KETTLE VALLEY CLUB GOLFERS WIN AT GRAND FORKS

Members of the Kettle Valley Golf Club, which included Greenwoodites, went over the hill on Sunday to play an interclub match with the Grand Forks Club and won 6 matches out of a total of 8. Play was fairly even in most cases although the visitors found the "uplands" course more difficult to negotiate than their own. The "Teeing up" practice in force at Grand Forks was much appreciated and it was felt that until our own links are in better shape that resort to this practice at Kettle Valley would be a good move.

The Grand Forks members have made a wonderful improvement to their fairways and the greens are especially in fine condition—the club house is much improved also and is so arranged that a number can sit down for lunch. Refreshments were served by the Grand Forks ladies and members of the Executive and their excellence was much appreciated by all those who were fortunate to attend.

It is to be hoped that a return match can be arranged for at Kettle Valley on the 12th inst as interclub matches arouse interest in the game and are of great value to players in improving their game. An effort should also be made to have as many lady players as possible participate on this occasion.

Boundary Creek Opened May 1st

Kootenay and Okanagan Districts Are Defined—Limit Per Day is 25 Trout—Only One Lure Per Line

Definite fishing regulations were received on Tuesday by Provincial Constable W. R. Powers and G. S. Walters, president of the Greenwood & District Rod and Gun Club. According to a recent order-in-council fishing season opened in the Kootenay district, east of Midway on May 1st, for both lakes and streams.

An extract from the order-in-council follows.

Okanagan District.—"Shall include all waters in the portion of the Province that is east of the 121st meridian and south of the portion of the 51st parallel of north latitude from the 121st meridian to Revelstoke inclusive, and west of a straight line drawn from the city of Revelstoke inclusive, through the town of Midway to the International Boundary Line."

From the above anglers will note that waters west of Midway are included in the Okanagan district. Lakes opened in that section on May 1st, while streams will not open until June 1st. This means that the Kettle river west of Midway will not be open until the 1st of June.

Kootenay District.—"Shall include all waters in that portion of the Province that is east and north-east of the eastern boundary of the Okanagan District to the eastern boundary of the province and south of the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway."

Kootenay District. (a) "Except as provided otherwise, in these Regulations, no one shall fish for, catch or kill any trout in the Kootenay District from November fifteenth in each year to April thirtieth following, both days inclusive."

Regulations follow:

No one shall fish for, or catch or kill in one day by angling or trolling more than will in the aggregate amount to more than 25. The limit for bass is 20 a day.

No trout of any kind under eight inches in length shall be taken from the water, and if caught shall be immediately returned to the water alive and if possible uninjured.

In handling undersized fish care should be taken to have the hands wet, otherwise the fish will probably not survive.

No trout under three pounds in weight in the round, or two and one-half pounds dressed with the head on shall be bought, sold or exposed for sale in the province, and during the close season no trout shall be bought, sold or exposed for sale.

Fees for non-resident anglers shall be $1 per day or $10 per season a non-resident angler being described as one who has resided in British Columbia for less than six months.

In angling no one shall use more than one rod with one line attached thereto. In trolling, otherwise than for commercial purposes, one man in a boat may use two lines. If there are two men in the boat none may use more than one line. The lines need not be held in the hand. No one shall fish for, or catch or kill any trout in non-tidal waters otherwise than by angling or trolling.

In trolling, otherwise than for commercial purposes, no one shall at any time use more than one lure on each line.

The use of torches or of artificial lights of any kind, or of spears jigs or snares in the capture of salmon or trout of any kind or of steelhead, is prohibited, and no one shall trap ord pen fish on their spawning grounds or in the rivers or streams leading thereto.

One shall not wantonly waste or destroy any food fish taken or caught in any of the waters of British Columbia.

D. R. McELMON DIES IN GRAND FORKS HOSPITAL

D. R. McElmon, aged 85 years, a pioneer of the Boundary, died in the Grand Forks Hospital last week, having been in failing health for some time.

