TO THE ELECTORS OF THE SLOCAN RIDING OF WEST KOOTENAY ELECTORAL DISTRICT.

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large proportion of the community representing every section of the Riding, I beg to announce myself as a candidate for your suffrages in the coming elections.

In respectfully soliciting your votes and support I declare myself a supporter and follower of the Hon. J. H. Turner as the Leader of the only Party in this Province with a defined policy and coherent existence.

During my eight years residence in this District I have been a consistent supporter of his party in recognition of their attitude in meeting, and in cases anticipating, the requirements and expansion of this great mining region.

I am in favor of the following reforms:—

1. The abolition of the Tax upon working miners.

2. The abolition of the Mortgage Tax.

3. The distribution of seats in the Legislature in direct proportion to population.

4. I do not approve of the policy of the late Legislative Assembly in using their influence to exclude foreign railroads, such as the proposed railroad to Boundary Creek.

5. I favor certain revisions in the Mineral and Land Acts, particularly of some easy plan by which the holders of claims can advertize out their defaulting co-owners.

6. In filling all government appointments I am in favor of appointing bona fide residents of the district in all cases where such can be found competent to act.

7. I believe that the Provincial Legislature should bring all the aid and influence at its command to the assistance of the lead mining industry, especially in the direction of obtaining stronger recognition from the Federal Government at Ottawa of the importance of this industry and the disadvantages under which it now labors.

If you do me the honor to elect me as your representative I will at all times endeavor to protect and further the interests not only of the prospector but also of all those employed in and around our mines, recognizing that our entire community is dependant upon the mining industry.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
JOHN L. RETALLACK.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent and the Great Seal of British Columbia to be hereunto affixed: WITNESS, the Honourable THOS. R. THE OUTLOOK.

Is Beginning to Get Better in West Kootenay.

Times in West Kootenay, but particularly in the Slocan districts, have been somewhat depressed for the past few months, but recently the indications have been very marked that a gratifying change in the condition of affairs may be shortly looked for. At the more important mines in the vicinity of Sandon and Nelson, the forces of workmen are being increased, and many properties are being equipped with large machinery plants. The ore shipments, too, which have fallen off considerably, since March, owing chiefly to snowslides and blockades, and the impassable condition of the roads, will, we are led to believe, make a decidedly respectable showing hereafter, especially as one of the principal producing mines, the Slocan Star, is again making regular shipments. It cannot, however, be expected that the Slocan —despite the extraordinary richness of the lead ores of the district —will enjoy complete prosperity as long as the costs of freight and treatment are as excessive as they are at present. An eminently sensible move was made when delegates were sent from Kaslo and Nelson to submit this important matter to the attention of the Federal Government, and notwithstanding the lateness of the session, as a result of the strong representations made by the members of the delegation, there is a decided probability that a commission will be appointed to enquire into the question with a view to its future and early adjustment. But even if the remedy, as suggested, of the imposition of a prohibitive import duty on lead and lead products, is recommend by a commission, we are inclined to think that if an alternative whereby a reciprocal arrangement would be effected with the United States for the removal of the existing duty on exported lead-ore and bullion presented itself, such a method of bettering the lot of the lead miner in the Slocan would appeal more nearly to the principles of the administration at present in power at Ottawa—particularly, too, as by the latter plan fewer complications from conflicting industrial interests would arise. Besides the difference in freight charges on the carriage of crude ore and bullion exported—perhaps, however, not a very considerable amount—the local smelting could be further protected or encouraged along the lines projected some three years ago by the late Government, whereby a bonus on ore locally treated would be paid. That the bonus offered then of fifty cents per on was inadequate, accounts for the fact that advantage was not taken of it. But there would seem to be no reason why the lead interests in the west should not be as liberally fostered as the iron mining industry of the east. Meanwhile the agitation cannot but be productive of some beneficial results, and it is not far off the mark to say that any change in the conditions would be for the better. But if a satisfactory solution of this problem in respect to cheap smelting in the Slocan has yet to be worked out apparently, in the Rossland camp, the treatment of ores is steadily reduced to the minimum cost. Where a short time since, it was announced that the charges, per ton at the Trail smelter would not exceed $7.50, which included the price of railway haulage from the mines, this was rightly looked upon as a remarkable reduction; but before the close of the year the new railway will be completed from Lethbridge through the Crow's Nest Past, and East Kootenay coke of an excellent quality, will be supplied to the West Kootenay smelters at considerable less than half probably at one third—the price heretofore asked for the Welsh or Pennsylvania products, or even for the inferior coke maps from Wellington, Washington cretaceous coal. Consequently in the treatment of a ton of ore a saving will be effected in the cost of fuel of at least $1.50, and a corresponding reduction in the charges asked to mine-owners, may be expected. In anticipation of the inauguration of cheap smelting, the accumulations of ore from many of the larger mines, including the War Eagle and Centre Star, have been held in reserve for some time past, and these, now, together with the product from mines of lower grade ores, will be shipped to the smelter directly the improvements being carried on at the works are completed in July. The cost of mining in the Rossland camp is also very much less than it was a year ago, owing chiefly to the facilities furnished for operating machinery by water instead of steam power, and as a result, development work will be in the future more extensively prosecuted. Capital principally British, is meanwhile being invested freely in this district; in short, never in Rossland's history have the prospects appeared brighter or more promising.—B. C. Mining Record.

MR. GREEN'S PLATFORM.

M. L. GRIMMETT,

CHAIRMAN OF THE CONVENTION OF INDEPENDENT ELECTORS, AND FELLOW ELECTORS OF THE SLOCAN RIDING OF WEST KOOTENAY:

Having been nominated by a representative convention of the Independent electors of the Slocan Riding of West Kootenay, over which you presided, as a candidate for the representation of the riding in the Legislative Assembly, I beg leave to accept the high honor thus conferred upon me, and to assure you that if elected, as I feel confident that with your active assistance and support I shall be, I proposed to labor earnestly and constantly for the promotion of the material interests of the riding without distinction of locality, and of the Province of British Columbia generally.

