong bodies and robust health without which mental equipment must remain below par. The Great War also demonstrated on a huge scale beyond all possibility of dispute that disease can be controlled and prevented.

In times of peace, people can, if they will, live in clean and hygenic surroundings, obtain pure food and water supplies, eliminate flies and disease breeding germs. But this is not always possible in the case of troops under war conditions. In the South African war the British had 58,000 cases of typhoid fever and 8,000 deaths in an average army strength of 208,000. In the Great War the average strength of the British Army was 1,250,000 men, but only 7,500 cases of typhoid and 266 deaths therefrom. Why? Because at the beginning of the war all British soldiers were inoculated against typhoid French soldiers were not inoculated at first and in the first sixteen months there were 96,000 cases with nearly 12,000 deaths. Then the French were inoculated with the result that the amount of typhoid fever fell to that in the British Army.

A very frank article by Dr. C. E. Fleming appears in the British Medical Journal respecting the disappearance of certain infectious diseases which in the past used to demand high toll in Great Britain. Figures quoted from the British Ministry of Health show that from 1880 to 1924 diseases such as diphtheria, typhoid, scarlet fever and tuberculosis have decreased 50 to 97 per cent. In the case of smallpox the decrease is actually 100 per cent., not a single case having been reported in 1924.

Medical science may justly claim a fair share for the result, but better conditions of life, of home, of workshop, the stopping of child labor, shorter hours of work, better food, more sunlight and air, more rational dress, more outdoor recreation, all have been instrumental in effecting this glorious change for the better.

Doctors and Government and municipal health authorities can do much, and are doing it, but unless they are supported by the rank and file of the people their best efforts must fail. An enlightened public can do more to prevent disease than any other agency. It was in full recognition of this fact that in drafting the Covenant of the League of Nations Article XXV. was inserted requiring every nation joining the League to encourage, promote and maintain an active Red Cross Society to enroll all the people in its membership and in a world-wide Crusade for Good Health with the object of promoting health, preventing disease, and mitigating suffering arising out of sickness, accident and disaster. By arousing the interest of all people in health matters, the world-wide organization of the Red Cross is doing much to dispel disease and eliminate much unnecessary suffering, and is thereby adding to length of life and contributing to the happiness and prosperity of all people everywhere.

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness-a breakdown, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same; the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour, vital strength and energy to throw off these morbid feelings, and as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of

than by any other known combination. So surely as it is taken in accordance with the directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored and a new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, used up, and valueless. This wonderful medicament is suitable for all ages constitutions and conditions, in either sex; and it is difficult to imagine a disease or derangement whose main feature is weakness, that will not be speedily and permanently overcome by this recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this wide-spread & numerous class of human ailments.

Love Of Clean Sport

Bound to Encourage Spirit of Fairness and Courage

It was Talleyrand, we think, who once said that one of the secrets of the greatness of the British peoples was their love of sport. It is something which certainly is more characteristic of the English-speaking peoples than of any other, and it is not confined to any one class among them.

While the youth of our race continue to love sport, to love it and play at it for its own sake, there will be no peril from decadence. Rather will there grow a finer womanhood and manhood, a keener homage for that spirit of fairness and chivalry and clean courage which, after all, are the precious things of life.—Ottawa Journal.

Use Minard's Liniment in the stables

Device Makes "Dry Ice".

Is Perfectly Dry, Cannot Melt, and Is Intensely Cold

A device that makes what is called "dry ice," will keep ice cream frozen in its original state for hours at a time without the use of ice. It is now possible to send a pint of ice cream from New York to Chicago by aeroplane and when the package is opened the ice cream will be found frozen hard, just as it came from the freezer many hours before!

"Dry ice" cannot melt and is perfectly dry to the touch, and is so cold that it will make a thermometer drop to 110 degrees below zero.

You have noticed the small bubbles that form and rise to the surface in a soda pop bottle when you pry off the cap. This new ice, Popular Science Monthly explains, is made out of the same gas that forms those bubbles. In other words, it is carbon dioxide gas cooled down and compressed until it finally forms a solid, frozen mass.

Solidified carbon dioxide has been produced on a laboratory scale several times, but this is the first application of this queer freezing agent to the preservation of ice cream.