Mr. McElmon came west from Moncton, N. B. in the spring of 1897 and opened up a jewelry store in Greenwood. Later he was in business in Eholt and for a great number of years was postmaster. When Eholt became quiet he moved to Greenwood and re-entered business later selling out to F. J. White. The baseball mitts have arrived. We can play baseball a galore now.

The Canadiens are still leading in the Mental Arithmetic by a scrore of (7—1).

The boys wish to thank Mr. Geo. Gray for donating a baseball to the school.

The Grand Forks School boys swamped the local boys in a baseball game on the 20th of April.

The boys hope to play ball at Curlew on Saturday. We wish someone would kindly offer means of tranportation.

Hi—"I swallowed a tack yesterday."
Si—"Well, what of it?"
Hi—"Now there is a nail growing out of my toe."

A vote was taken to determine the best sport at school. Harry Hallstrom received the most votes and was presented with a fountain-pen.

A pleasant afternoon was spent at the home of Alice Clark on Saturday last. A party was given in honor of Alice's birthday which was on Tuesday but was celebrated on Saturday so as to make it more convenient for the school children. About twenty of the youngsters attended. Alice received many beautiful gifts. After playing many delightful games, all sat down to the good eats. They ate to their heart's content. Then went home very pleased over the good time they had.

MIDWAY ENTERTAINERS ARE WELL RECEIVED

The sponsers of the Concert given in the Farmer's Hall, Midway, on Friday evening last were well repaid for their efforts, as a capacity house greeted the performers. The proceeds amounted to $226.75.

The stage decorations and settings were very attractive. The costumes of the Bell Hops and partners, in red and black, were very pleasing to the eye.

From the opening number until the last item the large crowd showed appreciation by much applause.

The first selection was a chorus entitled "Funny Melody" by the Bell Hops. This was a very fitting opening number.

Miss Harris sang "Lilac Time" and for an encore "I Love You Truly"; also "By the Waters of Minnatonka" and "Melisande." Her pleasing presence and sweet singing charmed her audience.

Ted Whiting taking the lead in the song "Sweethearts on Parade," was well received.

Miss Verna Evans made a great hit with her recitation "School Days", as did Mrs. Pannell in the "Sailor Song" assisted by Juan Puddy on the guitar.

The song "Fall Down and Go Boom" was a very popular selection and caused much laughter. Eileen Pannell and Edith Hawkes sang the first verse, Mrs. Beckett and Juan Puddy the second and Mayneen Bush and May Sharp the third.

Mrs. Dyer's singing of "Chiquita" and "Romano" pleased her listeners. Juan Puddy accompanied on the guitar.

"The Hired Man" was a very amusing play and Mrs. Oscar Johnson as the man gave her employer (Mrs. Pannell) much trouble and amusement, but in the end found out, after threatening to fire him, the proper man for the job.

The Misses Mayneen Bush and May Sharp scored a fine success in their singing of "You Tell Me You Dreams and I'll Tell You Mine." They responded to an encore with "I Don't Care."

Juan Puddy was the life of the concert and when he played the guitar and sang "Gay Caballero" literally brought down the house. He was called on for an encore.

The farce entitled "Mrs. Busby's Pink Tea" was exceedingly well received. Miss Brereton as Mrs. Busby ably carried out her very difficult role. She had trouble in getting Mr. Busby (Ted Whiting) to stay home and help entertain the invited guests. He consented after much coaxing but received a bawling out from Mrs. Busby for getting friendly with a very fascinating widow (Mrs. Beckett).

One would like to mention everybody. It was a praiseworthy concert and one of the best ever staged in Midway.

Miss Nellie Brown and Mrs. A. Walker were the accompanists.

A Dance was held after the Concert with Bush's Melody Orchestra playing. They lived up to their reputation and kept the crowd in a very happy mood by rendering the latest in dance music. The refreshments served by the ladies were much enjoyed. To cater for such a large crowd was no easy task.