In accepting the nomination thus offered me I desire to state briefly the position which I shall assume upon questions affecting district and provincial interests.

I believe that the so-called Turner Government has not dealt fairly with the question of representation. Representation by population is the only fair and equitable manner in which the Legislative Assembly may be constituted. The necessities of an ephemeral government should form no element in acting upon such an important question.

Expenditure upon public works should I believe, except in extreme and important cases, be kept fairly within the provincial revenues, and in most cases necessary works and improvements of local interest should be decided upon and recommend by local advisory boards, and undertaken under the supervision of the provincial engineer and not left to the tender mercies of a gold commissioner other similar officer.

I believe that there should be revision of the methods in which the provincial accounts are kept, and such system adopted as will eliminate all doubtful and worthless assets and such true and plain statement of expenditure and assets be made as will truly and fully indicate to the plain and average citizen the condition of the provincial finances.

I believe that there should be such laws enacted and promulgated as will entirely prevent the competition of cheap oriental labor with that of the white citizen.

I believe that legislation, hitherto prevented by the local government, should be adopted to remove the unjust tax imposed upon the mine laborer, and the industry of the worker in metalliferous mines be placed in the same position as that of any other classes of laborers.

I believe that encouragement should be given for the construction of railways intended to develop the resources of the province, and that the railways bonused by the province should be under provincial control as to time allowed for construction, freight and passenger rates, and such other regulations as will protect and guard the best interests of the public whose funds have contributed to the roads constructed.

I believe that the interests of the province and of each of its constituent parts will be best promoted by an entire divorce of the local government from all close corporations and companies which find profit in preying on the provincial resources without making any adequate or even small return for the benefits which they enjoy.

I believe that the mortgage tax imposed by the Turner government is unjust, inequitable and unfair; a direct imposition upon the infortunate debtor temporarily compelled to place a charge upon his property. I should, therefore, in common with some of the foremost provincial financiers labor for its prompt removal.

I believe that West Kootenay, which contributes so largely to the provincial revenue, should receive a larger sum for the development of the district than has been hitherto allowed by the government, and the provincial revenues should be expended within the province and not devoted to extra provincial schemes as has been pleged by the Turner government.

I believe that no important amendments should be made to the Mineral Act affecting the prospector or mineral claim owner until the great body of miners in every section of the province has been consulted and their views ascertained.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
R. F. GREEN.

Mr. Green's Meetings.

Campaign Notes.

The Kaslo News says all the reforms Mr. Retallack champions are needed. Then why in the name of common sense has not Premier Turner conceded them before this? The opposition has been clamoring for these same reforms for a long time.

As the seven planks of Mr. Retallack's platform are directly at war with the government's policy, it is right and proper to ask the negro's question, "Whether it is the tail that is going to wag the dog or the dog the tail?" Whether it is Mr. Retallack or Mr. Turner that is going to control the policy of the government?

Will the Kootenaian kindly tell the public how Mr. Retallack will be able to crystallise into law his stolen platform—stolen worse than the Searchlight plant. Mr. Turner has time and again told the Opposition he will not abolish the miner's tax because they liked to pay it. He has also on two or three occasions, when asked to do it by the Opposition refused to remove the tax on mortgages. Will he do both now if asked by Mr. Retallack, and swallow himself?

Mr. Retallack's Address.

At length Mr. Retallack says a nomination has been forced on him, that he has for several weeks been itching to get, and now he is out with an address. He says:

"I declare myself a supporter and follower of the Hon. J. H. Turner, as the leader of the only party in this province with a defined policy and coherent existence."

Brave words, "them."

After his exordium as above, he gives seven reasons for the faith that is in him, and we will deal with them one by one.

He will abolish the tax on miners, imposed by the Turner government and retained by brute force against the protests of the opposition and all people of Mr. Green's way of thinking.

He will abolish the mortgage Tax. This is a dual taxation in this country and means that all mortgages are taxed by the holders, and mortgaged properties are taxed for their full value, thus forcing mortgagee and mortgagor to pay taxes on the same property. This iniquitous law was imposed by the Turner government also, and a year or so ago in the season of 1897, on a vote to repeal it by the opposition, the Turner government was defeated, but refused to resign as honor would have suggested.

He favors a redistribution of seats on the basis of population, the one thing of all others the opposition has contended for; and refused by the Turner combine, on every occasion they were asked to concede it.

He says I do not approve of the policy of the late legislative assembly to exclude foreign railways, such as the proposed road to the Boundary Creek, and here again he is foul of his premier who has the "coherent existence."

He favors revisions in the Mineral and Lands Act, passed and adhered to also by the Turner administration.

In his sixth plank he takes a sixth stab at his "coherent" premier for giving billets to carpet baggers of the coxy army persuasion.

His last clause is a very wide one, favoring better facilities for developing the mining interests of the country, to which all say amen; but as he offers, no ideas he lands in his flight just where he started.

Now is not this rich indeed for even John L. Retallack—a resolution to run with the hare and chase with the hounds, to steal bodily seven planks from the opposition platform, and declare himself a follower—a consistent follower—of the premier with a coherent existence.

No; John L., "you cawn't due it you kneow." The people of this constituency have brought out Mr. Green as a candidate largely on these lines already, and one man on the same track is enough. For your own good, we would advise you to withdraw this Plotonic manifesto as speedily as possible, and go back to your "coherent" leader for coaching before you appear in print. To steal one plank and a a slice of the second from the platform of the opposition might be tolerated; but they will never submit to its bodily theft by a man who admires the "coherency" of the present premier of British Columbia.

The public will one and all conclude that if Premier Turner has a coherent political existence, it is not so with Mr. Retallack.

MINING BRIEFS.

With Scissors and Pen.

The Montezuma has seven men at work.

A great force of men is now at work on the St. Keverne.

Signs of gold in the Dayton group have been discovered.

Vancouver No. 2, south fork of Lemon creek, owned by T. D. Woodcock and J. P. Atchison has a good showing.

