OF INTEREST TO MINERS.

Changes in the Mining Laws,

The following changes in the British Columbia mining laws should be carefully studied by those interested in mining in this Province:

First of these refers to the location fractions. In all fractions surveyed from now on, whether staked correctly or not, the surveyor may adopt the boundary lines of the surrounding claims, provided no side exceeds 1,500 feet in length. In other words, the locator is entitled to the vacant ground that he claims, even if he does not stake it in such a manner as to include it all, which he seldom does.

By a recent decision of the courts a prospector lost a claim because of inability to secure the post necessary to mark the location. The amendment provides that in cases where claims are staked above the timber line, or the prospector cannot secure the necessary posts, he may erect monuments of earth or stone.

In staking an extension the posts are often planted so as to form a wedge shape fraction between two ends of the two claims. These fractions have often incurred great expense, not only in recording and surveying, but in cases where they carry the lead, and thus become of such value as to promote litigation. The amended act authorizes the surveyor to include such fraction, provided it does not cover more than 51.65 acres, the area of a full claim, and provided further that two location posts are together.

By failure to record assessment work within the required period of one year, either through oversight or the misunderstanding of partnership interests, valuable claims have been lost. Now if a prospector fails to record the work within a year, he has 30 days' additional time in which to make the record by payment of an extra $10, provided that the work is done within the year.

Another change regarding the assessment work is in that particular which called for work to the amount of $100 each year. Now a miner can do and record as many assessments as he pleases in a year by paying the recording fee for each assessment done to the extent of $100.

In case anyone should advertise an application for a certificate of improvement and crown grant, the contestant must have his claim surveyed immediately and file a plan made and signed by an authorized provincial land surveyor with the writ.

To obtain a crown grant in 1896 it was necessary to do assessment work to the amount of $500 and to have the claim surveyed, which meant another $100. In 1897 the act was amended so as to provide that up to May 1, 1898, the cost of such survey should count as an assessment and as work toward the crown grant. A survey generally costs $100. The last legislature extends the time to May 1, 1899.

Hereafter, in adverse proceedings in connection with the title to mineral claims, before any court, each party to the proceedings shall give affirmative evidence of title. Heretofore the burden of proof was on the contestant.

The fee for recording assessment work has been reduced from $2.75 to $2.50. Heretofore the fee for recording assessments has been 25 cents higher than other fees.

Anybody who pulls down a legal post erected to mark a boundary or location of a mineral claim, or any writing by law required to be thereon, is liable to imprisonment for six months or a fine of $250, or both. This is supposed to be directed particularly toward preventing the use of old posts by people who restake a claim and sometimes destroy evidences of a prior location.

A GREAT DISASTER.

Sunday's Hurricane in West Indies the Worst in a Century.

Kingston, Jamaica, Sept. 18.—The hurricane of Sunday was the worst similar visitation experienced by the West Indies during the century, not excepting those of 1819 and 1867, both in violence and extent. The hurricane swept along the island chain from the Barbadoes westward to St. Vincent, and thence northwest to St. Thomas, where it was last heard from. The Barbadoes suffered mostly from the rain, which destroyed the crops and roads, as it did on the other island, while the centre of the storm swept St. Vincent and Guadaloupe. Details received from St. Vincent show that an unparalleled destruction of life and property has taken place there. Out of a population of 41,000, 300 were killed and 20,000 were injured and rendered homeless. Besides this, owing to the complete destruction of provisions they are all starving. The island has been completely gutted by the wind and floods from the mountains, in addition to the waves along the coast. There has been a great loss of shipping along the track of the cyclone. Relief funds are being raised in response to an appeal from the governor of St. Vincent, where all descriptions of food and clothing and other necessaries were lost in the general destruction. The demand for building material is unlimited. No details of the work of the hurricane have been received from Guadaloupe.

GREATER BRITAIN EXHIBIT.

A Member of the London Chamber of Mines Strongly Recommends It.

George Taunt, of Toronto, who is representing a London mining syndicate in the city, Mr. Taunt is also a member of the Incorporated London Chamber of Mines, and he has been requested by the secretary of that institution to do all he can to secure a fine mineral exhibit from British Columbia for the Greater Britain exhibition that will be held in London next year.

"We want," he said, Canada and especially British Columbia to make the largest and best exhibit of all the colonies. There is nothing that could better advertise the mineral resources of this province. Now is the time to push ourselves to the front as Britain's richest colony. British capital to-day is at a standstill with regard to Australian mines, and money is being withdrawn as fast as possible from South Africa. There is also considerable anxiety among Englishmen as to their investments in the United States. The attention of the monied men of London is at present centered on Canada and particularly British Columbia."

Mr. Taunt says that if the ore exhibit at New Westminster is sent to London he will guarantee that it shall be shown in its entirety as the special exhibit of the New Westminster Fair.

There seems to be some doubt as to where the Greater Britain exhibition will be held. It has been reported that Earls Court has been selected, but Mr. Taunt say that Olympia is more suitable for the exhibition, as it is a much larger and more convenient place. It has been decided to hold the exhibition at the Olympia grounds.

DOWNEY WAS SICK.

The Fakir Who Visited Vancouver Backs Out of a Fight in Seattle

"Kid" Kerwin was an unknown factor so far as the sporting world of Seattle was concerned yesterday morning. When "Jack Downey," of Brooklyn, or San Francisco, sent word that he was "sick" and would not be able to fight Bill Scott, Kerwin said he would take his place. The little fellow put up seventeen rounds of the prettiest, cleanest and most scientific work ever seen in the ring, and not only won the unqualified admiration of Scott, but the crowd as well.

Scott was awarded the decision in the seventeenth because Kerwin's stomach troubled him and his friends thought it best for him to quit. The crowd was perfectly satisfied and Kerwin can get backing for any amount of money in this city whenever he wants to fight a man of his weight.

"He is the gamest and cleverest little fellow I ever ran up against," said Scott last evening. "At first I thought I had a snap, but in the second round he whipped his right hand over on me and I went flat on my back, striking my head and cutting it. From that time I knew that he was an old hand at the business and played carefully myself."