The programme follows:

1. Chorus "Funny Melody" Bell Hops.
2. Song "Lilac Time" Miss H. Harris.
3. Song "Sweethearts on Parade" Ted Whiting and dancers.
4. Recitation "School Days" Verna Evans.
5. Song "Fall Down and Go Boom"
6. Song Mrs. Dyer.
7. Play "The Hired Man".
8. Song Mayneen Bush & May Sharp
9. Song and recitation "The Sailor" Mrs. Pannell and Juan Puddy.
10. Song Mrs. Dyer, Juan Puddy and dancers.
11. Song "Sweet Susie" Bell Hops.
12. Song Miss H. Harris.
13. Song "The Boes" Bell Hops.
14. Song Juan Puddy with guitar.
15. Play "Mrs. Busby Pink Tea" Cast: Miss Brereton as Mrs. Busby, Ted Whiting as "Bob" Mr. Busby, Mrs. Oscar Johnson the maid, Mrs. Dyer as Mrs. Hightone, Miss Alice McMynn as Mrs. Wiseacre, Mrs. Beckett as the widow, Miss B. DeChene as Mrs. Upperten.
16. Song The Bell Hops.

Those taking part in the Bell Hop choruses were: Miss Gladys Brereton, Miss Kathleen Salmon, Miss Mayneen Bush, Mrs. Dyer, Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Miss Ruth Axam, Miss Nellie Knight, Mrs. E. P. Beckett, Miss May Sharp, Miss Isobel Galbraith, Miss Rosalie Brown, Miss B. DeChene, Juan Puddy, Steve Klinosky and Ted Whiting.

Mrs. Hawkes, E. P. Beckett and H. Erickson assisted in the stage work.

The President and members of the Women's Institute wish to express their thanks to all who took part and all those who helped to make the concert the success it proved to be.

Wednesday and Thursday of last week was set aside as clean-up days in Greenwood and it proved a marked success. Considerable rubbish was removed from residences and streets and the city is much tidier than it has been for many years.

Only choice leaves grown at high altitudes go into the blending of Blue Ribbon Tea. That is why its flavour is so uniformly excellent. Insist upon getting it from your grocer—refuse substitutes of inferior quality.

CONTROL OF CANADA THISTLE

A weed so well established as is Canada thistle, will not be exterminated by any means at present in sight, but a reasonable measure of control is both possible and economically sound.

This control, for its success, demands attention to two things—the seeding habit and the rooting habit of the plant. While the latter is receiving suitable attention in the fields, the former must be watched beyond their borders.

The seed menace requires that all stragglers in waste places, along roadsides, etc., be destroyed before maturity, by cutting, salting and pasturing, plowing under, or otherwise. Each neighboring farmer must be likewise concerned; a state of things which inspection under provincial weed laws is intended to bring about. Each farmer, moreover, must avail himself of all the protection in the matter of seed purchases, that the Seeds Act of Canada offers. No amount of work performed in the fields, will keep them free of Canada thistle, while its exceptional facilities for seed dispersal are being ignored.

Field infestations themselves are ordinarily best dealt with by the method of starvation. By the time a rotation of crops has come around to hay, following grain, thistles will have reached their maximum recovery from previous suppression. If the choice of hay crop, and its stand is such as to make a good smother crop, this is the first step. Legumes, especially alfalfa and sweet clover, make a heavy cover. They are removed in ample time to forestall seeding of the thistles, and to allow a long period of after-harvest fallowing. As soon as thistles begin to show after moving, the ground is plowed, and, through the balance of the season, the underground parts are kept deprived of nourishment from the foliage, by use of the broad-shared cultivator. A somewhat deeper plowing late in the fall is a good finish to the season's work; and a cultivated crop the following year gives further opportunity to keep the foe at bay.

It will be seen that only the livestock or mixed farmer can make full use of the methods outlined. The crux of the matter is that only to the extent that the straight grain farmer can modify his practise in this direction, can he hope for much success in combatting a weed so well at home in a grain crop.