There are six men at work on the Canadian group, and Mr. Brandon says the mine will do some shipping before long.

An important discovery has been made at the Rambler-Cariboo. At right angles with the main lead above the present workings, a stringer has discovered that is likely to develop into a large mineral bearing seam itself. So far as discovered the seam is quite large and carries high grade ore.

The Payne mine had some difficulty the past few days; but started up again on Thursday in as good a form as ever. The public do not know the cause, but suspect the company was not satisfied with the way things were done by the foreman. A new man is now at helm.

Allan H. McDonald, the ore purchaser for the Hall Mines smelter was in town a few days this week using his persuasive powers upon intended shippers to market their ore through the Nelson works, and incidentally visiting several of the most promising properties with a view toward securing a mine for the people he represents. Mr. McDonald believes the outlook is very bright for this portion of Kootenay. He says that matters are now on the verge of a turn much for the better throughout the Kootenay mining camps, as a result of the bursted Klondyke boom. Disappointed Klondykers, he thinks, are sure to swarm into this country soon, looking for legitimate investments which they have been unable to find in the frozen north, and English capitalists are steadily arriving at the conclusion that Kootenay is the safest and surest field for mining speculation. Ore can be treated at the Nelson smelter at a reduction of $4 per ton under former rates.—Slocon News.

CUBANS ARE ACTIVE.

They Have Formed a Cordon Around Santiago de Cuba.

On board the Associated Press Dispatch Boat Dauntless, off Santiago de Cuba, June 19, 6 p. m. via Kingston, June 20, 4:15 p. m.—The United States troops under General Shafter have not yet arrived. The delay is inexplicable. According to the latest information in the possession of Admiral Sampson the transports should have reached here this morning. The cubans are extremely active and a cordon has been drawn around Santiago de Cuba. General Garcia with 4,000 troops, coming by forced marches from Banos, is now heading for Santiago. His troops are within 40 miles of the city. He left 3,000 men at Halguin to prevent the Spaniards there from effecting a junction with General Joral at Santiago. The Spanish troops at Guantanamo under General Masso are also cut off from General Joral and are badly pinched for food. They wildly appealed for provisions and reinforcements, but the only reply they got was that both were impossible. General Masso said that his men were even then on half rations and the supply will only suffice to last during the present month. General Garcia and his personal staff were picked up at General Rabi's camp, 18 miles west of Santiago, and brought to the flagship this afternoon by the Vixen. The grizzled and wounded patriot had a long conversation with Admiral Sampson regarding the operations of American and Cuban troops. General Garcia is very enthusiastic. He says that the Spaniards are starving and cannot hold out long and that the war should end in a few months. Two regiments of troops will be landed at Guantanamo bay, which will be held as a base until Santiago falls.

The auxiliary cruiser St. Louis cut the Kingston cable last night within a mile of El Morro.

THE WRONG TACK.

The public are literally tired listening to the assertions of the Turner press of the province, that the government is one of progress; that if the country is in debt, the debt has been contracted for necessary public works that have developed the country and made its revenue resources what they are; and that the opposition in referring to the country's large debt is opposed to expenditures on public works, and, therefore, unfriendly to the laboring man and the miner, and it follows non-progressive. Shut them off on this runway, and they have little else to fall back on.

Well, let us sift this kettle of fish and see what there is in it. Manitoba, with two and a half times our population, has parliament buildings that will do the province until the population reaches a million at $285,000, and we have buildings that cost over a million and a quarter, considering the price at which the debentures for their construction, were sold. Therefore we have an unneeessary debt of one million dollars on this score.

No one doubts that there are 5,000 people living in the Slocan constituency, and if the rest of the country was represented on the same basis of population, we would have but 20 instead of 38 representatives; and, considering mileage and et ceteras, this would save the province at least $12,000 a year, or $120,000 for the last ten years. In the asylum at New Westminster we have no less than 18 attendants doing the work done by 8 in Manitoba, entailing a loss of at least $8,000 a year on this score, or $80,000 more in ten years. If we carry our comparisons into the prisons and other public institutions, and even the departments themselves, we will find the same unnecessary waste in civil service.

In their railway policy, we find even more appalling extravagance. For instance, 1,900,000 acres of land was given to the Esquimault and Nanaimo Ry., after it was bonused to the extent of $10,000 per mile by the Federal government, the road costing but $15,000 per mile altogether. Nearly a quarter of a million acres of land were given to the Nelson and Fort Sheppard road more than the contract called for. Now, what the opposition contend, and what Mr. Green especially contends, is that between lands and cash a sum nearly equal to our entire mortgage indebtedness has been wasted during the last ten years by the government. Instead of curtailing Public Works, Mr. Green says it would have been in the interest of the country to have spent the monies wasted as we have specified in the construction of the Works that have been done, so far as necessary, and averted the mortgaging done by the government. If this mortgaging was saved the $280,000 a year now required for interest and sinking fund could be saved the people in taxation. This means that the taxes now collected by Mr. Kean, of Kaslo, would be altogether unnecessary.

What we want, and what Mr. Green desires, is an honest expression from the electors of this constituency on these matters. If they think it would have been better to have run the affairs of the country on an economical basis, constructing all the necessary public works that have been constructed out of savings and avoiding extravagance and mortgaging, they should say so by voting for Mr. Green. The country is yet young, and in public expenditures it is but in its infancy. Under the circumstances it requires economy in the future as well as it needed it in the past. Mr. Retallack is with the government in its extravagance, though he has stolen the opposition platform in other respects. Mr. Green has been, while a resident of the country and when opportunities presented, an advocate of what Mr. Retallack clamors for by theft. Which, fellow electors, can you place the most confidence in, a man who will co-operate with the opposition to secure the reforms Mr. Retallack says are necessary, or the man who in his death-bed repentance says he will advocate what his acknowledged leader and patron saint has from the first steadfastly refused the people? We know it will not take you many moments to decide this matter.