Referee William Barton said: "It was as clean cut a fight as one ever witnessed. There was not one approach to a foul. Every instruction was obeyed to the letter. Scott could not put Kerwin out because he was too clever and Kerwin could not put Scott out because he could not hit hard enough. Scott was much heavier.

There was not one out of the 150 sporting men who took in the fight, leaving on the steamer Idaho, who thought it would last three rounds. After they saw Kerwin work a few moments they commenced to admire him and before night swore by him. Scott weighed about 140 as against 123 for Kerwin. Scott had too much flesh on his body.

FATAL CRASH.

One Man Killed and Another Fatally Injured.

Mission Junction, Sept. 17.—(Special)—A terrible accident occurred four miles from here in a dense fog at 7.30 this morning which resulted in the death of T. Paulano, section man, and fatal injuries to a man named George Furnell, known as Walker, and whose relatives live at 210 Oppenheimer street, Vancouver.

Three handcars with 10 men started out this morning on the Mission branch when about four miles from here paused at a bridge expecting a freight coming from Huntingdon. Not hearing the whistle they proceeded and all three hand cars were crushed into by the freight, being completely demolishes. Most of the men jumped and escaped. On the second hand car Furnell was fatally injured and death is expected hourly. Paulano, on the third car, was almost instantly killed. All of the men are of the Mission Junction section and fence gang and were going to Huntingdon to fix up the track caused by a Seattle engine running off recently. Coroner Pittendrigh is expected here from New Westminster on No. 2 this afternoon to hold an inquiry.

Furnell's daughter lives at 210 Oppenheimer street, Vancouver, and the rest of the family in Victoria.

A Slocan Investor.

Mr. Rabbetts, a mining engineer of England, is in the city. He says his mission is to look over the country and locate properties on which his principals can secure options. They are not purchasing at the present, mere prospects or old established mines, but younger properties that have done shipping. He says there is as much money as ever over there seeking investments; but capitalists have had such experiences in speculations, mining and otherwise, that they are growing more cautious every day.

ON A JAUNT.

A Slocan Editor Who Lives to Look at Vancouver.

R. T. Lowry, "editor and financier" of the New Denver Edge, is in the city. Mr. Lowry is out for a holiday and has found it. He thinks that Vancouver is one of the most cosmopolitan cities that he has seen and admires the progress which has been generally made since he inspected the water off the C. P. R. dock in the early spring. When he brushes off the dust of the Slocan mining district in Vancouver, he will go to the effete east and visit his old home. In Toronto he will endeavor to convey the impression that there are other mining camps besides the Trail creek district, and that the Slocan is worthy of watching. He hopes to put through a few deals. Today he says the utmost activity prevails in the Slocan and that a vast amount of development work is being done. Shipments are being made and big returns received.—Province.

Communication.

To the Editor of The Mining Review:

Sir:—Your issue of Sept. 17th, contains the following paragraph amongst the general news items:

"What mistakes were made by the firemen on Thursday night?"

As Chief of the Fire Department, I would be obliged if either your informant in this matter, or any of your readers would explain what were the mistakes, and also the meaning of the statement that "very fortunately" there was no need for water, at an alarm of fire.

I was on the scene of operations within four minutes of the alarm being given, and desire to state a few facts not only to counteract the erroneous impression conveyed, and vindicate the character of the brigade of efficiency, which character has been assailed by the publication of the paragraph in question, but also for the information of the public at large.

The following foolish statements have been made concerning the alarm of the 15th inst:

"What the hose reel was taken down without any 'nozzles,' that there were no spanners or hydrant wrenches, that there were only three lengths of hose on the cart. Now sir, these statements are each and every one, pure falsehoods. There are at all times two nozzles affixed to the cart, and there were four hundred and fifty feet of hose on the reel. The only mistake made was this, that with the exception of the Assistant Chief, who had to accompany the cart to see to the proper laying in of the hose, the first persons to take out the cart, were not acquainted with the place where the spanners, &c. were kept. Owing to the unfortunate fact that the Sandon fire apparatus is not imbued with life, or endowed with powers of location, the spanners and belts which hang on the walls of the fire station, require to be taken down by some person before they can be of use. The first action of a regular member of the brigade is to take down a belt and spanner from the hooks whereon they hang.

The brigade is only too thankful for the assistance of outsiders on every occasion, but do not wish to be blamed for errors of either omission or commission made by such outsiders.

With very few exceptions, the brigade is composed of young men who have no material interest in the city who risk their safety and volunteer their services, practically gratis, therefore they ought at all times to receive the unqualified support of the citizens. It is quite understood by the members as a whole, that all reputable people of any standing whatever in the community do appreciate their efforts, and recognize the fact that the S. V. F. D. is quite as efficient as any similar organization in the country, nevertheless it is to say the least of it very irritating to be subject to the irresponsible twaddle of "rubbernecks," and the malicious gossip of every leaky-tongued "side walk" fireman who chooses to circulate false reports.

Like every organization we make mistakes and are at all times, open to and thankful for, honest criticism and "pointers" from responsible and experienced hands, but the requirements of an efficient fire service in Sandon are too great to have our efforts in that direction impeded by the circulation of such deliberate lies as I have mentioned.

With apologies for trespassing at so great a length on your space

I remain, sir,
Yours truly
Frank C. Sewell.

Drowned in Great Slave Lake.

Frank Hoffman, of Sandon, B. C., was drowned on Great Slave lake on July 17th by the boat in which he was, being swamped. Hoffman was accompanied on the trip by his wife and Messrs. Joe Sneider and J. A. Hoffmyer, of Sandon. They had a boat loaded with about 2,500 pounds of supplies. The boat was driven onto the rocks near the shore and was destroyed and the cargo lost. Hoffman was the only one drowned. Mrs. Hoffman and Sneider joined another Yukon bound party and went on. Mr. Hoffmyer returned to Edmonton.—Edmonton Bulletin.

We believe referred to was the Hoffman who last winter was a shoe maker in town.

The council have let the contract for overhauling that stately building yclept "the gaol and court house." The intention is to convert it into three cells and afford accommodation for those subjected to short time sentences.