Sprays and other chemical expedients that have been experimented with may yet provide additional offensives for use on small areas; but experience at the Dominion Experimental Farm has not proved them generally economical. All they can do usually, is to deprive the thistles of foliage, and by repeated application thus starve the rootstocks, a process more satisfactorily accomplished under field conditions, by tillage methods. Other tests to be conducted this season may justify a better word concerning one promising material.

IMPORTANCE OF THINNING VEGETABLES

(Experimental Farms Note)

Beginners in vegetable gardening are almost sure to make the mistake not only of sowing seed too thickly, but also of leaving the plants too thick in the row. A very large amount of seed is wasted each year because of this and failure to have plants develop properly is another result of more consequence to the sower of the seeds than the waste of seed. Thinning of all vegetables is desirable as soon as the plants are large enough to catch hold of, that is, quite small. Lettuce can be used even though the plants are thick, but to have satisfactory individual plants of leaf lettuce the plants should be thinned to five or six inches apart, and the plants of head lettuce should be thinned to eight inches or more apart. They will not develop satisfactory heads if much closer than this. It has been found in the Horticultural Division, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, that the larger varieties of head lettuce give the most satisfactory results when the heads are nearly one foot apart. Carrots should be thinned to about an inch and one half apart: beets to two inches apart: parsnips to two inches apart: onions to one inch apart: spinach four to six inches apart. Radish if sown rather thinly are thinned as ready for use. Often too many kernels of corn are left in a hill. Five plants are quite sufficient to leave after the cutworms and birds have taken toll. Bean plants should be from two to four inches apart, and peas about one inch apart.

Vegetables will not develop satisfactorily if the plants are thick, hence judicious thinning is very important.

Shut That Door!

Listen, my children, and you shall hear what makes our weather at present so queer. Just three weeks ago, or may be t'was four, they opened to traffic the Great Northern bore. The very next day, as perhaps you recall, the doggone thermometer started to fall!

The wind from the East, it started to blow, and first we had frost and next we had snow. It snowed and it froze and the mornings were raw. We're waiting and hoping, but still there's no thaw. There must be a reason behind it, no doubt, and so, while I shivered, I figured it out.

That hole through the mountain is causing a draft like breezes that sweep through a dumb-waiter shaft. The wind from Montana they sweep through the bore, and so we are frozen as never before. Our coal piles are shrinking; our faucets won't run, and all are complaining, yet nothing is done!

Of course the new tunnel, it fills a great need. It cuts down the mileage, increases the speed. But may we suggest as a well-meaning friend they hang up a storm door, at least on this end? And may we suggest to the railroading crew, they close it behind them when they have passed through.

And early next summer, when heavens are fair, we'll ask that the storm door be taken from there. And thus in the Inland, where folks often roast, they'll all be refreshed by a breeze from the Coast!—The Seattle Post-Intelligner.

One Against Father

Father (annoyed by son's school report): "Do you know that when he was your age, Washington was the head of his class?"

Son: "Yes, and when he was your age he was President of America."

"Aren't you afraid the birds will eat your seeds? You ought to put up a scarecrow."

"Oh, it's not worth it. There's always one of us in the garden."—Answers.

Fore-Warned

"Teacher, do you punish boys for what they don't do?"

"Certainly not."

"Good, I haven't done my homework!"

The fulfilment of duty is the true end of life and the true welfare.—Jouffroy.

60 telephones put out of order by snowfall

The heavy snowfall of Sunday night and Monday morning, April 7 and 8, struck a blow at telephone service in Greater Vancouver, sixty telephones being put out of order on the Monday as a result.

In all cases the cause of the trouble was the same, "drop" wires being borne down by the weight of the snow on them. Over half the trouble was in the Bayview area where the snowfall was the heaviest.

Maintenance men worked hard all day remedying the trouble, and had all telephones restored to order by nightfall.