Marketing Board Formed

Manitoba's Share of Wheat Board Surplus Will Be Put To Work

An organization to be known as the Co-operating Marketing Board has been formed to administer the income from investment of the $128,000 which came to Manitoba as its share of the Dominion wheat board surplus, it was officially announced in Winnipeg.

In accordance with legislation passed by the provincial legislature during its last session, the board will assist in the development and encouragement of co-operation among agricultural producers in Manitoba in the marketing of their produce and to investigate other systems of co-operative marketing throughout the world. About $6,000 will be available annually for the work of the board.

Starts Walking Tour

The value of uncooked fruit and nuts as a human diet and the health-giving qualities of life in the open will be demonstrated by Frank R. Turnley of Winnipeg, who has started on a "hike" for Vancouver, B.C. On his tramp to the coast, Turnley proposes to sleep outdoors and eat nothing but fruit and nuts.

Miller's Worm Powders are the medicine for children who are found suffering from the ravages of worms. They immediately alter the stomachic conditions under which the worms subsist and drive them from the system, and, at the same time, they are tonical in their effect upon the digestive organs, restoring them to healthful operation and ensuring immunity from further disorders from such a cause.

Tree Goes To Press

It took two hours and 25 minutes to convert a tree into a newspaper in a test at Berlin recently. The tree was cut down at 7.35 a.m., barked and pulped, and a roll of paper was ready for a nearby newspaper plant at 9.34. The boys were crying the paper on the streets at 10 o'clock.

People overeat, overwork and overtax their bodies and mental energies, a doctor says. Overwork is the least excessive, probably.

Likely to Change Fishing Methods

Work On Mystery Trawler At Hull Nearing Completion

A mystery ship, whose operations when completed are likely to revolutionize fishing methods, is nearing completion at Hull, in Yorkshire.

She is much bigger than the average trawler, her tonnage being between 4,000 and 5,000. Instead of trawling in the ordinary way, this vessel will anchor outside the three-mile limit" and send out small boats to fish with lines. Fish of a large size, chiefly halibut, will be sought for.

When these are brought aboard they will be laid in specially constructed "rest bunks," to prevent the crushing and spoiling that occurs when fish are carried in bulk, and also to keep them alive until landed.

Amundsen Will Likely Retire

When Amundsen was in Nome on a previous trip of exploration he declared that when a youth he had decided to visit both extremities of the earth and sail through the passages. Now that his life work has been attained it seems quite certain Amundsen will never again subject himself to the rigors of the Arctic or Antarctic climates. He is 53 years old.

Peevish, pale, restless and sickly children owe their condition to worms. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will relieve them and restore health.

Oil Leases At Lesser Slave Lake

It is understood that a definite attempt will be made this season to develop a new oil field in the Athabasca-Lesser Slave Lake district of Northern Alberta, an area long favored by geologists. Drilling will be commenced shortly on well number one of the International Oils, Limited, of New York, which controls the rights on a solid tract of 33,000 acres of oil leases in the eastern border of Lesser Slave Lake.

Only Two of His Kind

Chauncey Depew, who celebrated his ninety-first birthday recently, says he does not object to people making a fuss about him. "I never knew of but one man, besides me," he said, "who was not spoiled by being lionized." "And who was he?" asked a lady in the listening group. "The prophet Daniel, Madam," was the ready response.

Red Lake Bulletin

Many Prospectors Outfitting For Trip Into Mining Areas

Information regarding the district of Patricia, Red Lake, and adjacent areas has been compiled in handy bulletin form by the Ontario department of mines, together with information as to staking and recording mining claims and suggestions as to supplies and equipment for inexperienced prospectors. A good map of the Red Lake district is included. Hudson is now a busy spot, many prospectors outfitting there for the trip into the mining areas. Gold seekers numbering about 30 are arriving every day, leaving by the first steamer after they get their equipment together.

Demand For Farm Machinery

Farm implement companies in Saskatoon report current sales in Central Saskatchewan, breaking all records for a period of years and greater by 100 per cent. to 200 per cent. than sales in 1925. This indicates that farmers in this, as well as other sections of the west, have a surplus of cash to invest in improvements.

Change In English Inheritance Law

Lord Birkenhead Would Have All Children Shares Equally

The old English law of primogeniture, by which the oldest son inherited all and the other children were left to exist as best they could, will very likely be done away with in England. Lord Birkenhead, who has done much to work out the new law, would have all estates not disposed of by testament will, divided among the children without respect to age or sex. The new law, it is thought, will break up the large English estates in a few generations.