The Nelson Miner speaks of "D. W. Higgins, ex-speaker of the Provincial House of Commons." There are two querries in this—Firstly, when was Mr. Higgins speaker of a House of Commons, and secondly, when had the province a House of Commons?

French Shore Question.

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 19.—The British Royal commission to inquire into the French shore question, started today for a cruise along the treaty coast. The colonial government has scored a signal victory by inducing the commissioners to accept co-operation of the colonies, report of Receiver General Morine. The commission did not wish to have the colonial officer accompany them, but the colonial minister insisted that their representative should go, in order that the settlers' case should be fairly put.

MINING BRIEFS.

With Scissors and Pen.

A smelter may be erected at Midway.

The Washington will soon be opened up again.

The 14th was the pay day at Whitewater mines.

The Miller creek claim shipped a car last week.

The Bosum of New Denver is now a regular shipper.

The Nativer Silver bell has a $300 a ton shipment ready.

The wagon road to Ten Mile from Trout Lake has been completed.

Shipments from Whitewater for the month ending August 31; Whitewater, 105 tons.

The Whitewster Deep have 15 men at work and the Whitewater mine about 40.

The Goodenough company commenced work last week on the Grey Copper creek.

W. H. Sandiford has got hold of the Sultana group, and he has put men to work at once.

Five mine are at work on the Minnehaha. A trail has been cut from Tributary creek and cabins are being built.

A trail has been cut from near Tributary creek on the Wonderful trail and cabins are now being built on the claim.

The lower tunnel on the Whitewater Deep has been closed, the men have been put on the workings of the upper tunnel.

The Treasure Vault is another Sandon shipper, and is said by a great many will be one of Slocan's greatest shipper.

Ore is being packed down from the Carbonate No. 2 on Spring creek. A car of high grade stuff will be shipped next week.

Silver has reached 61 cents with the tendency upwards. This is the highest for many a month. Permanency at that and higher figures means much for the Sandon camp.

PERSONAL MENTION.

C. M. Wilson left for Spokane on a trip last Monday.

P. J. Hickey has returned from Spokane, where he placed his children at school.

Robert McDonald, who had been off on a visit of several days, returned home on Wednesday and is now down to work again.

Mayor McAnn, of Kaslo, looked in on Sandon on Tuesday night, on his way home from a long visit to the prairie country.

Mr. Smith received a telegram from Mr. Harris at Chicago saying he would be in Spokane on Monday and would probably reach Sandon Wednesday.

Mr. Jowatt and Mr. Macdonald, both of the Nelson Miner, were in the city the past week. They both see marked improvements since they were here before.

G. A. Stevens returned Wednesday evening from a week's holiday in Nelson and Rossland. He says Nelson is a hustling, city-like place while Rossland is only a live mining camp. The sports at the latter place on the 19th appeared very tame compared with Sandon's celebration.

"DEEMSTERS AND BOOMSTERS."

Continuing our comments of last week on the criticism of the Rossland Miner on the course of the REVIEW, we have to add, so far as work has gone, Rossland has developed a lot of ore in four or five mines that runs in the neighborhood of $35 to the ton. Through the superior facilities for shipping at that place (the cars running up to the mines) and the proximity of smelters, the owners of the mines are enabled to make considerable out of their operations—sufficient to warrant the statement Rossland must grow to be a very important mining camp; but this in no way destroys the statement, and to which the Miner takes exceptional umbrage, that the Payne here last year paid more dividends than the whole of Rossland's mines put together, and the unprecedented booming of that camp by its local papers and local kite-flyers, has done much to delay the success of mining in the Kootenay.

We fully agree with the Miner, when it says anything done to serve any portion of the Kootenay must benefit the whole country; and for that reason any injudiciousness in any camp seriously retards the prosperity of the whole country.

As we write we have before us several letters from parties who have been bitten by Rossland's wild catting and booming, some of the writers having held stock in "mines" sold out by the sheriff for small claims. Such unfortunates do not readily discriminate between camps or the methods of camps, and when they meet with a misfortune in one part, it destroys their confidence in the whole country. This is one reason we feel as we do, and have been constrained to write as we have written.

For instance, we know of one eastern man, when severely bitten by a Rossland wild cat, refused to buy stock in a large dividend paying mine in the Slocan on the ground "all British Columbia sharks were of the same color." This thing, we repeat again, of the just suffering with the unjust, is the main reason we have had for decrying the unjust booming of the Rossland Miner and some of the Rossland "miners."

There is any amount of wealth developed and undeveloped in the Kootenay, and there is no necessity for "stretchers," to bring wealth and population here—all that is wanted is an honest representation of facts. We are frequently asked to boom prospects, of which little or nothing is actually known as mines, but this we have under all circumstances refused to do. Occasionally correspondents may send us in items that bear qualifying; we may clip items that are not actual facts; but under no circumstances will news under editorial endorsement be put in that we have not every reason to believe is the naked truth, and our comments on the reports of other camps will be in the same direction. We are fully aware that our Rossland confrere, that has boomed ten or more mines near that city the past year, that were afterwards sold out by the sheriff to pay a few small preferred claims, the shareholders suffering the consequences, and the brilliant firmament at Kaslo that in its time lauded the Ibex, may not concur in these views but we cannot help it, we must take our own way.

It is a serious matter to have our eastern friends and acquaintances invest in wild cats and moonshines, money that perhaps they often can ill afford to lose. It is right, however, to secure their capital and influence in the development of the country. To do this, we must be frank and open with them. If we have mines to sell we should tell them just what money has been expended on the properties, what have been the returns, and what ore is in sight. If the "mines" are mere prospects of which little or nothing is known, we should say so. The naked truth is what will tell in the end, and as far as our light goes, we intend to confine ourselves to it, even if we have to endure the displeasure of the apostles of "light and enterprise" in Rossland and Kaslo in doing so.

THE CHANGE.

If the late Turner government and its friends in the province fear, as many of them do, that there will be something of a Martin boom in the country over some of the reforms now being inaugurated in governmental methods and that will be supplemented the next session of the House, they have but themselves to blame for it. Precisely the same thing took place in Manitoba ten years ago. One party stuck to the Norquay government as long as they could, though many of them knew for years it required overhauling, until their opponents came in and held office ever since.