Some of the subsidised prints are shouting themselves hoarse against "Independents", and yet they support an "Independent" government candidate in Rossland and also McQueen, of Vancouver, in another part of the province, in the same interest. To further explain the utility of Mr. Green's position, we may say that in this province Federal politics having never yet been made an issue—that all party divisions are purely on the policy of the government. All who find fault with it form a party on their convictions as to what would be an improvement in administration from time to time. The opposition platform must then be to, a large extent, determined by the policy of the government. If it was approved of by all there would be no opposition, and, under all circumstances, its strength must be determined by the popularity of the government. For instance, A. B. raises certain objections to the government's management of a certain interest, and he shows wherein certain deviations would better meet the requirements. All the members that are of his way of thinking, or are influenced by his representations, oppose the government and constitute an opposition. The government supporters support the government's action whether they consider it right or wrong. Now, Mr. Green's position is that of independence—ready to oppose the government in all matters in which he considers opposition in the welfare of the country, reserving to himself the right to support any government measure that he sees no way of improving. It appears to us, as we have already said, that in this country, where there are no political parties, and every public question is disposed of by individual judgement, his position is the most tenable obtainable. If he was of the government he would have to support it right or wrong. In his independent position he is at liberty to consider every measure on its merits. The only question to consider is that of his individual judgement. If it is considered good, as it generally is, there can be no valid argument used against his usefulness as a representative.

Though The REVIEW has taken up the cause of Mr. Green in this election, when there are no political principles involved—nothing but the proper handling of the public finances and good government for the people, we care but little who becomes Premier after next elections. If Mr. Turner repented in the interval, and handled the public business as he ought to, we would just as soon see him in the premier's chair as any one else. We have an annual revenue of over a million and a quarter dollars, and that money ought to be made to give us all the public improvements and run the machine without going a dollar in debt. The country now owes well on to six millions of dollars, and at least four millions of that have been incurred by gross extravagance. What we mean more particularly is, that under proper management the country could have every public improvement it has with our past revenues and no more than two millions of debt. What we want to see is such a reduction of machinery expenses as will enable the country to enjoy in the future the past expenditures on public improvements without any increase or debt, and so long as we get that which is possible, we do not care whether it is under Mr. Turner or Mr. Somebody else.

OLD LOVERS.

Heart of my heart, when the day was young
Hope sang to life with a silver tongue,
Hope beckoned love down a flowery way,
Where 'twas always morning and always May,
And two true lovers need never part—
Do you remember, heart of my heart?

Heart of my heart, when the noon was high
Work showed the way we must travel by,
Duty spoke cold and stern in our ears,
Bidding us bear all the toil and tears,
Partings and losses, sorrow and smart—
Have you forgotten, heart of my heart?

Heart of my heart, in the setting sun
We sit at peace, with our day's work done.
In the cool of the evening we two look back
On the winding pathway, the noon's rough track,
And the morn's green pleasance, where roses twine,
Heart of my heart, with your hand in mine.

Heart of my heart, when the night is here
Love will sing songs of life in our ear.
We shall sleep awhile 'neath the daisied grass,
Till we put on the glory and rise and pass
To walk where eternal splendors shine,
Heart of my heart, with your hand in mine.
—E. Nesbit in Argosy.

A BIT OF SILVER.

"I want to ask you a question, Gomez."

"Well, my dear boy, what is it?"

"Where did you get your money?"

The question was an abrupt one—it was almost impertinent. But Gomez de Bonilla was an intimate friend of mine, a good fellow, and—we had dined. To say truth, we had not only dined, but wined, and it was over some excellent postprandials in the shape of further wine and fragrant cigars that I had asked the question. But I had long wished to do so, and I will tell you why.

Some two years before Gomez was poor as a church mouse. He was always a good fellow, but then, you know, there is a difference between good fellows rich and good fellows poor. And, to my shame be it spoken, I think I liked him better rich than poor. Well, as I said, he was almost destitute. He had a profession, it is true—he was a journalist, but in Spain the gains of the fraternity of the pen are not large. What little he did earn went to the bad, for he was an inveterate gambler.

But from a poverty stricken journalist he suddenly blossomed out into a man of wealth. He had the finest horses, he belonged to the most fashionable club, he had the most luxuriously fitted town house, he had purchased the country seat of a decayed grandee, he had the best cook in Madrid, and he moved in the best society, for, alas, even in Spain the golden key is beginning to open all portals. But do not think from what I say that Gomez was not a gentleman, for he came of an excellent family.

Well, as I said, we had just finished an excellent dinner and over the walnuts and the wine I put my question:

"Gomez, where did you get your money?"

He looked at me thoughtfully, and knocked the ash from his cigar. "Where did I get my money?" he repeated slowly. "And what says Dame Rumor concerning it, Pedro?"

"There are all sorts of stories," I replied; "some probable, some wildly impossible, some good humored, more ill natured. You will pardon my frankness if I tell you that I have heard some people call your wealth 'ill gotten gains,' whisper of retired highwayman, and the like. There are others who hint darkly at counterfeiting. Among the lower classes there is a widespread belief that you have sold yourself to the devil. And I have even met intelligent people who hinted at supernatural means."

"Perhaps they were right," was his laconic reply.

I stared at him.

"Listen, and you may perhaps tell me whether the means were supernatural or no. I have never been able to decide. The reason that the source of my fortune has never been discovered was because the only man who knew of it left the city the day after"—

He paused.

"The day after what?" I queried.

"Well, I will begin at the beginning. The story is a curious one and should be told in sequence."

He lit a fresh cigar and then began:

"You know me two years ago when I was poor. You also knew, as did all my friends, that I had a passion for gaming. You would all of you chorus, when speaking of me: 'Poor Bonilla! He has the worst of vices—he is a desperate gambler.' You were all wrong. I did not play simply for love of it. I played because I was poor. I was not a gambler. I was a speculator. I had fixed upon a certain sum which I considered a competence. I saw no way of acquiring it by my profession, so I devoted myself to the green cloth—how assiduously you know."