They Bring Almost Instant Relief

That is What Mrs. A. Mills Says of Dodd's Kidney Pills

Ontario lady took Dodd's Kidney Pills for a weak back with very beneficial results.

Belleville, Ont. — (Special).—Short, but to the point, is the statement made by Mrs. A. Mills, who resides at 14 Green Street, Belleville. She writes:—

"I have always been troubled with a weak back; especially after any extra work. I find, if I take Dodd's Kidney Pills, they bring almost instant relief."

The relief that Mrs. Mills found has come to thousands of other Canadian women through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. That shows that the ache is caused by the kidneys, for Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy. For more than a quarter of a century Dodd's Kidney Pills have been a household remedy in thousands of Canadian homes.

Horrors Of Chemical Warfare

Fire and Gas Bombs Could Create Havoc In Large Cities

Fire and gas bombs could slay or paralyze the entire population of a great city, M. de Brouckere, of Belgium, asserted in a declaration before a recent meeting of the disarmament commission at Geneva, in which he portrayed the horrors of chemical warfare from the air.

To him it was the most vital thing in disarmament to meet this problem immediately and frankly by the nations accepting supervision of all aeroplane and poison gas equipment.

"For, in the most cowardly and horrible form of warfare of all," he said, "hundreds of thousands of people in the great cities of New York, Paris, London and Berlin would be driven to the cellars and subways, and would be slowly but surely smothered to death."

"Don't talk so much about disarmament; just go ahead and do it," was another of his striking declarations, to which all the delegates listened in rapt attention.

M. de Brouckere is a senator and a Socialist.

"But," he went on, "nations which take this initiative must not be made to suffer for it when the time comes, if it over does, to apportion the strength which the various nations may be permitted to possess."

These affirmations by a Belgian Liberal are deemed significant, because the further general disarmament discussion proceeds the more it is apparent that immense difficulties and real complications will render the achievement of disarmament no easy task.

"Give us security, and we will lay down our arms." This would apparently summarize the position of the various European countries as expounded at the Geneva meeting.

Lots of Other Views

A visitor to a country village went into the post office and, with the object of getting into conversation asked the postmaster what his views were on vegetarianism.

"Haven't any views of that kind," replied the official innocently, "but I've got some fine postcards of the new town hall, the church and the library."

"Why didn't you send your man to mend my electric bell?"

"I did, madam; but as he rang three times and got no answer my man decided there was nobody home."

CARRIED WIFE TO BED

Suffered So She Could Not Walk. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Minesing, Ontario.—"I am a practical nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to suffering women. For three months I was almost helpless and could not sit at the table long enough to drink a cup of tea. Many a time my husband carried me to bed, I would be so weak. Then he read in the paper of a woman suffering as I did who got better after taking the Vegetable Compound, so he went and got it for me. When I had taken three bottles I was just like a new woman and have had splendid health ever since. When I feel any bearing-down pains I always take it; sometimes a half bottle or whatever I need. It is my only medicine and I have told many a one about it. Any one wanting to know more about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I will gladly write to her. I do all I can to recommend it for I feel I owe my life and strength to it." — Mrs. NEAL BOWSER, R.R. 1, Minesing, Ontario.

Do you feel broken-down, nervous, and weak sometimes? Do you have this horrid feeling of fear which sometimes comes to women when they are not well? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently will relieve this condition. C

The Boulevards Of Paris

Peculiar to French Capital But Comparatively New Institution

Paris is undergoing a surgical operation. The Boulevard Haussmann, begun under Napoleon III., is at last being finished and the great avenue of Haussmann's vision will soon be a reality. The boulevard in general is a Paris institution. No other European city could ever imitate its pulsating and colorful life. Yet it is not an old institution. Its origin may be placed in 1848, when everybody began to meet everybody on fashionable thoroughfares. Yet the boulevard was far from the presentable state of later years. Louis Philippe started to lay pavements. Before that time the streets were a sorry mess, as may be gleaned from an account of the time. "A pretty woman wants to cross the street, but seeing the awful mud, hesitates. A sturdy gentleman, noting her predicament, seizes her without a word and carries her in his burly arms safely to the opposite sidewalk. There, instead of thanks, reproaches are heaped upon his head. For a moment he stands staggered. Then, still without a word, he once more seizes the lady and carries her back to where he found her."—New York Evening World.