To his credit, it must be said, nothing has ever been advanced to show Premier Turner profited personally by his office, but he was neither shrewd enough nor clever enough to know some of his colleagues were filching right and left. Col. Baker, through manipulations with railway companies, has land enough to make himself and his family rich all the rest of their days and Pooley and J. B. Martin, some say, are not far behind. During the campaign Mr. Cliffe, on a couple of occasions, intimated it was not unlikely some of these land deals, if the Opposition came into power would likely be contested and the present investigations may only be leading up to it. It will take a little time yet to know how these matters may turn.

WHERE ARE THEY?

A few weeks ago Mr. D. R. Young, of the Slocan News; Mr. Turner, of the Kaslo News; Mr. King, of the Kaslo Kootenaian, boomed Mr. Retallack for the local representation of this constituency. Since then Mr. Retallack has left the country and gone to reside permanently in Spokane. Mr. Turner has left the country and gone to reside in the States. Mr. Young has left the constituency to live in Nelson, and Mr. King has sold out his paper and may remove at any time. On the other hand Mr. Green and his principal friends continue doing business at the old stands. It is, therefore, easily seen the people did the right thing in electing Mr. Green and the more especially from Mr. Retallack's point of view, because "he is a supporter of the government." Some say that if Mr. Retallack had been elected he would have continued to reside here; but it becomes very expensive when people can only be held in the country by electing them members of parliament—in short the game is hardly worth the candle.

Our neighbors at Slocan City are complaining of dull times. This is a pity, as it is no fault of the citizens through lack of enterprise or of the surrounding hills through lack of natural wealth. The place has many promising properties a but, round unfortunately many of them are idle through litigation. There should be some way of meeting this kind of thing, which is a serious detriment to the country. Mines that are paying are often stopped at once throwing many men out of employment and surrounding business interests into confusion. A cure would be for the courts to step in and appoint a manager, and operate the mine as if the owner, depositing all surplusses in the hands of some bank to go to the owners, as soon as the litigation showed who they are. Under such an arrangement the country and miners would be to some extent protected, and those who want law would be allowed to fight to a finish.

The provincial government has issued an order that henceforth the office hours of all government officials shall be extended—they are in future to work from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m, with one hour at noon. This is right as far as it goes; but it does not go far enough. Government officials ought to put in as long hours as clerks and bookkeepers in stores and business concerns. Cloth and blue blood should give them no favors. They are public servants, with salaries of their own choosing, as they are never forced to accept either the salaries or the offices, and they ought as a consequence to put in the same hours as other public servants. Joe Martin and Co. ought to take another look at this matter, and fix the hours of all government officials from 9. a m. to 6 p.m. With such hours, they can reduce the staff, and turn the saving to the public account in other worthy channels.

PURITAN DAMES.

We hear a great deal these days of our puritan forefathers, but little concerning the wives and mothers who landed at Plymouth Rock and founded that colony which was destined to play such a large part in our history.

In 1621 Elder Cushman wrote from Plymouth that he "would not advise any one to come here who were not content to spend their time, labors and endeavors for the benefit of those who shall come after, quitely contenting themselves with such hardships and difficulties as shall fall upon them."

What self-renunciation and heroic purpose was this! They drowned witches to be sure, but that was no part of their puritanism. It is to the puritan women we owe so much for that spirit in our people which gives them the fortitude to endure hardship and stake life and fortune for their convictions.

The American women of to-day have the spirit of their puritan mothers, but their constitutions are not rugged or able to endure half the hardships of these New England ancestors. Very often they are run-down with weaknesses and irregularities peculiar to their sex, and the constant drain upon their vitality makes them chronic invalids. Many women hesitate to go to their family physician, because they dread the local examinations so generally insisted upon by practitioners.

Such women should write Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., giving a full description of their symptoms, history, etc., so that he can give them the best possible medical advice. If Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription seems to suit the case the Doctor will say so. If not, then he will give medical advice which will put such women on the rapid road to recovery and health.

THE SAME OLD RACKET.

A Man of Many Accomplishments Victimizes the People of Sicamous.

R. Robert Dent, alias Dr. Roberts, alias Dr. Bartlett, forger, swindler, fake parson, fake doctor and general confidence man is at his old tricks again. It will be remembered that he was sent to New Westminster for a year in August, 1897 for passing bogus cheques in Vancouver. He was a good prisoner and thus left New Westminster penitentiary last July. To day Chief of Police Stewart received a letter from J. E. Hooper, of Sicamous, to say that "Dr. Roberts" had victimized a number of Sicamous people, himself among the number by bogus cheques. The operator is described as a clean-shaven, well-mannered man of 50, a smooth talker, but addicted to drink His depredations in Sicamous, where he figured as a professor of an Oakland, California, medical college, amount to over $100.—Province.

JUST ONE LITTLE DOT

IT WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR A FIERCE BUT BLOODLESS WAR.

How the Budding Friendship of Two Operators Was Nipped by a Faulty Circuit—Chicago's Kindly Inquiry Elicited "Rats!" From New York.

Sherwood, a telegraph operator, recently told of a feud which came into existence because of the loss of such a small thing as a telegraphic dot. A good "sender" can make ten or more dots in a second, so you can imagine how infinitely small one is. Only a trained ear is able to distinguish the difference between a dozen dots and 20 when a batch is rapidly made.

Sherwood was at the Chicago end of a New York wire at the time of the adventure. It was not a good wire even at its best. It had a poor battery and some other ailments which made receiving a woe. But first class operators were expected to do high grade business with it, and they usually did if they worked in harmony, and did not get into quarrels over the responsibility for the clattering and mixing of the faulty circuit. After two or three men had resigned in disgust and had declared that they would rather wheel gravel to a stone crusher than try to copy from that line Sherwood was put on at Chicago, and some stranger to him was given the New York end. They seemed to suit each other immensely well and pounded away without the least bit of friction for a week. They were sensible enough to take it easy, and neither tried to rush the other. One evening Sherwood thought business would proceed with greater satisfaction if he knew the name of the good fellow over in New York, so in the course of a rest he asked:

"What's your name, old man?"

