The Exploits of Elaine is creating quite a sensation in anticipation of the films which are promised to appear on Sept. 15, at the Star Theatre.

Mrs. Lawson and her daughter, Ether, returned last Saturday from a two months visit in Vancouver. Mrs. Lawson has six brothers residing at the coast.

While bathing in Christina lake last week Gladys McCreath cut one of her feet upon a bottle. The accident caused Gladys to remain indoors for several days.

S. C. Studd, of Midway, has quit preaching and enlisted for the war. He will help to fight the German devil to a red finish, and make the kaiser look at his hole card.

There are some sports around the Boundary who would like to hunt deer with a machine gun. Even then some of them, could not hit a maverick, unless it was tied to a tree.

Wm. Chaison, George Mario, James McDougall, George Miller and Dudley McMillan of the 54th Battalion at Vernon were in town last week, having received a furlough for seven days.

At the County Court on Tuesday judgement summonses were issued against Ed Hood, and M. J. Moriarty. Mike Milich and Peter Milrose Labrakey, both of Phoenix were naturalized.

George H. Gray, of Ferry and Midway took the starvation cure, and reduced his weight from 262 to 188 pounds. He can now run a footrace, but would go faster if he could get rid of another 20 pounds.

The Hazelton Herald says that the deal for Henry Bretzins property did not materialize. At the last miuute a couple of the Edmonton men failed to put up the money necessary. Coldfooted chubbers are a nuisance in the mining business.

The ranks of the Home Guards are becoming attenuated for lack of enthusiasm. Many men around town would rather look on than go through their facings. They will be sorry for this neglect, when the Germans break through the slag dump, and capture the city.

H. M. Lunney is in the hospital. Last Friday while stringing wire on the Jewel telephone line a pole broke, pitching him to the ground, breaking one leg and severely injuring the other. His assistant, John Skilling, procured help as soon as possible and Lunney was taken to the hospital.

Stamps on Cheques

Business men report that there are a considerable number of people who overlook placing a two cent stamp on all cheques issued. There is a heavy fine for this neglect on the part of any party issuing a cheque. It is also against the law for the recipient of the cheque placing the neccessary stamp or stamps thereon.

Military Item

A Musketry Inspector at one of the camps after watching a recruit miss the target with nineteen successive shots, exclaimed. "Ugh! don't waste your last bullet but go behind the barn and blow your brains out." The private disappeared behind the barn, and a shot rang out. "Heavens! the fool has done what I told him," shouted the inspector.

But a minute later the recruit re-appeared. "Sorry, sir," said the recruit, "another miss."

The Bantam

The short soldier, the bantam, is judged more enduring, more alert. He finds cover more easily; he is better sheltered in the trenches; he demands less khaki and boot leather, less food; a smaller blanket. As a medical journal pointed out some time ago the nervous connections between the sense organ and muscles of the limbs are shorter. No soldier has a higher reputation of endurance, courage and the capacity to fight than the Japanese, and his average height is between 5 feet and 5 feet 3 inches.—Ex.

An invalided officer, a man of sober mind and mature judgement, a man who has lived for months in the Valley of the Shadow of Death, and who has come home scarred to the very soul with the foulness of Hell, tells of how in France and Belgium every house visited by German soldiers was violated. Not a woman, not even the young girls, escaped the clutches of the miscreants. Girls were even carried to the trenches and kept there by these men who are built in God's image. There are things which cannot be written, but they may be visualized. They will never be forgotten. — Blairmore Enterprise.

Western Float

Some English is still spoken in Phoenix.

Pigs and spuds are being raised in Three Forks.

Kaslo and Penticton now have public markets.

The Douks will start a settlement at Creston.

Sardis if full of Indians getting ready to pick hops.

Some Vernon land this season produced 24 tons of potatoes to the acre.

Colin McDonald died in the Old Man's Home last month, aged 84 years.

Next month the big drive begins in France. No peevies will be used.

Creston valley is said to be the best section of B. C. in which to grow pears.

James Roche died from heart failure while sitting in a chair at Barkerville.