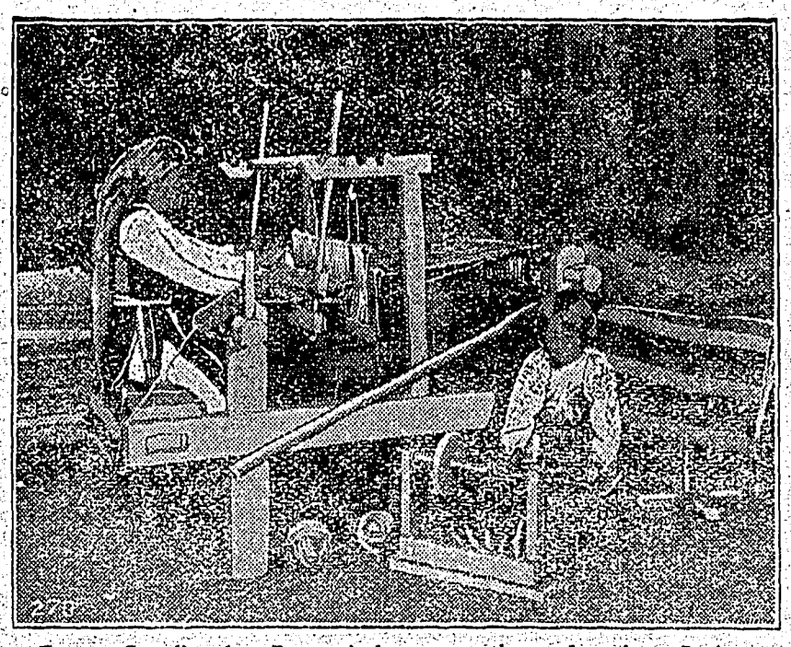
Follows Her Nose.

A bow rudder is a unique feature in the equipment of the Princess Norah, latest addition to the fleet of the British Columbia Coastal Steamships of the Canadian Pacific Railway. This facilitates the control of the vessel in the narrow channels in Pacific coastal waters and between Vancouver Island and the mainland linking the ports of Vancouver, Victoria, and Seattle. The Princess is shown here in drydock, her bow rudder being plainly visible. On her initial voyage up the coast she carried a distinguished company, including Their Excellencies the Governor General and Lady Willingdon, Hon Randolph Bruce, Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia, and his niece Miss Helen Mackenzie, and prominent residents of the Pacific coast.

Foundation of National Culture



Two new Canadians from Roumania demonstrate the art of weaving at Regina.

Those who have in the past regarded the New Canadians from Europe as hewers of wood and drawers of water must, after the recent demonstrations at the Great West Festival at Regina, admit that these peoples have, with their native arts, decidedly enhanced the cultural wealth of the country of their adoption. J. Murray Gibbon, who sponsored the festival under the auspices of the Canadian Pacific Railway, even goes so far as to say that Saskatchewan and the other prairie provinces have within their borders the foundation of a National culture finer than that of any other nation on earth. To this foundation, the first sod for which had been turned at the previous festival at Winnipeg, all the races which go to make up the peoples of the west have contributed—Icelanders and Irish with their folk-songs and lore, Swedes and Slavs alike with their folk-crafts and dances. Hardly a race known to civilization, old or new, but contributed to the festival some artistry which will make for the further development of that culture which, being national, will be the means of welding to a still greater solidarity, those people who are Canada.

That the movement for the attainment of this end is a popular one was demonstrated by the fact that literally thousands were unable to obtain admission to the exhibits and concerts and that western cities are vieing with one another as the site of the next festival.

