The Golden Rule of Telephoning

When you telephone, you like to hear plainly and

So does the other person. Why impose the hardship of unnecessary strain on your listener, when it is such an easy matter to transmit your voice distinctly, by placing your lips close to the telephone?

Speak INTO the telephone, as you would have others speak into the telephone unto you.

The Late Corporal Shaw

In a letter to Major C. E.
Shaw of Morrissey, B. C., F. D.
Smith who is in a London, Eng.
hospital, has the following to say in regard to the late Corporal A.
F. Shaw:

"In reference to your letter on February 6th, I am sorry to say that I do not know exactly when and how your son met his death on Nov. 18th, as I was knocked out before he received his injuries.
From what I was told from survivors sent me by survivors of my section, he reached the German lines, and while helping and directing his men in their 'Digging in'
operations, he was killed by machine gun fire.

"For two weeks previous to this operation your son had been suffering from a slight rupture, and I had sent him to the Transport Lines to rest up, he however pleaded earnestly to come with us when he heard we were to attack, so I let him rejoin. His chum Corporal Merton was also killed on the same morning.

"I would like to say that while Corporal Shaw was under my command, he proved himself one of my best men, quiet and capable,
brave and cheerful, he was a splendid example to his comrades, and there is no doubt, that had he survived he would have jumped from N. C. O. to commissioned rank in his own Battalion."

Makes New Record

The production of the Anyox plant of the Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power company in March last established a new record for that month. It aggregated 2,600,000 pounds of copper extracted from 78,000 tons of ore. The yield was approximately 35 pounds of metal to the ton.

The record of no preceding March has come within several thousand tons of ore treated nor within several thousand pounds of metal produced. The production of March, 1916, was 2,300,277 pounds. The nearest month of higher production than March of this year was November of the last previous year, when the output was 3,017,259 pounds, while the record production of 1916 was 3,383,230 pounds in May.

The weather of recent months has been the severest of several years with which Granby has coped and March was no exception.
With the period at end it is believed Granby will quickly return to the maximum and possibly exceed it. One of the units of the Anyox plant is held in reserve, but if production so encourages it can be blown in. The New York report makes no mention of the performance at Grand Forks during March last.

Tide Is With The Allies

Frank H. Simonds of the New York Tribune, a leading American authority as to the military developments of the war, declared in January that "the war had become a stalemate and decision upon the battlefield unlikely." Now Mr. Simonds himself confesses that "he was mistaken in all his conclusions."

He spent February and March in Great Britain and France and studied the situation on the field as well as in the cabinet. His sources of information are Anglo-French, but they receive confirmation from such independent and inside observers of Germany as Carl W. Ackerman, whose articles appear in the Spokesman-Review, and from which paper this account is taken.

Mr. Simonds reports that the French and the British army alike notice declining force in the German resistance and are convinced that Germany's military machine is wearing out. The swift and striking successes of the British and the French last week and this corroborate the Simonds report which was written before their spring drive began. The men most convinced that England and its allies will triumph are the British and French generals and soldiers who are at daily grips with the German armies.

In all things considered to form an army's machinery the British, according to Mr. Simonds, have passed the French and Germans. The English have as many trench weapons as the Germans and many of their best weapons, the product of American invention, surpass those of their opponents. The British army has been proven by long testing and represents the survival of the fittest. It is a heavy hammer to the Germans, who have lost their best troops. Its temper is that of the men who at Ypres, when the odds against them were five to one, withstood losses approximating annihilation.

Mr. Simonds expects German retreat, whose retirement already surpasses any German withdrawal since trench war began, to extend to a line between Lille near the Franco-Belgian frontier and the Meuse, and tells us that we now see the prelude to the greatest campaign of the war. All evidences betray German weakness, but Germany still is able to hit hard.

Present conditions parallel those of Lee and Grant during the winter of 1864-5, when the southern army, though doomed, gave a good account of itself.

Swat The Fly

Kill at once every fly you can find and burn his body.

Observers say that there are many reasons to believe there will be more flies this season than for a number of years.

The killing of just one fly NOW means there will be billions and trillions less next summer.

Clean up your own premises; see and insist that your neighbors do likewise.

Especially clean "out-of-the-way-places," and every nook and cranny.

Flies will not go where there is nothing to eat, and their principal diet is too filthy to mention.