At Pincher Creek a Chink was recently fined $10 for cruelty to another animal.

The Granby smelter can smelt at 40 cents a ton after eliminating the cost of coke.

Art Noble has returned to Prince Rupert from the war. He lost his right eye at Festbubert.

A lobster 18 inches in length was recently caught on the west coast of Newfoundland.

In one day 102 crates of tomatoes were shipped from Duck Creek. There are some left.

J. C. Ryan was in Kaslo the other day wearing a $70 hat. He must have found it in Spokane.

A. W. Wright is doing some farming at Prince George. Years ago he was a police judge in Kaslo.

In four hours two men caught 5,000 pounds of salmon while trolling off Queen Charlotte island.

At the Sunrise mine near Hazelton, Rod. McCrimmon and his partner are taking out good ore.

J. C. Ryan plans to reopen the Soho mine in the Slocan, by working it through the Rambler tunnel.

Last month W. J. McMillan shipped a carload of antimony to England, from the Alps mine near Three Forks.

Near Quesnel the other day a black bear was seen swimming the Fraser river. He wanted a change of huckleberries.

Although Vanderhoof is closer, the Manson and Omineca river placer miners still buy their supplies in Hazelton.

In the European hemorrhage, there are 80,000 officers and men of the Salvation Army, fighting against each other.

The city council is making great efforts to keep the troops in Vernon all winter. They are ably assisted by the booze dealers.

The war has crimped the size of the Slocan Record, but it is still the best and brightest paper published on Slocan lake.

D. A. Thomas, the Welsh coal king is drilling for oil along the Peace river. The operations are under the management of C. F. Law.

To carry the wheat out of the Canadian Northwest this year it will reguire 2,000,000 box cars. That number of cars in one train would reach 14,000 miles.

Billy Sanders has taken up his residence in South Hazelton, and is one of the principal owners of that townsite, Billy lived in Kaslo 20 years ago, and was one of Bob Green's best friends.

If J. L. Stamford is really serious about mining around Nelson he should begin by fulfilling the promises he made years ago, and by which he obtained money from people who had faith in his word, note and honor.

About 400 men are working in the mines around Sandon. Sometimes the hotels are so crowded in this old camp that cots for sleepers have to be put up in the halls and parlors. No danger in this for no body steals sleepers in Sandon.

Earle Sexsmith was killed in an auto accident near Barkerville. He lost control while changing gear on a hill and his car plunged over the embankment. He had just enlisted and was taking a last ride before going to Vernon.

The mill at the Galena Farm will be in operation next month. The tunnel is being driven about 200 feet a month at this old Silverton property. The writer camped on this old claim in 1895. At that time Van Dorn had a pack train of chipmunks, packing ore down the hill to Grant Thorburns g'n mill where it was treated by Barleycorn's flotation process.

The Mountain Lion

It was reported recently that the B. C. Copper Co. was acquiring the Mountain Lion in Republic camp. A writer in the Kepublic Journal has the following to say about it:

It is reported that negotiations by a B. C. company for the purchase of the Mountain Lion and Tom Thumb properties have fallen through. The reason is said to be on account of the unreasonable and impossible terms demanded by the owners.

The Mountain Lion is owned or controlled by an Eastern Canada company, who make no effort to work it themslves and who render it impossible, by an unreasonable asking price and too exacting conditions, for any one else to take it over and work it at a profit.

Had the negotiators for these properties been successful in making a deal, it would have spelled activity for the camp; meaning the employment of a hundred or more miners and mechanics, the purchase of a large amount of supplies necessary for equipment and a general waking up along other lines. The continued dog-in-the-manger policy epidemic among owners of a number of good properties is a festuring sore on the camp's face. However, their right as owners, to prefer stagnation to bustle and activity is conceded under our existing laws, and if they prefer to dig down in their jeans to pay annual taxes, instead of digging into the property to make it produce, is also a right that can not be denied them.

Rocher Deboule

Eight thousand five hundred and sixty tons, or two hundred and fourteen cars, of ore have been shipped from the Rocher Deboule mine up to the present time.

