Bob Perry is in town from Beaverdell. There are ten men working at the mines. If the camp was situated in some districts there would be several hundreds. Bob has a three years lease on the Bell, and is taking out silver ore that is worth from $290 to $400 a ton. He will ship 30 tons to Trail next month. The returns he intends to invest in war bonds.

Dick Whitford came in from Carmi this week. His son Frank of the 15th Highlanders is in an English hospital. While cooking in a trench at Verdun the explosion of a shell upset several pots of hot water upon him. He was severely scalded, and may lose the sight of his left eye. Dick's other son is playing in a band with the U. S. soldiers on the Mexican border.

The electric light office is now open every day, except Sundays, from 2 to 5 p. m.

There are 40 men at the Emma mine, and three carloads of ore are being shipped daily to Trail.

Ed Rippetto is winc clerk for Sam Larsen. He is very busy but finds time to study Economics.

Jack Frost will soon return to Greenwood. The gold mining boom in Oatman, Arizona, has petered out.

The Sunday School children of the Church of England in Phoenix, had a picnic at Midway on Saturday.

Tire vulcanizing promptly attended to. Agent for the Smith Motor Wheel. Midway Garage, Midway, B. C.

Around Rock Creek the crops are looking good. The timothy is just about all cut, and labor is fairly plentiful.

Great quantities of outside ore continue to arrive at the smelter, and before long a second furnace will again be in operation.

Edwin Potts, steward of the Greenwood Club, has enlisted with the Army Medical Corps, and will leave for Vernon in a few days.

Jedd Summers returned to Midway on Monday from Comox, having been discharged from the army upon account of physical disability.

George Evans is seriously ill with lead poisoning and a brain tumor. In charge of J. H. Willcox he was taken to Vancouver on Saturday for an operation.

During the past year the Rock Creek Trading Co. has shipped 70 carloads of hay and grain from Rock Creek. This is only a partial list of the shipments from that point.

F. J. Lake will be in Greenwood upon September 16, 17 and 18, and in Phoenix upon September 12, 13, 14 and 15. He has recently been in Spokane obtaining new ideas in photo work.

James Henry Twells and Miss Rubina Noble Bryant were married yesterday in the Presbyterian church by the Rev. J. R. Munro. They are spending their honeymoon at the coast.

In Nelson last week Dan Cameron died from injuries that he sustained by being thrown from his wagon. He was an old-timer having come over the divide to where Nelson stands in 1888.

The K. V. R. has 12 engines at Penticton and will soon have 30. In a few months there will be 300 railway men in that town, and many more houses will have to be built to house them, and their families.

F. E. Archer, of Kaslo, sent The Ledge this week a box of cherries. He says they are real cherries, and not political plums. He told the truth, and there is little doubt but what Kaslo beats the world for cherries.

At an expense of about $1,000 the fourth room in the Public School building is being fitted up for a High School. After waiting for a long time Greenwood has at last obtained a High School, and will now be a great educational centre.

D. D. Lewis, of Calgary, has kindly consented to conduct the service in the St. Columba Church (Presbyterian) Sunday, the 20th, at 7:30 p. m. Mr. Lewis has had much success in the work of God, and has been associated with such men as Dr. Torrey, Dr. Chapman, and Dr. Sunday in their special services. It is felt that it is an opportunity not to be missed.

Liberal Meetings

The electors of Greenwood riding had the pleasure last Friday, of seeing hearing and meeting, H. C. Brewster, leader of the Liberal party, and his able lieutenant, M. A. MacDonald.

At Carmi as the train crew were changing engines, a large number of electors presented beautiful floral bouquets to the Liberal leaders, and assured them that but one vote would be cast against Dr. J. D. MacLean at Carmi, and even that vote was doubtful. This enthusiastic reception on the outer fringe of the riding proved indicative of the very cordial feeling of the entire riding.

At Rock Creek, Mr. Brewster left the train and autoed to Bridesville, in company with Dr. J. D. MacLean, the Liberal candidate for the riding, where they addressed a large audience at 3:30 p. m. upon many subjects of vital interest. The close attention paid to the speakers during their convincing presentation of the reckless extravagance of the Bowser government, clearly indicated that the voters of Bridesville have decided to make a change upon September 14.