Quick as a flash and to Sherwood's utter amazement the other operator hurled back at him the curt monosyllable:

"Rats!"

Sherwood was thunderstruck, and he was also warm. "All right," he said to himself. "Very well, you fresh sucker. If that's your kind, I'll let you alone and give you a little taste of hot work just to make you do some thinking on politeness over a line."

So he turned in and fairly made his own arm whiz in jerking streaks of lightning at the New Yorker. He put on double speed, and with that hazy, ragged wire to help to make things unintelligible he considered that he was giving his associate a very ardent chase to copy him.

The next day the worm turned, and the New Yorker began to give Sherwood a correct imitation of just how evilly an angered telegraph operator, assisted by a bad circuit, can send Morse across the country. The matter came like the clatter of musketry in battle, like the jangle of tin roofs torn up by cyclones, like a nail mill working overtime, but with very scant similarity to actual commercial telegraphy. Just once in a long time a perfect letter was distinguishable in the rattle of the rubbish of sound, but Sherwood was a haughty man and refused to "break" (or interrupt) the sender to ask what he was trying to do. He would catch as much as "He—y —on —ca—o," and guessing that to be "Henry Wilson, Chicago," he would be put to the mental stress of imagining what kind of a telegram Henry Wilson ought to receive that day. He made an effort to guess as nearly as sanity would suggest, but with such a broad latitude, not knowing who Henry Wilson was or who was his correspondent, or in what line of business either was, or, indeed, not being able to swear that the message was for a man named Henry Wilson, and not for a woman named Hetty Thompson, you will perceive that Sherwood had a severe time of it. But he tried to be satisfied, despite the mental wear and tear. He knew the fellow in New York was in pretty hot water too.

A man not equipped with a rubber arm cannot keep up a speed of 45 or 50 words a minute and then turn in and translate the sputterings of a crazy, leaky, swinging line which is being worked by an idiot in New York without suffering. Ten days of this kind of worry reduced Sherwood from 192 to 138 pounds, and then his friends took him in charge, for he was wandering around town inprocuting against insolent donkeys in New York and driveling about Gxwyvzch and other combinations of letters. They hired doctors and kept him in a secluded, cool place for three weeks, by which time he was able to move abroad again, and in a month he was in condition to resume his telegraphic functions. He went back to his old wire and, still rather pale and shaky, started at his day's work. He sent with deliberation and firmness, however, and was overjoyed to note when it came his turn to receive that the sender was likewise easy and firm of touch, and there was scarcely any trouble from the workings of the line. After a time a pause came, and the New Yorker inquired:

"Are you the fellow who was working this line five weeks ago?"

Being answered in the affirmative, the man at a distance continued: "Say, I've just returned after being nearly knocked out by brain fever on account of trying to keep up a fight with you. Where was it I met you and how did you come to get a grudge against me? When did you know me?"

"I didn't ever know you," chillily answered the Chicagoan. "I tried in a gentlemanly way to get acquainted with you, but when I asked your name you got fresh and said 'Rats,' and that made me hot of course."

There was a long pause; then, "Say, this is too rich," the brass clashed to him. "This is a good thing. Here you've been killing me, thinking I had insulted you, and I've been trying to burn you alive because I thought when I told you my name five weeks ago you recognized it as that of some enemy. I believed then that when you heard my name you, being some fellow who had got sore on me elsewhere in the country, started in to do me."

"Well," said Sherwood over the line, "what is your doggoned name?"

"It's Rath. Understand? Make that last letter h and not s. See? Four dots and not three. One of the dots got lost on this bum wire, and so you got it an s. Ain't that good? If you'll get somebody in Chicago to kick you I'll hire some one in New York to do the same for me."—Chicago Record.

Two Ways.

"James," said the milkman to his new boy, "d'you see what I'm a-doin of?"

"Yes, sir," replied James; "you're a-pourin water into the milk."

"No, I'm not, James. I'm a-pourin milk into the water. So if anybody asks you if I put water into the milk you can tell 'em no. Allers stick to the truth, James. Cheatin is bad 'nough, but lyin is wuss."—London Tit-Bits.

BESIDE THE FIRE.

Behold where in my grate there glows
The sunshine of the ages,
And list with me to men long dead—
Heroes and saints and sages!

Long buried light released for me,
Long buried men made living,
And yet you call me poor, who have
Such reason for thanksgiving!

Oh, rich am I, with books and fire
And food for contemplation,
Since I possess the world and more
Through my imagination!

THE HINDOO FAKIR'S GLOVES.

The Old Editor Man Tells a Story Too Old to Be Written.

"Speaking of mind reading and telepathy and the occult," said the old editor man, "reminds me of an evening I once spent with an old friend of mine who was once a managing editor of The Herald. I think he held the place for two weeks before he was called to Europe and relieved.

"He had a man from India, a pure Hindoo, at the house that night. The fellow was young and had received a first class English education in Calcutta, but he impressed me somehow as being uncanny. He had wonderful black eyes, in which seemed to burn the fires of hell beneath the sleepy lids.

"Well, we got to talking about the marvelous tricks of Indian fakirs, and of the plant growing trick and the basket trick, and after awhile this Hindoo—his name was Guzmala, I think—said he was gifted with rather extraordinary powers himself.

"He told us that he would go out of the room and let us hide any object and he would go straight to it as soon as he entered, blindfolded.

"We tried it. Guzmala left the room, and we hid the whisky bottle behind some books in a bookcase. Then we called him and tied a handkerchief over his eyes.

"Without the slightest hesitation he went straight to the bookcase, took out some books and produced the bottle.

"We tried him a score of times, and he never failed to do the trick. It was an extraordinary exhibition.

"The Hindoo left before I did, but in a few minutes he returned and said he had forgotten his gloves. He began looking for them, and so did we, but we couldn't find them. Guzmala searched high and low for the gloves and ransacked the room, but at last had to go away without them.

"The next morning they were found under the sofa. That's all."

"It's a good story," said the reporter. "Did you ever write it up?"

"No," said the old editor man, "it is too old. I've known that story for 15 years."

"I haven't," said the reporter.—New York World.