The new and modern living apartments for the men is nearing completion. They expect to move about Sept. 20. The building will be steam heated.

With the completion of the new apartments the company will at once increase the number of men and the output of the mine, also their profits.—Omineca Herald.

High Copper Claims

Not only are gold mining operations being carried on extensively in the vicinity of Barkerville, but it is learned that eleven peacock copper claims have been located about 15 miles south of Crescent island, towards Barkerville, at the head waters of Snow Shoe creek. The claims which are held by L. C. Jamieson, J. Goodman, R. Hennessey, J. Andrews and other people of McBride and are at an altitude of 7,000 feet and are in a rather difficult location. The ore is however of a grade that will repay the money spent on roads.—Omineca Herald.

Phat Take

The Rossa who came to Alaska in 1898 was not the Irish Patriot and later "Sand Lot Agitator" O'Donovan Rossa, but his son. The young man was a printer and worked for the editor of the Star in Skagway in the spring of 1898. He was employed for only one week as he was too expensive to have round a printing office. As he weighed 345 pounds, he broke down every chair and stool in the office during the time he was in our employ and to have continued his services would have necessitated the employment of a cabinet maker, and our office was too small for so many industries. The only thing that would hold Rossa was a fir stump.—Whitehorse Star.

"Were half the power that fills the world with terror,
Were half the wealth bestowed on camps and courts,
Given to redeem the human mind from error,
There were no need of arsenals or forts."

THIS summer a diamond worth $65 was found in the Tulameen river. Some editor may have lost it when he was in swimming.

DURING the past month another horror has been added to the hemmorrhage in Europe. The daily papers are reprinting the war news of a year ago.

GERMANY has about 70,000,000 of people, chiefly fools. The kaiser is a large-livered fool with a mania for ruling the world, and the people are fools for backing up his mania with their blood and treasure. All the wars in Europe have been caused by kings and priests. Give anyone absolute power, and the result is tyranny or insanity.

Fresh Air Healthful

Fresh air is always better than air which is not fresh. The best winter air is out doors. The best night air is the air which is most nearly as nature made. Cold, clean air is better than warm air, which is not so pure, always provided that there shall be sufficient clothing and food to maintain the heat and strength of the body.

These facts are so well understood by physicians and students of health problems that there is hardly need of publishing such axioms of personal hygiene—or there would be none if human nature were not so prone to forget the truths which are most necessary to keep in mind. And because fresh air in winter often means more or less momentary discomfort the temptations to avoid it, or fail to seek it, is especially strong at this season.

Health and vigor are common in the most inclement seasons among men much exposed to the elements. Consider the lumbermen of northern forests, the fishermen of winter seas. It is stated by careful observers that the French troops in the Highlands of Lorraine and Alsace, living out in the snow and sharp, cold midwinter, have gained on the average, five pounds apiece since their hard life in the trenches began, and they are pictured as ruddy and sturdy in the highest degree.

Such example in outdoor living in winter can be found in great numbers. They abound in America. Their lesson is plain. With dry feet, warm clothing and good food, the human body not only defies winter cold but thrives upon it.—Cleveland Leader.

Aiding Growth of Pearls

Our recent note on the artificial infection of oysters with the parasite which causes the pearls to grow in the bivalve might be supplemented by a reference to the utilization of the X rays in the Ceylon pearling industry. When the oysters are brought up they are immediately photographed it can easily be seen which oysters contain the pearl parasite and which are parasiteless. Into the latter the parasite might (it has been suggested) be easily introduced, and the oysters returned to the sea for the development of the pearls. The only other method of discovering pearlless oysters is to open them, and that means the death of the oyster. The "skiagraphing" of oysters, by the way, is, apart from its medical applications, the only practical use to which the Roentgen rays have not yet been put.—London Chronicle.

The Song of the Blockers

"The Liberals are still keeping the Union Jack flying over the Parliament Buildings"—Ottawa Free Press

Keeping the old flag flying over the rock ribbed hill,
Floating the grand old bunting, to show we are British still;
Shouting out Rule Britannia, till the very rafters ring,
But never a dollar for England—that is the song we sing.