Meanwhile Mr. MacDonald, proceeded to Midway, and with J. E. Thompson, Liberal candidate for Grand Forks riding, addressed a meeting at 4 p. m. Mr. MacDonald dealt extensively with the present serious financial condition of the province, due to gross mismanagement under Conservative administration, when an $8,000,000 surplus in 1910 had become a $2,000,000 deficit at the present time. Mr. Thompson in a brief but effective address convinced the audience that the only solution of the present serious provincial condition was the defeat of the Bowser machine, and the return of a safe, and sane business administration.

In the evening at Rock Creek, despite the present busy season, a large audience assembled to hear the Liberal leaders and candidates. All the speakers won unstinted applause as they pointed out the government, refuting misstatements, etc.

Later in the evening the Greenwood Auditorium was filled to the doors with a large, enthusiastic audience to greet the Liberal leaders upon their arrival from Rock Creek. Although the speakers evinced signs of weariness caused by speaking and travelling so much in one day, a cordial understanding was soon reached between speakers and audience. Dr. Vigneaux addressed the assemblage upon behalf of the Red Cross, and Army Medical Corps. At the conclusion of his remarks, J. L. White, (banned by very representative opponents of the Bowser machine) introduced Mr. Brewster. In a clear-cut, dispassionate, but altogether convincing manner the Liberal leader mercilessly flayed the corrupt Bowser administration, vividly depicting from his personal observations on his northern trip, the present wretched condition of bona fide settlers, as contrasted with the Liberal policy of "Land for Settlers, none for Speculators,"—a policy that would fill the fertile valleys of B. C. with settlers we so badly need. Although extended the usual invitation, J. R. Jackson was not present to address the meeting in the interests of the government, having been called at the last moment to the Okanagan upon important business.

The Coalmont collieries near Princeton, B. C., are to be equipped with a tippie and 1200-foot tramway, the company having blocked out 1,000,000 tons of bituminous coal. Production is expected to be at the rate of 500 tons daily. A freight rate to Vancouver of $1.10 a ton over the Kettle River Valley branch of the Canadian Pacific railroad has been secured.

In his younger days he was a great tourist, and set type on four continents within one year. Dave went up the Nile with Bill Gallier, and has drank nothing but tea for 30 years. A long long time for a printer to be a teatotaler.

The Miner says that Roseland has the poorest schools in the province. There is a good deal of dry rot in Roseland. The houses lack paint, and some of the streets and lawns need shaving. Some of the business men have cobwebs in their upper stories, and do not advertise. The live bunch of early days have passed on to other fields or the New Jerusalem. The camp needs more of the red blood of optimism, and less of the bilious pessimism that comes from spearing nickels in the rut of ennui.

A HARD TRAIL

In these days of dollar worship, outward show and superstition, the honest man finds his trail full of thorns. If a parson is honest and speaks the truth as he sees it, in opposition to the rules of his church, he will be tried for heresy, and receive his marching orders.

If a lawyer tries to be honest and tells his clients that they cannot win, they will go to a shyster who will take any case for money, and use any means to win, even to the hiring of skilful liars for the witness box.

If an honest doctor tells a patient that there is nothing the matter, except in imagination, that patient will often like away to some dishonest medico who will humor his notions, fill him with bread and water pills, and get his money.

If a merchant keeps the sand out of his sugar, and does not measure his thumb with the cotton, some of his customers will go where they get cheated, because the prices are seemingly lower.

The show or circus nearly always uses lying advertising. Imbued evidently with the idea that lying is necessary in order to draw the crowd, and fill the house.

Some women cheat extensively with paint, powder and padding. They wish to pass for cream when they are only skimmed milk. To have a woman tell her correct age, between 20 and 60, is asking too much of a sex skilled to the utmost in the art of deception. After 60 we have known some women who added years, instead of subtracting them from their age. Why all this feminine deception? The fault of the men the ladies all sing in chorus.

The politician who assays 100 per cent. in honesty has not yet been discovered, because of the selfish and grafting nature of voters. Any politician who is the personification of honor and high ideals cannot be elected in this age of dollar chasers.