The Benefit of Insularity.

Protection from invasion is not more than half the blessed service their insulating sea has done the English people, J. N. Larned points out in The Atlantic. It has put a happy curb on greedy ambitions in their kings and ministers, kept them for nearly 600 years from aggressive continental wars, moderated their share in the frictions, jealousies, neighborhood rivalries, dynastic entanglements of European politics. By effect of this it has turned the energies of their ambition more profitably to remoter fields of commerce and colonization. At the same time, by shutting out many distractions, it has held their more careful attention to domestic affairs. It has fostered self reliance in the national spirit, and unity of belief among Englishmen in one another. By standing a little at one side of the movements of thought and feeling in continental Europe, the English people have experienced a more independent development of character and mind, tending sometimes toward narrowness, but oftener to the broadening of lines. In literature there has been a fruitage not equaled in any other tongue; in morals there is an outcome of doctrine that has pointed and of sentiment that has led almost every practical reform in the modern world.

A Rattlesnake Trust.

The mountain ranges of New Jersey and Pennsylvania abound in rattlesnakes, which are turned by the natives to various commercial uses, and, though the reptile does not pay very well, his residuary substances have some selling value. For instance, his skin, if a large one, is worth $1, and if sold to the summer boarder brings on an average about $2.50. It is made into belts, pocketbooks, slippers and other articles of like sort, and is of a delicate ornate texture, with curious interlacings and imbrications showing how finely the original serpent was jacketed. Its oil is very costly and has various uses and its venom, still more costly, is administered in cases of scarlet fever. The market rate per ounce of the rattlesnake venom is not precisely given, but it is high up on the schedule, and that is probably one reason why Hiram Skate of Pike county, Pa., wants to organize a rattlesnake trust to regulate prices and control output. The scheme is in harmony with current commercial tendencies, and, as was said of one of the reptiles which had swallowed a frog too large for its constitution, "there may be something in it."—New York Tribune.

The Queen and Lady Millais.

It is related that when Sir John Millais fell ill the queen sent the Princess Louise to the dying man to inquire what favor she could accord him that could alleviate his sorrow, if not his pain. Sir John thereupon called for his writing tablet and inscribed upon it the words, "I should like the queen to see my wife." Then the queen broke through her iron rule not to receive any woman whose marriage tie had been once dissolved—whether there be blame or not—graciously acceded to the request and accorded the sorely tried lady a tender and sympathetic interview.—St. James Gazette.

Wonderful Waxmaking.

Bees gorge themselves with honey, then hang themselves up in festoons or curtains to the hive and remain quiescent for hours. After a time wax scales appear, forced out from the wax pockets. The bees remove these scales with their natural forceps, carry the wax to the mouth and chew it for a time, thus changing it chemically. Thus it may be seen that waxmaking is a great expense to the colony, for it costs not only the time of the workers, but it is estimated that 21 pounds of honey are required to make one pound of wax.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

It is urged that the sparrow is a benefactor to the farmer, because it feeds on the seeds of waste plants and weeds during the winter.

The oldest alcoholic beverage known to man is Japanese sake or rice wine, its use in Japan dating back over 2,000 years.

Aguinaldo Wants the Americans to Leave the Philipines.

Manilla, Sept. 18.—The Philipines national assembly was inaugurated at Malolos yesterday with great enthusiasm. There were thousands of visitors from all the provinces, and a great display was made. General Aquinaldo, at 9 o'clock in the morning, entered the hall of the old convent, occupied by the Spanish local government. It is an extremely plain room adorned only with some religious pictures. The insurgent leader was in evening dress, according to the Spanish custom. The others wore ordinary costumes. General Aguinaldo, who was received with cheers and also with cries of "Viva America," by the crowd of natives inside and outside the hall, and read a decree convening the members, who included several Spaniards. He next read a message eulogizing the army and thanking the friendly nation which had set the historical example of liberty, and had assisted a down trodden race. Continuing General Aguinaldo urgently and eloquently exhorted the assembly to "follow the noblest principles," and invoked the 'spirits of martyred Filippinos.' The assembly then adjourned in the afternoon, but a Filippino objected and accused the Spaniard of attempting to undermine the constitution. To this the Spaniard replied that he was a sincere republican and that his only desire was the welfare of their country. Thereupon the Filippino apologized and the proceedings continued. During the afternoon many Americans and Europeans arrived and General Aguinaldo was kept busy receiving visitors, including the American consul.

The correspondent of the Associated Press had a private interview with General Aguinaldo, who is extremely unwilling to compromise himself with the natives. He said that a majority of the Filippinos has been struggling for freedom for years and centuries and they now believe that object has been attained. General Aguinaldo professed entire ignorance of the autonomous systems in vogue in the British colonies, of protectorates and of the American state autonomy. He said he was unable to understand the idea, and only understood "absolute independence." Personally, he believed a protectorate for the Philippines was necessary, but he feared that the people would be disappointed in this. He had not studied political economy and knew nothing about the various forms of government. He inquired whether Australia was an American colony, and he said he had never heard of a Malay protectorate. Continuing, the insurgent leader said: "There was no need of protection for the Philipine islands, because the Philippine soldiers were able to cope with any army." He admitted that he had never seen a foreign army, with the exception of garrisons at Hongkong and Singapore, and he had never seen those troops on parade.

Aguinaldo declined to discuss the American army and protested his undying gratitude to Americans. He said they had come to the Philippines to fight the Spaniards only, and now that they had finished the task it was expected that they would return to America. He was unable to believe that the Americans would demand a reward for an act of humanity, and he declined to admit the necessity of a quid pro quo.

The Philippine leader expressed his confidence that the newly-found government would build a navy ultimately. In the meantime, he said, the great nations should aid and protect a young nation instead of grabbing her territory. If the Americans should refuse to withdraw the national assembly, he said, must decide on the policy to be pursued, a policy which he declined to forecast. Further conversation was prevented by the strains of a brass band, but General Aguinaldo was interviewed also by one Japanese and a dozen American journalists. A Spaniard, supposed to be an officer, un-uniformed, traversed the town sneering at and denouncing the principal Filipinos. On his resenting a friendly remonstrance he was arrested.