A Letter From The Front

Miss Ivy Inghram, of Nelson, formerly of Rock Creek, received the following letter from Jim Presley, an old-timer of Rock Creek, but now serving with the Army in France:

"I thought I would drop you a few lines to let you know that I am well, and to thank you for the budget which I received this morning. Was also pleased to read the news of the country around Rock Creek and the Boundary district. I am writing from the cellar of an old house that has been knocked down by shells, but it is nice and comfortable. We have a big fire place we built ourselves and lots of wood, good and handy, so we have nothing to grumble at. We have had some awful cold weather, but it is milder now and lots of mud. I saw Alex Johnson of Rock Creek and he is well. I also met two of my Nephews when on leave in Polkstone and had never seen them before, and we had a good time. The people were awfully good to those from the front."

Mining Notes

Over 23 tons of ore, having a value of $100 to the ton after the deduction of transportation and treating charges, has been shipped from the Lead Trust mine, Boundary district. The lot averaged 76.6 per cent lead, 1.7 ounces silver to the ton and only a trace of zinc, the remainder having been sulphur and lime.

The Rambler Cariboo mine in the Slocan is again shipping ore to the Trail smelter. The movement of ore was stopped three months ago, partly in consequence of a snow slide that blocked the railroad from the mine. The first shipment was composed of three carloads of crude ore and one of concentrates.

The Payne mine, near Sandon, credited with a yield of $1,000,000 in dividends to early operators, has been leased by W. H. Burgess or Kaslo, according to a report from Nelson. Mr. Burgess proposes to begin operations as soon as men and supplies can be taken to the mine.

After a suspension since mid-winter forced then by weather conditions, the Galena Farm mine and mill at Silverton, resumed operations about two weeks ago. Sixty five men have been employed.

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting company received 8091 tons of ore at its smelter, Trail, in the first seven days of April.

The Galena Hill mine, of Rock Cut, Wash., will install a concentrator with 100 tons capacity.

Concentrator at Trail

The burning of the large concentrator of the Consolidated company at Moyie a few months ago, although a heavy loss and pretty well covered by insurance, was a blow to the little mining town in East Kootenay, but appears to have been a good thing for Trail—as the decision has been arrived at to rebuild the concentrator in Trail, says the Trail News.

Work has been started on clearing the ground for the new structure on Smelter hill, to be located immediately north of the gigantic zinc works. The main building of the new department will be about 100x50 feet in size and will contain the mill proper, the concentrator dryers and roasters etc., the flotation process—which has been worked out successfully in mill practice in recent years—being used.

It is understood that the new concentrator will be used primarily as an experimental plant for concentrating the complex ores from the company's Sullivan mine. Like most of the beginnings of this company in Trail, however, it is likely to work out to be one of the most important parts of this growing metallurgical works.

Doubtless in due course, the mill will handle the various assortments of customs lead-silver ores that contain more or less zinc, and which are most objectionable for furnace treatment. In fact, so little attention has been paid to proper sorting that the Consolidated company has found it necessary to refuse to receive galena ores containing more than 15 per cent zinc. Some mines that have been shipping a miscellaneous assortment of lead-silver ores, have been sending along much zinc also—the metal that makes the trouble in smelting in the blast furnaces, the usual treatment for lead ores. As the company sorts its own ores, it now asks that others do the same thing, and separate the sheep from the goats, as it were, making it better for all concerned.

Cheese

Cheese is a much maligned product. It is really not to blame for itself. Responsibility for its rests solely upon the human race. Cheese starts out in life as sweet, amiable milk. It is heartlessly pushed aside by unfeeling humans and allowed to get so lonesome and distracted that it sours on the world.

Then instead of the poor ruined stuff being put out of its misery as humanely as possible, it is left to get worse and worse until it finally comes cheese.

But don't blame cheese for that. It is more to be pitied than censured.

Float

Float is not a periodical. It is a book containing 86 illustrations all told, and is filled with sketches and stories of western life. It tells how a gambler cashed in after the flush days of Sandon; how it rained in New Denver long after Noah was dead; how a parson took a drink at Bear Lake in early days; how justice was dealt in Kaslo in '98; how the saloon man out-prayed the women in Kalamazoo, and graphically depicts the roamings of a western editor among the tender-feet in the cent belt. It contains the early history of Nelson and a romance of the Silver King mine. In it are printed three western poems, and dozens of articles too numerous to mention. Send for one before it is too late. The price is 25 cents, post-paid to any part of the world. Address all letters to