What care we for our Mother, we've grown since we left her side?
The poor old tired Mother, who reared us with such pride.
Never a dollar for England, so long as we have our way;
What care we for our Mother; haven't we Laurier?

Fly the flag from the turret, but never a ship to float,
Bunting and speech are always cheap, we're loyal down to our throat,
Fling forth our world wide message, come let the nations gaze—
What care we for our Mother, as long as our Mother pays?

—Ottawa Citizen.

Mexican Bull Fight

I was in El Paso, just across the border, a few weeks ago, and walked through Juarez, the Mexican town. I saw many interesting, filthy, and disgusting things. I went through the prison where all kinds of prisoners are herded together like sheep. The day before two political prisoners were stood up against the wall in sight of one hundred and fifty others, and shot to death at 5 a. m. and their bodies left all through the day bloating beneath the hot sun and covered with flies.

But the bull fight—that is my subject. The Mexicans on both sides of the border are woefully poor. Two dollars, the admission price, is a living for a month. They cannot go to the bull-fights. Who, then, supports them? The Americans from all parts of the United States. Their excuse is, "Oh, well, I must see it once, together with its sometimes repitition, keeps up the most inhuman and diabolical form of sport in the world.

The bulls are fine, brave fellows, in good flesh and of wondrous power. The horses are poor, miserable, emaciated beasts that hardly have life or energy to get out of the way. The audience wants excitement, and excitement means blood. Whose blood?

My friend who was with me in my walk said he was there one day when a horse was disembowled. The entrails dragged in the dirt, so they tied a rope around him, dragged him outside, replaced the entrails, sewed him up, and rode him back into the ring for the bull to finish. Four bulls are killed every Sunday, and on all American holidays. The meat of the bull is not wasted, but the black stuff (being killed in the heat of anguish and frenzy, it is almost black), is sold in their open markets.

I was invited to go, but said, "No! My going would not only disgrace me, but help to perpetuate the fiendish business."

How can Americans, and especially Christian Americans, forget themselves so far as to make this one of the largest means of revenue in Mexico?

Yours respectfully,
EDWARD ECCLESTON.

His Theory and Practice

During a school tea a kindly lady sat regarding one of the young guests with evident alarm. Undismayed by the lady's glances, the young hopeful demolished plate after plate of bread and butter and cake. At last the lady could stand it no longer. Going up to the urchin she said:

"My boy, have you never read any book which would tell you what to eat, what to drink, and what to avoid?"

"Why, bless you, ma'am," replied the young gentleman, with his mouth full of cake, "I eats all I can, I drinks all I can, an' I avoids bustin'."—London News.

Alone

To appreciate "Alone," the reader should remember that Mr. Burdette is popular as a humorist. The sickness of his wife called him to her bedside for many long weeks—she finally died, and "Alone" expresses his loss.

I miss you, my darling, my darling,
The embers burn low on the hearth;
And still is the stir of the household,
And hushed is the voice of its mirth;
The rain splashes fast on the terrace,
The winds past the lattices moan;
The midnight chimes out from the minster,
And I am alone.

I want you, my darling, my darling,
I am tired with care and with fret;
I would nestle in silence beside you,
And all but your presence forget.
In the hush of the happiness given,
To those who through trusting have grown
To the fullness of love in contentment,
But I am alone.

I call you, my darling, my darling,
My voice echoes back on my heart;
I stretch my arms to you in longing,
And lo! they fall empty, apart.
I whisper the sweet words you taught me,
The words that we only have known,
Till the blank of the dumb air is bitter,
For I am alone.

I need you, my darling, my darling,
With its yearning my very heart aches;
The load that divides us weighs harder,
I shrink from the jar that it makes.
Old sorrows rise up to beset me.
Old doubts make my spirit their own,
Oh, come through the darkness and save me;
For I am alone.

—Robert J. Burdette.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations.

COAL mining rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and in a portion of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district inwhich the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon: If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.