FOUR HUNGARY MAIDENS

Four New Canadians from Hungary whose native dances delighted thousands in attendance at the Regina Festival

From whatever viewpoint it is to be judged, the Great West Canadian Festival recently brought to a conclusion at Regina, was a success. In attendance it eclipsed its forerunner at Winnipeg last year. Its handicraft exhibit covered a wider range, a more comprehensive representation of the peoples of the West had been arranged for and, in the words of J. M. Gibbon, sponsor of the festival, "Saskatchewan has proved that within its borders is the foundation of an art upon which will be built a structure of national culture finer than that of any other nation on earth." Over a hundred folk-dancers interpreted the dances of many racial groups. Folk-singers numbered over one-hundred and sixty. Handicrafts struck response from thousands and it is safe to say that next years festival, which is already being planned, will receive still greater support and present a folk-pageant to be unequalled on the continent. The festivals have been arranged under the auspices of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Was Honored for Service to Royalty

Walter Reginald Baker, C.V.O., former secretary of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the last surviving member of the original traffic organization, of the line, died on April 1, at his home in Montreal. Mr. Baker entered the service of the C.P.R. two days after the organization of the company in 1881 and retired at his own request on January 1, 1917. He was in his 77th year.

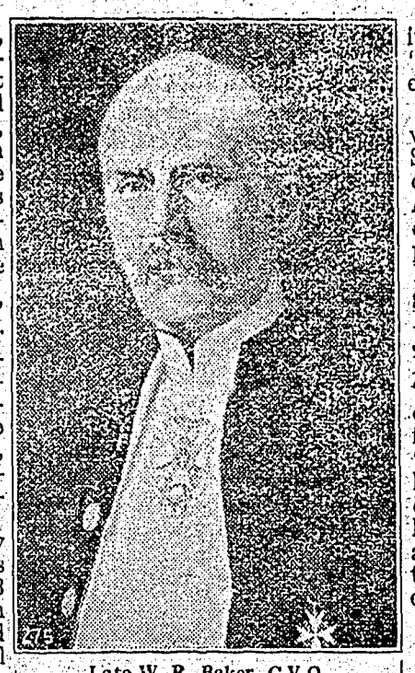
During his thirty-five years' service with the C.P.R., Mr. Baker was assistant to the general superintendent, assistant to the president, assistant to the vice-president, and secretary. Previous to his association with the railway, he was private secretary and comptroller to Lord Dufferin, Governor-General, 1874-78.

Born in York, England, on May 25, 1852, Mr. Baker came to this country alone at the age of 13 years. The boy began to establish a career for himself early, and after passing through several stages of progress towards success, found himself, at the age of 22, private secretary of His Majesty's representative in the Dominion. Later he became attached to the Treasury Department and was assistant secretary of the Treasury Board at Ottawa just before the C.P.R. was organized.

In the historical organization of the railroad, Mr. Baker was one of the principal actors. Before he died, the former secretary put down on paper, as the last surviving member of the original group, just what were the circumstances surrounding the beginnings of the great company's organization. The company was formed on February 15, 1881, and the organization meeting of the board of directors was held two days later. Charles Drinkwater was named secretary of the company, the first official to be appointed, according to the account of the historical event as related by Mr. Baker.

Mr. Baker's Story

Duncan McIntyre, later first vice-president of the company, was a member of the "Syndicate" which had planned the organization of the C.P.R. He had made a promise to Mr. Baker some time before that, if the "Canadian Pacific Railway venture" came to anything, he would "remember him."



Late W. R. Baker, C.V.O.

In his account of the matter, Mr. Baker recounts that "the matter had passed out of my mind" when on the night of February 18, 1881, he received a message from Mr. McIntyre. "I was busy late at night, in my office in the Eastern Block at Ottawa, preparing the estimates for Parliament, when a boy walked in with a telegram," Mr. Baker related.

Following the instructions contained in the message, Mr. Baker went to the "Bank cottage"—the little house attached to the Bank of Montreal for the use of members visiting Ottawa—and there met the little group of great builders of the great road.

There seated at a table were Donald Smith, later Lord Strathcona; George Stephen, later Lord Mount Stephen; R. B. Angus and Duncan McIntyre. The upshot of his interview with these historic figures was that he went to Winnipeg with A. B. Stickney, general superintendent of the C.P.R. western division, as accountant on construction, and auditor of operation. "The salary was 50 per cent. better than I was getting in the civil service." Mr. Baker explains in his autobiographical account, "so, I said at once 'I will go wherever you want me to go.'"