The Antiquity Of Tea

Was Known to the Chinese as Far Back as 2737 B.C.

While undoubtedly water is the oldest of known drinks, and there is also antiquity in the consumption of wine, it is not generally known that tea is also an ancient beverage. Some suggest that it was known to the Chinese as far back as 2737 B.C. It is mentioned in She King by Confucius, written about 500 B.C., but the history of its origin recalls that it was not until the sixth century of the Christian era that it came into anything like common use in China. One of the oldest paeans in its praise was written by Lo-yu, a Chinese author of the Dynasty of Tang. Here is one sentence: "Tea tempers the spirits, harmonizes the mind, dispels lassitude and relieves fatigue; awakens thought and prevents drowsiness, lightens and refreshes the body and clears the perceptive faculties." A new book has been published entitled "Tea; An Historical Sketch," by Robert O. Menell. In this Mr. Menell gives the credit for its introduction to Europe to the Dutch East India Company, which imported a few pounds into Holland in 1610 and into England in 1645.—Victoria Colonist.

May Decide How Far Salmon Swim

Vancouver Man Caught One Claimed To Have Ottawa Mark

How far does a salmon swim during its lifetime? Fishing in the Gulf of Georgia, Sergt. John McLean, of the Vancouver police force, caught a 10-pound salmon. On its tail was found what is claimed to be the mark placed on young fish liberated in the Atlantic Ocean by the federal fisheries department, Ottawa, to discover the migratory travels of the salmon. The tail of the fish has been handed to James Cunningham of the provincial game department here who will forward it to the department of fisheries at Ottawa for investigation. The mark is said to be a ring and two bars.

Strange Experience Of London Zoo Attendant

Beetles Ejected Caustic Fluid Which Had Effect Of Gas

Gassed by beetles an attendant at London Zoo narrowly escaped asphyxiation. Whilst handling the beetles, which measure a little over an inch long, he experienced a burning sensation in the throat, as though he had inhaled prussic acid, and noticed a stain on his hands similar to that from nicotine. He found that the insects were ejecting a caustic fluid to a distance of over a foot. Also it took the attendant four hours to remove the stain.

Fox Terrier's Remarkable Feat

Small Dog Swam Mile and Half Against Strong Tide

Swimming the Mersey—from Wallasey to Liverpool, a distance of a mile and a half, was the recent feat of a small fox terrier. Boz, the terrier, accompanied his mistress on a shopping expedition to Liverpool, but disappeared while in the city. His mistress returned without him, and Boz followed in the water, battling against a strong tide that would have been too much for powerful men swimmers.

Figures for overseas trade issued at Wellington, New Zealand, show total of £107,000,000 in 1925.

In 1925 it is estimated that Great Britain purchased 60,000,000 feet of sawn lumber from British Columbia.

Aviator's Boundless Horizon

Remarkable Development in Aeronautics To Be Demonstrated

Men now sail in flight from Cairo across the equator to Cape Town, and back, and take off from London to rise above the Himalayas to land in India. They have ventured to circle the earth and have hovered over its North Pole. Whirring engines have borne them on invented wings above this hemisphere and that, till they have become more intrepid in flight than ever was boldest albatross.

But how much higher or how much lower, how much faster and, especially, how much slower, may they yet fly? Each year's advance in the theory and particularly in the practice of the science of aeronautics brings its more surprising surmise.

Of this domination of men in their machines over the air, public demonstrations will be given at the pageant to be held by the Imperial Royal Air Force at Hendon, outside London, next month. It is claimed that a new type of heavier-than-air machine that will then be flown will not get out of hand, or "stall" and come crashing to the ground should the pilot commit some error of judgment. Its resemblance to one of the extinct tailless flying lizards has gained it the name of "Pterodactyl." Under the pilotage of its inventor, Capt. G. T. R. Hill, it has been allowed to fly itself, which it did with perfect steadiness. The system of control of this tailless craft is said to be better than that of any machine yet invented, its flight being governed by movable surfaces at the tips of its single swept-back wing.

At the same Hendon spectacle the airship R33 will defend herself in flight by releasing from beneath her two Grebe fighters, which, first diving low, will soar high to give fight to the attacking planes.—Free Press.