He smiled at the expression of assent which involuntarily flitted over my countenance, watched the smoke wreaths curling over his head for a moment and continued:

"One evening I was feeling unusually blue. I never drank, as you know—that is, never to excess—and certainly never to do what is called 'drowning sorrow.' My resource was the gaming table. Unfortunately I had in my possession a considerable sum of money, which had been intrusted to me by a friend for the purpose of paying some debts. He had been suddenly called away from the city. I entered the gambling hell and seated myself at the roulette table. Fortune was against me. The few duros that belonged to me were soon gone. Something seemed to possess me that night. I was not myself. I did what I never should have dreamed myself capable of doing—I staked my friend's money. I staked it, and I lost it all."

I was about to speak.

"Do not condemn me," he interrupted. "You could say nothing soverer than were my self reproaches. Long I sat there, glaring at the other players. As I watched the ivory ball spin round my brain seemed to spin round too. My senses seemed to be leaving me. I felt as if life were no longer dear to me. Penniless and dishonored, what was there left to live for?

"As these thoughts passed through my working brain the night wore on. The players dropped off one by one. The tables were gradually deserted. Soon there was but one left lighted—the roulette table before which I sat, and at which one persevering gamester was trying his luck. Finally he, too, wearied, and I was left alone with the banker, who was the proprietor of the gambling hell."

"Oh, I remember," I interrupted; "Jose Herrara, who disappeared so suddenly a couple of years ago!"

"The same," replied Bonilla, fixing his eyes keenly upon me.

I do not know why, but I began to feel uncomfortable. However, he continued:

"The banker looked at me inquiringly. I half rose to retire. I had fully determined to blow out my brains in the street, and that I did not do so is owing to one of the strangest of circumstances—so strange that you will not blame me for wondering whether it was supernatural. I half rose, I say, and as I did so I saw upon the floor a round, bright object which had a silver shimmer as the gaslight fell upon it. It was a coin; a"—

"A peseta," I interrupted breathlessly.

"Yes," he went on, "a little bit of silver coin—only a peseta. But it saved my life. I placed my foot upon it, and, motioning to the banker, said:

" 'A peseta on the 17!'

"The banker knew me well—he had cause to—and without making any inquiries he repeated my wager after me and set the ball a-whirling. It stopped in the 17.

" 'Seventeen wins,' said he, and on the 17 clanged seven silver duros.

" 'Do you leave it there?' said he.

"I nodded.

"Again the ivory ball spun round and again it stopped at 17.

" 'Seventeen wins,' said the banker.

"Again I left the glittering pile upon the 17 and again it won. Seven several times did the goddess Fortune smile upon me. And when I stopped it was not because I feared to venture further, but because I had broken the bank. The poverty stricken wretch who a few moments before had contemplated suicide was now wealthy."

"And the peseta," said I. "You have that still, of course?"

"No," he replied, with a strange smile.

"Why," exclaimed I, with surprise, "had I been you I would have kept it all my life."

"No," he replied, with the same peculiar smile, "you would not have kept it."

"And why not?"

"When I stooped to pick up the coin, I found—nothing."

"Nothing!" I echoed. "Why—what—where"—

"That which I had taken for a peseta was not a coin. The round, silvery object on which the light had fallen and deceived me was"—

Lincoln, Grant and Stephens.

General Horace Porter, in his "Campaigning With Grant," tells a story of the meeting at City Point between Alexander H. Stephens, vice president of the Confederate states, and other southern commissioners and President Lincoln and Secretary Seward to discuss preliminaries of peace. Many officers, including General Grant and General Porter, were in attendance on this meeting.

Vice President Stephens was a sallow, undersized man, whose skin seemed shriveled on his bones. One of the officers said of him, at the end of an interview, "The Lord seems to have robbed that man's body of all its flesh and blood to make brains of them."

On his arrival, Mr. Stephens, says General Porter, was wrapped from his eyes to his heels in a coarse gray overcoat about three sizes too large for him, with a collar so high that it threatened to lift his hat off every time he leaned his head back.

The coat, together with his complexion, which was as yellow as a ripe ear of corn, gave rise to a characterization by Mr. Lincoln which was very amusing. The next time Mr. Lincoln saw General Grant at City Point, after the conference, he said to him:

"Grant, did you notice Stephen's coat?"

"Oh, yes," answered the general.

"Well," continued Mr. Lincoln, "soon after we assembled on the steamer at Hampton Roads the cabin began to get pretty warm, and Stephens stood up and pulled off his big coat. He pulled it off just about as you would husk an ear of corn. I couldn't help thinking, as I looked first at the coat and then at the man:

"'Well, if that isn't the biggest shuck and the littlest nubbin I ever did see!'"

The Bomb In Jeff Davis' Desk.

When the United States troops occupied Richmond, April 3, 1865, General Edward H. Ripley of Vermont, who was appointed military governor of the city, found in the desk of Jefferson Davis, in the house occupied by the Confederate president, a cast iron bomb in the shape of a lump of coal. It was evidently cast from a good sized piece of coal, was coated with coal tar and coal dust and could hardly be distinguished, when handled, from a lump of coal. It was hollow and would hold powder enough to make a heavy explosion. Army authorities have never doubted that the otherwise unexplained blowing up of a steam vessel loaded with ammunition at City Point was the work of a bomb of this kind, which had been dropped into a pile of coal and shoveled into the furnace of the steamer, and similar bombs probably occasioned similar catastrophes during the war.—Burlington Free Press.

Every woman should realize that her health is like a bank account. At the outset she has so much deposited to her credit in the bank of health. If she draws out more than she puts in she will soon overdraw her account. An over-drawn account in the bank of health means one of two things, a life of hopeless suffering or an early death.