The honest editor is sometimes found, but his life is one of excitement. If he exposes the crooks and shysters in private or public life, he runs a fearful risk of being knocked down on the street and concentrated to 1. If he tells the truth about church and state all the phonographic records of autocratic despotism and theological tyranny, will boycott him, and sing in one vindictive howl, Crucify him! Crucify him! He has told the truth about our masters and must not live! So the editor who desires to live without war and bloodshed should not expose the evil and unlawful doings of political grafters, legal ehysts, municipal pimps, crooked merchants or psalm singing hypocrites. He should sup his gruel in silence, and keep his pen out of the nitric acid, and watch the shark skin the sucker, and the wolf eat the lamb without putting forth an effort to protect the innocent and save the weak from destruction. The spineless editor never gets a bloody nose, or any boquets. Woe to the people who will not uphold and defend a fearless, trenchant and truthful writer. They will clank their chains in slavery and live upon the crumbs that fall from the tables of despots, tyrants and bulldozers. We would rather be a frog and live upon the green scum of a swamp, than supinely sit and not use our pen in defence of liberty and justice. The good have nothing to conceal, and have only admiration for a trenchant editor. It is only the sneaking, cowardly, dishonorable, back-biting and blackmailing human cubs that howl and writhe in mental agony when the editorial harpoon tears away their masks, exposing their detestable acts to the gaze of an outraged and indignant world.

Camp McKinney

The Ledge obtained the following information this week re the old camp of Camp McKinney. The camp seems to be slated for a revival in the near future.

An expert will soon arrive to examine the Cariboo and Victoria.

W. C. Fox is forming a syndicate in Toronto, to take over the Sailor and resume operations.

Near Myncaster a Spokane company has a group of free gold claims, lying upon both sides of the Boundary line. A mill will be erected upon the Washington side.

Not much doing on Rock Creek this summer. Near the "House of Blazes," Ah Poie has been trying to tunnel through the gravel, but is handicapped by the lack of help and money. A steam shovel might get considerable gold from the gravel sides of Rock Creek.

About eight miles from Dayton camp, in what is known as the "Burnt Ground," Billy Younken, Joe Frank and Bob Johnson located three molybdenite claims about a year ago. Ore from these claims assays over 10 per cent. in molybdenite. On one of the claims at a depth of 18 feet, the vein is 14 inches wide. A trail is needed to the property.

PECULIAR FEATURES OF THE PROHIBITION ACT

Bill Appears To Have Been Framed As A Direct Blow At Workingmen.

To the man of means, who is accustomed to buy his liquors by the bottle or case from the wholesale store or retail shop, the Prohibition Act means absolutely nothing, as he can still order his supply from a neighboring province or the States, just as easily as in the past, the only difference being that he will have to pay a higher cost, on account of transportation charges.

To the working man, who is accustomed to buy his liquor by the bottle or glass, the Act means, however, something entirely different. The ordinary working man is not given the opportunity to lay by money sufficient to provide for his sending away for a case of liquor, hence he is under a handicap which does not interfere with the rich man. Then, again, the working man's usual beverage is beer, and on shipments of this class the freight rates are so high as to make the price almost prohibitive to him.

Again, while some working men are fortunate enough to occupy homes of their own, a great majority occupy houses jointly with others. A large proportion would come under the term of lodgers. Many others take boarders to help out the family income. All of this class would find that the Prohibition Act was a distinct barrier to their enjoying their personal right to partake of a glass of beer in their own homes. The Act provides that a man may import liquor freely for use in his own private dwelling. It so defines the word "dwelling," however, that householders who occupy premises jointly are not allowed the privilege of having liquor for their own private use. The same is true of lodgers personally, and the families of those who keep lodgers where more than three rooms in a house. As far as homes where boarders are kept, the Act is explicit in stating that the house is not a dwelling, and that liquor for beverage purposes may not be brought into it.

The above points covers phases of the Prohibition Act which are distinctly to the disadvantage of the workingman, although they mean nothing to the rich man.

A reading of the Act will show many similar features of class legislation, of an open character as to lead the organized bodies of labor, which have already considered the Prohibition Bill, to unanimously condemn the Act.—Adv.

B. C. Mines

In Highland Valley, south of Ashcroft, Keffer & Johns are working the Chatway claim. There is 20,000 tons of ore on the dump. This is probably the richest copper mine in B. C.

On the Rocher de Boule, near Hazelton, a tunnel is being driven at the rate of $15 feet a day. Ore is being shipped from the 500 foot level.

Eight men are working at the Seattle and Canadian, eight miles north of Grand Forks and 50 tons a day will be shipped to the Granby. In a short time a five drill compressor will be put in, and the force increased to 30. These claims are under bond for $125,000.