Biggest Single Printing Job

Getting Out New York Telephone Directory Is Real Work

The printing of the New York telephone directory is the biggest single publishing job in the world. It now takes between five and six weeks to simply distribute the books to the 960,000 regular subscribers. As soon as one issue is finished, work is started on the succeeding edition. Distribution requires a force of more than 500 men and a fleet of automobiles, wagons and even pushcarts. Despite the fact that the paper used is, from time to time, improved to save weight and bulk the last issue consisted of two volumes, weighing nearly five pounds. It has 1,920 pages with 830,000 listings. In many instances subscribers get several copies so that the total edition consists of 3,000,000 directories, requiring 500 carloads of paper.

Improved On Friend's Idea

Scotchman's Plan Made Scheme Even More Profitable

Billy Wayne, the comedian of "Kitty's Kisses," tells this one of a Scotchman who ordered a drink in a bar of an English railroad station, talked to the barmaid and then said he must hurry to catch his train. She said he hadn't paid, but he argued her out of it, claiming he'd paid when she handed him the drink. So she let him go.

The Scotchman told this to a friend of his from Glasgow, who went in, ordered a drink, talked to the girl for a while and then, suddenly pulling out his watch, said:

"Weel, lassie, I'll hae to be running for ma train. Gie me ma change!"—New York Evening World.

U. S. President's Creed

Public Men Could Do Worse Than Take Advice of Coolidge

President Coolidge is not a notable speechmaker. But on the occasion of his first inaugural as governor of Massachusetts he gave this as his creed:

Expect to be called a standpatter, but don't be a standpatter. Expect to be called a demagogue but odn't be a demagogue. Don't hesitate to be as revolutionary as science. Don't hesitate to be as reactionary as the multiplication table. Don't expect to build up the weak by pulling down the strong. Don't hurry to legislate. Give administration a chance to catch up with legislation.

INDIGESTION BANISHED

Through the Timely Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

The urgent need of all who suffer from indigestion is a tonic to build up the blood. Pain and distress after eating is the way the stomach shows it is too weak to perform the work nature intended it to do. New strength is given weak stomachs by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because these pills enrich and purify the blood. This is the natural process of giving strength and tone to the stomach and accounts for the speedy relief in stomach disorders that follow the use of these pills. Proof of this is given by Mr. Wm. H. Kelly, 216 Earl St., Kingston, Ont., who says:—"I cannot recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly. I had been bothered with indigestion in a chronic form for almost ten years. Everything I would eat would turn sour. I felt as though there was a big ball in my stomach all the time. I felt tired and weak and would often turn dizzy. I doctored and tried many medicines, spending many, many dollars, but to no avail. One day I heard a lady praising Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. I am more than glad I did, for soon I found relief, and after taking the pills for a couple of months the trouble disappeared, and now I can eat all kinds of food, and have again my old-time health and strength."

If you will send your name and address to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., a little book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be mailed to you prepaid. This book contains many useful health hints.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Little Helps For This Week

And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance forever. —Isa. xxxii.

Follow with reverent steps the great example
Of Him whose holy work was "doing good";
So shall the wide earth seem our Father's temple,
Each loving life a psalm of gratitude.
—John Greenleaf Whittier.

To remedy evil, to strive for good, not to neglect the little daily duties and beneficences of life, the gracious acts, the tender courtesies, the tolerant appreciations—in one word, to love God and our neighbor, and to believe on the name of Jesus Christ, and to love one another as He gave us commandment—this is to live as Christ lived on earth.—Frederic William Farrar.

Peace River Homesteads

Homestead entries at the Peace River land office for the year, ending March 31, 1926, show an increase of 50 per cent. over those of last year. Land sales for the year also show an increase, while the revenue derived from land patents, timber and grazing permits is far in advance of any previous year. During the nine years the Peace River office has been open, only one year—1917-1918—exceeds the past year in homestead entries.

Searching For Trace Of First Immigrant

Anthropologist Believes Clue Can Be Found In Yukon

A search for the first American immigrant—the oldest inhabitant and the ancestor of the Indians found by Columbus—has been started by the Smithsonian Institution.

Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, National Museum anthropologist, has started for Alaska, scene of the finish of the flight across the North Pole, to search along the rivers, coasts and the tundra for a few bits of pottery and bone, to prove scientifically the belief that the first American came from Asia.