The woman who neglects her health in a womanly way is making big drafts on her account with the bank of health and will soon be a physical bankrupt. Disorders of this description wreck a woman's general health quicker than anything else in the world. They soon transform a healthy, happy, amiable woman into a weak, sickly, fretful and despondent invalid. They utterly unfit a woman for wifehood or motherhood. For all disorders of this nature Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in maternity, giving them health, strength, vigor and elasticity. It relieves pain, allays inflammation, checks debilitating drains, and quickly subdues all other symptoms. It at once stops the dragging pains and sinking spells, the nervousness, the digestive disturbances and other complications that arise from the same cause. Taken during the months of expectant maternity, it banishes the usual discomforts and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It insures the new-comer's health and a plentiful supply of nourishment. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. An honest dealer will not suggest an inferior substitute for the sake of extra profit.

CURIOUS STATISTICS.

What a Healthy Man Consumes In Seventy Years of Life.

Taken all in all, a healthy man with a good appetite and moderate thirst consumes in 70 years 96½ tons of solid and liquid foods. If the consumer weighs, say, 150 pounds, he will eat and drink during his lifetime 1,280 times his own weight. Transforming all this foodstuff into mechanical labor, the strength derived would be sufficient to lift 87,600,000 tons one foot from the ground or to raise the Forth bridge at Edinburgh, which weighs 264,600,000 pounds, to a height of 1,235 feet.

Excluding the first 20 years of a lifetime, the quantity of cigarettes consumed by a regular smoker who smokes a dozen every day would in 50 years reach the number of 219,000, or a monster rolled cigarette more than 16 feet in length and about 5 feet thick, beside which the tallest man would resemble a veritable dwarf. A cigar smoker consuming six of his favorite brand a day would during his lifetime smoke a gigantic cigar of more than 16 feet long and almost 2½ feet thick. It would weigh 4,410 pounds and would take the traction power of a steam engine to pull it.

As the smoking habit is not necessary to existence it is easily seen how much money a smoker wastes in the course of years. A pipe smoker consumes in his lifetime a half ton of tobacco.—New York Herald.

The Cave Dweller as an Artist.

We must remember that there are no such things as lines in nature. Whether we use them to represent a human profile, the depth of a shadow, the darkness of a cloak or a thundercloud, they are mere conventional symbols. They were invented a long time ago by a distinguished sportsman who was also a heaven born amateur artist—the John Leech of his day—who engraved for us (from life) the picture of a mammoth on one of its own tusks. And we have accepted them ever since as the cheapest and simplest way of interproting in black and white for the wood engraver. —George du Maurier in Harper's Magazine.

A Sudden Disappearance.

Word was brought to the police here on the 4th inst. of the sudden disappearance of David Reid, a member of a party bound north on a quest for coal oil, not gold, says the Edmonton Bulletin. The story told to the police by the leader of the party, T.B. Stransburg, is that Reid came to New Westminster some time ago, bringing with him some samples of crude petroleum which, he stated, had been discovered by him while on a journey into the north, from which journey he has just returned. The petroleum was tested and found to be of good quality, and a party was formed in New Westminster to revisit the spot. Reid, of course, being appointed to lead them on their quest. They were to reach the interior via Edmonton, and duly arrived here last week, leaving again on Thursday last on their overland trip. They had reached a point five miles beyond St. Albert when Reid claimed to be ill and wanted to return to enter the hospital. The party, however, did not think it altogether necessary and one returned to town for medicine, but during his absence Reid gathered together his belongings and lit out.

The next day some of the party while hunting horses saw in a distance a man who resembled Reid, and as he had a dog, and as Reid was known to have taken his dog along with him, they were almost confident it was the missing guide. For some reason he was not followed up, but the matter was reported to the police, as above stated, the party think possibly he had become demented and wandered away. The fact that he took all of his own goods and nothing that was not his own, does not strengthen this belief. A curious thing about his conduct and subsequent desertion was that beyond his fare to Edmonton he gained nothing for his trouble. Had he received a sum of money for his services a more simple solution would be apparent.

Cost of Copper Mining.

Speaking of the cost of producing copper and its bearing upon the future of the copper market, a mine official says:

"In my opinion it will be impossible to much further reduce the cost of mining copper. The system now has reached an almost perfect state, and experiments which have been made recently with a view to still further reducing the cost of mining, by using higher explosives, find that the results are far from satisfactory. We have tried higher explosives, but find that the results are not satisfactory as compared with lower grade explosives, inasmuch as a smaller quantity of rock is displaced by the higher grades than by the lower grades. The force of the high-grade explosives, undoubtedly, is much greater, but it is expended so quickly that it does not perform as much work as do the low grade explosives. If the cost of electrical power could be cheapened, it would make considerable difference to mines like the Tamarack, for instance, where a vertical shaft is sunk, say 5,000 feet, then changed to follow the incline of the lode. The danger from fire and the physical and mechanical difficulties are too great to install a steam plant a mile under ground, and compressed air cannot be used for hoisting from great depths. Possibly the future may develop a cheaper electrical power, but until it does the cost of mining copper or of handling a ton of rock will not be materially reduced from present figures.—Mining and Scientific Times.

The Ivanhoe to Ship.

The Ivanhoe-Elgin mines owned by the Minnesota Silver company have changed their offices from Three Forks to Sandon. This is a very fine property. They now have thousands of tons of ore in sight, and will shortly commence shipping ore on a very extensive scale. They have reached 300 feet of vertical depth, three very important levels and a seam from 3 to 30 feet in width. Once started many think the mine will one of the heavest shippers in the province.

The Silver Bell.

Three men have been put to work to do some surface prospecting on this property. The main ledge is said to be 28 feet wide, and in excavating for the shaft house several stringers of carbonate and galena ores with high values were exposed. One of the stringers was six to eight feet wide and some tons of high grade ore were taken from it and sacked for shipment. The shaft was sunk 90 feet on the hanging wall, but as the crossent was made it is not known what ore bodies may be encountered at depth. This ledge will be crossent from wall to wall about 180 feet west of the shaft house, and if a favorable showing is made it is intended to have a thorough examination and an engineer's report on the property with a view of resuming work.

Rosebery Townsite.