On the way to Winnipeg there were short stops at Chicago and St. Paul, where Mr. Baker had an opportunity of looking into the American system of railway accounts. A special train took the party to Winnipeg. Those with Mr. Baker were: A. B. Stickney, general superintendent, William Harder, assistant traffic manager, Joel May, superintendent, and F. C. Butterfield, master mechanic. "This party was the original traffic organization of the Canadian Pacific Railway," Mr. Baker recorded. "Before we arrived at Winnipeg," he continued, "Mr. Stickney decided that he wanted me to act as his assistant and I was accordingly appointed to the position of assistant to the general superintendent."

Various Appointments

In Winnipeg, Mr. Baker held several positions successively in the C.P.R. He was purchasing agent, assistant to general manager local treasurer, assistant to general superintendent, executive agent and filled several other positions. He was also connected with the Manitoba and North West Railway. In 1901 he left Winnipeg for Montreal. On that occasion he was presented with a solid silver service by the business community of the western city.

During his connection with the railway, Mr. Baker came into contact with several royal personages. He was in charge of the royal train over the C.P.R. lines during the several visits of the Prince and Princess of Wales, now the reigning monarchs; Prince Arthur of Connaught, and Prince Fushimi. In return for his services to these royal visitors he was presented with several testimonials and received several titles. Among his titles were: Commander of the Royal Victorian Order, Commander of the Order of the Sacred Treasure of Japan, Esquire of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, and Freeman of the City of York.

He held audiences with Their Majesties King George and Queen Mary at Buckingham Palace in 1911.

HAROLD TEEN IS COMING!

"Harold Teen," the drug store cowboy with Oxford bags and a weakness for Shebas, whose antics on comic pages throughout the country have entertained millions, has turned to the screen and comes in that form to the Greenwood Theatre on Saturday, May 4th, commencing at 8:15 p.m.

First National Pictures made "Harold Teen" under the direction of Mervyn LeRoy, and in the opinion of critics, it is one of the most entertaining and delightful comedies of the year.

An all-featured cast is seen, including Arthur Lake, Mary Brian, Alice White, Jack Duffy, Lucien Littlefield, Fred Kelsey, Lincoln Stedman and a host of others.

"Howlers"

Some quotations from the Baltimore school examination papers:

A blizzard is the inside of a hen.

A circle is a round, straight line with a hole in the middle.

George Washington married Mary Curtis, and in due time became the father of his country.

Sixty gallons makes one hedgehog.

Georgia was founded by people who had been executed.

A mountain range is a large cook stove.

Achilles was dipped in the river Styx to make him normal.