Three Men Lose Their Lives.

Revelstoke, B. C. Sept. 18.—A sad drowning accident occurred this morning in the Columbia river, a few miles north of Revelstoke, resulting in the loss of three lives. It appears that five men with a boat loaded with provisions for the Carnes Creek Mining company, were going through the rapids, when they lost control of their boat, which capsized throwing the contents and the men into the water. The names of the men drowned are Rawlinson, Doyle and Allan. The bodies have not yet been recovered. The boat and freight are a complete loss.

Rosebery Townsite.

The many advantages enjoyed by Rosebery put before the public, CLAIMED WITHOUT OPPOSITION.

Its Advantages as a Distributing Center.

Rosebery is the only town in Kootenay having both railroad and steamboat connection that can ship goods daily to ten different towns, whereby the shipper can see his wares leave his hands and that they will be received by the consignee within two hours.

Its Advantages as a Railroad Center.

Rosebery enjoys the position of king of the funnell as it were, for the railroad business of the whole of the Kootenays. All ore and matter for shipment from Nelson, Trail Creek and the Slocan must, and is now passing out this way to the main line of the C. P. R., as well as all goods coming in from Revelstoke to the Kootenay country.

NOTE. To substantiate this: The C. P. R. are now putting in track weigh scales at Rosebery, the first and only scales that has been put in on any of the C. P. R. branches in Kootenay—which goes to show the importance of this point by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's actions.

Its Advantages as a Steamboat Point.

Rosebery claims, without opposition, of being the only junction on the lake, unlike Slocan City, where you can step off the steamer to a waiting train and continue your journey. You can take either a north or south train at this terminus; consequently Rosebery is the best transient town in the race. Nevertheless we claim Slocan City second in importance, and would say watch the head and foot of Slocan Lake, viz.—

ROSEBERY AND SLOCAN CITY.

Its Advantages as a Manufacturing Center.

As a manufacturing center Rosebery claims to have demonstrated the fact that after the careful observation of the Denver (Colorado) Ore Coy's manager, as the natural advantages of all points in Kootenay for the treatment of ores the cheapest, Rosebery was selected, and they now are erecting works, with a capacity of 250 tons per day, which will be in operation within 90 days; and it is their intention to pay out monthly in the vicinity of $100,000. I might also add Rosebery has the largest water power from Wilson river flowing into Slocan Lake.

AS TO CLIMATE.

Rosebery claims the mildest climate on Slocan Lake, from its admirable southern exposure and absolute shelter from the north; snow always leaves the place about the 15th of March.

AS A TOWNSITE.

As a townsite, Rosebery is without a peer. It is possessed of all the flat land available at the mouth of the Wilson river leading to the valley—mining region—consequently there is no danger of any contagion. The title is a Crown Grant and is perfect. All purchasers of lots are safe in this respect. The only safe speculative townsite in the Slocan is Rosebery.

Why should I say the only safe speculative townsite in the Slocan? Because Rosebery business lots to-day are only $150 to $200 each and are bound to increase rapidly this summer. These figures can, and will, double before long. The time to buy is now. Don't wait till they are from $700 to $1,000, as you did in Slocan City last May, go in on the ground floor and make a few dollars in speculation; if you want to invest go to Vancouver or Winnipeg; if you want to speculate and and clean up money go quick to Rosebery before lots are out of sight.

What's Wanted in Rosebery.

We want a restaurant.
We want a good hotel right away.
We want a first-class general store.
We want a butcher shop.

Anyone looking for an opening spy out this place at once.

Maps and price-lists on application; prices run from $75 to $200.

TERMS: One-third cash, balance 3 and 6 months. For actual builders special terms can be arranged for a few lots by applying to

A. M. BEATTIE, General Agent, Rosebery.

MOUNTAIN ECHOES.

The rainy season appears to have fully set in.

New Denver is to have a system of water works in the spring.

Stein Bros. are opening a grocery next door to their bake shop.

Lemonade drinks are falling off this weather and hot Scotch is coming in.

The C. P. R. is carrying all goods for the New Westminster sufferers free of charge.

Martin and Cotton were re-elected by acclamation on Monday last. This is right. Any new ministry should be given a fair trial.

Slocan City has neither a lawyer nor a doctor. Its lawyer, Mr. Andrews, has removed to Nelson, and Dr. Gibb has gone off to get married.

Stop that Cough! Take warning. It may lead to consumption. A 25c. bottle of Shiloh's Cure may save your life. Sold at McQueen's Drug Store.

Clergymen are growing quite numerous in Sandon now. A brand-new one appeared at the residence of Rev. and Mrs Cleland on Sunday evening.

Karl's Clover Root Tea, for constipation it's the best, and if after using it you don't say so, return the package and get your money. Sold at McQueen's Drug Store.

The loss in New Westminster is estimated at $2,500,000 and the insurance $1,000,000. From present activity it will not be long before the city is as well built up as ever.

Chief Deolan has purchased the old Portman house east of the REVIEW office. With the gaol on one side and the chief's residence on the other, the REVIEW appears to be pretty well protected.

For Constipation take Karl's Clover Root Tea, the great Blood Purifier. Cures Headache, Nervousness, Eruptions on the skin, and makes the head clear as a bell. Sold at McQueen's Drug Store.

Owing to a kick from some few small stockholders in the St. Keverne the proposed bonding has fallen through for the present. There are some who think they ought to get a million out of every dollar they have in mining stock.

The city council has given $50 to the band fund. This insures a go. The instruments, the best to be had, will be ordered at once, and as there are several old players in the town, we will soon have one of the best bands in the country.

Nearly $300 has been raised in aid of the city band and some 14 pieces of the best the country affords have been ordered. Besides these there are a number of reed instruments, picolos, which greatly strengthen the strains of brass and silver instruments.

Kaslo has organized a strong Liberal-Conservative association with the following members: President, C. W. McAnn; vice presidents, Col. Stone and G. W. Martin; sec.-treas., E. F. Stephenson; executive committee, Messrs. McCallum, McKenzie, Moore, Cody, Hanna, Tuck.