The many advantages enjoyed by Rosebery put before the public, CLAIMED WITHOUT OPPOSITION.

Its Advantages as a Distributing Center.

Rosebery is the only town in Kootenay having both railroad and steamboat connection that can ship goods daily to ten different towns, whereby the shipper can see his wares leave his hands and that they will be received by the consignee within two hours.

Its Advantages as a Railroad Center.

Rosebery enjoys the position of king of the funnell as it were, for the railroad business of the whole of the Kootenays. All ore and matter for shipment from Nelson, Trail Creek and the Slocan must, and is now passing out this way to the main line of the C. P. R., as well as all goods coming in from Revelstoke to the Kootenay country.

NOTE. To substantiate this: The C. P. R. are now putting in track weigh scales at Rosebery, the first and only scales that has been put in on any of the C. P. R. branches in Kootenay—which goes to show the importance of this point by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's actions.

Its Advantages as a Steamboat Point.

Rosebery claims, without opposition, of being the only junction on the lake, unlike Slocan City, where you can step off the steamer to a waiting train and continue your journey. You can take either a north or south train at this terminus; consequently Rosebery is the best transient town in the race. Nevertheless we claim Slocan City second in importance, and would say watch the head and foot of Slocan Lake, viz.—

ROSEBERY AND SLOCAN CITY.

Its Advantages as a Manufacturing Center.

As a manufacturing center Rosebery claims to have demonstrated the fact that after the careful observation of the Denver (Colorado) Ore Coy's manager, as the natural advantages of all points in Kootenay for the treatment of ores the cheapest, Rosebery was selected, and they now are erecting works, with a capacity of 250 tons per day, which will be in operation within 90 days; and it is their intention to pay out monthly in the vicinity of $100,000. I might also add Rosebery has the largest water power from Wilson river flowing into Slocan Lake.

AS TO CLIMATE.

Rosebery claims the mildest climate on Slocan Lake, from its admirable southern exposure and absolute shelter from the north; snow always leaves the place about the 15th of March.

AS A TOWNSITE.

As a townsite, Rosebery is without a peer. It is possessed of all the flat land available at the mouth of the Wilson river leading to the valley—mining region—consequently there is no danger of any contagion. The title is a Crown Grant and is perfect. All purchasers of lots are safe in this respect. The only safe speculative townsite in the Slocan is Rosebery.

Why should I say the only safe speculative townsite in the Slocan? Because Rosebery business lots to-day are only $150 to $200 each and are bound to increase rapidly this summer. These figures can, and will, double before long. The time to buy is now. Don't wait till they are from $700 to $1,000, as you did in Slocan City last May, go in on the ground floor and make a few dollars in speculation; if you want to invest go to Vancouver or Winnipeg; if you want to speculate and and clean up money go quick to Rosebery before lots are out of sight.

What's Wanted in Rosebery.

We want a restaurant.
We want a good hotel right away.
We want a first-class general store.
We want a butcher shop.

Anyone looking for an opening spy out this place at once.

Maps and price-lists on application; prices run from $75 to $200.

TERMS: One-third cash, balance 3 and 6 months. For actual builders special terms can be arranged for a few lots by applying to

A. M. BEATTIE, General Agent, Rosebery.

MOUNTAIN ECHOES.

No council last Monday evening.

Nelson defeated Rossland cricketers this week by 44 runs.

Mr. Green's committee rooms are open now day and evening.

It is said R. E Brown has bought a large slice of Whitewater townsite.

The C. P. R. shipped for the Payne 180 tons this week, and 20 for the Sovereign.

The Orangemen of Slocan City are going to celebrate the 12th of July right loyally.

The railway from Teslin lake to Glenora is to be built by Mann & Mackenzie after all.

The Misses Crawford entertained a few of their friends, Tuesday evening, at their home on Sunnyside.

There was a fence smashing case from Three Forks before the Beak this week, and a fine of $10 followed.

Kaslo has had a hail storm. We thought from the tone of its press, indignation of some kind was coming.

The Rev. Procunier, who has left the Methodist church and joined the Episcopalians, is going to locate at Fort Steele.

Vancouver don't want a smelter, and we don't know what it wants it for. A by-law to locate one there has been defeated by a vote of the people.

Stop that Cough! Take warning. It may lead to consumption. A 25c. bottle of Shiloh's Cure may save your life. Sold at McQueen's Drug Store.

Mr. A. W. Wright is giving most of his time and attention to the Ajax mine. Mr. Wright's company have purchased a three-quarters interest in it.

Karl's Clover Root Tea, for constipation it's the best, and if after using it you don't say so, return the package and get your money. Sold at McQueen's Drug Store.

Any one of our readers sending in $1.00 can have The REVIEW post paid till the 1st of Jan. next. We are receiving new subscribers every day. Reader, will you be one.

Catarrh cured. A clear head and sweet breath secured with Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. We sell six bottles for $5 and guarantee an absolute cure. Sold at McQueen's Drug Store.

Commencing Saturday, June 25th, the C. P. R. will issue round trip tickets Sandon to Rosebery and return for 75 cents. Good going Saturday and Sunday, returning until Monday.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure cures where others fail. It is the leading Cough Cure, and no home should be without it. Pleasant to take and goes right to the spot. Sold at McQueen's Drug Store.

It is not likely that more than 1,000 votes will be polled in the Slocan though there are 1,571 names on the list. There are many dead, several duplicated, and a great many far away from the constituency.

A voter from Slocan City writes that the expenditures of the government over there will not make one vote for them. They are intended to bribe the people, and the voters one and all know it. True every word of it.

It now transpires that R. E.L. Brown of the Whitewater Deep mine has bought a big slice of the Whitewater townsite and the Whitewater hotel from Mr. McKim besides. He will make a vigorous effort to build up the place.

S. P. Tuck, of Kaslo, must be a Sampson. He is accused of carrying off the "gates of Gaza," that is of laying violent hands on the plant of the Kuskanook Searchlight, and carrying it to Kaslo to establish a paper in the interest of Mr. R. F. Green.