Hrdlicka set out for the Yukon, where legends still are told among the Eskimos of battles between Asians and the Eskimos, terrible struggles for the right of way past the fishing grounds that furnished livelihood to primitive men.

Hrdlicka thinks the ancestors of the first American crossed the Bering Straits, fifty miles wide at its narrowest point, and worked their way down the coastal plains into the temperate zone, where the warm climate caused various immigrants to develop the many tribes of "Amerindians."

Bits of pottery have been found in Alaska. The Eskimos who now make up the total native population do not make pottery. Through discovery and study of other specimens of pottery, bones and primitive implements, Hrdlicka thinks he can find a clue to the first visitors who probably came just after the glaciers receded.

Ancient Indian Relic

Stone Axe of Early Days Found on Ranch In Saskatchewan

While H. E. Dimmock was riding over his ranch near Tompkins, Sask., he picked up a stone axe, evidently an old Indian instrument of warfare or a very useful cutting tool of the early days. It is about nine inches long, double bitted, with one edge about three inches across, and the other finished off to a conical shape. Around the centre of the axe are two rings, or ridges, raised about one-quarter of an inch. It is supposed, according to an old-timer's viewpoint, that this axe, and others similar, were inserted into a split in a small sapling, the sapling being secured with bark and pitch between the two rings, which allowed the wood to grow around the axe, which made it very secure. After the sapling had grown to the proper size, it was cut off about two inches below where the axe was embedded, and again cut off on the other side of the axe, about 20 inches from the axe head, making a strong, non-breakable handle, while the axe head could not possibly loosen, as it was securely grown about by the wood. This relic was found on the northern slope of the Cypress Hills, about nine miles south of town, and is quite an interesting specimen of Indian stone craft.

Neither Sam nor Rastus could tell time. But Sam had a nice, big watch, which he exhibited with a fine air of superiority.

Too Cheap For Real Thing

By Observing Nature's Basic Rule

Those who suffer from despondency, listlessness and headaches can usually trace the cause of these conditions to constipation.

They are frequently brought about by overwork, nervous strain, lack of outdoor exercise or sleep, or improper food, but more frequently by the non-observance of nature's basic rule—regular thorough bowel elimination.

Poisons from waste matter left behind are picked up by the blood and absorbed by the system, weakening the nerves and lowering the vitality.

Nujol, the scientific internal lubricant, corrects constipation in nature's own way by augmenting the supply of nature's lubricant.

Nujol by softening the waste matter thus permits thorough and regular elimination without overtaxing the intestinal muscles. It is gentle, safe and natural in its action, and can be taken for any length of time without any ill effect.

Ask your druggist for Nujol today and remember—look for the name "Nujol" in red on both bottle, label and package.

Prince Has Simple Tastes

Heir to British Throne Is No Lover of Magnificence

Many a wealthy young peer looks with a shade of disdain upon the simple apartments which the Prince of Wales occupies at St. James' Palace. The truth is, says the London Mail, the Prince is no lover of magnificence. Had he wished, he could, of course, have set up a great country estate, something in the style of Burleigh-on-the-Hill, near Oakham. But he prefers to be unencumbered.

It will Relieve a Cold.—Colds are the commonest ailments of mankind and if neglected may lead to serious conditions. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will relieve the bronchial passages of inflammation speedily and thoroughly and will strengthen them against subsequent attack. And as it eases the inflammation it will usually stop the cough because it allays the irritation in the throat. Try it and prove it.

The Mining Laws of this Province are more liberal, and the fees lower, than those of any other Province in the Dominion, or any colony in the British Empire.

Mineral locations are granted to discoverers for nominal fees.

Absolute Titles are obtained by developing such properties, the security of which is guaranteed by Crown Grants.

Full information together with Mining Reports and Maps, may be obtained gratis by addressing—

THE HON. THE MINISTER OF MINES.
VICTORIA, British Columbia.

N.B. Practically all British Columbia Mineral Properties upon which development work has been done are described in some one of the Annual Reports of the Minister of Mines. Those considering mining investments should refer to such reports. They are available without charge on application to the Department of Mines, Victoria, B.C. Reports covering each of the six Mineral Survey Districts are published separately, and are available on application. Reports of the Geological Survey of Canada, Winch Building, Vancouver, are recommended as valuable sources of information.