Captain C. H. Williams, late general manager for the Antoine Iron Ore Co. and steamship owners, arrived in town this week. It is believed that he is engaged by some large London Co. to open up and work some large silver-lead mines in the Slocan locality. He is one of the right sort, and we wish him all good luck.

C. K. Hammond has been unfortunate with his horses of late, having lost five or six of them in as many weeks. The other day Mr. Riblet had one and he tied it to a tree by a trail. It jumped over the side of the mountain and was killed. Another was killed in the cattle guard on the K. & S., just west of the crossing on Thursday.

When is the government going to look after the Sandon lock-up. At present the magistrate when he sentences offenders has either to let them loose to laugh at the law, or send them to Kamloops or Nelson at heavy expense to the country. While the new government has its hand on reforms, here is one that requires prompt attention.

The Vancouver Province is eternally prating about "Joe" Martin redeeming pledges and making reforms. It forgets altogether that any reforms made are the joint action of Semlin, Cotton, Martin, etc. It never associates the names of the first two in these matters. Who will say, in the face of this, there was no need for the resolution of the Conservatives in the late convention?

Posters are out announcing an entertainment in the Virginia hall on Tuesday evening, Sept. 27, in which Miss Jean Terry, graduate of the New York school of oratory and a pupil of the Boston school of acting, will give a varied programme of dramatic and humorous recitals and selections in the different dialects. She comes highly recommended and should draw a good house. She will be assisted by local talent. Admission 50 cents.

Little Pearl Warner gave a birthday party on Tuesday to a number of her young friends. The little tots did the usual honors on such occasions, and all enjoyed a pleasant time. Goldie Warner and May Lyons served tea to the young guests. Those present were: Georgie Sterritt, Lotus Griffith, Virginia and Josephine Riblet, Edith Hawke, Alvira McMartin, Bessie and Pauline Lane, Myrtle Nicholls, Bessie and Marjorie Duffenbecker, Katie Day, Baby Foliett and Herbie Cliffe.

We have been asked by friends of both parties in these Lovatt wood cases to say something about them; but we feel the matter to be a delicate one. There is no doubt but that the public is getting tired of them, and something ought to be done to bring them to an end. It is a fact the wood is of little value, and many a man would say to his neighbors, under such circumstances, "Take all you want of it"; but that is not the question. Mr. Lovatt has bought this wood; and if he chooses to protect it, he is perfectly justified in doing so. People who want timber from his premises should see that they make some amicable arrangement whereby they can get it, and end this litigation.

The mountain tops around have put on a dress of white.

There is to be no more stamp licking in the post office, so now "beware!"

The silver in the gravel on the streets will probably assay from $3 to $6 a ton.

D. J. Robertson is building a new furniture store just in front of his residence, to have things convenient.

M. A. Hill is taking a rest these days, the first in a long while. He has just finished his right of way contract for the Last Chance tram.

Dull Boys.

Dull boys often become clever and successful men, but this is simply on account of the fact that dull boys are only slow boys, and it takes more time for their brains to grow than the others. It is steady work, ceaseless endeavor, that tells. Then, again, we forget that a bright boy may be handicapped by other qualities. He may not have the physical strength or energy of the other, while the dull boy is carried forward by never failing energy and strength, for it is often his dullness at school that makes the dull boy's subsequent success so conspicuous. How many dull boys have become still duller men, and how many bright boys still brighter men! Like the old reproach about ministers' sons, one bright boy that turns out ill is made to stand for the whole class and one dull boy that turns out well glorifies his whole class. Notwithstanding all our inventions, all our progress, the old Scripture doctrine still holds good—the men reap what they sow and cannot gather grapes of thistles nor figs of thorns. It can be set down, therefore, as an established rule that bright boys generally do turn out to be bright men and dull boys generally do turn out to be dull men. This, you see, gives the latter a chance, which can be fortified by declaring that good boys always turn out good men and generally successful men.—New York Ledger.

THE KROOBOYS.

A Singular People and Their Queer Method of Face Decoration.

Between Cape Mesurado and Cape Palmas the Krooboys have their towns, the Little Kru, the Sottra Kru, King Will's Town and the rest. A race apart, the Lascars of the coast, the Krooboy for the last 200 years has been in intercourse with men from Europe and still remains a worshiper of gods which, in the latitudes of Aberdeen, of Sunderland, the Hartlepools and other regions where the true faith reigns are not accepted. A healthy pagan, tall, active, with muscles like a Hercules, head like a comic masque, speaking a sort of "petit negre" or "Blackman English," a jargon, call it what you like, the ground work of it oaths; its face tattooed on either temple with a triangle, from which a line of blue, which starts below his hair, runs down his nose, giving him when he laughs a look of having two distinct faces.

The Krooboy ships for a cruise, and then, on his return to the five towns, reverts to paganism, a merry misbeliever over whose life no shadow of the Galilean tragedy has passed and who therefore ships aboard an English ship in the firm expectation of returning home after a two years' cruise to invest his wages in the purchase of more wives, 200 years of missionary labor having as yet proved ineffectual to eradicate the natural polygamistic tendencies which Providence, who one supposes acted after due consideration, seems to have planted in the fiber of all mankind except, of course, ourselves. Strong, tall, a coward, animistic to the core and called indifferently "Jack Beef," "Sam Coffee" or "Small Fish," the Krooboy is a man apart, and for the test of moral worth our Christian navigators put a bale weighing two hundredweight upon his head, and if he carries it safe through the surf he is engaged.—Saturday Review.

A Martyr to Diarrhoea.

Tells of relief from suffering by Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry.

There are many people martyrs to bowel complaints who would find Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry a wonderful blessing to them. It not only checks the diarrhœa but soothes and heals the inflamed and irritated bowel, so that permanent relief is obtained.

Mrs. Andrew Jackson, Houghton, Ont., sends the following letter: "For the past two or three years I have been a martyr to that dreadful disease diarrhœa. I tried every remedy I heard of and spent a good deal of money trying to get cured but all failed until I happened to read of a lady who was cured by using Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I purchased a bottle and commenced taking it according to directions and was cured in a very short time. I cannot praise the remedy too highly for what it did for me."