Mr. Bowser is a candidate for parliament in Vancouver, in the government interest, and the Province says: "Bow-wow-ser, Tow-wow-ser." If the Province can influence the electors of Vancouver by arguments (?) like these they must be easily influenced.

The C. P. R. are issuing tickets at a single fare for the round trip to the celebration at Slocan City on the 4th of July, good to return next day. The service from Sandon will be the regular train leaving at 7.40, with special service returning from Slocan, leaving there at 7 p. m. the 4th. Those who prefer returning next day on the regular can do so. 3 t

J. Carley, at one time of Cody, but now of Whitewater, was brought in from the latter place on a stretcher on Saturday en route for the New Denver hospital. It appears the evening before while under the influence of too much "high life" he walked out of a second story window of a hotel, and in a collision with the ground received some bad injuries. Dr. Powers went down on a telegram, and did all he could for the man, before going to the hospital.

The city school closed yesterday by an examination. The manner in which the exorcises were gone through with showed conclusively Miss Skinner's success as an efficient, painstaking teacher, worthy of all support by parents and pupils. At the close remarks were made by Mr. Cliffe and the Rev. Mr. Cleland. The large attendance of ladies present shows that the parents take much interest in school work. Miss Skinner leaves in a few days on a trip to enjoy her well-earned holidays.

Brooks, the poet-humorist, has come and gone. He is, no doubt, a good entertainer, but many laughed at his jokes not so much because they were jokes but because he has so high a reputation. He is a poet, and a good one, and when he comes to a recitation of some of his best productions, such as "Victoria," "Picket's Charge" and others, he does it to perfection. He has a voice of almost any volume; he has great facial mimicry; but withal in many respects he is in no way the superior of Owen Smilley. He cannot lose himself in his illustrations of nationality; in any characters you can recognize Brooks. Taken for all in all, he gives a good entertainment, but he is not certainly peerless.

Mr. Crowley, of New Denver, is thinking of opening a furniture store in this city.

Preparations are now under way for the construction of the Nelson & Bidlington Ry.

Bruce White's Greasy Buck is going to Nelson on the 1st to corral the prize money there.

D. J. Robertson is about to move his furniture business to Pitts' old store at the other end of the city.

Milburn's Sterling Headache Powders cure headache in a jiffy. Try them, they'll convince you. 10c and 25c, all dealers.

A couple of wash-outs the past few days, but all right now, threatened the water mains of the Electric Light & Water Co.

Frank Culver and Mr. Neville have gone to Slocan City to work on several mining properties they have over there.

It said Mr. J. H. McKim, of Whitewater, has sold out his hotel at that place, and will shortly engage in farming in the Okenagan country.

Mr. Retallack's committee at Slocan City spell that gentleman's name with one l. Windy Young and his friends are bound to knock "l" out of their champion.

For Constipation take Karl's Clover Root Tea, the great Blood Purifier. Cures Headache, Nervousness, Eruptions on the skin, and makes the head clear as a bell. Sold at McQueen's Drug Store.

H.C. Holden who went to the booming Republic camp some weeks ago has returned disgusted. He says the place is altogether over-rated and over done. He has left for Edmonton where he intends to reside in the future.

A correspondent in the Kaslo News wants to know the size of the opposition platform. It is not as large now as it used to be before Mr. Retallack stole seven planks from it—all that he shows the public he is going to stand on.

The geological formations and peculiarities of this country are a study. The mineral of the Wonderful mine is all float, and whence it has come no man knows. If from a greater present height there is no trace of a tell tale. It is within the range of possibilities that the lead from which it was taken is lower down. It may have been forced down by a second upheaval, or the Wonderful collection may have been forced up from its mother-lead by a later upheaval. The other day Mr. Riblett brought down from the Sovereign a piece of float galena weighing 125 lbs. This find, 1,000 feet above Sandon, is not so wonderful as the Wonderful mine, as it may have been brought down from the lead above it in a land or a snow slide.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. W. C. Adams was in Kaslo on Wednesday.

T. A. Gibson came up from Kaslo Saturday on mining business.

Customs Collector McIntosh, of Kaslo, has been in the city for some days.

Mr. Buckley is back from his extended trip, and no doubt could relate many interesting incidents in his travel as he is a close observer.

Col. Ray, of Port Arthur, was in the city some days last week. He sold all the mining interests he had in these parts, and did well with his deals.

John Cameron, late with Crawford & McMillan has returned from Edmonton where he spent some months. He found things booming there, and says over 3,000 people outfitted there for the Yukon the past year, but the fever is subsiding. Mr. Cameron is likely to remain here and go into mining.

WHAT DR. A. E. SALTER SAYS.

Buffalo, N. Y.—Gents:—From my personal knowledge, gained in observing the effect of your Shiloh's Cure in cases of advanced consumption, I am prepared to say it is the most reliable remedy that has ever been brought to my attentention. It has certainly saved many from consumption. Sold at McQueen's Drug Store.

WEAK, NERVOUS WOMEN

Suffering from palpitation of the heart, dizzy or faint spells, watery blood, etc., can be readily cured.

A Manitoba Lady Tells About Her Case.

There is no need whatever for so many women to be the subject of faint spells, heart and nerve weakness, anaemia, or any of those health destroying ailments peculiar to her sex. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills regulate the heart beat and make it strong and full, tone the nerves, enrich the blood, and relieve the pain and weakness from which so many women suffer.

Mrs. Alexander Setter, of Pigeon Bluff, Man., writes an account of her case as follows: "I have great pleasure in giving my experience of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. For about ten years I was troubled with throbbing and fluttering of the heart. I tried five doctors and several remedies but none of them did me much good. Lately I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and bought two boxes. Before I started using them I could not do my house work and gave myself up to die, as I thought I would never be cured. Now I feel really splendid since taking the pills, do my work, enjoy my meals and feel as if there was something in life worth living for."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, sold by all druggists at 50c. a box or 3 boxes for $1.25. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ont.