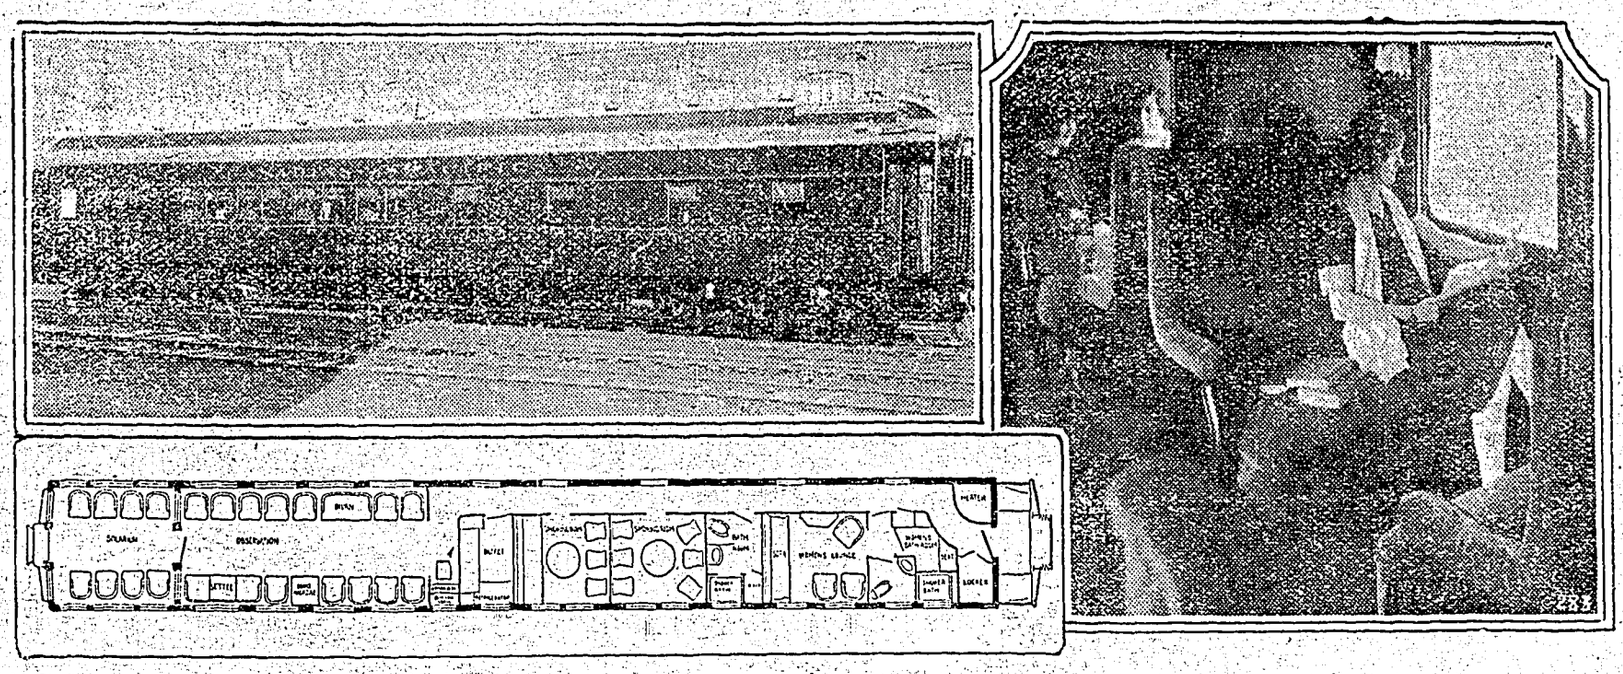
Pompeii was destroyed by an eruption of saliva from the Vatican.

Typhoid fever is prevented by fascination.—Ex.

Associate with men of good quality, if you esteem your own reputation; for it is better to be alone than in bad company.—George Washington.

Every great author is a great reformer; and the reform is either in thought or language.—W. S. L.

The Sun-Bath — Shower-Bath Limited



HIGH officials of the Canadian Pacific were much relieved when Dr. Ernest French, the Harley Street specialist, refuted the statement originating in London to the effect that mustard plasters were as beneficial as ultra-violet rays. During a long winter the Company has been engaged in building for use on the Trans-Canada special Solarium-Lounge cars equipped with "vita glass" windows which will admit the most beneficial sun-rays. It almost came to the question of whether the Company would scrap the new equipment and issue plasters to its patrons.

The new cars, designed for the rear end of the limited trains, will be the most magnificent cars ever to be used on a non-premium train on the continent. Given over entirely to the free use of the passenger, the lounge cars, besides the Solarium feature, have the added attraction of bath-rooms for men and women, completely and lavishly equipped, separate lounge and smoking rooms, a buffet and a large observation room with tapestry covered chairs, divans and settees. There are, of course, ample writing facilities and a small library.

The sleeping cars designed for this train are also "different". Finished in brown, a color note which is carried out in the upholstery, curtains and carpets, these cars contain in addition to the usual public space, two compartments, a drawing room and eight sections. Each section, as will be seen from the illustration above, is separated from its neighbour by a permanent head-board, which gives an added degree of privacy to the occupant.

With the locomotive, and complete with every modern comfort and safety appliance and device, the new Trans-Canada trains each represent an investment of well over a million dollars.
